A Boston critic says "Austin's poems are getting worse." Then the end is not far off.

Now the Japanese soldier boys can go home and stand around where the girls can admire them.

After the rock-the-boat season is over the thought-it-was-a-deer season will open in the northern woods.

American flour has been hit by the boycott. If the Chinese prefer rats to good bread let them go their way.

New York has a bigamist who got married seven times in seven days. Evidently he didn't go much on honeymoons.

After it has been domesticated for a few generations perhaps the automobile will learn how to conduct itself in captivity.

Myra Kelly, author of "Little Citizens," has announced her marriage. The second edition of her story ought to be true to life.

It will be interesting to the patrons of free lunch counters to read that Chicago has 15,000 unlicensed dogs marked for slaughter.

The Washington Post says some men show their philanthropy under the guise of playing poker. Don't believe it; we are from Missouri.

Diamonds have increased 50 per cent in value during the last ten years, according to an expert—unless you want to sell yours.

Probably Charles Dickens, who wrote so lovingly of crickets, never attended a picnic that was broken up by an overwhelming visitation of them.

Some of the haughty princes who have been refusing the Norwegian crown in public have been breaking their necks in private to be first to get it.

While it is all right to swim the English channel if you choose to do so, the average man would prefer to save his money and buy a steamer ticket.

Somebody is sure to say that from a diplomatic standpoint the Japs were out-Witte-d, so we may as well start it along.

Gambling is dead in Chicago, according to Chief Collins. However, it will be just as well for the chief to sit up with the corpse for the rest of his term.

"Pawpaws are ripe," says the Indianapolis News, "but cheer up; you don't have to eat 'em." The lover of pawpaws, however, always feels a thrill of pity for anybody who doesn't like 'em.

If a man blows up his neighbor with dynamite he is called an assassin. But there are women who blow up their husbands, regularly, and for the most trivial causes, yet nobody ever says a word about it.

Some American husbands are inclined to envy the German officer who got only seventy-five days in prison for getting married. In this country the sentence is usually longer, despite the divorce courts.

It certainly would be a great sensation to sit down to dinner with a roast whale adorning the table and have the host ask if he would have a piece of the left fin or a chunk off the northwest corner.

An eastern woman who was making a collection of husbands and was stopped in her career when she had collected only eight or ten will have reason to think, in the light of recent events, that she has been discriminated against most unjustly.

Some of the New York millionaires are organizing a life insurance company, with a view to giving the people cheaper insurance. Most of the old companies could do this very nicely if they would only abandon the surplus habit.

In placing before the public a drama entitled "Love and War," doesn't the theater rather take chances? You remember what Gen. Sherman said war is, don't you? But, even at that, may be the title of the play is not so misleading after all.

The News of the Week

Accidental Happenings.

Three young civil engineers in the employ of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad were killed by a work train while returning to Cortland, N. Y., on a handcar.

Charles Low, wife and baby, residing near Derby, Iowa, were burned to death in their home. Low was starting the fire with kerosene when the can exploded and set the house on fire.

The body of William Timby, an old resident of Eagle Harbor, Mich., who had been missing from home for a number of days, wa sfound in Lake Superior by the lighthouse keeper at that point.

George Desimons, thirty-three years old, single, fell fro ma work train near Trevino, Wis., and was instantly killed. He was braking for Conductor Fox on the Chippewa valley division of the Milwaukee road.

M. M. McPherson, employed on the steamer Grandada, met death at Chicago while dragging Miss Delia Lennon of Bay City, Mich., from in front of a swiftly moving trai. Miss Lennon was seriously injured.

A party of seven women and children who started out to pick blueberries were tipped out of a small boat while crossing the bay near Grand Marais, Alger county, Mich., and two women and one little girl were drownd.

Sixty passengers were injured, nine seriously, by the overturning of a trailer attached to a traction car on the Pittsburg Railway company's line near the Glenwood bridge at Pittsburg. It is said the accident was caused by the failure of the brakes to work properly.

Two freight trons crashe dtogether on the Rock Island road, east of Neola, Iowa, and Engineer Ed Fick of Valley Junction was caught between the engines and crushed to death. His fireman had his leg borken in three places. Hundreds of cattle and hogs were killed in the wreck.

David M. McKay and wife were instantly killed and a team of horses and a wagon blown to atoms by the explosion of forty quarts of nitroglycerin near Clarksburg, W. Va. McKay, accompanied by his wife, was driving to the Salem oil field with the explosive to shoot a well. Only the axle of the wagon was found.

Six Italian laborers were buried by a cave-in at the bottom of a trench along the Fort Wayne railroad in Allegheny, Pa. The trench was about ten feet deep and a force of 100 men were necessary to dig them out. They were all seriously injured and were taken to the hospital, where it was stated no fatalities were expected.

Sinned and Sinners.

Burglars forced their way into the home of Larry Southard at Shenandoah, Iowa. The principal thing of value taken was Southard's wooden leg.

John Hancock, the murderer of Dr. Engelbrit and a man named Edmondson on the Nevada desert, was hanged at the state penitentiary at Carson, Nev.

Prof. Albert Wachenberger was cut to death at Athens, Tenn., by Ernest Powers, a pupil in his school. Wachenberger had attempted to chastise the boy.

George Hutts, fifty-two years old, was shot and killed by Mayor O. S. Jones in Attorney G. E. Lavengood's office at Covington, Ind. The mayor alleges that he killed Hutts in self-defense.

Robert Pittman will serve two years in the penitentiary at Anamosa, Iowa, for a peculiar offense. He was indicted and convicted in the district court for the crime of pouring kerosene over a dog and setting fire to the animal.

In a quarrel over the possession of a quantity of fish, Elliott Clark, seventy-five years old and a fisherman, was killed in a saloon at Clinton, Iowa. A blow in the mouth, said to be delivered by Fred Comstock, also a fisherman, broke the old man's neck. A posse took up the pursuit of Comstock, who is said to have escaped into Illinois.

For the first time in Iowa in many years, death warrants were issued from the governor's office for the execution of two murderers, Joseph Smith on Friday, April 13, 1906, and Louis Busz April 20, 1906. Busz murdered his wife. Smith killed the woman with whom he was boarding. The executions will take place in the state prison, where they are confined, unless the legislature intervenes.

While seeking a loan on a suit case in the pawnshop of Jesse James, Jr., son of the famous bandit, at Kansas City, a man took advantage of a clerk's momentary absence and robbed the cash drawer of $300. The thief has not been found by the police. James says he knows the thief, but refuses to say more concerning his identity than that he is a bartender out of work.

Henry Portwood, a wealthy and retired farmer at Moweaqua, Ill., killed his wife and himself with a razor. The two quarreled because of the presence of Portwood's child by a former wife in the household. The man had been married four times.

The dead body of Mrs. Alonzo E. Lewis was found with her throat cut in a park in Indianapolis. Her divorced husband was found near by in a dying condition, clasping a razor. He will die. The couple went driving the previous night, and neighbors say that Mrs. Lewis had been hopeful of a reconciliation.

From Other Shores.

It is reported that the stork will soon pa yanother visit to the czarina.

Rene Goblet, former presdient of the French council of ministers, died of acute asthma. He was born in 1828.

The Peruvian government has accepted an invitation to participate in the forthcoming international exposition at Milan, Italy.

The Spanish government addressed an eregetic protest to Morocco as the result of an attack made on a Spanish ship recently by Moroccan pirates.

Mme. Gadski sang "The Three Brunhildes," in an opera festival with such effect that Prince Regent Luitpold bestowed on her the royal Order for Art and Science.

A dispatch from Batavia, Island of Java, announces that the Dutch troops have captured Pelopo, th ecapital of Prince Loewoe of the island of Celebes, who has been causing the Dutch trouble.

The county council of Cork unanimously elected O'Donovan Rossa to a clerical position at a salary of $500 per annum and decided to cable immediately asking him to return to Ireland and take up his duties.

Exhaustive experiments with the use of oil as a fuel on battleships have proved so satisfactory that the British admiralty has ordered the erection of a great oil storing depot at Plymouth with jetties at which tank steamers can moor.

Baron Desiderius Banffy, formerly Hungarian prime minister, has issued an emphatic denial that he had any connection with the treasonable pamphlet written by a Budapest journalist, Julius Arpad Zigany, calling on Hungarians to depose the Hungarian dynasty and to elect as king the German emperor's second son, Prince Eitel Frederick.

It is officially announced that the treasury of Great Britain has agreed to provide additional funds amounting to $10,000,000 before the end of the year, together with such an amount of stock during the year 1906 as will produce $50,000,000 cash to facilitate the operations of the Irish land act to remedy the recent stoppage of sales of land through inability to advance the purchase money, owing to lack of funds.

Otherwise.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani celebrated her seventieth birthday on Sept. 1 at Honolulu. A reception, attended by natives, was held at her home.

The National Tobacco Growers association, representing Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Wisconsin, will meet in annual convention at Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 18.

The regular Republican candidates for office in the county of Philadelphia have all resigned, owing to the threat of the Weaver Republicans to defeat the ticket if it was not withdrawn.

Bud Rogan, the Tennessee negro giant, is dead at his home in Gallatin, Tenn. Rogan was eight feet nine inches tall. His hands were twelve inches in length and feet sixteen and a half inches.

Gov. Joseph W. Folk of Missouri was recommended for the Democratic nomination for the presidency by Former Congressman William H. King at a banquet at Salt Lake. The sentiment was warmly applauded.

The territorial la wforbidding the sale or giving away of cigarette papers in Oklahoma is rendered practically inoperative by the manufacturers of cigarette tobacco and cigarette paper. In the last few days they have sent thousands of packages of sample cigarette paper through the mails to persons in Oklahoma.

Gov. La Follette is in Chicago under the care of a throat specialist, according to information given out by one of his close friends. It is understood that during his recent campaign and Chautauqua lecture series he injured his throat and has been obliged to undergo a series of treatments. Just how serious is his ailment is not now known definitely.

Joy because of the return of her son after a year's absence caused the death at St. Louis of Mrs. Sophie Erlinger, aged sixty-three years. She was a widow, and Henry Erlinger, her only son, had been in the West a year. He returned Tuesday from the Portland exposition, where he had been playing in a band. She was overjoyed at seeing him and suffered paralysis, followed by her death.

Last Chance.

Some years ago Phillips Brooks was recovering from an illness and was denying himself to all visitors, when Robert Ingersoll called. The bishop received him at once. "I appreciate this very, very much," said Mr. Ingersoll, "but why do you see me when you deny yourself to your friends?" "I feel confident of seeing my friends in the next world, but this may be my last chance of seeing you."

Strange Place for Milk.

One of the children sent to Woodstock last week by the Fresh Air society witnessed the milking of a cow for the first time.

He had followed the farmer to the barnyard, and as the milk fell into the pail the child asked:

"Is that the milk we drink?"

The farmer said it was and then the youngster remarked:

"At home we keep the milk in a refrigerator. Do you keep yours in that thing?" pointing to the cow.—Baltimore Sun.

HAVOC DONE BY WIND AND RAIN

WESTERN IOWA AND EASTERN NEBRASKA VISITED BY WORST STORM OF YEARS.

ONE KILLED; MANY INJURED

DAMAGE AMOUNTING TO THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS IS WROUGHT.

HOTEL GUESTS IN A PANIC

ROOF OF BUILDING IS TORN AWAY—PART OF COUNCIL BLUFFS FLOODED.

Omaha, Sept. 17. — Western Iowa and Eastern Nebraska were visited last night by the worst wind and rain storm of the year. In Omaha and Council Bluffs great damage was done, and the loss by wind and flooded basements will be extensive, reaching many thousands of dollars. The storm reached the proportion of a tornado at Burwell, Neb., where one person was killed, six injured and $50,000 damage done to property.

In Omaha no less than a dozen large stores had plate glass windows blown in and stocks considerably damaged. The basement of the Daily News office was flooded and its entire stock of paper damaged. The roof of the Dodd hotel was torn away and the occupants of the building into the street. A negro porter was slightly injured. A fire which started was quickly extinguished. All the lower part of Council Bluffs is under water. The torrents of rain could not be carried away by the sewers, and Broadway, the principal street of the city, was covered for several hours by two feet of water. The lower part of the city in the vicinity of the railway yards is under from two to five feet of water. The North-Western and Illinois Central passenger stations are in the flooded district.

Rushed Panic-Stricken

The damage to small buildings, trees and bill boards in both cities is very great.

Woman Is Killed.

Burwell, Neb., Sept. 17.—A tornado demolished five residences and six store buildings in Burwell yesterday. Mrs. M. B. McKinnon, aged sixey, was killed. Frank Hennich, Mrs. Leeper and Mrs. McDinnell are badly injured and several others are hurt. The path of the storm was not very wide and extended but a short distance. It is probably the worst storm that ever visited this section and the town is badly torn up.

FIVE BREAK JAIL AT OMAHA.

Harry De Lacy, Just Beginning Two-Year Term, Among Them.

Omaha, Sept. 17. — Five men confined in the county jail here succeeded in obtaining their liberty early yesterday by drilling out the bolts and breaking one of the bars of the steel lattice work inclosing their cells on the second floor of the jail. All of the prisoners except Harry De Lacey, who a few days ago was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on the charge of swindling, were serving sentences on minor charges. De Lacey was arrested in Council Bluffs two months ago while on his wedding trip, and it is said he is of prominent family. Since their escape from jail no word has been heard of them.

OBJECT TO MARTIAL LAW.

Committee of the Japanese Diet Will Urge That It Be Abolished.

Tokio, Sept. 17.—The committee of the lower house of the diet which has been investigating the recent disturbances will have an interview with Premier Katsura to-day, on which occasion the committee will demand the abolition of martial law and will also organize a special committee of inquiry into police outrages. The bar association is memorializing the government for the abolition of martial law. The president and vice president of the lower house of the diet will go to Yokohama to meet Secretary Taft.

MINNESOTA FOR RICKETTS.

Majority of Congressional Delegation Indorse Him for Public Printer.

Washington, Sept. 17.—In speaking of the prospective new public printer, Congressman Bede said: "A majority of our delegation has indorsed Oscar J. Ricketts for the position. He is the best man for it, and has already gone to work to establish practical reforms. I have not heard of Minnesota having any candidate for public printer."

CHINESE WILL ATTEND.

Eminent Surgeons Arrive to Join in Conference at Detroit.

San Francisco, Sept. 17. — Three prominent Chinese surgeons have arrived here on their way to attend the conference of military surgeons at Detroit, Mich. They are Dr. Ho Kan Yuen of the navy, Dr. Wang Pang Chung of the South China army, and Dr. Ying Yong Tsui of the army. All of them are men of eminence in their profession, having been educated in Eng and and the United States.

YELLOW FEVER IN CHICAGO.

Infected Italians Succeed in Evading Health Authorities.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Several Italians, supposed to be infected with yellow fever, arrived at the union passenger station in Chicago last night and succeeded in evading the health officer who was at the train to meet them. At a late hour they were still at large, although every effort is being made to locate them. The Italians came from Tallula, La., and were members of the party quarantined at Cincinnati, who wtre allowed to proceed.

Situation in New Orleans.

New Orleans, Sept. 17.—Report to 6 p. m. yesterday:

New cases	43
Total cases to date	2,503
Deaths yesterday	2
Total deaths to date	331
New foci	6
Cases under treatment	330
Cases discharged	1,844

The number of new cases continues larger than was hoped for but this has not had any dispiriting effect on the people. Country reports were a little more encouraging, there being fewer cases and fewer deaths reported than for some time.

THREATEN TO KILL CHIEF.

Angry Gamblers Seek Revenge Upon Head of Police Department.

Chicago, Sept. 17. — Gambling in Chicago is nearer extinction than it has been in many years. Public gambling in the city limits is dead. This is the declaration of the police, and the assertion seems to be borne out by the scattering and disappearance of the men who promote and give their time to the profession. The paraphernalia scattered and seized, members of the fraternity are said to have made one last desperate stand, which promises violence to the chief of police and members of his family if the gambling crusade continues. This takes the form of an anonymous letter sent to the officer and officer's house, which threaten dynamiting of his home or violence to himself or family. Chief Collins was at first inclined to denounce these warnings as "nonsense," but fearing for the safety of his family, he yesterday stationed a guard near his residence.

AUTO GOES DOWN BANK.

Governor's Party in Wreck — Four Are Injured.

Winchendon, Mass., Sept. 17. — An automobile containing members of the party accompanying Gov. R. B. Glenn of North Carolina plunged over a bridge on the road to Royalston here yesterday and landed at the bottom of a ditch, pinioning the occupants underneath. Four persons were injured. The motor car containing Gov. Glenn was directly behind the automobile which met with the accident and only the prompt action of the chauffeur avaided a collision.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Markets.

St. Paul, Sept. 18. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 82 1-2@83 3-4c; No. 2 Northern, 76@81c; No. 3, 75@78c. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 50 1-2@51c. Oats—No. 3 white, 26@26 1-2c.

Minneapolis, Sept. 18.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, 85c; No. 1 Northern, 84c; No. 2 Northern, 81c. Oats—No. 3 white, 23 1-2@23 3-4c.

Duluth, Sept. 18. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 84 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 81c; flax, $1.10; rye, 59c.

Chicago, Sept. 18. — Wheat — No. 2 red, 84 1-2@85 1-8c; No. 2 hard, 83@89c; No. 3 hard, 82@85c; No. 1 Northern, 90c; No. 2 Northern, 86@88c. Corn—No. 2, 54 1-4c. Oats — No. 2, 27c.

Milwaukee, Sept. 18. — Wheat—No. 1 Northern, 87c; No. 2 Northern, 85c Rye—No. 1, 63c. Barley—No. 2, 53c Oats—Standard, 28@29c.

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 18.—Cattle—Beeves, $3.60@3.65; cows, bulls and mixed, $2.25@3.70; stockers and feeders, $3@4; calves and yearlings, $2.50@3.25. Hogs—Bulk, $5.10@5.15.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Cattle—Good to prime steers, $3.75 @ 6.35; stockers and feeders, $2.40@4.45; cows, $2.50@4.50; heifers, $2.20@4.80; calves, $3@7. Hogs—Mixed and butchers, $5.05@5.70; bulk, $5.25@5.55. Sheep—Good to choice wethers, $4.60@5; native lambs, $5.25@7.25; Western lambs, $5.75@7.

South St. Paul, Sept. 18. — Cattle — Good to choice steers, $4.50 @ 5.50; good to choice cows and heifers, $3.50@4; butcher bulls, $2.75@3.50; veals, $2@4.50; good to choice stock steers, $2.50@3.50; good to choice milch cows, $20@35. Hogs—Range price, $3.15 @ 5.40; bulk, $5.20@5.30. Sheep—Good to choice lambs, $5@5.85; fair to good, $4@5; good to choice yearling wethers, $4.50@5.50; good to choice ewes, $3.75@4.40.

Struck by Lightning.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 17—Lightning struck the Hax-Smith Furniture company's wholesale house early yesterday, and it was totally destroyed. Loss $200,000, fully insured.

Rojestvensky Recovers.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 17.—A letter received here from Japan says Vice Admiral Rojestvensky has completely recovered from the wounds which he sustained at the battle of the Sea of Japan, but that he will not come home until the peace treaty is ratified.

Killed by Cave-In.

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 17.—While digging a sewer William H. Hinderletter was killed by a cave-in of earth. He was under ground but five minutes but was dead when removed.

NEW PEACE JOB FOR PRESIDENT

MAY BE ASKED TO AID IN ARBITRATION BETWEEN SWEDEN AND NORWAY.

TENSION GROWING GREATER

SWEDES INSIST THAT NORWEGIAN CONSCRIPTION HAS BEEN MOBILIZED.

HOPING FOR A COMPROMISE

CONVICTION PREVAILS THAT WAR WILL NOT BE PERMITTED BY THE POWERS.

London, Sept. 17. — Prof. Harald Hjarne, a member of the Swedish riksdag, in an interview yesterday regarding the Swedish-Norwegian situation, said he did not believe there would be war between the two countries. It was his opinion that Norway would agree to the demands of Sweden regarding the demolition of the fortifications on the Norwegian frontier, and that an arbitration treaty would be arranged. Should arbitration be resorted to, he said that Sweden would be willing to propose two members of the court of arbitration, that Norway would propose two, and that President Roosevelt would be asked to propose a fifth.

The Associated Press is officially informed that there is no truth in the report that Foreign Secretary Lansdowne has been asked to arbitrate the questions in dispute between Sweden and Norway.

Norsemen and Americans.

"I do not believe," said Prof. Hjarne, discussing the situation, "that any country stands so close to the people of Scandinavia as the people of the United States. The president of the United States is the chief of an altogether disinterested power, and if we ask the president of the United States to aid in the arbitration of the differences between Sweden and Norway no one could object, as he is looked upon as the universal peacemaker. If the present negotiations fail, there will be a deadlock for a time, but if the Norwegians cross the frontier of Sweden we must defend ourselves."

Tension Grows Greater.

Christiania, Sept. 17. — It is semi-officially announced that military movements now being conducted by the Norwegian government are merely the customary measures for relieving the garrisons of the fortifications and permanent camps.

The tension here is greater than ever. All during the day crowds filled the streets in front of the newspaper offices, eager for news from Karlstad. The fact that the conference has again adjourned is regarded as a good omen, and the feeling of pessimism, which has long prevailed, is giving way to a hope that war will be averted, especially as it is believed here that Norway has the moral support of the government of Great Britain.

A strong conviction also prevails that war will not be permitted by the powers.

Owing to the stand made by Norway, it is expected that an arbitration treaty will be secured and a compromise will be arranged regarding Sweden's demand for the dismantling of the fortresses. It is expected the negotiations to-day will be decisive and the result is looked forward to anxiously.

Sweden Is Convinced.

Stockholm, Sept. 17.—A semi-official statement issued yesterday states that, notwithstanding the denials from Christiania of the report published in the Dagblad of Sept. 13 that the second to the sixth year classes of the Norwegian conscription had been mobilized, the Swedish government regards the report as conforming to the facts.

KILLS SELF BY AGREEMENT.

Hoosier Girl Follows Chum's Example and Ends Life.

Marion, Ind., Sept. 16.—In carrying out her part of a suicide compact entered into with her chum, Cleo Baugher, who committed suicide at Muncie a month ago, Miss Chilo Thompson, seventeen years old, yesterday swallowed a large quantity of arsenic and died from the poisoning. Miss Thompson was at Muncie with the Baugher girl when she ended her life by taking arsenic. It is believed that Miss Thompson purchased the poison at that time and that she intended to die with her friend, but for some reason postponed her act until yesterday.

FAVOR SEA LEVEL CANAL.

Consulting Board May Decide Against Locks.

Washington, Sept. 17. — A majority of the foreign members of the consulting board of the isthmus canal commission favor a sea level canal. This may become of the greatest importance if their votes should be required to determine this question, which is the greatest question requiring determination at the hands of the board.

IN MINNESOTA.

State News of the Week Briefly Told.

Great preparations are being made for the street fair to be held at Janesville the 27th and 28th.

: : : :

Herman Lattman, a young man twenty-two years old, was instantly killed by lightning at Winona.

: : : :

Anton Ellingson of Fergus Falls had all the fingers of his left hand cut off while at work in the plant of the Fergus Falls Manufacturing company.

: : : :

During a severe thunder storm lightning struck the tower on the public school building at Montivideo, tearing off the shingles and splitting some of the timbers.

: : : :

H. C. Peters was taken to Hastings from Mendota upon a bench warrant and lodged in jail. He was indicted for obstructing a public highway and forfeited his bail.

: : : :

B. C. Roberts of Minneapolis was struck by a South Stillwater car at Stillwater and so seriously injured that it is thought he will die. He was taken to the hospital.

: : : :

Augustus M. Brown, a clerk for the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance company, fell three stories through a shaft in a new building at St. Paul and died a few hours later.

: : : :

Chief Kaychewaywedung, otherwise known as Cassoway, one of the old-line chiefs of the Mississippi band of Chippewas, died near Honsford, Minn., a few days ago, aged eighty years.

: : : :

Father Murphy, who has been pastor of St. Philip's Catholic church of Bemidji since it was founded, has been transferred to Carlton, Rev. Father Dwyer of Carlton taking his place.

: : : :

A big barn on the farm of John Wear, in Sugar Loaf valley, was burned recently. Hay and farm machinery were burned. It is not known how the fire started. Loss, $1,500; insurance, $1,000.

: : : :

Knute Knutson was taken to Fergus Falls to answer to the charge of criminally assaulting his little daughter. The case is a most revolting one. The child's mother is an inmate of the insane asylum here.

: : : :

A man who would suit President Roosevelt lives at Preston. He is M. O'Connor and just now is rejoicing over the birth of his seventy-seventh grand child, born to Mr. and Mrs. Triggs of Spring Valley last week.

: : : :

The accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of Stephen Pasterick of Royalton may be the cause of Ralph Skinner losing his left arm. These two and another boy were hunting prairie chickens near Royalton when the accident occurred.

: : : :

In the Swedish Lutheran church of Red Wing recently celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. Dr. E. Norelius, who organized the church, preached the anniversary sermon from the same text he used in the first service in Red Wing. In the fifty years the church has had three pastors.

: : : :

Frank Taus, who shot Fac McLennon at Angus on the night of Aug. 9, was released from the Polk county jail upon the presentation to Judge Watts of a properly signed bond in the sum of $6,000 for his appearance at the December term of court to answer to the charge of first degree assault.

: : : :

The hay crop of North Central Minnesota will be comparatively small this year. Owing to continued rains most of the meadows are badly flooded, and as yet there has been little effort to cut the crop. Farmers from various parts of Beltrami county declare that nearly every meadow is flooded.

: : : :

Chief of Police Bailey of Bemidji arrested Jake Barrett, a widely known safecracker and notorious criminal, within a few hours of the man's arrival in Bemidji. Upon him was found a full kit of burglar tools. Barrett declares that his name is Barnes, but there is no doubt of his identity. He is wanted in several large cities for safecracking.

: : : :

The entire town of 147-35 has passed from the ownership of W. R. Tate to Charles S. Loveland. The land is located near the village of Solway, and consists of cut-over lands and is practically without improvements or clearings of any character. The tract includes nearly 23,000 acres and the purchase price was $43,266.62, or less than $2 per acre. There is a considerable quantity of hardwood on the land and it in time will become valuable for agricultural purposes.

: : : :

Relatives of Sillon D. Horner, a pioneer settler of Nicollet county, found his body in a pasture near his home. Coroner Merrill decided that death was due to heart disease. Mr. Horner had lived in Granby township since 1856, and for years was associated with Maj. Joseph Brown, the noted Indian trader and frontiersman.

Dominic Beluscci, seven years old and an orphan, living at the home of James Marra, at Eveleth, died of scalds received on Sunday. He upset a pan of hot water so that it fell upon him.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

PLAN BIG STATE PARK.

Game and Fish Preserve in Lake and St. Louis Counties.

A mammoth forestry and fish and game reserve, to be under the supervision of the state forestry board, is proposed to be established in the vicinity of Lake Le Croix and Crooked lake, in the northern part of St. Louis and Lake counties. The tract covers about 70,000 acres and contains some of the finest scenery in the Northwest.

On motion of Frederick Weyerhaeser of St. Paul the state forestry board passed unanimously a resolution calling for the drafting of a bill to be introduced in the next session of congress ceding the government vacant land in this vicinity which has been withdrawn from the market by the secretary of the interior at Washington. The land was withdrawn some time ago on the recommendation of Gen. C. C. Andrews, chief fire warden.

The forestry service at Washington will examine the land to see if it is suitable for forestry purposes. The resolution passed by the board proposes to cede to Minnesota only third and fourth-rate land, that which is too hilly, rocky and sandy for agricultural purposes.

Lake Le Croix and Crooked lake, two of the most picturesque lakes in Northern Minnesota, extend along the northern boundary of Minnesota about fifty miles. The lakes are four to six miles long, and are studded with little islands of almost solid rock and granite. Some of the islands are covered with pine, the growth of centuries. Curtain Falls, in Northern Minnesota, is located at the outlet of Crooked lake.

It is proposed to make this picturesque tract a great reserve, where fish and game may thrive and where the people of Minnesota may go in the hot days of summer for health and recreation.

State Lands to Be in Demand.

According to real estate dealers who have returned from Iowa and Illinois in the last few days, the bumper crop which is being harvested in those two states will mean much to Northern Minnesota in the line of immigration. The wealthy and prosperous farmers of the Iowa and Illinois soil will have an unusual surplus of ready cash, and the result will be a steady flow of currency into the northern portion of Minnesota for the purchase of lands as an investment. Lands in Iowa and Illinois are dirt cheap at $150 an acre, and when farmers from that section can find land equally as good as far as production is concerned, for $40 and $50 an acre, they immediately scent a good investment and are eager purchasers of Northern Minnesota soil.

The state land sales this fall will attract a large amount of Illinois and Iowa capital. Farmers who have well filled corn cribs, granaries and fat bank books and accounts have heard much of the wonderful fertility of Northern Minnesota and the state during recent months has done much to promote the publicity of the coming sale of all state lands. Already real estate dealers in this section are receiving queries as to the method of procedure adopted by the state in selling lands and of the quality of the soil to be offered. The land men are not particularly interested in the state sales because it means fewer sales for them, if money from Illinois and Iowa is invested in the state's property. They, however, are willing to inform the Southern farmers of the conditions governing the sale, and it is quite likely that the number of transfers made by the state to Iowa and Illinois parties will be large.

The promotion of the drainage idea by the State Drainage league has placed Northern Minnesota in the lime light of the public gaze as it probably has never been before. The results will be more far reaching than any immigration campaign conducted in the Eastern thickly settled districts. Publicity will do more for this section and for the state at large than any other known medium, and the interest aroused by the drainage convention, throughout the Middle West is significant of what results a little printer's ink will bring.—M.

Olmsteal Gets First Prize.

Olmstead county received the big end of the money for the best county exhibit at the state fair. The county was given a total of 1,106 points out of a possible 1,200. Huoston comes second with 1,043. In potatoes, culinary vegetables and fresh fruits Olmstead was far ahead of the others, while in tame grass, native grass and forage plants the county was tied with some of the others for first place. Wabasha got the greatest number of points for threshed grains, Houston first for grains in sheaf, the latter county being tied for first with Morrison on stock vegetables and also on arrangement. The score:

	Points.	Per Cent.
Olmstead	1,106	.922
Houston	1,043	.869
Wabasha	1,023	.844
Blue Earth	1,008	.840
Morrison	1,002	.835
Goodhue	995	.829
Aitkin	965	.804
Renville	950	.790
Dakota	930	.775
Itasca	685	.570

FAIR WAS GREAT SUCCESS.

Breaks All Records for Attendance and Comprehensiveness of Exhibits.

The great 1905 Minnesota state fair was closed Saturday night and the closing marked the breaking of all records for attendance, cash receipts and comprehensiveness of exhibits. The 1905 fair may set the pace for years to come, but this is not anticipated in view of the development of the fair during the past few years.

It is practically certain that the fair management will have a surplus of at least $75,000 to begin the next year. The exposition has been the best of its kind in the history of the Northwest. The agricultural, stock and other exhibits have been exceptionally meritorious, to say nothing of the other features of the fair. The race track programme has been exceptionally fine, and it may be years before the fair management will be able to attract such large fields of first-class horses.

The fair was a hummer up to the last minute. All of the exhibits were complete until the last "gun was fired." Very strict orders were issued by the management that no exhibits should be taken from the buildings until the fair of 1905 was actually a part of history.

In matter of attendance the popularity of the fair was maintained up to the last minute and the last act to be given before the grand stand was just as effective and complete as the evening blaze of glory presented on the initial night.

The following is the week's record:

	Attendance.	Receipts.
Monday	63,799	$31,590.85
Tuesday	47,591	19,838.45
Wednesday	46,267	17,013.50
Thursday	34,956	13,616.45
Friday	53,271	19,051.80
Saturday	40,000	12,583.15
Totals	285,884	$113,690.20

WOUL DRAIN INDIAN LANDS.

Congress to Be Asked to Make Appropriation.

As a means of further developing the resources of Northern Minnesota, the Minnesota State Drainage league will urge congress to provide for the draining of approximately 200,000 acres of land in the Indian reservations. At a meeting of the executive committee of the league it was decided to hold a grand drainage rally not later than Oct. 10, when the question will be discussed at a conference with the members of the Minnesota delegation.

"The United States government is the guardian of the Indians and is naturally interested in the financial welfare of its wards," said C. H. Warner, superintendent of the Minnesota immigration bureau, who attended the meeting of the drainage committee. "The members of the league believe that the value of the land in the reservation will be materially increased by drainage and that the Indians will get so much more for their land when it is sold. It has been demonstrated time and again that drainage increases the value of land more than the cost of building the ditches.

"But the Indians are not the only people that will be benefited by the drainage of their lands. It will be an important step in the development of Northern Minnesota; it will open the way for more settlers, and the more prosperous settlers there are in Minnesota, the greater the wealth of the state and the more prosperous is the average citizen."

It is possible that congress will be asked to drain other government lands in Northern Minnesota.

COWS WASTING THEIR TIME.

Result Is Loss of $30,000,000 a Year to Farmers.

E. K. Slater, state dairy and food commissioner, reckons that the farmers of Minnesota are losing approximately $30,000,000 a year just because they do not take proper care of their cows.

In a series of tests conducted by the state department it was learned that one Minnesota cow in 1903 produced 467.2 pounds of butter, as compared with 166 pounds produced by the average cow. If the 435,740 cows which furnished milk to Minnesota creameries in 1903 produced as much butter as the best cow, the total would have been 207,412,240, instead of 72,266,348. This was a loss of 135,145,892, or butter worth $27,029,178.40.

Mr. Slater estimates that the total production of butter this year will approximate 80,000,000 pounds, so that if all cows produce as much this year as the best cow did in 1903, the saving to Minnesota farmers will be about $30,000,000.

These facts are emphasized by the dairy and food commissioner to illustrate the importance of taking proper care of cows. If every cow in Minnesota were given the same care as to feed, shelter, sanitation, etc., as that received by the prize-winning cow of 1903, and if the same care were taken in the manufacture of butter, Mr. Slater says 476.2 would be the average production of Minnesota cows, now the output of the best cow.

The cow which produced 476.2 butter in 1903 is a Jersey Shorthorn cross, aged eight years, weight 1,000 pounds.

IN FAR NORTHLAND

Tid-Bits of News for Scandinavians.

AMERICAN EXPORTS WANTED.

Consul General Bordewich at Christiania Points the Way.

Consul General Henry Bordewich of Christiania furnishes an interesting report on Norway's crops and the importation of farming products into that country. The consul general says:

During the five-year period, 1900-1904, inclusive, Norway had only two fairly satisfactory crop returns. The years 1900, 1902 and 1904 were failures to such an extent that the loss to the country for the three years has been estimated at no less than $27,000,000. The present season gives promise of a much needed change for the better. An early spring, high temperature and frequent rainfall, which is essential to the generally light and sandy soil, have been the main factors in bringing about these favorable conditions. The hay crop is already secured in many tracts, and other crops will soon become ready for the reaper.

The average annual yield of the more important products in Norway are estimated as follows, stated in hectoliters: Wheat, 118,000; rye, 315,000; barley, 1,188,500; oats, 3,475,000; potatoes, 8,000,000; peas, 63,000; mixed grain, 264,400; hay (tons), 2,567,000. There is reason to believe that this year's crops will reach these figures. The aggregate value of the above-mentioned crops is estimated at $52,000,000.

The annual import of grain, flour even in the most propitious seasons and feedstuffs exceeds $12,000,000. Pork, beef, oleomargarine and vegetable oils for margarine factories are also largely imported, and the larger portion of these importations are of American origin. American wheat and flour would find a better market in that country if the import duty imposed on them could be reduced to correspond with the duty on other breadstuffs.

American exporters of cereals and flours are otherwise well represented in this country, several of the largest flour mills having well established connections.

Favorable weather conditions have improved the prospects for increased yield of vegetable and root crops. Small fruits have been plenty and cheap, and other fruits, such as apples, pears and plums, promise well. Norwegian small fruits and berries are of excellent quality, but the apples are much inferior to the better grades of American apples, of which the annual importations are quite large. The variety best known is the Baldwin. American exporters of green, as well as dried and canned fruits, should be able to increase their sales in this country. The shipping facilities are good from New York to Chrisiania, and the time is only nine or ten days.

WOMEN WANT TO VOTE.

Norway Urged to Extend Franchise to the Other Sex.

One of the curious features of the movement for independence from Sweden in Norway is the active, persistent and intelligent agitation by the women of Norway, says the New York Times. There is not any vote for the Norwegian women except in local affairs, but there seems to be an intense and quite general desire for it, and the agitation in favor of separation has probably been taken up so vigorously and systematically in order to establish a claim for participation in the management of the new order of things. Among the documents with which not only Norway and Sweden, but many foreign countries, were flooded during the discussion of the action of Norway, those published by the women's organization were notable for their earnestness and the care and skill with which they were prepared. It is generally conceded that the standard of education as well as that of social conduct is very high among Norwegians of either sex, and the movement for "equal rights for women" has not there been associated with those extreme notions that have unfortunately prevailed in live movements in other lands.

Vacancy in the Navy.

Sweden is short of naval officers, for one reason or another, and the situation has caused some inconvenience to the higher officers and impairment of the service. Councillor Lindman recently stated that there were forty-five vacant places among the commissioned officers and thirteen among the non-commisisoned. In order to meet the situation extra cadets have been appointed and given a course extending nearly three years and a half, after which they may take the examination as officers. All the graduates of the present senior class, some thirty in number, will go into service immediately on graduation.

Famous Artist Gone.

Albert Edelfelt, the noted artist, died on Aug. 18 at his villa at Haiko, Finland. He was modern and led this art cult into Finland in the early '80s. He painted Finland so that all understood, from the Finnish peasant to the Parisian critic. He was fully as well known in Sweden as in Finland, and the former will mourn the talented artist as one of her own children, for his Fanrik Stal drawings, his last great work, appeal as strongly to the people of Sweden as to those across the Baltic.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

BROWN GETS PLACE ON BENCH.

Governor Names Him to Succeed Judge Elliott.

St. Paul, Sept. 16. — Gov. Johnson yesterday made formal announcement of the appointment of Judge Charles B. Elliott to fill the vacancy on the supreme court bench caused by the resignation of Justice John A. Lovely, and he appointed Frederick V. Brown of Minneapolis to Judge Elliott's place on the Hennepin district bench. Justice Lovely's resignation takes effect Oct. 1, just before the opening of the October term of court. Judge Elliott will fill the unexpired term until Jan. 1, when he will take the seat for a term of six years by virtue of his election a year ago.

VANDALS RAID A CEMETERY.

Overturn or Deface Tombstones in Catholic Burial Place.

Oconto, Wis., Sept. 16.—That some cranks or insane persons are raiding all the Roman Catholic cemeteries in Oconto county was manifested yesterday when it was discovered that the cemetery in this city was visited Wednesday night and the monuments either disfigured or demolished. The work was begun two weeks ago at Gillett and Oconto Falls, both cemeteries being visited the same night. Since then the Roman Catholic cemeteries at Lena, Stiles and Spruce have been raided and monuments destroyed or disfigured. Large monuments, weighing several tons, were overturned and broken to pieces. Crosses were knocked off and smashed. Between sixty and seventy tombstones were either destroyed or disfigured in the cemetery here.

INDIAN FUNDS TAXABLE.

Court Says Title by Congress Makes Property Assessable.

Omaha, Sept. 16.—Judge Munger, in the United States circuit court yesterday handed down a decision in which he declared that the Indian trust funds or heirship lands to which congress has given a regular title, and funds deposited in banks to the credit of Indians coming from the sale of these lands, is taxable the same as the property of any other citizen. The decision is important, as it affects a great amount of Indian holdings all over the country.

SUGAR PREVENTS EXPLOSION.

Brakeman Puts Out Flames on Gasoline Tank.

Ada, Minn., Sept. 16. — What came near being a disastrous explosion occurred at Felton while the trainmen were unloading freight. One of the brakemen put his lantern on a tank of gasoline, and the escaping gas caught fire, enveloping the entire tank in a mass of flames. A brakeman extinguished the flames by throwing sugar over it. Agent Bras was severely burned.

LIGHTNING KILLS FOUR.

Bolt Strikes Crowd in Poultry Exhibit at Iowa County Fair.

Indianola, Iowa, Sept. 16.—Four men killed, six were seriously injured and a dozen more were stunned by a bolt of lightning which wrecked a crowded poultry exhibition tent at the county fair here yesterday. The tent was crowded at that time by people who had entered it to escape the rain. The lightning struck the tent pole, split it wide open, and radiated over the entire tent, tearing it into shreds. Thousands of chickens in the coops were killed.

ONLY FOREIGNERS DIE.

No Americans in Panama Have Perished of Yellow Fever This Month.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The official report of the yellow fever situation on the isthmus of Panama for the first two weeks of September, received by cable from Gov. Magoon yesterday, shows that there were during that period seven new cases of fever, one of which was an Italian employe at Panama. Of the seven cases four resulted fatally, all being non-employes and none of them an American.

GATHERS MINNESOTA SEED

To Be Used in Starting Pine Forest Nurseries by the Government.

Washington, Sept. 16. — J. M. Bond of the forest service, has been sent to Cass Lake, where he will collect large quantities of jack and red pine seeds. Most of the collecting will be done in the vicinity of Cass Lake and Brainerd. The seed will later be planted in forest nurseries.

BONFIRE FATAL TO CHILD.

Little Girl's Clothing Is Ignited by the Blaze.

Washburn, Wis., Sept. 16. — The three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Reitan of this city met with an awful accident which resulted in her death. She was playing about a bonfire when her clothing caught fire. Her mother and a boy were severely burned about the hands in putting out the flames.

Shot While Hunting.

Echo, Minn., Sept. 16.—While in a boat at Twin Lakes duck shooting Charles Knutson, a bartender here, accidentally shot himself, the charge tearing away a small portion of the palm of his left hand.

TRAGEDY STILL A MYSTERY.

Man Said to Have Been With Drowned Woman Not Found.

Watertown, Wis., Sept. 17. — The tragedy and mystery surrounding the death of Miss Emma Schultz here either Wednesday night or early Thursday morning in Rock river, have not been cleared; neither has any trace been found of Hans Traeumer, who is alleged to have accompanied Miss Schultz on her boating trip Wednesday night. There is not a trace, as far as the police will tell, on the body of the dead woman to indicate that she was murdered and then thrown into the water. It is believed that Traeumer is alive.

INDIANS FIGHT A BIG BLAZE.

Northern Cheyenne Agency Barracks Lost, but Fire Is Stopped.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 17.—All of the government buildings at Lame Deer, Northern Cheyenne agency, would have burned to the ground Thursday had it not been ration day. Many Indians were near when the fire broke out in the barracks occupied by the agency employes, and Indians fought the flames like veterans, preventing its spread to other buildings. There were no fire fighting appliances, and a bucket brigade was organized. The barracks burned down and some other buildings were scorched.

BABCOCK WON'T SERVE.

Says He Does Not Expect Re-Election to Chairmanship.

Milwaukee, Sept. 17.—Congressman J. W. Babcock, who as chairman of the Republican congressional committee has managed many important congressional campaigns, announced yesterday that he did not expect to be reelected as a member of the committee and that he would not accept the position of chairman if elected. "You may say," he declared, "that I do not expect the Wisconsin delegation to re-elect me to the committee. Even if elected, I would not serve as chairman."

FEVER IS JUST PLAIN MALARIA.

J. C. Wilson Is Not Suffering From Yellow Jack.

St. Paul, Sept. 17. — J. C. Wilson, the stranger who was taken from the union depot Thursday night and was thought to be suffering with yellow fever, improved considerably yesterday, and the physicians at the city hospital were able to make a thorough diagnosis of the case. It was concluded that he had an attack of malarial fever. His condition was such that the physicians allowed him to leave for Chicago.

BURNS MAY COST SIGHT.

Use of Match in Examining Gas Engine Ends Seriously.

Pierre, S. D., Sept. 19. — Charles Lundstrom of Ree Heights, while visiting the mill at this city yesterday, attempted to examine the interior workings of the gas engine with a lighted match, and was severely burned about the head. He may lose his sight from the effects of the burns.

Vicious Cow Hooks Girl.

Sisseton, S. D., Sept. 16.—The little five-year-old daughter of T. Martins, a farmer of Minnesota township, had a narrow escape from death by being hooked by a vicious cow. The little girl was forced through a wire fence by the animal. Her face and body were horribly lacerated and one arm was broken. She was brought to this city for treatment.

Kills Sweetheart and Self.

Muscatine, Iowa, Sept. 17.—Arthur Webb shot and killed Nettie Derby yesterday morning at the school house, where she was teaching, three and one-half miles south of Wilton. He had been refused a date with her for the county fair, and, entering the school house, shot her dead. He then went outside the building and shot himself.

Takes Carbolic Acid.

Minneapolis, Sept. 17.—Making the excuse to his wife that he was going for a short walk, John Wahlberg left his home Thursday night. He did not return, and in the morning his dead body was found lying in a vacant lot only a block distant. There is every evidence that he committed suicide by taking carbolic acid.

Valuable Horse Burns.

Sisseton, S. D., Sept. 17. — T. A. Schumacker, living in Minnesota township, lost a big barn by fire, together with hay and feed and a registered Percheron stallion valued at $2,300. This is the third barn Mr. Schumacker has lost in the last few years.

Man Found on Tracks.

Tyler, Minn., Sept. 17.—A stranger was found on the railroad track by a farmer yesterday afternoon two miles east of town. It is thought he fell from a train. He probably will die.

Mangled Under Railway Train.

St. Paul, Sept. 17.—Samuel Peterson was ground to pieces yesterday morning under the wheels of a Minneapolis & St. Louis train in the Northern Pacific yards. The head was severed from the body.

The only high grade Baking Powder made at a moderate price.

Calumet Baking Powder

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

HOW SWEETLY HARMONIOUS.

Granite Falls Journal, (anti Dunn): If the Dunn supporters insist on saying who shall be our next Republican candidate for governor do you know what will happen? The re-election of the present incumbent of the office. Nothing could be more certain, not even taxes.

Anoka Free Press, (Dunn): Figure it as you please, it will be Dunn or Johnson next time. The selection by the Republican party of any other candidate than Dunn will mean the election of Johnson by the Democrats and the Dunn element combined. It is the other crowd's turn to laugh now. And those laugh best who laugh last.

THE Republican factions are showing their knives and bragging about the length of them.

IT'S tough luck for a fellow to find that he is in the "Indian country" just when he wants a drink the worst.

CONGRESSMAN STEENERSON is suspicious of "open switches." He does not propose to be sidetracked on a hopeless chase for the governorship in order to give Senator Stephens an opportunity to succeed to his congressional shoes.

JUDGE PARKER was right when in the closing days of the campaign he accused the life insurance companies and other corporations of contributing huge sums of money to the Republican national committee. The trouble was he couldn't prove it.

SEVERAL of the papers in this district are touting Representative Simons as a prospective candidate for state senator. Red Lake has never had the senatorship, and if our county is to be given its turn at holding this office there is good reason why Mr. Simons should be advanced to the post.

THE Bemidji Pioneer asserts that Congressman Buckman has disproved the "canards" that have been circulated against him. "Canards" is good. It's a shame that "Buck" should have been compelled to settle with the state for stolen timber simply because some mean old Democrat lied about him.

IF the Republicans want a governor who will not be deluged with invitations for public addresses Treasurer Block can be relied upon. Julius did not win his state-wide reputation by expressing opinions. It is easy to keep still, but it isn't everyone that can look wise. Therein Mr. Block has the vantage.

SINCE the Steenerson machine has become so solidly intrenched Senator Stephens' hopes of political preferment are suffering a bad case of blight. Crookston is hardly large enough to hold two big Republicans, and, anyway, the party is not likely to nominate for a state office any man from Halvor's baliwick unsatisfactory to the doughty congressman.

THE newspapers are already talking about the legislative re-apportionment by the 1907 session. Our own district—the 61st—has made the largest gain in population, and on the basis of representation established ten years ago is entitled to twice the number of legislators it has at present. The district as at present constituted is too large and diversified interests are represented. A better plan would be to detach Red Lake and Marshall from their present districts and combine them in a new district. Both are agricultural counties, and have common needs and interests.

Ayer's

Sometimes the hair is not properly nourished. It suffers for food, starves. Then it falls out, turns prematurely gray. Ayer's Hair Vigor is a hair food. It feeds, nourishes. The hair stops falling, grows long and heavy, and all dandruff disappears.

Hair Vigor

"My hair was coming out terribly. I was almost afraid to comb it. But Ayer's Hair Vigor promptly stopped the falling, and also restored the natural color."
MRS. E. G. K. WARD, Landing, N. J.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for

Poor Hair

IT cannot be denied that the crop situation is far from satisfactory. The Red River valley raised the most magnificent crop of wheat, oats and other cereals in its history, but the excessive rains of the past month have interfered seriously with the harvest, the ground being so wet that the machines cannot get into the fields. Thousands of acres of wheat that would yield twenty bushels or better will not be cut. This condition exists in Red Lake county and in practically every other county in the valley. Of course many farmers saved all their crop; others a liberal portion, but, unfortunately, many have scarcely no harvest to show for their summer's labor. But this misfortune will not check the growth and progress of northwestern Minnesota. We can live, and in five years we'll forget that 1905 did not produce a bumper crop. Nothing like being optimistic. It makes the world brighter and better.

FORMERLY any man was a good husband who did not get drunk more than six days in the week and only beat his wife semi-occasionally. In those days the burden of proof was upon the wives, so long as the good man was also a good provider, and they were expected to be able to spin the flax, weave the linsey-woolsey, clothe the family, and run the household. All of this, an eastern editor declares, has been chrnged however, and now, with our higher education for women folks, the scarcity of servants and the gradual enslavement of man, a good husband has come to mean something more than a fairly sober and industrious provider for the family. It means—one who by courtesy only wears the trousers; a man who can get breakfast and wash dishes when the cook is away; a gentle tempered and mild mannered male who can be trusted to tend the baby while wifey reads an essay on the rearing of children at the mothers' congress. We move fast in these days and man is being tamed rapidly—to his own benefit.

BRYAN STOPS CANDIDACY BOOM

William Jennings Bryan, who was tendered a banquet by the Jefferson club in Chicago, Monday night, prior to his departure on a trip around the world, administered a check to the enthusiasm which greeted the speech advocating his nomination for president for the third time. Mr. Bryan stated his position clearly when he said:

"I want to make my position perfectly clear; I want to say to you that not only am I not announcing a candidacy, but I am not permitting a candidacy.

"I am not now," said Mr. Bryan, "a candidate for any office. I have never said that I would never again be a candidate for office, but I want to say now that talk of candidacy for office does not effect me as it once did. I believe that my place in history will be determined not by what the people are able to do for me, but by what I am able to do for the people." (Applause and cheers.)

"I think it is now too soon to choose a candidate for president to make the race three years from now. It is too early to pledge ourselves to any one man. I trust that before the time comes to name a man for the next presidential race, light may be thrown upon our party's pathway that a man may be chosen who will be best able to do for the party more than I have yet been able to do."

Attacked by a Mob

and beaten; in a labor riot, until covered with sores, a Chicago street car conductor applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was soon sound and well. I use it in my family," writes G. J. Welch, of Tekonsha, Mich., "and find it perfect." Simply great for cuts and burns. Only 25c at all drug stores.

State Aid to Schools.

Owing to the increase in the number of high schools of Minnesota the past year the schools will receive only $1,200 state aid this year, compared with $1,325 in 1904. The number of schools entitled to state aid is 173, compared with 162 in 1904 and 155 in 1903.

The number of graded schools has increased from 145 in 1904 to 150 in 1905, and the amount of the aid has been reduced by the state high school board from $550, that named in the law, to $525.

The law provides that high schools shall receive $1,500, but as the appropriation has always been deficient the amount has been cut down by the state high school board. The 1905 legislature, however, passed a deficiency appropriation bill whereby the schools got the difference between the amount paid last year and $1,500.

Do Not Be Imposed Upon.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. A. L. Reichert.

Don't spoil your eyes by wearing misfit glasses or by not wearing glasses when you know your eyes are weak and need help. Examination free.—Henry W. Anderson.

If a Cow gave Butter mankind would have to invent milk. Milk is Nature's emulsion—butter put in shape for digestion. Cod liver oil is extremely nourishing, but it has to be emulsified before we can digest it.

Scott's Emulsion

combines the best oil with the valuable hypophosphites so that it is easy to digest and does far more good than the oil alone could. That makes Scott's Emulsion the most strengthening, nourishing food-medicine in the world.

Send for free sample.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists
409-415 Pearl Street New York
50c. and $1.00. All druggists

Minnesota's is the Finest.

The Youth's Companion, one of America's foremost publications, says that artists and architects are agreed that the new capitol of Minnesota at St. Paul is, next to the national capitol in Washington, the finest public building in America. The secretary of the American institute of architects expressed that opinion a while ago and in a recent number of the Architectural Record, Kenyon Cox, the painter, has declared that it is "one of the most imposing and beautiful of modern classical buildings, sumptuous yet severe, a model of good taste and restraint." He goes into raptures over the white marble dome when he writes, "It seems of the colors and almost of the sky into which it melts like a snow peak in the horizon." This architectural masterpiece, which has attracted much attention during its construction, stands in what was a wilderness two generations ago; but with all its beauty and majesty and grace, it splendidly illustrates the growth of the great west in all those refinements of taste which are ordinarily regarded as the product of generations of culture. Indeed this building is the product of generations of culture transplanted from the older to the newer parts of the world.

Given up to Die.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which causad much pain and worry. I lost much flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." A. L. Riechert.

In the Love League.

Clerk of Courts Perrault has issued marriage licenses as follows so far this mouth:

Anton Anderson and Miss Ellen W. Carlson, of St Hilaire;

A. K. Lochern, of Barnes county, North Dakota, and Miss Christine Aaseby, of Norden;

John Maaklud, St. Hilaire, and Miss Emma Engh, Wyandotte;

Fred Lessard and Miss Lucia Bernier, Lambert.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence Co., N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medecinc and remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of the terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night and passed a brick dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." A. L. Reichert.

Pointer on Personal Beauty.

There is a saying that "every time a sheep bleats it loses a mouthful of hay." Every time a woman worries she loses a little of her attractiveness and takes on marks of old age. You cannot afford to worry. If you fret and worry and nag, you may make up your mind to lose some of your beauty and let go some of your magnetism. If you meet with the bitterest disappointment, don't fret, do not grieve; cheer up and have a glass of golden grain belt beer to quite your nerves and strengthen your mental and physical powers. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

Notice to Threshers.

Any owner or manager of traction engines crossing any bridge or culvert, in the township of Terrebonne who neglects to protect said bridge or culvert by planks as provided by law will be held responsible for all damage as provided by chap. 151, Law of 1895.

LOUIS PARENTEAU,
Chairman Supervisors.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Enquire at the Big Store.

MINNESOTA FORESTS.

Acres of the State Being Rapidly Turned into Timber.

The renewal of the forest areas of Minnesota, under the provisions of the tree bounty laws which have been in force in the state since 1873, has thus far cost Minnesota $421,934.41, and about $20,000 more will be added to this amount with the payment of the 1905 bounties, late this fall.

Figures obtained from the office of the state auditor show that the farmers and settlers who have sought to establish forest areas, as the state has directed have been enriched by nearly a half-million dollars during the last quarter century. The laws now regulating the payment of tree bounties restrict the payment during any one year to $20,000, and this is divided proportionately according to the acreage of young forest reported for bounty. The payment is limited to a maximum of $2.50 per acre.

Claims are now being received for the bounty of 1905, and warrants will be sent out to nearly 3,000 farmers late in the fall. The amount for which any one settler can receive bounty is limited to ten acres. These bounty payments are highly acceptable to the farmers in the winter time, and the state is receiving the benefit of well planted and well cared for young forests, which will in the future be highly valuable.

A Cold Settled in His Kidneys.

A. J. Jennesse, 9201 Butler St., Chicago writes: "I am a switchman aud am out in all kinds of weather. I took a cold which settled in my kidneys and I was in bad shape. I tried several advertised remedies with no benefit, until I was recommended to try Foley's Kidney Cure. Two-thirds of a bottle cured me." A. L. Riechert.

A New Atlas

of the Northwestern, Western and Middle Western states with maps of the island possessions, Japan, China, United States, and the world, has just been issued by the Northern Pacific Railway jointly with the Burlington Route and the Great Northern Railway. It treats of boundaries, history, population, statistics, school population, state institutions, families, farm, manufactures, railway mileage, postoffices, minerals, and state goverments of each commonwealth traversed by the railways mentioned. A mine of valuable information for $1.00. A. M. Cleland, General Passenger Agent, Northern Pacific Railway, St. Paul, Minn.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Shorthand Class.

I have decided to organize a class for the study of shorthand to begin about September 15th, 1905. My duties as Court Reporter necessitates my teaching evenings only and the class, consequently, must be limited, so if you wish to avail yourself of the opportunity of learning shorthand from one who has had a practical knowledge of the art for over ten years, write or call on,

Chas. M. Lohn, Crookston, Minn.,
Official Court Reporter,
14th Judicial District, Minn.

School supplies of all kinds can be found at Reichert's drug store.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS

Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.

Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

A Word to the Little Folks

Work hard till you get a dollar. Then come to this bank and make your first deposit.

We will put your dollar on deposit drawing 5 per cent interest and lend you one of our little savings banks.

First State Bank Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

A. P. TOUPIN,
Real Estate, Loans, Insurance
Special attention given to collections. Represents the best lines of insurance companies.
Office Second Floor, Hunt Block.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Merchants State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TIME TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West		Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar. 7:35 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:00 A. M.	Crookston	6:45 P. M.
8:50 A. M.	Dugdale	6:00 P. M.
9:25 A. M.	Red Lake Falls	5:25 P. M.
9:55 A. M.	St. Hilaire	4:55 P. M.
10:20 A. M.	Thief River	4:30 P. M.
10:40 A. M.	Steiner	4:05 P. M.
11:03 A. M.	Sandridge	3:52 P. M.
11:30 A. M.	Middle River	3:32 P. M.
11:55 P. M.	Strathcoma	3:57 P. M.
12:25 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv. 2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

TIME CARD —OF— TRAINS. RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 a.m.
SOUTH-BOUND
No. 156—Departs	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan. Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.
F. A. MIZEN Agent.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Northern Pacific-Shasta

NORTHERN PACIFIC YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

The route for those who will spend the winter months in California. Rates are very low; magnificent scenery; comfortable trains.

Red Lake Falls to Los Angeles

and Return $63.00

Write F. A. Mizen, Red Lake Falls, for detailed infor-for detailed information or to A. M. Cleland, General Pass. Agt., St. Paut.

FARM MACHINERY

I have just received a carload of farm machinery and it will be to the interest of every farmer in Red Lake County to see me and see some snaps I have to offer before buying. My goods are all anti-trust. Here are a few of the reliable goods I have for sale:

Robinson Buggies, Disc Harrows, Beggs-Goodson Wagons, The Celebrated Acme Harrow and Pulverizer, Van Brunt Single Disc Drills, Goodhue Wind Mills.

Get My Prices---I Can Save You Money

S. A. SWANSON

Home Made

Have your cake, muffins, and tea biscuit home-made. They will be fresher, cleaner, more tasty and wholesome.

Royal Baking Powder helps the housewife to produce at home, quickly and economically, fine and tasty cake, the raised hot-biscuit, puddings, the frosted layer-cake, crisp cookies, crullers, crusts and muffins, with which the ready-made food found at the bake-shop or grocery does not compare.

Royal is the greatest of bake-day helps.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for farm loans.

The band concert Friday evening will be on the north side.

Little Miss Rozella Lemieux is reported quite sick this week.

Wanted—A young man to learn the barber trade. At the Miller shop.

The school house in district number 32, Lake Pleasant township, is undergoing repairs.

The Great Northern railway put in a new street crossing near the Boughton residence yesterday.

Ducks are plentiful this year, and hunters are coming in every evening with good bags of water fowl.

Ed. Trombly and family moved from the Belair house into the Cadieux house on Champagne avenue Monday.

It is said the Great Northern started a crew of men pulling up the track from Wylie to the junction north of Crookston the first of this week.

The Big Store has a new advertisement this week announcing the opening of the cloak and cape season. A nice variety of these goods is shown.

The following letters remain unclaimed in the postoffice at Red Lake Falls for the week ending September 16: Mrs. Andrew T. Nelson, and Frank Grife.

The band concert last Friday evening brought out a good sized crowd of people as usual. This month will probably finish the outdoor concerts.

Prof. Tonning, of the high school, has organized a choral union, to be composed of high school scholars. The first meeting of the new organization will be held Friday evening.

The crab apple crop is not affected by the excessive moisture. Nap. Pouliot reports having taken six bushels from one tree, and it isn't the biggest tree in the state, either.

The Study club held its first meeting last evening at the home of Dr. J. E. Argue. The club will hold weekly meetings during the fall and winter at the homes of the members.

There was a social dance at the K. P. hall last Friday evening given unded the auspices of the high school foot ball team. A good sized crowd enjoyed the occasion thoroughly.

Work on the north side school building is progressing rapidly, and it will be finished at the time the contract specifies—November 1—unless some unexpected incident prevents.

There will be an important business meeting of the ladies' aid society of the Presbyterian church at the home of Mrs. F. E. Hunt on Wednesday, September 27, at 3 o'clock p. m.

Day laborers about Red Lake Falls have had no difficulty in securing work this year. The railroads have kept large numbers of men at work all summer and will continue to do so until cold weather sets in.

Samples of flour made of this season's wheat has been sent out by the Red Lake Falls Milling Co. the past week. Manager Sivertson says the quality of flour from this year's grain is of an exceedingly high grade.

Prof. Secord and his palace illusions did not show at the opera house Saturday evening as advertised on account of the professor's illness. The entertainment was given Monday evening, a fair sized audience being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Helm wish to extend thanks to the many kind friends who tendered assistance in their recent bereavement, especially for the many floral offerings, to the church choir and to the friends and neighbors generally.

The Bourdon Land company lately made a land deal whereby it became the owner of a livery stock in Marshall, Minn. Fourteen head of horses, several buggies, harness, etc. was included in the deal, and the stock all arrived in this city Monday.

The Study club met at the old saw mill last Friday night and indulged in a corn roast. A most bounteous supper was served and the party had a most delightful time. Roasting corn on a stick, frying your own bacon, etc., proved to be a heap of fun.

The Great Northern has had considerable trouble with its track north of the depot the past week. A large part of the grade just in the rear of the Kaus store has been sliding and it is with difficulty that the track is kept in place for the passing of trains.

The market price of grain has been taking an upward turn during the past few days. Yesterday the quotations at the Red Lake Falls Milling company were as follows: No. 1 hard, 73½c; No. 1 Northern, 72½; No. 2, 69c; No. 3, 66c; No. 4, 62c; rejected, 57c; flax, 87c; rejected flax, 83c.

The state board of equalization yesterday raised household goed in Red Lake county 100 per cent., office furniture 50 per cent., and farm machinery 75 per cent. At the rate the state board is doing business the assessment will be increased about 40 per cent. in this county.

Berthon & Armstrong have a display in their show window that will interest the boys. Two suits, valued at $5 and $3, are offered as prizes to the boys coming nearest to guessing the length of a ball of binder twine. Here is a good chance for the boys to do a little figuring.

There is only one automobile listed for taxation in Red Lake county. This is owned by Harry Ives, the millionaire publisher of the St. Hilaire Spectator. Harry will be interested in knowing that automobiles in Red Lake county have been raised 200 per cent. by the state board of equalization.

The foot ball boys are practicing these days, getting in shape for contests later in the season. The high school club has lost some of its last year's talent, but some of the new members are showing up in fine shape and our record as champions of northwestern Minnesota will doubtless be maintained.

Mrs. J. J. Carroll sent a sample of crab apples to Ed. Healy today which shows that this crop is magnificent. One little branch of the tree produced twenty perfectly formed apples, and they take up all of the room on the branch. Apples are a good price this fall, and farmers who have a few crab trees will net a nice profit.

County Auditor Ford is receiving a great many inquiries regarding the state land sale in October. Everybody seems to be deluded with the idea that the county auditor has charge of the sale, when as a matter of fact the state auditor conducts the sale and all inquiries should be directed to S. G. Iverson, at the state capital.

Mrs. Thomas Powers died last Saturday at her home in East Grand Forks, after an illness of several weeks from abscess of the lungs. She was thirty-three years of age, and leaves a husband and several children. Mrs. Powers was a sister of Edward Enright, who in company with his wife were over to attend the funeral Monday.

E. J. Reagan and family moved from Crookston to this city Tuesday and will make their home on the north side. Mr. Reagan is roadmaster of this division of the Great Northern and moves here for the purpose of being nearer his work. The COURIER welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Reagan to the city and hopes their residence here may prove pleasant to them.

The state board of equalization has boosted the values of stock in Red Lake county materially. The state board makes the same average value for stock in all the counties, and this is manifestly unjust to the newer counties of the state. Up this way, under present conditions, the cash price of horses and cattle is not much more than half what it is in the southern counties.

A wreck occurred near the Great Northern turntable just north of town as the freight was pulling out yesterday for St. Hilaire. A car jumped the track and fell down the high embankment, and another car left the rails. The force of men employed in taking care of the tracks succeeded in getting the track clear for the evening train, and fortunately no serious damage was done.

Harry Fritz went down to the Northern Pacific train yesterday to meet his father, who arrived from Minneapolis, and the old gentleman had a narrow escape from injury. The train backed into the buggy after Mr. Fritz senior had got into it, and but for the timely assistance of Harry he would have been thrown out. Fortunately no one was hurt, but the buggy was badly damaged.

Brunelle Bros. are getting their new cigar factory in running order, and will soon have sufficient stock on hand to supply the demand. Their ten-cent brand, "B. B.," is warranted to be one of the best smokes ever manufactured. Red Lake Falls people have always patronized local institutions liberally, and we have no doubt the boys will do a good business from the start.

Judge N. W. Tarrant is quite a horticulturalist when it comes to sunflowers. He has raised the Russian variety this year, and many of the flowers are sixteen inches in diameter. They make excellent feed for chickens. Some of the flowers shell out two quarts of seed each, and the chickens appear to get fat on this kind of food. Poultry raisers will do well to profit by the Judge's experience.

The stocks of merchandise displayed in the Red Lake Falls stores seem to be nearly, if not quite, as large as usual. The merchants figure on a fairly good business even though the crop prospect is not exactly encouraging. It goes without saying that prices are reasonable, and the people tributary to this territory will find plenty of good bargains by watching the advertising columns of the papers.

A family reunion was held last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Glass, south of town, the occasion being the fortieth marriage anniversary of this worthy couple. All of the children were present with the exception of the oldest son, Charles, who lives at Watertown, S. D., and was unable to get here. The COURIER trusts that Mr. and Mrs. Glass will be spared to enjoy many more anniversaries.

They Are All In

Our Palmer Cloaks and

Gordon Furs........

Palmer
GARMENT

For your own good, as well as ours. dont buy a cloak without first looking at a PALMER GARMENT. The Palmer is in a class of itself. Look them over, compare them with others and if you will notice the difference, it will appeal to your good taste. All styles, all qualities from $5.00 to $30.00. Plush, fur lined autos $20.00 to $30.00; cloth $5.00 to $25.00.

Misses Coats 1.50 to $10.00.

Our $5.00 Coats are bargains.

Every Palmer Coat has a written guarantee with it. If the coat goes wrong you can return it. This is "straight.

Furs

with the celebrated Gorden Ticket on, 50c up to $37.50,

Cloakings

for infants cloaks—a big line, Heavy figured cotton eider down, 25c to 40c. White and gray Astrakan, 54 inches wide and bearskin in red, blue, brown and white at $2.50,

Outing Flannels

They are high but ours were bought before the advance and with the two largest wholesale houses in the west bidding for our bill. will save you 1c a yard,

26 inch flannel, medium weight 5c.
28 " " heavy, regular 10c value, 9c.
28 " " extra nappy and soft, regular 12½c. our price 10c.

An immense line of fleeced flannels at 8, 9 and 10c.

Our School Shoes

are going like the proverbial hot cakes. Our values are so good that it does not take an expert to see it,

Fine boys school shoes, calf or kid, $1,75,
Misses $1,25 to $1,75,
Childrens, 6 to 8½, 60c to 90c,

We save you money shoes. Give us a chance to prove it.

All our Clothing is not in yet. Wait until it is. It will pay you.

More so than ever it pays to trade at

THE BIG STORE

Theo LaBissoniere, Proprietor

Are You Particular

About Your New Cloak?

No doubt you want it up-to-the-minute in STYLE, FIT and WEAR. We told you our cloaks would correspond with our ads when they all arrived. They have come and will positively give you that finished dress appearance which is always combined in the artistic tailoring which is always given the LANDESMAN cloaks.

NOTICE! Come early only one coat of each style. Specials not to be gotten elsewhere for the money.

54 inch coat, wool Melton, button trimmed only..................	$5.50
54 inch coat all wool Kersey, well finished, fur collar, price..............	$8.00
54 inch, salt and pepper design, very stylish, belted back..............	$10.00
7-8 length garment, Martin collar, crushed velvet lined price..............	$18.50
Childrens cloaks should be warm & strong, one dandy, it's long, has cape & only	$4.50

Special cotton blanket, note width 1¼, white or gray, only 95c.

Genuine Englis flannelettes, wash fine, are soft, regular 11½c, price 10c.

For Men: Choice of 75c and $1.00 Laundered white shirts, short bosoms, all sizes, yours for 49c

THE BUSY STORE

GARCEAU & ZAISER

Order to Examine Accounts.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
County of Red Lake
IN PROBATE COURT
Special Term, September 20, 1905.

In the matter of the estate of Matilda A. Hall, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Andrew P. Hanson, administrator of the estate of Matilda A. Hall, deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is ordered that said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Tuesday, the 17th day of October, A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office, in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, the 20th day of September, A. D. 1905.

By the Court.
(Seal) N. W. TARRANT,
Judge of Probate.
s21-05

Summons.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
County of Red Lake,

In District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

Berget Stolass, plaintiff, vs. Anna O. Anderson, formerly Anna O. Skaali, and Ludvig Anderson, her husband, and E. G. Skaali, defendants.

SUMMONS.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants:

You and each of you are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which said complaint has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint upon the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, Polk county, Minnesota, within twenty days after the service of this Summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated September 18th, 1905.

E. O. HAGEN,
Attorney for plaintiff,
Crookston, Minnesota.
Rooms 10, 11, 27, Wallace Blk
s21-026

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

Merchants State Bank

Of Red Lake Falls.

Do You Know That the Merchants State Bank is a strictly home institution. All our officers and stockholders live in Red Lake Falls and have established the Merchants State Bank with their own money. We do a regular banking business in every department. There is no transaction too large for us to handle and none too small for us to give our attention.

Our Savings Dep't. We would especially call your attention to our savings department. We have now on our books a large list of names of men, women, children who deposited with us, ranging from $100 to $200. These are saving accounts and are continually growing by adding to them the spare pennies, nickles and dimes. Don't put off any longer. Open a savings account with us.

REMEDIES USED BY MILLIONS.

Truth About the Popular "Proprietary Medicines."

The recent campaign against the use of proprietary medicines, conducted in the columns of the Ladies' Home Journal and Collier's Weekly, has evoked an answer from the Committee on Legislation of the Proprietary Association. The committee says:

"In considering the question raised by recent attacks upon proprietary medicines, every reasonable man will admit that there is a wide and legitimate field for the manufacture and sale of medicines already prepared for general use and easily obtainable at all times and everywhere. . . . As a matter of fact these medicines are not patented at all, and the popular use of the word 'patent' in connection with them is a misnomer. Any pharmacist will tell you that practically the only 'patent' medicines in use to-day are those which are manufactured either by foreign or domestic pharmaceutical houses, and which are now almost exclusively dispensed by physicians or designated by them in their prescriptions.

"The medicines which are now the subject of wholesale attack by Mr. Bok and Editor Hapgood are the old-fashioned family remedies properly described as 'proprietary medicines.' They are the favorite remedies among millions of people all over the country; and, notwithstanding the constant effort of some physicians to create prejudice against them, no one ever yet heard of any of the millions of users of such remedies asking for legislation or other action averse to them."

WON'T BUY BONI A PAPER.

Anna Gould Can Burn Her Money In O ther Ways.

All in vain have been Count Boni de Castelline's pleadings for the purchase of the Paris Press. His wife, formerly Miss Anna Gould, still positively refuses to buy it for him and set him up as an editor. The countess is reported to have said that Boni has had too many expensive playthings to weary of and throw aside, and that she doesn't propose to risk any more of her money in what she feels is nothing more than a passing whim. The count, much upset by this direful state of things, will make no overtures to end the serious family quarrels it has caused. His wife, he says, is not only withholding shekels but immortal fame, for the Paris Press is a historic paper, which was founded by Emil Girardin, and many of Balzac's novels first appeared in it in serial form. The paper is to be sold because of the failure of its owner, who was caught in a recent sugar crash.—New York Press.

Could Get No Rest.

Freeborn, Minn., Sept. 18th (Special)—Mr. R. E. Goward, a well known man here, is rejoicing in the relief from suffering he has obtained through using Dodd's Kidney Pills. His experience is well worth repeating, as it should point the road to health to many another in a similar condition.

"I had an aggravating case of Kidney Trouble," says Mr. Goward, "that gave me no rest day or night but using a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills put new life in me and I feel like a new man.

"I am happy to state I have received great and wonderful benefit from Dodd's Kidney Pills. I would heartily recommend all sufferers from Kidney Trouble to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a fair trial as I have every reason to believe it would never be regretted."

Dodd's Kidney Pills make you feel like a new man or woman because they cure the Kidneys. Cured kidneys mean pure blood and pure blood means bounding health and energy in every part of the body.

Guess What.

"Now, Mabel," cautioned her mother, "you mustn't sit out on that damp beach to-night without anything around you."

"I won't, mother," promised the dutiful daughter. "George will attend to that all right."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

DISFIGURING HUMOR.

Brushed Scales From Face Like Powder—Doctor Said Lady Would Be Disfigured for Life—Cuticura Works Wonders.

"I suffered with eczema all over my body. My face was covered; my eyebrows came out. I had tried three doctors, but did not get any better. I then went to another doctor. He thought my face would be marked for life, but my brother-in-law told me to get Cuticura. I washed with Cuticura Soap, applied Cuticura Ointment, and took Cuticura Resolvent as directed. I could brush the scales off my face like powder. Now my face is just as clean as it ever was.—Mrs. Emma White, 641 Cherrier Place, Camden, N. J., April 25, '05."

A Forward Age.

"Back to the Soil" admonishes H. Rider Haggard. "Back to the people," says Brother Bryan. "Back to Baltimore," comes the hurdy-gurdy's refrain. This is a forward age, my masters.

TUITION FREE.

One month tuition free. For further information address Aaker's Business College, Fargo, N. D.

Useless Exertion.

Doctor—So you haven't coughed much to-day?

Patient—No; what was the use? There was nobody in the house to hear me.

The World of Trouble

Sich a world o' trouble—
  Sighin' drowns the song;
Never yit felt happy,
  But a cyclone comes along!

When the sky looks clearest,
  Comes a lightnin' flash;
When I feel like dancin',
  Fiddler calls for cash!

An' if I was in glory,
  An' walked outside the town,
Satan sure would git me
  An' levy on my crown!
—Atlanta Constitution.

AT PARTING

BY CATHARINE CRANMER.

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

"When you are a man really worth while in other ways, I don't see why you persist in this impossible affair!"

"I persist, because it means everything to me, and I shall persist always, Jane, unless you marry another man."

"Now, don't say that, Wilton, for although I like men and get on admirably with them as friends, I never expect to love or marry any man!"

"It is impossible to believe that you will never love; such a woman is sure to love and love deeply. Such a life is rounded out only by love."

"But, Wilton, my life is full of other things; I have no place for love or marriage."

"Not now, perhaps, because your globe-trotting and your art studies have crowded it out for a time; but some time it will burst forth into every fibre of your being, and, Oh, Jane, if I might have the joy of calling it forth!"

"Really, Wilton, try to be practical in this, as you are in other matters. With my wandering foot and my distaste for home life what kind of a wife would I make? Go to some sweet and loving girl, lavish this beautiful love on her and let her make you happy."

"You ought to know how useless is advice like that. It is not that I simply want to marry. I want to marry you."

"If I felt worthy of such love I'd be less unhappy to hear you talk so; but here I am, lacking in the qualities which are the very essentials to married happiness."

"Not lacking; simply crowded out temporarily. Since I have known you I have asked you three times to marry me, and you never gave me this reason before. The first time you were too young, you said, you would answer me two years later; two years later you were afraid to trust yourself to live on a salary, and your trip to the Orient could not be put aside. The third time your mother's health took you to Switzerland with her for an indefinite time. Now, that all these things are out of the way, your career steps in."

"There was another reason in each case, Wilton. I did not love you well enough. Our friendship has meant so much to me; in fact, I have few if any friends with whom I have so much in common; yet have I ever sought to encourage anything more than friendship on your part?"

"You certainly have not; but the master passion of a man's life does not have to be nurtured and encouraged into growth; it grows in spite of everything."

"You sail for Europe, when?" asked Wilton.

"The 15th."

"And will remain how long?"

"One year."

"And then?"

"Magazine illustrating."

"Then what?"

"Why, success, I hope, what more could I ask?"

"You may not ask more; but far more than professional success will be necessary to make you content."

"I never expect to love or marry any man."

This attempt to undermine her professional air castle rather nettled Jane, and when the man had claimed his dance came, she gave him the sweetest of smiles, while to poor Wilton she gave only a cool nod as she walked away. He stood and watched her as one watches the fading of a beatuiful sunset, when all its gorgeous colors die into a somber gray. When she passed from his sight it seemed to him that all the color of his hopes had turned to this same gray. He left without again entering the ball room.

The next morning as Jane was at breakfast, she received a box of exquisite sunrise roses, and a brief note, which said:

"Jane: You leave Chicago to-day. I cannot trust myself to say good-bye. May your life be as full of color as these roses, but if the color ever fades and you have need of a friend, remember that I shall be faithful always. WILTON."

Jane looked first at these lovely roses, and then at some American Beauties, sent by another man. She pushed the latt r from her.

"Bah! You are like a common person, suddenly grown rich," and burying her face among the ones that Wilton sent, she added, "but you are genuine aristocracy."

"The widow Oagle."

Something like a dewdrop could be seen among these roses, and a match for it was in either of Jane's eyes. She had not thought that their parting on the veranda was to be their last for a year. She had been almost uncivil to Wilton, who was after all her best friend. Seized by an impulse she did not stop to define, she selected one of the most beautiful roses, and enclosed it in a box with her card, on the back of which she wrote:

"This rose brings my parting message. Thank you many times, dear friend——and good-bye. JANE."

By the time it reached Wilton Jane was aboard the Twentieth Century Limited, well on her way to New York.

Though Wilton had seldom written, he had kept her supplied with the latest American books, and the home newspapers. Of late, however, she had year was nearly over she met some received fewer of these. When her Chicago friends, who poured out all the home news and gossip.

"And, Oh, Jane," one of the girls said, "your old stand-by, Wilton Ellis, has joined the Widow Oagle's train, and they do say she means to rope him in."

Jane was conscious of being closely watched by all of the party when this was said, but no sign of such consciousness was visible as she asked, rather indifferently:

"Who is this Widow Oagle, I don't think she was there when I left?"

"Oh, no, she came in the winter. Half the men in town have been devoted to her. Her husband was an army officer, killed in the Philippines, which, Jack Gwinn says, is proof to him that there is luck in store for all men, even though it be late in coming."

When Jane sat down at her desk that evening, she did not seem to be interested in the illustration she had begun. She pushed it aside and drew a picture of a beautiful woman, surrounded by admirers, while Cupid dragged away a trunk, labeled "Widow's Weeds."

Two months later, when she arrived in Chicago, almost the first person she saw was Mrs. Dan Shelley, who said:

"Oh, you wandering Gypsy, how good to see you again! And I'm giving a dinner to-morrow evening. You can't say no; I won't listen. And wear your fetchiest Paris gown, for there is nothing new in this old town."

When Jane entered Mrs. Dan's drawing room there was a perceptible murmur of admiration. Around her bare white throat were beautiful strings of amber beads—her only ornaments. In harmony with all these autumn tints, Jane's changeful hazel eyes looked out from under their crown of copper colored hair.

Nearly all the guests were her old acquaintances, but among the strangers, the first she met was Mrs. Oagle, who had Wilton in tow.

It seemed of late that Mrs. Oagle's songs were a part of every function. When the guests were about to leave some one said:

"You leave us to-morrow for the east, Mrs. Oagle; you won't refuse us one song?"

Gracefully rising, she went to the piano.

"Just a little parting message," she said, sweetly.

Somehow this recalled another parting message to Jane and Wilton. Their eyes met and were held together as the rich voice sang:

"The sweetest flower that blows,
  I give thee, as we part;
To you it is a rose,
  To me it is my heart."

Jane loked away, but looking up again, Wilton's eyes were still on her's as the voice ended in a burst of passion:

"You think it but a rose,
  Ah, me! It is my heart."

Something in Jane's look brought Wilton to her side, instead of to Mrs Oagle's, where he was evidently expected, and the petals of the deep red rose which had been meant for him, were gracefully scattered among the guests as the widow departed.

Next morning Jane received another box of exquisite Sunrise roses.

BARROOMS IN THE BIG HOTELS

Are Being Driven From the Field by the Boudoir Buffet.

The magnificent hotel barrooms which were a feature of Broadway life a decade ago, are being driven from the field by the boudoir buffet. Old time hotels like the St. Nicholas, the New York, the Metropolitan, the Morton house, Union Square, Coleman and others that made New York barrooms something to talk about a few years ago almost have gone out of existence. Barkeepers and mixers of special drinks that made them famous either have gone to another sphere or into other business, and there are none to take their places. To cite the most conspicuous example the famous elliptical bar in the Hoffman house, which Edward S. Stokes made the talk of two continents, has been taken away. The collection of expensive paintings, so famous that a special view hour each morning was appointed for women, has been dispersed. What was once the most magnificent barroom in the world in now a very commonplace cafe in comparison with the more modern New York hotels. There is a small barroom in another part of the hotel which bears about the same relation to the sumptuous Stokes menage as a pushcart does to a pony carriage. This is true of all the big hotels. The waiter and small table have put the barkeeper out of business. In many of the new boudoir bars if a customer steps up to the small bar and orders a drink he is asked to take a seat at one of the tables and a waiter will carry the drink to him. This usually involves a tip to the waiter that approximates one-half the price of the drink. The old-time barkeeper complains bitterly at the innovation of the foreign waiter in the barroom or cafe.

Co-operation of English Farmers.

The Agricultural Organization society was formed four years ago to promote reciprocal aid among British farmers, and statements at the annual meeting recently held show that its object is being successfully carried out. The number of branch societies has largely increased and is now 113, embracing 33 counties, while the membership has advanced from 4,500 in 1904 to 6,500 now. One of the important aims of the society is the cheapening of freight rates, which have been excessively burdensome in England to the small shipper. This is being done with success by combining farm products in wholesale quantities. General working expenses have been reduced and in some cases the prices of products have been increased through the harmonious working of the society. It also enables members to buy in wholesale quantities from one central point instead of dribbling out small orders to a large number of producers. Farmers can buy their supplies and implements at wholesale prices, and this is considered so important that prophets are found who see in it the redemption of British agriculture from the low estate to which it has declined.

Death's Lullaby.

Lullaby, lullaby, lullaby life
  Hush thee to sleep, to sleep.
Why should you long for the struggle and strife,
  Stay here and mourn and weep.
When you may sink in my arms and find rest,
Pillow your head on the earth's gentle breast
  Lullaby, lullaby, lullaby life,

Lullaby, lullaby, lullaby life,
  Close your weariful eyes.
Why should you linger in care and in strife
  Under these sorrowful skies
Come to my arms and win quiet and peace,
Let all your troubles and fretfulness cease,
Lullaby, lullaby, lullaby life.

Lullaby, lullaby, lullaby life.
  Briefly you spangled sun gleams.
Why should you love all this fanciful strife
  Chasing the phantom of dreams?
Flee from the quest of but vanishing mirth,
Come and lie down in the arms of the earth,
Lullaby, lullaby, lullaby life.
—Chicago Chronicle.

Is a British Princess.

The crown princess of Roumania, who is now staying with her children in the Isle of Wight, is a British princess, being the eldest daughter of the late duke of Saxe-Coburg—the duke of Edinburgh of olden days. The crown princess is a beautiful and accomplished woman, and one of the most attractive of King Edward's many nieces. She is very musical, and, like her late father, a finished violinist. She dresses perfectly and has many artistic tastes. In girlhood she was known in her home by the pet name of "Missy," a name which even now is not forgotten.

HORTICULTURE

The Cause of Pear Blight.

For ten years I have grown pears for market and have watched and studied the trees almost daily during that time, and I cannot agree with experiment station men and others as to the cause of pear blight. I cannot believe that pear blight is caused by bacteria or that a microbe has anything to do with it. An experiment station professor writing in "Country Life in America" recently went so far as to say that the pear blight microbe is in the nectar of the pear blossoms and is carried by bees from flower to flower. I think it is hardly possible for the nectar to be anything but pure when the blossoms open. I think pear blight is caused by conditions of soil and climate. On certain soils and elevations even in Illinois, pear trees are free from blight.

Frank Aikin.
Illinois.

* * *

The cause of pear blight is now very well known. There is no question at all of its being a germ disease. The microscope has revealed its character and it has been isolated and examined. The spore of the fungus that causes pear blight is both heavy and sticky and cannot be blown by the wind from one place to another. It used to be supposed that it could be blown from one tree to another and that this would account for the sudden appearance of pear blight after a windy and wet period. The germ of pear blight lives over winter in the live wood adjoining dead wood that has been killed by blight. Insects, especially bees, sip the sap from wounds in infected trees and later visit the tips of trees where small leaves are being formed or blossoms are opening. The spores of the pear blight stick to the limbs of the insects just as pollen sticks to them. When the insects suck the nectar in the flowers, the spores are rubbed off and fall into the flower. From those spores, minute plants of a thread-like character develop. These plants grow through the sap wood and through the leaves and use up the life fluid that should go to feed the leaves. The leaves then wilt and turn color, and we say the tree has been blighted. There is much yet to be learned about pear blight, but the foundation has been well worked out.—Farmers' Review.

Fruit Exhibit at Fairs.

Societies having the control of the fruit exhibit at fairs should see to it that, so far as possible, every variety of fruit grown in the state shall be represented at each exhibition. Managers of agricultural societies should remember that these exhibitions are for the purpose of instruction and for the stimulation of fruit growing. They are not mere gambling devices by which a few men can make as much money as possible out of the premiums. Many of our exhibits are deficient in the number of varieties displayed. Certain orchardists are invited in, and these generally make a display of the fruit they grow themselves. Some of the varieties that are thriving best in the state are not shown at all. The managers of the exhibit could, by a very little work, bring in all the different varieties of fruit being grown in the locality represented by the fair. This should be done even if the management has to buy a few plates of good fruit, of varieties that would not otherwise be represented. The matter of instruction should be made much of, and every variety should be fully designated by lettered or printed labels that are large enough to be read by all. Very frequently the labels on the fruits are very badly written on slips of paper and are placed where they are weighed down by the fruit. This may be satisfactory to the judges, but would hardly do much in instructing the public.

Orchard Cover Crop.

At this season of the year a cover crop may be put into the orchard that has been cultivated, especially if this orchard is in the north. Experiments made with cover crops show that they very materially reduce the distance that the frost enters the ground. In some cases the common vetch has been planted in the orchard in midsummer, and has made a good growth during the fall, covering the orchard with a carpet of green. This plant freezes during the winter, but the carpet it makes reduces the power of the frost to pentrate the ground. In one test in Wisconsin, where the frost went twenty inches without this cover, it went only twelve inches with it. It is too late now to plant alfalfa or clover, but cow peas may yet be sown, as may also winter rye. These will both make a good cover crop by the time frost comes, and will serve the purpose intended. Where orchards have been in sod all the spring and summer, they should not be disturbed in the fall, but the sod should be left as a cover for the roots of the trees during the winter.

The so-called pedigreeing of plants is a misnomer, when such plants are not produced from seed. Selection is one thing, but it is not pedigreeing. A plant cannot be its own parent.

There should be a label on every package of fruit that is sold in the market showing where and by whom it was grown. This will tend to do away with dishonest packing.

GOOD BLOOD FOR BAD

Rheumatism and Other Blood Diseases are Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"In the lead mines I was at work on my knees with my elbows pressed against rock walls, in dampness and extremes of cold," said Mr. J. G. Meukel, of 2975 Jackson avenue, Dubuque, Iowa, in describing his experience to a reporter, "and it is not surprising that I contracted rheumatism. For three years I had attacks affecting the joints of my ankles, knees and elbows. My ankles and knees became so swollen I could scarcely walk on uneven ground and a little pressure from a stone under my feet would cause me so much pain that I would nearly sink down. I was often obliged to lie in bed for several days at a time. My friends who were similarly troubled were getting no relief from doctors and I did not feel encouraged to throw money away for nothing. By chance I read the story of Robert Yates, of the Klauer Manufacturing Co., of Dubuque, who had a very bad case of rheumatism. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the remedy he had used. In three or four weeks after beginning to use the pills, I was much better and in three months I was well. The swelling of the joints and the tenderness disappeared, I could work steadily and for eight years I have had no return of the trouble. My whole family believe in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Both my sons use them. We consider them a household remedy that we are sure about."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for Mr. Meukel they are doing for hundreds of others. Every dose sends galloping through the veins, pure, strong, rich, red blood that strikes straight at the cause of all ill health. The new blood restores regularity, and braces all the organs for their special tasks. Get the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggists' or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y.

Choice of Evils.

Singleton—Just as soon as a woman can manage a man her love begins to cool.

Wedderly—Yes; and just as soon as she discovers she can't manage him she begins to make it hot for him.—

We Can Help You

In getting beautiful and harmonious tints on your walls with

Alabastine
THE SANITARY WALL COATING

Write for sample card of handsome tints. Tell us just what work you have to do, and see how we can help you in getting beautiful effects. Alabastine is not a disease breeding hot or cold water glue kalsomine, not a covering stuck on with paste like wall paper, but a natural cement rock base coating. Anyone can apply it. Mix with cold water. Alabastine does not rub or scale. Destroys disease germs and vermin. No washing of walls after once applied. Buy only in packages properly labeled. "Hints on Decorating" and pretty wall and ceiling design free.

ALABASTINE CO.,
Grand Rapids, Mich. New York City.

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR COW OWNERS

The mechanical Cream Separator has become a vital feature of every home dairy just as of every butter factory.

Its use means much more and much better cream and butter, as well as saving of water, ice, time and room.

The difference in results is not small but big. Few cows now pay without a separator. Dairying is the most profitable kind of farming with one.

98% of the creamery butter of the world is now made with De Laval machines, and there are over 500,000 farm users besides.

Send for catalogue and name of nearest local agent.

THE DE LAVAL SEPARATOR CO.
Randolph & Canal Sts. CHICAGO | 74 Cortlandt Street NEW YORK

DO YOU COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

WHEAT

The undertone of strength which has been noted in the Wheat market has led many otherwise well-informed persons to reach apparently false conclusions with regard to the course of the market. The fact that bull operators have emphasized the importance of disappointing yields in certain small localities is given a fictitious value by many country traders. On the basis of the latest government crop estimate, our former figures of an exportable surplus from the United States of at least 200 million bushels is supported and verified. When this one fact is taken into consideration in connection with the big Canadian yield and fair crops abroad, it will be seen that a tremendous supply of American Wheat must be marketed at the world's level. The best informed section of the trade believes that it will be difficult to maintain prices even at their present level when the new crop really begins to move to market. The foreigners watch our news very closely, and naturally enough are disposed to reduce bids when big supplies are available.

Edwards-Wood Co.
(Incorporated)—Dealers in
STOCKS, GRAIN, PROVISIONS
Main Office—5th and Robert Sts., St. [illegible]

U. S. SENATOR TOWNE

Credits Doan's Kidney Pills with a Gratifying Cure.

Hon. Charles A. Towne, ex-U. S. Senator from Minnesota, brilliant orator, clever business man, brainy lawyer, whose national prominence made him a formidable candidate for the presidential nomination in 1904, writes us the following:

Gentlemen: I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. The remedy was recommended to me a few months ago when I was feeling miserable; had severe pains in the back; was restless and languid; had a dull headache and neuralgic pains in the limbs and was otherwise distressed. A few boxes of the pills effectually routed my ailment and I am glad to acknowledge the benefit I derived.

(Signed) CHARLES A. TOWNE.

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents per box.

Still Useful.

"Father," said an inquiring youth, "when a hen sits on an egg for three weeks and it don't batch, is the egg spoiled?"

"As an article of diet, my son, it is henceforth a failure; but for political purposes it has its uses."

Here Is Relief for Women.

Mother Gray, a nurse in New York, discovered a pleasant herb remedy for women's ills, called AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain monthly regulator. Cures female weaknesses, Backache, Kidney and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

No Chance of Either.

Staylaight—You are the world to me, and I would die for you!

Miss Bordwun—Judging from how you dislike to bid the world farewell I imagine you won't die for some time to come yet!

She Had.

"Did you ever hear anything so idiotic as that talk of Mrs. Softer's when she is addressing her baby?" queried one woman of another onthe street car.

"Yes, I think I have," was the reply.

"Then, for heaven's sake, what was it?"

"I once heard a fat man talking to his canary bird."

PLAINLY HE WAS AN AMATEUR.

Real Golfer Would Never Have Said "Shoot!"

Two little street arabs had been pressed into service as caddies at the Northland Country club links during the recent sessions of the Minnesota Golf association. They toiled wearily over the course in the rear of their respective principals for the greater part of a day. As the sun wore westward looks of disgust settled darker and darker upon the small unwashed faces. Finally they met at a putting green. Each looked at the other as if something which he could in nowise comprehend was clouding his mind.

One of the players, after an elaborate preparation, let drive at the whited spheroid which lay upon the tiny anthill. He not only missed the ball, but his club was demolished. He stood perfectly still for a moment, regarding the havoc he had wrought with deep displeasure. Then he hissed, "Shoot!"

The lads could stand no more. "Aw, come on, Bill," said one. "Let's go down town where the men is!" And they went.—Duluth News-Tribune.

HONEST PHYSICIAN.

Works With Himself First.

It is a mistake to believe that physicians are always skeptical as to the curative properties of anything else than drugs.

Indeed, the best doctors are those who seek to heal with as little use of drugs as possible and by the use of correct food and drink. A physician writes from Calif. to tell how he made a well man of himself with Nature's remedy:

"Before I came from Europe, where I was born," he says, "it was my custom to take coffee with milk (cafe au lait) with my morning meal, a small cup (cafe noir) after my dinner and two or three additional small cups at my club during the evening.

"In time nervous symptoms developed, with pains in the cardiac region, and accompanied by great depression of spirits, despondency—in brief, 'the blues!' I at first tried medicines, but got no relief and at last realized that all my troubles were caused by coffee. I thereupon quit its use forthwith, substituting English Breakfast Tea.

"The tea seemed to help me at first, but in time the old distressing symptoms returned, and I quit it also, and tried to use milk for my table beverage. This I was compelled, however, to abandon speedily, for, while it relieved the nervousness somewhat, it brought on constipation. Then by a happy inspiration I was led to try the Postum Food Coffee. This was some months ago and I still use it. I am no longer nervous, nor do I suffer from the pains about the heart, while my 'blues' have left me and life is bright to me once more. I know that leaving off coffee and using Postum healed me, and I make it a rule to advise my patients to use it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

Land for Poultry Raising.

In general, the farmer does not have to consider the matter of the best land for poultry raising. Whatever land he has, he needs the poultry to help him make a profit out of it. A great many farmers' boys are launching out and going into the poultry business for themselves, and now and then we find one looking for a location, and for land that is suitable for a poultry farm. Often he tries to locate one near a city, that he may be near the retail market. We find him invariably looking for a cheap place, and in some cases he has bought the cheap place only to find it a burden on his hands. The cheap places are cheap because they are poorly situated. Often they are so low and poorly drained that they are unsuited to any agricultural purpose, the owner imagining that the poultry will take care of itself where no crop will thrive. We have in mind such a location that has been in the hands of different men trying to raise poultry, and has always been an absolute failure. It is low, flat, and wet. The poultry are always subject to different kinds of diseases which seem to be more prevalent in damp situations than in others. In selecting a site for a small poultry farm, a high location should be chosen. If it is on sandy or loamy soil, so much the better; but, in any event, it should be able to produce good crops, for the poultry raiser must raise many grain crops for his poultry, both in his poultry runs and in his fields. No land should be selected that cannot be well drained, and it should be so arranged as to houses that the poultry house can be at the top of the slope and still be at no very great distance from the dwelling.—Peter Graham, Bourbon Co., Kan., in Farmers' Review.

Cost of Egg Production.

Ever since we can remember, there has been a constant controversy going on as to the cost of producing eggs. Some authorities are willing to agree that it costs 6 cents a dozen to produce eggs. We doubt very much if this is correct. We believe that the amount is very much larger, and we figure this out from the cost of keeping a hen a year. The 6 cents a dozen is ½ a cent an egg. At that rate, the hen that costs a dollar a year to keep must lay 200 eggs a year to make the cost 6 cents a dozen. As a matter of fact, our fowls will not average this by at least 60 eggs. The cost, therefore, must be in the vicinity of 8 or 10 cents a dozen where all the food except the green stuff has to be bought. Even at this price, there is a good profit in the production of eggs. Moreover, many of our farms are so situated that the eggs produced by the hens cost absolutely nothing, as the hens make their living mostly from the waste of the farm.

Keeping Beef Meals.

Beef meals are very valuable for poultry feeding, but often it is extremely difficult to keep them. They should not be placed in a warm building, either summer or winter. In the summer they should be placed in a refrigerator and kept tightly covered. In the winter they should be placed where it is always cold. These beef meals consist of meat that has been dried in kiln, and afterward ground to a meal. In that state they would keep indefinitely did not the moisture content of the meals increase, but as soon as they are taken out of kiln dried air, they begin to draw moisture to themselves. The moisture and heat soon produce a putrid condition of the meals. For this reason, some poultry houses do not ship these meals long distances in the summer, and in some cases the retail houses handle these meals only in the winter. Cold is essential to keep them in their natural condition.

Exhibit at the Poultry Shows.

Interest in poultry raising can be stimulated in no better way than by making an exhibit at some of the numerous poultry shows. Every year we have a very large number of these shows, both in connection with county and state fairs and under the auspices of poultry associations. The farmer that wants to get his boys interested in poultry can do no better than to encourage them to show the best fowls they have at the nearest poultry show. If they have no birds, he should buy a few. The rules of most poultry shows do not require that the birds shall be raised by the exhibitor, nor do they require that the exhibitor shall be a member of any poultry association.

Late or Early Moulting?

The time at which the hen begins to lay in the winter will depend largely upon the time at which she moults. The fowl that is so poorly fed that she will not moult until December will not begin laying eggs until about the first of March. The hen that moults in October will probably begin to lay about the middle of January. Therefore, mature hens should be very well fed at this time of year, so that they may moult as early as possible. They should have a very substantial food, including ground oats, wheat, bran, meat and ground bone. This matter should not be neglected by the man that has two-year-old hens that he wants to get to laying in the early winter.

LIVE STOCK

Fall Feeding of Stock.

Most of our farmers are learning that it pays to feed stock well during the fall that they may go into the winter in good condition. I find, however, that here and there among my neighbors is a man that continues to depend upon the pastures for most of the feed his stock receives during the fall months. This is not very bad during the years when there is abundant rain fall from the end of August to the time when the pastures freeze, but there have been a great many years when the falls were very dry, when there was almost no rain fall during September and October. The pastures of course had no chance to recover from the August drouth. The habits that these men had formed in the years when pasturage was abundant remained with them through the dry years, and more than once I have seen these farmers starting their stock into winter in a condition that could not be improved upon for months. There is an old saying that "well summered is half wintered." Generally, stock will look after itself during the first half of the summer, for food is almost always abundant in the spring and early summer, but it is far otherwise after mid-summer. The man that does not feed his stock all that they can use during the latter half of the growing season will find that it will cost a great deal more to winter them than it would otherwise cost. He will save money if he will use some of the surplus feed in the fall months when it is needed. I have known of men that did not feed their cattle a mouthful of hay until they were put up for the winter, and yet when spring came they had a great deal of hay left. That same hay could have been fed out in the fall months to very great advantage to the stock.—Joseph Bowler, Carroll Co., Ind., in Farmers' Review.

Sulphur and Cattle Ticks.

In regions where the cattle are subject to attacks of fever due to the presence of ticks, the opinion has gained ground among the cattlemen that if the cattle are fed large quantities of sulphur, this will prevent them from being attacked by the ticks, and if any ticks are on them, they will fall off. In South Africa a thorough test is being made of this theory. Young steers and colts were given sulphur in their food during a period of 40 days, receiving one and a half ounces of sulphur daily. At the end of this time the dose was increased to three ounces daily, and this was continued during the infestation. The steers were then infected with the ticks. These ticks reached maturity in the usual time and it was evident that the prolonged sulphur treatment did not produce the slightest effect upon the ticks.

The Horse's Teeth.

The teeth of the horse should receive attention and at the first indication that anything is wrong with the mouth of the horse a veterinarian that knows his business should be called. The graduating of so many competent veterinarians is a good thing for the horse, which in the past has suffered many things because his owner did not know that anything could be the matter with him. Horses have toothache as well as other animals and human beings, and sometimes the horse needs the dentist quite as badly as people do. Horse dentistry is a new feature of veterinary science, as it came in only with the advent of the qualified veterinarian.

Distribution of Blooded Hogs.

Probably pure-bred hogs are more widely distributed than any other class of farm animals. Go where we will in the United States it is not difficult to find hogs that bear the unmistakable signs of being well bred. There is no such impediment in the way of pure breeding of hogs as there is in the pure breeding of cattle and horses, namely, the expense of using a blooded sire of good conformation. Blooded hogs early began to be exported from one country to another, as we see by the records of the importation into England of the hogs of China and other parts of Asia, and the subsequent exportation from England of the new breeds that had been developed.

Meat of Tuberculosis Cattle.

A German investigator has been making experiments to determine if the meat of tuberculous cattle is filled with tubercle bacilli. His experiments gave most surprising results. The flesh of some of the animals that were so affected by tuberculosis that their meat was excluded from the market contained no tubercle bacilli. On the other hand, one of the animals tested had so many bacilli in its meat that 59 per cent of the experimental animals inoculated with this material became tuberculous. It will thus be seen that no rule can be laid down as to what meat of the tuberculous animals is or is not affected.

Private Slaughter Houses.

There is a movement on foot in Germany to do away with private slaughter houses. It is proposed to allow only public slaughter houses, and to have each one of these under the direction of a veterinarian who is a graduate of some reputable veterinary college. The movement is in the direction of obtaining for the people a meat product entirely free from disease.

He'd Want a Harp.

The craze for giving and accepting coupons for the purchases of merchandise, to be redeemed by prizes, was given a more or less merited rebuke by Nat C. Goodwin. He bought a bill of goods and the salesman offered him the coupons that the amount of the purchase called for. Mr. Goodwin shook his head. "I don't want 'em," he said. "You had better take them, sir," persisted the clerk; "we redeem them with very handsome prizes. If you can save up a thousand coupons we give you a grand piano." "Say, look here," replied Mr. Goodwin, "if I ever drank enough of your whisky or smoked enough of your cigars to get a thousand of those coupons I wouldn't want a piano. I'd want a harp."

Fine for the Chauffeur, Anyway.

The following incident occurred before Judge Tyler, judge of the municipal court, Norwich, Conn.: A chauffeur being brought before the judge on a charge of overspeeding his auto, swore that at the time of his arrest the machine was not traveling faster than three miles an hour.

"Very well," replied the judge, calmly. But rather than be beaten by the accused, he said: "I then charge you with obstructing the traffic."—Boston Herald.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

Made a Difference.

Young Actor—How do you like my Hamlet?

Old Stager—Oh, it was your Hamlet, was it? I thought I did not recognize it as Shakespeare's.

Ask Your Dealer for Allen's Foot-Ease

A powder. It rests the feet. Cures Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating Feet and Ingrowing Nails. At all Druggists and Shoe stores, 25 cents. Accept no substitute. Sample mailed FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Truer Politeness, Perhaps.

"Why don't you get up and give that lady your seat?"

"Because she's elderly, but dresses like a girl. I'm afraid it would offend her."

FITS permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for FREE $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ltd., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

A Coincidence.

"How is your husband?"

Charley was very ill yesterday, but he is better this morning. It is a singular coincidence, but he always recovers when there is a prospect of a good ball game."

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson, patent lawyers, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn.: Alfred Hovey, Cass Lake, Minn., mechanical fan; James Jessen, Minneapolis, Minn., register; John Le Duc, Mankato, Minn., steam boiler furnace; Claude Mentzer, Albert Lea, Minn., locomotive draw bar; Oscar Osmondson, Grand Forks, N. D., measuring tool; Charles Smith, Minneapolis, Minn., spirit level; Edwin Washburn, Minneapolis, Minn., car coupling.

The first lie ever told in the world is circulating yet.

Tumors Conquered Without Operations

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Cases of Mrs. Fox and Miss Adams.

Fannie Fox
Miss Luella Adams

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive menstruation accompanied by unusual pain extending from the ovaries down the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation; secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use and write Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Read these strong letters from grateful women who have been cured:

Dear Mrs, Pinkham:— (First Letter.)

"In looking over your book I see that your medicine cures Tumor of the Uterus. I have been to a doctor and he tells me I have a tumor. I will be more than grateful if you can help me, as I do so dread an operation." —Fannie D. Fox, 7 Chestnut St., Bradford, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second Letter.)

"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine.

"Eighteen months ago my monthlies stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician, and was told that I had a tumor on the uterus and would have to undergo an operation.

"I soon after read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed, the tumor is entirely gone. I have again been examined by the physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my monthlies around once more; and I am entirely well. I shall never be without a bottle of Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the house."—Fannie D. Fox, Bradford, Pa.

Another Case of Tumor Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About three years ago I had intense pain in my stomach, with cramps and raging headaches. The doctor prescribed for me, but finding that I did not get any better he examined me and, to my surprise, declared I had a tumor in the uterus.

"I felt sure that it meant my death warrant, and was very disheartened. I spent hundreds of dollars in doctoring, but the tumor kept growing, till the doctor said that nothing but an operation would save me. Fortunately I corresponded with my aunt in the New England States, who advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before submitting to an operation, and I at once started taking a regular treatment, finding to my great relief that my general health began to improve, and after three months I noticed that the tumor had reduced in size. I kept on taking the Compound, and in ten months it had entirely disappeared without an operation, and using no medicine but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and words fail to express how grateful I am for the good it has done me."—Miss Luella Adams, Colonnade Hotel, Seattle, Wash.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and should give confidence and hope to every sick woman.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all ailing women to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: a Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

WET WEATHER COMFORT

"I have used your FISH BRAND Slicker for five years and can truthfully say that I never have had anything give me so much comfort and satisfaction. Enclosed find my order for another one."

(NAME AND ADDRESS ON APPLICATION)

You can defy the hardest storm with Tower's Waterproof Oiled Clothing and Hats.

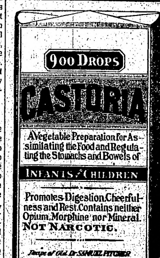
Highest Award World's Fair, 1904.

OUR GUARANTEE IS BACK OF THIS SIGN OF THE FISH

A. J. TOWER CO.
Boston, U. S. A.
TOWER CANADIAN CO.
Limited
TORONTO, CANADA

TOWER'S FISH BRAND

259



900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr. SAMUEL PITCHER

[illegible]

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES — 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

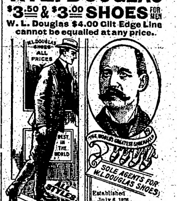
CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN

W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.



W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
ALL STYLES
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

Established July 6, 1876.

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.
Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.
THE R. PAXTON COMPANY, BOSTON, MASS.

If afflicted with weak eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

When Answering Advertisements Kindly Mention This Paper.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. [illegible] Ask dealer or we will send post paid at 10c a package. Write for free booklet [illegible]

ESTABLISHED 1879.

MINNEAPOLIS Woodward & Co., Grain Commission. DULUTH.

ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS.

PERSONAL.....

Eli Lasha spent Sunday at Crookston.

P. O. Floan was at Grand Forks Tuesday.

I. D. Converse, of Cass Lake, was in the city Monday.

S. M. Sivertson was at Greenbush between trains Monday.

T. G. Brunelle made a short business trip to Greenbush Saturday.

Harry Healy went over into Polk county Tuesday for a two days' hunt.

County Surveyor Wood was a county seat visitor the first of the week.

R. J. Cooper of Crookston was registered at the Grand View yesterday.

John E. King is up from St. Paul this week looking after his business interests.

Deputy Sheriff Jarman was down from Thief River Falls over Tuesday night.

Julius Pleth and Oscar Carlson, of Plummer, were business visitors here Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Ducharme, of Perrault Station, were at Red Lake Falls Monday.

A. M. Anderson was a business caller at Thief River Falls yesterday between trains.

Mrs. Arthur Zaiser went to Crookston Monday evening for a visit with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Louis Seiff and Mrs. John Drier went to Grand Forks Tuesday to be absent a number of days.

Will Knight, of Thief River Falls, was in the city over Sunday visiting his father and brother, Vic.

Miss Lorain Longtin, who is teaching school south of town, came in to spend Sunday with her parents.

Emil Hennings returned today from North Dakota, where he has been working for the past month.

John Larson, one of the prominent farmers up St. Hilaire way, was a visitor at Red Lake Falls yesterday.

W. F. Witte, of Waseca, who owns considerable real estate in this vicinity, is here this week looking after his crops.

Rev. Father Ansgar went to Moorhead last evening to visit friends for a few days. He is expected home tomorrow.

W. J. Hemshrot, of Forest City, Ill., was in the city the first of the country over with a view of purchasing land.

John Martell, one of the prosperous farmers of Terrebonne township, was a business caller in the city Tuesday.

Hon. L. C. Simons was at Crookston Tuesday, where he was called on business before the commissioners of Polk county.

Ralph Wyer, Frank E. Hunt and Harry Healy composed a hunting party that enjoyed a day's sport near Dorothy Tuesday.

Miss Rose Dautremont expects to leave this week for Adrian, Minn., and Rock Rapids, Iowa. She will be absent several weeks.

Contractor Johnson went to Warren Saturday evening and remained over Sunday. Mr. Johnson is building an elevator at that place.

C. Newton, of Kent, Minn., was in the city last Saturday. He has a claim in the reservation country and was on his way to look after it.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Brophy returned to their North Dakota home Monday after a two weeks' visit here with H. L. Veigel and family.

Mrs. H. N. Johnson left to-day for her home at Park River, N. D., after spending a couple of weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Toupin.

Alvin Robertson, president of the Robertson Lumber company, was in the city Tuesday looking after business connected with the local yard.

Fremont Severson, who has been living on his half section farm in Polk Center, left Monday for Blue Earth county and will be absent about a year.

H. H. Zaiser left this evening for St. Paul and Chicago to purchase more fall and winter goods for the the Busy store. He will be gone about a week.

Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Hansen went to Thief River Falls yesterday. Mr. Hansen returned in the evening but Mrs. Hansen remained for a visit with old friends.

J. P. Gonigam arrived today from Walnut, Ill., with a party of landseekers. He says there is every prospect of a lively influx of Illinois farmers this fall.

L. P. Berthon expects to go to St. Paul and Minneapolis next week to buy more winter goods for his clothing store. He will also visit his aunt in the latter city.

Miss Alice Higinbotham and clarence Fisher left Monday evening for their home at Forest City, Iowa, after a visit here of two weeks at the V. M. Higinbotham home.

Mrs. W. A. McIntyre left Monday evening for Warren to visit friends. She will return to Red Lake Falls Friday to remain a few days before returning to her home at Fargo.

Miss Katherine Campbell returned Sunday from Minneapolis, wher she has been clerking for the past year. She will remain here some time owing to the illness of her mother.

Chas. Moller returned from Bagley Monday where he has been visiting his parents the past summer. He will begin his duties as teacher of the Terrebonne school next week.

Mrs. J. K. Johnson and daughter left yesterday for an extended visit at Seattle and Portland. They expect to see the fair and also spend considerable time with friends and relatives.

Dr. N. J. Pinault, the well-known Minneapolis capitalist, weo is interested in Red Lake Falls, was here yesterday looking after business matters and visiting his nephew, L. P. Berthon.

Nap Miller and family will leave today for Grand Forks where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Miller has accepted a position in one of the leading barber shops in that city.

Chas. B. Dean, publisher of the Grant County News, at Twin Brooks, S. D., was a visitor to Red Lake Falls Saturday. Mr. Dean is an old friend and schoolmate of Hon. L. C. Simons.

Robert Monro, of Fergus, Ont., is here for a short visit with his cousin, Dr. N. M. Watson. Mr. Monro has been spending several weeks at different points in Minnesota and North Dakota.

Louis Berthiaume and daughter, Miss Blanche, went to St. Paul Satuarday. Mr. Berthiaume will remain a week while Miss Blanche will remain indefinitely, having secured a position in a dressmaking establishment.

Vic Knight was in the city a few days last week visiting old friends and acquaintances. He returned to his home near Big Fork this week, his father, Judge Knight, going with him. The Judge will make his home with his son hereafter.

W. A. McIntyre is expected here Saturday for an over-Sunday visit with his Red Lake Falls friends. Mac has been at Minot and other points in North Dakota this week looking after legal business for his firm. Mrs. McIntyre will accompany her husband to Fargo Monday or Tuesday.

Mrs. J. W. Bourdon returned the fore part of the week from a visit with relatives at Grand Forks. "Grandma," as she is familiarly known by the Red Lake Falls people, has been an invalid for nearly five years, but has recently been restored to health and is in excellent physical condition. This will be good news to her many friends.

Michael McAndress and wife were down from St. Hilaire over Monday night and visited at the home of J. B. Armstrong. Mr. McAndress is one of the best farmers in northern Red Lake county and has been fortunate enough to save practically all of his crop. All of his wheat and barley is in the stack, and he thinks there is no question but that all of his flax will be ready to cut next week.

Arthur Dautremont is expected here from Montana next week for a brief visit. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dautremont and made an extended visit with his parents here thaee years ago. Mr. Dautremont will go from here to Adrian, Minn., where he will be united in marriage with Miss Mary Eppers, one of the charming young ladies of that city. They will leave at once for the groom's home and commence housekeeping there.

Crookston Times: Will Heidt of this city is engaged at Red Lake Falls on the new school house which is being erected at that place to replace to replace the one destroyed by lightning some time ago. Contractor Cooper who has a large porion of the work on the new building came down yesterday for an over Sunday stay with home folks and friends in the city. Mr. Heidt will be located at the Falls until very nearly freezeup on the work.

F. C. Leppert was over from Wylie yesterday on business. In anticipation of the tearing up of the Great Northern tracks through Wylie Leppert Bros. and Romsos Bros. are preparing to move their stores to Sarles, N. D., one of the towns on the new Great Northern extension. Both of these firms have been in business at Wylie for a great many years, and their removal will occasion sincere regret on the part of a host of friends and patrons.

Crookston Times: Messrs. Frank Sutor and Fred Sutor of Chatham, Ont., made a brief visit here last week, going from here to Cass Lake, at which place they were guests of Sam Sutor and family. They passed through on their way home, by way of Winnipeg and Port Arthur, and were accompanied by Jas. Sutor, of Wylie, as far as this city. They have been making an extended tour through northwestern Canada, North Dakota and northern Minnesota, and had a very interesting trip. At Port Arthur they take the steamer for their home.

S. J. Swanson, who has been the buyer for the Red Lake Falls Milling company at Wylie and Thief River Falls for many years past, was in the city yesterday. He leaves shortly for Warren, where he will have charge of the elevator belonging to Red Lake Falls mill. Mr. Swanson is one of the best grain men and one of the best fellows in the state, and we can heartily commend him to the people of Warren. The ladies, especially, will be interested in knowing that he is heart whole and fancy free, and one of the most eligible bachelors in the valley.

Ralph E. Wyer expects to leave about the fifteenth of October for Toronto, Canada, where he will be associated with a new stock food manufacturing concern, of which M. W. Savage, the owner of Dan Patch and proprietor of the International stock food company, is the chief stockholder. This institution promises to be one of the big business concerns of Canada, and we feel sure that Ralph will win a business reputation and at the same time secure a goodly portion of the world's goods. The people of Red Lake Falls will all hope that Ralph's expectations will be more than realized.

C. L. Hansen arrived from Crookston Monday to assume his new duties as assistant cashier at the First State Bank, with which institution he has recently become interested by the purchase of a handsome bunch of stock. Mr. Hansen is known by practically everyone in Red Lake county, having for a number of years canvassed for the Watkins Medicine company. He is a good business man, upright, honorable and aggressive, and will prove a valuable addition to the commercial life of the city. Mr. Hansen takes Ralph Wyer's position, and while we are all sorry to hear of Ralph's prospective removal, it is a consolation to know that his place is to be filled by so good a man as Mr. Hansen.

Got off Cheap.

He may well think, he has got off cheap, who, after having contracted constipation or indigestion, is still able to perfectly restore his health. Nothing will do this but Dr. King's New Life Pills. A quick, pleasant and sure cure for headache, constipation, etc. 25c at all drug stores; guaranteed.

Order for Hearing Proof of Will.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Red Lake, } ss

IN PROBATE COURT
Special Term September 6, 1905.

In the matter of the Estate of Cyprien Asselin, deceased.

Whereas, an instrument in writing, purporting to be the Last Will and Testament of Cyprien Asselin deceased, late of said county, has been delivered to this Court;

And whereas, Cleophas Asselin has filed, therewith his petition representing, among other things, that said Cyprien Asselin died in said county, on the 27th day of August, 1905, testate, and that said petitioner is one of the Executors named in said Last Will and Testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to Cleophas Asselin and Onizime Asselin.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument and the said petition be heard before this Court at the Probate Office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, on Monday, the second day of October, A. D. 1905, at one o'clock in the afternoon, when all persons interested may appear for or contest the probate of said instrument;

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, the 6th day of September, A. D. 1905.

N. W. TARKENT,
Judge of Probate.

87-21

Sale of Ditching Jobs.

Notice is hereby given, that on the seventh day of October, 1905, at one o'clock p. m., at the office of the County Auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, Minnesota, I will sell the jobs of digging and constructing the Ditch No. 22 of Red Lake county, established by the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake county, state of Minnesota, by their order bearing date the eight day of September, 1905, viz: For the work as one job, and also for one or more sections of 100 feet each, and also for one or more of the construction jobs, each of said sections to be known and numbered by stakes as shown by the report of the Engineer in said matter, commencing at the one including the outlet, and from thence, successively, up stream to the one including the source, said sections being numbered from 0 to No. 195, both inclusive, to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, and that bids are invited for said work; said work to be completed within the time required, and in the manner specified in said Engineer's report. And no bid will be entertained which exceeds more than thirty (30) per cent. over and above the estimate cost of the construction, in any case, as stated in the said order; and the successful bidder will be required to give a satisfactory bond, to be approved by the Auditor of said county, with two freehold sureties, for the faithful performance and fulfillment of his contract, and to pay all damages that may accrue by reason of his failure to complete the job within the time required in the contract. The said order estimates and profile are on file and may be seen at my office.

The approximate amount of work to be done in the construction of such ditch is as follows:

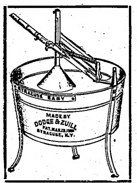
The excavation and removal of 36,024 cubic yards of earth, the seme to be placed along the north side of the ditch so as to form a turnpike or grade and the same to be left in a suitable condition for public traffic from Station No. 0 to 177 inclusive. From Station No. 178 to Station No. 195 inclusive the earth removed may be deposited on each side of the ditch in spoil banks as provided in the plans and specifications of the engineer. The estimated cost of the work is fourteen cents per yard. The estimated total cost of the work is Five Thousand Forty-three and 36-100 Dollars.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Auditor of said County for not less than ten per cent of the amount of each bid.

The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

Dated September 12, 1905.

(Seal) JAMES E. FORD,
County [illegible] Red Lake Co. Minn.



Save the Clothes

BY USING A

Syracuse "EASY" Washing Machine

No Friction, Wear or Tear with the "Easy"

By our method there is no rubbing and no wear possible. You can do your washing in less time and do it easier than with the old style wooden washers. Our list of satisfied users numbers 81. If you want to know about the "Easy" ask your neighbor or get one on trial, If you are not perfecfly satisfied we take it back.

Price $8.00

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

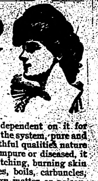
Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..

Always Uniform Absolutely Pure

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN Hair Renewer

Why not stop this falling of your hair? At this rate you will soon be without any hair! Just remember that Hall's Hair Renewer stops falling hair, and makes hair grow.



GOOD BLOOD
TELLS ITS OWN STORY

And tells it eloquently in the bright eye, the supple, elastic movement, the smooth, soft skin, glowing with health, a body sound and well, an active brain, good appetite and digestion, refreshing sleep, energy to perform the duties and capacity to enjoy the pleasures of life. The blood is the most vital part of the body; every organ, muscle, tissue, nerve, sinew and bone is dependent on it for nourishment and strength, and as it circulates through the system, pure and strong, it furnishes to these different parts all the healthful qualities nature intended. When, from any cause, the blood becomes impure or diseased, it tells a different story, quite as forceful in its way. Itching, burning skin diseases, muddy, sallow complexions, disfiguring sores, boils, carbuncles, etc., show the presence, in the blood, of some foreign matter or poison. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Contagious Blood Poison and Scrofula, are effects of a deeply poisoned blood circulation. These may either be inherited or acquired, but the seat of trouble is the same—the blood. S. S. S., a purely vegetable blood remedy, cleanses and purifies the circulation and makes it strong and clean. Under its purifying and tonic effects all poisons and impurities are expelled from the blood, the general health is built up, all disfiguring eruptions and blemishes disappear, the skin becomes soft and smooth and robust health blesses life. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all diseases of the blood are cured by S. S. S. Book on the blood and any medical advice, free of charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

SSS

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - - MINNESOTA

Buttons Business College and Shorthand Institute

Crookston, Minn. and Wadena, Minn.

Offers to take you through a complete course in book-keeping, short-hand and typewriting and let you pay for tuition at the rate of $10 per month after situation is secured for you. It practically costs you nothing because we get you a position where you can earn at least $10 per month more than you ever earned before.

We Want 500 Students to Enter this College During next threemonths and make the above uuparralled offer to get them. The courses are:

Normal, Shorthand and Type-writing, Music, Commercial, Preparatory, Telegraphy

This is the only college in the United States that guarantees a good paying position to every graduate. If we don't get you a satisfactory situation you need never pay us one cent.

J. A. BUTTON, Principal

Crookston, Minn. and Wadena, Minn.

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.

Strictly First-Class In Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

Boiling Water in a Reservoir

It's something that's hard to do when the reservoir is on the right hand side because it's too far from the fire, takes too much fuel to do it. But, when the reservoir is right next to the fire pot, it's a mighty easy job and don't take much fuel either. Then on the Majestic we have a lever that by turning throws the reservoir away from the fire so that there is never any danger of the water boiling all away and spoiling your reservoir.

If you are going to need a range, don't look too much at the price, the Majestic is not the cheapest, but the least expensive.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

WELL DIGGING.....

I will dig wells by the day, foot or job and guarantee satisfaction on every job. [illegible]

A. O. LEVIG, Wylie, Minnesota

St. Benedict's Academy......

ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.

A School for Girls with which is [illegible]

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VII—NO. 51. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1905. WHOLE NO. 363.

GOOD WORDS FOR HANSEN.

Crookston Paper Gives New Assistant Cashier High Praises.

The Crookston Times, in Sunday's issue, says: C. L. Hansen of this city, who during the past six years has sold Watkins remedies from a wagon throughout Polk. Red Lake and Marshall counties has purchased an interest in the First State Bank at Red Lake Falls and will be assistant cashier of that institution. Mr. Hansen's entry into the work of finance in Northern Minnesota as a stockholder in one of Red Lake county's biggest banks will be gratifying news to his many friends in this city. He has always been a hard working devotee to business and during his half dozen years of business life in this section has made hosts of warm friends.

Mr. Hansen last winter enjoyed a tour of Europe and visited at his old home in Denmark. He has disposed of his medical business in this section and is now at Red Lake Falls getting in touch with the banking affairs of the First State Bank, with which he is to be identified. Starting into the patent medicine business a poor young man Mr. Hansen has by dint of his energetic and perserving qualities pushed himself forward up the ladder and his present indication of thrift is but an evidence of the frugality and hard work which has characterized his life here during the past six years.

Do Not Be Imposed Upon.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction, It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. A. L. Reichert.

Both Had Contract.

Plummer Pioneer: On Wednesday morning papers were served on the defendant here in an action brought by P. S. Medchill against E. Scheldrup to recover the sum of $300, which amount plaintiff alleges he is damaged by the defendant cutting the hay on the southeast forty of section 12, town of Emardville. It seems that both Medchill and Scheldrup purchased the right to cut the hay on that tract from different parties and Scheldrup cut the hay first. The case will come up for trial at the next term of the district court.

Death of Mrs. Hennings.

Mrs. M. A. Hennings died Tuesday afternoon at St. Vincent's hospital, Crookston, failing to survive a delicate surgical operation. The remains were brought to Red Lake Falls Wednesday morning and the funeral service is to be held from the First Presbyterian church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Hennings is an old resident of Red Lake Falls, coming here with her family a little more than twenty years ago. Her husband died in 1889, and three sons, William, Emil and George, survive her. She was a most estimable Christian lady, and leaves many friends to mourn her demise. She was about fifty years of age. We are without full particulars, but hope to have a complete obituary for next week.

Father Tapin Goes to Argyle.

Rev. Father Tapin, who has been pastor of the Terrebonne church for more than a year past, has been transferred to the charge at Argyle, Marshall county, for which place he left Tuesday. Rev. Father Barras, who has been rector at Argyle, will go to Terrebonne. It is an exchange of churches on the part of the reverend gentlemen, and we trust it will prove to the advantage of both congregations. Rev. Tapin is a scholarly gentleman, and made many warm friends and admirers during his residence in Red Lake county.

Advertising Registry System.

Hon. R. B. Mundell of Washington, D. C., was a distinguished visitor at the postoffice last Saturday. Mr. Mundell is a superintendent of the registry system, and is on a tour of the western states with a view to increasing the registry business at the presidential postoffices, and also instructing postmasters and the public generally in the advantages of this branch of the postoffice service. An important ruling lately by the department gives the public full insurance against loss by the dishonesty or carelessness of employes in the mail service on all first-class registered mail. Mr. Mundell is one of the oldest officials of the postoffice department, having been connected with this branch of the goverment service for twenty-five years.

Attacked by a Mob

and beaten; in a labor riot, until covered with sores, a Chicago street car conductor applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was soon sound and well. "I use it in my family," writes G. J. Welch, of Tekonsha, Mich., "and find it perfect." Simply great for cuts and burns. Only 25c at all drug stores.

FAITH HEALER COMING.

Rumored that Grafton Divine Will be in Red Lake Falls.

It is stated on good authority that Father Chrismas, the Grafton faith healer, is to be at Red Lake Falls in the near future, and the Kaufer building on south Main street has been rented for his office. Father Chrismas has certainly done a thriving business at Grafton. Almost every morning the sidewalk for two blocks is lined with people waiting for an interview. There are all sorts of stories as to miraculous cures, and of course a large percentage of people refuse to believe in his ability to heal. The faith doctor uses no medicines, and assumes to cure any disease or correct any injury by the laying on of hands. That he made some wonderful cures is evidenced by the testimony of many reputable citizens. Whether it is done by hypnotism or other occult power, or whether he is a fakir, preying upon the susceptibilities of the sick and halt and lame, is a question to be answered by each individual for himself.

Cure for "Longwindedness"

In the center of Africa lives a tribe whose governing assembly has adopted a strict rule that no member engaged in a debate is allowed to speak longer than he can stand on one foot. This might also apply to some of the "long winded" members that we find so tiresome; but as we have no aemedy for this weakness, the best thing we can do is to calm our nervs with a glass of golden grain belt beer. It is sure to comfort you and build up stronger nerves. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

Wylie People Pulling Out.

It looks as though Wylie would soon be eliminated from the map. This week all of the elevators are being torn down, and Romsos Bros. and Leppret Bros., the leading merchants, have torn down their buildings and moved the stocks of goods to Snarles, N. D., one of the new towns on the Great Northern extension. The rest of the business houses will doubtless pull up stakes before very long, as it is admittedly the intention of the Great Northern to discontinue train service on the Wylie line in the near future.

Don't spoil your eyes by wearing misfit glasses or by not wearing glasses when you know your eyes are weak and need help. Examination free.—Henry W. Anderson.

ST. HILAIRE.

A. M. Edstrom of Hazel was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. E. L. Eickhoff is suffering from an attack of rheumatism.

Herman Pettibonne made a short trip to Thief River Falls last Wednesday.

Norman Aimer, who is teaching west of town, spent Sunday with his parents.

The ladies' aid of the Methodist church took in $22 at their supper Friday evening.

Misses Josephine Gigstad and Mary Hoff visited friends at Steinert several days of last week.

Those who went to Grand Forks were very much disappointed in the divine healer and none returned cured.

The Epworth league of the Methodist church will give a box social at the church Friday evening, September 29, and everyone is invited.

A crippled man with a striking machine has taken his stand in front of the drug store and has been doing considerable business for several days past.

John Maakrud of St. Hilaire and Miss Emma Engh of Wyandotte were married at Crookston Friday evening. They arrived home Monday and will make St. Hilaire their home. Their many friends extend congratulations.

Julius Pleth bought the building and confectionery stock of George Casbon, who has been running the O. K. restaurant, and on Wednesday Mr. Pleth sold the property to Oscar Carlson of Plummer, who has taken possession. Mr. Casbon will devote his time to his farm. Mrs. Riggs will remain here for the present and will go south for the winter.

Foot Ball Season Here.

The foot ball season commences Saturday of this week with a game at Warren between the high school elevens of Red Lake Falls and that place. Games are being arranged by Manager Hunt with Crookston, Grand Forks, Fosston and Thief River Falls, and from now until winter weather sets in every Saturday will probably be taken up. The big game at Minneapolis between Minnesota and Wisconsin occurs November 4, and doubtless a dozen or more Red Lake Falls enthusiasts will go down to see the event.

Given up to Die.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which causad much pain and worry. I lost much flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." A. L. Riechert.

OUR RURAL FRIENDS.

Rub dry cement into the cracks of a leaky trough.

Dust air slacked lime into cuts. It keeps off flies, checks bleeding and heals.

One hand washes the other. We must all help one another. It is the best and happiest way.

The successful man is the fellow who gets his second wind when prospects are dark and discouraging.

A five foot vein of coal under a man's farm will net him about $400 per on the usual royalty basis.

To irrigate an acre of land requires more water than some folks think. About 22,645 gallons of water are necessary to apply one inch of moisture to an acre field.

As a means of regulating the speed of automobiles on the highways the device has been adopted in Massachuretts of making ridges in the road at short intervals.

If all the 14,995,000 tillable acres of Japan were merged into one field a man in an automobile, traveling at the rate of fifty miles an hour, could circle arable Japan in eleven hours.

Read your insurance policy over frequently. It is right for you to know and be sure just what is required of you by the company, and what the campay will really do for you if burnt out.

It is estimated, says the Ohio farmer, that if all, or nearly all, of our farmers could be induced to discard the scrubs and use only pure breeds, the increase in the value of poultry would be 100 per cent.

Give us the farmer who takes time to look up, now and then, to see what is going on about him in the world. Living is not all in bending the back over the hoe or in growing good crops. Life is more than a living.

A new method of cutting and curing timothy hay is to use a self binding machine, shock the bundles as you would grain, and after they are thoroughly dried put them in a stack or mow for future use. Hay thus prepared is easily handled.

Like Finding Money.

Finding health is like finding money—so think those who are sick. When you have a cough, cold, sore throat, or chest irritation, better act promptly like W. C. Barber, of Sandy Level, Va. He says: "I had a terrible chest trouble, caused by smoke and coal dust on my lungs; but, after finding no relief in other remedies, I was cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds." Greatest sale of any cough or lung medicine in the world. At all drug stores 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

DON'T USE BIG WORDS.

In promulgating your esoteric cogitations and inarticulating your superficial sentimentalities and amicable philosophical or psychological observations beware of platitudinous pondersity. Let your conversational communication possess a clarified conciseness, a compacted comprehensibleness coalescent consistency and a contatenated sogency. Eschew all conglomerations of flatulent garrulity, jejune babblement and asinine affections. Let your extemporaneous decanting and uncremeditated expatiations have intelligibility and veracious vivacity without rhodomontade or thasonical bombast.

And furthermore: Sedulously avoid all polysllabic profundity, pompous proclivity, psitliceous vacuity, ventriloquial verbocity and vaniloquent vapidity. Shun double ententes, prurient jocosity and pestiferous profanity, obscurant or apparent. In other words talk plainly. Don't use big words.—Ex.

Good advice to women, If you want a beautiful complexion, clear skin, bright eyes, red lips, good health, take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. There is nothing like it. 35c, tea or tablets. A. L. Riechert.

W. I. Nolan Coming.

Hon. W. I. Nolan, the well-known Minneapolis statesman and entertainer, will "speak a piece" at the opera house next Tueseay evening, October 3. Mr. Nolan is one of the best all-'round humorists and reciters in the country, and his repertoire this year is replete with new stories and jokes. Mr. Nolan has been here a couple of time and has had good houses and gave splendid satisfaction.

Aro You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember, that, after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided by keeping their digestions in good conditions with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "For years my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, untill she lost her strength and vigor, and become a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well, She is now strong and healthy." All druggists sell and guarantee them. 50c a bottle.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

The Courier Stationery Store.

BERTHON & ARMSTRONG
MEN'S AND BOYS' LEADING CLOTHING OUTFITTERS

Boys, That's the Way to Do It!

Look at the ball of twine in our window. Guess how many feet of twine there is in the ball. Put down your guess on a piece of paper. Sign your name in full and put it in the ballot box inside the store.

WE WILL GIVE FREE a $5.00 suit for the nearest guess and a $3.00 suit for the second nearest guess as to the amount of feet of twine in the ball. Only one guess to each boy.

This Contest Is Limited to Boys Wearing Short Pants

Guesses received until Oct. 10th at 10 o'clock p. m. Twine measured at 4:30 p. m.

This is an entirely free contest, whether you buy or not.

For further information concerning the above ask

JIM AND PAUL

The Courier

KING & CHASE, Pubs.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

A drama has been written around a pumpkin pie. Now let the toothbrush be dramatized.

King Cotton makes a new record, with 14,000,000 bales, and the South is $630,000,000 richer.

With a stanch cruiser at the head of the Venezuelan rowboat flotilla Castro will defy the earth.

"When does a woman look her best?" asks a London paper. Before the powder rubs off her nose.

Asks a magazine writer, "Do animals reason?" The groundhog seems to be able to draw an inference.

Cholera, yellow fever and bubonic plague continue to remind medical science that its work is not yet half done.

Senor Lizardo Garcia has taken his seat as the new president of Ecuador. Now who wants to carry a message to Garcia?

There's one thing that the numerous correspondence schools ought to teach and don't. Don't write mushy love letters.

Nevertheless, it is a good deal to expect that one will get up at sunrise to see a little old eclipse which doesn't eclipse.

Although receiving no larger salary than $600 a year, a bank clerk in Paris managed to steal $200,000. He almost earned promotion.

The oil hunters are now hopping to the new fields at Grasshopper, Pa. Here's hoping they have strength enough to hop back again.

An imperial edict in China has abolished the bow and arrow from the army. Presumably the gong will be retained as a panic producer.

Universal peace seems unattainable. Just as war ends in Manchuria hostilities break out with renewed virulence on the American football fields.

Those stone-deaf mutes in New York who complain of their neighbors' piano playing might make a compromise on the use of the soft pedal.

Russia might have paid the indemnity, if she had only asked Rockefeller for the money, but Dr. Harper would have had to economize a little.

A faker bunkoed M. Witte out of $3 at Portsmouth, N. H. He probably did it just to show the Japs how easy it was, and not because he needed the money.

M. Witte won a good deal of popularity over here, but he wasn't kissed by any of the enthusiastic girls of Portsmouth—perhaps, because they couldn't reach.

At Wilkesbarre, Pa., the other day, a man was cured of deafness by falling forty feet. But worse things than deafness have been cured by shorter falls than that.

The east African negroes have taken to snake worship since the white man introduced gin among them. No wonder. The savage worships what he fears.

A Minneapolis drug clerk was blown up by a soda fountain explosion, but it's no use for you to think that you can save any money by reading this item to your daughter.

The table used by the peace envoys has been sold for $140. Curio hunters should wait until the supply has increased, when two of this table may be had for the price of one.

A Chicago professor has made the discovery that women are increasing in numbers much faster than men. This tends to bear out the assertion that the world is getting better all the time.

In the town of Wakefield, Eng., the question of utilizing trolley poles for sewer ventilators is being considered by the town council. We should think the second and third story people might object.

The Pennsylvania man who prescribed matrimony as a cure for nervousness prescribed it for somebody else. Matrimony cures nervousness by taking all a man's nerve to commit it.—Exchange.

A huckleberry pie exploded on the table of a New Jersey boarding house and severely scalded a number of the boarders. The boarding house pie inspector of New Jersey has doubtless been neglecting his duties.

A Staten Island girl complains that she was forced to marry at the front end of a pistol. There's some question as to whether that is a worse way to capture a girl than by giving up smoking and drinking—until the knot is tied.

A few days ago a man was sentenced to two months in jail for pounding his horse on the head with a brick. This took place in Baltimore, but there is just as much pleasure in recording the incident as if it had happened nearer home.

The News of the Week

Washington.

The armored cruiser Colorado was given a screw standardizing test and in one of the 22 runs, attained a speed of 22.22 knots an hour. The big cruiser in a previous trial over the Cape Ann course made a sustained speed of 22.17 knots for four hours.

It is reported that former Consul General John Goodnow will be given a position by the Chinese government in connection with the management of the Hankow railroad recently purchased by that government from J. P. Morgan & Co. Goodnow has been connected with the road since last March, and it is understood that he reported in favor of its acquirment by China.

The department of commerce and labor has revoked the license of the captain of the steamer Oteri, formerly one of the United Fruit company's vessels plying between the West Indies and Baltimore, because of his alleged refusal to aid the president's yacht Sylph when she was disabled off the coast of North Carolina, April 12 last, after having conveyed Mrs. Roosevelt to Florida.

Casualty.

Lightning struck the Hax-Smith Furniture company's wholesale house in St. Joseph and it was totally destroyed. Loss $200,000; fully insured.

The fast passenger train for the Southwest over the Iron Mountain route was wrecked near Arcadia, Mo. Two trainmen were killed and fifteen passengers injured.

Almost the entire business section of La Porte, a town in the mountains, sixty miles east of Marysville, Cal., was destroyed by fire. Loss, $100,000; partly insured.

Paddy Huitt and J. B. Blackburn, iron workers, were killed at Washington while walking on the track by being struck by an engine on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

While digging a sewer at Menomonee, Mich., William H. Hinderletter was killed by a cave-in of earth. He was underground but five minutes, but was dead when removed.

An explosion of gas in the basement started a fire in the dry goods store of D. M. Ogilvie & Co., at East Liverpool, Ohio, which resulted in almost a total loss. The stock was insured.

One fireman was killed, another seriously injured and two others slightly hurt in a fire that destroyed the Brown flour mills in Toronto, Ont. The total loss is estimated at $200,000.

An explosion at the Paris Compressed Air company's works in Paris resulted in the death of two men and the serious injury to four others. The elevators in the hotels and apartment houses are out of working order from the force of the explosion.

By the explosion of an alleged defective boiler in the stave mill of Edward Jennings at Pinconning, Mich., five men were killed and eight or ten injured. The explosion came without the slightest warning to the workmen and the destruction of the mill was complete. Portions of the wreck were scattered about for several hundred feet.

Foreign.

The Little Carmelite Sisters, having resisted expulsion, the doors of their convent in Paris were forced open and the institution closed, the Sisters taking trains for elsewhere.

Twenty-three bombs and twenty-two bottles containing explosives have been found in an English house in Peru, a suburb of Constantinople. The house porter is an Armenian. Several arrests were made.

The anniversary of the declaration of Chilian independence was celebrated throughout Chili with greater enthusiasm than usual. This is considered due to the great prosperity the republic is now enjoying.

The imperial Russian ukase abolishing the retaliatory duties on American imports has been gazetted and was placed in immediate effect at all the customs houses by telegraphic orders from the ministry of finance.

M. Weiner, French minister, has lodged a protest with the government at Caracas against its action in closing the station of the French Cable company and expelling the manager of the company, M. Brun.

While the Hamburg-American line steamer Prinz Oskar, from Genoa, bound to Naples and New York, was entering the harbor at Palermo, Sicily, William Renz, an American, jumped overboard and was drowned.

Turkey has yielded to the demands of the American legation by admitting the American consular authorities to see the Armenians, Vartanian and Afarian, and to investigate their claims to be entitled to American protection.

The German government has proposed to France and to the sultan of Morocco that the Moroccan conference be held at Algeciras, Spain, instead of Madrid, as Premier Rouvier desires, or at Tangier, as the sultan wishes. Algeciras is connected with Tangier by a good line of steamers.

The superior court of Prussia has rejected the appeal of Crown Prince Frederick William from the decision of the tax assessors of the Oels district, who levied $1,250 on an estate which the prince inherited from his grandfather.

Criminal.

Maximillian Weeks, seventeen years of age, wanted at Casper, Wyo., on the charge of embezzlement, was arrested at the Union stock yards in Chicago. He will be taken back to Wyoming.

Joseph Howell, a Bohemian farmer near Rogers, Wash., committed suicide by hanging after beating out the brains of his wife with a hammer. They quarreled over a division of property.

A negro assaulted Mrs. Lawrence, a white woman of Conway, Ark., killed her eldest son to prevent him giving an alarm, and badly cut her three-year-old son with a knife. The negro escaped.

Harry Homan, son of a wealthy brewer of Hammond, Ind., shot and killed Mrs. Jeanette, nee Ida Taylor, at Clear Lake and then committed suicide. Mrs. Jeanette's refusal to receive his attentions was the cause of the act.

John B. O'Meara, former lieutenant governor of Missouri, was held up and badly wounded on the front porch of his home in St. Louis. In his fight with the robbers Mr. O'Meara was stabbed in the face. The footpad escaped.

The Marquise de Angulo, mother of the secretary of the Spanish minister to France, who is stopping at the Hotel Continental in Paris, has just been robbed of $40,000 and a quantity of jewels. The police are actively searching for the thief.

Arthur Webb shot and killed Nettie Derby at the school house where she was teaching, three and one-half miles south of Wilton, Iowa. He had been refused a date with her for the county fair, and entering the school house, shot her dead. He then went outside the building and shot himself.

The home of Dr. W. W. Ordway at Los Angeles was set on fire, and while its occupants were fighting the flames the incendiaries stole a handbag containing $130,000 in government bonds and $500 in gold. They took the money, threw the bag and money into the fire and escaped. The bag was recovered before it had been destroyed, though many of the bonds were badly damaged.

Otherwise.

Mrs. Neill Burgess, wife of the actor and niece of J. H. Stoddard, died at her home in Highltnds, N. J.

The will of Joseph Jefferson, filed in Baltimore for record, bequeaths his "best Kentucky reel" to Grover Cleveland, who is famed as an angler.

Frank Riehl of Des Moines made the highest score at the shooting tournament of the Cincinnati Gun club for professionals. Riehl broke 184 out of a possible 200 targets.

Orders were given by the state health department of Texas to quarantine all vessels from Havana five days. No explanation was given. No other Cuban port is included.

Joseph Langdon, the last survivor of the company of cavalry which captured Jefferson Davis, is dead at his home in Tacoma, Wash. He lived for many years at St. Joseph, Mo.

Ellis Yarnall, one of the founders of the Union league of Philadelphia, died suddenly. He was eighty-seven years old. Only two of the founders of the Union league are now living.

Lockjaw, following vaccination caused the death in Chicago of Frankie Heish, seven years of age. Two days ago the child was vaccinated in preparation to entering school. Tetanus developed.

Hall Caine says that he had for a long time been making a study of the millionaire and the problems which beset him and that his next book would deal with the great commercial rulers of the United States.

John C. Linehan, state insurance commissioner, died at Concord, N. H. He was a native of Ireland and was at one time head of the Fenian Brotherhood. In 1888 he was elected junior vice commander of the G. A. R.

Miss Margaret Meade, aged sixty, daughter of Gen. Meade, who commanded the Union forces at Gettysburg, had a stroke of apoplexy when entering the Episcopal church at Atlantic City and died without recovering consciousness.

Romaine Dauragnic, brother of Mme. Therese Humbert, now serving sentenced in France on swindling charges in connection with the Crawford estate, was ordered deported from New York by the board of inquiry of the immigration department after a hearing on Ellis Island.

A deal has been concluded whereby the old Grant farm in St. Louis county, a short distance west of the city limits of St. Louis, for many years the home of President Ulysses S. Grant, will be converted into an amusement park next year. The tract comprises about 440 acres and the purchase price was $113,000.

Word has been received at Cody, Wyo., to the effect that Col. W. F. Cody's (Buffalo Bill) Wild West show had been quarantined in France and that all of the show horses, many of them worth over $1,000 each, have been shot under official orders on account of glanders.

Wolves and bears are numerous in the vicinity of Bridge's farm, near Iron Mountain, Mich. During the past week one cow and four hogs have been killed by wolves. Hunters were unsuccessful in running down the wolves, but saw half a dozen bears, one of which was shot.

BOY EXPLAINS.

Seven-Year-Old Lad, Who Chews and Smokes Tobacco, Not Penitent.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 24.—"She wasn't no good, anyhow. I didn't like her, and ma had no business making me care for her. I told her I'd burn her, and I did."

These were the astonishing words that came from the lips of little Leon Crambeau, seven years old, who deliberately burned his baby sister a few days ago, when in court yesterday. The boy has pretty, bright blue eyes and chubby cheeks, and except for the remarkable expression of views on his terrible crime would not be taken for a maniac. He feels no contrition. He even glories in the crimes and past record of his father, who taught him much deviltry and who has a bad history, according to the police. Little Leon smokes and chews with the relish of a man who has been addicted to the habit for years. When he was arrested the boy had six cigar stubs in his pockets. He was sentenced to the Green Bay reformatory till he is twenty-one years old.

SELL LIQUOR TO MINORS.

Fergus Falls Authorities Begin Active Crusade Against Saloon Men.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 24.—Authorities here have begun a vigorous crusade against saloon men who have been selling liquors to minors. Four of them thus far have been arrested, John S. Olson and N. Nelson pleaded guilty and paid fines of $25 and costs. Barney Munson and Harry Tanner stood trial and both were convicted and fined $50 and costs. Joseph Miller was arrested yesterday for selling liquor without a license.

CIGARETTE STARTS FIRE.

Crops Are Burned and New Church Narrowly Escapes.

Miller, S. D., Sept. 24.—Another fire has occurred northeast of here in the fields and is supposed to have originated from a cigarette in a hay field It destroyed oats and spelts of Edgar Smith, grain stacks of James Stevens and no doubt would have consumed a new church had not a cornfield checked the flames so that they could be subdued before reaching it. The fire ran two and a half miles in Holden township.

TRAMPS WORST BRAKEMAN.

Pioneer Limited Trainman Probably Fatally Hurt.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 24.—As a result of being hurled from the Pioneer Limited by two tramps whom he attempted to eject from a train, Brakeman James Kelley of this city is probably fatally injured. Kelley was hurled into the ditch, where he remained unconscious until found several hours later. The train was traveling at high speed at the time of the struggle on the engine tender.

SHOOTS AND SURRENDERS.

Montana Murderer Kills Ranchman and Gives Himself Up.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 24. — Albert Wesley, who runs a store at Kirby, Rosebud county, shot and killed Hugh Redmond, a well known ranchman, in his store at Kirby. Wesley surrendered himself and was taken to Forsyth. The motive for the killing is not explained. Wesley is already under bonds on a charge of shooting at a Cheyenne Indian recently.

DANGER IN WATER FAMINE.

Eveleth Fears Clogged Sewers Will Breed Disease.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 24.—Although some temporary relief has been provided, Eveleth still suffers from the shortage in its water supply, due to a flood in the Spruce mine. For two days this week the city was without water, and as the sewers have become clogged, the danger of pestilence from the unsanitary conditions that exist is great.

RUN TRAINS BY JAN 1.

Northwestern Line From "Old Muddy" to Hills to Be Pushed.

Rapid City, S. D., Sept. 24.—Trains will be running between the Hills and the Missouri river by the first of the year, officials of the Northwestern railroad say. There is no doubt but that work will be begun by Oct. 1, as has been planned. Two grading outfits have arrived in the city and work will begin in a few days.

Horse Kills Woman.

Long Prairie, Minn., Sept. 24.—Mrs. Nels Jensen, wife of a prominent farmer living near Swanville, was knocked down and trampled to death by a runaway horse.

Murder Suspected.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 24. — The body of Anna Nevela, with her throat cut, was discovered at midnight in an outhouse. She is thought to have been murdered.

Short Fall Proves Fatal.

Montevideo, Minn., Sept. 24. — Roy Richards, eighteen years old, a carpenter at the Montevideo roller mills, fell from a scaffold, a distance of twenty feet. He struck on a stone in the river, killing him instantly.

Frost Damages Gardens.

Stewartville, Minn., Sept. 24.—The first frost of the season did some damage to garden stuff. Corn is beyond harm by frost, and will be the best [illegible] several years. [illegible] progressing slowly [illegible]

URGE MIKADO NOT TO SIGN IT

PEACE TREATY IS ASSAILED BY IMPERIAL UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS.

MANY MEMORIALS TO THRONE

TREATY PREGNANT WITH ELEMENTS OF HUMILIATION AND FUTURE DANGER.

CAUSES GREAT INDIGNATION

CLAUSE IN WHICH JAPAN AGREES NOT TO FORTIFY SOYA STRAIT.

Tokio, Sept. 24.—The number of direct memorials to the throne from different associations and individuals condemning the peace treaty and asking that it be not ratified exceeds forty, among which is an address signed by six professors of the imperial university, one of whom recently was placed on the retired list owing to his strongly worded anti-peace thesis.

This memorial strongly weighs the necessity of refusing to ratify the peace treaty and condemns it as entirely annulling the purpose of the war as set forth in the declaration of hostilities. It is also stated that indisputable reasons exist for the treaty, which is deemed to be pregnant with elements of humiliation and future danger to the national interests. In conclusion the signers of this address say they humbly beg the throne to condescend to consider the spirit in which the address is presented.

Refusing to Ratify

In spite of the persistent editorials in the leading newspapers demanding the resignation of the cabinet, it is believed that the ministers will continue to hold office until after the adoption of the post-bellum measures, especially those regarding finance and the Chinese and Korean problems.

Causes Intense Indignation.

It transpires that, in spite of Premier Katsura's assurance to the contrary to the editors, there exists a clause in the peace treaty by which Japan undertakes not to fortify Soya strait. As a result, intense indignation is felt among the influential class, as this is deemed to be the greatest humiliation Japan has ever suffered. The restriction thus placed on her territorial liberty and as constituting the blackest record in the history of a country which has never experienced defeat at the hands of other nations. Not a few papers to-morrow are expected to print strongly worded editorials on this subject.

The constitutionalists are gradually assuming a firm attitude of opposition to the government.

To Raise Ban on Papers.

The editors of ten daily papers met yesterday and appointed a committee to make representations to the government on the subject of the unusually long suspension of the Asahi and four other evening newspapers. The committe had an interview with Gen. Sakuma, commander-in-chief of the Tokio garrison, who is in charge of the enforcement of martial law, and other authorities, and it is expected that the unfortunate newspapers soon will be allowed to resume publication.

PLAGUE FIGHTERS WRANGLE.

Rivalry Among Doctors Causes Trouble at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Sept. 24.—Difference of opinion and distruct among physicians engaged in eradicating yellow fever in various parts of the state is of such pronounced intensity that several clashes have occurred, especially between members of the parish health board. Cases diagnosed as genuine yellow fever were promptly denied and called another disease by the rival doctors, whose views differed so widely that disinterested experts had to be sent by the marine hospital service. Three members of the Lafayette parish board have resigned, and another physician declined an appointment owing to friction with the only remaining member.

The report to 6 p. m. yesterday: New cases, 37; total to date, 2,762; deaths yesterday, 4; total, 359; new foci, 15; cases under treatment, 313; discharged, 2,090.

Salt Water Gas Fatal to Two.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 24. — Two dead and two others not expected to live is the result of salt water gas escaping in the cellar of the Williams family here late yesterday.

Berlin's Cholera Increases.

Berlin, Sept. 24.—The official bulletin issued yesterday announced that nine fresh cases of cholera were reported between noon Thursday and noon yesterday and that two deaths occurred in the same period.

Fast Train Kills a Girl.

Winnemac, Ind., Sept. 24.—A Pennsylvania road fast mail train yesterday struck a buggy and instantly killed [illegible]

OFFICIAL MAKES THREAT.

Says Canadians Will Build Another Vigilant Is Necessary.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 24—Raymond Prefontaine, Canadian minister of marine, with a party of Canadians, was a visitor at the yards of the American Shipbuilding company, in this city yesterday. In an interview relative to the recent firing upon American fish tugs by the Canadian cruiser Vigilant, Minister Prefontaine said that if it was necessary to protect the fishing rights of Canada in the Great Lakes, Canada would build a second Vigilant and put it in patrol service on the Great Lakes. He said that Canada was determined to break up the practice of American fishermen poaching in Canadian waters. The minister said that if it were necessary extreme measures would be resorted to. "The fact that the fish seem to have a preference for Canadian waters is our good fortune," said the minister.

AIM AT REBATE TAKERS.

Elkins Law Strikes Both Ways, Says District Attorney.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Prosecution of the railroads for violation of the Elkins law relating to rebates will follow the conviction of the four officials of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger for conspiracy to receive rebates in the conduct of the packing business of the company. District Attorney Morrison made the announcement yesterday. As the Elkins law makes no distinction in guilt between the party receiving a rebate and the one giving it, the government is now in a position to begin proceedings against the railroads mentioned in the indictment through a new investigation before another grand jury.

STUDENTS BATTLE; TWO HURT.

Annual Class Fight of University of Iowa Men.

Iowa City, Iowa, Sept. 24. — In the annual freshman-sophomore class scrap in the University of Iowa yesterday two were hurt. Willis Mercer of Iowa City, a sophomore and publisher of the Daily Iowa, was kicked in the head, and Ned Van Meter, a freshman from Tipton, was struck in the head with a stone. Both were made unconscious and are in the care of surgeons. President McLean at noon commanded a cessation of hostilities.

OIL PRICES GO HIGHER.

Pennsylvania and Tiona Grades Given Further Raise by Trust.

Pittsburg, Sept. 24. — The Standard Oil company yesterday advanced the price of Pennsylvania 10 cents and Tiona oil 5 cents. Within two weeks Pennsylvania oil has advanced 19 cents and Tiona 14 cents. The other grades of oil were not changed. The quotations follow:

Pennsylvania, $1.46; Tiona, $1.56; Corning, $1.03; New Castle, $1.28; Cabel, $1.11; North Lima, 92c; South Lima, 87c; Somerset, 81c, and Raglan 49c.

JEWELS ARE STOLEN.

Home of Wealthy Long Island Man Is Looted by Thieves.

New York, Sept. 24.—Jewels valued at several thousands of dollars, it was discovered yesterday, have been stolen from the home of H. Van Renn selaer Kennedy in Hempstead, L. I. The articles were taken within the last two or three days in the absence of the family. It is believed the jewels were taken while only two or three servants were in the house. Mrs Kennedy did not report her loss.

FATHER'S CARESS IS FATAL.

Grasps Little Daughter by Chin to Kiss Her and Breaks Her Neck.

Gravel Switch, Ky., Sept. 24.—Jason Chumbly, a resident of this county returned home yesterday to visit his wife and child. Upon his arrival he grasped his six-year-old daughter by the chin to kiss her, lifting her head back. The little one sank to the ground dead. A physician found that her neck had been broken by her father.

MITCHELL RECORDS FILED.

Certiorari Order in Oregon Lumbe Case Is Fulfilled.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The record in the case of Senator John H. Mitchell was filed in the United States supreme court yesterday. It is brought here on a writ of error from the United States district court of Oregon, in which Senator Mitchell was convicted of complicity in connection with the Oregon land fraud cases.

Ex-Governor Is Dead.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 24. — Charle O'Farrel, former congressman and former governor of Virginia, died yesterday. Gov. O'Farrel had been in failing health for over a year, but prior to his death had been confined to his bed for only a month. He died of nervous prostration.

Oldest Constable Is Dead.

Janesville, Wis., Sept. 24.—After having served continuously as constable since 1869, Alonzo K. Cutts, aged eighty-one, died suddenly yesterday He was the oldest constable in years and service in the state.

Crushed to Death.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 24.—Jack Korber, a Finnish miner employed in the Commodore mine, [illegible]

IN MINNESOTA.

State News of the Week Briefly Told.

Gov. Johnson will attend Dassel's eleventh annual street fair and carnival Oct. 21, and address the people.

: : : :

The Union Fiber company of Ada has finished grinding last year's crop of flax straw. About 600 tons were handled.

: : : :

The horse barn of the Pine Tree Lumber comany at Little Falls was struck by lightning, burning to death nineteen, also many tons of hay.

: : : :

The Norman county Telephone company has increased its capital stock from $8,000 to $12,500, and raised the limit of indebtedness from $1,000 to $5,000.

: : : :

Senator Clapp has filed a petition for the appointment of Julius H. Brown of White Earth as scaler of logs under the provisions of the Morris act. The petition is signed by the Indians.

: : : :

An unidentified man was killed in the railroad yards at Pipestone. His neck was broken and his head was bruised in several places. How the accident occurred has not been ascertained.

: : : :

Fred Dahlmeier, one of the most prominent farmers in the vicinity of Pipestone, is dead as the result of a stroke of apoplexy. He was an early settler and owned several fine farms in the neighborhood.

: : : :

Thomas Torsling, a farm laborer, was fatally injured at Stillwater while digging a hole in which to bury a large stone. The dirt caved in and the stone fell on him. He lived only a short time after being taken out of the hole.

: : : :

United States Senator Knute Nelson and Maj. Carter of Ripon, Wis., were guests of honor at a pioneers' picnic held on the shore of Lake Osakis. Maj. Carter was in command of the regiment in which Senator Nelson served.

: : : :

Andrew Engstrom, a homesteader, was found dead two miles from Ten Strike. Engstrom left Ten Strike last whom were well known homesteaders. Nothing has been since seen of these night with four companions, all of men.

: : : :

Fred Dahlmeier, one the most prominent farmers in the vicinity of Pipestone, is dead as the result of a stroke of apoplexy. He was an early settler and at the time of his death was the owner of several fine farms in the neighborhood.

: : : :

Ole Tuft, Rushford's oldest pioneer, is dead. He was past eighty-four years of age and was the first white settler in the Root river valley, coming in the early '50s. He homesteaded a farm on the south side of the river and has resided there since.

: : : :

James Hill, an employe of the Swan River Logging company at Cass Lake, boarded the train for Sheely, and stepped off the train while it was in motion. He was brought back to the hospital, where he must remain until several of his bones reunite.

: : : :

Frederick Johnson of Benson, an aged and retired farmer, being partly deaf, did not notice an engine that was approaching him from the west. He was struck and his left shoulder was bruised and injured, and his left hand run over and so crushed that it had to be amputated.

: : : :

Mrs. William Ostrum was accidentally killed a short distance west of Hutchinson. Her son had just finished putting on a load of straw and asked his mother to hold the horses while he climbed the rack. She stepped before the team, which became frightened and threw her to the ground, the wagon passing over her body, crushing her ribs and killing her instantly.

: : : :

Charles Chortier, assistant engineer at the Duluth pumping station, recently shot three bears, one old one and two cubs. The three bears appeared near the pumping station, at the edge of a patch of woods at Lakeside, a suburb to Duluth, and Mr. Chortier killed all three in as many shots. These make a total of nine killed and one captured in Duluth or immediate vicinity since Sept. 1.

: : : :

George Weidemann, a Mankato hide merchant, was accidentally shot at Swan lake, but not seriously injured. He received thirty-eight No. 5 shot in his body, and the physician was able to get but two out. He must carry the remainder the rest of his life. The shot mostly entered his arm and chest. The load was fired by George Brooks at a tame fowl which he was trying to get for dinner, and in the brush he did not notice Mr. Wiedemann.

: : : :

C. H. Ohland, while engaged in threshing near Hutchinson, passed under the blower of the machine, when the props gave way and the great pipe, weighing several hundred pounds, fell directly on Mr. Ohland's head, crushing his skull and resulting in death in a short time.

Capt. Thomas Wexford of the steamer W. C. Richardson reported at the office of the Duluth vessel inspectors that his ship ran down the Canadian tug Shamrock just out of the Soo Sept. 5. The captain and engineer were drowned.

STATE MAKES LOANS.

Amount Let Out for the Year Now Amounts to $700,000.

The state board of investment, consisting of the governor, the state auditor and the state treasurer, at their monthly meeting approved loans to the amount of 173,960. Most of these were to school districts and a few villages, counties and townships. This makes a total of nearly $700,000 loaned by the state during the year.

Regarding the funds available for making the loans, the state auditor said that there is now on hand in the trust fund $192,000 available for this purpose, and in seven or eight weeks there will be $250,000 or $300,000 more.

The applications for loans which wert approved are:

School Districts—District No. 30, St. Louis, $50,000; No. 12, St. Louis, $3,500; No. 107, Murray, $900; No. 15, Roseau, $1,000; No. 3, Swift, $4,500; No. 73, Kittson, $1,500; No. 1, Mille Lacs, $2,000; No. 44, Nobles, $600; No. 35, Roseau, $800; No. 76, Red Lake, $800; No. 94, Norman, $600; No. 88, Faribault, $4,000; No. 40, Pine, $300; No. 83, Beltrami, $500; No. 43, Wilkin, $700; No. 97, Douglas, $1,400; No. 55, Roseau, $600; No. 46, Kanabec, $600; No. 5, Wadena, $6,000; No. 15, Waseca, $750; No. 9, Kittson, $2,500; No. 20, St. Louis, $1,000; No. 7, Aitkin, $50; No. 119, Morrison, $350; No. 123, Jackson, $1,000; No. 117, Stevens, $1,000; No. 83, Murray, $700; No. 9, Jackson, $800; No. 68, Roseau, $450; No. 99, Wright, $6,000; No. 112 Yellow Medicine, $800; No. 64, Sibley, $6,000; No. 14, Wright, $800; No. 43, Hubbard, $3,000; No. 12, Kittson, $3,500.

Villages—International Falls, Itasca county, $1,600.

Counties—Sibley, for ditches, $15,000; McLeod, for ditches, $13,100.

Townships — Lambert, Red Lake county, $3,000; Hougen, Aitkin, $3,000; Anthony, Norman, $500; Danforth, Pine, $2,000; Leota, Nobles, $1,200; Elkton, Clay, $1,000; Little Pine, Crow wing, $3,000; Grand Forks, Polk, $1,000; Hillman, Morrison, $4,000; Hersey, Nobles, $3,500; Kalevale, Carlton, $3,000.

Three applications were turned down by the board, being those of District No. 5, Lake county, $3,000; Emily township, Crow Wing county, $2,000; Richardson township, Morrison county, $4,000.

COMPLETE RAILROAD SURVEY.

Crews Finish Work Between Detroit and Bemidji.

The mysterious railroad survey which has been carried on by Engineer E. T. Abbott of Minneapolis with two crews of surveyors, one working out of Detroit and the other out of Bemidji, is now complete.

The two crews met south of Itasca Park in Clearwater county Saturday night, and Engineer Abbott is now in Minneapolis conferring with the officials of the company which sent him out, and a statement of which road this is with its intentions may be expected in a few days.

The survey has been made in nearly an air line from Detroit to Bemidji, and its total length is sixty-nine miles. Which road has caused the survey to be made is as much a mystery as ever. A prominent railroad conductor, who is at present making Bemidji his headquarters, declares, however, that the road is the Soo.

He claims that the specifications for the survey, which he has seen, are identical with those invariably sent out by the Soo. There is a popular belief that the road is the Soo, also, by reason of the fact that the Minneapolis, Red Lake & Manitoba railway, which is now almost completed from Bemidji to Red lake, a distance of thirty-four miles, is known to have been financed by men who are friendly to the Soo, and it is generally accepted that this road will ultimately become a part of the Soo line which must some day be built across Northern Minnesota to Duluth.

SHEEP RAISING PAYS.

L. W. Orr of Afton Says Industry in State Has Future.

Sheep raising is a profitable industry in Minnesota. Although not considered a sheep state, Minnesota breeders who have undertaken the raising of the woolly animal have become prosperous. Among the Minnesota exhibitors at the state fair was L. W. Orr of Afton, who captured many prizes.

"Sheep raising is a profitable industry," said Mr. Orr. "There is a great demand at present for pure breeding stock. At my sale here, the Oxfords brought better prices this year than ever before, and the outlook for good prices is exceedingly bright. I consider the Oxfords, for mutton and medium wool, the best type for Minnesota. At present the packers and breeders have to go to Canada to get what they want. There is in the West a greater demand for Oxfords than can be supplied."

Mrs. Orr has 136 pure-bred sheep on his farm at Afton, and from his flock he won the following prizes: First, two-year-old ram; first and second, yearling ram; first, ram lamb; first and second, two-year-old ewe; first and second, yearling ewe; first and second, ewe lamb; first, pen of lambs; first, flock; and five third prizes in the free-for-all show.

It seems a pity that the New York dentist who married fifty women never met up with and married the coy Philadelphia lady who took unto herself ten husky husbands before the men began to suspect anything.

FINNS TO WAR AGAINST CZAR

GREAT STRUGGLE TO SECURE INDEPENDENCE OF FINLAND IS IMMINENT.

ONLY AWAIT CALL TO ARMS

300,000 FINNS OFFICERED BY SWEDES AND A FUND OF $51,000,000 READY.

CZAR AND KAISER FEARED

SCANDINAVIAN NATIONS MAY UNITE AGAINST RUSSIA AND GERMANY.

Helsingfors, Sept. 22, via Stockholm, Sept. 24.—War against the authority of the czar in an effort to secure independence in Finland is believed to be imminent. It is asserted that 300,000 Finnish Turners, officered by Swedes, are ready at the first call to arms. Supposed charity societies are said to have collected a war fund of 100,000,000 roubles ($51,000,000). Eleven cargoes of ammunition have been landed and distributed. Guns for the revolutionists have been supplied and carefully concealed.

Nine hundred representatives of the Finnish people were to have met in Helsingfors within the last few days to proclaim the independence of Finland, but a shipwreck which occurred a fortnight ago disarranged the plans of the leaders and prevented the meeting. A prominent Finnish senator said yesterday:

"That shipwreck has only delayed our independence. The treaty of 1809, which united Finland to Russia, did not give the latter suzerainty over the former, but joined the two in a union similar to that between Sweden and Norway.

"The parties to the union were free to withdraw at will. If home rule is not granted us, and Russian encroachments are not stopped, we will secede.

Aided by Karlstad Conference.

"The Karlstad conference in settling the differences between Sweden and Norway has paved the way for a Scandinavian union. Denmark alone is unable to resist Prussian encroachments, nor can we resist the encroachments of Russia, but united Scandinavians, supported by England and France, could withstand the aggression of the kaiser and the czar."

A large increase in the number of Russian troops in Finland is expected soon. About 4,500 will be sent to Helsingfors, 900 will go to Viborg and 900 to Vasa. The troops will be quartered in private houses.

Vasa Governor Imperiled.

An explosion near the residence of the governor of Vasa created great excitement, but no damage was done beyond the shattering of the windows of a neighboring house.

BEAT CHILD TO DEATH.

Indian Territory Negro Brutally Murdered His Little Stepdaughter.

Ardmore, Ind. T., Sept. 24. — The crime for which Rufus Binyon, a negro, was sentenced to be executed here yesterday was most atrocious. Near Ran, Ind. T., in May, 1900, he whipped his eight-year-old stepdaughter, May Hawthorne, to death, then placed the body in the fireplace and made an effort to cremate it. The mother of the child discovered the crime in time to prevent the cremation. Binyon was brought to the federal jail here in chains and was quickly convicted. Bishop Arnett of Ohio made a direct appeal to the president to change Binyon's sentence to life imprisonment, but the president declined to interfere.

KOMURA WILL SAIL OCT. 7.

Physicians Say He Can Leave New York Next Wednesday.

New York, Sept. 24.—The condition of Baron Komura, the Japanese peace envoy, was reported last night to be greatly improved. His physicians are confident of his early recovery and hope that he will be able to leave for the West on Wednesday, Sept. 27. The baron and his party will remain in Vancouver until Oct. 7, when they will sail for Japan on the steamer Empress of India.

Panama Wants Spaniards.

Panama, Sept. 24. — It is reported that President Amador and the canal commission are endeavoring to attract Spanish immigrants from the famine-stricken districts of Galicia. They are considered to be the best workmen for Panama.

Killed by Fragment of Steel.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 24.—Charles Christianson was struck in the abdomen by a flying piece of steel from a sledge in the hands of a laborer driving a spike, and died from his injury. The steel was the size of a bean.

American Steamer Seized.

Tokio, Sept. 24. — The American steamer Barracouta, Capt. Curtis, last reported to have sailed from San Francisco for Nikolaievsk, has been seized by the Japanese north of the island of Sakhalin.

J. J. HILL'S NOTABLE ADDRESS

He Discusses Agriculture, National and World Affairs at a County Fair.

James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, delivered an address at the Fillmore county fair at Preston, Minn., on Sept. 20, which is perhaps the most notable public utterance of the many he has made. It is of national, even world-wide scope, and is attracting great attention. He began by expressing his pleasure at meeting a strictly agricultural community and then made this contrast between Southern Minnesota and Northern Iowa:

In your state here, and you will pardon me for making some comparisons, that may seem, as comparisons often are, a little odious, comparing Southern Minnesota with Northern Iowa, the tier of counties on the line of each state, with nothing but the conventional boundary between them, they have advanced a little beyond you. Curious enough your farms average exactly the same in acreage. You have about 180,000 acres more than they have and they have the advantage in the one item of live stock. Now, they have no advantage in soil or climate over you. But they probably gave up the raising of wheat a little earlier than you did. They probably took up the care of live stock, of cattle and hogs earlier than you did, and for that reason their yield per acre, and I am speaking from the United States census, the records show that they are $1 an acre ahead of you.

Comparing Southern Iowa with Northern Minnesota he said the Southern farms realized $2 an acre more than the northern and added:

There is no calling in the world where a man can be more independent or happier than he who cultivates the soil—a man on a farm is an independent prince and he ought to succeed. Your future will depend more upon the cultivation of the land in an intelligent way and the restoration of the qualities of the soil that give good returns. Live stock on the farm is worth more than the price you can get for the live stock because the manure as a fertilizer is worth one-third of the market value of the feed you give the animal.

Following along this line, Mr. Hill proceeded to say that if they could sell their grain, hay or roots, feed them to their live stock and they would get one-third more than the market price of the feed.

I want to say to you, cultivate your land. Take good care of it. Nothing will pay you as well. Stock raising means more to you and to the country.

Keep the Farm.

Keep your farms. Cultivate them; cultivate them well. Stand by your state agricultural farm. To-day I want to call your attention to this. I have taken ever since it was started the greatest interest in the state farm. There is but one change that I would make if I could, and I would make that in the interest of the school. I would separate it from the state university, because to-day it is only an attachment. It is strong enough and it is of more importance that the boys and girls of the State of Minnesota shall be educated to take advantage of and to intelligently cultivate the soil.

Everything that is of value in the world comes from four sources. The sea,—we have not got it. The forest,—our trees are counted, and in a very few years Minnesota will have no forests that are of any value. Theoretically we have twelve years of standing timber. Of course they won't cut it all in twelve years, but that will be because they reduce the rate at which it is cut each year.

Proceeding, he said the mines were next to the forest, but the farm in Minnesota produces more value, more gold every year than the mines of any state in the Union. When mines are dug out they cannot be reproduced, but crops can be reproduced indefinitely. The mines will not grow again, but the crops will. He urged them not to sell their farms, but keep them for their boys and girls.

He then related the circumstances of the great drouth in the northern part of the state in 1883, and how to encourage diversified farming he bought between 800 and 900 thoroughbred bulls and between 6,000 and 7,000 Berkshire pigs and scattered them throughout the northern part of the state and Dakota. Speaking of his recent visit to the North Dakota state fair, he said:

Practical Example.

I saw as fine cattle there as I ever saw in my life and I brought them over from Great Britain and had paid as much as $5,000 for a cow. I had more pride in seeing these cattle, because among the lot there was one animal that took the sweepstakes last year in the Dominion of Canada; in July he took the sweepstakes in Winnipeg in the province of Manitoba; in Grand Forks he took second prize, was beaten to a standstill by a North Dakota bull. I had a little feeling of pride creeping up my throat when the owner told me that he was a descendant of one of the animals I sent up there. They will get along prosperously together or will be poor together.

Mr. Hill continued at some length to expatiate upon the importance, advantages and independence of the farm life, and then took up general matters which might be termed national. Along this line he said in part:

Government Policies.

There are two main essentials to all successful and happy effort; industry and character in the man as a private individual, and honesty and intelligence in his acts and in the acts of those who are chosen to represent him in the life of the state. You cannot get along without either the one or the other. You are all affected, directly and permanently, by the quality and the acts and the policies of the government under which you live. If that is low or dishonest it will react upon you eventually just as surely as if you received into the intimacy of your family life some man of bad conversation and corrupt example. If that is unintelligent, mistaken or wilfully misdirected it will affect you just as certainly as if you continue to use a plough that merely scratches the surface of the soil instead of turning it over, or carry your products to the lowest instead of to the highest market. It is your place to keep just as sharp a guard set upon these public issues and the way in which they are met as you do upon your own personal expenses and the actions of those who work under your personal orders.

Are your representatives—I speak in the broadest and most general way, for your representatives will compare well with those of other states—of the highest moral quality and fiber, and are they doing those things which are most clearly conceived to benefit you, the people, and not some interest aside from and antagonistic to your own? It will profit us all to think seriously about these matters, for the responsibility for them cannot be evaded or shuffled off.

War on Graft.

And first as to honesty, which is the main thing. You all read the papers; and it is a chief stay and hope of this country that the diffusion of intelligence and an intimate acquaintance with what is happening elsewhere has become so general. For that reason the extension of the rural mail service is to be classed as one of the real achievements of our time; one fit to rank with the spread of education in our schools. As thus familiar with events, it is scarcely necessary that I should remind you that the effort of patriotic men almost everywhere is to establish and maintain a standard of honesty and decency in public life. There is no word more familiar, as there is none more ominous in America to-day, than the word "graft." It shoots from the mouth like the spit of a rifle ball and it is doing as deadly work as that weapon in the hands of a murderer. Great commonwealths are to-day as comparatively in the hands of mercenaries as a captive in the power of brig- [illegible]

Real Men in Office.

You can have, perhaps, no higher duty than that of stamping out every tendency toward this evil. Have you always tested the sincerity and the honor of the man who appealed to you for public support? Have you never given your aid to a man because he was supposed to be "smart" as a candidate for a place whom you would not for a moment trust to represent you in a business transaction? Have you never sent to office a man whose record was not what it should be? And have you never given your representatives, in state or nation, to understand that they would win your approval and a continuance of the honors they covet by getting the most numerous and the largest appropriations for unnecessary undertakings in your city or town or district? If you have, then remember that reform must begin at the fountain head, the people. And as a state or a city or a nation has no revenue, has no money except that which is taken out of the pockets of individuals through taxation, if you have winked at or tacitly rewarded this practice, then you have encouraged and promoted graft. No man and no nation ever was or ever will be rich enough to withstand the continuous attack of unrebuked peculation; and no national or individual character can be pure enough to remain unsullied by a toleration of a low standard of honesty.

Now we come to another particular in which it becomes you to test these gentlemen who serve you and to ask every politician for his credentials. Let us see what they have done for you. You, by your unaided efforts, by unremitting toil and saving and the brave venture to wrest a living from nature, have accumulated certain resources of which all these varied forms of wealth that we see about us to-day are typical. To what extent, if any, have you been hindered by the various measures that will be quoted, as they have been quoted, in evidence of the care that has been taken of your interests?

Two Main Needs.

Your main needs are two: an adequate market in which your products may be sold at a fair price, and an opportunity to purchase those things that you need which the farm does not supply. To what extent have these been furnished to you, and in what condition do you stand with reference to them?

As far as your grain is concerned, you must sell in the markets of the world. There is no escape from that. The wheat of Southern Minnesota and the wheat of every other country on the face of the earth will bring to the farmer the price that is fixed in the world's markets. The great consuming nations, with Great Britain at their head, must have bread. They purchase it where they can, seeking all who have wheat and flour to sell. And by the competition of all these sellers, India and Russia and the Argentine and Australia as well as the United States, the price is settled. Have you been helped there? Of a truth it is impossible to help you in any way but one, to which we will come presently. The average politician, who does not give you credit for the intelligence that you possess, will tell you that you have been helped, have been "protected," as he will call it, by placing a tariff on wheat and other products of the farm. But you know better. You know that a tariff on imports of an article which you do not wish to import, but which you have for sale in vast quantities, is as useless as a steam heating plant in August. In the year ended June 30, 1904, there were imported into the United States just 6,852 bushels of wheat in all. How did the protective tariff protect this? This last year there were imported 3,102,385 bushels. Either figure is totally insignificant in a country whose own wheat crop runs from 600,000,000 to 800,000,000 bushels. But the fluctuation itself shows, since the tariff remained unaltered, that the latter has nothing whatever to do with the matter. Your grain and your dairy products and your live stock are beyond the reach of all such assistance. The market in which your grain, cattle and hogs are sold is not affected by them at all. And consequently, whatever you may think or may say to the gentlemen who tell you that a tariff has been enacted for your benefit, you may reply with great confidence that, as far as sales of your products are concerned, it profits you no more than an edict against immigration from the moon.

There is one way, however, in which you may be helped, and that is by lessening the cost of transportation. What you get for the yield of your farms is the price where the consumer lives, less the cost of carrying the article from you to him. That cost you have to bear. Anything that diminishes it is money in your pocket; and when any one advises you that you are vitally interested in decreasing the cost of transportation he is telling you the truth. But how is this to be brought about?

No one can arbitrarily send out a proclamation that such a service shall be performed at such and such a charge. The business of transportation is like all other business in this: it must be conducted on a business basis. The cost of it can be lessened only by economies growing out of increased volume. So he does most for you in this respect who opens new markets, secures new customers and helps to swell the volume of products and of purchases. This is the way in which the diminution of the cost of carriage has been effected, and the change is greater than has occurred in the price of almost any other commodity. The average receipts per ton per one hundred miles of all the railroads in the United States were $1.99 in 1870, $1.17 in 1880, 91 cents in 1890, 74 cents in 1903, while in Great Britain it is $2.23 and on the continent of Europe from $2.10 to $1.70. The Great Northern railroad has been reducing its rates progressively for the last twenty-five years. The records of the company and of the state railway commission show that, if its freight tariffs had not been altered in that time, if it had charged throughout until to-day the rates that were then in force, it would have received more than $676,000,000 more than it has received during the twenty-five years, an average of over $27,000,000, and this a reduction on one road, and I am as proud of that as I am of being here with you. That is a measure of what has taken place as rapidly as the growth of the business permitted and made prudent. And I need not tell any of you who read the papers and keep in touch with the events of the day that this work is still going on, and that the crops raised this year in the Northwest will be sent to market on the lowest freight rate ever made in the whole history of the Northwest.

Railroad Rates.

How has this been accomplished? By seeking to build up the country, by studying how to develop its resources and its prosperity, by inducing settlers to come and till the vacant land and by taking care of those already here. By careful business management and by recognizing the essential partnership between the man on the soil and the railway which serves him. And I want to ask you as you study these figures to say whether these results, so beneficial to yourselves, could ever have been reached through a policy of antagonism and force. Some of the politicians will tell you that railroad rates must be fixed by order of the government, and that this is the reason why they must be kept in public life. It is an easy prophecy, because it is an obvious fact, that railroad rates in this country would decline more slowly under government control than if fixed by those who have intelligently managed the railways. No public body would dare to make reductions so sweeping as those that have been made voluntarily by the railways. Unless the people on its lines are prosperous the railway must be poor. They suffer together or prosper together, and this condition will always remain. Those who make the rates with full knowledge of all the facts entering into them will make them as low as possible because that means more people, more acres under cultivation, more business for the railroad company to carry, more earnings and more profits. It is the right and the duty of the government to secure fair treatment and to prevent discriminations, but when any man says that he is anxious to have political place in order that he may help place the rate-making power in the hands of the government and subject the fortunes of thirteen billions of capital, of millions of employes and tens of millions of customers to the caprice or the self-interest of politicians, then the history of railroad rates in this country as compared with those charged anywhere else in the world, and the history of rate reductions down to the present time, constitute a sufficient contradiction.

Mileage Tariff.

The government cannot discriminate between ports or places. It must deal with an absolutely equal and impartial hand with all. Therefore, it would be obliged, sooner or later, to ordain a strict distance tariff; that is, the charge for carrying commodities would have to be apportioned to the number of miles in the haul. The low charge for the long haul would disappear, and freight would pay a mileage tariff. Now to some that would make little difference; but you here in Minnesota, in the center of the continent, distant from 1,500 to 2,000 miles from all the great markets, about whom a big circle might be described and have its circumference sweep along the coasts of the Atlantic and the Pacific and the gulf of Mexico—you would be the most heavily tariffed people in the world. When men ask for your support or demand your praise on any such grounds as these, it will be well for you to bring them to the challenge of the facts and of common sense.

Then, as to the markets in which you buy. How are you situated there, and what advantage do you owe to those who have settled your conditions? It would seem evident to most people that a system which permits the same article that you must have for your household or your farm to be carried abroad over thousands of miles of ocean and sold in distant markets at a price anywhere frm 5 to 50 per cent less than the price that is charged to you is not in your interest. It is because of that system that we pay annually an unknown amount of unearned profit on a total of some twenty-five billions of dollars which is the estimated volume of our domestic trade; that is, the buying and selling that goes on among ourselves. It is because of that and in order that it may not be changed by the fraction of a hair that the treasury deficit grows and promises now to reach $50,000,000 annually, and to require the imposition of other taxes, such as you have never heretofore consented to pay save in time of war and as a part of the sacrifices that it imposes. Is this to your satisfaction, and is this the form of service that will call forth your gratitude and receive your continuing indorsement?

Panama Canal.

Mr. Hill took up the subject of the Panama canal, treating it at considerable length. He argued that it could not be relied on to supply new markets. He cited the opinion of an expert, Mr. Harold Boice of the treasury department, who had written an elaborate article taking the same view. His argument was fortified by statistics showing how small an amount of our products the South American states could possibly use. He quoted Mr. Boice as saying that if we could secure one-half the imports of Asia, that traffic in one year would pay the cost of the canal and leave a balance of $300,000,000. He expected the canal would be made, but it would not bring market results.

Scarcity of Lands and Irrigation.

He considered the growing scarcity of agricultural lands and the defects in our land laws which allowed speculators and great combinations to secure millions of acres, to the exclusion of farmers. He highly commended the national irrigation movement, saying the work now under way would redeem 60,000,000 acres, and he had no doubt in the end many times that amount.

Markets.

The final question of all was securing markets for our products, he said.

Our exports of commodities the product of agriculture for the year 1904 were valued at $853,643,073, and were 59.48 per cent of all our exports. Our exports of manufactured articles were valued at $452,415,921, or 31.52 per cent of the whole. The ratio is very nearly two to one. Moreover, the tendency is for the former to increase while the latter decreases. In the commercial war upon us which has already heard the firing of the first gun, it is the manufactured article that will be banned by the severest prohibition. But upon all that we have to sell the disadvantage will fall. Our statesmen assumed that we alone could use a protective tariff to advantage, overlooking the very simple process of other nations meeting one tariff with another. The rest of the world has been wonderfully patient. It has taken no notice until we began to be thought of not exactly as a dangerous competitor in manufactured commodities, for we are not yet, but as a possible one. Then it took counsel, and the new German tariff is the first step in a league where we shall find all Europe commercially banded against us. What are we going to do about it? Where are we going to find our markets; and especially the market for the immense product of our soil that will continue to be our main resource and dependence

There are enough people within direct reach of us in Asia to require our entire annual wheat crop if each person consumed only the trifling amount of two bushels per annum. We have studied that trade and prepared for it. We have helped to build it up, and put millions of money into the greatest steamships that ever sailed the seas to serve it. We did these things in order that we might be able to make a rate under which this Oriental trade could live. For these people cannot pay high transportation charges; they will buy in some other market; and you cannot send wheat from the interior of the United States across half the continent and the whole breadth of the Pacific ocean if you have a big or even a reasonable mileage charge.

Well, we have met with obstacles at every step; not the obstacles that busy men have a right to expect and know how to meet, such as the shrewdness of competitors or the difficulty of conquering material things, but interference with plans and regulations and rules and orders that can serve no purpose except to make impossible the maintenance of this new market. These customers are outraged by a policy that insults their national dignity and their personal self-respect until they determine to buy no more of us. These ships, instead of meeting with reasonable encouragement, are hampered and tied down by regulations which make it as costly as possible to operate them. These rates, which are the essential parts of the whole affair, are destroyed by laws that put us at the mercy of every foreign tramp that floats the seas. And this, mind you, not in behalf of any home interest that might suffer, for these ocean rates do not concern the domestic producer more than they must be low enough to admit him to outside markets, but only to the annoyance and detriment and discouragement of American foreign trade in the great staples that you help to produce and that must continue to enter increasingly into our dealings with other peoples. The total foreign commerce of Japan and China amounts to $750,000,000 a year in round numbers. It is destined to increase and multiply at a rate that will astonish the world, and we might have the lion's share of it if we only exercised common sense and business prudence and patriotic foresight.

Open Market.

This problem of the market is your problem. This fallacy that the United States is getting control of the markets of the world needs to be studied into and honestly answered. Because our highly protected manufacturers are able, by reason of the big prices they charge you, to send a certain portion of their output abroad and sell it for half what you pay, we are not conquering the commercial world. The market belongs to the man who makes the lowest price; and in the United States, where it is a matter of both pride and principle to pay labor well, the high wage rate stands like a wall across the way of ultimately successful competition with countries where hours are long and wages low, and prices correspondingly reduced. With the new adjustments and policies now in favor among the nations, we shall presently see this market severely restricted. It is for you to take care that you do not lose, at the same time, your markets abroad for the breadstuffs and provisions, the raw cotton, the great products of the soil out of which your wealth must come. It is for you to see that other markets, instead, are opened for the enterprise of yourselves and your children.

Mr. Hill concluded with another appeal to stand by the agricultural school and not continue it as an annex to the state university in order to secure appropriations to educate the sons and daughters of people who are able to pay for their education.

CALUMET
Baking Powder

A perfectly healthful powder made by improved chemical methods and of accurately proportioned materials.

Trust Baking Powders sell for 45 or 50 cents per pound and may be identified by this exorbitant price. They are a menace to public health, as food prepared from them contains large quantities of Rochelle salts, a dangerous cathartic drug.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

MUTTON sometimes gets down to two cents a pound in Australia There is no meat trust in Australia.

LOTS of men who figure on schemes to make millions would be surprised to find themselves in possession of $5 in real money.

THE Chicago man who has been fined $200 for speaking to a lady in the street will not be easily convinced that talk is cheap.

ONCE more the last of the outlaw chiefs in the Philippines has met his death and an end to the disturbances is again assured.

THE Duluth News-Tribune thinks the next legislature will be notable for new faces. There is room for improvement personell of both houses.

THE G. A. R. national encampment is to be held at Minneapolis next year. No city in the United States will give the old soldiers a more royal welcome.

THE life insurance investigation in New York is proving one thing at least, and that is that life insurance is the best thing that ever happened—for the officers of the companies.

RUSSIA lost $113,000,000 worth of ships during the war. Still it must be admitted that the Russian navy did its part toward supporting the theory that a large navy makes for peace.

A TEXAS girl advertised for a husband and got him. The total expense for advertising, wedding outfit, etc., were $11. Within a year he died, leaving her an insurance policy for $10,000. And yet some people say it doesn't pay to advertise.

A CHICAGO physician claims to have discovered a medicine which will cure deficiency in spelling. If he can get it patented, he has a better thing than Rockefeller's oil trust. There is only about one person in ten who is not afflicted.

THE banquet given to James J. Hill by the business men of Minneapolis last Saturday evening in honor of the great railroad magnate's sixty-seventh birthday was a notable occasion. Mr. Hill has been a great force in the upbuilding of Minnesota and her two great cities. Whether or not we all agree with his transportation ideas, we must admit his genius and his wonderful mastery of the problems with which he has contented. Hill is the giant of railroading, just as Edison is the wizard of electricity or as Rockefeller is the king of high finance.

Ayer's

Impure blood always shows somewhere. If the skin, then boils, pimples, rashes. If the nerves, then neuralgia, nervousness, depression. If the stomach, then dyspepsia, biliousness, loss of appetite. Your doctor knows the remedy, used for 60 years.

Sarsaparilla

"Returning from the Cuban war, I was a perfect wreck. My blood was bad, and my health was gone. But a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla completely cured me."
H. C. DOEHLER, Scranton, Pa.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for

Impure Blood

Aid the Sarsaparilla by keeping the bowels regular with Ayer's Pills.

IN 1900 of the 21,538,024 persons in the United States between the ages of 5 and 18, 15,341, 220, or 71 per cent, were in the public schools. In 1902 the school population (between the ages of 5 and 18) was 22,216,863, and the enrollment 15,925,887.

THE war clouds which overhung Norway and Sweden have disappeared, and there is to be a peaceful separation. The whole world will rejoice at this happy outcome of the difficulty. The Scandinavian countries are too near akin to indulge in a fratricidal war.

THE Iowa state census just completed shows a total population of 2,209,192, a loss of nearly 23,000 during the five-year period. Minnesota is only 250,000 behind Iowa, and in another five years will be considerably ahead, at the present rate of progress.

THE independent voter—once contemptuously referred to as a "mugwump"—can vote George Washington as saying: "If we mean to support the liberty and independence which have cost us so much treasure and blood to establish we must drive away the demon of party spirit."

GOVERNOR JOHNSON is lopping off a lot of petty grafts about the capitol. He has lately refused to allow a bill for cigars rendered by the secretary of the board of health. It would seem that a lot of things have been customary that are neither right nor popular with the people.

JUDGE JOHN A. LOVELY retires from the supreme court, October 1, and will return to Albert Lea to again commence the practice of law. The Austin Transcript voices the general sentiment in saying that "the way he was tricked out of the nomination after he had won it at the last state convention is a part of the disgraceful political history of the state."

ALBERT BERG, whilom secretary of state, who has been living at Warroad for the past five years, announces his intention of returning to his former home at Center City, and has resigned as a member of the village council and the board of education and as cashier of the Bank of Warroad. Center City's loss is Warroad's gain.

THE Sauk Center Herald remarks as follows: "Marshall Field aged 70, worth $120,000,000 recently mar- Delia Spencer Caton, aged 55, worth $70,000,000. How glad they would be if they could change places with Swan Olson and Hilda Peterson, aged 24 and 20, who were married last week and who had to pay the preacher with eggs because they had no money.

THE growth of civilization and the spread of popular intelligence have their drawbacks for monarchial governments. One of the main factors in the strength of Japan thus far has been the absolute submission of the people to the dictation of a sovereign believed by the masses to be of divine lineage. From the riotous demonstrations in opposition to the treaty of peace it is quite evident that the Japanese government, while educating its people in the arts and literature of the occident, has not been able to prevent them from doing independent thinking. The myth of divine right will not long survive in Japan.

THE Brooklyn Standard Union advocates some practice of the theory of reducing the tariff. It wants a beginning made somewhere and suggests the Philippines as excellent for that purpose. It says: Is the whole agitation to confine itself to a general denunciation of those who stand pat? The way to make a tariff lower is to begin somewhere; if imports in general ought to come in cheaper, the best method of getting at it is to name some particular imports which should be cheaper. The Philippines would make a fine starting place. Whatever we do with reciprocity, and if it is to our interest to hold the islands at all, anything that promotes their prosperity would be to our interest. If the tariff revisers really want the tariff revised, they should go right to congress next December with a demand for immediate reduction on imports from the Philippines."

THE Minneapolis Times gave notice of suspension in Sunday morning's issue, and the twin cities now have but two morning dailies, the Pioneer Press at St. Paul and the Tribune at Minneapolis. The Times has never been a paying newspaper, although it has always been a good newspaper and a credit to the city and the state. There has been a great change in newspaper conditions in the cities during the past fifteen years. Where formerly the morning papers held the greatest prestige and popularity, the evening papers now surpass them and gather in seventy-five per cent of the advertising and subscribers.

A GREAT many people dissipate more energy between the time when they leave their work at night and when they return to it in the morning than they expend all day in their vocations, though they would be shocked and offended if anyone were to tell them so. They think that physical dissipation is the only method of energy-snapping. But men and women of exemplary moral habits dissipate their vitality in a hundred ways. They indulge in wrong thinking; they worry; they fret; they fear this, that, and the other imaginary thing; and they carry their business home with them, and work as hard mentally after business hours as during them.

BADGER.

Mrs. Will St Yves visited at Mr. Louis St Yves Sunday.

Mrs, Ovide Moreau is visiting Badger friends this week,

Miss Alma Quesnell returned from Terrebonne Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Champeau went to the Falls Sunday afternoon.

D. and Mrs. Lungvin of Crookston visited the Champeau home Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Damase Lachance went to the county seat early Monday morning on business.

Miss Alice Quesnell returned to Mrs. L. C. Cadiex's home Sunday. After a weeks vacation.

Mr. Dolphis and Adelard Champeau and Louis Quesnell helped E. Quesnell stack his grain Monday.

The many friends of Zelia Quesnell gathered at her home Sunday afternoon and had a pleasant time.

The Mrs. O. Robbillard, O. Moreau, M. Quesnell, M Ducharme and Miss Alma Queenell visited at Joe Ducharmes Sunday.

A Cold Settled tn His Kidneys.

A. J. Jennesse, 9201 Butler St., Chicago writes; "I am a switchman aud am out in all kinds of weather, I took a cold which settled in my kidneys and I was in bad shape, I tried several advertised remedies with no benefit, until I was recommended to try Foley's Kidney Cure, Two-thirds of a bottle cured me. A. L. Riechert.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

Button's Business College, Crookston and Wadena, offers $100 to anyone who can name a graduate of these schools who was not given a good paying position when their course was completed. Fall term begins Sept. 4th. Send for catalogue.

Throat Coughs

A tickling in the throat; hoarseness at times; a deep breath irritates it;—these are features of a throat cough. They're very deceptive and a cough mixture won't cure them. You want something that will heal the inflamed membranes, enrich the blood and tone up the system is just such a remedy. It has wonderful healing and nourishing power. Removes the cause of the cough and the whole system is given new strength and vigor

Scott's Emulsion

Send for free sample
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists
409-415 Pearl Street, New York
50c. and $1.00. All druggists

TIME GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TABLE
THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West				Going East
8:15 P. M.	Lv.	St. Paul	Ar.	7:35 A. M.
8:50 P. M.	Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar.	7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M.	Lv.	Duluth	Ar.	7:10 A. M.
8:00 A. M.		Crookston		6:45 P. M.
8:50 A. M.		Dugdale		6:00 P. M.
9:25 A. M.		Red Lake Falls		5:25 P. M.
9:55 A. M.		St. Hilaire		4:55 P. M.
10:20 A. M.		Thief River		4:30 P. M.
10:40 A. M.		Steiner		4:05 P. M.
11:03 A. M.		Sandridge		3:58 P. M.
11:30 A. M.		Middle River		3:32 P. M.
11:55 P. M.		Strathcoma		3:57 P. M.
12:25 P. M.	Ar.	Greenbush	Lv.	2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from
J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Keep Warm and Keep Cool

It's easy enough to KEEP WARM with a good Fur, but it's another thing to KEEP COOL in buying your Fur at a price meritful of style and quality. Take one of our Furs home, take one from another store, look them over, pull the fur out of them and see yourself why the

:...LANPHER FURS...:

SELL ON NAME and RE-SELL ON QUALITY—made since 1876.

PRICES TO GET BUSINESS

Black Belgian Fur Boas, 50c
Polaris Blacks, wide back, warm, $1.00 and $1.50
Chenille-trimmed Beavers, $5.50 to $8.00
Fox Furs—our best efforts shown here; anything up to $24; excellent values at $18.59; regular $21 fur

Your Coat may be here; one you may like. Drop in, try it on, see how well it fits; take it home and see if it isn't worth every cent we ask for it. Snappy and stylish, at $5.50, $8.50 and $12.50

We boomed our Dress Goods trade this fall. Values did it, good values. Velvets are becoming and selling; good choice left. Changeable Velvets, only 60c per yd. Crushed Silk Velvets, only $1.00 per yd. Gloves and Trimmings to match.

THE BUSY STORE

Queen Quality Shoes | GARCEAU & ZAISER | McCall Patterns

Shorthand Class.

I have decided to organize a class for the study of shorthand to begin about September 15th, 1905. My duties as Court Reporter necessitates my teaching evenings only and the class, consequently, must be limited, so if you wish to avail yourself of the opportunity of learning shorthand from one who has had a practical knowledge of the art for over ten years, write or call on,
Chas. M. Lohn, Crookston, Minn.,
Official Court Reporter,
14th Judicial District, Minn.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS
WITH Dr. King's New Discovery
FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS and COLDS Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.
Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

Northern Pacific-
Shasta

NORTHERN PACIFIC YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

The route for those who will spend the winter months in California. Rates are very low; magnificent scenery; comfortable trains.

Red Lake Falls to Los Angeles
and Return $63.00

Write F. A. Mizen, Red Lake Falls, for detailed information or to A. M. Cleland, General Pass. Agt., St. Paul.

FARM MACHINERY

I have just received a carload of farm machinery and it will be to the interest of every farmer in Red Lake County to see me and see some snaps I have to offer before buying. My goods are all anti-trust. Here are a few of the reliable goods I have for sale:

Robinson Buggies, Disc Harrows, Beggs-Goodson Wagons, The Celebrated Acme Harrow and Pulverizer, Van Brunt Single Disc Drills, Goodhue Wind Mills.

Get My Prices---I Can Save You Money

S. A. SWANSON

A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

HAS NO SUBSTITUTE

A Cream of Tartar Powder free from alum or phosphatic acid

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for farm loans.

Remember W. I. Nolan is to be at the opera house Tuesday evening.

L. C. Simons was at St. Hilaire Saturday looking after his banking interests.

H. H. Zaiser returned yesterday from a business trip to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

T. G. Brunelle, the harnessmaker, made a business trip to Crookston over Monday night.

Bemidji has asked for free delivery and an inspector is now making a preliminary investigation.

The teachers in the public schools enjoyed a picnic supper at the saw mill grounds last Saturday evening.

The wrecking car was here Sunday and got the car which was wrecked last week on the Great Northern out of the ditch.

Harry Ives, of the St. Hilaire Spectator, was down to the county-seat over Monday night paying taxes and visiting friends.

Ernest and Walter Buse and Harry Healy were at Goose Lake the fore part of the week and brought home an even two dozen ducks.

W. I. Nolan, the prince of entertainers, is billed for Tuesday evening, October 3, at the Metropolitan opera house. Reserved seats are now on sale at Anderson's jewelry store.

George D. Dayton, chief stockholder and manager of the Dayton Dry Goods company at Minneapolis, was the guest of Ed. L. Healy last Friday and Saturday. Mr. Dayton was accompanied by his son and is looking

The following from the Park Rapids Enterprise is respectfully referred to Harry Ives, editor of the St. Hilaire Spectator: "The state board of equalization has raised the assessed value of autos to $300. But this does not affect the publisher of the country paper."

Joseph Tschirhart desires the COURIER to extend the the thanks of himself and family for the many kindnesses received during the recent serious illness of Mrs. Tschirhart. The good offices of neighbors and friends under these circumstances are appreciated more than words can express.

W. A. McIntyre came in from Towner, N. D., Sunday morning and was the guest of Red Lake Falls friends until Monday evening. Mrs. McIntyre, who has been visiting her parents here for a couple of weeks, accompanied her husband to their home at Fargo. Mac is connected with one of the leading law firms of North Dakota, and we are glad to know that he is prospering.

Sam H. Clark, the new editor of the Thief River Press, paid his first visit to Red Lake Falls Monday night. Sam is getting out one of the best papers in northern Minnesota. He deserves to succeed, because he is a hustler and a genial gentleman. over a number of northwestern Minnesota counties for desirable land bargains. He has his eye on several sections of Red Lake county locality.

Our 25-cent tea can't be beat.—Spillane's.

Miss Pauline Nieland was the guest of friends at St. Hilaire last Saturday.

J. J. Padden and family are moving into the Altnow house on the north side.

Mrs. Karl M. Hansen returned Saturday evening from a visit with friends and relatives at Thief River.

Adam Schmitz has moved his family to Grand Forks, where Mr. Schmitz has secured employment in a harness shop.

J. W. Donahue of Fairfax, Minn., was here several days last week looking over the country with a view to buying a farm.

The auction of the Biteman bakery stock and fixtures last Saturday was fairly successful, a great deal of the goods being sold at good prices.

Louis Barrette and wife of Grand Fouks, who were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Albert Brunelle, left Tuesday evening for their home.

A. M. Anderson left Monday evening on a business trip to some of the new towns in North Dakota. Mr. Anderson is looking for a good opening for a branch furniture store.

The approach of the sere and yellow leaf is at hand, and the golden glow of the Indian summer is about the only star feature of this year's weather that will prvoke enthusiasm.

H. S. Johnson of Evanston, Ill., was here several days the fore part of the week to visit his nephew, S. L. Lewis. Mr. Johnson is a grocery merchant at Evanston, and a decade ago Mr. Lewis was one of his employes.

William Puschinsky wishes to announce to the public that he is prepared to do all kinds of gun repairing, and keeps on hand a full line of repairs. He has had 55 years' experience at this kind of work, and guarantees entird satisfaction.

J. M. Markham, proprietor of the Markham hotel at Bemidji, and for many years a prominent figure in northern Minnesota in business and politics, died Sunday night at Hot Springs of acute Bright's disease. Mr. Markham was for many years proprietor of the hotel at St. Hilrire which still bears his name.

A. M. Anderson has been at several of the towns north of here during the past couple of weeks with the view of finding a location for a branch furniture store. The Red Lake Falls institution is one of the largest furniture emporiums in the northwest, and the town which gets one of their stores will be fortunate.

The St. Hilaire creamery, managed by George L. Austin, is coming in for a liberal share of praise from the newspapers in the Red River valley. During the month of August the creamery had 143 patrons, and $3,470 was disbursed in cash. There are few creameries in the state with such a magnificent record.

Master George Bourdon decided to become a "broncho buster" Sunday morning by riding a new horse which his father had purchased the previous week. George was thrown to the ground, and sustained a broken arm and a dislocated elbow. He is doing very nicely at present and will be able to get around again in a couple of weeks.

A Word to the Little Folks

Work hard till you get a dollar. Then come to this bank and make your first deposit.

We will put your dollar on deposit drawing 5 per cent interest and lend you one of our little savings banks.

First State Bank Red Lake Falls, Minn.

The regular meeting of the Royal Neighbors will be held tomorrow evening.

Willie Eikhoff of Crookston is the guest of his sister, Mrs Arthur Zaiser this week.

Engineer George Ralph and wife are over from Crookston today to attend the funeral of Mrs. Hennings.

Hon. Marcus Johnson came up from St. Paul Tuesday to spend several days looking after his milling interests.

Dr. Dunlop was over from Crookston Saturday in consultation with Dr. N. N. Watson over the case of Mrs. Aennings.

The ladies of St. Mary's church will meet with Miss Eilen Brady on Thursday afternoon, October 5. All are cordially invited.

Rev. Father Fayolle and L. P. Berthon went to Minneapolis Monday evening for a short visit with friends and relatives.

Mhomas A. Barbee of St. Paul, special agent of the Delaware Insurance company, was a business visitor to Red Lake Falls Monday.

Robinson & Co., the Plummer merchants, are moving their stock of goods to Thief River Falls, and will be ready for business at the new location within a couple of weeks.

Dr. J. A. Anderson of Fertile, one of the prominent veterinarians of this part of the state, was in Red Lake Falls on professional business yesterday.

Garceau & Zaiser call the attention of the public to their new line of furs this week. They have an unusually large line of goods of this nature and are making low prices on them.

Conrad Hirsch of Fairfax, Minn., has moved on the William Marleau farm on section 3, Red Lake Falls township. Mr. Hirsch and family arrived with their household goods last Friday.

P. B. Gaass, A. L. Reichert, Dr. J. C. Wilkinson and L. C. Sandtrock were at Goose Lake on a hunting expedition the fore part of the week. They report a bag of forty-three ducks and three geese.

The Red Lake Falls band has received four new horns from a well-known Chicago band instrument house. The band organization now owns fully half of the instruments used by the members, and it is expected that in time they will buy them all.

J. T. McKnight of Adrian, Minn., was in Red Lake Falls yesterday enroute to Poplar River township to look after the threshing on his farm there. Mr. McKnight is manager of the Farmers' Alliance Elevator company at Adrian and one of the prominent citizens of that community.

Jack Frost seems to have forgotten us this year, as he has not yet left his blighting touch. This is the latest advent of frost in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Ordinarily frost comes in the early days of September and a light touch sometimes comes in the last week of August.

The pastor of the Presbyterian church has begun a bible training class on Thursday evenings at 7:30, which will be the special feature of the church work for this year. It is not too late to enroll, and it is hoped that many more will use this opportunity to become better acquainted with the greatest book of the world.

Ralph E. Wyer will leave the employ of the First State Bank Saturday night, after a continuous service of more than five years in the capacity of assistant cashier. Ralph will be in town for a week or ten days, going to Minneapolis about the 7th of October for a visit at home before assuming his new work at Toronto, Ont.

O. G. Clay, right-of-way agent of the Great Northern, stopped off at Red Lake Falls last night on his way back from the Roseau country. Mr. Clay says the Greenbush extension is being built to Roseau as rapidly as possible. Just at present laborers are a scarse commodity, but as soon as the threshing season is over he anticipates there will be plenty of help.

The twelve-year-old son of Pierre Emard came near meeting with a serious accident east of town Tuesday. A shot-gun lying in a hayrack was accidentally discharged, and the charge grazed the arm of the boy. While the arm was badly burned, no serious injury occurred. Shot guns are dangerous weapons, and they have a habit of going off unexpectedly with serious results.

Chas. B. Dean of Twin Brooks, S. D., arrived this morning to assume the local editorship and business management of the COURIER. Mr. Deau is an experienced newspaper man snd a first-class business man, and under his charge we have every reason to believe the COURIER will be more than ever the leading newspaper of Red Lake county. We trust the public will understand some of the manifest difficulties a new man encounters in gathering news and give him whatever assistance is possible.

Got off Cheap.

He may well think, he has got off cheap, who, after having contracted constipation or indigestion, is still able to perfectly restore his health. Nothing will do this but Dr. King's New Life Pills. A quick, pleasant and sure cure for headache, constipation, etc. 25c at all drug stores; guaranteed.

Are you lacking strength and vigor? Are you weak? Are you in pain? Do you feel all run down? The blessing of health and strength come to all who use Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35c. A. L. Reichert.

They Are All In

Our Palmer Cloaks and

Gordon Furs........

The Palmer GARMENT

For your own good, as well as ours, dont buy a cloak without first looking at a PALMER GARMENT. The Palmer is in a class of itself. Look them over, compare them with others and if you will notice the difference, it will appeal to your good taste. All styles, all qualities from $5.00 to $30.00. Plush, fur lined autos $20.00 to $30.00; cloth $5.00 to $25.00.

Misses Coats 1.50 to $10.00.

Our $5.00 Coats are bargains.

Every Palmer Coat has a written guarantee with it. If the coat goes wrong you can return it. This is "straight.

Furs

with the celebrated Gorden Ticket on, 50c up to $37.50.

Cloakings

for infants cloaks—a big line, Heavy figured cotton eider down, 25c to 40c. White and gray Astrakan, 54 inches wide and bearskin in red, blue, brown and white at $2.50.

Outing Flannels

They are high but ours were bought before the advance and with the two largest wholesale houses in the west bidding for our bill, will save you 1c a yard,

26 inch flannel, medium weight 5c.
28 " " heavy, regular 10c value, 9c.
28 " " extra nappy and soft, regular 12½c, our price 10c.

An immense line of fleeced flannels at 8, 9 and 10c.

Our School Shoes

are going like the proverbial hot cakes. Our values are so good that it does not take an expert to see it,

Fine boys school shoes, calf or kid, $1.75,
Misses $1.25 to $1.75,
Childrens, 6 to 8½, 60c to 90c,

We save you money shoes. Give us a chance to prove it.

All our Clothing is not in yet. Wait until it is. It will pay you.

More so than ever it pays to trade at

THE BIG STORE

Theo LaBissoniere, Proprietor

Our candies are fresh; no old stock.—Spillane's.

A boy baby came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank St. Martin last Sunday morning.

The M. A. Natten farm in Terrebonne township has been sold this week through the Healy agency.

Perl W. Mabey, the Thief River attorney, was down on business at the court house over Tuesday night.

Mrs. Lemieux, living on the Emard farm east of town, has been quite seriously ill during the past couple of week.

Miss Anna Sutter, who has been confined to the house most of the summer with a sprained ankle, is able to be around again.

Ab. Fletcher has resigned his position in the Barnesville depot, and is now brakeing on the Great Northern between Larimore and Devils Lake.

Next Sunday is rally day at the Presbyterian Sunday school, and the teachers and pupils have been busy practicing recitations and drills for the occasion.

M. O. Sortedahl returned Saturday from a land trip to the southern part of the state. He expects two parties of landseekers from Goodhue county the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Samuel Allard went to Grand Forks Tuesday morning to select a dwelling for the family. Sam is now employed at that city, and expects to move his family over in a few weeks.

It is rumored that Peter Hansel, the Wylie blacksmith, contemplates moving his shop to the north side in Red Lake Falls. He is an enterprising citizen and a thorough workman, and will doubtless find a good trade at the start.

The band concert is to be given on Thursday night this week owing to the fact that several members of the band belong to the foot ball team, which leaves for Warren Friday evening for the first game of the season.

Brunelle Bros. have their new five-cent cigar, "I Lead," on the market this week and they have been selling like hot cakes. This cigar possesses unusual merit and tastes as good as many of the higher-priced brands. The ten-cent brand, "B. B." will be on sale next week.

Judge Watts is over from Crookston today to hold a special term of the district court to hear the case of Ernest Buse vs. the First State Bank. Congressman Steenerson is here to represent Mr. Buse, and the bank's interests are being looked after by Messrs. Boughton and Miller.

For the best groceries go to Spillane's.

P. O. Floan is looking after the threshing on his farms in North Dakota this week.

Mrs. John Hoerning, of Oshkosh, Wis., mother of Mrs. W. A. Schreiter, arrived today for an extended visit.

Sheriff Linnihan made a trip to Warren Tuesday. He was accompanied by a Thief River man cited for contempt of court before Judge Grindeland.

The business meeting of the ladies' aid society of the Presbyterian church has been postponed until Saturday, September 30, at 3 o'clock p. m., at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Hunt.

L. Jensen, a former resident and business man of Red Lake Falls, but now in business at Fargo, came in on the Great Northern today for a visit with friends and look after business matters.

Chairman Ole J. Johnson and Clerk Perrault are comparing the tax receipts issued by Treasurer Hansen with the assessment book this week. This work is in pursuance of a recent order of the public examiner, and will hereafter be done every year in each county of the state.

The Northwestern Bridge company has commenced action against the city of Red Lake Falls in district court for $302, claiming this amount due above the contract price for erecting the Klondike bridge across the Clearwater River. The city maintains that it does not owe this or any amount—that the contract price was paid at the time the bridge was completed.

LAST OPEN AIR BAND CONCERT.

The last open air concert of the season will be given this evening at the First State Bank corner. The program will be as follows: March, "Soldiers in the Park"; "Lurtspul"; "Dance of the Fire Flies"; sextette from Lucia; "Bohemian Girl"; "Auf Wiedershin"; march, "Our Director."

School supplies of all kinds can be found at Reichert's drug store.

Charlie Akerlund came over from Crookston today to visit his friends for a day or two.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Enquire at the Big Store.

Dr. Donald McDonald, field agent of the state live stock sanitary board, was up from St. Paul Monday looking after a case of glanders reported at the William Marleau place. The Doctor says that a number of horses at this farm are under suspicion and a rigid quarantine is being enforced. The utmost precaution against contagion is taken and there is no likelihood of a spread of the disease.

The Presbyterian church of this city will entertain the fall meeting of Adam presbytery on October 10 and 11. It is expected that from twenty to twenty-five delegates will be present representing the eight northwestern counties of Minnesota. There will be a conference on evangelistic work held in connection with this business session. It is hoped that the people of Red Lake Falls will show their well-known hospitality to our visitors.

Stationery at the Courier office.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

Merchants State Bank

Of Red Lake Falls.

Do You Know That the Merchants State Bank is a strictly home institution. All our officers and stockholders live in Red Lake Falls and have established the Merchants State Bank with their own money. We do a regular banking business in every department. There is no transaction too large for us to handle and none too small for us to give our attention.

Our Savings Dep't. We would especially call your attention to our savings department. We have now on our books a large list of names of men, women, children who deposited with us, ranging from $100 to $200. These are saving accounts and are continually growing by adding to them the spare pennies, nickles and dimes. Don't put off any longer. Open a savings account with us.

LIGHTING LORE.

ACETYLENE EXCELS AS AN ILLUMINANT.

Gas for Lighting Formerly Confined to Cities and Large Towns, now in General Use in the Country.

The satisfactory lighting of suburban and country homes requires that the means used shall be convenient, safe, economical and furnish a brilliant, penetrating, effulgent light.

Everybody admits that these are not the characteristics of the candle or kerosene lamp, which, formerly, were the only feasible means of producing light for domestic use in the rural districts.

For generations there was a crying need, a yearning for something better, which was not satisfied. A few years ago deliverance came in the shape of the chemical compound, Calcium Carbide, from which, by the simple application of water, the gas Acetylene is derived. Acetylene meets all the requirements fully and admirably and is being generally used.

Common lime and carbon in the form of coke or coal are the raw materials which, fused in an intensely heated furnace, make Calcium Carbide, and there is no difficulty in obtaining it in any part of the country.

The machine into which the Calcium Carbide is fed and from which the Acetylene is distributed through the building to be lighted, is but little larger than a thirty-gallon milk can, and of the same general form. It is easily and cheaply installed, either in the cellar or in an out-building.

The light from burning Acetylene is exquisite, and lighting experts agree that it surpasses all other known illuminants. It does not taint the air nor strain the eyes and is not objectionable in any respect. Every up-to-date rural residence should be equipped with Acetylene light.

PROOF POSITIVE HE LIED.

Husband Had Money, So Couldn't Have Been at Races.

Hon. David Gensberger, who sways the gavel with such skill and ability as chairman of the lower board of the city council, says the average husband never knows when nor where to expect trouble.

"My friend, for instance," continued the chairman, "telephoned his wife that he was going to the races. Afterwards, some business matters arising, he was compelled to forego his pleasure trip. That night he reached home after supper. He was tired and worn out and when to sleep without indulging in much family conversation. Next morning he was awakened early by hearing his wife sobbing out her heart in the next room. Hastening to the weeping woman, my friend asked what the trouble was.

"Trouble!" exclaimed the tearful wife, "trouble! oh, you wretch! You have deceived me. You telephoned me that you were going to the races, and look, sir, look! I found all this money in your pocket."—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Six Doctors Failed.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 25th (Special)—After suffering from Kidney Disease for three years; after taking treatment from six different doctors without getting relief, Mr. J. O. Laudeman of this place found not only relief but a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. Speaking of his cure Mr. Laudeman says:

"Yes, I suffered from Kidney Trouble for three years and tried six doctors to no good. Then I took just two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they not only cured my kidneys, but gave me better health in general. Of course I recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to others and I know a number now who are using them with good results."

Mr. Laudeman's case is not an exception. Thousands give similar experiences. For there never yet was a case of Kidney Trouble from Backache to Bright's Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills could not cure. They are the only remedy that ever cured Bright's disease.

Desperate Deed.

Bess—Percy threatened to do something desperate when I refused him.

Nell—And did he?

Bess—Yes. He lit a cigarette.—Chicago News.

RESTORED HIS HAIR.

Scalp Humor Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment—After All Else Had Failed.

"I was troubled with a severe scalp humor and loss of hair that gave me a great deal of annoyance and inconvenience. After unsuccessful efforts with many remedies and so-called hair tonics, a friend induced me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The humor was cured in a short time, my hair was restored as healthy as ever, and I can gladly say I have since been entirely free from any further annoyance. I shall always use Cuticura Soap, and I keep the Ointment on hand to use as a dressing for the hair and scalp. (Signed) Fred'k Busche, 213 East 57th St., New York City."

Some men will never agree that a statement they make is liable to be totally one-sided.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

The woman who knows how to tell a queer story with something like grace is so rare as to be noticeable.

A Tragedy of Nature

"Good-by"—
Low sinks the sun behind the mountain crest;
The firs like bayonets seem to pierce his breast;
The red blood dyes his pillow in the west;
"Good-by."

"Good-by"—
The lady moon far in the eastern sky
A cloud veil draws across her tear-dimmed eye
As though she mourned to see her lover die—
"Good-by."
—Phil H. Armstrong in Lippincott's Magazine.

CHUMS

BY ANNIE RUSS WILLIS

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Tom and Dick were two poor little waifs. From morning till night they roamed the streets of the great city. Tom was the older and always took the lead in everything. He was a bright-eyed, handsome boy, in spite of his dirty face and tattered clothes.

He had taken care of himself ever since he could remember. First he had begged, but having been born with a faculty for getting along in the world he sold a few matches, bought with his first savings. He knew he could polish shoes, but he never had a chance to try. He wished he could have a peanut stand, but he was only a little boy and that ambition seemed to him as lofty and unattainable as the stars. Meanwhile he plodded along, putting on as brave a face as he could when he was hungry, and whistling when bread was plenty.

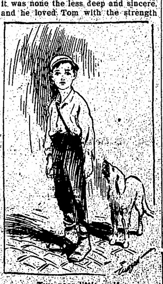
He believed a living was to be had for the asking if anybody would work, but when Dick's mother died and he was left all alone in the world, he wondered what would become of him, for Dick could not talk, consequently he was unable to ask for work. Then he was not so old as Tom and did not know how to do anything; added to this Tom loved Dick better than anything or anybody else in the world, so he opened his arms and said:

"Come, Dick, I'll take care of you, and we'll live together."

Now this was not a very munificent offer, for Tom lived nowhere or anywhere. Some nights he slept in an old box behind a great warehouse, or in a doorway if he could get in there unobserved. When the weather was warm, he lay down in one of the small parks where the grass was soft and the trees waved over his head. Next to Dick he loved the trees. If he had known anything about heaven he would have said it must be full of trees and that one might live under them forever. He would lie on his back watching the moon glide slowly upward, with the leaves dancing across its shining face, and dream of the village where he was born and which he only remembered as one recalls dimly a beautiful dream of a far off unknown country. However, such as he had he offered to Dick and it was joyfully accepted. Protection and love are gifts not to be despised.

Selling a few matches would hardly feed two, and Tom, with ready invention tried other means of livelihood. He bought a harmonica and learned a few of the popular airs he heard the hand organs play. He had often danced on the pavement in the evening with the other children to the music of those same hand organs, and he set to work to teach Dick to dance. The loss of one faculty often quickens the others and soon the two chums were able to do a little dance together, to the strains of the harmonica. Then Dick would take a little plate and pass it around, and often the pennies piled up.

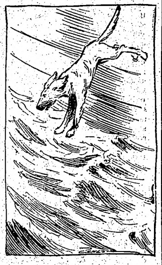
Dick had never been so happy in his life. Though he could not talk about his gratitude as many people do, it was none the less deep and sincere, and he loved Tom with the strength that grows and heaps up through lack of expression.



Two poor little waifs.

Tom found it was profitable to get on one of the excursion steamers which made a short run to the nearer resorts on the shore. He paid the fares a few times, but he managed to ingratiate himself with the mate, who took a great liking to Dick and so they often got a free sail under his care.

One day they started out for the boat. It was not what Tom wanted to do. He longed, with all his heart, not for the blue water rolling at his feet and splashing in his face, but for soft, green grass beneath him, clover and daisies gently waving as he walked, creaking, slippery pine needles sending up their fragrance at every step, the great bending ferns, whose sweet odor lulls and satisfies wearied brain and body, he longed intently for all this without ever having known it. The nearest he had come to it was an occasional hour in a city park, and his country birthplace claimed recognition in his heart. But it cost money to ride even in a trolley car, and the boat was free—to him—while there was a certainty that Dick would collect pennies, and they were hungry.



With a sudden spring he was over the side of the boat.

People almost always seemed attracted to Dick and the plate seldom came back empty when he carried it.

The two had a merry time racing, digging holes in the sand, as all boys love to do, now stopping before a group of children or a little picnic party for a dance or two, and more pennies. When the boat left they were tired out and Tom found a corner where they hid behind some boxes and both fell asleep. Later there was a commotion and a sudden rush. Tom, only half awake, jumped to his feet and was pushed along by the crowd. Dick saw him waver a moment on the edge of the boat and heard a shout, "Boy overboard!" With a sharp, piercing cry he sprang after Tom, but the crowd separated them. He could not understand all that happened for he was so short he could not see much, and he could not ask, but he knew that they were trying to save his friend. He looked piteously into the faces about him, uttering the shrill moan of the dumb. He heard a voice say:

"Of course, it was useless, the boat was moving so fast they could not find him. Poor little street beggar! he is better off as it is!"

The mate had tears in his eyes when, passing across the deck, he spied Dick.

"Poor little fellow, what is going to become of you?" and he lifted him up. Nobody ever wanted to touch Tom, but some way Dick never looked dirty and his hair was not so untidy.

"I'll take you home and you shall live with me," said the mate, putting his arm around him, but Dick kept up the same pitiful cry and his eyes were fastened on the dancing water that had seized his loved companion. He had nobody in the whole world but Tom, there was nobody else for him to love. Tom was there in the blue, lovely, shining water—his Tom, and that was where he wanted to be. Where his Tom was he could be happy again. Poor ignorant, untaught waif of the streets, but faithful unto death. He wrenched himself free from the mate and with a sudden spring he was over the side of the boat and the water closed over him. There was a stir and cry among the passengers, and the man who had spoken before said in a subdued voice:

"Well, I've seen a good many accidents in my life, and I've heard that men commit suicide for many reasons, but I never before to-day knew a dog to deliberately drown himself because that was the death his master died."

Steamers for Lake Titicaca.

A second steamer is about to be placed upon Lake Titicaca, which is 12,000 feet above sea level in the Andes of Peru. The first steamer, which was built in England, was sent out piecemeal, and is now being reconstructed upon the shores of the lake.

SAVED FROM CURTAIN LECTURE.

Husband Well Knew the Weak Point of His Loved One.

"I heard W. K. Vanderbilt talk the last time I was abroad," said a Pittsburg man. "It was at the Grand hotel in Rome, and Mr. Vanderbilt dined at the table next to mine. He had just returned from a long trip in a motor car and his talk, naturally dealt with motoring in the main.

"Mr. Vanderbilt said that there were a good many points and woes incidental to motoring. Most of them, though, could be avoided by good management. He said he knew a man who had started with a friend on a week's tour in a big car and they had stayed two weeks because they enjoyed themselves so much.

"When finally they got back to town it was a Monday night and very late. Mr. Vanderbilt's friend, timid about his reception, went home and his wife received him as coldly as he had expected she would do. What he dreaded, though, was an explosion—an hour's wild scolding and upbraiding. As he talked he tried to think of some way to escape this explosion and finally an idea came to him.

"'I am so glad to be back here with you, dear,' he said. 'But I pity Smith. Poor old Smith!'

"'What is the matter with Smith?' said the lady sharply.

"'Ah, poor fellow,' said her husband. 'At this moment his wife is giving him the very old deuce.'

"The lady's manner softened. That wily speech got her husband off. She would not show herself a common scold, like Mrs. Smith."

The Dog Stayed.

A young business man of Harlem, who didn't love dogs, surprised his wife the other night by bringing home a disreputable looking, half-starved mongrel.

"Now, it's all right," he told her. "This dog is going to stay here, and I think when you hear the circumstances you won't object. About three blocks away from the house this dog deliberately stopped in front of me. The beast looked as if he had not eaten for days, never had a home and had been kicked and cuffed by nearly everyone. He looked at me in such an appealing way that I couldn't help stooping down and patting him once or twice on the head.

"I thought no more about the matter and continued on my way home. When I had gone a block or so I suddenly felt something cold and wet against my hand, and turning around, I saw this poor beast, out of gratitude for my having just patted him on the head, licking my hand.

"After this dog gets a few meals and a wash he will look very different from the way he looks now. Anyway, I want him to stay."

The dog stayed.—New York Sun.

The Heaven-Born.

Not into these dark cities,
These sordid marts and streets,
That the sun in his rising pities,
And the moon with sadness greets,
Does she, with her dreams and flowers,
For whom our hearts are dumb,
Does she of the golden hours,
Earth's heaven-born Beauty come.

Afar 'mid the hills she tarries,
Beyond the farthest streams,
In a world where music marries,
With color that blooms and beams;
Where shadow and light are wedded,
Whose children people the Earth,
The fair, the fragrant-headed,
The pure, the wild of birth.

Where Morn with rosy kisses
Wakes ever the eyes of Day,
And, winds in her radiant tresses,
Haunts every wildwood way;
Where Eve, with her mouth's twin roses,
Her kisses sweet with balm,
The eyes of the glad Day closes
And, crowned with stars, sits calm.

There, lost in contemplation
Of things no mortal sees,
She dwells, the incarnation
Of idealities;
Of dreams, that long have fired
Man's heart with joy and pain,
The far, the dear-desired,
Whom none shall e'er attain.
—Madison Cawein, in The Reader.

"Strictly Fresh Eggs."

"These are strictly fresh eggs?" asked Hiram Hazleby.

"Strictly! Positively! No possible doubt of it!" declared the groceryman.

But what interested Hiram was that upon one of the eggs was neatly written the name and address of "Mamie Duesenberry," and an invitation to whomever received the egg to write to her. Hiram wrote to the postmaster of the small Pennsylvania town instead. What information could the postmaster give him?

"Dear Mr. Hazleby—Miss Duesenberry was a charming young woman who was very successful in the poultry and egg line. She married and went out of the egg business three or four years ago."

"Oh, positively! Every egg guaranteed!" said the groceryman.—Judge.

And He Did.

They had not gone far from shore when the canoe upset and the young man and the merry maiden found themselves standing neck deep in water.

"Just what I was hoping for," said the young man, contentedly.

"Hoping for?" queried she, indignantly.

"Yes," replied he. "I heard you were at this summer resort and I came way down here on the sole hope of falling in with you."—Houston Post.

Trade With Japan.

Japan's purchases from the United States in the fiscal year just closed amounted to $51,724,726, an increase of $27,000,000 over 1904; her sales to the United States aggregated $52,113,372, an increase of $5,600,000. In the three years 1903, 1904 and 1905 the United States bought $142,000,000 worth of goods from Japan and paid the bill with $97,000,000 worth of American goods and $45,000,000 of American gold.

HORTICULTURE

Fruit Trees and Mice.

Every winter in some parts of the country great losses are experienced in the orchards by the ravages of mice. It is not unusual to take up a report from a state of the United States, or province of Canada and find numerous reports of the great havoc wrought by mice. We noticed a while ago a report from the province of Ontario. Among the reports were these, which were characteristic: From Glengary: "Thousands of fruit trees have been ruined by mice." From Carleton: "Ol' fruit trees are in fine condition, but young orchards have been almost destroyed by field mice." From Parry Sound: "Mice were very destructive last winter and did a lot of damage to young fruit trees." From Dufferin: "Fruit trees were badly peeled by mice during the winter." We might repeat numerous other reports of the same general character. Reports secured from various northern states of the Union frequently have a like tenor.

Losses from mice always occur on young trees, generally trees that are one or two years old. These little creatures can do a very great amount of damage because it requires but a very small damage to any one tree to kill it. The mice simply gnaw entirely around a tree at the snow line. They are after the young bark to satisfy their hunger. The space gnawed may not be more than an inch wide, but it means the doom of the tree. It is no wonder then that a whole orchard is sometimes wiped out in a single year by these young rodents. They are especially dangerous where straw or corn stalks have been placed around trees, as this makes a hiding place for the mice. Corn stalks are frequently put around trees to protect them from sun-scald in winter. The trees are saved from this injury, but instead are destroyed by the mice. Where mice are troublesome, the best way is to destroy all their hiding places in the orchards and adjoining fields. In the west we have few stone walls to act as protectors of the mice, and it is easier to prevent their ravages than in the eastern states where every farm orchard is protected on some side by a stone wall. Where the hiding places cannot be destroyed, some kind of tree protector will have to be used. One of the best of these is a shield made of laths bound together by wire. This is sunk into the ground around the tree before the soil freezes hard in the fall. The wire lath shield is inexpensive, and any man can make it. The wires are simply crossed between each two laths, and the spaces between any two laths must not be large enough to permit the rodents to cut through. We would like to hear from our readers as to their methods of protecting their orchards against mice.

Transpiration of Trees.

The transpiration of trees is the process of the tree taking the water up by its roots, passing it up through the trunk and branches and into the leaves, and evaporating it into the atmosphere. The amount of water thus transpired by trees is very great. Even the ordinary tree thus uses several barrels of water every day. There are many problems connected with this process that are only being studied and have not been solved. One of these is the power of trees to resist drouth. It would naturally be assumed that the tree that uses the least water can stand drouth the best. The actual tests of the matter, however, do not carry out this theory. One Russian experimenter found that while a maple tree was transpiring 289 pounds of water, an ash tree, from the same surface, transpired 399 pounds, 110 pounds more than the other. This was approximately 30 per cent. It is known, however, that ash trees stand drouth far better than maples. Groves of ash trees and maple trees that came under the observation of this Russian experimenter were subjected to very severe drouth conditions in the fall of 1902 and the spring of 1903. Nearly all of the maples died, while the ash trees continued their existence and developed normally during the summer and fall of 1903. This is of great importance to people living in the semi-arid districts. For some reason the trees using the greater amount of water are able to get that water from greater depths in the soil, and are able to hold up the cellular structure of the leaf with a less amount of water than others.—James Gordon, Anderson Co., Kas.

Brooder Houses.

A person should hesitate for a considerable time before going into the construction of a brooder house. It is very easy to sink several hundred dollars in such an enterprise, and the interest on such a sum is a matter that will weigh heavily as the years go by, if the money is borrowed. In the neighborhood of Chicago there are several small poultry farms where from $700 to $1,000 has been put into brooder houses. In some cases the people have tried one year to do something with broilers and have given it up. If a big brooder house is built, the owner must keep on using it year after year till he finds out how to make a profit out of it. A little brooder house is hard to arrange for, as it has to be heated by steam, and the smaller it is the more expensive is the heating per cubic foot of space.

Never Loses Its Strength

Always the Same

Calumet Baking Powder

Is Most Healthful, Wholesome and Economical

At Breakfast.

"Rather odd," remarked the fat border at breakfast.

"To what do you refer?" asked the landlady, suspiciously.

"This honey; I found a hair in it."

"It's strange," replied the landlady; "I purchased it for combed honey."—

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Food for Welsh Rabbits.

He was a recent recruit from Ireland's green turf and had secured his first position in a grocery store.

One day a customer approached the new clerk and inquired for some crumbled store cheese for a Welsh rabbit. After supplying the customer with the desired cheese, Pat inquired, "And, sure, is that Phawt yer feed them on?"—Lippincott's Magazine.

GOLD IN CEMETERIES.

Dentist Figures There Are Millions in Buried Fillings.

"I know where I could go, right here in this country, and dig up millions of dollars' worth of treasure," said a dentist.

"Where would I go? To our cemeteries. To the mouths of our dead. In the teeth of our dead enough gold is going to waste to enrich a small town.

"You have in your teeth $10 in gold. Your sister has $5. Your father and mother have each $7. And there are 90,000,000 people in America.

"Allow to each person's teeth a half dollar's worth of gold. You have then $45,000,000 hidden in our mouths. When we die this gold won't be extracted. It will be buried with us.

"To take the gold from the teeth of the dead before burial would be neither difficult nor gruesome. It would be a good idea to pass a law requiring all this gold, which does no good in the grave, to be removed after death and distributed in charity.—Chicago Chronicle.

GET POWER.

The Supply Comes From Food.

If we get power from food, why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by use of skillfully selected food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

Poor fuel makes a poor fire and a poor fire is not a good steam producer.

"From not knowing how to select the right food to fit my needs, I suffered grievously for a long time from stomach troubles," writes a lady from a little town in Missouri.

"It seemed as if I would never be able to find out the sort of food that was best for me. Hardly anything that I could eat would stay on my stomach. Every attempt gave me heart-burn and filled my stomach with gas. I got thinner and thinner until I literally became a living skeleton and in time was compelled to keep to my bed.

"A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I have kept up its use ever since. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed. All my unpleasant symptoms, the heart-burn, the inflated feeling which gave me so much pain disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 98 to 116 lbs., my figure rounded out, my strength came back and I am now able to do my housework and enjoy it. The Grape-Nuts food did it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A ten days' trial will show anyone some [illegible]

IN THE BEST OF HEALTH SINCE TAKING PE-RU-NA.

MRS LENA SMITH

IN POOR HEALTH.
PAINS IN BACK.
SICK HEADACHES.
PE-RU-NA CURED.

Mrs. Lena Smith, N. Cherry street, cor. Line, Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"I have had poor health for the past four years, pains in the back and groins, and dull, sick headache, with bearing down pains.

"A friend, who was very enthusiastic about Peruna insisted that I try it.

"I took it for ten days and was surprised to find that I had so little pain.

"I therefore continued to use it and at the end of two months my pains had totally disappeared.

"I have been in the best of health since and feel ten years younger. I am very grateful to you."

Catarrh of the internal organs gradually saps away the strength, undermines the vitality and causes nervousness. Peruna is the remedy.

Appropriate.

"Why in the world did you name your car the Scandal Monger?"

"It's always running people down."—Fort Worth Record.

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson Patent lawyers, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn.: Henry Arneson, Ruthton, Minn., chain belt; Arthur Ilstrup and J. Hedlund, St. Cloud, Minn., eraser cleaner; Andrew Johnson, Detroit City, Minn., clinometrical gague; Nels Nelson, Pennock, Minn., hay elevator; Andrew Robbins, Robinsvale, Minn., eyeglass holder; Arthur Smith, Bemidji, Minn.; washing machine; Everett Walston, Sioux Falls, S. D., fruit and vegetable slicer.

Give Him Ten.

Teacher (to smallest boy in class)—What well known animal supplies you with food and clothing?

Smallest Boy (after some thought)—My father.—Judge.

Auction Sale—Farm Lands.

20,000 acres, the best selection in Otter Tail County, Minnesota, of the Saint Paul & Chicago Railway Company's land grant, will be sold at auction in 40-acre tracts to the highest bidders, at Perham, October 25th, and at Parker's Prairie, October 28th, on better terms than those offered by the State of Minnesota. For lists and terms send to

J. A. NOWELL & CO.,
200-205 Globe Bldg., St. Paul, Minnesota.

Cotton Assets.

Whitney has just invented the cotton gin.

"No," he sighed, "there's more money in the cotton leak."

WHEAT

The movement of spring wheat to market is now in full swing and materially exceeds that of last year. The Canadian crop is being shipped in large quantities and exerts a heavy pressure on the absorbing power of foreign markets. Under these circumstances one would naturally look for a lower price level, but in spite of the free movement buying by outsiders has been of sufficient strength to give the market a rather stiff undertone.

We are looking for, and for some time have expected, that the pressure of new wheat would cause some decline, and with this idea in view we believe traders should be prepared to take advantage of bulges and hard spots to make sales for moderate turns.

The Canadian wheat crop, while large, is not so great an item as to dominate the permanent course of prices, but before its influence is spent it will probably prove of enough importance to depress prices in American markets to a point where good purchases may be made for a long pull. Our idea in counseling the selling side lately is based merely on temporary conditions.

Edwards-Wood Co.
(Incorporated)—Dealers In
STOCKS GRAIN PROVISIONS
Main Office—5th and Robert Sts.—St. Paul.

BEST BY TEST

"I have tried all kinds of waterproof clothing and have never found anything at any price to compare with your Fish Brand for protection from all kinds of weather."

(The name and address of the writer of this unsolicited letter may be had upon application)

Highest Award World's Fair, 1904.

A. J. TOWER CO.
Boston, U. S. A.

TOWER CANADIAN CO. LIMITED
Toronto, Canada

The Sign of the Fish
TOWER'S FISH BRAND

Makers of Warranted Wet Weather Clothing

DAIRY NOTES

Covered Yards for Dairy Cows.

There have always been some dairymen in the country that have kept their cows in open yards through the whole winter, the yards, however, being covered. This method of keeping cows has not been generally advocated by scientific dairymen, yet it possibly may be a good way in all sections of the country where the winters are not severe. By this we would mean sections of the country south of the Great Lakes. This experiment has now been carried out at the University of Illinois for several years, and Professor Fraser expresses his approval of it. The barnyard there that is covered is 30 by 68 feet. In this are kept 22 cows, which are always loose. The two outside entrances are nearly always open, and even in the ordinarily severe weather of winter one of these is always open. The only time when both entrances are closed is during the time of excessively cold weather or very high winds from the south. This barnyard is kept covered with straw, so that the cows always have straw to lie upon. Professor Fraser told the writer that he had repeatedly been out to this barnyard when the thermometer was far below zero and had found the cows lying, not back in the corners away from the wind, but near the entrance where they could get a draft. These cows are tied up whenever they are milked, and the short time they are in the stables makes it possible to keep the dairy barn in almost perfect condition. This system results in saving labor, and the cows seem more healthy and contented. It also results in working up a large amount of straw and other roughage into a condition where it can be applied to the land. Other dairymen with whom Mr. Fraser corresponded had tried this method, and eighteen spoke favorably of it. We do not know that any condemned it. We would not advise our readers to conclude at once that this is the best system of handling cows. We merely call attention to the fact that it is on trial. It is not safe to assume that any one system has all the advantages on its side. We think, however, that if it be proved that this system is a fairly good one, it may greatly change our methods of handling dairy cows and performing dairy work.

Use of Preservatives by Australians.

While the United States and most European countries have been passing laws relative to the restriction of the use of boracic acid and other boron preservatives, as well as salicylic acids in butter, the Australians have been persistently using them and exporting their butter to foreign countries. England, perhaps, has the weakest laws regarding the use of these preservatives, and it has perhaps been fortunate for the Australians that nearly all of their butter went to England. But the English government has commenced to pass laws restricting the use of preservatives. A recent law there passed declares that butter is adulterated if it contains more than one-half per cent of boric acid. The government of Natal has passed a law prohibiting the use of boric acid in excess of 3-14 of one per cent. A batch of Australian butter was some months ago imported to the United States, but was refused entrance, as it contained boric acid. It should be clear to the Australians that they will have to learn some way of preserving their butter by cold while it is being transported to England rather than by the use of preservatives.

Ensilage Versus Turnips.

From some of our foreign exchanges we learn that in New Zealand a great many turnips are being grown and fed to the dairy cows. On some farms the cows are turned into the turnip patches and are allowed to graze the tops. This is a convenient way of "topping" the turnips, as it saves all expense. The turnips are then dug, are washed and saved for winter's use, that use being to feed dairy cattle. The result is a great deal of complaint from cheese factory men and butter makers in regard to the turnip flavor in the milk. In some parts of New Zealand the authorities are urging the dairy farmers to go into the production of silage to take the place of roots. There is no doubt that the use of the silo would do away with much of the trouble the New Zealanders are having, with their cheese especially. Silage, if properly made and used, never taints the milk.

Dairying with Silage.

The dairy farmer who undertakes to carry his operations through the winter without silage has uphill work all the time. The prosperous dairy farmer seeds down twenty or twenty-five acres every year, keeps his straw under cover and grows a good field of corn for silage every year. The solution of the question of making cheap milk lies in the silo, for good corn silage is undoubtedly the best and cheapest milk-producing food that has yet been grown. To get best results it must be made from well matured corn, and intelligently fed. The cutting is very important, more so than most people imagine. In the first place good, well-built cutters must be employed, for after the corn is cut in the field it should be put through the cutter and into the silo as rapidly as possible. The shorter the lengths are cut the closer they pack in the silo, hence use a machine which has ample capacity to do the cutting in short lengths and do it fast. Just keep in mind that you are handling green stuff, with the object of putting it up green. It is no trick to make good silage—here is the recipe: Cut the corn when the kernels are well glazed; fill the silo as rapidly as possible; cut the stalks into pieces, say an inch long—shorter would be better; tramp down the corners well; see that the silo is perfectly air-tight—then you have it.—L. C. Brown.

Dairy Butter Makers.

In a few localities there have been formed associations of farmers and farmers' wives engaged in the making of butter. More of these associations could be formed with great profit. The state of farm butter making does not change as rapidly as does creamery butter making, for less talk is being made about it and fewer improved utensils are used. The state dairy associations have nearly all of them become in reality associations of creamery butter makers. It is the interests of creamery butter that are discussed and not the interests of farm butter making. This is natural, as the farmers do not turn out to attend these conventions, while the creamery men do. The latter appreciate more than the others the advantages of conferring about their mutual interests. Local dairy associations should be formed, and they should be true to name.

Warm Stables.

We believe in warm stables, but we also believe in ventilated ones. Warmth and ventilation can go together just as cold and lack of ventilation can go together. The cold stable is not necessarily a well-ventilated one. Some of the coldest stables I have ever seen had almost no ventilation at all. The entrance of cold does not always mean the entrance of air. The stable may be built of very thin boards through which the cold would quickly pass, but through which no air could pass. Stables should be built with thick walls, with air spaces or double air spaces if possible, and then arrangements should be made by which there can be a continual supply of pure air and the foul airs constantly pushed out. Under a proper arrangement of ventilating tubes, the air that the cow breathes will be always pure.—Lemuel James, Bond Co., Ill., in Farmers' Review.

Some Illinois Milk.

From some of the smaller towns of Illinois are coming complaints of the condition of the milk supply. The milk supplied to most of the larger cities is fairly good because each city has its milk inspectors who see that the milk produced and sold is fit for human consumption. Many of the smaller cities and towns do not feel able to support corps of officers for the purpose of enforcing the milk ordinances. As a result, not only is milk adulterated by water, but chemical preservatives are used. The most injurious of all these preservatives, formaldehyde, is being extensively used. As yet the dairy and food commission of Illinois has made little effort to improve the supply of this article of food. In some of the larger places, like Kankakee and Galesburg, companies are being organized for the purpose of securing a better milk supply.—Farmers' Review.

Creamery Sharks.

This is a term that has been used in this country for the last twenty years to signify men that go out and induce the farmers to put up creameries, buying the material from them and at double prices. The building of a $2,000 creamery for $4,000 is an easy matter and it leaves a good profit in their hands. The business is not so profitable as it used to be, for the farmers are becoming quite fully educated along the line of the cost of constructing creameries. Moreover, farmers are ceasing to believe that it is profitable to erect creameries in places where there are few cows. Another thing that is against the creamery shark is the fact that much of the ground has been worked over by other creamery sharks and the game spoiled. There is not the profit in this kind of work there was twenty years ago.

Fads in Poultry Raising.

The popularity of some birds is in the nature of a fad. By a fad we mean something that is carried on for itself, and not because it has any utility. Thus a certain strain of birds may be bred for a certain number of points in the comb. Now whether there are many or few points in the comb has no effect from any standpoint. It does not increase its value or its beauty. If it increased the beauty of the bird, it would not be a fad. If, however, one follows the production of certain colors merely because some one else has followed the same, he is following a fad. The value of some birds on the market depends upon the color of certain plumage. We believe, however, that the public is paying less attention to this than formerly, and that the future fancier will find less money in catering to fads than he has in the past. The poultry world seems gradually tending toward utilitarianism.

A Historical Carpet.

A curious carpet has lately been manufactured at Caesarea. It is a representation of the battle of Trafalgar, depicting that moment in the engagement when Nelson received his fatal wound. The carpet, which is entirely of silk, is 7 feet by 6 feet, and took two girls fourteen months to weave. It was sold for £400.

DEATH SEEMED NEAR.

How a Chicago Woman Found Help When Hope Was Fast Fading Away.

Mrs. E. T. Gould, 914 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are all that saved me from death of Bright's Disease, that I know. I had eye trouble, backache, catches when lying abed or when bending over, was languid and often dizzy and had sick headaches and bearing-down pains. The kidney secretions were too copious and frequent, and very bad in appearance. It was in 1903 that Doan's Kidney Pills helped me so quickly and cured me of these troubles and I've been well ever since."

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists. Price, 50 cents per box.

That Photograph.

"What's the matter with my watch? It won't shut up!" said the customer.

"There's probably a woman in the case," was the jeweler's reply—Detroit Free Press.

THOUSANDS OF LIVES SAVED

By "Mother's Medicine Chest" and Patent Prescriptions.

Commenting on attacks made by certain Eastern publications on some of the best known and most valuable of the world's proprietary medicines, the Committee on Legislation of the Proprietary Association says:

"All through the country districts, in every state of the Union, you will find in the farm houses the old family remedies, sometimes called 'patent medicines,' many of which have been in use in the same household for generations. Among such people the old-fashioned proprietary medicine, always at hand with full printed instructions for use, is one of the necessities of life.

"To families in the country many miles from a doctor such remedies are invaluable. 'Mother's medicine chest' has saved many a life and met many a threatening sickness at the threshhold and turned it out of doors. So far from constituting self-prescription, as is often pretended, acquaintance with a 'patent medicine' often obviates the necessity of such a step; for here is a prescription already made up, the effect of which is well known. One of the greatest advantages of such medicine is that its constant formula gives it the character of a single drug, so far as uniformity of result is concerned, and the people who use it know from experience just what they can count on—which is more than can be said of many physician's prescriptions frequently obtained at a far greater cost and trouble."

No Two Ways About It.

"That's the Widow Clingly. Her husband couldn't live with her."

"Nonsense! They were a most devoted couple."

"He couldn't live with her, I tell you. If he could, he wouldn't be dead, would he?"

Perish the Thought.

He—Let's go into the conservatory.

She—Oh, dear, no.

He—Why not?

She—Among all those rubber plants? Not much.—Houston Chronicle.

CHRONIC ERYSIPELAS

Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Although Whole Body was Affected.

Erysipelas or St. Anthony's fire is a most uncomfortable disease on account of the burning, the pain and the disfigurement; it is also a very grave disorder, attended always by the danger of involving vital organs in its spread.

The case which follows will be read with great interest by all sufferers as it affected the whole body, and refused to yield to the remedies prescribed by the physician employed. Mrs. Ida A. Colbath, who was the victim of the attack, residing at No. 19 Winter street, Newburyport, Mass., says:

"In June of 1903 I was taken ill with what at first appeared to be a fever. I sent for a physician who pronounced my disease chronic erysipelas and said it would be a long time before I got well.

"Inflammation began on my face and spread all over my body. My eyes were swollen and seemed bulging out of their sockets. I was in a terrible plight and suffered the most intense pain throughout my body. The doctor said my case was a very severe one. Under his treatment, however, the inflammation did not diminish and the pains which shot through my body increased in severity. After being two months under his care, without any improvement, I dismissed him.

"Shortly after this, on the advice of a friend, I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, two at a dose three times a day. After the second box had been used I was surprised to notice that the inflammation was going down and that the pains which used to cause me so much agony had disappeared. After using six boxes of the pills I was up and around the house attending to my household duties as well as ever."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or may be obtained direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Women base their ideas of justice on having others do as they think should be done.

OLD WOOD FOR VIOLINS.

Manufacturers Buy Wreckage From the Lippincott Mansion.

The old wood in the Lippincott mansion has been secured by musical instrument makers, who claim that they have found a treasure in that the wood is not only seasoned, but is of a kind that it is almost impossible to get nowadays. One of the foremost violin makers of this country made the discovery that the joists in the yellow mansion were of a quality of spruce wood, now extinct, that is of rare quality for the rim and back of violins. He got a monopoly on the old wood, and while the wreckers were tearing down the house he employed detectives to watch his prize. Other violin makers soon learned of the fine quality of the wood, and they endeavored to get some of it, only to learn that their alert competitor had purchased it all. The violin makers say that the joists are unusually thick and that the spruce is of the finest quality that has been found in this country. They claim that nothing to equal it for violin making has been found in America, and that with proper skill some high-priced instruments will be made of it.—Philadelphia Record.

Not a Case for Hanging.

During a celebrated murder trial in New York city two Irishmen were among the many interested spectators.

"Sure the evidence will convict the prisoner," remarked one.

"Not only convict him, but will hang him," returned the other.

"Man alive! They don't hang murderers in New York!"

"Well, what do they do with them?"

"Kill them with electrocution."—

Not in Daylight.

"But you are not always bothered with poor light, are you?" inquired the complaint clerk at the gas office.

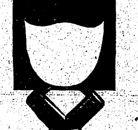
"Oh, no, not always," replied the quiet citizen.

"Ah! I thought so; it's only at certain times that you notice it, eh?"

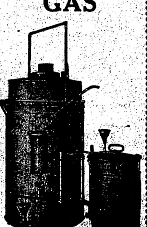
"Yes; only after dark."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A girl is never satisfied until she draws her beau into a knot.

ARTIFICIAL SUNLIGHT



ACETYLENE GAS



PILOT Automatic Generators can be installed at small cost in any home, large or small, anywhere. Acetylene Gas is cheaper than kerosene, brighter than electricity, safer than either.

Full particulars FREE for the asking.

Acetylene Apparatus Mfg. Co.,
157 Michigan Ave., Chicago

Kemp's Balsam

Will stop any cough that can be stopped by any medicine and cure coughs that cannot be cured by any other medicine.

It is always the best cough cure. You cannot afford to take chances on any other kind.

KEMP'S BALSAM cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, grip, asthma and consumption in first stages.

Mothers Are Helped

THEIR HEALTH RESTORED

Happiness of Thousands of Homes Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's Advice.

A devoted mother seems to listen to every call of duty excepting the supreme one that tells her to guard her health, and before she realizes it some derangement of the female organs has manifested itself, and nervousness and irritability take the place of happiness and amiability.

Mrs. Ph. Hoffman

Tired, nervous and irritable, the mother is unfit to care for her children, and her condition ruins the child's disposition and reacts upon herself.

The mother should not be blamed, as she, no doubt, is suffering with backache, headache, bearing-down pains or displacement, making life a burden.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing cure for this condition. It strengthens the female organs and permanently cures all displacements and irregularities.

Such testimony as the following should convince women of its value:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I suffered for eight years with ovarian troubles. I was nervous, tired and irritable, and it did not seem as though I could stand it any longer, as I had five children to care for. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and it has entirely cured me. I cannot thank you enough for your letter of advice and for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me.—Mrs. Ph. Hoffman, 100 Himrod Street, Brooklyn, N. Y."

Mrs. Pinkham advises sick women free. Address, Lynn, Mass.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN

W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
ALL STYLES
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

Established July 6, 1876.

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

Save $10.- Per Cow
EVERY YEAR OF USE
Over All Gravity Setting Systems
And $3. to $5. Per Cow
Over All Imitating Separators.

Now is the time to make this most important and profitable of dairy farm investments. Send at once for new 1905 catalogue and name of nearest agent.

THE DE LAVAL SEPARATOR CO.
Randolph & Canal Sts., CHICAGO
74 Cortlandt Street, NEW YORK

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES
For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.
Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.
The R. Paxton Company Boston, Mass.

ESTABLISHED [illegible]
MINNEAPOLIS. Woodward & Co., Grain Commission, DULUTH.
ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS.

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Sept. 8, 1905.

Pursuant to the call of the County Auditor dated August 19, 1905, the Board of County Commissioners met at the Court House at 9 o'clock a. m.

Present, Commisrioners Sutor, Demann, Johnson and Shaw.

Absent, Commissioner Falardeau.

The petition of the Board of Trustees of the Village of Plummer for County Ditch No. 22 was read and the arguments of all persons interested or affected by the construction of said ditch were heard.

On motion duly carried a recess was taken till 1 o'clock p. m.

1 o'clock p. m. board reconvened.

Present Commissionors Sutor, Demann, Johnson and Shaw.

The hearing on the petition for County Ditch No. 22 was resumed.

The report of the viewers in the matter was refered back to them for correction and they subbmitted a corrected report reducing the benefits to be derived from the construction of said ditch from $12,182.37 to $12,030.42. Their report was accepted by the board and on motion made by Commissioner Sutor and carried unanimously the ditch was ordered established and the following order was made:

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake. } ss

In the matter of the petition of the petition of the Board of Trustees of the Village of Plummer, for a public ditce in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota.

The above entitled matter came on duly to be heard by and before the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, at a special meeting of said board duly called for the purpose of hearing and considering the petition for said ditch in the above entitled matter, on the 8th day of September, A. D. 1905 at nine o'clock a. m. of said day; and it appearing by proper evidence that due notice had been given of the pendency of said petition and of said time of hearing thereon and that J. K. Wood, the civil engineer appointed by this board to survey the the route of said ditch, has completed his wsrk and duly filed his report thereon in the office of the county auditor of said county and that the viewers appointed by said board to view and repsrt upon said work have duly completed their labors and made and filed their report in due form of law in the office of said county auditor, the said board of county commissioners did at the time above specified, proceed to hear said petitton and said viewers report thereon: and said board having duly considered said petition and heard all the parties interested for or against the construction of said ditch and all other maters pertaining thereto, find as follows to-wit:

First: That the said ciuil engineer has completed his work and made and filed his report thereon in all reseects according to law.

Second: That the said viewers appointed herein heve duly completed thier labors and have made and fied their report thereon according to law.

Third: That the estimated benefits to be derived from the construction of said work are greater than its total cost, including damages awarded.

Fourth: That the damages and benefits arising from the construction of said ditch have been duly awarded and assessed, and that said reports of said engineer and said viewers are complete and correct.

Fifth: That notice of this hearing of said petition of said viewers report and said engineer's report has been duly given, published and posted and mailed as by law required, and that proofs of said service have been duly made and filed in the office of the county auditer of said county.

Now therefore, as conclusions from the foregoing findings, we, the board of county commissioners of the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, at said special session of said board held at the time above specified, being satisfied that the proposed ditch will be of public utility and conductive to public health and public benefit and convenience, and that the same is necessary for the reasons stated in the petition therefor, do hereby locate and establish the said ditch according to the report and the specifications of said civil engineer made and filed herein, and do hereby establish and confirm the report of the viewers made and filed herein.

It is further ordered, that the damages awarded to the persons and corporations named in the viewers report herein, in excess of benefits, be paid out of the county treasury of said county on warrants to be drawn and attested by the auditor of said county and signed by the chairman of this board of county commissioners; and that said warrant be issued at the expiration of the time for appeal from this order in favor of snch persons and corporrtionr as shall not have then appealed and shall be dated and become due and payable immediately after the letting of the contracts for the construction of the ditch herein referred to: and that in case of appeal from this order, or in case of any postponement or delay in determining the amount of damaffes due to any persons or corporations, the warrant in favor of such persons or corporations shall not be issued until the final determination thereof.

Given under our hrnds this 8th day of September, A. D. 1905.

By the board.

O. J. JOHNSON,
Chm. Board of Counto Commissioners.

(Seal)

Attest: JAMES E. FGRD.
Co. Auditor and Ex-officio Clerk of Board.

The petition of Aug. Konikson and others praying for the construction of a drainage ditch along the following route;

Commencing at the southwest corner of section 12 in township 151, range 43, thence running north on the section line to the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 12 in said town, thence running west on the quartar line to about the center of section 11, thence south to the southeast corner of section 22 in said town and range, was placed before the board and on motion carried unanimousiy the following resolution appointing an engineer to survey the route of said proposed ditch was adopted:

In the matter of the petition of Aug. Konikson and others for locating and coustructing county ditch No. 23, in the county of Red Lrke, state of Minnesota,

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake, } ss

Whereas, a petition, bearing date the seventh day of August 1905, signed by Aug. Konikson, John Westerland, Andrew Ydstie, Christ Christensen, Sjur Mikklkson and Sophia Christopherson, praying for the establishment of a certain drainage ditch in said county, designated and numbered by the county auditor as county ditch No. 23, the route of which is more fully described in said petition, and a proper bond accompaning the same, have been filed with the county and itor of said county as by law required.

And whereas, it appears by satisfactory proof to the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, that due notice of the pendency of said petition, and the time and place at which the same would be heard, has been given as required by law:

Now, therefore, we, the board of county commistioners of said county at a special session held this day, do herebp appoint James K. Wood as a competent and experienced engineer to make an accurate survey of the line of said drainage ditch from its source to its outlet, as provided and specified in and by Chapter 230 of the general laws of 1905, and after completing his duties as such engineer to make and file his report with the county auditor of said county on or before the thirtieth day of September, 1905.

By the Board.

(Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Clm. Board Co. Com'rs. of Red Lake Co.

Atthst: JAMEL E. FORD,
County Auditor

The petition of A. T. Gorden and others praying for the construction of a drainage ditch along the following described route:

Commencing at or near the southwest corner of section 6 in township 151, range 42, running thence north on the range line between ranges 42 and 43, to the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 36 in township 152, range 43, thence west on the quarter section line through sections 36, 35, 34, 33 and 32 in township 152, range 43 to a point near the center of said section 32 where the Red Lake River crosses the said quarter section line.

Also a branch ditch, commencing at the northeast corner of section 36 in township 152, range 43, running thence south on the range line to the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 36 in said town and rangs and terminating at the main ditch as its outlet, was placed before the board and on motion carried unanimously the following resolution appointing an engineer to survey the ronte of said proposed ditch was adopted:

In the matter of the petition of A. T. Gorden and others for locating and constructing county ditch No. 24 in the state of Minnesota, county of Red Lake.

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake, } ss

Whereas, a petition beasing date, the fourth day of August, 1905, signed by A. T. Gorden, C.C. Bergan, C. A. Swadson, Andrew Johnson, John G. Anderson, Peter Hogquist, Nick Holten, F. A Satterberg, Adolph Satterberg, Anna Fangstrom, A. Gorden and Sulius Pleth, praying for the establishment of a certain drainage ditch in said county, designated and numbered by the county auditor of said county as county ditch No. 24, the route of which is more fully described in said petition, and a proper bond accompanying the same, have been filed with the county auditer as by law required.

And, whereas, it appears by satisfactory proof to the boare of county commissioners of Red Lake county, that due notice of the pendency of said petition and the time and place at which the same would be heard, has been given as required by law.

Now, therefore, we the board of county commissioners of said county at a special session held this day do hereby appoint James K. Wood as a competent add experienced engineer to make an accurate survey of said drainage ditch from its source to its outlet as provided and specified in and by Chapter 230 of the seneral laws of 1905, and after completing his duties ss such engineer to make and ole his report with the county auditor of said county on or before the 30th day of September, 1905.

By the Board.

Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Chm. Boerd Co. Com'rs. of Red Lake Co.

Attest: JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor.

On motion made and carried unanimously the board proceeded to appoint viewers to view the proposed route of county ditch No. 23 and the following order was made:

In the matter of the petition of Aug. Konikson and otheas for county ditch No. 23 in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake, } ss

Whereas, a petition bearing date the seventh day of August, 1905, signed by Aug. Konikson, John Westerlund, Andrew Ydstie, Christ Christensen, Sjur Mikkleson and Sophia Christopherson, praying for the establishment of a ditch in said county, designated and numbered by the county auditor as county ditch No. 23 the route of which is fully described in said petition, together with a proper bond accompanying the same, has been filed with the county auditor of said county, and the county auditor has given due notice of the pendency of said petition, and the said notice has been published and served as by law required; and hearing had on said petition pursuant to said notice; and the said county commissioners of said county have heretofore appointed a compatent engineer to-wi James K. Wood to make a survey of said ditch.

Now, therefore, we, the board of county commissioners of said county, at a special session held this day, do hereby appoint Gilbert Haavi and Otto Zaiser and Daniel Peterson, three resident frehholders of said county, who are not interested in the construction of said proposed work and not of kin to any of the parties known to be interested therein, to be viewers of the said proposed work and of the route thereof. The said viewers shall first take an oath to faithfully perform their duties as such viewers; and thereafter having received a certified copy of the petition for said ditch and of the order appointing them such viewers and of the order of the county auditor of said county designating the time and place of the first meeting of said viewers, shall meet and at the time and place specified, in the order of the county auditor aforesaid and shall proceed to view said proposed work, and the land damaged or benefitted thereby; and having completed said view and examination of said work, shall make and file their report thereof with said county auditor of said county within thirty days from the date of their first meeting. In said report they shall in tabular form give the names of the owners of each tract of land to be benefitted or damaged by said proposed work, the description of each tract of land to be benefitted or damaged (said names of owners to be the same as appear on the county tax duplicates of said county, and the description to be given in legal form) and the total number of acres in each of said tracts, the (etimated number of acres in each tract of land to be benefitted or damaged (as the case may be), the number of acres added to any tract by the totul or partial drainage of any meandered lake, or the change of any water course and the location and value of such added land; the damage if any, to reparain rights pertaining to any tract, and the amount that each tract of land will be benefitted or damaged by the construction of said work. In case said ditch drains, either in whole or in part, any public or corporate road or railroad, or benefits any such road so that the roadbed or traveled track of any such road will be made better by the construction of said ditch, said viewers shall estimare the benefits arising therefrom to said roads, roadbeds, or railroads and report said benefits, together with the names of roads and other particulars necessary to identify the corporations, private or public, to be benefitted thereby, and amounts of benefits to each; they shall report as such part of such tabular statement the damages awarded to each municipal or other corporation for injury to any road, or roadbed ann from the necessary construction and maintainance of any bridge, culverts or other works rendered necessary by the establishment of such ditch, stating the same seperately. They shall also report the total estimated benefits in respects to said ditch entire, and branches thereof, if any, and also whether or not, in their opinion, the estimated expense of the construction of said ditch including the damages assessed therefor, is greater than the utility of said proposed ditch; and whether or not said proposed ditch is impractible for any reason, and, if so, stating the reason why it should not be constructed. In making said view and survey of said proposed work and their report thereon, the said viewers shall proceed according to chapter 230 of the general laws of 1905.

The board of county commissioners of Red Luke cotnty, Minnesota.

(Seal] By O. J. JOHNSON, Chairman.

Dated this 8th day of September, A. D. 1905.

Attest: JAMES E. FORD, County Auditor.

The board proceeded to appoint viewers to view the proposed route of county ditch No. 24 and on motion carried unanimously the following order was made:

In the matter of the petition of A. T. Gorden and others for county ditch No. 24 in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Loke, } ss

Whereas, a petition bearing date the fourth day of August A. D. 1905 signed by A. T. Gorden, C. C. Bergen, C. A. Swanson, Andrew Johnson, John G. Anderson, Peter Hogquist, Nick Holten, P. A Satterberg, Anna Fangstrom, A. Gorden and Julius Pleth praying for the establishment of a ditch in soid county, designated and numbered by th ecounty auditor as county ditch No 24 the route of which is fully described in said petition, together with a proper bond accompanying the same, has beed filed with the county auditor of said county: and said county auditor has given due notice of the pendency of said petition, ond the said notice has been published and served as required by law; and hearing had on said petition pursuant to said notice; and the said county commissioners of said county have duly appoinfed a competent engineer, towit Jas. K. Wood, to make a survey of said ditch.

Now therefore, we, the board of county commissioners of said county, at a special session held this day, do hereby appoint Gilbert Haavi, and Otto Zeiser and Daniel Peterson, three resident freehoiders of said county, who are not interested in the construction of said proposed work, and not of kin to any of the parties known to be interested therein, to be viewers of said proposed work and of the route thereof. The said viewers shall first take an oath to faithfully perform their duties as such qiewers; and therefore, having received a certified copy of the petition of said ditch and of the order appointing them such viewers and of the order of the county auditor of said county designating the time and place of the first meeting of said viewers, shall meet, at the time and place specified, in the order, of the county auditor aforesaid and shall proceed to view said proposed wopk, and the land benefitted or damaged thereby; and having completed said view and examination of said work, shall make and file their report thereof with said county auditor of said county within thirty days from the date of their first meeting. In said report they shall in tabular form gives the names of the owners of each tract of land so benefitted or damaged by said proposed work, the description of each tract so benefitteh or damaged (said names of owners to be the same as appear on the county tax duplicates of said county, and the description to be given in legal form), and the total number of acres in each of said tracts, the estimated number of acres in each tract of land to he benefitted or damaged (as the case may be), the number of acres added to any taact by the total or partail drainage of any meandered lake, or the change of any water course and the location and value of such added land; the damage if any, to riparain rights pertaining to any tract, and the amount that each tract of land will be benefitted or damaged by the construction of said work. In case said ditch drains, either in whole or in part, any public or corporate road or railroad, or benefits any such road so that the roadbed or traveled track of any such track will be made better by the construction of said ditch, said viewers shall estimate the behefits arising therefrom to said road, roadbeds or railroads and report satd benefits, together with the names of roads and other particulars necessary to identify the corporations, private or public, to be benefitted thereby and amounts of benefits to each; they shall reporr as part of such tabular statemont the damages awarded to each municipal or other corporation for injurp to any road or roaebed, and from the necessary construction and maintainance of any bridge, culverts, or other works rendered necessary for the establishment of such a ditch, stating the same separately. They shall also report the total estimated benefits in respect to said ditch entire, and brancees thereof, if any, and also whether or not in their opinion, the estimated expense of the construction of said ditch including the damages assessed therefor, is greater than the utility of said proposed ditoh; and whether or not said proposed ditch is impractible for any reason, and if so, stating the reason why why it should not be coastructed. In making srid view and survey of said proposed work and their report thereon, the said viewers shall proceed according to Chapter 230 of the general laws of 1905.

The board of county commissoners of Red Lake county, Minnesota.

(Seal) By O. J. JOHNSON, Chairman.

Dated this eighth day of September, 1955.

Attest: JAMES E. FORD, Counry Auditor.

(Continued next week.)

SYRACUSE EASY
MADE BY DODGE & ZUILL
PAT. MAR. 1898
SYRACUSE, N.Y.

Save the Clothes

BY USING A Syracuse "EASY" Washing Machine

No Friction, Wear or Tear with the "Easy"

By our method there is no rubbing and no wear possible. You can do your washing in less time and do it easier than with the old style wooden washers. Our list of satisfied users numbers 81. If you want to know about the "Easy" ask your neighbor or get one on trial, If you are not perfecfly satisfied we take it back.

Price $8.00

FRANK E. HUNT
Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

Ayer's Pills The dose is one, just one pill at bedtime. Sugar-coated, mild, certain. They cure constipation. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Use BUCKINGHAM'S DYE

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence Co., N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medecinc and remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of the terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night and passed a brick dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." A. L. Reichert.

Notice to Threshers.

Any owner or manager of traction engines crossing any bridge or culvert, in the township of Terrebonne who neglects to protect said bridge or culvert by planks as provided by law will pe held responsible for all damage as provided by chap. 151, Law of 1895.

LOUIS PARENTEAU,
Chairman Supervisors.

A New Atlas

of the Northwestern, Western and Middle Western states with maps of the island possessions, Japan, China, United States, and the world, has just been issued by the Northern Pacific Railway jointly with the Burlington Route and the Great Northern Railway. It treats of boundaries, history, population, statistics, school population, state institutions, families, farm, manufactures, railway mileage, postoffices, minerals, and state goverments of each commonwealth traversed by the railways mentioned. A mine of valuable information for $1.00. A. M. Cleland, General Passenger Agent, Northern Pacific Railway, St. Paul, Minn.

Order to Examine Accounts.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Red Lake. }
IN PROBATE COURT
Special Term, September 20, 1905.

In the matter of the estate of Matilda A. Hall, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Andrew P. Hanson, administrator of the estate of Matilda A. Hall, deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is ordered that said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Tuesday, the 17th day of October, A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office, in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, the 20th day of September, A. D. 1905.

By the Court.

(Seal) N. W. TARRANT,
s21-05 Judge of Probate.

Summons.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Red Lake, }

In District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

Berget Stolass, plaintiff, vs. Anna O. Anderson, formerly Anna O. Skaali, and Ludvig Anderson, her husband, and E. G. Skaali, defendants.

SUMMONS.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants:

You and each of you are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which said complaint has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint upon the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, Polk county, Minnesota, within twenty days after the service of this Summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated September 18th, 1905.

E. O. HAGEN,
s21-026 Attorney for plaintiff,
Crookston, Minnesota.
Rooms 10, 11, 27, Wallace Blk

Sale of Ditching Jobs.

Notice is hereby given, that on the seventh day of October, 1905, at one o'clock p. m., at the office of the County Auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, Minnesota, I will sell the jobs of digging and constructing the Ditch No. 22 of Red Lake county, established by the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake county, state of Minnesota, by their order bearing date the eight day of September, 1905, viz: For the work as one job, and also for one or more sections of 100 feet each, and also for one or more of tqe constructien jobs, each of said sections to be known and numbered by stakes as shown by the report of the Engineer in said matter, commencing at the one including the outlet, and from thence, successively, up stream to the one including the source, said sections being numbered from 0 to No. 195, both inclusive, to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, and that bids are invited for said work; said work to be completed within the time required, and in the manner specified, in said Engineer's report. And no bid will be entertained which exceeds more than thirty (30) per cent, over and above the estimate cost of the construction, in any case, as stated in the said order: and the successful bidder will be required to give a satisfactory bond, to be approved by the Auditor of said county, with two freehold sureties, for the faithful performance and fulfillment of his contract, and to pay all damages that may accure by reason of his failure to complete the job within the time required in the contract. The said order estimates and profile are on file and may be seen at my office.

The approximate amount of work to be done in the construction of such ditch is as follows:

The excavation and removal of 36,024 cubic yards of earth, the seme to be placed along the north side of the ditch so as to form a turnpike or, grade and the same to be left in a suitable condition for public traffic from Station No. 0 to 177 inclusive. From Station No. 178 to Station No. 195 inclusive the earth removed may be deposited on each side of the ditch in spoil banks as provided in the plans and specifications of the engineer. The estimated cost of the work is fourteen cents per yard. The estimated total cost of the work is Five Thousand Forty-three and 36-100 Dollars.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Auditor of said County for not less than ten per cent of the amount of each bid.

The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

Dated September 12, 1905.

(Seal) JAMES E. FORD.
s14-28 County Red Lake Co., Minn.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

A. P. TOUPIN,
Real Estate, Loans, Insurance
Special attention given to collections. Represents the best lines of insurance companies.
Office Second Floor, Hunt Block.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Merchants State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

TIME CARD —OF— TRAINS.
RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 a m
SOUTH-BOUND
No. 156—Departs	6:05 p m

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan. Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.
F. A. MIZEN, Agent.

The Courier Stationery Store has a lineof new box papers.

SCROFULA A Disease We Inherit

The tainted blood of ancestors lays upon the shoulders of innocent offspring untold suffering, by transmitting to them, through the blood, that blighting disease, Scrofula; for in nearly every instance the disease can be traced to some family blood trouble, or blood-kin marriage which is contrary to the laws of nature. Swelling, ulcerating glands of the neck, catarrh, weak eyes, sores, abscesses, skin eruptions, white swelling, hip disease and other deformities, with a wasting of the natural strength and vitality, are some of the ways this miserable disease manifests itself. The poison transmitted through the blood pollutes and weakens that health-sustaining fluid and in place of its nutritive qualities fills the circulation with scrofulous matter and tubercular deposits, often resulting in consumption. A disease which has been in the family blood for generations, perhaps, or at least since the birth of the sufferer, requires constitutional treatment. S. S. S. is the remedy best fitted for this. It cleanses the blood of all scrofulous and tuberculous poisons, makes it rich and pure and under the tonic effects of this great blood medicine the general health improves, the symptoms all pass away, there is a sure return to health, the disease is cured permanently while posterity is protected. Book on the blood and any advice wished, furnished by our physicians, without charge.

Scrofula appeared on the head of my little grandchild when only 18 months old, and spread rapidly over her body. The disease next attacked the eyes and we feared she would lose her sight. It was then that we decided to try S. S. S. That medicine at once made a speedy and complete cure. She is now a young lady, and has never had a sign of the disease to return.
150 S. 5th St., Salina, Kan. MRS. R. BERKLY.

SSS

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat

THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..

Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel . . . Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.

Strictly First-Class In Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

Boiling Water in a Reservoir

It's something that's hard to do when the reservoir is on the right hand side because it's too far from the fire, takes too much fuel to do it. But, when the reservoir is right next to the fire pot, it's a mighty easy job and don't take much fuel either. Then on the Majestic we have a lever that by turning throws the reservoir away from the fire so that there is never any danger of the water boiling all away and spoiling your reservoir.

If you are going to need a range, don't look too much at the price, the Majestic is not the cheapest, but the least expensive.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

WELL DIGGING..

I will dig wells by the day, foot or job and guarantee satisfaction on every job. Repairing a specialty. [illegible] Leave orders at [illegible]

[illegible] Minnesota

St. Benedict's Academy....

ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.

A School for Girls with which is connected a [illegible] [illegible]

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VII—NO. 52. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1905. WHOLE NO. 364.

TAXES ARE EQUALIZED.

State Board Takes a Parting Shot at the Tax-payer.

The state board of equalization completed its work Tuesday, and the result as affecting Red Lake county is given below. The figures given are are all increases, which means a raise in the assessment of about 25 per cent. over the figures as left by the county board of review.

Horses and Mules, one year old—25 per cent.,
Horses and Mules, two years old—20 per cent.
Horses and Mules, three years old—25 per cent.
Horses and Mules, over three years old—100 per cent.
Cattle, one year old—125 per cent.
Cattle, two years old—50 per cent.
Cattle, three years old and over—500 per cent.
Cows—75 per cent.
Sheep—50 per cent.
Hogs—25 per cent.
Wagons and carriages, 75 per cent,
Automibiles, 200 per cent.
Sewing machines, 20 per cent.
Watches and clocks, 175 per cent.
Melodeons and organs, 25 per cent.
Pianofortes, 10 per cent,
Household furniture, 100 per cent.
Office furniture, 50 per cent.
Agricultural tools and implements, 75 per cent.
Gold and silver plate, 100 per cent.
Diamonds and jewelry, 100 per cent.
Steamboats. 50 per cent.
Goods and merchandise, wholesale and retail, 10 per cent.
Stocks and furniture of saloons and eating houses—10 per cent.
All other property not included in preceding items, 10 per cent.
Dogs, 200 per cent.

The only special raises were those affecting the First National Bank of Thief River and the Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls. The shares of stock of each of these banks was raised 5 per cent.

"Resolutions of Condolence"

Resolutions of respect and condolence adopted by Evergreen Camp, No. 958, of Red Lake Falls, Minn, Sept. 29, 1905.

Whereas, The angel of death has visited our ranks and has summoned from our midst for the first time a charter member our esteemed neighbor, Mary Hennings: Therefore be it.

Resolved, That while we bow our heads in submission to the will of one who doeth all things well, we mourn the loss of a neighbor and unite in extending our heart felt sympathies to the members of this bereaved family: and be it further.

Resolved, That as a tribute of respect we drapeour charter in mourning for a period of forty days, and that copies of these resolutions be sent to the sorrowing family, and a copy be published in each of the Red Lake Falls papers, and that a copy be spread on the memorial record of our camp.

One by one they go before us,
Only left us by the way;
And another link is broken,
As our neighbor passed away.

Committee { Rose Spillane,
Louisia Armstrong,
Mary V. Hall.

The Study Club.

The Study club of this city has just begun their winter's work. The line of study this year will be "The Development of English Literature to the Seventeeth Century." The membership of the club now numbers twenty-three, and there is still opportunity for those desiring to join, to present applications for memoership. This club meets Wednesday evenings in the homes of the members. The officers of the club elected last spring are: Rev. H. W. Knox, president; Mrs. S. M. Sivertson, vice presdent; Mrs. Emma F. Marshall, secretary; Mrs. E. W. Chamberlain, treasurer, and Miss Ella Hanson, chairman of program committee.

The Club has secured from the State Library commission a "free traveling library" of 50 volumes of books for general reading. This library will be kept at Reichert's drug store, where it will be open to the public without charge under suitable regulations. A new library will be secured by exchange every six months or oftener. The club has also secured a special reference library on English literture which will be at the same place and like wise open to the public. These libraries will soon be here and the book lists will be distributed and also printed in this paper.

"Largest Bond Contract in the World"

"Mr. J. A. Duffy, the Agent of the National Surety Company, in this city, gives us the interesting information that his Company has just closed a contract with the Modern Woodmen of America for guaranteeing the honesty of over twenty-two thousand local lodge officers covered by one bond. It is the largest bond in the World and is a very bulky document, the entire bond weighing approximately fifty pounds."

ST. HILAIRE.

Mrs. Peter Deinart is very sick with stomach trouble.

Arthur Hendrickson has returned to the school for the blind at Faribault.

Mrs. Wm. Olson and daughter are visiting relatives at Fosston this week.

L. L. Remington will be the janitor at the school house for the coming year.

A. T. Anderson, the Red Lake furniture dealer was in town last Saturday.

Miss Selina Hoff spent several days visiting friends at Thief River Falls last week.

L. T. Bergh, came up from Crookston Saturday and drove out to his claim to spend Sunday with his family.

Miss Etta Zaiser, of Red Lake Falls meets her classes in music on Saturdays instead of Thursdays as formerly.

Mrs. John Peterson has given up housekeeping for the winter and has rented her house on Water street to Alfred Sanmoen.

Mr. J. K. Hannay and son Will left for Seattle Saturday. Mr. Hannay will visit his sons and Will will remain for the winter.

The Band boys rendered a most delightful open air concert on the street Friday. They are making marked improvement.

The box social given Friday evening by the Epworth League was very well attended and the young people took in twelve dollars.

The past few days of dry weather have been a boon to the farmers in this section. They took advantage and made hay while the sun shone.

A party of young people drove down from Thief River Falls Tuesday and enjoyed a very pleasant evening at the home of Herman Pettibone.

Rev. B. A. Barker left Monday evening for the M. E. conference at Eveleth Minn. He takes one of the best financial reports that this charge has had for some years past.

J. M. Markham, the builder of the Markham hotel in this village but later of Bemidji died at Hot Springs Ark. Sept. 23 of Brights, disease. The funeral took place at Bemidji on Friday Sept. 28. Mr. Markham has a large number of friends here.

Mrs. Fred Case and Mrs. M. McAndress entertained their lady friends at a quilting bee, Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. McAndress. Quilting, debating, songs and music followed by supper and a delightful ride home in the evening made a social event long to be remembered by those present.

CITY COUNCIL MET

On Thursday Night of Last Week. No Business or Importance Before the Meeting.

Regular meeting of the city council held at the City hall, Sept. 28, 1905.

Meeting called to order by Fred Borchers, president.

Roll called: Aldermen all present.

Minutes of last regular meeting read and approved

On motion duly carried the following bills were allowed:

Peter Martell, blacksmith account	$ 3 50
A. P. Toupin, insurance	85 40
Arthur Lizee, tending to fire engine	6 00
John Deforge, street work	18 15
do burying carcesses	3 00
Julius Keihe, street work	16 50
John Deforge, burying a carcess	2 00
Robertson Lbr Co., lumber	340 60

The following bills were laid on the table:

Red Lake County, for rent	42 00

The following resolution was offered by Alderman Hennemuth and seconded by Alderman Crompe:

Resolved, that the sum of $196.97 be and is hereby appropriated for the purpose of paying taxes now due on city property.

Upon roll call the following Aldermen voted aye: Hennemuth, Crompe, Brady and Borchers.

Nays: None.

Whereupon the president declared the resolution duly adopted.

Aldermen Brady and Hennemuth were appointed a committee to examine the Clearwater bridge and report as to the necessary repairs needed thereon.

On motion meeting adjourned.

Fred Borchers, President.

Approved this 4th day of Oct., 1905. J. A. Duffy, Mayor.

Attest:
A. P. Toupin, Clerk.

For Sale.

$500 worth of beesand hives which I will sell at half price $250 if taken this month. Also 800 pounds of comb honey and 70 gallons of extracted honey. Call on Oliver Caron.

October School Money.

The October apportionment of the state school fund, announced Tuesday by State Superintendent Olsen, amounts to $862,881.80, divided on the basis of 374,166 pupils, or $2.30 per capita. This is ten cents more for each pupil than the apportionment of last October. The school apportionment is made on the basis of the number of pupils who attended school forty days or more during the preceeding year, and is made in March and October of each year. Red Lake county has 3,509 and will receive $8070.70. Polk county, with 8,477 pupils, will get $19,497.10; Marshall county, 3,432 pupils, $7,893.60; Kittson county, 1,870 pupils, $4,301.10; Beltrami county, 2,008 pupils, $4,218.40; Clearwater county, 1,573 pupils, $3,157.90.

A Motor Sleigh.

A novel 4-horse power, high speed motor is being mounted on sleighs with pushers instead of wheels in such a way that the machine will travel at a good speed over either ice or snow. As yet none of these machines have been used in the West but the coming winter will probably see several of this type in the Twin Cities. An improvement of this kind in autos excites comment while an improvement in beer such as is represented by golden grain belt creates little comment. Just think how important this beer is that it means health, strength and happiness to thousands and you in particular. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

Forfeited Tax Sale.

The state auditor has decided upon November 6 as the date for the sale of lands in Red Lake county forfeited to the state for non-payment of taxes. The sale of lands forfeited under the laws of 1894 will be conducted by County Auditor Ford at his office, commencing at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of November 6 and continue each afternoon until all are sold. The lands acquired by the law of 1902 will be sold at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that date and continue each morning until all are sold.

The instructions require that every tract be sold for cash on the highest bid, which must not be less that the taxes, penalties, interest and costs. The old law permits sale for the bare amount of taxes, exclud- other, charges. Under either law the owner may redeem any time within sixty days after the county auditor has filed proof of service of the notice of expiration. The owner must pay all charges and 12 per cent. interest on the sale price.

Rather Tough on Crookston.

That the contest in Fergus Falls for city ownership of the waterworks plant waxed somewhat warm, may be inferred from the following from H. E. Boen's paper last week: "Only in this God forsaken Fergus Falls that from the start has had a greater proportion of rascals and fools in its population than any other town of its size except, possibly, Crookston, is the water service plant privately owned."

Stationery at the Courier office.

A Word to the Little Folks

Work hard till you get a dollar. Then come to this bank and make your first deposit. . . . . , . .

We will put your dollar on deposit drawing 5 per cent interest and lend you one of our little savings banks.

First State Bank Red Lake Falls, Minn.

WALKOVER SHOES

Berthon & Armstrong

HAWES & ROSWELLE HATS

Magnificent Showing of

Men's and Young Men's Fall and Winter Suits and Overcoats

$8.50 $10.00 $12.50 $15.00 $18.00 $20.00 $22.00 $24.00 $26.00 $28.00

BOYS

Conte,t closes Tuesday October 10th. Don't fail to guess as to number of feet in ball of twine in window. Nearest guess $5.00 Suit. Second nearest guess $3.00.

AT HOME OR ABROAD

Wherever you go, if your clothes are our clothes, you,ll be a credit to yourself and youa community, so far as appearances go. All you need to do then is to make your actions as good as your apparel, and your all right.

One thing about HART, SHAFFNER & MARX Clothes, they set a pretty high standard, if your going to live up to them. Correct style, perfect fit, all wool genuineness and honesty and no thread of "mercerized cotton" cheat; if your a Hart, Shaffner & Marx clothes man, your a model citizen.

When you want the clothes to start with, see

JIM AND PAUL

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Copyright 1905 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

The Courier

KING & CHASE, Pubs.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

An American has duped some British girls. He was trying to get even with a few dukes.

A New York girl had her brain cut out, and nobody noticed any difference—in New York.

Get-rich-quick schemes ensnare their thousands; get-married-quick their tens of thousands.

Marshall Field justly says that it is hard to stand prosperity. But every one is willing to try to stand it.

Lord Curzon, no doubt, hesitated long before condemning India to barbarism by resigning as its viceroy.

Newport's millionaires are naturally aggrieved at having to pay taxes. They need the money for monkey dinners.

Gold is reported to have been found in Ireland. And, sure, why not? Don't we always see an emerald in a gold setting?

Is Judge Steinert's sentence that a woman be exiled from New York city to be regarded in the light of a punishment?

Men are not good judges of millinery or they would know that the feature of alluring beauty in a $150 hat is its price tag.

As they are Philadelphia men, there is no mystery about how that girl married twelve of them. She caught them napping.

Now that the war is over, we may admit that it has taught many of us a good deal of geography—American as well as Asiatic.

In order to convince the world that there is no truth in the story that his feet had been amputated, Mark Twain has got the gout.

It is as natural for a girl to make herself pretty as it is for a bee to gather honey. Who would stop either in so sweet an occupation?

It is hardly possible that there is a shortage of chorus girls. There are chorus girls in plenty. There is only a shortage of girls who can sing.

The family of our northern sister is growing. This time it's twins, and Saskatchewan and Alberta are lusty youngsters of which Canada is proud.

With commendable foresight the envoys used several pens in signing the treaty, so that the great demand for souvenirs will be to some extent supplied.

The Houston (Tex.) council has officially declared that "goo-goo" eyes—if made by men are a misdemeanor. Girls are not mentioned. They make their own law.

When manufacturers get to selling automobiles for $400 apiece next year, as they are now planning to do, the millionaires will give theirs away and go in for airships.

A girl in New York state faints whenever the band of her village begins to play. Is this the press agent's way of advertising "the most extreme limit" in conducting?

It is only fair to Mr. Morgan to explain that the portion of the earth now known as the moon got away before the title to this planet had passed into his possession.

Now that the experimenters have sent a kite up more than two and a half miles in the air, it is obvious that anything that is knocked higher than a kite must go up pretty high.

A woman cashier in a Chicago restaurant put two holdup men to flight recently by throwing cigar boxes at them. The name of the brand is not given, but the cigars must have been fierce.

Charles R. Flint, just back from Russia, says that the czar is a man of high intelligence and strength of character and that the grand dukes are all right. Mr. Flint must have got his contract.

The telescope reveals the fact that the landscapes on Mars are subject to sudden and frequent changes of the most extensive character. Map making must be the most profitable employment on that planet.

Capt. Sir Ernest Cochrane of Dublin and Belfast promptly denies that he has any design whatever on the America cup. He must have been reading the papers since Sir Thomas Lipton started out to "lift" it.

Mr. Rockefeller said to the humorists who visited him: "I am one of you now," and wore proudly a badge they gave him. Still, he should not compete with them by sending jokes to the comic papers even "at space rates."

A Brooklyn justice has sentenced a man to talk to his wife two hours every Sunday. That means that the wife must keep quiet two hours. Evidently somebody is about to suffer a cruel and unusual punishment contrary to the constitution. Guess who.

RESUME OF THE NEWS

Fresh — Reliable — Brief

Washington.

President Roosevelt signed an order creating the Dixie forest reserve in Utah. The new reserve imbraces 465,900 acres, 94 per cent of which is public lands.

Charges have been preferred against several western roads for giving discriminating rates to the Standard Oil company in Iowa. The Marshall Oil company of that state has preferred a complaint with the interstate commerce commission. The Burlington line, the St. Paul and subsidiary roads are interested in the case.

Consul General Rogers at Shanghai, cabled the state department as follows: "There is no longer any evidence of boycott conditions in or about Shanghai, and American trade is active, particularly with the northern part of China, and there has been no stamping of goods (boycott marks) as was reported. On the whole the condition of affairs seems to be satisfactory."

Foreign.

Russia has ordered 60,000 tons of the best steam coal at Cardiff to be delivered at Kronstadt within a month.

Another tornado caused enormous damage in Calabria, Italy. A clearance of the debris caused by the recent earthquake shows the number of persons who perished was greater than thought.

Reports from the famine districts in Spain show that the workmen threaten to burn and sack if they are not furnished with food. Appeals have been sent to the government to distribute rations.

It is reported that President Amador and the canal commission are endeavoring to attract Spanish immigrants from the famine-stricken districts of Galacia. They are considered to be the best workmen for Panama.

During the naval maneuvers at Cherbourg two torpedo boats collided and remained interlocked until they were towed to port, where they were separated by tugs. Investigation showed that the boats had suffered serious damage.

Mr. C. Miller, the Minneapolis man who has promoted the Guadalajara-Chamela, in Mexico, has been granted another federal concession for a line extending east from Guadalajara to San Miguel Allende, a station on the National road.

Twelve thousand spectators of a bull fight at Nimes, France, broke up the chairs and set fire to the barristers surrounding the arena because the matadors refused to kill another bull as another encore after they had dispatched five.

The London Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent says that the British Far Eastern squadron will assemble in Tokio early in October, after the ratification of the Russo-Japanese treaty, and that the Japanese fleet will also assemble at the same place.

Large forces of troops have already been drafted into Finland. Over 1,200 men arrived at Helsingfors to reinforce the garrison of Sveaborg, which is adjacent to Helsingfors, and garrisons at other points have also been reinforced by 700 to 1,000 men.

Criminal.

John A. Norton, once a candidate for governor of Connecticut on the Socialist ticket, committed suicide by inhaling gas through a tube.

James P. Hennessy, a clerk who recently confessed to stealing $40,000 from the estate of D. Percy Morgan, was sentenced to seven years.

Capt. G. M. Godfrey, assistant surgeon in the United States army, stationed at Fort McPherson, shot himself through the brain. The cause of the suicide is not known.

A double murder occurred at Lockport, La., near Lake Charles, R. B. Holloway of that place and Tom Bowman of Orange, Tex., being the victims. No clue to the assassin.

John M. Koch, a well-known educator, was found dead in his house at Mount Prennborough, Pa., where he was formerly principal of the high school. He had shot himself through the heart.

Private Lee of Company E, Eleventh infantry, shot and killed Private King of Company L of the same regiment, in a saloon at Cheyenne, Wyo. Squads are scouring the streets and a lynching is possible if Lee is captured.

A battle between Mexican desperadoes and Texas rangers resulted in the killing of one of the bad men and the wounding of two. The fight was on La Portia creek, near Minerva, a small border town in Wilson county.

After an all-day drinking bout, Dammin Guise killed his friend, Rocco Fenar, at Bloomington, Ind. Guise caught Fenar by the neck and held him while he blew out his brains with a revolver. Guise was arrested.

Henry Edwards was shot and killed by Clarence Turner at a dance at Maysville, Ky., because he insisted upon dancing with a girl with whom Turner had been dancing. Edwards drew a gun upon Turner, the fight being in the nature of a duel.

Edna Mullison, a thirteen-year-old girl, was arrested at Shenandoah, Iowa, on a charge of placing poison in her father's lunch. The warrant was sworn out by Mullison, who can give no reason for the attempt on his life. The girl refuses to talk of the crime. She was unable to give bond.

Casualty.

Walter C. Calkins, [illegible] demonstrator, ran his [illegible] wagon at Chicago and [illegible].

More than a dozen [illegible] an explosion in a firewo[illegible] the Green Point sectio[illegible] Some of them are fata[illegible].

Fire destroyed the [illegible] store, damaged the N[illegible]ment store and the carpet [illegible] Elmendorf at Evansville, Ind. [illegible] estimated at $50,000.

One motorman was inst[illegible] and the other escaped de[illegible]ing when two trolley c[illegible] head-on collision near [illegible] No passengers were inju[illegible].

A peach train was de[illegible] going at the rate of tw[illegible] miles an hour, near Lawrence[illegible] the engine and three ca[illegible] a bank. The engineer [illegible].

Dredge No. 4, own[illegible] Lake Erie Dredging compa[illegible] foundered in a gale off [illegible]kirk, N. Y. Capt. Miller and crew [illegible] rescued. The dredge was value[illegible]0,000.

An extra work train [illegible] Cairo division of the Big Fo[illegible] railroad ran into the rear end of an extra freight train at Swango Hill, five miles south of Paris, Ill. Four trainmen were injured, one fatally.

Frank Carpenter, [illegible]-year-old son of Orville Carpente[illegible] farmer living in Ellis township, ne[illegible] Iowa Falls, Iowa, fell into a corn [illegible]ter and was instantly killed, the [illegible] being literally cut to pieces.

The Meteor, the fast [illegible]sco line passenger train, bound f[illegible] St. Louis, was wrecked near Catoosa, I. T. The engine, tender and four coaches jumped the track and were demolished. Several persons were inj[illegible].

Thomas Johnson, age[illegible] was sawed in two while at wor[illegible] Bucyrus, Ohio. He was running [illegible] saw and stooped down to remov[illegible] piece of bark. The saw caught [illegible] on the shoulder and drew hi[illegible]inst the teeth and literally sawed [illegible] in two.

With a crash that could be heard for blocks, a three-story building under course of construction on West Ferry street, Buffalo, N. Y., collapsed, carrying down with it thirty bricklayers and carpenters who were at work in and on top of the structure. A score of men were injured, eight of them seriously.

Asa Bullock, a prominent attorney of Northern Indiana, is dead at his home in Hobart, and his daughter, Jessie, is seriously injured as the result of an automobile accident. While driving on a country road near Hammond the horse became frightened at an automobile and plunged down an embankment. Bullock was extricated from beneath the horse and lived only a short time. The girl's body was badly crushed.

While returning from the ball game between Newark and the Columbus American association team at Newark, Ohio, three street cars loaded with players and spectators were in collision. Eleven people were injured, several seriously. A half-dozen cars were running close together. One car stopped and the car behind crashed into it and the third car hit the second, creating a panic among the passengers.

General.

Mayor Augustus S. Miller of Providence, R. I., dropped dead at the Hope club from heart disease. He was born in 1847.

Henry Howard, formerly governor of Rhode Island, and a leading manufacturer, died at his home in Harris, R. I., aged 78.

Eli Jordan, 107 years old, is dead in the eastern part of Pike county, Ala., his demise being due to the infirmaties of old age.

President Roosevelt will be asked to visit Fort Worth during his October trip to the South. He will also be invited to visit the state fair at Dallas.

At the Democratic city and county convention Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland was renominated for a third term. The Johnson adherents controlled the convention with practically no opposition.

The Western Negro Press association has adopted resolutions opposing statehood for the two territories (Indian territory and Oklahoma), unless an absolute guarantee can be given that no "Jim Crow" laws discriminating between the races in public places shall be passed.

The enormous sum that the Standard Oil company pays in dividends yearly is not widely realized. This year the company will pay about $37,000,000. The question as to what amount John D. Rockefeller receives of this amount has often been asked, and though there is no official figures for his holdings of Standard Oil stock, it is thought that he owns at least one-third of the capital.

Capt. David H. Cadotte, a well known master of lake vessels, died at his home in Detroit from a paralytic stroke sustained aboard his ship on Sept. 14. He was born in Algonac, Mich., in 1851.

Wife desertion on the East side in New York has become so common that a movement has been started among leading Hebrews of that quarter to check the evil. Organizations with this end in view are to be formed and a system of following up and causing the arrest of the men who desert their wives and families will be established.

MAY NOT GO TO NEW ORLEANS.

Uncertainty Regarding President's Visit Still Exists.

New Orleans, Oct. 1. — With the steady improvement in the yellow fever [illegible] there is expected to be a [illegible] reaction beginning next [illegible] forces now employed under [illegible]es of the government in [illegible] eradicate the disease. [illegible] of uncertainty regarding [illegible] President Roosevelt [illegible] there is some appre[illegible] decision of the American [illegible] Health association to have [illegible]ommittee communicate to the president its sentiments of opposition to the visit at this time may cause the cutting out of New Orleans from the present trip.

[illegible]ellow fever report to 6 p. m. yes[illegible]: New cases, 28; total to date, [illegible] deaths, 2; total to date, 386; [illegible] foci, 5; cases under treatment, [illegible] discharged, 2,340.

[illegible]TCH POSTAL CARDS.

Order Is Issued to Postmasters to Enforce Rules Strictly.

Washington, Oct. 1. — Acting Postmaster General Hitchcock in a circular mailed yesterday to all postmasters has renewed the campaign started recently against objectionable post cards. He had called attention to the rules, which bar from the mails every card that bears a picture or language that is indecent, obscene or improperly suggestive, and constituted every postmaster the judge of this kind of art. The use of the mails for pictorial cards has become so extensive that the department says it has extended the comic valentine season over the entire year. Most of the complaints come from persons who have been the recipients of vulgar cards mailed anonymously.

MAY USE KNIFE YET AGAIN.

Physicians Will Operate on Dr. Harper If He Proves Strong Enough.

Chicago, Oct. 1. — President William R. Harper of the University of Chicago, it was said yesterday, faces the possibility of another operation should his condition continue to improve sufficiently to make him strong enough to bear one. The operation performed last week did not accomplish all that the physicians wished, and they are now contemplating the entire removal of the larger intestine. At present the patient's stomach is drained through [illegible] rubber tube attached to the [illegible]ll intestine. Dr. Harper passe[illegible]d night and sat up for a whil[illegible]y morning.

[illegible] HOLDS TRAIN.

[illegible] Refuses to Leave Train Sans Culotte.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 1. — E. D. Hall of Omaha delayed passenger traffic half an hour yesterday by the row he raised over the loss of his only pair of trousers, which had been stolen from him in a Pullman sleeper. He was in the through car, and when an attempt was made to get him out so the car could proceed west he refused to budge. The officials, in despair, finally rushed down town and secured him a makeshift covering for his extremities.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

St. Paul, Oct. 2. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 84 1-8@86 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 80@83 1-2c; No. 3, 78@81c. Corn — No. 3 yellow, 51@51 1-2c. Oats — No. 3 white, 27@27 1-2c.

Duluth, Oct. 2. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 81 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 78 3-4c; flax, 98 1-4c; rye, 64c.

Minneapolis, Oct. 2. — Wheat—No. 1 hard, 83 1-2c; No. 1 Northern, 82 3-4c; No. 2 Northern, 80c. Oats—No. 3 white, 26c.

Milwaukee, Oct. 2. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 87@88c; No. 2 Northern, 83@86c. Rye—No. 1, 68@69c. Barley—No. 2, 54c. Oats—Standard, 28 1-4@29 1-4c.

Chicago, Oct. 2. — Wheat — No. 2 red, 86@86 1-2c; No. 2 hard, 84 1-2@89c; No. 3 hard, 83 1-4@86c; No. 1 Northern, 90c; No. 2 Northern, 86@89c. Corn—No. 2, 51 3-4@52c. Oats—No. 2, 27@27 1-2c.

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 2.—Cattle — Beeves, $4.50 @ 5.70; cows, bulls and mixed, $2.25@3.70; stockers and feeders, $3@4; calves and yearlings, $2.50 @3.25. Hogs—Bulk, $5.15@5.20.

Chicago, Oct. 2. — Cattle—Good to prime steers, $3.60 @ 6.15; stockers and feeders, $2.40@4.45; cows, $2.50@4.50; heifers, $2.20@4.80; calves, $3@7. Hogs—Mixed and butchers, $5.15@5.85; bulk, $4.40@5.75. Sheep—Good to choice wethers, $4.60 @ 5; native lambs, $5.25@7.25; Western lambs, $5.75@7.

South St. Paul, Oct. 2. — Cattle — Good to choice steers, $4.50 @ 5.50; good to choice cows and heifers, $3.50 @4; butcher bulls, $2.75@3.50; veals, $2@4.50; good to choice stock steers, $2.50@3.50; good to choice milch cows, $20@35. Hogs—Range price, $5.25 @ 5.50; bulk, $5.30@5.40. Sheep—Good to choice lambs, $5@5.85; fair to good, $4@5; good to choice yearling wethers, $4.50@5.50; good to choice ewes, $3.75@4.40.

Elevator Burned.

West Concord, Minn., Oct. 1. — Fire broke out last night at 8 o'clock in Wagner & Son's elevator and the building and contents were totally destroyed. The building was an old frame structure and only a small amount of grain was in the building.

Many Die of Cholera.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 1. — It is officially announced that fifty cases of cholera, of which twenty-eight resulted fatally, occurred in Poland between Sept. 20 and Sept. [illegible]

POOLED TO FIX LEGISLATION

NEW YORK LIFE, EQUITABLE AND MUTUAL PUT UP MONEY TO MOLD LAWS.

LOOK AFTER STATE LAW MILLS

MEN EMPLOYED BY THREE COMPANIES TO KEEP TAB ON LEGISLATURES.

REPLETE WITH SENSATIONS

JACOB SCHIFF ACCUSES HYDE OF TRYING TO SHIELD HIMSELF.

New York, Oct. 1. — When the legislative committee on the insurance investigation adjourned yesterday until next Wednesday it concluded a week in which greater progress had been made than in any week since the investigation was begun. The testimony of witnesses that have been called during the week has been replete with sensations and that taken yesterday was no exception to the rule.

It was during the afternoon session yesterday when Alfred W. Maine, an associate auditor of the Equitable Life Assurance society, was called to the stand that it was disclosed that the Equitable Life, the Mutual Life and the New York Life companies had formed a pool to before the various state legislatures. Andrew Hamilton, to whom President McCall of the New York Life paid several checks, the purpose of which the counsel for the committee, Mr. Hughes, has not yet brought to light, was one of the chief members of the legal staff for these companies and was employed and received money for services from the Equitable. Witness presented vouchers for moneys paid by his company to Mr. Hamilton, and these showed that in eight years, from 1895 to 1903, the sum of $65,596 was paid to Mr. Hamilton for legal services. Mr. Maine could not give any details of the duties performed by Mr. Hamilton nor of the committees he appeared before beyond the fact that Mr. Hamilton looked after legislative matters for all three companies in the states west of Ohio.

Look After Legislation

Valuation Cut in Half.

He was followed in the afternoon session by Edward Devlin, the real estate manager of the New York Life for the United States and Canada. Mr. Devlin was called to testify as to the cost of the building in Paris. He had only the transcripts of the reports this department made to the home office, but it was brought out that the Paris building was carried on the books of the company at a valuation of $1,102,604, whereas, with the original cost and improvements on the building, actual money to the amount of $2,533,104 was paid, over one million being charged off the valuation on the books of the company.

Mr. Devlin was on the stand when adjournment was taken, but he will be called again to submit transcripts of the records to supply further information.

Schiff on the Stand.

Not the least important development of the day was the appearance on the stand of Jacob Schiff, head of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Mr. Schiff was the first witness of the day, and he remained on the stand until 2 o'clock.

Most of the time Mr. Schiff reclined leisurely in the chair on the witness stand, but as one point after another was brought out he grew excited and vigorously defended his attitude while a director of the Equitable society, and claimed his firm had acted in a conscientious manner in all its dealings with the society. At the conclusion of his testimony, and before the committee could adjourn, Mr. Schiff asked to be allowed to make a statement. He was permitted, and made on the state superintendent of insurance and statements he had made concerning Kuhn, Loeb & Co. during the investigation of the Equitable. During his testimony, regarding the power of the finance committee of the Equitable society, Mr. Schiff waxed warm in his explanation and said that the entire committee was at the mercy of one man. "It was all Hyde," said Mr. Schiff, "all Hyde and Alexander." Mr. Schiff hotly accused Mr. Hyde of trying to shield himself.

An Impassioned Attack

ACQUIT BANK OFFICIAL.

Charge of Grand Larceny Is Not Sustained.

Caldwell, Ohio, Oct. 1. — Herbert O. Barber, former vice president of the defunct Commercial Bank of Cambridge, Ohio, was acquitted last night by a jury of the charge of grand larceny in connection with the alleged misappropriation of securities intrusted to the bank. The trial was held here under a change of venue, Barber claiming he could not secure a fair trial in Cambridge.

TELL OF JAIL [illegible]

Sensational Testimony Offered in the Trial of Turnkey Childers.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 1. — Testimony yesterday in the case of J. M. Childers, charged with assisting the United States postoffice robbers, Trainor and Cunningham, of the Eddie Fay gang, to escape from the county jail, was more sensational than had been expected. Prisoners at the county jail, including William Crane, the third member of the Trainor gang, testified that Childers deliberately planned with Trainor, Cunningham and Crane to aid them in their escape and that he permitted the tw oformer to get away after receiving $400 from each of them. William Aird, and alleged horse thief, who was in the same cell with Cunningham, testified that chinders brought in a blanket to Cunningham, and in it were found a stone hammer, a chisel and an auger with which he loosened the cement and cut a hole through the stone floor of his cell. He then stripped, greased himself with soap and slid through the narrow hole in the floor.

MAY TAKE ROSE'S DARE.

Milwaukee Expectantly Awaiting Report of Grand Jury.

Milwaukee, Oct. 1. — Milwaukee was agog all day yesterday and late into the night awaiting the expected final report of the grand jury which is finishing up four months of work investigating boodle in city, county and state affairs. The expectation that there would be indictments was, however, not fulfilled, for it is said that the bundle of indictments which the grand jury intends to return was so big that all could not be prepared last night, and the district attorney's force was obliged to spend the night preparing the necessary papers for presentation to-day. When the jury reports every ear will expect the indictment of Mayor Rose.

BADLY HURT IN EXPLOSION.

Man Carries Light Into Well Where Gasoline Has Soaked In.

Ada, Minn., Oct. 1. — A terrific gas explosion occurred at Twin Valley at the Northern Pacific pumping station. Alfred Hawkins, who is in charge of the pump house, descended with a lantern into the well over which the house is built. As he proceeded he detected the presence of gas and he hurriedly retreated up the ladder, not soon enough, however, to prevent a terrific explosion, which completely wrecked the pump house. Mr. Hawkins was seriously burned, but it is thought he will recover. A barrel of gasoline had been emptied near the well and some of it had soaked into the ground and thence to the water.

ELOPED WITH YOUNG WOMAN.

Farm Hand Runs Away With Sixteen-Year-Old Girl.

Ortonville, Minn., Oct. 1. — John Nelson, a farm hand, eloped with the sixteen-year-old daughter of a prominent farmer living seven miles northeast of this city. Nelson came to Ortonville and secured a livery team in the night and took the girl from a second-story window of her home and drove north about twenty miles and tied the team in the yard of a farmer named Sol Peters. No further trace of the couple has been found.

PROPOSED NEW COUNTY.

Norman May Be Divided and Mahnomen Made the Seat.

Ada, Minn., Oct. 1. — A project is on foot to divide Norman county, forming a new county of the sixteen townships in the reservation which at present belong to this county. Popular sentiment here seems to be in favor of the division and a petition asking for separation will be circulated in the near future. Mahnomen, the thriving new town on the Soo, would be the county seat.

Smothered to Death.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 1. — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sackett of this city were horror-stricken yesterday morning upon awakening to discover that their six-months-old baby girl, lying between them, was dead. The coroner was summoned, and after an investigation, declared that the child had simply got tangled in the bed clothing and smothered to death.

Mob Eager for Lynching.

Janesville, Wis., Oct. 1. — Henry King, aged thirty years, was brought into this city last night to prevent his lynching by a mob of farmers which wanted revenge for the alleged assault of the nine-year-old daughter of George Nichols of the town of Porter, eight miles from here.

Albert Scheffer Dead.

St. Paul, Oct. 1. — Albert Scheffer, pioneer resident of St. Paul, and for many years prominent in city and state politics, died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. He was sixty-three years old. Mr. Scheffer was afflicted with tumor of the spleen.

Thresher and Grain Burn.

Spring Valley, Minn., Oct. 1. — A separator owned by Nelson & Degroadt was burned yesterday and with it seven large stacks of oats owned by Jonas McNee, about four miles from this place.

Drowned in a Cistern.

St. Paul, Oct. 1. — Gertrude Butler, a domestic, fell into a cistern in the basement of the Kittson house, Summit and Selby avennes last night and was drowned before she could be rescued.

IN MINNESOTA.

State News of the Week Briefly Told.

Antonson's threshing machine was burned near Perham, the fire being the work of an incendiary.

The new canning factory at Chaska is a great success. It turns out about 30,000 cans of corn a day.

: : : : :

John Schwarz has been appointed postmaster of Welcome. There were five candidates for the position.

: : : : :

Former Sheriff Fredrich Hecklin died at the home of his son, Hugo Hecklin of Chaska, of heart trouble, aged 78.

: : : : :

Two Northern Pacific freight trains collided in the yards at Perham. An engine and a caboose were damaged.

: : : : :

A. G. Armstrong of Hudson, Wis., has bought the Deuel Hardware company's stock at Leroy, which was recently traded to a land company.

: : : : :

Bishop Van Buren of Porto Rico is the guest of Rev. C. C. Rollit of Red Wing. He is in the United States in the interest of his work on the island.

: : : : :

Charles McKissic, 27 years old, from Atlantic, Iowa, committed suicide in Morgan by hanging, after having cut himself with a razor. He was a threshing hand.

: : : : :

Jack Korber, a Finnish miner, employed at the Commodore mine at Two Harbors, was caught in the ship road and was crushed to death. He was a single man.

: : : : :

Howard P. Bell of New York has purchased a building lot and will construct a two-story business and hotel block at Little Falls. It will be completed by Jan. 1.

: : : : :

Judge Williston of Red Wing has filed an order granting Anna Elizabeth Smith a divorce from John C. Smith. She charges desertion. They were married at Oronoco, Minn., in 1872.

: : : : :

Mrs. Nels Jenson, wife of a prominent farmer living near Swanville, was knocked down and trampled by a runaway horse. Despite all that medical aid could do, she died after a few hours.

: : : : :

At a meeting of the village council of Winnebago City a franchise was granted to John Sharp, P. J. McGuggan and R. G. Reynolds to put in a sewer system at a cost of $5,000.

: : : : :

Miss Ruby Gustafson, an employe in the Cokato canning factory, got her head too near the shafting rod, her hair became caught in the machinery, and she was completely scalped.

: : : : :

The Pitman hotel at Stillwater has changed management. Mr. and Mrs. James McNavin, who owned and conducted it, have gone to New Albany, Ind., to reside. The hotel was purchased by John P. Halvorson, a ranch owner of South Dakota.

: : : : :

The thriving new town of Mahnomen has a $5,000 new school building in process of erection. The town boards of Viding, Lee, Kragnes, Morken and Georgetown will hold a joint meeting to discuss drainage plans and to cooperate in their execution.

: : : : :

Des Moines men are at Zumbrota, looking over the clay deposits with the view of developing them. Samples stood the test well. Pressed brick and building tile are to be manufactured, as well as pottery of all kinds. A stock company will be incorporated.

: : : : :

John Kral, aged about twenty-three, son of John F. Kral, a farmer, was found dead on the railroad right of way about one and one-half miles south of Montgomery. He had been run over by a night train while he was on his way home in a state of intoxication.

: : : : :

A "wheat extra" freight train, composed of Soo line cars, was wrecked one miles east of Westport. Eleven cars were derailed and thrown into the ditch. Other cars were piled promiscuously across the track and completely obstructed the road, delaying all traffic over thirty hours.

: : : : :

The Fillmore county Agricultural society, which has been in straitened circumstances for several years, is rejoicing over the results of the fair just closed, because it will be able to pay all its premiums, lift its debt, and have a balance in the treasury. The recent fair was the most successful in years.

: : : : :

A peculiar thing happened on the farm of Martin Peterson, near Renville, recently. On Aug. 17 Mr. Peterson lost a young dog while stacking wheat. While threshing last week the dog was found alive inside one of the stacks. It had eaten the heads off from four bundles of wheat. The animal was shut up for over four weeks without water.

: : : : :

The will of the late Hiram T. King was admitted to probate at Stillwater. It was a brief one, and leaves all his real and personal property to his mother, Mrs. Dorothy S. King of Stillwater. William D. King of Minneapolis, a brother, was designated as administrator.

: : : : :

The annual fair of the Cass county Agricultural association was held at Sylvian Lake. The premium list was a very liberal one and the exhibits far surpassed what was expected by the officers.

STATE NEWS OF INTEREST

STATE'S WEALTH INCREASED.

Personal Property Valuation Is $9,000,000 Higher.

According to the returns from the county board of equalization now in the hands of the state board, the assessed valuation of personal property in the state has increased nearly $9,000,000 during the year. The valuation in 1904 was $149,684,181 and the returns for 1905 show $158,307,416. As more increases than decreases are made by the board, the increase for the year will be greater than the present figures show.

Te board is about half through with its work, having finished most of the items of cattle, farm machinery and household goods. Manufacturers and dealers' goods, bank and other stocks and credits still remain to be considered.

The returns show a considerable falling off in the values of household furniture of different kinds. For furniture and wearing apparel there is a decrease from $17,771,259 last year to $13,925,313 this year. Gold and silverware shows a decrease of nearly a third, the valuation last year being $272,956 and this year $184,517. Diamonds and jewelry also show a decrease, the returns being $241,561, as compared with $379,473 last year. Office furniture, on the other hand, shows an increase from $1,262,198 last year to $1,443,132 in 1905.

Threshing machinery has increased during the year. The return this year is $1,451,959, and the valuation last year was $1,384,124. Other agricultural tools show a decrease, $4,548,246 this year, as against $5,272,602 a year ago.—M.

WITHDRAW TO SAVE TROUBLE.

Minnesota Grain Inspectors Quit Superior.

The state railroad and warehouse commission, in order to remove any ground for complaint and out of desire to prevent any possibility of violating the laws of Wisconsin, have decided to withdraw all grain inspectors at Wisconsin wharves or elevators. Commissioner C. F. Staples, while on a trip inspecting a crossing at State Line, near Duluth, took occasion to look into the grain inspection at Duluth, and the commission has sent a letter to Gov. Johnson, informing him of the complete withdrawal of inspection from the Superior wharves.

The governor had referred the matter to the commissioners when he received the letter from Gov. La Follette complaining of the action of the Minnesota inspectors. The commissioner states that he has looked up all the cases cited by the Wisconsin governor and found that they were on board vessels where he believed the Minnesota inspectors had jurisdiction, but since the Wisconsin authorities feel it a violation of the law he has instructed the Minnesota inspectors to see that grain loaded in Superior shall be steamed either into Duluth harbor or into neutral waters, where the inspectors may take samples of the grain.

TAKE FOODS ABOUT STATE.

Dairy Commission State Fair Exhibit to Be Shown at County Fairs.

The exhibit which the state dairy and food commission had at the dairy building of the state fair will be exhibited at several of the the county fairs this month. The exhibit will be shown at Blue Earth, Albert Lea and Fairmount this month. Several other counties have applied for the exhibit, but as there are conflicting dates it has not been decided which of them will get it.

Inspector E. B. Heilberg will have charge of the exhibit and will explain to the fair visitors what the department is doing for pure food. Commissioner E. K. Slater will accompany him part of the time.

The exhibit attracted much attention at the state fair. It consisted of about 100 samples of food which had been found illegal by the department. Many of the samples shown were found to contain matter dangerous to health and others were fraudulent because improperly labeled.

The exhibit to be shown at the county fairs will be practically the same as that shown at the state fair.

Railways Make Money.

Gross earnings of $55,745,273.17 for the entire system, and $2,843,441.48 for Minnesota were reported in the annual statement of the Chicago & North-Western Railway company to the state railway and warehouse commission. The operating expenses in the state amounted to $2,189,871.89 and over the system $36,561,234.83, giving gross earnings of $2,843,441.48 for Minnesota and $653,569.59 net income, while for the entire system the net earnings were $19,184,040.34.

The Duluth, Virginia & Rainy Lake Railway company, a logging road, showed gross earnings of $14,509.01, operating expenses of $6,315.36, and a net income of $8,193.65.

The Minneapolis Railway Transfer company of Minneapolis gave its gross earnings as $150,757.45, operating expenses $135,069.16 and net income $15,688.29.

The movement to increase the saloon licenses at Fond du Lac from $200 to $500 was defeated at the special election. Complete returns give 1,802 for the $200 license, 1,106 for $500 and 89 for $350.

STATE FAIR MADE BIG PROFIT.

Figures Are $39,643.33 Ahead of Fair of 1904.

This year's state fair has come out $39,643.33 ahead of the fair of 1904.

This is demonstrated by the financial statement made up at the meeting of the state fair directors at the fair grounds at Hamline. This year's total receipts were $238,200.05—$32,390.38 more than the receipts of 1904. The total disbursements this year were $149,876.62, which is $7,252.95 less than last year.

The following statement may be subject to slight changes in the auditing of $28,000 in unpaid accounts, but is otherwise right in every detail.

The treasurer's statement of the 1905 fair finances is as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Balance Dec. 10, 1904	$48,680.10
State appropriation	4,000.00
Stall rent	1,120.75
Forage	1,627.27
Privileges	22,483.25
Races	15,763.90
Tickets	125,380.20
Rents	938.15
St. Louis expense refunded	322.88
State Breeders' association	188.50
Expense refunded	155.00
Street Railway company, repairs on barn	160.00
Checks returned	21.25
Berman judgment	34.35
Interest	972.91
Fruit sold	7.15
Cloth and evergreen sold	32.10
Desk sold	12.50
Sand and nails	1.85
Coal sold	28.75
Lumber sold	21.00
Allemania bank div.	.52
Special premium by Yorkshire club	40.00
Shorthorn Breeders' association	2,112.50
Butter sold	576.00
Cheese sold	194.17
Official program	2,704.25
Advertisements in premium list	559.00
Fines	614.00
Miscellaneous receipts	87.35
Total credits to date	$228,818.55
Railway tickets out for collection	9,381.50
Total	$238,200.05
1904 receipts	205,809.67
Excess receipts, 1905 over 1904	$32,390.38

DISBURSEMENTS.

Accounts of former years		$456.54
Attractions		19,234.74
Advertising		3,403.91
Forage, fuel, etc.		527.91
Labor, material		5,382.61
Officers		5,900.00
Postage, telegrams, etc.		682.80
Premiums		18,676.79
Races, suspensions, etc.		22,645.75
Superintendent's assistants, etc.		16,348.86
Permanent improvements		22,117.37
Expense		6,569.34
Unpaid accounts		28,000.00
	$149,876.62	$149,876.62
Balance	88,329.43
1904 disbursements		$157,129.57
Excess of 1904 disbursements over 1905		7,252.95
Present ticket account		$125,380.20
Add railway tickets		9,381.50
		$134,761.70

The directors in the afternoon were occupied nearly the entire time with the consideration of propositions for plans of the new live stock pavilion which is to be erected before next year. The last legislature appropriated $50,000 for this building on the condition that the fair management expend from their funds $50,000 more, making $100,000 in all. The directors have practically decided to select the site near where the live stock judging tent stood during the last fair. The building will be brick, with steel frame, and have a seating capacity of 7,500.

The directors authorized Secretary Randall to next season employ two men, instead of one as was the case this year, in beautifying the grounds with flower beds and general park improvements. The secretary was also authorized to employ men for making general repairs on the various buildings which needed attention.

New Uniforms for Guardsmen.

Adjt. Gen. F. B. Wood will advertise for bids Oct. 2 for the new dress uniforms for the national guard, and the uniforms will be distributed to the guardsmen before the beginning of the new year.

This is the new dress uniform, patterned after the new dress uniforms of the regulars. The blouses have stand-up collars instead of the turn-down collars of the old uniforms, and will have the insignia of the rank and detail of the wearer. The infantry uniforms will be piped with blue trimmings, the artillery with red and the engineer corps with red and white. The caps have the bell crown instead of the straight up on the old style.

The problem of providing shoes will be taken up soon. Each member must purchase his own shoes, but they are purchased through the department. The shoes which the department will purchase are of two kinds, one a heavy shoe at $3.50 and the other lighter at $2.50, both tans.

BLIND PIGS WIPED OUT.

Itasca County Attorney's Report to the Governor.

Gov. Johnson recently wired County Attorney George H. Spears of Itasca county regarding alleged blind pigs in the county, and received a reply that the blind pigs had been practically exterminated. The governor had received numerous complaints that blind pigs were run in the vicinity of the logging camps and that they were to blame for many crimes.

LOOK FOR HOLES IN GAME LAW.

Hunters Want to Bring Home Big Strings.

Can a person who has been hunting ship twenty-five ducks by express and on the same train carry fifty with him? Are the ducks that he ships in the possession of the railroad company? These are among the interesting questions that are asked of the state game and fish commission.

The law requires that a hunter shall not have in his possession more than fifty ducks at one time. Some hunters are not satisfied with fifty, however, and they want to find out if one bunch of birds is not in possession of the railroad while being shipped. The attorney for the commission, however, advises hunters that to be on the safe side they would better not take chances, for even if the express shipment is technically in the possession of the company during shipment the hunter would have more than the allotted number as soon as he gets his shipment from the depot.

The license permits the hunter to make two shipments of twenty-five birds each and to carry as many as he pleases, provided he never has more than fifty in his possession at one time. Therefore the commission rules that it is perfectly legal for the hunter to ship his full number and carry more if he goes by another train. This cannot be done the same day, though, for then the hunter would have in his possession just before making the shipment more than the legal number. The shipment must be far enough away to permit him to make his string by shooting not more than fifteen per day.

One hunter reported that at one shot he killed seven chickens. If he had had ten before, would the shooting of the seven be a violation of law? Or if he had fourteen would two in the next shot be a violation of the law? The board gives as its advice: "Don't shoot!" but says that if he can prove that it was unintentional to hit more than one bird he will not be held liable.

The commission has thus far issued a total of ½45 licenses to hunters not residents of the state. To residents of Ramsey county 1,802 licenses have been issued to date, or nearly one for every hundred of population, and it is expected that the number will be greater before the close of the season. In Hennepin 1,271 have been issued.

PAY FOR THE TIMBER.

Firms Pay Double the Value, Less What They Have Paid.

Three state timber trespass cases were settled by the state timber board at a meeting in St. Paul. The cases were settled at double the damage as provided by law, minus what the companies had already paid into the treasury. The board has power to settle at double values, but the members are uncertain whether they had a right to make any reductions, and therefore the suits were not discussed and will not be until the action of the board is approved by the legislature. The dismissal will be recommended by the board to the legislature.

H. F. Brown of Minneapolis had three suits against him, two for alleged trespass and one for a rescale. Settlement was made for $4,108. C. A. Smith of Minneapolis agreed to pay a claim of $1,118, and the Nelson-Tenny Lumber Company of Minneapolis agreed to pay a claim of $693, both of these being for alleged violation of the law in cutting timber after the period of the permit had expired.

Food Is Better Now.

Considerable improvement in the food stuffs sold in Minnesota is shown by tests made during the last few weeks by the state dairy and food department. The list just issued contains the names of eighty-one samples examined by the commission, of which only twenty-four were found illegal. In some former lists half or more were found illegal.

The campaign against illegal blackberry brandy has evidently borne fruit, for in the list are mentioned more than a dozen brands and only one of them illegal. The other violations include several cases of strawberry jam, port wine, strawberry pop, lemon extract and preserves colored with coal tar dyes and a few containing glucose or preserved with salicylic acid. Several illegal species are mentioned, but the violation in most cases is not adulteration, but a failure to state the weight of the contents of the package.

White Earth Reds End Council.

Wednesday will go down as a red letter day in the history of the White Earth reservation.

After a three-day continuous council the great majority of the people of the reservation, together with four-fifths of their chiefs and head men, voted to have their reallotment of land as made by Agent Simon Michelet on April 24 last, and as provided by the Steenerson land measure, remain unchanged and undisturbed, and to have the balance of the allotments which are yet to be made continued under the same rules and regulations.

The people are well pleased at the sale and the impartial manner in which Inspector James M. McLaughlin conducted the several hearings. The action of the people completely exonerates Agent Michelet from censure for unfairness in the matter of reallotment, with which efforts had been made to reflect upon his official capacity in the matter.

IN FAR NORTHLAND

Tid-Bits of News for Scandinavians.

UNDER SWEDEN'S OPPRESSION.

Augustus Strindberg Writes on Scandinavian Situation.

The jingo press is much agitated about Strindberg's latest: "A Free Norway." The pamphlet appeared in Berlin a few days ago and since then the telegraph is kept busy with extracts and commentaries. The publication came a good deal as a surprise, as only recently Strindberg expressed himself to the effect that he was "not in politics," but took interest in literature only.

Really the most remarkable thing about the pamphlet is the preface, dated "Furusund, July 16th, 1905." It reads as follows:

"Even into our youthful world of ideas, my own and my schoolmates', crept the knowledge that Norway was an oppressed country, suffering injustice at the hands of Sweden. As a consequence, we boys dreamt of free Norway, and Bjoernson was the hero to bring about the freedom of the sister country.

"Though Norway's independence in the union had never been guaranteed, she had in the course of years become a vassal state, lorded over by Sweden. Swedish ministers of state had broken the constitution to hurt Norway. Norway was a victim of low trickery. The Swedish people recognized the fact and tried to make good by the sympathies extended to the Norwegians to the victims of the injustice.

"Then those Swedes who had retained their sense of justice were called traitors—those were hot times during the years 1880 to 1884.

"Today Norway is free, and I am glad and thankful that at least one of my youthful ideals is realized. That Bjoernson is not satisfied with things as they are, I am sorry to hear. It all happened, it seems, without his assistance. Peace to him!

"Meanwhile free Norway gives valuable lessons to the world. She exhibits before the world the spectacle of how a nation is governed by parliament and ministers without a monarch or president—just a provisional government. And everything goes well; the government machine works as smoothly, in fact more smoothly, than when a king was at the head of affairs. Norway shows the world how easy it is to govern a nation without a king, court president and a lot of obsolete ragamuffins of all sorts.

"That the Norwegians really want a Swedish prince for king—that is a good joke. They had their choice between an inspector of cavalry (Prince Charles), a landscape painter (Prince Eugene), and a sea cadet (Prince William). Just imagine old, unconquered Norway 'ruled' by a sea cadet!

"Yet Sweden took the joke in bloody earnest. It debated most seriously about the sea cadet.

"From my summer home floats the Swedish flag without the union sign. That mark of Cain has vanished, for the brother has ceased to injure his brother. At least let us hope that he has. —August Strindberg."

TO BOYCOTT NORWEGIANS.

Large Firm in Sweden Sends Out Interesting Letter.

Aftenposten of Christiania says that it has discovered a plan for a systematic boycott against Norwegian business men on the other side of Kjoelen. In support of this allegation, it republishes a letter received by an important house in England from a large firm in Sweden. The letter is dated Stockholm, Aug. 16, 1905, and is as follows:

"Referring to our pleasant business connection for years past, we are very sorry to inform you that we shall not see our way to continue same in case a natural-born Norwegian is to represent your valued firm in Sweden.

"The unendurable way in which the Norwegians have for many years past treated their neighbors, the phlegmatic and patient Swedes, which have been boycotted almost in every branch, and moreover, cut up in the Norwegian press, has finally had the result that we have lost the patience.

"In order to disprove all the mendacious statements which the Norwegians have been impudent enough to insert in your papers, we are sending you a pamphlet recently published by the Swedish parliament concerning the union affairs.

"Tendering you our thanks for the business connection we have had together during the past years, we remain, dear sir,"

Chicago Dentist Is a Professor.

Dr. John N. Sandblom, a Chicago dentist and a native of Sundsvall, Sweden, has been offered the position of dentistry and dental clinics at the University of Christiania. He has spent the past six months at the leading medical schools in Europe.

Reunion of the Magelssens.

An interesting family reunion took place at Christiania, Norway, on Sept. 1, when nine children of Dean Wilhelm Christian Magelssen of West Toten met for the first time in years. Of the eleven children in the family, the eldest, Claus F. Magelssen, of the Norwegian Lutheran synod in America, died last year, and Jens C. M. Magelssen, a farmer in America, was prevented from attending. It is noteworthy that four of five sons were clergymen, and five of the six daughters married clergymen.

REDS IN PERIL OF STARVATION

MAJ. SCOTT OF LEECH LAKE FEARS FOR LIVES OF AGED INDIANS.

SITUATION IS VERY GRAVE

WILD RICE AND HAY CROPS ON CHIPPEWA RESERVATIONS FAILURES.

HUNDREDS ARE IN DANGER

AGENT SAYS THAT 1,000 WILL BE FACE TO FACE WITH STARVATION.

Duluth, Oct. 1. — Unless the federal government intervenes, at least 1,000 Indians of the Leech Lake reservation will be face to face with the peril of death by starvation during the coming winter, declared Maj. George L. Scott. Maj. Scott, who is the Indian agent at Leech Lake, said yesterday:

"The wild rice and hay crops of the Indians are failures on the Chippewa reservations in my care, and I have given information of the situation to the commissioner of Indian affairs. The failure of these crops means a famine for the Indians and their ponies. They will not feel it for the present, but they will as soon as winter closes in. The young and middle-aged bucks can get plenty of work to do and take care of themselves with their earnings, but the older Indians will suffer great privations, if not actually starve to death, unless the government assists them to live through the winter.

Hunger for a Thousand.

"I estimate that one thousand will be face to face with starvation if assistance is not given them.

"Wild rice is a staple product for the Indians, the same as wheat for the white man. Utter failure of this crop and of the hay crop also have put the Indians in the worst possible shape for the winter. I have given the department early notice for fear of delays.

"The government has a legal right under its treaty with the Chippewas of the Mississippi to overflow their lands, and ten years ago paid them $150,000 for such possible emergency. The government is for the damage accruing to the lands, but this is a case where the wards of the nation may die of starvation, and the government will surely come to their assistance without splitting any hairs about responsibility for damage.

Exempt From Responsibility

"The Chippewa Indians are more concerned, however, over the destruction of the graves of their ancesters by the high water than by the destruction of the rice and hay crops. The bones of chiefs dead for a century or so are being removed to higher land and the Indians are much displeased. They almost would rather see the graves submerged and destroyed than remove the bones.

Self-Selected Graves.

"These dead and gone but well remembered chiefs picked out their burial places before death, usually choosing some point of land overlooking a lake or river. Chief Flatmouth a few days ago informed me that Indian graves were in danger of being inundated at the old agency. The Indians are deeply moved by the destruction of their burial places."

FORGERY STILL IS A MYSTERY.

Securities Obtained From Bank Are Unfound.

New York, Oct. 1. — So far as could be ascertained yesterday no attempt has yet been made by the thief who got possession of $360,000 worth of securities by presenting a forged check for them at the National City bank, to dispose of them. Detectives and the financial men interested in the loss are making every effort to prevent the negotiation or sale of the securities and to find the young man who presented to the bank a forged check bearing what purported to be the signature of Pearl & Co., the owners of the securities.

JUSTIFIABLE KILLING.

Coroner's Jury Verdict Favors Father Who Killed Child's Assailant.

Detroit, Oct. 1. — A coroner's jury found a verdict that William R. Harrington committed justifiable homicide when he killed Charles M. Martin with a baseball bat Thursday. Martin was assaulting Harrington's sixteen-year-old daughter when Harrington attacked him with the bat. Coroner Parker ordered Harrington released from custody.

Find Body in River.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1. — The body of Albert W. Bagnall, who had been missing for five days, was found in Red river yesterday. He evidently committed suicide while despondent. A widow and seven children survive him.

Eagle Chokes on Smoke.

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 1. — A eagle in its flight over this city yesterday halted to investigate a tall smoke stack, fell in and choked the chimney's air passage as well as his own.

ABSOLUTELY PURE
CALUMET
BAKING POWDER
NOT MADE BY THE TRUST

Health

Calumet makes light, digestible wholesome food.

Economy

Only one heaping teaspoonful is needed for one quart of flour.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

HONESTY is the best policy was not necessarily said of life insurance companies.

A STREAK of prosperity must have struck the Moorhead News office this fall, as they are installing a new Mercanthaler typesetting machine.

Now that R. C. Dunn has been vindicated in regard to the mineral land leases, how can he explain away the fact that he was a railroad candidate?

A NUMBER of the republican papers are booming Frank Eddy as a candidate for the nomination for Governor. Gee! won't this be a snap for John A.

A CALIFORNIA paper avers that bad water kills as many people as bad whisky. But, anyway, the latter commodity is cheaper, which is some satisfaction in hard times.

THE Red River valley editors meet at Crookston tomorrow evening for a business session. There is room in the valley for a live editorial association, and the boys can accomplish a great work for their district and themselves.

DR. George A. Koch, who was acquitted on the third trial for the murder of his friend at New Ulm, has decided to move to Minneapolis where he will continue to practice dentistry. Evidently the old town got a little too warm for him, after his acquittal.

THE Lakefield Standard criticizes Governor Johnson because he has praised President Roosevelt. It is hard to suit the Standard, and it is not likely that it would be satisfied even though the governor should censure the president. The standard is showing to what length insane partisanship will lead.

Gov. Sarles, of North Dakota, is out with the prediction that John A. Johnson will succeed himself as governor of Minnesota. Gov. Sarles is everywhere recognized as a shrewd and able politician but if the republicans in Minnesota nominate a good clean man next year he will miss his guess by about 25000 votes.—Wilkin County Gazette.

MINNESOTA PEOPLE may well be proud of the Minneapolis Sunday Journal. It seems to be everything a great Sunday newspaper should be. It has plenty of live news, snappy editorials and a lot of the better kind of general reading matter. There is room for the Sunday Journal, and it will be cordially welcomed in northwestern homes.

Ayer's

If your blood is thin and impure, you are miserable all the time. It is pure, rich blood that invigorates, strengthens, refreshes. You certainly know the medicine that brings good health to the home, the only medicine tested and tried for 60 years. A doctor's medicine.

Sarsaparilla

"I owe my life, without doubt, to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the most wonderful medicine in the world for nervousness. My cure is permanent, and I cannot thank you enough."
MRS. DELIA MCWELL, Newark, N.J.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.
J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for

Poor Health

Laxative doses of Ayer's Pills each night greatly aid the Sarsaparilla.

THE proposition to make a new legislative district out of Red Lake and Marshall counties, suggested by the COURIER, is meeting with a good deal of favorable comment among the newspapers of this vicinity. Norman county, however, objects to being left alone to take care of Beltrami, and the objetcion is well received. Norman has no more in common with its eastern neighbor than has Red Lake.

Is it a coincidence that every time we have a Democratic board of equalization the public service corporations, the lumber trusts, and the "big fellows" generally have their assessments boosted? Under the Lind administration a large number of reforms in assessment were accomplished, and now the first Johnson board closes its session by increasing the Twin City Street Railway company's assessment to $10,000,000 a raise of $2,200,000. The lumber barons, gaslight and packing companies and many other large concerns that have been evading a share of the burden of taxation come in for substantial increases. This may be a coincidence, but it is hardly likely. The solution the average citizen would give is that Governors Lind and Johnson appointed equalizers not afraid to perform their full duty.

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It is a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn-out by the pains and poisons of dyspepsia, billiousness, Bright's disease, and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your symptoms, but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. Here you will find sure and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, and your body will not be burdened by a load of debt disease. At all drug stores. Price 50c. Guaranteed.

Marriage Licenses.

Issued by clerk of court since Sept 8th, 1905.

Sept 8.—Anton Andersen to Elen W. Carlson, both of St. Hilaire.

Sept 15.—A. K. Lochrein of Barnes Co. N. D. to Christina Aasceby of Norden township.

John Makind, of St. Hilaire, to Emma Engh, of Wyandotte township.

Sept. 16.—Fred Lessard to Lucy Bernier of Lambert township.

Sept. 21.—Julius Shoerge to Minnie Johnson, both of Plummer.

Oct. 2.—W. J. Powland, of Beltrami county, to Katie Olson.

Full of Tragic Meaning

are these lines from J. H. Simmons, of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough, that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases; prevents grip and pneumonia. At all druggist; guaranteed; 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Notice to Threshers.

Any owner or manager of traction engines crossing any bridge or culvert, in the township of Terrebonne who neglects to protect said bridge or culvert by planks as provided by law will be held, responsible for all damage as provided by chap. 151, Law of 1895.

LOUIS PARENTEAU,
Chairman Supervisors.

Presidential election make no change.

No matter which candidate is elected Foleys Honey and Tar will remain the peoples favorite remedy for coughs, colds, and incipient consumption. It cures colds quickly and prevents pneumonia. A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foleys Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me."—A. L. Reichart.

PLUMMER
(From the Pioneer.)

Mrs. Matt Skala, Mrs. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rose drove out from Red Lake Falls last Sunday and spent the day visiting with friends here.

Last week Julis Pleth purchased the Ole Lee farm in Garnes township. This farm is a good one and nicely located adjoining the Garnes postoffice.

Thomas Vietch was in on Wednesday from his home in Equality after a load of supplies. He reports the crops in his vicinity as being unusually good and nearly all saved in good condition.

A special train bearing president Thos. Lowry and a number of the other high officials of the Soo railroad company passed through here on Wednesday. They were on their way home to Minneapolis from a visit to the Pacific coast and came by way of Winnipeg.

Martin Mattson will open up a butcher shop in the new Lanager building and expects to be ready for business the first of the week. He has fixed the place up in the proper shape to run a first class meat market. He has been in the business for about eleven years and has been working in one of the leading shops in Crookston for the past two years.

On last Monday a deal was closed whereby H. C. Selden, of Minneapolis, becomes the owner of all the Bovey Shute Lumber Co's yards in Minnesota. On Tuesday Mr. Selden and W. S. Day, auditor for the Bovey-Shute company, were here to take an inventory of the stock on hand in this yard. From here they went to the other yards to perform a similar duty and they expect to finish this work this week.

The Orignal.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal conditton, heaaing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co. Sold by druggists, 75c. Toledo, O. Take Halls Family Pills for constipation.

The Permanent Novel.

"The novel that has inherent and permanent value that will secure for it a place in literature," said a well known author a few days ago, "rarely exceeds an edition of ten or fifteen thousand copies, and more often the limit is 5,000, while the one that is ephemeral, but catches the public fancy, may have a sale of fifty or a hundred thousand. Books of the latter class put money into the pockets of both author and publisher, but it does not come from the most discriminating readers. Of the class in question the field is limited, and, while they establish the reputation and permanent value of the really literary production, they are not included in the clientele of the author who is willing to sacrifice quality and style to increase his revenues from royalties. The novel that attains a wide but brief popularity does not appeal to the literary class."

Order for Hearing Proof on Claims, etc.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
County of Red Lake, }

IN PROBATE COURT.
Special Term October 3, 1905

In the matter of the Estate of Cyprien Asselin, deceased.

Letters of Testamentary of the estate of Cyprien Asselin, deceased, late of the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, being granted to Cleophas Asselin and Onezime Asselin,

It is Ordered, That three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date of this order, in which all persons having claims or demands against the said deceased are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said County, for examination and allowance, or be forever barred.

It is Furthered Ordered, That the 3rd day of January, 1906, at ten o'clock A. M., at a Special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the Probate Office in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County, be and the same hereby is appointed as the time and place when and where the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And it is further ordered, that notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, the 3rd day of October A. D. 1905.

By the Court.
N. W. TARRENT,
[seal] Judge of Probate.

WEALTHY PHILANTHROPIST STARTLES MINNEAPOLIS

City is Excited over the Remarkable Cures of a Mysterious Man Whose Eccentricities Are Startling.

Strange Stories are Told of a quiet Stranger who Distributes great quantities of food and clothing and cures disease without pay.

Minneapolis, Minn. Oct 4th [special.]—The people of this city are greatly excited over a number of remarkable cures which have been effected by a wealthy philanthropist, who is known as the Great Cooper.

His headquaters at Voegeli's Drug Store is besieged with crowds of men and women eager to be cured of their ills.

Cooper is a quiet, gentlemanly person, with the appearance of a student rather than a business man. He is apparently about thirty-one or two years of age. He first came into public notice by his philanthropic work among the poor. The large fortune he possesses has made it possible for him to distribute many wagon loads of food and clothing among those in indigent circumstances since his arrival in Minneapolis.

The first that was known of Cooper's power over disease was when Mr. E. Pomerleau, living at No. 554 Eighth Ave. N., a trusted employee of the Commutator Co. of No 121 First St. N., brought to Voegeli's Drug Store the largest parasite or, tape-worm ever seen in this city, which he claimed had been removed from his system by the Philanthropist. The parasite measured 90 feet in length, and when exhibited to the astonished druggist was still alive and squirming in the glass dish which contained it.

Mr. Pomereau was greatly excited and told the following remarkable story; I have been ill for a long time. Sometimes I had a voracious appetite, and then there would be days when I could eat scarcely anything, and the smell of food nauseated me, I felt tired all the time, and when coming down town to my work felt as though I hardly had the strength to get back home again, although I was a strong, robust man before I was taken ill. I was irritable and had become so nervous and crabbed that I could not be agreeable or pleasant to any one around me, and I felt so tired and worn out all the time that I could not perform my daily labor without the greatest effort. I was weak and emaciated and my skin was sallow. I became moody and depressed in spirits and was greatly worried about myself.

My employer, Mr. Ben Boneau, had seen Mr. Cooper in the East and said he had effected many marvelous cures there and advised me to consult him. I followed his advice and have been taking Cooper's treatment less than one week. Two hours ago this tapeworm passed from my system; now I know what has been troubling me all this time.

Some people would not tell about a matter of this kind, but I beleive in giving credit wherever credit is due, and I want everyone to know what Cooper has done for me. I would do anything in my power for him, for I actually believe he has saved my life.

A few days after this Mr. W. H. McClurg, living at No. 2601 Newton Ave. N., reported that Cooper had cured him of a severe case of Rheumatism and stomache trouble. He said: I have had stomache trouble and Rheumatism for a long time. I heard of a man who had been cured of Rheumatism in one week by Cooper, I did not believe there was a medicine on earth that could cure me, but I decided to try him.

I have been under his treatment for less then two weeks and it has done for me just what it did for the other man. Every trace of Rheumatism and stomach trouble has dissappeared not a sign of it remains, and I feel as well to-day as I ever did in my life. I seem to have been made over. I am gaining rapidly in flesh, my appetite is good and I can eat and digest any kind of food. Cooper is a remarkable man,

This was followed by the still more remarkable cure of Mrs. Catherine Mulvihill, a prominent lady living at No. 2101, Twenty-sixth Ave. S. Mrs. Mulvihill has been sick for fifteen years with a complication of Kidney disease, Rheumatism and stomach trouble, with severe headaches. Physicians and various remedies had failed to benefit her and she had despaired of ever regaining her health. In one week after she began Cooper's treatment she was feeling as well as ever; ever trace of her trouble had disappeared

The report of these remarkable cures flew through the city like wildfire and Voegeli's Drug Store, where Cooper is making his headquarters, is besieged by people suffering from all manner of ailments.

The Physicians of the city are amazed at the work he is doing and have tried to shake the wonderful influence he has over the people; even going so far as to threaten prosecution, but as he does not accept any money for his service and does not give out any medicine himself, they have been powerless to interfere.

Cooper created considerable amusement at the expense of the doctors by asking them why they did not write their prescripions in English, so their patients would know what they were taking.

Since the interest has become so widespread that Cooper cannot meet the people personally, he is receiving an enormous mail and keeps a large force of stenographers employed in answering it. In the meantime stories of marvelous cures continue to pour in

Mr. Lawrence Tuscany, a prominent citizen living at No. 1112 Aldrich Ave. North, was confined to his bed with Rheumatism, stomach trouble and Kidney disease; he was a very sick man and had tried doctor after doctor and spent hundreds of dollars without releif. He had given up all hope of being cured when he heard of Cooper and wrote him a description of his case. The Philanthropist told him what remedies to use, and in three days Mr. Tuscany was out of bed and walking around. In a week he was apparently as well as ever.

In telling of his remarkable cure, Mr. Tuscany walked quickly up and down the room and kicked with his Rheumatic limb in every direction, saying: "I guess that's pretty good for a man who was confined to his bed one week ago. I can use my limbs as well as I ever could in my life. Every trace of my Rheumatism has disappeared and my stomach and Kidneys are in perfect condition. I don't believe there is another medicine on earth like the one Mr. Cooper told me to use, and if I could not get more of the remedy, I would buy fifty dollars' worth right now. It is the greatest medicine I ever heard of."

The Philanthropist claims to have received the formulas of the medicines he is using from an aged priest in a sleepy Spanish town in Old Mexico. The Mexicans believed that holy water or some supernatural element entered into their composition.

Cooper receives an enormous daily mail. Letters are coming from every part of the state, asking for his advice.

The Philanthropist reads every letter carefully and replies to each one, advising the remedy which is applicable to each individual case.

While his remarkable cures are the chief topic of conversation, many stories are heard on the streets and in business places of his goodness to the poor. His gifts of food, money and clothing have relieved a great amount of distress and have greatly endeared him to the people.

He is beginning to show the great strain he has been under the past few weeks, and it is understood that he will remain here only one more week.

Minnesota Baptist State Convention.

On account of the Minnesota Baptist State Convention to be held at Duluth, October 10-13, the Great Northern Railway will sell tickets at reduced rates. For full information regarding trains, and rates, call on your local agent.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS and COLDS — Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.

Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

TIME CARD —OF— TRAINS.
RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at.......... 7:45 a m

SOUTH-BOUND
No. 156—Departs.......... 6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.
Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul Minn.
R. A. MIZEN, Agent.

The Courier Stationery Store has a line of new box papers.

Keep Warm and Keep Cool

It's easy enough to KEEP WARM with a good Fur, but it's another thing to KEEP COOL in buying your Fur at a price meritful of style and quality. Take one of our Furs home, take one from another store, look them over, pull the fur out of them and see yourself why the

:..LANPHER FURS..:

SELL ON NAME and RE-SELL ON QUALITY—made since 1876.

PRICES TO GET BUSINESS	Black Belgian Fur Boas, 50c Polaris Blacks, wide back, warm, $1.00 and $1.50 Chenille-trimmed Beavers, $5.50 to $8.00 Fox Furs—our best efforts shown here; anything up to $24; excellent values at $18.59; regular $21 fur

Your Coat may be here; one you may like. Drop in, try it on, see how well it fits; take it home and see if it isn't worth every cent we ask for it. Snappy and stylish, at $5.50, $8.50 and $12.50

We boomed our Dress Goods trade this fall. Values did it, good values. Velvets are becoming and selling; good choice left. Changeable Velvets, only 60c per yd. Crushed Silk Velvets, only $1.00 per yd. Gloves and Trimmings to match.

THE BUSY STORE

Queen Quality Shoes — GARCEAU & ZAISER — McCall Patterns

Home Made

Have your cake, muffins, and tea biscuit home-made. They will be fresher, cleaner, more tasty and wholesome.

Royal Baking Powder helps the house wife to produce at home, quickly and economically, fine and tasty cake, the raised hot-biscuit, puddings, the frosted layer-cake, crisp cookies, crullers, crusts and muffins, with which the ready-made food found at the bake-shop or grocery does not compare.

Royal is the greatest of bake-day helps.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

C. L. Hanson spent Sunday with friends at Fertile.

Theo. Garceau made a drive over to Crookston on Sunday last.

Dr. and Mrs. Morley came over from Crookston in their touring car on Tuesday forenoon.

R. E. Wyer spent Friday and Saturday visiting with his friend Tom Green at Forest River, N. D.

Oscar F. Post, the St. Hilaire postmaster and merchant, drove down Saturday to look after business matters.

Simon Sinlon went to North Dakota the first of the week with four big teams where he will do some railroad grading.

Jos. Rose was over from Grand Forks the first of this week and took out a crew of carpenters on the Great Northern to repair the bridges.

The following letters remain unclaimed in the Postoffice at Red Lake Falls for the week ending Sept 30 1905: Jensine Banrud, David Palmer.

John S. Grady returned Saturday morning from Elkton, S. D., near which place he owns a farm, and has been looking after threshing operations.

The "B. B." and "I Lead" cigars, made by "Butch" and "Clem" Brunelle, are proving a success and the boys say that they can not keep up with the demand.

Adam Schmitz moved his household goods to Grand Forks the first of the week and followed with his family on Tuesday mornings train on the Northern Pacific.

Attend the Northwestern Business College, grand Forks, N. Dak. Thorough courses in bookkeeping, shorthand, telegraphy and the English branches. Students may begin any time. Write for catalogue. J 1

Ernest Gerlach who has been working at LaBissoniere store has accepted a similar position with one of the big stores out at Sisseton, South Dakota, and left for that place on Monday evenings train. His many friends here join with the Courier in wishing him unbounded success in his new location.

Mrs. Arthur Zaiser is visiting at Crookston.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for farm loans.

Dr. Argue made his regular trip to St. Hilaire on Tuesday morning.

Lars Netterlim, of Roxbury was transacting business at the county seat the first of the week.

Oscar Post was down from St. Hilaire on Tuesday, transacting legal business with the probate Judge.

Mrs. Thos. Germo has been quarantined at her mothers home on account of her little daughter having a light attack of Scarlatina.

John E. King returned Saturday evening to St. Paul, after spending a couple of weeks looking after business matters in Red Lake Falls.

John Kortschever, of Tilden, spent several days of last week visiting with friends here. He returned to his home on Saturday night.

Ralph Wyer leaves tomorrow for Toronto, Ont., where he will be employed by a concern the head of which is M. W. Savage, the owner of the famous "Dan Patch"

Harry Healy, S. L. Lewis and Ernest Buse spent last Sunday out at Goose Lake and as a result bagged upwards of fifty ducks. Better look out boys, that you don't crowd the limit.

James I. Wyer, president of the First State Bank, left Saturday evening for his home at Excelsior, after spending several weeks looking after business matters in Red Lake Falls.

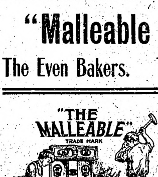
W. J. Harlow, teacher at the Patnode school was called to his home near Milwaukee Saturday by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his mother. He will probably be absent most of the week.

The storekeepers have decided to keep their places of business open until eight o'clock in the evening from now until after the first of January. This was decided upon and put into effect on Monday.

The case of Ernest Buse vs. the First State Bank was heard by Judge Watts Thursday and Friday, but the evidence was not all presented and the case has been adjourned until October 23—a few days before the regular term of court commences.

"Malleable Ranges"

The Even Bakers. The Fuel Savers.



"THE MALLEABLE"
TRADE MARK
FIRE ALL YOUR MALL ALL YOUR IT'S NON-BREAK STEEL—MALLE ABLE.

ARE you going to buy a STEEL RANGE?

If so, be sure to come and see the "MALLEABLE.

It costs a little more in the first place but is a lot cheaper in the end. It is made throughout of malleable iron and steel so that the first cost is the only cost. The reason that it take less fuel than the old cast iron cook stove is that it is riveted together like a boiler making every joint absolutely air tight.

Then the Malleable is very easily cleaned; its exterior is of Polished Steel, not of black painted iron. Surfaces all perfectly smooth, no corners to catch the dirt or grease.

We fit all the Malleables with "Portable Flush Reservoirs on the right side. These reservoirs are made of copper and hold 15 gallons, almost half a barrel.

We would be pleased to have you call and look the "MALLEABLE over, and

Get a Malleable Cook Book FREE!

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

Louis Berthune was a St. Paul visitor for a few days last week.

George Frick was up from Fertile buying horses the first of this week.

Iza Tibbets commenced a term of school in the Louisville district Monday.

Adam Zeh made a business trip to Fargo on Monday evening passenger.

The walls of the new school house on the north-side will be finished this week.

Mrs. Oliver Blair will visit for the next two weeks with friends in Grand Forks.

October 1st is the first sign that Minnesota people have had of Jack Frost this fall.

Button's Business College Crookston, Minnesota, begins a new term October 9. Enroll now.

Groshong & Blake shipped a car load of cattle to the St. Paul market on Monday of this week.

Mrs. N. J. St. Aubin and little daughter are visiting with the home folks at Gentilley this week.

Wm. Biteman left Wednesday for Glasgow, Montana where he has purchased a saloon property.

Moses Allard went to Grand Forks Wednesday where he will work with a bridge carpentering crew.

John Grady returned from Mitchell, S. D., where he has spent some time looking after his farm property.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Enquire at the Big Store.

Geo. L. Austin, the buttermaker at St. Hilaire, was transacting business at the county seat on Wednesday of this week.

H. F. Kruegar and wife returned from Crookston Monday and will make their home in this city for a short time at least.

A special train, containing the N. P. officials passed thru Red Lake Falls on Monday morning on an inspection trip of the road.

J. A. Duffy is to have a cement side walk placed in front of his residence on third street. Herman Lindner is to do the work.

The property next to J. N. Nimegarm's confectionery store on the north side has a cement side walk placed in front of it this week.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will hold a bazar early in December. Watch for full particulars to be published later.

Girls, if you want red lips, laughing eyes, sweet breath and good looks use Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea The greatest beautifier known. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.

Nap Miller moved his family and household goods to Grand Forks the first of this week where they will make their home. Mr. Miller has accepted a position as barber in the Hotel Dakota shop.

Indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, kidney and liver disorders, and all stomach troubles positively cured by using Hollister's Rockey Mountain Tea. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.

Mrs. C. F. Johnson moved her household goods to Minneapolis the first of this week where she will join her husband and sons who are working there. They expect to make their home in the city.

Will Lachapelle who has been spending the past few months out in Washington and Oregon returned to Red Lake Falls on Monday morning of this week. He says that old Minnesota is good enough for him in the future.

Rev. Father Fayolle returned Friday morning from Minneapolis, where he went last week for a few days' recreation. While in the city he also looked after the purchase of books and supplies for St. Joseph's parochial school.

Herman Linder has received his concrete block making machinery and will soon be making concrete blocks to be used for foundations. These blocks are rapidly taking the place of stone foundations and this new industry will no doubt be a success.

The columns of the COURIER are not as well filled as usual this week owing to the fact that we are a stranger in a strange land and laboring under difficulties that are hard to overcome. As soon as we are able to secure a practical printer for the mechanical department we will issue a twelve page paper.

Is it exactly fair for a person, year after year, to read the COURIER or any other paper and never pay anything for it? Every type set in a printing office costs money, and people who read the papers are in honor bound to help pay for the work of making them. Don't you think so? Do those who read the COURIER belonging to their neighbor do exactly the fair thing?

New Cure For Cancer.

All surface cancers are now known to be curable, by Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Jas. Walters, of Duffield, Va., writes: "I had a cancer on my lip for years, that seemed incurable, till Bucklen's Arnica Salve healed it, and now it is perfectly well." Guaranteed cure for cuts and burns. 25c at all drug stores.

Our candies are fresh, no old stock.—Spillane's.

L. C. Simons went to St. Paul on Wednesday evenings train on land business.

Charles Bourdon made a business trip up into North Dakota on Monday morning.

Mrs. Marshall left last Friday for St. Paul to visit for a few days with her son who is attending school there.

Jos. Lachance returned the last of last week from his trip up into Canada where he visited with relatives for a short time.

Mrs. Anna Kretschzmar returned to her home at Thief River Wednesday after a short visit at the home of W. A. Scheriter.

The balance of the proceedings of the county commissioners meeting will be found on the last page of this issue of the Courier.

Otto Steinert went up to Thief River Wednesday where he will work for a month or so for the Hanson-Brazen Milling Co.

Supt. of Schools McAnulty is out on a round of visits to the schools of the county and will be absent from his office for about ten days.

County Attorney Germo returned last Sunday from Mapleton, Minn., where he was called earlier in the week to attend his mothers funeral.

On Friday evening of last week J. R. Pouliot left for Granite Falls Minn., where he has accepted a positon as clerk in the Bangs general store.

The dance held at the K. P. hall on Tuesday evening of this week was in honor of Ralph E. Wyer, who leaves on Friday evening for his new location.

W. I. Nolan spoke to a small but enthusiastic house here on Tuesday evening. He has many friends here who never tire of hearing him in his dry wit and humor.

Don't spoil your eyes by wearing misfit glasses or by not wearing glasses when you know your eyes are weak and need help. Examination free.—Henry W. Anderson.

Contractor Brady has the new improvements at the court house well under way. The new roof is completed, and work on the new vault in the auditor's office is in progress.

On next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church the Sunday School Rally Day services will be held. A nice program has been arranged which will interest all who attend.

Word was received from T. Robillard that while Geo. LaBissioniere and himself were driving over to the formers place the team ran a way but that they both escaped with a few bruises.

A brakeman on the Great Northern was quite badly hurt Tuesday at St. Hilaire by getting his hand caught between the bumpers, smashing the thumb and two fingers so bad that he will probably lose them.

It makes no difference how long you have been sick, if you are troubled with indigestion, constipation, liver and kidney troubles, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will make you well. 35 cents.

The brick masons have quit work on Mr. Deutschmans new brick building on the north side of the river in order to complete the brick work on the new school house house as early as possible, which will be in about two weeks.

Here is a chance for Roosevelt to bestow his blessing:—Mrs. John Jackson, wife of a Rock Island railway employe of Fort Worth, Texas, gave birth last Thursday to five girl babies, all of whom are living. The mother is 17 years old and the father 19.

L. C. Pearson who has acted as agent for the Thorpe Elevator Company left Tuesday for Thief River where he enters the employ of the Soo road. The Thorpe coal yards will be taken charge of by Frank Mizen, our genial N. P. station agent.

The foot ball game at Grand Forks next Saturday will undoubtedly be well attended by Red Lake people, as the N. P. train will be held until the finish of the game so as to accommodate those who wish to get back the same night. Let everybody go and "root."

The Duluth News-Tribune says: "Chas. W. Latta, editor of the Plummer Pioneer, is in the city on a sad errand. He raced against death to reach the side of his sister, who died yesterday at St. Luke's hospital, but arrived too late to take her last message. He is the only member of a widely scattered family to attend her funeral today."

Consumptives made Comfortable.

Incipient consumption is cured by Foleys Honey and Tar, but we do not hold out false hopes to consumptive by claiming that it will cure this dread disease in the advanced stages, but if the lungs are not too far gone Foleys Honey and Tar will effect a cure, as it stops the racking cough and soothes the inflamed air passages giving them a chance to heal, and even in the advanced stages it always gives comfort and relief. A. A. Herren, of Finch, Ark., writes "Foleys Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages.—A. L. Reichert.

Don't be Deceived

By being made to Believe that

Other Cloaks Are as Good as PALMERS

For there are no Cloaks that will compare with PALMERS for richness in design and style, no higher than others.

$5 up to $30.

Most Excellent Values at $10 and $12

Misses $2.75 to $10.00

Excellent Styles at $4. $5

Palmer GARMENT

Last years Cloaks at

1-2 Price

FURS! OF ALL KINDS From 50c to $37.50

THE People are surely appreciating our SHOE VALUES, judging by the BUSINESS we are doing.

Our St. Cecilia at $3.50
Our Nanaimo at 3.00
Our Saranac at 2.50

Cannot be equaled. We could ask $3.00 for our $2.50 shoe and it would sell just the same; such is its goodness.

Godman Shoes at $1.38, $1.50 and $1.75 would easily bring 25 cents per pair more if we asked it.

It pays to trade at

THE BIG STORE,

Theo LaBissoniere, Proprietor

Plans to Get Rich.

Are often frustrated by sudden breakdown, due to dyspepsia or constipation. Brace up and take Dr. King's New Life Pills. They take out the materials which are clogging your energies, and give you a new start. Cure headache and dizziness too. At all drug stores; 25c., guaranteed.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to those who so kindly assisted us during the recent illness and death of our mother.

Wm. Hennings,
E. A. Hennings,
G. F. Hennings.

A Prominent Trainman.

The many friends of G. H. Hansan, Engineer L. E. & W. R. R., at present living in Lima, O., will be pleased to know of his recovery from threatened kidney disease. He says: "I was cured by using Foley's Kidney Cure which I recommend to all people. Sold by A. L. Reichert.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TIME TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West		Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar. 7:35 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:00 A. M.	Crookston	6:45 P. M.
8:50 A. M.	Dugdale	6:00 P. M.
9:25 A. M.	Red Lake Falls	5:25 P. M.
9:55 A. M.	St. Hilaire	4:55 P. M.
10:20 A. M.	Thief River	4:30 P. M.
10:40 A. M.	Steiner	4:05 P. M.
11:03 A. M.	Sandridge	3:52 P. M.
11:30 A. M.	Middle River	3:32 P. M.
11:55 P. M.	Strathcoma	3:57 P. M.
12:25 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv. 2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

McMURRAY'S VANILLA

WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

Don't Grind YOUR LIFE AWAY

Become a demonstrator and earn $5.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working over time. Act today.

COLONIAL SUPPLY CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

Merchants State Bank

Of Red Lake Falls.

Do You Know That the Merchants State Bank is a strictly home institution. All our officers and stockholders live in Red Lake Falls and have established the Merchants State Bank with their own money. We do a regular banking business in every department. There is no transaction too large for us to handle and none too small for us to give our attention.

Our Savings Dep't. We would especially call your attention to our savings department. We have now on our books a large list of names of men, women, children who deposited with us, ranging from $100 to $200. These are saving accounts and are continually growing by adding to them the spare pennies, nickles and dimes. Don't put off any longer. Open a savings account with us.

HOW THE FARMERS CAN MAKE MONEY

J. J. Hill Proves by Census Reports That Farmers Must Diversify Their Interests and Raise Live Stock to Compete With Earnings in the Older States.

It is remarkable that every time J. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern road delivers an address he produces some facts of startling significance which are worth considering and reflecting upon. He spoke at a fair at Willmar, Kandiyohi county, a few days ago and as usual his remarks were pregnant with food for thought. A large portion of his address was devoted to showing the farmers of Minnesota and the Northwest how much more profitable they could make their labor and investment. He drew largely upon the late United States census report to show how much larger per acre earnings are in other states than in Minnesota asserting that the other states did not have any more if as many natural advantages as Minnesota. The contrast with the neighboring state of Iowa substantiated his argument with great force. Iowa was actually forced to abandon wheat raising and go into live stock with the result that she was acording to census report producing $8.20 per acre against Minnesota's $4.67. Thirty years ago the great reliance of Iowa farmers was raising a grade of wheat known as Amber Iowa and now only the older people remember that there ever was such a thing as Amber Iowa.

If the farmers of Minnesota realized the same per acre in dollars and cents as the farmers of Iowa, it would make a difference every year of over $75,000,000; and that is too much money to pass idly by and too large an amount not to be considered and to make an effort to redeem it.

Acre for acre, Minnesota farm lands are capable of producing as much or more wealth than the farm lands in any other division of the country; yet acre for acre, they are, with inconsequential exceptions, producing less, less in volume, less in value.

Agricultural states like Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, are producing from $5.83 to $8.20 on each acre of their farm lands under cultivation. Minnesota is producing only $4.87.

Yet in walking from the hall where we had our lunch, Mr. Eddy, whom many of you know, told me that on a farm out here of about 500 acres he got an average of $10 an acre, and he got it from his cattle. I know when he told me he got it from his cattle, he told the truth, because in no other way under the sun could he get $10 per acre profit.

Minnesota Shy.

The agricultural workers of states like Kansas, Nebraska, New York, Illinois, North Dakota, Iowa, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Washington and Oregon, are producing yearly from $656 to $1,043 each. Now, I speak of the agricultural workers, whether it is the man who owns the farm or the man who pays wages. The agricultural workers of Minnesota are producing only $625.

Illinois harvests a crop of grain and hay worth $155,000,000, with an expenditure of $9,700,000 for labor and the use of $21,000,000 worth of machinery. The other states in the agricultural column do approximately as well; some better. Minnesota expends $13,200,000 for hired labor, and uses machinery worth $22,600,000 to harvest a hay and grain crop worth only $119,000,000.

Labor in the United States averages 7.7 per cent of the value of the crop. In Minnesota it is 10.3 per cent, or almost 50 per cent more.

Minnesota Cattle.

The average value per head of cattle in Minnesota is only $19.37; the average for the United States is $21.77, and the average for the important agricultural states ranges from $27 to $24.05. Bulls in Minnesota have an average value of only $28.25. In the United States the average value of bulls is $34.49, and in the leading agricultural states the value runs from $47.32 in Iowa to $38.25 in Illinois.

For each agricultural worker within her borders Iowa is marketing live stock and meat products to the value of $228, as against an average of only $81 in Minnesota. In the other states the figures run from two and one-half times to four times as high as Minnesota's, acre for acre and man for man.

The value of live stock for each acre of farm land is $3.39 in Minnesota. In Iowa it is $8.06, and from this figure it runs down to $4.85 in the other important agricultural states.

With most exceptional advantages for sheep raising, Minnesota has only 594,000 sheep as against Michigan's 2,700,000.

In producing values the average in Minnesota is $22.05 per acre. In the other important agricultural states it averages about $30. In the dairy states, like New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, with which Minnesota has come to pit herself, the value of production averages over $35 per cow.

In Minnesota the average yearly production of milk for each cow is 403 gallons; in Michigan it is 549 gallons; in the United States it is 421 gallons; this general average including the product of all the low-grade and non-dairying states.

The dairy farms of Minnesota produced only $5.25 per acre. In the United States the average production on dairy farms was $6.50, or 25 per cent greater. In the important agricultural states the production per acre ran as high as $10.34. And your own neighbor, Mr. Eddy, makes $10 an acre here, and every man who will do the same as he does can make the same revenue.

Hay and Forage.

In hay and forage Minnesota is producing at the rate of $1.62 per acre on 3,457,680 acres of her farm area devoted to these crops. The average in the United States is $7.85, or almost twice as great as Minnesota'. The total value of her hay and forage crop is $14,585,281. Illinois, on practically the same area, raises a crop worth over $25,000,000, and Ohio, also on practically the same area, raises a crop worth $20,000,000. Michigan harvests a crop worth $21,000,000, or $7,000,000 greater than Minnesota, on an acreage less by three-quarters of a million. The strength of these figures lies in the fact that, with equal cultivation, Minnesota has demonstrated her capacity to produce more value per acre in hay and forage than almost any other state in the Union.

He told of his own Minnesota stock farm and how year after year he sent cattle to the Chicago fat stock show and won a hatful of gold medals. One steer from his farm competed with 70 head of cattle at Chicago and took seven prizes, including the sweepstakes.

Illinois, he said, took first rank as a wheat state in 1880. In 1900 she had dropped to fourteenth place. Ohio held third place in 1880, producing 10 per cent of the wheat of the country, while now she produces only 7.6 per cent of wheat. She has so thoroughly diversified her crops that she ranks well up in every class. As a result she produces $8.20 to the acre, as against $4.87 for Minnesota.

The net value of products per acre was $5.83 in Wisconsin for 1900, or about 20 per cent above Minnesota.

Wisconsin farmers reduced their wheat average from 1,900,000 in 1880 to 550,000 acres in 1900, while Minnesota increased hers from 3,300,000 to 6,500,000. Wisconsin fell from ninth place in the wheat row, with 5.4 per cent of the whole crop, to twenty-eighth place, with only 1.4 per cent. By intelligent diversification she now manages to extract $10.41 from every acre of improved land she farms, as against only $6.95 of improved land in Minnesota.

Of the farms in Minnesota 13.3 per cent range in area from 200 to 500 acres. Throughout the United States the average expended for hired labor on farms of this area is $166 per farm; in Minnesota it is $240 per farm, or 44.5 per cent greater.

Minnesota ranks only twenty-second among the states in the average production of milk per cow, with a record of 403 gallons per annum.

The states ahead of her are: California, 500 gallons; Connecticut, 545; District of Columbia, 680; Illinois, 454; Indiana, 459; Kentucky, 438; Maine, 474; Maryland, 435; Massachusetts, 572; Michigan, 549; New Hampshire, 582; New Jersey, 494; New York, 515; Ohio, 520; Pennsylvania, 516; Rhode Island, 546; Tennessee, 458; Vermont, 526; Washington, 408; West Virginia, 408; and finally, Wisconsin, 473.

The average value of dairy cows in the United States, which includes all the poor stock of Texas and the South, is $29.68, while the average value of the dairy cows of Minnesota is only $28.55.

In Illinois the average value is $34.02; in Iowa, $32.56; in New York, $32.43; in Indiana, $31.84; in Michigan, $30.65; in Missouri, $30.72; in North Dakota, $32.50; in Ohio, $30.22; in Pennsylvania, $30.88; in South Dakota, $31.04; in Wisconsin, $29.60; in Washington, $38.01, etc. It will be seen from these figures that Minnesota holds the lowest rank as to average value in the entire agricultural column. And this fact is traceable, of course, directly to the lack of care that has been exercised in breeding, as reflected in the average value of Minnesota bulls, which is $28.25, as against such average values of $44.77 in South Dakota, $46.10 in North Dakota, $44.20 in Missouri, $38 in Illinois and Indiana, etc.

The figures show that the Minnesota farmer gets an average of only $22.05 per year out of each cow.

Now, I want you to pay close attention to this because it means everything to you and it means everything to me, who wishes you well.

He cited the case of W. A. Brooks of Freeborn, who cleared an average of $58 per cow against the general average of $22, and A. L. Monen of Bancroft, who had a herd of Shorthorns producing an average of 765 gallons of milk per cow per year, or 85 gallons above the highest general average in the United States. These results showed what could be accomplished in Minnesota.

In the Wheat Counties.

For hired labor the wheat counties of Northern Minnesota show an expenditure of $1.14 for each acre of improved land, against only 75 cents in the southern counties. In live stock the northern counties show a valuation of only $78.59 per capita and $2.49 an acre, as against $98.11 per capita and $4.40 per acre in the southern section. The wheat growers of the Red river valley sold live stock to the value of $6.32 per capita, while the farmers in the southern tier realized $27.85 per capita.

The total dairy products in the wheat section were valued at $904,087, or an average of $9.04 for each inhabitant. In the southern tier the dairy products were worth $2,015,069, or an average of $17.54 per capita. The wheat farmers have only 47,795 cows, against 131,190 in the southern tier. The northern cows produced only 384.4 gallons each per annum, against 410.6. In value each cow in the north yielded only $18.93, as against $22.22 in the south.

He said they might wonder why he urged the raising of wheat when the railroad would get so much more tonnage in freight if wheat was raised. To this he replied that the railroad would get freight enough any way, and he wanted to see the farmers prosper. Besides if they continued raising wheat without diversification they would exhaust the soil and have only small crops for the railroad to carry. The prosperity of the railroad depended on the prosperity of the people.

Lower Freight Rates.

I want to call your attention to what has been done in twenty-five years in the way of railroad rates on the Great Northern railway. I want to show you that greater reductions have been made in the average rate on the Great Northern than have ever been made on any railroad in the United States. In 1881—or twenty-five years ago—our average rate, paid by the people who used the railroad, for hauling a ton of freight 100 miles was $2.88. For the year ending June 30 last it was 79 cents and 2 mills, less than one-third of what it was twenty-five years ago.

During that time, if we had made no reduction, if we had collected the rate of twenty-five years ago, we would have collected $677,000,000 more than we did collect. Think of it! The amount is appalling. We would have collected more than three times as much as we did collect. The average reduction for twenty-five years is $27,000,000,—and that is from the railroad and warehouse commission's report. These figures are correct.

The year closing June 30 at the rate of twenty-five years ago would have give us $87,000,000 more than we collected.

During that time we have had our dividends,—we have not gone without any; we have had our dividends regularly, and I have tried to give you your dividends. I want you to prosper with us. I want you to realize that your prosperity is ours, and if you are poor we will suffer with you.

With your great distance from the ultimate markets you would pay the highest rates of any people in the Union, and whomever else it might suit, whomever else it might benefit, it will never benefit the people of the West or the Northwest. You would be bearing the burdens of older and more populous states and you would be crushed into the earth. When any one urges that upon you, ask him the question how he will discriminate in your favor. If there was not discrimination in your favor these prairies would lose their population.

Railroad Taxes.

Now take our own road. We pay about $600,000 a year in taxes, or about what we get for hauling 12,000,000 bushels of wheat. That is about what we pay in taxes. Ours is not all profit, remember. After we have paid our men, after we have maintained the road, then the next charge is the tax. But that tax is not alone upon what is shipped from stations in the State of Minnesota. Every ton that passes through the state going to a neighboring or distant state, every ton that passes through going to a foreign country, swells the earnings and helps to form the sum upon which the percentage of taxation is based.

Possibly you may feel that you have no interest in the railroad's business beyond the rate that we charge. Now, you have, because every dollar of expense that we are at comes out of your pocket in proportion as you use the transportation of the railroad. If there is a loss, a wreck, a personal injury, or if we get before a jury and those on the jury feel that they want to be a little generous because the railroad has to pay it, they simply deceive themselves. You pay it. We are only the medium through which you pay it.

All we want is fair play. We want just the same measure of justice and the same measure of protection that you want for your property. If we have to pay $1,000 or $5,000 or $10,000 more than we ought to, it is simply charged up to expense,—we have no other account to charge it to; it is part of the cost of running the railroad, and you pay it.

Land Is Good.

I have seen the time when the company was glad to get $5 an acre for the land. Well, they hadn't any business holding land to speculate upon it, at even that price; as long as anybody wanted it, better let them open up a farm. But I suppose that land here is worth $40 or $50, at least will bring $40 or $50; but let me say to you that if you will get stock and summer fallow, and fertilize your land you can get 4 per cent or 5 per cent on $100 an acre in clear profit from every acre you cultivate. If that is the case, your land is worth $100 an acre, and you won't have to live very long before you will find people who are willing to pay you $100 an acre.

There is no better land in the entire West or in the Union for diversified farming than Minnesota. You can raise every animal that is raised with a profit in any state in the Union. You can make better butter and more of it, if you know how and will follow it up and have the right kind of cattle.

And for the reason that I desire to help every one of you and to help every man on land in the State of Minnesota, I have undertaken to call your attention to-day to some things which may not flatter us but at the same time are true.

The One and the Other

The one said no, when true love came,
And speaking gently, called her name,
"The world to conquer I shall try."
Then Love was dumb, and passed on by.

So through the world one went her way;
Men bowed before her day by day.
Yet at the last, when she was old,
Her heart was empty, aching, cold.

The other answered, "Yes, I'll come,
And strive with you to make a home."
Then hand in hand with Love she went,
And life was blessed with sweet content.

Within the walls of home she found
Rich joys which wrapped her being round.
And in the evening of her days
Her life was like a psalm of praise.

—Edwin Carlile Litsey, in Housekeeper.

ON EQUAL TERMS

BY EDGAR WHITE

(Copyright 1905 by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

No man in the camp could get quicker action on his shooting irons than Canada Jim. No man was slower to wrath, or greater in time of stress. Ever for the weak against the strong, the right against the wrong, according to his lights, the man from Canada was accepted by the miners and light-trigger gentlemen of Happy Land as a glittering municipal success, and a citizen of parts.

The thing called law had not yet reared its depressing head in the region dominated by Canada Jim, but it was headed that way. News of Jim's latest exploit had traveled across the border, and the federal authorities at that time being men of narrow discernment and enlarged indigestion, had classified the dynamiting of a tenderfoot's plant as a crime. The fact that the tenderfoot went skyward with the engine house was an unforeseen accident, for he had no business to be there in the night time, and you couldn't expect Jim to hunt all over creation for people who ought to be in bed.

The United States sent out a little, gimlet-eyed swashbuckler in command of the posse, a man Canada Jim "could have eat raw," to use his own expressive vernacular. The marshal's hunting knife was the only serious looking thing about him, and it rather reminded one of a patriotic youngster trailing his grandfather's sword.

When Canada Jim was informed by courier what was coming his way, he moved out to the edge of the camp, ascended the hill a ways and met a girl of the mountains coming to the spring with a bucket.

"What's up, Jim?" she asked.

"There's a little crowd coming over from the fort," he said, carelessly. "I don't feel like runnin' from 'em, but if you could stow me away somewheres, Kate, for a half hour or so I'd be obliged. I'd tackle any three—yes, any five of 'em—but my powder wouldn't hold out for fifty, you know."

The girl anxiously followed his remarks, and eagerly acted on his suggestion.

"Right you are, Jim," she said, looking out of a pair of dark brown eyes, which made no attempt to shield the affection she had for this brawny giant of the West; "I'll put you in a place they'll never think of looking."

Canada Jim looked reluctantly down the trail.

"Damn me if I'll hide from 'em!" he said, in a sudden burst of anger; "what right 've them tin soldiers ter come ter these diggin's an' tell us what's what! You go inside, girlie, an' I'll learn 'em!"

"Don't be foolish, Jim," said the girl, as she took his arm and endeavored to force him to accompany her; "they'd sure git you, and then what'd become o' me? Come on, there's a good boy."

The love-light in her eyes pleaded more eloquently than her words. The big man put his arms around her and kissed her.

"D—n me, if I'll hide from 'em!" he said, in a sudden burst of anger.

"I guess you are right, Susie," he said, mournfully; "but it makes me hot to think o' them ginger-bread riders making Canada Jim hunt his hole. Put me where I can hear what goes on, an' if they says an onpolite word to ye I'll be among 'em 'fore they knows the time o' day."

The tawny-haired maid of the mountains led the way to a rear addition made of plank, and pointed to some boards lying across near the roof. It was so dark that one could not be seen up there unless a light were carefully used in searching.

A company of horsemen approached the cabin. Susie met them, scornfully.

"Beg pardon, miss," said the leader, raising his hat, deferentially, "I'm Captain Jack Hobson from the fort, across the line. We're looking for one Canada Jim. Might he be in these parts?"

"He might and he mightn't," said the girl, saucily; "but if you're itchin' to know I'll say its lucky for you he ain't here."

The captain smiled and stroked his stub of a beard.

"Yes?" he said interrogatively.

"Yes!" she repeated, with fierce energy; "if Canada Jim was hereabouts he'd mix among you parlor sojers until yer uniforms wouldn't look smart any more."

"Hang him as quick as you want to for all me!"

"I presume by that you mean Canada Jim is a bad man?" suggested the captain.

"Bad! Well, I should hope so! Why, you wouldn't be enough to start his appetite."

The captain smiled tantalizingly as he dismounted. Then raising his voice slightly he said:

"Of course Canada Jim ain't here, and you don't know where he is. I'm sorry——"

"You ought to be glad," she interrupted.

"Well, I'm glad, then," he said, obligingly, "but what I started to say was that if Canada Jim was here it would save us the trouble of going out to his cabin and seizing his goods."

The girl listened intently, but there was no sound from the outer shanty. A shade of disappointment passed over the little captain's grizzled face.

"You are quite sure it would do no good to search here?" he asked.

"It would do you no good; I wish he was here."

"Yes, it's too bad; quite a disappointment," mused the captain, as with hand on revolver he entered the cabin and began looking around.

"Twenty men after one!" exclaimed the girl, scornfully.

"It is rather unfortunate odds," said the government's man, still looking around, perfunctorily, but evidently having learned what he desired to know; "now do you suppose it would make any difference if I were to send my men back to town and wait here for Jim by myself?"

A joyful look spread over the young woman's face.

"You wouldn't dare!" she cried.

"Well, I have dared things in my time," said the captain, still prying about, "though I guess Canada Jim would be quite a proposition for one man. But"—he suddenly stopped in the center of the room and raised his voice so that it easily reached the hidden man—"in order to start a little excitement I believe I'll do it. If you see Jim to-day you might tell him for me that I'll meet him alone anywhere he says with hunting knives, revolvers or rifles, and the best man wins."

"Just you?" said the girl eagerly.

"Just me. You can come and look on, if you like."

"Send your men back to town, then."

The captain went to the door.

"Fall in, boys," he said; "light out for Happy Land; nothing doing here. I'll meet you at sundown."

"Maybe you will," murmured the mountain pink.

Captain Hobson bowed to her logic and caressed the hilt of his hunting knife. The girl stood in the doorway and watched the posse as it galloped down the valley. Then she glanced into the shanty. All was silent in that section. A shade of vexation crossed her face.

"They're out of sight now," she said loudly.

"They're gone," acquiesced the captain.

Still no movement from the boards overhead. Susie looked steadily in that direction and frowned. With eyes gazing out the window, the little representative of the U. S. asked:

"Do you think it likely Jim'll be here to-day?"

"Be here?" returned the girl, hotly; "he's already here, hiding up there on them planks! You can get him easy if he ain't dead o' fright, and hang him quick as you want for all me!"

GIVEN AWAY BY THEIR SHOES.

Footwear Has Frequently Led to Capture of Criminals.

"Shoes have played an important part in the capture of criminals," said Detective William Barrett of Buffalo. "Had it not been for the footwear of certain thieves they would never have been caught. It is not so long ago that I and two others were detailed on a case, and before we caught our man, another shop had been burglarized.

"We looked at the marks about the windows and noticed they were scraped by nails. We went back to the other place and found the same conditions. Later we went into a well-known resort and found a man sitting in a chair. He had his feet encased in a neat fitting pair of shoes, but for some reason he had nails put in the heels. We 'jumped' him at once, and searching his rooms we discovered enough loot to start a store. He later explained that the nails were put in his shoes to aid in roof climbing.

"Squeaky shoes have caused the arrest of several thieves right in precinct. The other night a thief thief bought a pair of cheap shoes and they were very musical. The man got into a place and before he got anything his noisy shoes gave him away and he was caught. All clever criminals have a penchant for buying good, soft shoes. They pay a good price for them and they are repaid sometimes by getting off with the swag to pay up for what they spent."—Shoe Retailer.

Coom, Lassie, be Good to Me.

Coom, Lassie, be good to me. Winna ye, dear?
Ye've taen a' my hairt, ye shall hae a' my gear;
I wadna be gangin' aboot all alane
If the warld were a' siller, an' you not my ain.

The birds are a' matin', the flowers wed the grass,
An' you are my springtime, my ain bonnie lass;
Like kiss o' the sun to the life-springin' sod,
Put your lips to my ain; were I you I wad.

My hairt is a thumpin' like sticks on a drum,
Just rantin' wi' hunger; coom, gie it a crumb;
My eyes are a' thirstin' like night for the dew,
Let them drink, my ain darlin', in one look frae you.

Coom, fill up the crook o' my long waitin' airm,
I'll huddle ye close an' I'll shiel' ye frae hairm,
Put your han' in my ain; let me spier in your ear;
Coom, Lassie, be good to me. Winna ye, dear?

—Capt. Charles McIlvaine in McClure's Magazine.

The Dutiful Son.

The small boy was very obedient and dutiful.

Also very stupid.

Perhaps the second statement was superfluous.

But we did not intend to open a moral discussion.

His father had always taught him he should "take pains in small things," as only the people who did so ever amounted to anything.

The boy had pondered deeply over this advice, wondering duly what it meant.

Until one morning when the lad awoke with a severe ache in every tooth.

Then he was happy.

For, with every tooth handing him a separate bunch of agony, he knew that he had "taken pains in small things."

And he was happy.—Baltimore American.

Something to Be Gained.

"Moses," he said to the old colored man around the warehouse, "I hear that you have a son in Chicago."

"Yes, sah, my son Peter has done gone to college, sah," was the proud reply.

"Going to make a great man of him, eh?"

"I dunno how great Peter will done turn out, sah, but I reckon if he stays in dat college long 'nuff he'll come home and be able to tell a pullet from a rooster in de darkest night and not make so many mistakes."—Chicago News.

Her Secret.

"Would you," she asked, "rather be lucky in love and poor or have great wealth and be incapable of loving?"

"I think," he replied, "that I'd rather be lucky in love."

After a long silence she said:

"Well, I suppose one can't be lucky in love without making somebody else lucky in it at the same time."

Then he took her in his arms and wanted to know how she had guessed that he was yearning for her.

Had Use for Both Rolls.

A certain type of cheap restaurant is the same all the world over. In a Berlin eating house of the cheap grade one man dropping in observed a friend being well bestowed.

"What, you are not going to eat two of those enormous rolls, are you?" he inquired, with evident interest in his friend's welfare.

"Oh, no," replied his friend, carelessly, "I eat one and clean my knife and fork on the other."

LOSS OF APPETITE

Cold Sweats, Twitching Nerves and Weakness Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Nature punishes every infraction of her laws, and careless habits easily lead to the condition described by Mr. William Browne, of No. 1019 Lincoln street, St. Joseph, Mo. Mr. Browne is an expert tinner in the employ of the National Biscuit Co. He gives the following account of a trying experience:

"In the spring of 1902," he says, "while I was regularly working at my trade, I grew somewhat careless in my habits of eating and drinking, and finally found that my appetite was fickle, a bad taste lingered in my mouth, my nerves twitched and were beyond my control, my kidneys were out of order and cold sweats would break out over my body at odd times. Perhaps, while I stood talking with some one, this trembling of the limbs, and profuse sweating, and a severe chill would seize me. I became alarmed at my condition and, having read an endorsement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I got a box and began to use them. They helped me at once. After I had used one box the twitching of the nerves, the trouble with the stomach and the cold sweats stopped and have not reappeared, and my appetite is good. I have told all my friends that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me and I recommend them to everybody."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mr. Browne because nothing can strengthen the nerves except good rich red blood—and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. They don't act on the bowels. They don't bother with mere symptoms. They drive from the blood the cause of anæmia, indigestion, nervous disorders, general weakness and the troubles of growing girls and women.

The pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or harmful drugs. Sold by all druggists, or by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

What Happened Afterward.

Tam O'Shanter tied his mare in the stable and went wearily up to the house to meet his sulky, sullen dame.

"Well," she said in a shrill, angry voice, "what tale hae ye noo?"

"Nane!" he said, taking her out to the stable and showing her poor Maggie's bleeding stump.

Then he told her a fairy story about his having been attacked by desperate highwaymen on the north shore, who had fired a volley at him that had missed him by a narrow margin and taken effect on the mare.—

Medicines Have Stood Test of Time.

"The leading proprietary medicines that have stood the test of time are of known therapeutic value," says a medical authority. "They are prepared in laboratories of the highest grade, under the care of skilled pharmacists, and they are made from approved formulas which, in many instances, have been the especial pride and specific of some successful physician. They have been tried in the crucible of public opinion and they have been found satisfactory by the people, for otherwise the people would discontinue using them."

Modern Social Demands.

One curious phase of taking ourselves so seriously is the enormously increased importance of the interesting. Society fairly bristles with the interesting. Sometimes one wonders where the uninteresting do. Modern society demands that you should be something or do something, or say something, or at least pretend to. It is understood that you must be celebrated or notorious, or well advertised, or cheeky and even dishonest, if it is on a magnificent scale. At any rate, you must take yourself seriously and get a swelled head.—Fortnightly Review.

Dolly More to Her Than Life.

Snatched by a timely bystander from instant death beneath the wheels of a trolley car in Trenton, N. J., little eight-year-old Alice Carlton, heedless of her own injuries and the fearful fate from which she had been rescued, begged piteously for her doll to be rescued, too. A car bound down town was approaching, and she waited for it to pass. A car going in the opposite direction struck the child, and still holding tightly to the doll, she was rolled intothe wire net in front of the car. The fender dragged and the little girl rolled out of it, directly in front of the car. John Elkins snatched her, just in time to save her life, but she was cut in several places, and her first words were: "Is dolly hurt?"—Boston Post.

NOTICED IT.

A Young Lady From New Jersey Put Her Wits to Work.

"Coffee gave me terrible spells of indigestion which, coming on every week or so, made my life wretched until someone told me that the coffee I drank was to blame. That seemed nonsense, but I noticed these attacks used to come on shortly after eating and were accompanied by such excruciating pains in the pit of the stomach that I could only find relief by loosening my clothing and lying down.

"If circumstances made it impossible for me to lie down I spent hours in great misery.

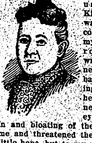
"I refused to really believe it was the coffee until finally I thought a trial would at least do no harm, so I quit coffee in 1901 and began on Postum. My troubles left entirely and convinced me of the cause.

"Postum brought no discomfort, nor did indigestion follow its use. I have had no return of the trouble since I began to drink Postum. It has built me up, restored my health and given me a new interest in life. It certainly is a joy to be well again." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.

A DESPAIRING WOMAN.

Weak, Nervous and Wretched from Wasting Kidney Troubles.



Mrs. Henry A. Reamer, Main and Garst sts., South Bend, Ind., says: "When I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was so weak I could hardly drag myself across the room. I was wretched and nervous, and had backache, bearing-down pain, headache, dizziness and weak eyes. Dropsy set in and bloating of the chest choked me and threatened the heart. I had little hope, but to my untold surprise, Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief and saved my life. I shall never forget it."

Sold by dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

All of a Class.

"He isn't qualified to sit in the senate," asserted the reformer.

"Oh, yes, he is," declared the pessimist.

"Nonsense. When and how did he qualify?"

"When he bought his seat."—Portland telegram.

BABY ONE SOLID SORE.

Could Not Shut Eyes to Sleep—Spent $100 on Doctors—Baby Grew Worse—Cured by Cuticura for $5.

"A scab formed on my baby's face, spreading until it completely covered her from head to foot, followed by boils, having forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. Then her skin started to dry up and it became so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep. One month's treatment with Cuticura Soap and Ointment made a complete cure. Doctors and medicines had cost over $100, with baby growing worse. Then we spent less than $5 for Cuticura and cured her. (Signed) Mrs. G. H. Tucker, Jr., 335 Greenfield Ave., Milwaukee, Wis."

His Chance.

"Now," said the old doctor to the student. "I have a difficult operation to perform on a young stenographer this afternoon and you may come in as my assistant, and you'll get an opportunity to make some valuable notes."

"I have long wanted to take lessons on a typewriter," replied the flippant youth.—Fort Worth Record.

Auction Sale—Farm Lands.

20,000 acres, the best selection in Otter Tail County, Minnesota, of the Saint Paul & Chicago Railway Company's land grant, will be sold at auction in 40-acre tracts to the highest bidders, at Perham, October 25th, and at Parker's Prairie, October 28th, on better terms than those offered by the State of Minnesota. For lists and terms send to

J. A. NOWELL & CO.,
200-205 Globe Bldg., St. Paul, Minnesota.

Vegetables a Modern Luxury.

It is curious to think how comparatively modern is the use of most of our vegetables. When Good Queen Bess came to the throne, her lieges only ate two—cabbages and onions; and when the potato was introduced it was not much to boast of, being small and full of "eyes."—Sketch.

Ask Your Dealer for Allen's Foot-Ease

A powder. It rests the feet. Cures Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating Feet and Ingrowing Nails. At all Druggists and Shoe stores, 25 cents. Accept no substitute. Sample mailed FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Really Staggered.

McJigger—You look weary this morning, old man.

Thingumbob—Yes, I made a discovery last night that staggered me.

McJiggers—Gracious! What was it?

Thingumbob—A quart bottle of ten-year-old that I didn't know I had.

FITS permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for FREE $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ltd., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

There is always some one around to say, "I told you so," when the unexpected happens.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

A loafer is a man who loafs and has no bank account.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

A lovely widow is seldom a lone widow.

WHEAT

Weather conditions this fall have been ideal so far for shock threshing and movement of wheat to market. The occasional showers which have been experienced have helped rather than hurt the wheat itself, as in each case they were followed by clear, sunny weather. Country elevators all over the Northwest are jammed full of new wheat, and the volume of the crop is causing real embarrassment in many sections. Farmers are building cribs for temporary accommodation of their grain in several important districts, and instances are pointed out where the new wheat is allowed to remain on the ground just as it comes from the thresher because of the impossibility of handling it with present equipment. Providentially, the weather has been beautifully clear and no damage has resulted from this action. The shock threshing has been generally completed. While the country elevators are taxed to their capacity, the big grain storage houses at market centers are still able to handle all the grain the railroads can haul, but the roads are all swamped with the flood of grain, and miles of cars now loaded and ready are waiting power to pull them to market. We think that before all this grain is moved, prices will decline enough to make free purchases profitable.

Edwards-Wood Co.
(Incorporated)—Dealers in
STOCKS GRAIN PROVISIONS
Main Office—5th and Robert Sts., St. Paul.

FARM

MISCELLANY

Soil Fertility in the Corn Belt.

Articles have recently appeared in several agricultural journals suggesting that the total plant food content of the soil is essentially permanent, a theory which is liable to mislead the farmer and injure the farm. For example, take the following statements quoted from a Delaware station bulletin:

"An average of the results of 49 analyses of the typical soils of the United States showed per acre for the first eight inches of surface 2,600 pounds of nitrogen, 2,100 pounds of phosphorus, and 11,100 pounds of potassium. The average yield of wheat in the United States is 14 bushels per acre. * * * Now if all the potential nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium could be rendered available there is present in such an average soil, in the first eight inches, enough nitrogen to last 90, enough phosphorus for 500, and enough potassium for 1,000 years."

Who wishes to raise only 14 bushels of wheat to the acre? Let us plan to raise 40 bushels and possibly we shall then get 30 bushels. The average yield of corn in Illinois is 33 bushels, but those who prepare to raise 100 succeed in getting 75 bushels per acre.

The average soil of the corn belt does not contain 2,100 pounds of phosphorus per acre in the surface eight inches, but only about 1,500 pounds of total phosphorus to that depth. A 100-bushel crop of corn requires 23 pounds of phosphorus; consequently the total phosphorus content of this surface soil, instead of being sufficient for 10,000 crops or for 500 crops, is, as a matter of fact, sufficient for only 70 crops of corn of 100 bushels each. On the other hand the nitrogen content of the Illinois soil, instead of being only 2,600 pounds, is about 6,000 pounds per acre to a depth of eight inches; and where clover or other legumes are being grown in rotation or as catch crops, the supply is being to some extent at least renewed.

The total potassium content of an acre of Illinois prairie soil to a depth of eight inches is more than three times 11,100 pounds. Thus, the commonest type of soil in the corn belt contains, in the first eight inches, enough nitrogen for 60 years, enough phosphorus for 90 years, and enough potassium for 2,000 years if 100-bushel crops of corn were the standard and if the stalks were all returned to the soil. If the entire crop, including both grain and stalks, were removed from the land and nothing returned, then the nitrogen would last 40 years, the phosphorus 70 years, and the potassium 500 years.

In 1904 the Illinois station harvested 59 bushels of corn per acre from a field which had been rotated in corn, oats and clover for 28 years. On another adjoining field which had been in pasture for at least 18 years previous to 1894 and in corn, oats and clover since 1894, a crop of 74 bushels was produced without soil treatment; but where lime and phosphorus had been applied to a part of the same field 96 bushels per acre were produced. The value of the 22 bushels increase is not only double the annual cost of the limestone and bone meal applied, but the phosphorus applied is more than would be removed in a 100-bushel crop of corn, so that this field is not only growing larger crops but at the same time it is being made richer and richer year by year, whereas the untreated land which produced 74 bushels per acre is poorer by the 17 pounds of phosphorus removed in the crop. The 17 pounds are more than 1 per cent. of the total phosphorus in the first eight inches.

If the phosphorus is continually sold from the farm in grain or in the bones of animals, it must also be brought back, either in corn, or in concentrated feeds (as bran or oil meal), or in bone meal (originally a farm product), or in rock phosphate from our great natural deposits, of which more than a million tons are now being shipped annually from the United States to foreign countries.

Briefly stated, "with the use of sufficient limestone to keep the soil sweet and abundant, use of legume crops and catch crops, and the addition to the soil of a ton of ground rock phosphate, or its equivalent, every six or eight years, in connection with all of the farm manure which can be made, the ordinary lands of the Central West can be made to grow large crops indefinitely."

Cyril G. Hopkins.
University of Illinois.

Variations in Tillage.

There is no one method of tillage that is best under all conditions. A man must learn what kinds of tillage are best suited to his needs and to his soil. It is impossible to lay down general principles that can be followed. A few years ago extensive plowing was done in the state of Illinois when the land was really too wet to plow. The result was that the land took the form of clods and all the harrowing that could be done did not pulverize them. Two men would stand on the harrow at once, and yet the harrow would slip over the heavy clods. The plowing had been done at the usual time and this was in that year just the wrong time for it. Had the plowmen waited two weeks until the soil was in a friable condition, a vast amount of work would have been saved. The kind of tillage should vary with the soil, the time of year when the plowing is done and the particular time when the crop is to be put in. There are some lands that can be tilled at almost any time when the frost is out of the ground. We know of large areas of rolling farm land where men can go on with the plow and the harrow an hour after a heavy rain has stopped. We know of other fields where land cannot be worked for weeks after a heavy rain, and where all work would make the soil worse instead of better.

Pollination of Kieffer Pears.

An experimentor in the east has been pollinating Kieffer pears. He has been using Kieffer pollen. Only four per cent of the crosses of Kieffer pollen started to grow, and the fruit dropped before it was a fourth developed. The few pears that did develop were much smaller and weaker than the Kieffers that had been cross-fertilized. Pollen was brought in from trees that were 50 miles away to see if the different localities would affect its efficacy. This pollen from a distance was found to be no more effective than pollen from the same tree. The same gentleman counted the blossoms per tree and estimated that if two blossoms in a hundred should produce pears, the branches would be so heavily loaded that they would be bent to the ground. He had found some orchards where Kieffer pears were planted in blocks, and the inside trees were generally unfruitful. The outside trees were evidently cross pollenized from other trees that were near enough to have their pollen carried by bees or other insects.

Dairy Schools.

The dairy schools at the various agricultural colleges should be largely patronized by our students, as there is no branch of farming that will pay greater returns than dairying, even on the farm where mixed farming is followed. The farm boy that will take a course in a dairy school, even though that course be comprised all in a single term of eight weeks will go back to his home with new ideas as to the cow and her possibility. Many of the terms begin in the early fall and the farm boy that is looking forward to a possible course should begin correspondence now, for he will have to inform himself as to cost of tuition, board, room and the like. At some of our agricultural colleges the total cost of a term including board, room, books and incidentals is less than $60. Certainly there is no way in which a father may invest $60 more profitably.

Growing Celery in Tents.

Some experimenters in the east have been trying the experiment of growing celery under tents. The cloth of which these tents were made was cheesecloth. This permitted the passage of a large amount of light. Some of the tents were entirely closed, while the others were left open on the north and east sides. The celery from the open tents was about 25 per cent taller than that grown on the open ground, while that in the closed tents was 40 per cent taller. The latter was better blanched than that grown in the other tents or out of doors. The celery in the tents escaped the frost out doors and was better in flavor than that grown in the open air.

Learn to Run the Separator.

The people that buy cream separators too often fail to inform themselves fully as to the speed at which they should be run. There is one best degree of speed, and the manufacturers generally know what it is. They publish implicit directions, and their agents also give instructions, and both of these are frequently neglected by the people that purchase the machines. There is always a great loss of cream when the machine is run too slowly, and if it is run too rapidly too much milk is incorporated with the cream. The speed of the machine should always be regular. Constantly changing the speed does not help the separation.

Green Corn in Winter.

It is not such a difficult matter to have green corn on cob in the middle of winter when the snow is flying. Scrub out a barrel, and put a layer of salt in the bottom of it. Place upon this a layer of sweet corn with the husks still on. When the barrel is full add a pickle of salt and water and put on a heavy stone for pressure. The corn will keep in good condition all winter. When you wish to use it soak it for twenty-four hours in cold water, then boil just as you do summer corn.—S. A. White.

The Feast of Dolls.

Every year in Japan there is a special holiday for little girls, called the Feast of Dolls. All day long the streets are full of demure and pretty little maidens going about with their mothers, buying and looking at dolls. As to the dolls, there are thousands of them, of all sizes and varieties. They are on sale, they are carried in children's arms—they are everywhere.

Peeling Sheep.

Mabel, who was visiting in the country, was sent to the barn, where the hired man was shearing sheep, to look for her grandpa. She soon returned and said: "Him ain't out there; ain't nobody there but a man peelin' sheeps."—Chicago News.

In laying drain tile see that it is below the frost line. The deeper it is the more thorough will be the work it can do.

RAILROAD TIE PROBLEM.

Not Enough Oak in Country to Replace Them in 1920.

"The railroads of North America will have a new problem confronting them about 1920," said an old contractor, who has built many miles of road. "It will be the difficulty of getting new ties. The life of an oak tree is fifteen years, and in 1920 all the ties in the country must be replaced. There is not enough material in North America to do it. An authority has figured out that the number of railroad ties employed in the railroad service amounts up to eighteen figures. Iron ties will not do. They are too rigid. It will be either import from Africa or South America, or invent some substitute for wood. The need of restoration will strike the railroads when it is too late."—Milwaukee Free Press.

Good Cause.

"Mary," said a lady to her new maid, "I must insist that you keep better hours and that you have less company in the kitchen in the evening. Last night I was kept awake by the uproarious laughter of one of your friends."

"Yes, mum, I know," Mary replied cheerfully, "but she couldn't help it. I was telling her how you tried to make a cake yesterday morning."

Different Views.

"Didn't you think there was a little too much brandy in the pudding sauce at that dinner?" said Mrs. Fussleigh.

"No," replied her husband. "I thought there was a little too much pudding in the brandy sauce."—Dallas News.

They Took It in Turns.

Lady Broome, who in her youthful days in New Zealand used to teach the shepherds reading and writing, tells in her "Colonial Memories" of two men living in a lonely and distant river gorge who used to attend Sunday afternoon service.

But they never came together, and their brand new suit of shepherd's plaid always had a strange effect.

"Why can you two not come together," she asked one day, "either to the lessons or the service?"

"There's difficulty about the clothes, mem."

"In what way?"

"Well, it's this way, mem. We've only got one suit, and we got it a between size on purpose. Joe, he's too tall, and I'm too short, so I turns it up, an' Joe he wears leggin's an' such like, an' so we makes it do till after shearin'."

Cured Her Rheumatism.

Deep Valley, Pa., Oct. 2d.—(Special.)—There is deep interest in Green county over the cure of the little daughter of I. N. Whipkey of Rheumatism. She was a great sufferer for five or six years and nothing seemed to do her any good till she tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. She began to improve almost at once and now she is cured and can run and play as other children do. Mr. Whipkey says:

"I am indeed thankful for what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for my daughter; they saved her from being a cripple perhaps for life."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have proved that Rheumatism is one of the results of diseased Kidneys. Rheumatism is caused by Uric Acid in the blood. If the Kidneys are right there can be no Uric Acid in the blood and consequently no rheumatism. Dodd's Kidney Pills make the Kidneys right.

It Usually Does.

"They're both thinking of a divorce now."

"Why, I didn't even know they were married."

"Oh! yes they were married under the rose, you know!" "Aha! that accounts for the thorns."—Philadelphia Press.

Here Is Relief for Women.

Mother Gray, a nurse in New York, discovered a pleasant herb remedy for women's ills, called AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain monthly regulator. Cures female weaknesses, Backache, Kidney and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Trouble Afoot.

The Two-step—They are all after my scalp.

The Waltz—Well, you're the fellow who crowded me out.—Cleveland.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

It Needed It.

He—That's your new hat, eh?

She—Oh! my, it isn't trimmed yet.

He—Trimmed? Oh! I see, you've got to cut it down a bit. That's a good scheme.—Philadelphia Press.

WORKING WOMEN

Their Hard Struggle Made Easier—Interesting Statements by a Young Lady in Boston and One in Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Frankie Orser. Miss Pearl Ackers.

All women work; some in their homes, some in church, and some in the whirl of society. And in stores, mills and shops tens of thousands are on the never-ceasing treadmill, earning their daily bread.

All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbance, and the nature of their duties, in many cases, quickly drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, ovarian troubles, ulceration, falling and displacements of the womb, leucorrhœa, or perhaps irregularity or suppression of "monthly periods," causing backache, nervousness, irritability and lassitude.

Women who stand on their feet all day are more susceptible to these troubles than others.

They especially require an invigorating, sustaining medicine which will strengthen the female organism and enable them to bear easily the fatigues of the day, to sleep well at night, and to rise refreshed and cheerful.

How distressing to see a woman struggling to earn a livelihood or perform her household duties when her back and head are aching, she is so tired she can hardly drag about or stand up, and every movement causes pain, the origin of which is due to some derangement of the female organism.

Miss F. Orser of 14 Warrenton Street, Boston, tells women how to avoid such suffering; she writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered misery for several years with irregular menstruation. My back ached; I had bearing down pains, and frequent headaches; I could not sleep and could hardly drag around. I consulted two physicians without relief, and as a last resort, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and to my surprise, every ache and pain left me. I gained ten pounds and am in perfect health."

Miss Pearl Ackers of 327 North Summer Street, Nashville, Tenn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered with painful periods, severe backache, bearing-down pains, pains across the abdomen; was very nervous and irritable, and my trouble grew worse every month.

"My physician failed to help me and I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon found it was doing me good. All my pains and aches disappeared, and I no longer fear my monthly periods."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing cure for all these troubles. It strengthens the proper muscles, and displacement with all its horrors will no more crush you.

Backache, dizziness, fainting, bearing down pains, disordered stomach, moodiness, dislike of friends and society—all symptoms of the one cause—will be quickly dispelled, and it will make you strong and well.

You can tell the story of your sufferings to a woman, and receive helpful advice free of cost. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

It is always better to take things as they come than to attempt to catch them as they go.

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson, patent lawyers, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn. Placide Cote, Willow City, N. D., battleship; John Erickson, St. Paul, Minn., journal box; Harry Johnston, Detroit, Minn., saw set; Edward Mundale, Frost, Minn., corn harvester; Harry Reed, Minneapolis, Minn., weather strip; Rudolph C. Pleins, St. Paul, Minn., seal.

One must have a good memory in order to know when and what to forget.

AGAINST THE STORM
THERE IS NO PROTECTION IN THE WORLD LIKE
TOWER'S SLICKERS
FOR SALE BY ALL THE BEST DEALERS
TOWER'S FISH BRAND
A. J. TOWER CO. ESTABLISHED 1836
BOSTON NEW YORK CHICAGO
TOWER CANADIAN CO. LIMITED TORONTO, CAN.

THE BEST COUGH CURE

When offered something else instead of

Kemp's Balsam

stop and consider. Am I sure to get something as good as this best cough cure?

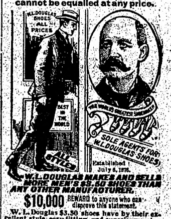
If not sure, what good reason is there for for taking chances in a matter that may have a direct bearing on my own or my family's health?

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN

W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.



W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
ALL STYLES
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

Established July 6, 1876.

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

The R. Paxton Company Boston, Mass.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Thompson's Eye Water

When Answering Advertisements Kindly Mention This Paper.

PRICE, 25 Cts.

TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY
ANTI-GRIPINE

ANTI-GRIPINE

IS GUARANTEED TO CURE

GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

I won't sell Anti-Gripine to a dealer who won't Guarantee it. Call for your MONEY BACK IF IT DON'T CURE.

F. W. Diemer, M.D., Manufacturer, Springfield, Mo.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Unionville, Missouri.

ESTABLISHED 1879

MINNEAPOLIS Woodward & Co., Grain Commission. DULUTH

ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS.

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS.

The board of county commissioners of Red Lake county met in special session at the court house at 9 o'clock a. m.

Present Commissioners Sutor, Demann, Johnson and Shaw.

Absent, Commissioner Falardeau.

The minutes of the regular meeting held July 10, 11 and 12 and July 20, read and approved.

The petition of Otto L. Bakken to be set off with his land from Independent School District No. 18 to Common School District No. 135 was read and no one appearing to be heard for or against the same, on motion carried unanimously the prayer of the petitioner was granted and the following order was made:

Whereas, the petition of Otto L. Bakken a legal voter freeholder and resident of Independent School District No. 18 in this county representing that he is the owner of the lands hereinafter described, which are situate in said school district and adjoining School District No. 135, and asking that he with his said lands may be set off from said Independent School District No. 18 to adjoining School District No. 135 for the following reasons.

That the school of School District No. 135 is only three-fourths of a mile from his house, whereas that of Independent School District No. 18 is three miles, was presented to the board of county commissioners of this county at a session of said county held on the 11th day of July, A. D. 1905 for the action of said board thereon; and whereas, it was thereupon ordered by said board that a hearing should be had on said petition at a session of said board commencing on the ninth day of September, A. D. 1905 at the county auditor's in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county and whereas, it was further ordered in and by said order that notice of the time and place of such hearing be given by posting a copy of said order in one public place in each of the school districts to be affected by said petition, and by handing to leaving with the clerk of each of said school districts, a copy of said order, at least ten days before the time appointed for such hearing and, whereas, at the said session of the board of county commissioners, commencing on said 9th day of September, A. D. 1905, due proof of the posting and service of said order of hearing as therein directed and required, more than ten days prior to last named date, having been made and filed, said petition was publicly read and considered by the board, with everything which was said by said interested parties for or against granting the prayer of the petitioner, and said board being of the opinion that said petition should be granted, it is hereby ordered and determined, that the said petitioner and the following described lands owned by him to-wit:

The east one half of the southwest quarter and lots No. 3 and 4 of section 31 in township 154 north, of range 45 west, be and the same are hereby set off from said Independent School District No. 18 to said adjoining School District No. 135, and the said lands are hereby made a part of said last named school district for all purposes whatever,

By order of the board of county commissioners,
Dated September 9, A. D. 1905.
(Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Chm. Board of Co. Com'rs., Red Lake Co., Minn.
Attest: JAMES E. FORD,
Co. Auditor and Ex-officio Clerk of the Board.

The petition of W. G. Hunt and others for the formation of a new school district in Red Lake county on which a day of hearing has been set for Sept. 9, 1903, was read to the board and no one appearing to be heard for or against the granting of same, on motion carried unanimously the prayer of the petitioners was granted and the following order was made:

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake. } ss

The petition of W. G. Hunt and others who constitute a majority of the freeholders who are legal voters residing in the district hereinafter described asking that the same be formed into a new school district, having been presented to the board of county commissioners of said Red Lake county and the county superintendent of schools having endorsed on said petition his written approval thereof; and it appearing that there are within such districts to be formed the required number of residents between five and twenty-one years of age;

Now, said petition having been publicly read at a meeting of said board of county commissioners, held on the 9th day of September, 1905, and it having been duly considered by said board;

It is by said board ordered, that a school district be, and the same is hereby formed within the Town of Highlanding in County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, bounded and described as follows, to-wit;

All of sections 19, 20, 21, 28, 29, 31, 32 and 33, in township 153 north, of range 40 west, in said county and state, the same to be School District No. 37 in said county.

By order of the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county at a meeting held September 9, 1905.
(Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Chairman, Board of County Commissioners
Attest: JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor, Red Lake County.

The petition of E. Miller and others for the formation of a new school district on which a day of hearing had been set for September 9, 1905, was read to the board and no one appearing to be for or against the granting of the same, on motion carried unanimously the prayer of the petitioners was granted and the following order was made:

State of Minnesota. }
County of Red Lake. } ss

The petition of E. Miller and others who constitute a majority of the freeholders who are legal voters residing in the district hereinafter described, asking that the same be formed into a school district having been presented to the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county and the county superintendent of schools, having endorsed on such petition his written approval thereof; and it appearing that there are within such district so to be formed the required number of residents between five and twenty-one years of age.

Now, said petition having been publicly read at a meeting of said board of county commissioners held on the ninth day of September, A. D. 1905 and it having been duly considered by said board,

It is by said board ordered, that a school district be and the same is hereby formed within the town of Wyandotte and township 152, range 41 in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

All of sections 1, 12 and 13 in township 152 north, of range 43 west, in said county and state, the same to be School District No. 35 in said county.

By order of the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, Minnesota at a meeting held September 9, 1905.
(Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Chairman, Board of County Commissioners.
Attest: JAMES E. FORD,
Auditor of Red Lake County.

The petitions of P. O. Soroom and others and A. M. Edstrom and others for the formation of new school districts were presented to the board and on motion carried unanimously a day of hearing on said petition was set for the next meeting of the board and notices on hearing were ordered issued accordingly.

The applications of Russell E. Vance and L. A. Dautremont for correction of assessment and abatement of taxes were granted, rejected to the approval of the state auditor.

The petition of Anton Skog et al to have the name of the Town of Kratka changed to Oak Grove was presented to the board. There being a town in Anoka county, Minnesota, named Oak Grove, no action could be taken in the matter.

The action of Leroux & Hance and Zotique Bray for license to sell intoxicating liquors in the Townsite of Brooks, Town of Poylar River were presented to the board and on motion carried unanimously the same were granted and licenses ordered issued on payment of the fee and filing of the bond required by law.

The petition of W. J. Polbrook et al for the laying out of a county road in townships 152 and 153 north, of range 40 west, was on motion carried unanimously, rejected,

On motion carried unanimously, the county auditor was instructed to procure a set of plats and a description of all corners of the recently opened Red Lake Indian Reservation in Red Lake county.

On motion duly carried the following bills were allowed:

Pioneer Press Co., tax receipts, text book records and blanks	$ 31 90
W. M. Welsh Co., 1 desk	11 52
Free Press Printing Co., blanks and blank books	26 28
McGill Warner Co., 1 loose leaf commissioners record	20 00
D. A. & J. A. McDonald, pulishing notices of summer school and teachers examination, $9.75, allowed at	1 50
Red Lake Falls Gazette, publishing notice of teachers examination	1 50
Red Lake Falls Gazette, stationery for county officers	7 50
King & Chase, publishing commissioners proceedings and legal notices	23 87
King & Chase, publishing ditch notices	11 88
King & Chase, stationery and blanks for county officers	15 95
Thos. Germo, amount paid for long distance telephone calls	2 50
D. Linnihan, amount paid for long distance telephone calls	2 85
James E. Ford, amount paid for 1000 government envelopes	21 85
Dr. I. Lemieux, services as medical witness in examination over the dead body of Mrs. Joseph Falardoau	17 00
Robertson Lumber Co., lumber for sidewalk	96
Frank Jeffers, recording town treasurer bonds and transcript of Polk county record	3 55
Town of Polk Center, expenses, contagious diseases	2 55
Red Lake Falls telephone exchange, rent of three phones, July, 1905	15 20
Red Lake Falls Electric Light Co., lights and fixtures July, 1905	15 20
Chas. Molier, assistant superintendent of schools 3 days	9 00
Luc. Dubuc, janitor, teachers training school, one month	25 00
W. A. Schrieter, medecine for prisoner	85
Joseph Perrault, clerk's fees, state cases	16 50
" drawing petit jury and issuing venire	4 00
Joseph Perrault, fees, coroner's inquests	6 90
Joseph Sally, moving safe in county treasurer's office	2 75
Adam Zeh, services as clerk in county treasurer's office	102 50
Erick Iverson, board of engineer and viewers on Co. ditch No. 22	35 50
Wm. E. Wood, rodman Co. ditch No. 22	10 00
Wm. McMichael, chainman, County Ditch No. 22	7 98
Benjamin Iverson, chainman, Co. Ditch No. 22	4 50
Lewis Sieff, livery for engineer and viewers Co. ditch No. 22	25 00
W. H. Krueger, board for engineer and viewers Co. ditch No. 22	11 25
W. E. Wood, viewer Co. ditch No. 22	31 00
Adam Zeh, viewer Co. ditch No. 22	22 00
Wm. M. Erb, viewer Co. ditch No. 22	27 00
James E. Ford, Auditor's fees Co. ditch No. 22	42 00
J. K. Wood, engineer fees Co. ditch No. 22	115 89
A. P. Toupin, Justice fees, State vs Aug. Neleon, Henry Belair and Phil Manley	8 45
D. Linnihan, amount paid for washing clothing in Co. jail	5 50
D. Linnihan, board of prisoners	49 02
D. Linnihan, Sheriff's fees, criminal cases	13 50
Arthur Lizee, Deputy Sheriff's fees, State vs. Percy Brown	9 67
Geo. Jarman, Deputy Sheriff's fees, State vs. Albert P. Murrie and Frank Lemere	72 96
Geo. Jarman, Deputy Sheriff's fees for posting notices of special meeting of the Board of County Commissioners	79 50
S. L. Lewis, Justice fees State vs Percy Brown	3 95
W. H. Krueger, board of Deputy Sheriff State vs Fred Rux	2 00
D. Linnihan, posting notices of hearing on petition for Co. ditch No. 22	7 00
D. Linnihan, serving notice on viewers Co ditch No. 22	9 20
D. Linnihan, posting notices of hearing on petition for Co. ditch No. 23	7 00
D. Linnihan, posting notices of hearing on petition for Co. ditch No. 24	12 00
Anton Meisen, serving P. P. tax citation on John C. Flaherty	1 40
Wm. McKinnon, serving P. P. tax citation on Theo. Schmitz	2 40
Alex B. Riddell, serving P. P. tax citation on May Joseph and I. D. Converse	10 80
D. Linnihan, fees and expenses in the matter of the insanity of Peter Knapper, a resident of Roseau county	22 30
Christie Lithograph & Printing Co., tax lists for 1905 and office supplies	86 80
H A Johnson, witness fees State vs Tollef S Thompson	2 44
D Linnihan, drawing petit jury	3 20
C C Hankey, serving p p citation on Thos Green	7 00
O J Johnson, attending ditch meeting one day and mileage	6 00
W C L Demann, same	4 40
James Sutor, same	5 00
Daniel Shaw, same	7 00
O J Johnson, attending special meeting of county board, one day	3 00
W C L Demann, same	3 00
James Sutor, same	3 00
Daniel Shaw, same	3 00
O J Schel & Co., supplies for Geo. Dorty, a non resident pauper	2 60
Thos S Doyle, board of Geo Dorty, a non resident pauper	31 42

On motion duly carried the following bills were rejected:

Red Lake Falls Gazette publishing summer school notice	13 05
Smith-Premier Typewriter Co., one No. 2 typewriter	98 87

On motion duly carried the board adjourned sine die.

JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor, Red Lake County, Minn.

Order to Examine Accounts.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Red Lake }
IN PROBATE COURT
Special Term, September 20, 1905.

In the matter of the estate of Matilda A. Hall, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Andrew P. Hanson, administrator of the estate of Matilda A. Hall, deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is ordered that said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Tuesday, the 17th day of October, A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office, in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, the 20th day of September, A. D. 1905.
By the Court.
(Seal) N. W. TARRANT,
s21-05 Judge of Probate.

Summons.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Red Lake, }
In District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

Berget Stolass, plaintiff, vs. Anna O. Anderson, formerly Anna O. Skaali, and Ludvig Anderson, her husband, and E. G. Skaali, defendants.

SUMMONS.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants:

You and each of you are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which said complaint has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint upon the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, Polk county, Minnesota, within twenty days after the service of this Summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated September 18th, 1905.
E. O. HAGEN,
s21-026 Attorney for plaintiff,
Crookston, Minnesota.
Rooms 10, 11, 27, Wallace Blk

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Chapter 2, General Laws 1902.

Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the County Auditor in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land sold for taxes in Red Lake county to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Chapter Two (2) General Laws of Minnesota, 1902, and amendments thereof, will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the highest price offered therefor, which shall not be less than the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs charged against it. Immediate payment to the County Treasurer is required. The sale will begin at the time and place named above and continue from day to day until every tract or parcel shall have been offered for sale. The County Auditor of Red Lake county is hereby authorized and directed to conduct sale. A list of said real property is now on file in the offices of the County Auditor and State Auditor.

Dated St. Paul, Minn., September 30th, 1905.
S. G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Section 1616, General Statute Minnesota 1894.

Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at two o'clock in the afternoon at the office of the county auditor in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land, sold for taxes, in Red Lake county, to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Section 1616, General Statutes of Minnesota 1894, and amendments thereof will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the highest price offered therefor: which shall not be less than the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs due thereon, unless such amount exceeds the actual value of the property. Immediate payment to the county treasurer is required. The sale will begin at the time and place named above and continue from day to day until every tract or parcel shall have have been offered for sale. A list of said real property is now on file in the offices of the County Auditor and State Auditor. This sale will be held pursuant to directions from the Auditor of the State as provided by law.

Dated Red Lake Falls, Minn., September 30th, 1905.
JAMES E. FORD,
Auditor Red Lake County.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls. Minnesota.

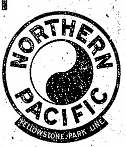
GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Merchants State Bank, Red Lake Falls

Get SCOTT'S Emulsion

When you go to a drug store and ask for Scott's Emulsion you know what you want; the man knows you ought to have it. Don't be surprised, though, if you are offered something else. Wines, cordials, extracts, etc., of cod liver oil are plentiful but don't imagine you are getting cod liver oil when you take them. Every year for thirty years we've been increasing the sales of Scott's Emulsion. Why? Because it has always been better than any substitute for it.

Send for free sample

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists
409-415 Pearl Street, New York
50c. and $1.00. All druggists



Northern Pacific-Shasta

The route for those who will spend the winter months in California. Rates are very low; magnificent scenery; comfortable trains.

Red Lake Falls to Los Angeles and Return $63.00

Write F. A. Mizen, Red Lake Falls, for detailed infor- for detailed information or to A. M. Cleland, General Pass. Agt., St. Paut.

Ayer's Pills Vegetable, liver pills. That is what they are. They cure constipation, biliousness, sick-headache. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Use BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FIFTY CTS. OF DRUGGISTS OR R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

FARM MACHINERY

I have just received a carload of farm machinery and it will be to the interest of every farmer in Red Lake County to see me and see some snaps I have to offer before buying. My goods are all anti-trust. Here are a few of the reliable goods I have for sale:

Robinson Buggies, Disc Harrows, Beggs-Goodson Wagons, The Celebrated Acme Harrow and Pulverizer, Van Brunt Single Disc Drills, Goodhue Wind Mills.

Get My Prices---I Can Save You Money

S. A. SWANSON

OLD SORES OFFENSIVE-DANGEROUS

Nothing is more offensive than an old sore that refuses to heal. Patiently, day after day, it is treated and nursed, every salve, powder, etc., that is heard of is tried, but does no good, until the very sight of it grows offensive to the sufferer and he becomes disgusted and morbid. They are not only offensive, but dangerous, because the same germ that produces cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore. The cause is in the blood and as long as it remains the sore will be there and continue to grow worse and more destructive. The fact that thousands of old sores have been cut out and even the bones scraped, and yet they returned, is indisputable evidence that the blood is diseased and responsible for the sore or ulcer.

Some years ago my blood became poisoned, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were closed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to entirely cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctors intimated I would be, neither have the sores ever broken out again. JOHN W. FUNDIS.
Wheeling, W. Va., May 28, 1903.

Valuable time is lost in experimenting with external treatments, such as salves, powders, washes, etc., because the germs and poisons in the blood must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. cleanses and purifies the circulation so that it carries rich, new blood to the parts and the sore or ulcer heals permanently. SSS S. S. S. not only removes the germs and poisons, but strengthens the blood and builds up the entire system by stimulating the organs, increasing the appetite and giving energy to the weak, wasted constitution. It is an exhilarating tonic, aids the digestion and puts every part of the body in good healthy condition. Book on the blood, with any medical advice wished, without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..

Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

City Meat Market

GEO, L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

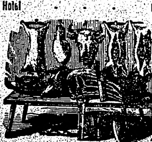
THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.

Strictly First-Class In Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.



RED LAKE FALLS MINN

Boiling Water in a Reservoir

It's something that's hard to do when the reservoir is on the right hand side because it's too far from the fire, takes too much fuel to do it. But, when the reservoir is right next to the fire pot, it's a mighty easy job and don't take much fuel either. Then on the Majestic we have a lever that by turning throws the reservoir away from the fire so that there is never any danger of the water boiling all away and spoiling your reservoir.

If you are going to need a range, don't look too much at the price, the Majestic is not the cheapest, but the least expensive.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA

WELL DIGGING..
I will dig wells by the day, foot or job and guarantee satisfaction on every job. Repairing a specialty. [illegible] at Courier office.
[illegible], Minnesota

St. Benedict's Academy....
St. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.
A School for [illegible]

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 1. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1905. WHOLE NO. 365.

BOYS LOSE TO GRAND FORKS.

In their Game Last Saturday owing to Greater Weight of Opponents.

The foot ball game between Red Lake Falls high school and Grand Forks high last Saturday resulted in a crushing defeat for the Red Lake boys mainly on account of their light weight. The Herald says: It was clearly demonstrated that as long as Grand Forks highs had the weight on their side they could win out very easily. The score of 12 to 0 was made in the first half in very close scrimmages, and was fairly won. In the second half neither side scored, but the whole time the ball was pushed back and forth in the center of the field. The chief gains made by Grand Forks were through the line and even then they worked for every yard that they gained. Red Lake Falls played a scientific game and only made one fumble, and it is believed that, if the difference in individual weight had not been so much, the Red Lake Falls boys would have at least tied the score. The game was interesting and gentlemanly from start to finish and the Grand Forks highs were in the game all the while and made some fine plays. The teams lined up as follows:

Grand Forks—Vonderlick c. Reilly rg, Filteau rt. McLoughlin re, Woods Duggan, le, Sullivan, Woods, it, McGraw le, Payne lhb. Roddy fb. Fawcett-Sullivan rbb, Vincent qb.

Red Lake Falls—Zaiser c, LaFreniere rt, H. Garceau re, J. Toupin lf, C Bourdon lt, E. Toupin le, R. Blake, lhb. W. Buse fb. P. Brunelle rhb, R. R. Healy qb.

Better Price for Wheat.

From all accounts wheat is likely to reach a much higher price than at present and it would doubtless pay those that can afford it to hold their wheat a little longer. It is always well to bear in mind that light wheat receipts cause advance. Reports from Russia indicate an enormous shortage of grains, compared with last year. Rye, Russia's leading crop, is said to be 352,000,000 bushels short; oats, 296,000,000, and wheat 178,000,000, an enormous and distressing total, even for a country as large as Russia. It is also reported that the wheat requirements of France will make necessary larger imports than were expected earlier in the season. Besides these factors it is becoming more and more apparent that the wheat yield of this country has been overestimated. Threshings in the Red River valley are disappointing, and there are predictions that the average yield of the valley will not be over 10 bushels to the acre, about 5 bushels less than earlier estimates. Rains of unprecedented volume, for the season, in the north and southwest, are cutting no small figure in fixing the ultimate quantity of secured wheat of good milling quality.

Football Saturday.

A game of ball will be played here on Saturday of this week betwoon our home boys and the team from the Law Department of the State University of North Dakota. If the Law Department team is as good as the High School team of Grand Forks the game Saturday will be well worth going to see.

To Change Inauguration Day.

After almost half a century of talk and agitation the movement to change the date of the presidential inauguration has at length assumed definite form, and is now making substantial headway. Forty-one governors have signified their willingness to serve on the committee which Commissioner Macfarl and has organized to induce congress to draw up and submit to the states the constitutional amondment which is necessary to be adopted before a change can be made. It is expected that the date will be changed from March 4 to April 30, to add to the length of the short session of congress, If we add Golden Grain Belt Beer to our regular diet there is but little danger of ill-health, Order a case for home use. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

CONTEST CLOSES.

Guessing Contest at Berthon and Armstrongs Clothing store Decided on Wednesday.

The guessing contest at the "Jim and Paul" store for the boys was closed on Wednesday afternoon and the ball of twine measured and the guesses registered, some of which were very low, running all the way from 300 to 7000 feet. Frances Favero, whose guess was 2,300 feet won the first prize of any $5.00 suit in the house, and Halvie Toupin, the second prize of a $3.00 suit, his guess being 2,381. The number of feet of twine in the ball was 2320.

T'Was Ever Thus.

Today I observed a blind man and his wife thumming banjos and singing songs on the streets of Fairmont. As I watched and listened about twenty young fellows came along and dropped a nickle or a dime in the cup of charity and only two men of middle or old age "dug up" to help the unfortunates The young men were mostly clerks who barely earn the store clothes they wear. Among the elderly men who passed along trying not to see the poor old blind mendicants were several who could have "bought and sold" half the clerks in Fairmont and still had money enough left to build a hospital for your beautiful little city and not feel the loss. Sentinel.

California or Florida

It is time to plan your winter vacation. Early arrangements secure the best accommodations. Choice of routes via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway to Californir or to Florida, combined with low rates make the trip to either resort a most attractive one. A postal will bring complete information about rates, train service and resorts, free and by return mail. Address W. B. Dixon, N. W. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. 9 Dec.

For Sale.

$500 worth of bees and hives which I will sell at half price $250 if taken this month. Also 800 pounds of comb honey and 70 gallons of extracted honey. Call on Oliver Caron.

Besiness Men Banquet.

The business circles of our town were changed last week by the removal of one of our most popular young men, and to express the high esteem in which he was held by his brother businessmen a banquet and smoker were held last Thursday in his honor, at the Grand View Hotel where upwards of forty of his associates gathered to make the last evening in Red Lake Falls a memorable one, and to wish him success in his new undertaking.

The toasts, as they were responded to, were, as follows:

President of the United States: F. A. Grady, P. B. Gaass, J. E. Ford.

Our guest: J. A. Duffy.

Commercial Industries: S. M. Sievertson, W. A. Sceeiter, F. E. Hunt, W. F. Spillane, Theo. LaBissionere.

Army and Navy: W. R. Rosse, C. E. Boughton, J. B. Armstrong, L. Kaufer, Fred Bourchers.

Professions; Thos. Germo, J. E. Argue, N. M. Watson.

Banking Interests: Theo. Garceau, A. P. Toupin, C. L. Hanson, M. O. Sortedahl.

Agricultural Industries: D. Linihan, N. W. Tarrant, K. M. Hanson.

Transportation: J. L. Tracy, F. A. Mizen, J. E. Blake.

Press: S. S. Haislet, A. M. Anderson, M. A. Converse, J. J. Padden.

Ladies: H. W. Anderson, S. E. Hunt, John Grady, H. H. Zaiser.

Resolution Adopted by Adams Presbytery.

We have had a most helpful and inspiring meeting of Presbytery and we feel that this sucess has been due in no small part to the pleasant circumstances under which we have met. There fore be it.

Resolved, by a vote of the Presbytery we express our appreciation of and gratitude to the pastor of this church for his careful preparation for the meeting of the Presbytery; to those who so kindly received us into their homes; to the ladies who provided us the magnificent dinner, which we enjoyed in the church parlors, and to all who have helped to make our visit to Red Lake Falls so pleasant and profitable.

S. E. P. White,
E. M. Williams, Committee.

Open to Trafic.

A new extension from Munich to Sarles, which is an extension of the Dakota Line northward to the international boundary has been open for service. This new extension will serve the towns of Clyde, Calvin and Sarles, recently established, and bring into direct railway communication an additional vast area of the rich land in the northern part of North Dakota.

Ministers of the Gospel Here

An interesting meeting was held at the Presbyterian church here on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week of the Presbyterian ministers and Missionaries of this part of the state, there being present R. N. Adams, D. D. of Minneapolis, N. A. Gilchrist, Missonary at Crookston, D. K. Laurie, Sunday School Missionary, of Brainerd and pastors Wm. Best, of East Grand Forks, W. J. Hall, of Hallock, Ralph T. Fulton, of Warren, W. T. Williams, of Argyle, S. E. P. White, of Bemidji, R. L. Barrackman, of Black Duck, with elders Frank, of Warren, Davnie, of Hallock, and Ward of Crookston. Three addresses were delivered Tuesday afternoon, which were followed by reports from the different ministers and missionaries, and in the evening a sermon was preached by Rev. Barrackman, of Black Duck. The business of their meeting was finished on Wednesday afternoon, after which most of those in attendance left for Fergus Falls, to attend the Synod meetings.

A New Enterprise

The National Railway Training School, Suite 237 Boston Block, Minneapolis, Minn., whose advertisement will be found in this issue has recently been organized for the purpose of training young men by mail for the positions of Fireman & Brakeman on Railroads without having had any previous experience. Positions secured as soon as competent. This enterprise deserves the support of everybody.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

Stationery at the Courier office.

A Word to the Little Folks

Work hard till you get a dollar. Then come to this bank and make your first deposit. . . . . . .

We will put your dollar on deposit drawing 5 per cent interest and lend you one of our little savings banks.

First State Bank Red Lake Falls, Minn.

WALKOVER SHOES Berthon & Armstrong HAWES & ROSWELLE HATS

Magnificent Showing of

Men's and Young Men's Fall and Winter Suits and Overcoats

$8.50 $10.00 $12.50 $15.00 $18.00 $20.00 $22.00 $24.00 $26.00 $28.00

Mothers.

We nave made it a point to perfect our BOYS DEPARTMENT as much as the mens. You will agree with us after you look over our line of Boys Suits and Overcoats,

AT HOME OR ABROAD

Wherever you go, if your clothes are our clothes, you'll be a credit to yourself and your community, so far as appearances go. All you need to do then is to make your actions as good as your apparel, and you're all right.

One thing about HART, SHAFFNER & MARX Clothes, they set a pretty high standard, if you're going to live up to them. Correct style, perfect fit, all wool genuineness and honesty and no thread of "mercerized cotton" cheat; if you're a Hart, Shaffner & Marx clothes man, you're a model citizen.

When you want the clothes to start with, see

JIM AND PAUL

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Copyright 1905 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

Would You?

Would you still, if he lost his money,
  Rush across the street
To grasp his hand and to let him see
That it made you happy that you and he
  Had happened to meet?

Would you still, if he lost his money
  In an honest way,
Take trouble to have it known
That he was your friend—your own—
  As you do to-day?

Would you still, if he lost his money,
  In deference bow
And never in deed or word or thought
Put the smallest slight upon him? If not
  You betray him now.
—S. E. Kiser.

A MERMAID NEMESIS

BY D. M. HENDERSON, JR.

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

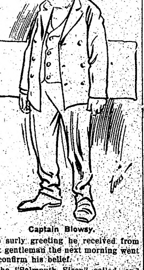
The apple of the Widow Stubb's eye was her boy Sam, a lean, freckled youngster. Perceiving this, Peter Blowsy and Silas Bliggs, captain and mate, respectively, of the "Salmouth Siren," vied with each other in making much of him. Over the bar of her tavern, "The Mariners' Rest," the widow remarked to the two that she was worried about Sam's health, whereupon the captain responded quickly that it was a shame to see such a bright, handsome face looking so peakish. The mate, outdone, energetically nodded his sympathy with this view. The captain, following up his advantage, recommended a certain tonic. Then the mate was seized by a great idea.

"What this dear little feller needs is an ocean trip!" he said, impressively. "I'll take him on our next un', Captain Blowsy willin', and I'll give him a father's care and bring him back with roses in his cheeks!"

"Delighted ter hev him!" the captain immediately responded, slapping his knee to show his appreciation of the plan, although he scowled darkly at his mate when that gentleman's back was towards him. Mrs. Stubbs, after hesitating long, consented, and the many warm glances she bestowed upon Silas convinced him that he had made a ten-strike.

As was their custom, the rival suitors met in the widow's parlor upon the Sunday evening following. Their vessel was to set sail the next morning, so each was anxious to unburden his heart to his hostess. When the clock's hands neared eleven, Silas, seeing that the captain had determined to sit him out, arose. With a malicious glance at his rival, he excused himself for not staying later. Since Samuel—whom he was to assume charge of that evening—was used to retiring early, he announced, he meant him while in his care to continue in the wise habit his good mother had taught him. As the wily mate had counted upon, the opportunity came while he was waiting at the door for the boy. Mrs. Stubbs was quite overcome when he stammered his petition, a condition which, while lamentable at the time, gave Silas blissful memories to carry with him, since during the moment of collapse the widow's plump form reposed in his arms. Recovering, she told Silas coyly that the memory of her dear Stubbs had not allowed her to contemplate a successor to him, but that she felt indeed honored at such an offer from such a person, and that she would try to see whether Stubbs' place in her heart might not be shared by another.

Silas, who had not expected a more favorable answer at that time, bade her adieu contentedly, feeling that the captain's persuasive powers could earn him no better answer than the one he secured, and that if he could retain possession of his trump card—Sam—he would have nothing to fear from the captain upon their return.



Captain Blowsy.

The surly greeting he received from that gentleman the next morning went to confirm his belief.

The "Salmouth Siren" sailed, and after an uneventful voyage reached her destination and discharged her cargo. As they were about to weigh anchor for the return trip a boat rowed hastily out to the ship. A rough-looking fellow came aboard and was ushered into the cabin. The curious Silas took his stand a few feet away from the open cabin skylight.

The stranger was speaking. "My boat's off Blimley Cove!" were the first words Silas heard.

"A day's trip this side o' Salmouth! Then you can look for us about the first o' next week," the captain replied.

"I don't want ter run agin' the law!" said the stranger, dubitably.

"Rot!" came from the captain. "Foller my directions an' you'll come out all right. The night after we reaches Blimley Cove I comes ashore with the mate and the kid. You foller us. The mate an' I goes in fer a drink at some 'longshore tavern, leavin' the kid outside, the company inside not being fit fer one of his innercense to 'sociate with. The place I picks out ter leave him is a lonely un', so you comes along an' nips him. You keeps him on your boat till I tells you when an' whar' ter land him. When you brings him ashore I happens along, huntin' fer the lost Sammy! We has a leetle set-to an' I rescues the kid! It's simple!"

Silas Bliggs.

"I'm blowed if I likes the job!" the stranger answered.

"Pshaw!" responded the captain. "Taint nothin' but a leetle joke, an' I'm goin' ter pay you well for it!"

The two arose, haggling over a price for the job. Silas walked away. The mate was aghast at his rival's cunning plot. He trembled when he thought of the pinnacle the captain would reach and the depth to which he would sink in the widow's estimation if the plotters succeeded. He was seized with a wild desire to flee the vessel with Sam, but his charge was nowhere in sight and the sailors, the stranger having pulled off, were weighing the anchor. When he grew calm he set himself to plan a way to frustrate the rascally scheme, but although he spent many an hour in thinking over the situation, the only determination he arrived at was that when the "Salmouth Siren" reached Blimley Cove he would stick to Sam like a leech!

The boat was within a day's sail of Blimley Cove when a severe storm arose. In the evening, as great wind-driven sheets of rain beat the deck and vivid flashes of lightning lit up the plunging bark weirdly, the captain sought his mate's company for the first time during the trip. Silas, occupied by his troubles, seeing that the captain had been drinking, paid little heed to his maudlin talk. But as the captain, growing superstitious under the combined influences of the liquor and the storm, unfolded his pet belief that the destinies of ships were controlled by strange sea-folk, Silas grew interested and then agreed heartily with the captain. When they separated Silas was deep in thought.

About midnight, sobered by the storm, the captain had taken the wheel. Suddenly, above the noise of the gale, he heard a strange voice calling him. By the faint light from the cabin air-ports he made out, forward of the wheel, a prostrate figure. As he peered a continued flash of lightning disclosed a mermaid. A mass of long yellow hair half veiled her face and streamed over her shoulders and from her neck to the end of her long, fish-like tail, phosphorous radiated.

The captain shivered. "Who air you?" he gasped.

"The mermaid what looks after this here craft's fortune!" the creature hoarsely answered. "I hev come to warn ye, Peter Blowsy, that destruction waits the 'Siren' at Blimley Cove! It air a punishment fer yore evil doings!"

"I jest meant to hev a leetle joke, good mermaid!" bawled the captain, in his excitement, letting the mermaid's peculiar pronunciation escape him. No answer came. The mermaid was vanishing. The skipper remained transfixed with terror until the gleams of phosphorous shone no longer. Then he staggered to the companionway and bawled for the mate. When, after an exasperating delay, Silas appeared, the skipper with an oath instructed him to set a straight course for Salmouth and went below.

Two evenings later, shortly after his mate had gone ashore, Captain Blowsy entered his cabin, intending to don his shore clothes. He found upon the cabin table a huge bundle. Opening it curiously, he discovered a mass of unraveled hemp, fashioned into the shape of a woman's wig; a huge fish-tail, made from two pieces of old canvas cut to the required shape and basted together, with an opening at its largest end large enough to admit a man's body, and a box of wet sulphur matches, labeled "The fosforous you seed!" With these articles was enclosed a note stating that the remainder of the "mermaid what looked after the 'Siren's' fortunes" could be found that evening at the "Mariner's Rest," where a full account of why and how she appeared could be heard.

Silas had conquered; his discomfited rival sought liquid solace that evening in a strange tavern.

Silas, when Sam had been sent to bed, seeing that his highly-colored story of his rival's dastardly plot and its frustration had caused favoring winds, set sail for and reached the Port o' Love.

ONE REQUISITE FOR SUCCESS.

Press Steadily Onward and Never Think of Failure.

A happy minded woman came from the West to take her place in the van with the girl who works—the girl with a purpose—an ambition beyond society. That she was in earnest there could be no doubt.

She began with stenography; she took a course in physical culture; she studied the work of book cover designing; she even spent a week as a cloak model; she tried to win success as an advertising agent. In nothing could she achieve any success. Yet she worked hard and was encouraged and aided by friends. But she failed to keep on at any of the many branches she adopted, says Success.

It is not always possible to see the stars beckoning us. A philosophic woman has written, we must dig to find our star. But we must keep on—blindly, sometimes—through the darkness, with nothing but the keeping on itself in view. Worry not over environment or lack of the immediate success that may be our due. Waste not time over small regrets or failures or small achievements.

These things only prove that you are alive and in the battle, just as the singing of a bullet tells a soldier that he is in the field. But when the tired time comes to you—the girl who works—and you look over untrodden fields where the daisies may glow alluringly and the star of success may perch low enough to reach without too much straining, just stick to your purpose, whatever it may be.

Leading Up to It.

"I wish you would look at this watch and see what's the matter with it," the man said, handing it over.

The jeweler examined it.

"I can't see anything wrong," he said. "What seems to be the trouble?"

"It has lost nearly a minute in the last three months."

"That isn't worth making a fuss over."

"I didn't know but one of the jewels might have broken, or something."

"None of 'em dropped out?"

"No, they're all right."

"It isn't full jeweled, anyhow, is it?"

"Yes, it's full jeweled."

"I've been suspecting lately that the case is only washed."

"You're wrong. It's solid gold."

"But it isn't a first class make, is it?"

"Yes, there's nothing better in the market."

"I'm glad to hear you say so. Perhaps you wouldn't mind letting me have a fifty on it?"—Chicago Tribune.

Couldn't Find It.

The neighbors having dropped in informally upon the Suthrons during the evening, Mrs. Suthron suggests that if her husband will gather some mint from the mint bed in the garden, she will mix for them a genuine Kentucky julep. Mr. Suthron, who has indulged in seven or eight genuine Kentucky juleps prior to the arrival of the guests, goes willingly in search of the desired garnishment for the drink. He remains in the garden quite a while, and finally the others go out to ascertain what causes the delay.

"Why don't you bring the mint in, dear?" his wife calls.

From somewhere in the darkness comes the testy response:

"Jane, I've eaten my way twice around this lot. I've chewed geranium leaves, grass, catnip, tulips, onions, sage and burdock, but blamed if I can find a sprig of mint anywhere!"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

He Had Already Won.

A young man who had been attentive to the other man's daughter, asked him for her hand in marriage.

"I'm sorry," said the father, "but I must refuse. I don't believe you are the kind of man for her."

"I'll have her anyway," said the youth, becoming bold.

"You won't," said the father, emphatically. "We'll just see who wins out in this matter."

"All right, I accept the challenge," said the other. "Is the fight on now?"

"It is."

"O, very well," said the youth, "then I've won. I married your daughter two weeks ago Thursday."—Kansas City Times.

THE BUMPER WHEAT CROP OF CANADA.

100,000,000 Bushels of Wheat from 4,000,000 Acres of Land.

In order to secure the attention of the reader to any special article that is brought before the public, it is often the custom to lead the reader on by the introduction of an interesting story until by one bold jump he is introduced to the subject that it is desired shall be brought to his notice. This is not fair to the reader, and it is not the intention to do that in this article. It will discuss in the briefest way "Western Canada" and its possibilities for settlement. For the past six or seven years the Government of the Dominion of Canada has talked of the resources of Western Canada to the readers of this and thousands of other papers throughout the United States. The quality of the soil was spoken of, the large area of fertile lands was discussed the possibilities of the country as a grain-growing district were talked of, and the story of the success of farmers from the United States was told. The story is not yet an old one. The two hundred thousand from the United States, who have made Western Canada their home, who have taken advantage of the 160 acres of land that the Government gives free to actual settlers are telling the story to-day to their friends. They have proven the statements made through these columns and by the Government Agents. They have produced from their lands, twenty, thirty, forty and more bushels of wheat to the acre, and netted profits ranging from three to ten and more dollars on every acre tilled. They have found the climate fully as good as they were told it would be, schools were convenient and easily organized, railways were not far distant, and markets close at hand. The social conditions were such as they chose to make them, and law and order were observed. Many of them bought land, because it was low-priced and good, and hundreds of cases could be cited where the purchase price of the land was paid out of the first crop. The writer knows of cases this year where the farmer, as a result of the yield on his farm, was put in a position that would enable him to increase his holdings three extra acres for every acre cropped and pay cash for it. Is it any wonder that one grows enthusiastic when speaking about Western Canada.

But what may be said of this year. We are now in a position to speak regarding it. The conditions throughout Manitoba and the new provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan have been remarkably favorable. Had conditions been no better than in past years there would have been every cause for congratulation. We find though all previous records broken, and that from a four million acre crop of wheat there will be one hundred million bushels of a yield—or 25 bushels to the acre. Could anything better be desired? Covering the entire country the same splendid reports are being received. The following dispatch was sent by Mr. F. W. Thompson, Vice President of the Ogilvie Milling Co., one of the most careful grain men in America:

"Have just returned from covering several hundred miles of the crop district. I never saw anything like it in this country before. The average yield and quality far exceeds our earlier expectations. It is an immense crop. The weather is extremely favorable."

Up to three weeks ago it was Mr. Thompson's opinion that the crop would not reach general expectations.

"F. W. Thompson sends another telegram from Winnipeg to-night, saying that his estimate of the wheat crop is now one hundred millions bushels. Before he went west he thought it would fall considerably short of that figure."

The moral of this story is that there should be no hesitation in making a decision if you wish to better your condition; or, if you have a family of boys that you wish to become settled on farms, it is a safe proposition to call upon the nearest authorized Canadian Government Agent, and get particulars as to most suitable districts and railway rates.

A Perfect Clod.

"Have you really broken your engagement to him?" asker the first summer girl.

"Yes," replied the other, "he was no fun at all. I simply couldn't make him jealous no matter how I tried."—Philadelphia Press.

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson patent lawyers, 911-912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn. Gaylord Beebe, Minneapolis, Minn., check protector; William Clifford, Duluth, Minn., dredge anchor; Edward Forkey, Minneapolis, Minn., horseshoe calk; Frank Higgins, Fargo, N. D., stamp case; Louis Marchessault, Minneapolis, Minn., boiler; Andrew Neudecker, Clements, Minn., horse-whipping mechanism; Henry Spaulding, Canastota, S. D., corn planter.

Renunciation.

Bessie—I simply refused to give him up, so papa stepped in and dragged me off to Europe.

Tessie—So you had to give him up after all?

Bessie—Mercy, yes. On the third day out I gave up everything.—Cleveland Leader.

The bachelor pays his money to go and hear lectures, the married man gets his at home for nothing, and yet some people can't see the advantage of matrimony.

INVENTIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS

Purify Water by Electricity.

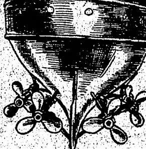
Philadelphia's notoriously bad water is now washed and made clean by ozone. Water from the Schuylkill river contains as much as 2,500,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter; but after a preliminary straining this noisome populace is reduced to 700,000 and after the ozone treatment to from 5 to 55, and these few survivors are said to be innocents. The water is also deodorized and freed from color. It is all done in this wise: A motor generator, producing a current of 100 alternations, is operated by a current taken from the city supply. The current from the generator is raised by transformers and condensers to a voltage of 10,000. Voltage arcs are prevented and sparks are limited by means of resistance coils and condensers, and the current in form of a pencil of blue light passes from each of some millions of metallic discharge points across a short air gap to nickel receivers. By means of a pump air is drawn across this gap, and in its passage is partially converted into ozone; it is then forced through a stand pipe in which it meets a current of water flowing in an opposite direction. The bacteria contained in the water are instantly destroyed by the ozone and the water is purified.

Catching Mail From Flyers.

Rapid delivery in mails is one of Iowa's blessings from a fast mail train that races over its prairies. The long vexed puzzle of discharging mail from moving trains without hazard to the mail, the train, and the bystanders is now solved by an automatic device operated by air from the brakes of the trains and the instantaneous action thus secured. A platform is arranged on the car door on which the sacks of mail to be delivered are placed. Contact between the crane on the station platform and a trigger on the mail catching arm on the car puts the mechanism in operation; the mail sacks are thus ejected into a receiving box placed at the side of the track so constructed that the air is forced into either end by the momentum of the pouch. This acts as a cushion, preventing damage to the pouch and its contents. The process is equally good for trains running at fifteen or those at seventy-two miles per hour.

Designed for Fast Ocean Travel.

One of the most interesting novelties in Earl's Court exhibition is the model of a passenger vessel designed by Mr. Richard Painton, an American inventor, who claims that the ship will be able to cross the Atlantic in three days. According to Mr. Painton's design, the present single or double propellers are replaced by rows of propellers, from sixteen to twenty in number, placed along the sides and stem of the vessel, and worked by independent motors connected by wires with the generating dynamos. As the engine will occupy considerably less space than the present type of engine, a much larger quantity of coal can be carried.—London Telegraph.



Some of the Propellers.

Zorene's Wonderful Property.

Zorene is the new chemical wonder, and it is a wonder. Hungaria has found it, and states through Prof. Brunn that a piece of ordinary and easily breakable slag, after immersion in the new liquid compound, defies the blow of a hammer. The same effect was produced on ordinary brick and on a block of red jarrah wood. When immersed in water for a long time none of the three when taken out shows the slightest increase of weight by the addition of moisture. Two pieces of steel which had been soaked in the liquid were submitted to an ammonia test equal to five years exposure to the air and emerged from the bath as they entered it. Prof. Brunn states that he can make roads germ, dust and waterproof from slag which is now useless, and that he can double the life of metals exposed to the air.

New Building Material.

The new building material known as "kremnite" is made in a factory near St. Petersburg and consists of powdered clay sand and fluorspar melted together at a high temperature. The molten mass may be used like iron for molded castings as well as blocks. The material can be colored in a variety of shades, may be ground or polished, takes glaze well, and gives a good imitation of colored marble or other natural stone. It may be cast in large pieces of any desired form. It is well adapted for architectural and artistic purposes, yielding such products as hollow bricks for buildings and stoves, fancy marble-like bricks, tiles for floors and sidewalks, and even thin corrugated plates for roofs.

There is no Rochelle Salts, Alum, Lime or Ammonia in food made with

Calumet Baking Powder

—NOT IN THE BAKING POWDER TRUST—
It makes pure food.

Across the Bloody Chasm.

He was up from the South for the first time and was seeing New York from a trolley car. In the lapel of his coat was a Confederate veteran's badge. The man next to him wore the bronze button of the G. A. R.

"Stranger," said the Southerner to his old-time foe, "there don't seem to be as much difference between you-all and we-all except that you-all say guess' and we-all say 'reckon.'"

"No," responded the other, "except that we could always guess a blamed sight better than you could reckon."

The car reached the end of the line just then and the two old soldiers entered a saloon arm in arm.—New York Sund.

A Good Baron Munchausen Story.

In connection with old Admiral Jaureguiberry, a writer remembers a curious incident. At the fight of St. Jean-sur-Erve, during the retreat on Laval, the admiral was galloping along the front, his tall, bony figure erect, his long gray side whiskers streaming in the wind, when some fragments of an exploding shell absolutely decapitated his horse, which, nevertheless, galloped on quite forty yards before it fell, the admiral meanwhile retaining his seat unmoved, though he profited by the respite to free his feet from the stirrups in such a way that as the horse collapsed he easily alighted. His only comment, in response to the congratulations he received on his escape was very characteristic. "Some people imagine," said he, "that sailors cannot ride."—Dundee Advertiser.

Best in the World.

Cream, Ark., Oct. 9th.—(Special.)—After eighteen months' suffering from Epilepsy, Backache and Kidney Complaint, Mr. W. H. Smith of this place is a well man again and those who have watched his return to health unhesitatingly give all the credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills. In an interview regarding his cure, Mr. Smith says:

"I had been low for eighteen months with my back and kidneys, and also Epilepsy. I had taken everything I knew of and nothing seemed to do me any good till a friend of mine got me to send for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I find that they are the greatest medicine in the world, for now I am able to work and am in fact as stout and strong as before I took sick."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys. Cured Kidneys cleanse the blood of all impurities. Pure blood means good health.

Truly.

Elise—Mamma, what is a riding habit?

Mamma—A riding habit, dear, is what makes people too lazy to walk.—Judge.

Two-thirds of what people call principle is bull-headedness.

TRADE MARK.

St. Jacobs Oil

for many, many years has cured and continues to cure

RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA LUMBAGO
BACKACHE
SCIATICA SPRAINS BRUISES
SORENESS
STIFFNESS
FROST-BITES

Price, 25c. and 50c.

I Must Have It

Refuse Substitutes and Imitations

You will know them, despite their fanciful names—they are usually mixed with hot water and do not have the cementing property of

Alabastine

Mix with cold water, any one can brush it on.

A Rock Cement in white and tints.

Kills vermin and disease germs; does not rub or scale. No washing of walls after once applied. [illegible]

KIDNEY TROUBLE DUE TO CATARRH.

The Curative Power of PE-RU-NA in Kidney Disease the Talk of the Continent.

Nicholas J. Hertz, Member of Ancient Order of Workmen, Capitol Lodge, No. 140, Pearl Street Hotel, Albany, N. Y., writes:

"A few months ago I contracted a heavy cold which settled in my kidneys, and each time I was exposed to inclement weather the trouble was aggravated until finally I was unable to work.

"After trying many of the advertised remedies for kidney trouble, I finally took Peruna.

"In a week the intense pains in my back were much relieved and in four weeks I was able to take up my work again.

"I still continued to use Peruna for another month and at the end of that time I was perfectly well.

"I now take a dose or two when I have been exposed and find that it is splendid to keep me well."

Hundreds of Cures.

Dr. Hartman is constantly in receipt of testimonials from people who have been cured of chronic and complicated kidney disease, by Peruna. For free medical advice, address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

He Told Her Why.

Peckem— I have been asked to join the Married Men's club, my dear.

Mrs. Peckem—Indeed! And what do married men want a club for, pray?

Peckem—Why, misery loves company, you know.—Chicago News.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Something in a Name.

First Butterfly—I wonder how we got our name. Did we ever have anything to do with butter?

Second Butterfly—Oh, stop grumbling. Suppose they had called us oleomargarine flies?—New York Press.

HAVE YOU COWS?

If you have cream to separate a good Cream Separator is the most profitable investment you can possibly make. Delay means daily waste of time, labor and product. DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS save $10.- per cow per year every year of use over all gravity setting systems and $5.- per cow over all imitating separators. They received the Grand Prize or Highest Award at St. Louis.

Buying trashy cash-in-advance separators is penny wise, dollar foolish. Such machines quickly lose their cost instead of saving it.

If you haven't the ready cash DE LAVAL machines may be bought on such liberal terms that they actually pay for themselves.

Send today for new catalogue and name of nearest local agent.

THE DE LAVAL SEPARATOR CO.
Randolph & Canal Sts. CHICAGO | 74 Cortlandt Street NEW YORK

Don't Get Wet!

TOWER'S SLICKERS will keep you dry as nothing else will, because they are the product of the best materials and seventy years' experience in manufacturing.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND
A. J. TOWER CO.
Boston, U.S.A.
TOWER CANADIAN CO., Ltd.
Toronto, Can.
381

MIXED FARMING

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

WHEAT RAISING RANCHING three great pursuits have again shown wonderful results on the

FREE HOMESTEAD LANDS OF WESTERN CANADA.

Magnificent climate—farmers plowing in their shirt sleeves in the middle of November.

"All are bound to be more than pleased with the final results of the past season's harvest."—Extract.

Coal, wood, water, hay in abundance—schools, churches, markets convenient.

This is the era of $1.00 wheat.

Apply for information to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to authorized Canadian Government Agent—Charles Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, North Dakota.
(Mention this paper.)

FARM MISCELLANY

Gastric Digestion.

The stomachs of our domestic animals vary greatly in size, that of the hog holding 7 to 9 quarts, the horse 17 to 19, and the ox over 300 quarts. Colin, who gives the above data, found 145 pounds of air-dry fodder in the first three compartments of the stomach of a cow that had fasted two days. The stomach of the ox is never without considerable content, even after long starvation. The digestion of the starchy matter of the food through action of the saliva continues in the stomach. After the food enters the stomach a churning motion is set up which causes it to travel from the place on entrance toward the exit. While this motion is going on, a fluid is being poured upon it from the lining of the stomach. This fluid is at first alkaline, but gradually becomes more and more acid.

The amount of gastric fluid poured out has not yet been definitely determined. Some writers place it as high as one-fourth the weight of the body daily, others a tenth, and others even less.

The constituents of the gastric juice which effect changes are pepsin, rennet, and acid. Pepsin is a soluble ferment which acts upon the food only in the presence of dilute acid. Rennet has the power of curdling milk, one part coagulating 400,000 parts of casein. Cane sugar is not fermentable and cannot be assimilated until it is changed to glucose and laevulose. Hydrochloric acid is present in considerable amount in the gastric juice. Cane sugar in the food is slowly changed by this acid into laevulose and glucose. The main action of the gastric juice is, however, in converting the albuminoids into peptones, leaving the fatty matter and cellulose to be attacked later. The stomach of the horse is so small that it cannot contain a full feed at one time, and consequently that portion which is first eaten is usually pushed on from the stomach into the small intestines before it has been long acted on by the gastric juice.—Prof. W. A. Henry, in Feeds and Feeding.

Feed and the Color of Butter.

Some of the dairy people are quite excited over the possibility of the use of butter color being prohibited, and are discussing the question of whether or not feed affects the color of butter. Evidently some of them wish to give the impression that feed does not under any conditions affect the color of butter, and that therefore the farmer should make a vigorous fight against any such law, as they would then be unable to have yellow butter. One of them heads an article, "Can't Feed for Color," and then quotes Professor Wing of Cornell, Professor Jordan of Geneva, and Professor Babcock of Wisconsin. What they say contradicts the heading, for they assert most emphatically that feed does modify the color of the butter. Professor Jordan says that the butter fat from the same individual cow is of higher color when she is on pasture than when she is on dry feed in the barn. Professor Wing says that certain feeds noticeably affect the fat in milk. Fresh pasture grass is famed for this, he says. Professor Babcock declares that green forage has the highest color, that succulent foods, as roots or silage, also improve the color in winter, and that corn meal gives a better color than wheat bran.

Every reader of the Farmers' Review that has had anything to do with the making of butter on the farm knows that when the pastures are green and luxuriant in June, the butter color is at its highest. There is no question that foods can be given the cows that will to a considerable extent affect the color of the milk, even in winter.—Farmers' Review.

Company Owned Threshers.

It has been pointed out in these columns that much loss is each year incurred by farmers from having to allow their grain to stand too long in the shock while waiting the arrival of the threshing outfit, which is too busy to promptly take care of all of the work desired to be done. Threshers are increasing in number in each community, but as two-thirds of the farmers in many districts prefer to thresh from the shock and could not otherwise dispose of their grain crop, many more machines are needed and should be furnished in order to put a stop to the serious loss or damage of grain. In Great Britain almost without exception the farms have individual threshing mills, most of which are run by water power, which necessitates having dams or ponds. Where modern buildings have recently been built, steam power runs the thresher, which is a fixture in a special building, says the Farmers' Review.

With us small threshers might be run by electric power where trolley lines pass near the farm, or by the old-fashioned horse power or even a steam engine, where the farm is large. These things will come some day. Meanwhile it would seem to be a good plan for farmers to band together in a community for the purchase of a threshing outfit of sufficient capacity to do the work required, and then each season stack the grain on each farm and thresh with the company machine just when most convenient or profitable.

A company machine could not well thresh from the shock quickly enough to suit all of the farmers owning stock in the outfit, hence it would be best to stack the grain, and that indeed is probably the best plan for all concerned in districts where the harvesting weather is not invariably dry and hot. While help is scarce shocking will still be as shockingly done as it is at present on most farms. The sheaves are bundled together any old way and take rain like a sponge, so that they soon commence to rot and sprout or at least become discolored. Discolored grain loses grade in the market and cuts down the value of a lot of grain in the country elevator. Better to stack the grain and thresh at the best time to conserve every good quality of the crop.

Soil Depletion Unnecessary.

A noted writer in a contemporary recently stated that "all soils will be depleted in time," a view of the matter which is so erroneous that already the author is being taken to task by other experienced agriculturists. The trend of what appears in the agricultural papers from month to month upon the subject of plant food in soils is perhaps the conclusion arrived at by the writer referred to, and it may be well for farmers to fear that soil will inevitably "play out" in time, but when all is considered it becomes apparent at least that there is no real need of such depleting taking place. It is a fact that soil cropped year after year for a long time with the same crop will gradually lose one or more of the foods or soil ingredients needed to the welfare of that particular crop, and for this reason that special crop will there fail to thrive, while other crops not dependent upon the presence of the special ingredient lacking may thrive fairly well for a time. A soil then becomes depleted for one crop, but may do well enough for some other crop, as has been seen in the history of the wheat fields of the country. Change of crop tends to renovate land, in that it gives the soil a chance to recuperate from its past trial and store up fresh hoards of that ingredient which was sapped in its assimilable form but not exhausted in its dormant form. By proper rotation of crops, by raising and feeding of live stock, by growing clover and legumes such as peas, beans, etc., no soil need become too depleted to raise profitable crops, and by additional use of artificial fertilizers any soil may become richer than it was originally although long used for the production of farm crops. Such is the history of wide areas of poor land in Europe and even in some of our eastern states. They ran down for a time by successive cropping without proper rotation, but after intelligent methods of cropping, stock feeding and soil fertilization were introduced they were renovated and now bear crops abundantly. Under the circumstances it is well to understand that soils may become depleted, but no one should conclude that depletion is inevitable in the future.—A. S. Alexander in Farmers' Review.

Color of Clover Seed.

Those who have examined clover seed must have noticed that there are three general kinds into which the colors may be divided. There is the yellow seed, the variegated seed and the brown seed. The brown seeds are now known to be of low germinative capacity, and their peculiar color is given by the prolonged action of rain on the seeds. This has been established by taking yellow seeds and variegated seeds and wetting and drying them for a considerable time. Some agriculturists tested the germinative power of average lots of clover seed imported from Russia and also some purchased in the United States. In the Russian seed the germinations were: variegated seed, 87 per cent; yellow seed, 85.6 per cent; brown seed, 13.6 per cent. In the American seed, the germinations were: variegated, 94.7 per cent; yellow, 94.2 per cent; brown, 13 per cent. It will thus be seen that the value of the brown seed was very slight. Experiments in the actual use of this seed seemed to show that the yellow seed produces a slightly larger yield of hay. The seeds in the Russian clover were carefully separated and the proportions of each color were found to be as follows; variegated, 35.89 per cent; yellow, 18.77 per cent; brown, 15.91 per cent; intermediate, 26.84 per cent; weed seed, 1.35 per cent; dirt, 1.25 per cent. In the American seed the corresponding figures were: variegated, 32.9 per cent; yellow, 20.3 per cent; brown, 19.07 per cent; intermediate, 20.47 per cent; weed seed, 3.98 per cent; dirt, 3.98 per cent. It will thus be seen that in both kinds the per cent of fairly good germinable seed was only a little above 52 per cent.

Grease, the Lice Killer.

It would not seem necessary to buy insect powder for putting on hens when common lard may be cheaply had and is death to lice. Lice breathe through pores in their bodies. It does not take much grease to stop up these pores, when the lice perish for lack of the oxygen of the air. Lice may be killed by grease, both when they are found on chicks and when they are found on old hens. It is something of a task to doctor a lot of old hens with grease, but it is cheaper and better than having the lice about. It is not necessary to mix kerosene with the grease, as the grease itself is entirely effective.

Early maturity is the most important point in breeding animals for market and the chief thing to consider is to have stock that will make the most weight in the shortest time and on the least feed.

AWFUL NEURALGIA

Mr. Porter Thought He Should Go Mad But Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Him.

"It seems like a miracle that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should have cured my neuralgia," said Mr. Porter. "They are certainly a marvelous medicine and I am always glad to recommend them.

"For two years," he continued, "I had suffered almost unendurable pains in my head. They would start over my eyes and shoot upward most frequently, but they often spread over my face, and at times every part of my head and face would be full of agony. Sometimes the pains were so intense that I actually feared they would drive me mad.

"My eyes ached constantly and there was always a burning sensation over my forehead, but the other pains varied, sometimes they were acute, and again they were dull and lingering. I could not sleep. My temper was irritable and I got no pleasure out of life.

"I tried remedy after remedy, but finding no help in any of them, I became a despairing man. Even when I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I had no great hope of a cure.

"That was in December of 1903. To my surprise, a change in my condition took place right away. The pains grew less intense and the acute attacks were further apart, as I kept on using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The improvement began with the first box, and when I had used six boxes I stopped. My cure was complete and has lasted ever since."

Mr. Charles H. Porter lives at Raymond, N. H. He is one of many grateful people who have found that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure diseases of the nerves that have stubbornly resisted every other remedy tried. Not only neuralgia, but sciatica, partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia yield to them. They are sold by all druggists, or may be obtained directly from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Where the Lines Were.

"When he proposed," said Miss Passay, coyly, "I tried hard not to let him see what my feeling towards him was."

"But you couldn't deceive him, eh?" asked Miss Pepprey.

"No; he said he saw his answer in my face."

"Ah! He read between the lines, I suppose."—Catholic Standard.

To Launder Colored Embroidered Linens.

To launder colored, embroidered linens with good results, the work should be done quickly and carefully. Wash through warm, Ivory Soap suds, rubbing with the hands; rinse through a clear water, then through another which is slightly blue. Dry in-doors; to iron, have the piece very damp and place it, right side down, on a soft blanket. Press with a hot iron.

ELEANOR R. PARKER.

Comparison.

Hiram Harix—A feller up our way is workin' on a flyin' macheen.

Owen Oatcake—Does he 'low it'll fly?

Hiram Harix—Yees; he sez he 'lows it'll go up an' down like th' price uv wheat.—Chicago News.

What She Desires.

"It may not be your intention," remarked Miss Gaddie, "but doesn't it occur to you that your treatment of me is rather calculated to make us bad friends?"

"No," replied Miss Kandor, coolly, "I had an idea it would make us good enemies."—Philadelphia Press.

AGAINST THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

Overzealous Reformers Work for Law Against Proprietary Medicines.

Schemes to diminish or destroy the sale of proprietary medicines are constantly being devised by interested parties. Every now and then some zealous reformer comes to the front with the demand for a law to require every package of proprietary medicine to be labeled with a printed statement of the "formula," showing just how it is manufactured. The millions of people who use proprietary medicines seem to be satisfied; but the man with a mania for regulating the affairs of other people or who has some personal interest to serve is the one who agitates the proposition. To a person who has never taken time to consider it, such a proposition may seem reasonable enough; yet it is in fact nothing more nor less than a scheme to compel the manufacturers to put their trade throughout the entire country at the mercy of every commercial pirate who might choose to flood the market with imitations of their goods.

"Under such conditions the incentive for the original manufacturer to advertise his goods would be practically destroyed, for the money spent on advertising would inure mainly to the benefit of the pirates and imitators. Without advertising, the public would receive little information in regard to the medicine, and all future sales would be greatly impaired if not wholly destroyed." It is mainly by judicious advertising that the knowledge of proprietary medicines is brought to the public. Nothing is more certain than that millions of people have found relief at a comparatively small expense by the use of some remedy first called to their notice through newspaper advertising. Why, then, should the manufacturer of a meritorious proprietary remedy be compelled by law to practically destroy his business as a condition of being allowed to carry it on? Yet that is exactly what these formula bills mean.—Exchange.

A man who pronounces marriage a failure either has had too much experience or else none at all.

A woman always thinks a man is afraid to argue with her.

WHEAT

A sharp break, such as we anticipated in our last review, has been experienced in the wheat market. Declines have been sharp and of sufficient size to clear the situation of much of its weight. The most powerful and aggressive interests are now purchasing on each material decline, and this in spite of the big crops. The demand is wide and insistent. The undertone in the market is distinctly strong and healthy. The true character of the market may be judged by the fact that, while there is an apparent difference in favor of Canadian wheat for export into several European states, liberal amounts of high grade American wheat have been sold to those countries. This proves while the public markets abroad may show prices below an import level, they need our fine wheat so badly that private prices are higher than the market. If thus early in the season Europe is willing to pay a liberal premium for the best milling grades, what will be the situation when the present source of supply, the Canadian fields, has become exhausted? We believe wheat will advance materially as soon as the situation is a little better understood. For a long pull, we favor purchases of May wheat.

Edwards-Wood Co.
(Incorporated)—Dealers In
STOCKS GRAIN PROVISIONS
Main Office—5th and Robert Sts.—St. Paul.

What is a Backache?

IT IS NATURE'S WARNING TO WOMEN

Diseases of Woman's Organism Cured and Consequent Pain Stopped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"It seems as though my back would break." Women utter these words over and over again, but continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, "bearing down" pains, nervousness and no ambition for any task.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Thompson

They do not realize that the back is the mainspring of woman's organism, and quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the womb or kidneys, and that the aches and pains will continue until the cause is removed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for twenty years has been the one and only effective remedy in such cases. It speedily cures all womb and kidney disorders and restores the female organs to a healthy condition.

Here is one case among thousands:

"I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the most wonderful remedy in the world for sick women. For a long time I suffered with a severe backache and bearing-down pains; in fact, I had womb trouble. Reading of the remarkable cures your Compound had made I decided to try it, and I am happy to say that it not only cured me entirely of all my troubles but made me a strong, well woman."—Mrs. Elizabeth H. Thompson, Lily Dale, N. Y.

No other medicine holds such a record of cures of female ills as does Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other person can give such helpful advice to women who are sick as can Mrs. Pinkham, for none have had such a great experience. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice free.

CURES CONSTIPATION

Relief that comes from the use of pills or other cathartics is better than suffering from the results of constipation, but relief and cure combined may be had at the same price and more promptly, for

Lane's Family Medicine

is a cure for constipation, and the headache, backache, sideache and general debility that come from constipation stop when the bowels do their proper work.

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN

W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
ALL STYLES
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES
Established July 6, 1876.

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

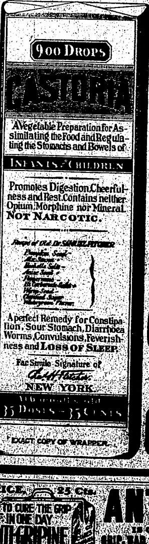
Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES.

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.
Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.
The R. Paxton Company, Boston, Mass.



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.
35 DOSES — 35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY
ANTI-GRIPINE

PRICE, 25 Cts.

ANTI-GRIPINE

IS GUARANTEED TO CURE GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

I won't sell Anti-Gripine to a dealer who won't Guarantee It. Call for your MONEY BACK IF IT DON'T CURE.
F. W. Diemer, M. D., Manufacturer, Springfield, Mo.

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MINNEAPOLIS. Woodward & Co., Grain Commission. DULUTH.
ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS.

CALUMET
BAKING POWDER
NOT MADE BY THE TRUST

Health

Calumet makes light, digestible wholesome food.

Economy

Only one heaping teaspoonful is needed for one quart of flour.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

IT is an open question whether the average insurance company has been run for the benefit of the heirs of the policy-holders or the heirs of the officials.

THE Windom Reporter says that a woman always wonders how her husband managed to keep out of the poorhouse before he had her to manage his pocketbook.

THE Lake Crystal Union (Republican and proud of it) predicts: "Our people will look back and wonder why they stood it so long with the cussedness of public officials in Washington."

THE Browns Valley Tribune is busily engaged in the task of chasing the gubernatorial bee back to Frank Eddy's bonnet. But, Frank, like other long-headed statesmen, is inclined to shy at the ghost of political oblivion.

MARY MCFADDEN, who knows a great deal about human nature from a woman's standpoint, tells us that "a woman can love a man after he ceases to be attractive. In fact, many women love men who have not begun to be attractive."

THE Alexandria Post-News has installed a Simplex type-setting machine, and appears this week much improved typographically. Bro. McCrea is demonstrating the fact that a wide-awake city newspaper man can soon become a leader in the country field.

IT is high time to frown upon nepotism. Public officials seem to think it quite the proper thing to employ sons and uncles and cousins and brothers, and ask the government to pay them handsome salaries for indifferent services, and it is no wonder the insurance officials caught the habit.

THE home merchants should quit grumbling about the encroachment of mail order houses and box-car dealers, and go after them in a business like manner, says the Browns Valley Tribune. The home dealer has the advantage, and the remedy is in his own hands if he will only use it. The country press, always loyal, has reserved its advertising columns for the home merchants. Therein is the means for successfully fighting the foreign concerns; if the home dealer don't take advantage of the opportunity, he alone is to blame.

Ayer's

If your blood is thin and impure, you are miserable all the time. It is pure, rich blood that invigorates, strengthens, refreshes. You certainly know the medicine that brings good health to the home, the only medicine tested and tried for 60 years. A doctor's medicine.

Sarsaparilla

"I owe my life, without doubt, to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the most wonderful medicine in the world for nervousness. My cure is permanent, and I cannot thank you enough."
MRS. DELIA MCWELL, Newark, N. J.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.
J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for Poor Health

Laxative doses of Ayer's Pills each night greatly aid the Sarsaparilla.

ROCKFELLER hasn't been giving much for education or religion recently, consequently the price of oil has remained stationary.

THE insurance companies are developing a low state of morals. Down in Tennessee an insurance company is made co-respondent in a divorce case.

NEW YORK's legislators are paid $1,500 a session, out of which sum several members are said to have laid by recently between $25,000 and $40,000.

SOMEHOW President Roosevelt has been rather silent of late about returning the $150,000 paid by the New York Life to the Republican national committee.

IF the state fair is a state institution it is high time it was placed under state supervision and control. At present the state erects the buildings and pays the deficits and only the lord knows where the profits go.

THE Minneapolis Tribune adjures the Republican party of Minnesota to "get back to the people." Its such a long way back, though, that the Tribune can hardly expect the politicians to get there for the next campaign.

GAS ADDICKS was removed from politics some months ago when he lost his money, but he took the trouble to kick the remnants to pieces a few days ago. In Delaware politics the rule is "if you haven't got the money you needn't come around.

THE Faribault Pilot says "a country weekly in the northern part of this state which is edited by a scribe that formerly lived in the Minnesota grain belt, speaks of the crop of iron ore harvested up there this summer as being above the average yield and of good quality."

THERE is talk of Hon. Cleve W. Van Dyke, the brainy and popular Alexandria Democrat again making the race against Buckman for congress in the Sixth district. Mr. Van Dyke made a remarkable showing in this strongly Republican district last year, cutting down Buckman's majority to 2,500, and in an off year many political prophets declare he can be elected.

SENATOR BOWER seems to be fighting shy of "open switches" as much as Congressman Steenerson. The Senator wants to run for congress, but Buckman's friends are dead anxious for him to make the race for governor and promise the St. Cloud man all kinds of support. Why not give Brower the congressional nomination and let Buckman make the run for governor?

CHANGES made by the state board of equalization bring the total valuation of the state to $855,000,000. Personal property is brought to about the same total as last year, the increase being found in improvements to real estate amounting to about $10,000,000. An attempt was made to put franchises on the same basis as other property, estimating the average as 30 per cent of the true value, which added considerably to the taxes of public service corporations.

CHARLES M. SCHWAB, the steel magnate and millionaire, says he is in favor of a readjustment of the tariff which will give to the American wage earner the largest pay. That makes us suspicious. A tariff revision such as will suit men like Schwab, who have made their millions from the sweat of labor, is hardly likely to appeal to the producing community which has to pay the price the steel trust asks for its products. With the men like Schwab dictating the way these things shall be done, and the farmers of western states like Minnesota voting an indorsement of them, things are already in about as dangerous a condition for the welfare of the people as we want to see them.

IF IT were not for the exposure of their frauds in the newspapers of the country those big insurance companies would not care a rap about all the investigating going on. It is so with the legislators, big and little, with the trusts, with the railroads, with everything which is perpetrating a wrong on the people. The wonder is that with so much rascality and graft going on there has not been a move before now to throttle the press and stop the circulation of newspapers. Every citizen of America should thank God that in this country the press is free and unhampered and that above all it does its duty in exposing fraud and corruption in public affairs. And every man should be a special guardian to insist that it shall never be otherwise. Publicity is much more feared by frauds than is the law.

PRAISES GOVERNOR JOHNSON.

Bro. Huntington, of the Windom Reporter who is a prominent and leading Republican of the state, before the last state election thought that John A. Johnson would make a good governor and the administration thus far given the state has been such that he has had no occasion to change his mind. Commenting upon the possible candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the next convention, Editor Huntington in the last issue of his paper says:

"A few people people are talking about nominating Bob Dunn again next year. If we couldn't elect him in a presidential year how can we expect to elect him in an off year with such a fellow as John Johnson, now holding the office, against him? Republicans have several things to figure on. Johnson has thus far made an acceptable governor. His administration is thus far free from serious blunders, and the people like him regardless of party. He has a good machine back of him, and the Republicans have none. To defeat him will require a man of exceptional address, polish and record unquestioned, springing from among the people just as Johnson sprang a year ago. There is but one way for the Republicans to get back into the harness, and that is to pick new men with unblemished personality and close up to the people who do the voting. Twice we have learned in the recent past that it isn't necessary to have a Republican governor to save the state from ruin, and the people are getting into the habit of trying experiments with such good results that if the Republicans force another experiment the voters may stick to the one they chose last year."

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It is a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn-out by the pains and poisons of dyspepsia, billiousness, Bright's disease, and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your symptoms, but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. Here you will find sure and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, and your body will not be burdened by a load of debt disease. At all drug stores. Price 50c. Guaranteed.

Full of Tragic Meaning

are these lines from J. H. Simmons, of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough, that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases, prevents grip and pneumonia. At all druggist; guaranteed, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

McMURRAY'S
VANILLA
WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

MADE THE DEAF HEAR IN ONE MINUTE

Remarkable Demonstration Given by Minneapolis' Strange Philanthropist Before Great Throng.

Removes Immense Parasites from the system of well known citizens with a few doses of peculiar medicine. Refuses pay for services.

Minneapolis, Minn, Oct. 12 (Special.) Excitement over the marvelous cures of the Great Cooper continues unabated. One of the largest crowds that has yet called upon the noted Philanthropist visited him yesterday and a remarkable demonstration of his power was given before the entire audience. Selecting an elderly gentleman, whom he noticed carrying an ear trumpet, Cooper motioned for him to come forward. He poured a few drops of a peculiar liquid into the man's ears and then rubbed them softly for a moment. Stepping quickly backward to a distance of sixty feet, he said in an ordinary conversational tone, "Can you hear me?" A look of surprise and delight spread over the man's face as he answered, "Yes, I hear you perfectly."

How this remarkable work was accomplished would be difficult to say, but it seemed certain that there could have no subterfuge in the results accomplished, to those who were eye witnesses of the expressions on the faces of these people at the first sound of Cooper's voice.

One gentleman who was present during the demonstration said:

"I don't pretend to know how it was done, but I would swear that the old man I saw, heard and heard distinctly, for I talked with him myself before he left. He was as surprised as myself, and said he was going home to show his wife."

Mr. M. P. Kennedy, living at No. 2521 Fifteenth Street, S., a member of the Minneapolis police force for many years, was among the number who were treated.

Mr. Kennedy says that he has been troubled with deafness for a long time. He also had a bad case of stomach trouble and acute dyspepsia, and had called to see Mr. Cooper regarding the latter, with no thought of being treated for deafness. "When I understood that Cooper was treating deafness, I asked him to see what he could do for me. Two remedies of a peculiar nature were used, and in a few minutes he began asking me questions. I was dumfounded, as I heard everything he said plainly. I took some of the remedies home and kept on using them, and I now hear better than I have for years."

"I also have been taking his treatment for stomach trouble, and have improved wonderfully. My appetite has come back. I can eat anything without it distressing me and I am feeling better in every way."

Many of those who called had come to thank Mr. Cooper for what he had done for them, they having previously written him a statement of their condition and having followed his instructions, had returned to tell him of their cures.

A man by the name of William M. Sparrow exhibited a glass jar containing a parasite over fifty feet long, which he claimed had passed from his system after taking a few doses of Cooper's medicine. The paracite was alive and squirming, and Mr. Sparrow was anxious to know what it was.

When Cooper informed him that the cause of his ill health had been removed, he was greatly relieved and was profuse in his thanks to the Philanthrophist.

Thousands of people viewed the parasite and expressed surprise that such a thing could exist in the human system.

Mr. Sparrow is well known in this city. He is connected with the E. Q. Stone Ice Co., and lives at No. 1845 East Twenty-five and a half street.

In speaking of his experience he said: "For a long time I have had a very irregular appetite, and have been generally run down, although I seem to sleep fairly well, the least exertion would tire me and lost all ambition.

"If I stood for any length of time I would have a dull, heavy pain in the lower part of my back. I had trouble with my eyes; they were weak and watery, an dark specks appeared before them. If I walked rapidly or went up stairs, I would have palpitation of the heart. If I stooped over, I felt dizzy. My tongue was coated and after eating, my stomach would bloat and distress me."

"My father, who has been suffering from Bright's disease, had been taking Cooper's treatment and had improved so wonderfully that he advised me to see what Cooper could do for me. I wrote him of my condition and began taking his medicines. I had only taken a few doses when that frightful thing passed from my system. I know it has caused all my trouble because I am already feeling so much better. This man Cooper has the most remarkable medicine I ever heard of."

Mr. Orr said he had been suffering with stomach trouble for twenty-five years. His digestion was very much impaired and he did not seem to get the strength and nourishment that he should from what he ate. He always felt tired, was depressed and had dizzy spells. There was a dull heavy pain across his back. Shortness of breath and a feeling of bloating.

He had taken all kinds of medicines and treated with physicians without relief and had given up hope of being cured. Hearing what Cooper had done for others, he decided to write to him. He purchased the medicine Cooper advised him to use and had only taken four doses when the parasite passed from his system.

"I am feeling so much better," said Mr. Orr, "and am the happiest man alive to-day, for I know this thing has been the cause of my ill health.

"I naturally feel very grateful to Mr. Cooper. I wanted to pay him for what he had done for me, but he refused to accept anything—just said: "My one pleasure in life is to relieve distress. If you know of any suffering friends, tell them to write to me care of Voegeli's Drug Store and the pleasure I will receive from relieving them from their affliction will be all I ask."

New Cure For Cancer.

All surface cancers are now known to be curable, by Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Jas. Walters, of Duffield, Va., writes: "I had a cancer on my lip for years, that seemed incurable, till Bucklen's Arnica Salve healed it, and now it is perfectly well." Guaranteed cure for cuts and burns. 25c at all drug stores.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS and COLDS
Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.

Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

TIME CARD
—OF—
TRAINS.
RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 a m
SOUTH-BOUND
No. 156—Departs	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.
Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.
F. A. MIZEN, Agent.

The Courier Stationery Store has a line of new box papers.

Keep Warm and Keep Cool

It's easy enough to KEEP WARM with a good Fur, but it's another thing to KEEP COOL in buying your Fur at a price meritful of style and quality. Take one of our Furs home, take one from another store, look them over, pull the fur out of them and see yourself why the

:...LANPHER FURS...:

SELL ON NAME and RE-SELL ON QUALITY—made since 1876.

PRICES TO GET BUSINESS

Black Belgian Fur Boas, 50c
Polaris Blacks, wide back, warm, $1.00 and $1.50
Chenille-trimmed Beavers, $5.50 to $8.00
Fox Furs—our best efforts shown here; anything up to $24; excellent values at $18.59; regular $21 fur

Your Coat may be here; one you may like. Drop in, try it on, see how well it fits; take it home and see if it isn't worth every cent we ask for it. Snappy and stylish, at $5.50, $8.50 and $12.50

We boomed our Dress Goods trade this fall. Values did it, good values. Velvets are becoming and selling; good choice left. Changeable Velvets, only 60c per yd. Crushed Silk Velvets, only $1.00 per yd. Gloves and Trimmings to match.

THE BUSY STORE

Queen Quality Shoes   GARCEAU & ZAISER   McCall Patterns

A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

HAS NO SUBSTITUTE

A Cream of Tartar Powder free from alum or phosphatic acid

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Ed. Chase was a passenger to Thief River on Monday mornings train.

The Teachers of the county will have a meeting at Thief River on the first Friday and Saturday of November, being the 3rd and 4th.

The first week in October sees the first frost and the first snow storm of the season. This is the season when the hardware man gets busy.

Indigestiou, constipation, dyspepsia, kidney and liver disorders, and all stomach troubles positively cured by using Hollister's Rockey Mountain Tea. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.

The numbering of the mail boxes on the rural routes seem to be a lead pipe cinch for the mail order houses, but in our estimation the goverment will countermaid that order as soon as it is realized that it is a big mistake.

Attend the Northwestern Business College, grand Forks, N. Dak. Thorough courses in bookkeeping, shorthand, telegraphy and the English branches. Students may begin any time. Write for catalogue. J 1

After the capture of Pat Crowe, it comes out that little Eddie Cudahy himself was the one who planned his own abduction and that he received $6000 of the $25000 which his father paid for his release. If this is a fact, it is almost as startling as some of the disclosures in the life insurance companies.

Mrs. Arthur Zaiser is visiting at Crookston.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for farm loans.

S. L. Lewis was transacting business up at St. Hilaire on Thursday of last week.

John Duffy has had the plumbers busy the past week putting in a nice bath room outfit in his residence.

We received a pleasant call this week from Joseph Leicht, publisher of the Western Sunday Herald, a German paper of Winona, Minn.

Girls, if you want red lips, laughing eyes, sweet breath and good looks use Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea The greatest beautifier known. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.

Potatoes promise to be a good price this winter. There is a shortage of 10 per cent. in this crop in the United States, and the crop in Minnesota is damaged 30 per cent.

The flyer on the Great Northern has been newly equipped in the past week with bran new cars right from the shop, and the train is now one of the finest in service on any road. The company thinks there is nothing too good for their patrons.

Arthur Zaiser left Wednesday evening for Crookston to attend the wedding of his wifes sister, Miss Hannah Ekhoff to Gus Sommers, on Wednesday evening, at the home of the brides parents. Both young people are well known to our readers and we join with their many friends in wishing them many years of happy wedded life.

Attorney Berthon spent a day at St. Hilaire the latter part of last week.

Button's Business College Crookston, Minnesota, begins a new term October 9. Enroll now.

Born:—On Monday October 9th, to Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Rai, a boy.

Miss Viola Longtin left Tuesday evening for St. Paul, where she will attend high school this year. She will make her home with the family of John E. King.

L. P. Berthon returned Wednesday morning from Minneapolis and St. Paul, where he has been visiting friends and looking after business matters for a couple of weeks.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

Miss Sophia Belaire, who has been spending the past few weeks here visiting with friends and relatives, left Monday evening for her home at Cohasset, Minn.

Lost: On Sunday last on the graded road south of town, a bundle containing a silk waist partly made. Finder please leave at the Courier office. Josephine Cartur.

The gambling rooms over at Bemidji have been closed by the orders of the mayor and now everything in that line is reported to be a thing of the past, for a short time at least.

The editors of the Red River valley met Friday night at Crookston to discuss newspaper problems. After a business session the scribes were entertained at the home of Senator Stephens.

On last Saturday the members of the Bon Ami club were invited to a dinner by one of their many friends at St. Hilaire. Those who went up from here were, Stella Hennemuth, Mable Zaiser, Jessie Carver, Mabel Rue, Ina Linnihan, Clara Marchand, Elsie Mead and Lucy Hunt.

The Great Northern have had a crew of men at work every day and on Sundays getting their track in shape for the fall work, but the slippery condition of the ground owing to the wet weather all summer makes it almost impossible for them to make much headway with their work. In places its about all they can do to keep the track clear of the land slides.

Your failure to pay your subscription to your family paper my friends accounts for the cold, unfriendly stare with which the banker greets the editorial presence. It accounts for the patches on the editorial pantaloons and the emptiness of the editorial larder. My friend, if you sre down on your luck and can't pay we are both unfortunate. If you can and won't pay there is not a single cuss word in the English language that would not be soiled if applied to you.—Ex.

If you are interested it may pay you to examine the forfeited tax list at the county auditor's office and see whether you have neglected to pay taxes on any of your property in years gone by. The state sale of all such lands which occurs November 8, gives absolute title after the time for redemption has expired. The costs attached are heavy, and in case of redemption the price the land was bid in at must be refunded no matter if it is twice the sum that the delinquent taxes amount to. A stitch in time saves nine.

If the people of Red Lake Falls wish to have a State Farmers institute here this fall, all they have to do is to select a committee of business men consisting of a chairman and corresponing secretary and forward a petition to Dr. J. C. Curry at 220 Virginia Ave., St. Paul, and arrangements will be made to have a date set aside for this place. They are making up their list of towns wherein to have their institutes and if the matter is taken up at once it can be secured. There is great demand for this state work and the management is trying hard to supply it to the whole state without loss of time during the Institute season. Prompt action will insure the Institute.

Presidential election make no change.

No matter which candidate is elected Foleys Honey and Tar will remain the peoples favorite remedy for coughs, colds, and incipient consumption. It cures colds quickly and prevents pneumonia. A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foleys Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me.—A. L. Reichart.

Our candies are fresh, no old stock.—Spillane's.

Helen and Mabel Hannay, of St. Hilaire, visited with friends here on Saturday last.

L. C. Simons was showing his friend, Brown Little, the sights at Thief River on Tuesday of this week.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Enquire at the Big Store.

The fire department received their new hose cart this week and judging from its appearance it is a dandy. The boys certainly ought to uphold their record with it.

Brown Little, of Bird Island, this state spent several days here with his friend, L. C. Simons, looking over the country with a view of locating here.

Noah Bottineau and Dolor Hank left the first of this week for Bemidji where they expect to secure a job working in the woods for the fall and winter months.

Down at Owatonna there has been three saloon failures, and all because the people wouldn't "have some thing." That community must certainly be getting better.

The church services will be omitted next Sunday at the Presbyterian church on account of the absence of the pastor, who is attending the Synod at Fergus Falls, Minn.

Don't spoil your eyes by wearing misfit glasses or by not wearing glasses when you know your eyes are weak and need help. Examination free.—Henry W. Anderson.

There will be services in the Norwegian church next Sunday forenoon at 10:30 conducted by Rev. I. T. Aastad from Thief River Falls. Scanainavians cordially invited to attend.

Both station agents and the telegraph operator here were handsomely rewarded a few days ago, by the company for their refusal to go out on a strike some two months ago, by the receipt of an extra months pay. Little things like that do count once in a while.

We have sorted over our fine line of stationery and will give the public the benefit of a cut in the prices of some job lots that we have on hand. This stationery is all first class but the line is only half gone and we wish to close out the balance. Come in and see them, we can save you money.

Last Sunday seemed to be duck day with most of the boys around town as quite a number of them spent the time up at Goose lake and other desirable shooting places. The fact that very few ducks were brought home leads one to believe that the ducks were onto their job.

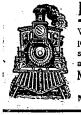
A Texas girl advertised for a husband and got him. The total expense for advertising, wedding outfit, etc., was $11.00. Within a year he died leaving her an insurance policy for $10,000. And yet some people say it doesent pay to advertise! Now girls, dont all come at once.

The Great Northern people have added a fine compartment car to the "flyer" running to Winnipeg. This, in addition to the observation car and commodious diners and sleepers makes it the finest equipped train running into the Canadian capitol from the twin cities. Since the company has secured the contract of carrying the Pacific U. S. mail, they have also put on a new train known as the "Oriental Coast flyer" which is acknowledged to be the finest equipped train running to the Pacific Coast.

Four per cent of the population of the state moved from the country districts to the incorporated cities and villages during the last ten years according to the report of the state census bureau. The population of the incorporated cities and villages in 1895 was 761,376, 49 per cent of the total in the state. The cities and villages this year have 1,048,922, or 53 per cent of the population of the state. The increase in the population of the towns is general throughout the state, the only possible exception being Carver county.

The Orignal.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons.



Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experjence unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stamp for full particulars to-day

National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Name.......Town.......State.......R.F.D.No.......Ag.......

"Malleable Ranges"

The Even Bakers. The Fuel Savers.

"THE MALLEABLE"
TRADE MARK
FIRE ALL YOUR MALL ALL YOUR
IT'S NON-BREAK
STEEL—MALLEABLE.

ARE you going to buy a STEEL RANGE?

If so, be sure to come and see the "MALLEABLE.

It costs a little more in the first place but is a lot cheaper in the end. It is made throughout of malleable iron and steel so that the first cost is the only cost. The reason that it take less fuel than the old cast iron cook stove is that it is riveted together like a boiler making every joint absolutely air tight.

Then the Malleable is very easily cleaned, its exterior is of Polished Steel, not of black painted iron. Surfaces all perfectly smooth, no corners to catch the dirt or grease.

We fit all the Malleables with 'Portable Flush Reservoirs' on the right side. These reservoirs are made of copper and hold 15 gallons, almost half a barrel.

We would be pleased to have you call and look the "MALLEABLE over, and

Get a Malleable Cook Book FREE!

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

Don't be Deceived

By being made to Believe that

The Palmer GARMENT

Other Cloaks Are as Good as PALMERS

For there are no Cloaks that will compare with PALMERS for richness in design and style, no higher than others.

$5 up to $30

Most Excellent Values at $10 and $12

Misses $2.75 to $10.00

Excellent Styles at $4. $5

Last years Cloaks at

1-2 Price

FURS! OF ALL KINDS From 50c to $37.50

THE People are surely appreciating our SHOE VALUES, judging by the BUSINESS we are doing.

Our St. Cecilia	at	$3.50
Our Nanaimo	at	3.00
Our Saranac	at	2.50

Cannot be equaled. We could ask $3.00 for our $2.50 shoe and it would sell just the same; such is its goodness.

Godman Shoes at $1.38, $1.50 and $1.75 would easily bring 25 cents per pair more if we asked it.

It pays to trade at

THE BIG STORE,

Theo LaBissoniere, Proprietor

Plans to Get Rich.

Are often frustrated by sudden breakdown, due to dyspepsia or constipation. Brace up and take Dr. King's New Life Pills. They take out the materials which are clogging your energies, and give you a new start. Cure headache and dizziness too. At all drug stores; 25c., guaranteed.

Summer weather came to an abrupt end Tuesday, and there was a general scurry for fuel and stove repairs. The autumn season has been more prolonged than usual this year, and the postponement of killing frost until October 10 has not happened before in a good many years.

A Prominent Trainman.

The many friends of G. H. Hansan, Engineer L. E. & W. R. R., at present living in Lima, O., will be pleased to know of his recovery from threatened kidney disease. He says: "I was cured by using Foley's Kidney Cure which I recommend to all people. Sold by A. L. Reichert.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TIME TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West			Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar.	7:35 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar.	7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar.	7:10 A. M.
8:00 A. M.	Crookston		6:45 P. M.
8:50 A. M.	Dugdale		6:00 P. M.
9:25 A. M.	Red Lake Falls		5:25 P. M.
9:55 A. M.	St. Hilaire		4:55 P. M.
10:20 A. M.	Thief River		4:30 P. M.
10:40 A. M.	Steiner		4:05 P. M.
11:03 A. M.	Sandridge		3:52 P. M.
11:30 A. M.	Middle River		3:32 P. M.
11:55 P. M.	Strathcoma		3:57 P. M.
12:25 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv.	2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Consumptives made Comfortable.

Incipient consumption is cured by Foleys Honey and Tar, but we do not hold out false hopes to consumptive by claiming that it will cure this dread disease in the advanced stages; but if the lungs are not too far gone Foleys Honey and Tar will effect a cure, as it stops the racking cough and soothes the inflamed air passages giving them a chance to heal, and even in the advanced stages it always gives comfort and relief. A. A. Herren, of Finch, Ark., writes "Foleys Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages.—A. L. Reichert.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

Merchants State Bank

Of Red Lake Falls.

Do You Know That the Merchants State Bank is a strictly home institution. All our officers and stockholders live in Red Lake Falls and have established the Merchants State Bank with their own money. We do a regular banking business in every department. There is no transaction too large for us to handle and none too small for us to give our attention.

Our Savings Dep't. We would especially call your attention to our savings department. We have now on our books a large list of names of men, women, children who deposited with us, ranging from $100 to $200. These are saving accounts and are continually growing by adding to them the spare pennies, nickles and dimes. Don't put off any longer. Open a savings account with us.

The Courier

JOHN E. KING, Pub.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

The football face will now be added to the undulating features of our country.

A French scientist says we shall all be living in glass houses soon. Most of us are already.

"All great men are cheerful," says a contemporary. In other words, it is great to be cheerful.

Mrs. Frank Leslie says that women should not marry before they are 28, and many of them don't.

Poets are writing sonnets on the commercializing of Niagara Falls. Something will have to give.

There is this difference between pleasure and happiness: one is a brass band, the other the song of a bird.

If a corset will improve the rear elevation of a hump shouldered man, by all means encourage him to wear it.

When the Russian Gosudastsvenna Douma meets no time should be lost in introducing a bill to change its name.

A flawless 460-carat diamond has been found near Johannesburg. Dropped by some careless actress probably.

It is announced that there will be a great many imitation-seal coats on the market this winter—but no man can fool his wife.

We wonder if Commodore Peary tries to make his separation from civilization seem shorter by counting it in days and nights.

The man who is waiting for time to bring him his revenge says "the mills of the gods grind finely, but they grind exceedingly slow."

Doesn't it make you happy to think that gold imports are announced again? No? It must be that they are not consigned to you.

Rojestvensky has so far recovered from his wounds as to be able to travel home. This is where Rojestvensky's real troubles begin.

We wish Mme. Wade would show us how fat women get into their corsets. That is one of the mysteries that we have never been able to guess at.

An Evanston (Ill.) co-ed saved a man who was drowning in Long Island sound. Men are not so numerous that a co-ed can afford to take any chances.

A Kansas parson refuses wedding fees because he does not think it is right to profit by the mistakes of others, according to the Kansas City Star.

The Virginia young man who was fined $20 for kissing a girl against her will, if he is really gallant, will say, of course, that it was worth the money.

As Yachtsman Lipton explains the accident, his horse jibed suddenly, causing the saddle to list heavily to starboard and throwing the skipper overboard.

In his opposition to vacation Uncle Russell Sage has at last found an ally in the New York doctor who attributes the spread of typhoid to "the deadly vacation."

At Camden, N. J., the other day a woman deserted her husband, after drawing his pay for a month in advance. Yet some people think the Inquisition was cruel.

The able correspondent knows a sensation when he sees one. He cables under the Atlantic that a New York man and his wife are living happily together in Paris.

That was certainly an obliging highwayman out in California who, after he had robbed the stage, courteously posed while a Philadelphia girl took a snap shot of the situation.

A Minnesota man drowned himself rather than embark on the sea of matrimony. Somebody must have been stringing him. Matrimony is not always as black as it is painted.

That story about the Nashville man with hands twelve inches long is well designed to bring a soft sigh of envy from the little girl who has just got to striking octaves in her piano practice.

It took twenty-five expert money counters sixty-seven days to count the money in the United States treasury, the largest count of any one day being 120 tons of silver. Your Uncle Sam is not so poor.

According to a San Francisco dispatch, Mrs. Fernula Sarras, an aged Mexican woman, has received $90,000 from a syndicate for a mine she owned. Now watch the syndicate go to work to sell the mine to the public for $1,000,000.

In St. Louis a young man has sued a girl for $20,000 because she refuses to be his wife. This may not be pleasant for her, but she can at least have the satisfaction of knowing that her girl friends are not refusing to believe she ever had a proposal.

RESUME OF THE NEWS

Fresh — Reliable — Brief

Washington.

A. J. Fleming of Brayme, Mo., one of the earliest advocates of Mr. Roosevelt as a presidential candidate, has been appointed consul at Stanbridge, Ont.

Capt. Hebbinghaus, naval attache of the German embassy, called by appointment at the White House and presented to the president a valuable collection of engravings illustrative of the life of Frederick the Great.

Gov. Gen. Wright of the Philippines sails for San Francisco Nov. 7. He will remain in the United States about six months and will be present in Washington when the bids on the railroad system for the islands are opened.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General De Graw has reported that there were 1,431 free delivery routes established throughout the country during September, making a total of 33,486 routes existing. There are 4,655 petitions for such routes pending.

The record of the case of First Lieut. Louis M. Hamilton of the Fourteenth infantry, who was tried by general court-martial at Vancouver barracks, Wash., for alleged violation of army regulations, has been received at the war department and will be reviewed by Judge Advocate General Davis. Lieut. Hamilton is a grandson of Alexander Hamilton.

Foreign.

A tidal wave struck the village of Campechuela, Mansanillo, Cuba. Forty houses were destroyed, but no lives were lost.

It is reported that the notorious Cuban bandit, Chino Oreill, has been killed by rural guards. Oreill had been condemned to death for several murders.

A tornado struck Malmesbury, a town of 3,000 inhabitants, situated thirty-five miles from Cape Town, South Africa, and reduced it to ruins. A number of persons were killed.

It is officially announced that the damage done by the fire at the army stores at Hiroshima, Japan, Oct. 1, amounts to $942,553, including the cost of the buildings, provisions and clothes.

A national convention of the Cuban Liberal party has decided not to abandon the presidential campaign, and refused to accept the resignation of Jose Miguel Gomez, the party's candidate for the presidency.

The French and Colombian colonies at Colon are increasing rapidly. The steamer Versailles, which has just arrived, brought 700 laborers from the Island of Martinique, French West Indies, and 300 from Cartagena, Colombia.

The French authorities do not expect definite action relative to Venezuela until the receipt at Washington of the report of former Judge W. J. Calhoun, who went to Venezuela on a special mission for the government of the United States.

As a sequel of the breaking of diplomatic relations between Roumania and Greece it is semi-officially announced that Roumania will denounce the commercial convention with Greece and tax property held by Greeks in Roumania.

The fore part of the wreck of the British steamer Chatham, which was blown up in the Suez canal, has entirely disappeared, but the stern must be further demolished by dynamite. There is a hole 110 feet dep at the spot where the wreck rested.

Mr. De Thal, second secretary of the Russian embassy, has been temporarily transferred to Mexico as charge d'affaires of the Russian legation there. Prince Kudaeheff, who was with Baron Rosen at Tokio, has been attached to the Washington embassy.

Casualty.

William McGregor, a Canadian Pacific road engineer, was killed in a collision while shunting in the yards at Winnipeg. He was horribly scalded by escaping steam.

The second section of Big Four freight No. 96 ran into a derail at the crossing of the Southern Indiana Belt line at Terra Haute. The engineer was killed and three men injured.

One man was burned to death and two were fatally burned in a fire in a lodging house on West street, in New York. It is thought there are still others whose bodies have not yet been found.

William Bowle, a lineman employed by a telephone company, fell from a pole while stringing wires on Main street, Winnipeg. He sustained injuries from which he died shortly afterwards.

Six persons, two women and four children, were burned to death in a cabin home at Edington, W. Va. The two husbands of the women escaped. Those burned were Mrs. J. Alco and her three children, and Mrs. Joseph Cardelli and one child.

By the explosion of a large quantity of nitro-glycerine at the Aetna Powder mills at Crown Point, Ind., two men were killed. The explosion occurred in the packing house, which was blown to atoms, and only parts of the two men were found in the debris.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sackett of Des Moines were horror-stricken upon awakening to find that their six-months-old baby girl, lying between them, was dead. The coroner was summoned and after an investigation declared that the child had simply got tangled in the bed clothing and smothered to death.

Criminal.

Robbers made a raid on the First National bank of Howard, S. D., but were scared away before they secured any booty.

J. Walker Franklin was arrested at Birmingham, Ala., by detectives while taking part in the services of the Salvation Army, on the charge of bigamy.

Enraged by jealousy, James G. Clayton, a negro, shot and instantly killed his wife and James Hannon, also a negro, who boarded with the Clayton family in New York.

While awaiting the arrival of a patrol wagon, after his arrest in St. Louis on a forgery charge, Thomas G. Connor, forty years old, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid.

Mrs. Mary A. O'Hare walked into Olney's pond in the rear of her home at Leicester, Mass., with her eleven-months old baby boy in her arms. Both were drowned. No cause is ascribed.

Peter McIntyre, a private in the coast artillery, was stabbed and killed in the barracks at Fort Totten, Whitestone, L. I., by Private William Snyder. The murder was the result of a quarrel.

Herbert McCartney committed suicide by taking poison, after administering a fatal dose of the drug to his seven-year-old son. Despondency over being separated from his wife is the only cause given.

In an effort to put a stop to the epidemic of crime which has been a source of terror to Des Moines all summer, Judge McVey sentenced Alonzo Watson to prison for twelve years for highway robbery.

Ralph Anderson of Cherokee, Iowa, has filed an information charging Mrs. George Filer with abducting Bessie, his eleven-year-old daughter. The two left for Sioux City. The motive is not stated; but it may be blackmail.

Samuel Beaver, for many years paying teller of the Bank of California, shot and killed himself in San Francisco. Mr. Beaver had been ill for a long time and was placed on the retired list of the bank on account of his sickness. This is supposed to be the cause of his committing suicide.

Although her bondsmen have made good the claim of the government, the case against Miss Nellie Woodley, who was formerly postmistress at Hansel, in Franklin county, Iowa, will be probed by the federal grand jury. She is charged with a discrepancy of more than $1,000 in the postoffice money order funds.

Angered because his wife refused to become reconciled after their separation two weeks ago, August Fielders went to the home of his mother-in-law in St. Louis, and, after arguing some time with his wife, shot her in the hip with a revolver, fired an ineffectual shot at her mother, and then committed suicide on the doorstep.

A young Armenian woman was shot on the street at Brantford, Ont., by her father, who then shot himself. Both will die. The woman came here from Hamilton and was married. The father, who opposed the marriage, followed his daughter here, and meeting her and her husband on the street began shooting with the above result. He fired at the husband, but missed him.

The skeleton of a woman with a bullet hole through the skull was found by laborers digging a cellar in St. George, on Staten Island, New York. Coroner Schaefer reported to the police and ordered an investigation. The body had been buried a foot and a half deep, which, the police argue, shows it was a hurried burial. The coroner believes the woman was shot more than two years ago.

Mrs. Clarence Markham of Cambridge, near Rock Island, Ill., in a fit of temporary insanity killed her seven children with an axe, after which she placed their bodies on a bed, saturated it with coal oil and set fire to it. She then hacked her throat with a knife and threw herself on the burning bed. Neighbors rescued her, but she was so badly burned that she died soon after she had made a confession.

General.

In his address at the opening of Cornell university President Schurman announced an increase of 146 students over the number enrolled at this time last year.

Representatives of twenty-eight Central Michigan breweries met at Grand Rapids and formed a co-operative brewing company, representing about $6,000 capital.

Because he said the devil was after him, William Myers, a painter of New Haven, made three attempts to take his life. At the hospital it is stated that he has a chance of recovery.

"David Harum," the novel written by the late Edward Noyes Westcot, netted the author's estate about $125,000, according to a statement made in surrogate's court at Syracuse, N. Y., when the final accounting of the estate was filed.

It is reported that W. J. Black, general passenger agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, is to be appointed passenger traffic manager to succeed George T. Nicholson, who was appointed to the second vice presidency of the road.

After grieving two years over the death of her daughter Ray, Mrs. Hinda Kramer, wife of Hillel Kramer, and mother of former Judge Julius G. Kramer, died in New York of a broken heart. Doctors were called to attend her, but said that there was nothing the matter but the grief they could not cure.

BIG SALARIES FOR OFFICERS

PAY ROLL OF THE MUTUAL LIFE IS LAID BEFORE THE INQUISITORS.

M'CURDY FAMILY CARED FOR

PRESIDENT OF THE MUTUAL LIFE PROBABLY WILL BE NEXT ON THE RACK.

BIG SENSATION EVERY DAY

WEEK OF STARTLING DISCLOSURES THAT HAS STIRRED THE COUNTRY.

New York, Oct. 8.—Closing a week, every day of which has produced a sensation that has stirred the country, the special legislative committee investigating the methods of insurance companies adjourned yesterday until Tuesday of next week.

While other weeks of the hearing have had sensations, no previous week has had a sensation every day as the one that was concluded with yesterday's session. It was expected the president of the Mutual Life would be called to the stand yesterday, but by a misunderstanding President McCurdy had left the office of the Mutual Life before he was called for, and it is expected that he will be the first witness on Tuesday.

Salaries Are Immense.

In yesterday's testimony the sensational development was when Mr. Hughes demanded the pay roll of the officers of the company. This was produced and showed the salaries of these officers since 1887. For the year 1904 President McCurdy received $150,000; two vice presidents were paid $50,000 each, a second vice president $17,500, the third vice president $10,000, and the general manager $25,000, who this year will receive $30,000, and the treasurer $50,000.

Robert McCurdy said he never knew the salary of his father until yesterday, when he heard it read in the committee room. He thought, however, that there should be no limit to the salary of such positions, because they should be in accordance with the accumulations of the company.

Great Work; Great Rewards.

Earlier in the day, when Mr. McCurdy was on the stand, Mr. Hughes tried to bring out why C. H. Raymond and the partners in his firm received larger emoluments from the company than any other agents in the business. Mr. McCurdy said he did not know what Mr. Thebaud received from the business and that he had never talked with him about his personal affairs. He said it was a "large reward for large achievements," and that all businesses of large magnitude were built up on that principle.

During Mr. McCurdy's testimony it was brought out that George Raymond, a brother of Charles H. Raymond, was the general agent for New Jersey, that Howard Lewis, the general agent for Northern New York with an office in Albany,

Was a Cousin

of either the vice president, Mr. Granniss, or Mrs. Granniss, that Dr. E. J. Moss, the medical director of the Mutual Life, married a sister of the president of the company, and that D. Stuyvesant Pilot, an inspector of risks, is a cousin of Louis Thebaud, son-in-law of President McCurdy, and partner of the Raymond firm. G. W. White, a secretary of the company, whom Mr. McCurdy was asked about, was no relative of any officer of the company, but Mr. McCurdy said that "Mrs. White was a niece of Mrs. Granniss, wife of Vice President Granniss."

He knew none of the salaries of these officers.

JOHN D. FUNDS HOME.

Takes Practical Steps Toward Prevention of Race Suicide.

Cleveland, Oct. 8—A home for foundlings, with infant incubators, will be erected by John D. Rockefeller in this city for the Cleveland Humane society. "I am opposed to race suicide," he is reported to have said in announcing his plans to the humane society officers.

HUNDRED MEN ARE KILLED.

Five-Story Building Collapses While in Course of Construction.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 8.—A five-story building in course of construction collapsed yesterday. A hundred workmen were buried in the ruins. Up to the time this dispatch was filed, only seven of the men had been extricated. They were seriously injured.

Soldier Killed by Negro.

Anadarko, Okla., Oct. 8. — Private A. W. Smith, a white soldier, was shot and killed yesterday morning at Anadarko by W. C. Mitchell, a negro soldier. Feeling is high among the soldiers and trouble may result.

Murderer Jerked Hence.

San Quentin, Cal., Oct. 8. — Frank Woods, alias "St. Louis Frank," was executed in the state prison here yesterday for the murder of Policeman Eugene Robinson in San Francisco three years ago.

LUNCHEON FOR ROOSEVELT.

Ultra-Formal Fete Is Prepared at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 8.—The sum of $11,000 will be spent in entertaining the president when he visits New Orleans for nine hours on Oct. 26. The citizens' committee has arranged luncheon for 340 persons at $25 per plate, and much of the money will be used in decorating Canal street with the greatest electric light display ever attempted here. It is also planned to erect a welcome arch along the route of the parade. The committee is exercising unusual exclusiveness in issuing invitations for the luncheon that will be tendered in honor of Mr. Roosevelt.

Comparatively little change characterized the yellow fever situation in New Orleans yesterday, both the new cases and deaths striking the daily average for the past week.

The report to 6 p. m. yesterday was as follows: New cases, 25; total to date, 3,147; deaths, 4; total to date, 407; new foci, 8; cases under treatment, 200; cases discharged, 2,540.

THIRTY FISHERMEN LOST.

Gale Destroys Many Fishing Boats on Coast of British Columbia.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 8.—The great southeasterly gale which swept the coast yesterday, is believed to have resulted in the drowning of at least thirty Japanese fishermen who were out on the Gulf of Georgia fishing for salmon. The tug Lorne reached here yesterday afternoon from Victoria, bringing eleven Japanese picked up when they were nearly dead from exposure. Capt. Butler of the Lorne learned from some of the English-speaking Japanese that at least sixty-five fishing boats were out early yesterday when the storm broke. The Japanese declared that fully fifty men had been drowned or battered to death on the rocks when their boats were blown ashore. The whole gulf shore on the mainland from Howe's sound to Texada island, is lined with the wrecks of fishing boats.

PACKERS MUST MEET EXPENSE.

Cabinet Decides to Impose Charges for the Inspection of Meats.

Washington, Oct. 8.—At a meeting of the cabinet yesterday the plan of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to require packers to pay for the inspection of meats was approved and it will be put into operation at once. It is expected that a saving of $50,000 a year will thereby be effected by the government. The draft of the reply to the invitation of Emperor Nicholas to take part in the second Hague peace conference was made and talked over. The Chinese question was also discussed.

SHORTAGE IS $250,000.

Officer of Alamoosa, Cal., Bank Is Still Missing.

New York, Oct. 8. — A shortage of $250,000 has been found on the books of the Alamoosa, Cal., bank. Abraham Schiffer, part owner of the bank, whose disappearance caused an investigation, has not been located. Mr. Schiffer was last seen when he left that city, ostensibly for New York, a week ago.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

St. Paul, Oct. 9. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 84 1-2@86c; No. 2 Northern, 81 1-4@83c; No. 3, 77@81 1-2c. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 50@51c. Oats—No. 3 white, 26@26 1-2c.

Duluth, Oct. 9. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 82 3-4c; No. 2 Northern, 80 1-4c; flax, 99c; rye, 64c.

Minneapolis, Oct. 9. — Wheat—No. 1 hard, 83 1-4c; No. 1 Northern, 82 3-4c, No. 2 Northern, 80c. Ooas—No. 3 white, 26 1-8c.

Milwaukee, Oct. 9. — Wheat — No 1 Northern, 85@87c; No. 2 Northern, 81@84 1-2c. Rye—No. 1, 68@69 1-2c. Barley—No. 2, 54c. Oats—Standard, 29@29 1-2c.

Chicago, Oct. 9. — Wheat — No. 2 red, 86@87c; No. 2 hard, 84@88c; No. 3 hard, 82@86c; No. 1 Northern, 87@88c; No. 2 Northern, 85@87c. Corn—No. 2, 51 3-4s. Oats—No. 2, 27 3-4@28c.

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 9. — Cattle—Beeves, $3.40 @ 5.75; cows, bulls and mixed, $2.25@3.[illegible]; stockers and feeders, $3@4; calves and yearlings, $2.50@3.25. Hogs—Bulk, $5@5.05.

Chicago, Oct. 9. — Cattle—Good to prime steers, $3.65 @ 6.35; stockers and feeders, $2.40@4.45; cows, $2.50@4.50; heifers, $2.20@4.80; calves, $3@7. Hogs—Mixed and butchers, $5.10@5.77 1-2; bulk, $5.20@5.65. Sheep—Good to choice wethers, $4.60@5; native lambs, $5.25 @ 7.25; Western lambs, $5.75@7.

South St. Paul, Oct. 9. — Cattle—Good to choice steers, $4.50 @ 5.50; good to choice cows and heifers, $3.50@4; butcher bulls, $2.75@3.50; veals $2@4.50; good to choice stock steers, $2.50@3.50; good to choice milch cows, $20@35. Hogs — Range price, $5@5.40; bulls, $5.20@5.30. Sheep—Good to choice lambs, $5@5.85; fair to good, $4@5; good to choice yearling wethers, $4.50@5.50; good to choice ewes, $3.75@4.40.

Chief Inquisitor for Mayor.

New York, Oct. 8. — Charles E. Hughes, principal counsel for the committee of the legislature to investigate insurance affairs, was last night unanimously nominated as the candidate for mayor of New York by the Republican city convention in Carnegie hall.

Reward for Bandits.

Olympia, Wash., Oct. 8.—Gov. A. E. Mead has offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the bandits who robbed the Great Northern train near Ballard on Monday.

VILLAGE HAS A CLOSE CALL

PROMPT ARRIVAL OF OUTSIDE HELP SAVES CARLTON FROM DESTRUCTION.

FIRE LICKS UP BUILDINGS

TEN ARE TOTALLY DESTROYED AND MANY OTHERS BADLY DAMAGED.

MANY FAMILIES HOMELESS

PEOPLE JUMP UP FROM DINNER TABLES AND FLEE FOR THEIR LIVES.

Duluth, Oct. 8.—Prompt arrival of fire fighting apparatus from Cloquet and Scanlon saved the village of Carlton, on the Northern Pacific road, from complete destruction by a fire that began at noon yesterday. Ten buildings were destroyed and many others were badly damaged, so that the loss, roughly estimated, probably will exceed $50,000.

The fire started in what is known as the old Pabst Brewing company building, and in a short time practically all the buildings on the main street of the village were in flames.

The Pabst building was occupied by six families. The fire is said to have started from a defective chimney. The flames spread to six nearby residences. These were soon blazing fiercely, and the fire continued to spread despite the stubborn fight made by the members of the Carlton volunteer fire department.

The citizens of Cloquet and Scanlon learned of the conflagration at Carlton and promptly offered their assistance. The Cloquet department was taken intact to on a special train over the Northern Pacific. Had it not been for the timely arrival of the Cloquet fire fighters and their apparatus, Dunthy's store and almost all the remaining buildings in Carlton would have been destroyed. The Scanlon department drove to Carlton and arrived in time to be of great assistance.

The Scene of the Fire

The efforts of the citizens of Carlton could not check the blaze after it had consumed the Pabst building and the six residences. The flames reached out and licked at the walls of the opera house, and every line of hose in Carlton was brought to bear on them, but the opera house was soon a roaring furnace. The seats and scenery made food for the flames, and in a short time the building was a mass of charred debris.

Odd Fellows' Hall Burns.

The same fate was shared by the Odd Fellow's hall and the Chisholm saloon. G. Gunthy's stock was damaged by smoke and water, but the fire fighters succeeded in saving the building and checking the conflagration. The Cloquet department arrived at Carlton at 1 o'clock and at about 2 o'clock the fire was under control.

In the space of two hours ten buildings had been burned and a score of families made homeless. The loss is total. Nothing was saved. At the alarm of fire the tenants of the Pabst building left their dinner tables and fled out of doors, and the old building was on huge mass of flames in which seemed but a few seconds.

The occupants of the six residences which burned had hardly more time to get out of the way of the onrushing fire. They hastily seized such articles as they could and sought safety.

GIRL SAVES TRAIN.

Saw Burning Bridge and Flagged On-coming Passenger Train.

Janesville, Wis., Oct. 8.—Eighteen-year-old Hattie Lentz, daughter of a farmer residing two miles from this city, proved herself a heroine yesterday by flagging a passenger train just before it reached a burning bridge on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. It was found, upon inspection that twenty-five ties and side timbers had been destroyed. The fire is supposed to have been started by sparks from a train which preceded the one flagged. Miss Lentz's action saved many lives and thousands of dollars in property.

Find Heir to Fortune.

Pickwick, Minn., Oct. 7.—The heir to a large estate for whom Washington attorneys have been searching has been found here in F. J. Williard, a well known citizen. He is the only son of J. H. Williard, testator of the will which leaves him what is said to be a fortune.

Dog Causes Death.

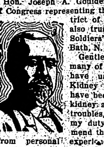
Marshalltown, Iowa, Oct. 8. — In a runaway accident near Ackley Agnes Ranz, daughter of a prominent farmer, jumped from the buggy and broke her neck. Two brothers escaped with slight injuries. A dog scared the team.

Gov. Wright Will Resign.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 8. — It was learned yesterday here at the home of Gov. Gen. Luke E. Wright of the Philippines that he will resign on his arrival in this country on Dec. [illegible] He will return to the practice of law

CONGRESSMAN GOULDEN

Finds Quick Relief from Bladder Troubles Through Doan's Kidney Pills.



Hon. Joseph A. Goulden, Member of Congress representing the 18th District of New York, also trustee of the Soldiers' Home at Bath, N. Y., writes: Gentlemen: As many of my friends have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have been cured of kidney and bladder troubles, I feel it my duty to recommend the medicine. From personal experience I know Doan's Kidney Pills will cure inflammation of the bladder, having experienced relief the second day of using the medicine.

(Signed) J. A. GOULDEN.

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Referred Lord to the Papers.

"It's no end of fun," said a jolly looking young fellow to his companions in the subway, "to go to church in the summer when this philanthropic pulpit exchange business is on.

"Our pastor is way off on Long Island somewhere and the preacher in whose church he is conducting services for the summer has been sent on here.

"This country parson has been a circus right along with his original remarks, but he reached the limit on Sunday when he began his prayer by saying: 'O Lord, thou didst see by the morning papers.'"—New York Sun.

BIG PUBLISHER SUED.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—The Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of a widely known proprietary medicine, has brought suit in the Superior Court of the City of Chicago against the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia, alleging that it has been damaged to the extent of $250,000 by a recent article in the Ladies' Home Journal.

The suit is based on a statement recently made in that journal that a testimonial as to the merit of the remedy manufactured by the plaintiff, alleged to have been given by Congressman George H. White of South Carolina, was fraudulent, denial from Mr. White that he ever gave such a testimonial also being printed.

The Peruna company declares that Congressman White did give the testimonial in good faith, and that it has two original letters from Mr. White. It declares that Mr. White was led to repudiate the testimonial through a misunderstanding.

This is the second large damage suit that has been filed against the Curtis Publishing company since it inaugurated its attacks on "Patent Medicines."

Matter of Habit.

Sir Walter Raleigh threw down the cloak.

"Very pretty," murmured Elizabeth absently, "but I'd like to see the one on the top shelf."

Suddenly, remembering that she wasn't shopping, she had to be content with what was shown.—Lippincott's Magazine.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

It is the policy of the railway managements to weed out drunkenness whenever it develops among employes, and this policy no doubt accounts for the small percentage of accidents nowadays resulting from intoxication. The Keeley Institute has permanently cured a large number of railway employes who were discharged because of drunkenness, but are now reinstated because they availed themselves of the Keeley cure.

Mr. Pennington of the Soo road will not reinstate a man who cannot show a Keeley certificate. Most of the roads of the country are doing likewise. This action is based upon experience with so-called "institutes." A Keeley certificate means Reliability. Write Keeley Institute, Minneapolis, 621 Tenth street south.

Point of Resemblance.

Askitt—Ever shaved by a woman barber?

Knoitt—Yes; once.

Askitt—How did you enjoy it?

Knoitt—Oh, she had just as much to say as the other kind.—Chicago News.

NO TONGUE CAN TELL

How I Suffered With Itching and Bleeding Eczema Until Cured by Cuticura.

"No tongue can tell how I suffered for five years with a terribly painful, itching and bleeding eczema, my body and face being covered with sores. Never in my life did I experience such awful suffering, and I longed for death, which I felt was near. I had tried doctors and medicines without success, but my mother insisted that I try Cuticura. I felt better after the first bath with Cuticura Soap and one application of Cuticura Ointment, and was soon entirely well. (Signed) Mrs. A. Etson, Bellevue, Mich."

The Trouble in the Case.

"I thought it was a case of love at first sight."

"Yes, but he had three days' grace and changed his mind."—New York Press.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Fargo, N. D.

This is going to be another bad year for lazy farmers.

Dawn is the day smiling at night.

In Far Northland

Tid-Bits of News for Scandinavians.

SCOUTS KAISER'S PLAN.

Vor Tid Decleses German Emperor Had Subtle Scheme.

The September number of Vor Tid, a Norwegian monthly magazine published at Minneapolis, has this to say about the German emperor:

"The chief of police of Europe is always about. Last he was in the Baltic. There he had a successive confidential conversation with the three northern monarchs, Nicholas of Russia, Oscar of Sweden and Christian of Denmark. No wonder that the whole world stands on tiptoe to find out what he now was after again. Wilhelm is incalculable and bobs up where least expected.

"In the face of all assertions to the contrary, the world believes that he tried to stiffen the backbone of Nicholas against Japan's conditions of peace, so as to continue the war rather than consent to indemnity and cession of Russian territory. Wilhelm evidently hoped that Japan would insist on these conditions and the war thus continue.

But what interest has Wilhelm in the continuation of the war? This: that Russia at last should suffer total defeat and internal dissolution. The three rich and fertile provinces, Esthonia, Courland and Livonia, belonged originally to Germany and are to-day more German than Russian, and the kaiser is evidently after them, and if he lives long enough he will probably get them. With Russian defeat and revolution and the strong German sympathies in these provinces, there would be excellent opportunity for the provinces to take part in the revolution, which they already partly have done, declare themselves seceded from Russia, and call on the kaiser for help. And that would likely not have been difficult to obtain.

"But what about King Oscar and King Christian? Well, here is room for guesswork and speculation. Did he not try to win the approval of these two monarchs for his plan? Sweden, Denmark and Germany can entirely control the Baltic, and in case of war with Russia these three powers could shut in all Russian ships, and even St. Petersburg might easily be taken. And did he promise Christian that he, in such a case, would relinquish into his hands Southern Jutland, which is really Danish, and did he not hold out to King Oscar that with such an alliance it might be possible for him some day to regain Finland as a restitution for Norway's departure? And then Russia would be driven out of the Baltic as Japan has driven her from the Pacific.

"But then came an awkward interference. Theodore Roosevelt came forward with his peacemaking. These two, Roosevelt and Wilhelm, have many traits in common, but they seldom find themselves on the same side of a cause."

'VARSITY OPEN.

Larger Attendance Than Ever on Opening Day.

The University of North Dakota opened last week for its twenty-third year, and prospects for a splendid year's work are very bright. The first day's registration was the largest in the history of the institution and will without doubt pass the 300 mark within the next day or two.

There seems to be an unusually large number of delayed students this year. This is due, perhaps, to the late harvest, but something must be attributed to the habit of procrastination which always seems to afflict old students, for it is they who are the chief offenders. The next two or three weeks will se a large number of the weeks will see a large number of the students drifting in and the enrollment is certain to go very much above the present number.

The usual jam in the registrar's office on the opening day was lacking. The students were in no hurry and preferred to wait till they could get through promptly and without the pushing and shoving which hitherto has been a part of registration day. Mr. Morrison, the registrar, and Mr. Wilkerson, the assistant registrar, were kept busy all day, however, for the stream of students never slowed up perceptibly.

Dr. Thomas enrolled the arts students, Prof. Crouch the mechanical and electrical engineering students, Prof. Babcock the mining engineers, Prof. Bruce the laws, Prof. Kennedy the students of the teachers' college, Prof. Chandler the preparatory students, and Prof. Bryant the commercial students.

All the members of the faculty, with the exception of Prof. Rysgaard, who will return next week, are on hand and the regular work of the year began at once.

DANISH WRITER DEAD.

Miss Clara Bergsoe Has Laid Aside Her Pen.

Miss Clara Bergsoe, a sister of Vilhelm Bergsoe, the Danish author, and herself a clever writer, died on Aug. 11 at Gilleleie, Denmark. She did not produce much, but was a close observer and wrote daintily and clearly. Her books on Johanne Louise Heiberg, the artist, and Magdalene Thoresen give a clear insight into the character of these remarkable women.

Norway Keeps Historic Forts.

Fredriksten, one of the forts which Norway will be permitted to retain under the new treaty with Sweden, has had an interesting history, of which Norwegians are proud. Though subject to six attacks and sieges, it has never been surrendered to the enemy. The beginning of the fortress was some earthworks raised in 1644 by Hannibal Sehested as a protection to the military stores at Halden, now Fredrikshald. A chronological outline of its history is as follows:

1658—Attacked by Gen. Stake in the war against Denmark and Norway by Carl X. After the repulse of the Swedes the fortifications were strengthened.

1659—Second attack by Gen. Stake from the north. Swedes again repulsed, after which they withdrew. New ramparts constructed and the fortifications greatly strengthened.

1660—Six thousand Swedes, under Generals Stake, Horn and Kagge, besieged the works for six weeks, after which the siege was raised.

1661—Fredriksten fort was begun.

1682—The outer works, known as Gyldenloeve, Stortaarnet and Overbjerget, constructed.

1716—Attacked by Carl XII., who captured Fredrikshald and besieged Fredriksten. The city was put to the torch by the inhabitants and the enemy was driven across the river. The capture of the transport fleet by Tordenskjold compelled Carl to return to Sweden.

1718—Carl returned with 30,000 men and besieged the works, after capturing Gyldenloeve. He was killed by a rifle shot on Dec. 11, and eight days later the siege was raised.

1814—Surrounded by Carl Johan (Marshall Bernadotte). Siege terminated in a fortnight by peace convention at Moss.

Fortress at Kongsvinger.

Norway's other old fortress on the eastern border is at Kongsvinger, where minor works were thrown up in 1628. The fortress was built in 1683 by Field Marshal G. W. Wedel-Jarlsberg. In 1814 the post had 1,200 men and upwards of 100 cannon, howitzers and mortars. Kongsvinger has never been subject to direct attack, as the invading forces were stopped or turned aside east of Glommen.

There are any number of protected points along the fjord on which Fredrikshald is situated and in Tistedalen and about Kongsvinger. Of the more modern ones, the only important ones are at Orje and Dingsrud. Many of the old ramparts and earthworks have been dismantled and evacuated for many years, such as Blakjer, in 1820.

Not Menace to Sweden.

Verdens Gang of Christiania is trying to convince Aftonbladet of Stockholm that it is wrong in assuming that the forts in southeastern Norway were ever intended as a menace to Sweden.

The object of the fortifications was to secure the capital and the richest parts of the country against an invading enemy, says Verdens Gang.

A glance at the map will show that one natural line of defense protecting these districts is along the Glommen river to the straits of Drobak-Drammensfjord and the Drammen river. The aim has been to strengthen this line by fortifications. But in order to ensure mobilization outposts, fortifications had to be placed beyond this natural line. These latter forts, which likewise have been placed along natural lines of defense, extend eastward along the Fredrikshald water system along the western line of the Kristianiafjord over the Tonsberg district, which is defended not only by the coast fortifications in support of the fleet, but also by the land forts above Sandefjord and toward Larvik. There is further planned an advanced line of defense works outside the straits of Drobak over the Kristianiafjord off Horten, in support of the fleet. The fortifications on the eastern side of Kristianiafjord are, consequently, in no respect essentially different in their strategic purpose from those established on the western side.

Return to Riksdag.

Most of the parliamentary elections in Sweden are completed and the announcements made. Among those elected to the second chamber of the riksdag are the following: Bishop K. H. G. von Scheele of Visby, Mayor F. E. Soderberg of Kralshamn, J. E. Ericsson, Ahlberga; Alfred Lundgren, Varbeberg; Judge J. Bromee, Bilsta; Rev. S. J. Enander, Harjedalen; Dr. Hugo Wickstrom, Ostersund; Councillor of State Peterson, unanimously re-elected; Mayor Axel Rune, Vestervik; Consul C. J. F. Ljunggren, Kristianstad; J. P. Person Hult; Mayor Ahlstrand, Umea; A. J. Hagstrom, Hernosand; Halvar Eriksson, Elgered; C. H. Gustafson, Mjolby; Baron A. T. Adelswärd, C. J. Johnson, Skog; Hans Andersson, Nobbelof.

A Real Soldiers' Monument.

A monument was recently unveiled on the little island of Anholt to the memory of the Danish soldiers who lost their lives in the unfortunate attempt to take the island from the British in 1811. The monument was from a design by Bonneson and was erected by a local Master Mason from cannon and cannon balls found in the stream. Although the monument is twenty feet high and an imposing memorial, the actual cost of construction was but [illegible] kroner.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ROTTING FOR LACK OF CARS.

Wheat Piled in Heaps Beside Railroad Tracks.

Hankinson, N. D., Oct. 8.—Farmers throughout this section are complaining of the lack of cars in which to ship their grain. A large quantity of wheat has already been threshed out and is now at the stations, but the railroads are unable to furnish means of transporting it. At some points the grain is left beside the track in wagons, each wagon being loaded to its utmost capacity with sacks of wheat. At other places, where the wheat was brought to town in the wagon boxes the grain has been dumped in huge heaps beside the track and is rotting from exposure to the weather and contact with the ground. Heavy winds scatter it still more, and the birds are making havoc with some of the piles. No prospect of relief from the congestion is now in sight, and the farmers are almost discouraged, as the farm granaries are for the most part already filled.

STUDENTS DUCKED IN LAKE.

More Than 600 Get Wet in Class Rush at Madison.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 8. — More than 600 students were ducked in Lake Mendota yesterday in the annual freshmen-sophomore class rush, the most furious in the history of the University of Wisconsin. Clint D. North of Cleveland had two ribs broken as the result of a fall from a telephone pole where he was climbing after a class flag. He was unconscious for two hours and is said to be in a serious condition. One student had a leg broken and over forty received minor injuries.

LIGHTS PIPE; IS BURNED.

Farmer Sets Straw on Fire and Nearly Meets Death.

Ada, Minn., Oct. 8.—Olans Gaarder was probably fatally burned in a fire on his farm in Waukon. While attempting to light his pipe Mr. Gaarder accidentally set fire to a straw stack, and the flames, fanned by a strong wind, spread to five other stacks. In a desperate effort to extinguish the flames, Gaarder was terribly burned. All of his clothes except his hat and shoes fell from him in ashes.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS HEAVY.

One Hundred Cars in Two Days Sent to Market.

Pierre, S. D., Oct. 8. — Cattle shipments from this point were slow at the beginning of the season, but last Saturday and Sunday about 100 cars of cattle were sent out, and through this week more than a hundred cars of sheep have been shipped. Preparations are being made to handle more than a hundred cars again to-day and to-morrow.

DO NOT PAY FAIR BILLS.

Proceeds of State Show Too Small to Cover Premiums.

Pierre, S. D., Oct. 8.—Notwithstanding the large attendance at the state fair, the state board of agriculture has notified State Auditor Halladay that they are short of the necessary funds for the payment of premiums, the shortage being $3,740.75, and they ask for the state appropriation of $3,000 to assist them in making their payments.

STEAM SHOVEL CRACKS SKULL.

Michigan Mine Superintendent Fatally Injured.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 8.—Capt. J. T. Kebilcock, superintendent of the United States Steel corporation's section 21 mine at Ishpeming, was hit by a steam shovel last night, sustaining a fractured skull and other injuries which are expected to prove fatal. He is chairman of the Marquette county board of supervisors.

Franchise Granted.

Albert Lea, Minn., Oct. 8.—After a fight of two or three weeks the city council late last night granted a franchise for twenty years to the Tri-State Telephone and Telegraph company, but maximum rates were fixed at considerably lower figures than previous. At present the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company has an exchange here.

Fire Near Oil and Dynamite.

Iowa City, Iowa, Oct. 8. — Fire last night partially destroyed Dooley's store in the center of the business block adjoining the Zarz house. The firemen had the blaze under control just as the steel tank containing a hundred gallons of gasoline was threatened. Near the scene a ton of dynamite had been removed during the day.

Will Give Up Pat Crowe.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 8.—Gov. Toole yesterday honored the requisition of Gov. Mickey of Nebraska for Pat Crowe. The specific charge is robbery. Henry Heitmed is named as agent and will go to Butte after Crowe.

Fear It Is Foul Play.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 8.—Ed Gregsor, a wealthy farmer, was found dead in a pool of blood in his home near Avon. Neighbors believe the man was murdered. He has a bullet hole in his temple and other wounds.

SEARCH ABANDONED.

Man Lost in the Woods Cannot Be Found.

Ladysmith, Wis., Oct. 7. — After more than two weeks of fruitless effort upon the part of hundreds of people to find Peter Anderson, lost in the woods, the search has been given up. The searchers are satisfied that they found tracks made by the lost man—their character corresponding with the shoes he wore when he left home, and their appearance denoting a lost and wandering man. While opinion varies somewhat, it is generally thought that the man has succumbed somewhere in the woods not far from his home. The effort made with the aid of bloodhounds availed nothing. Mr. Anderson was highly esteemed by his neighbors and by business men in Ladysmith.

FIVE CASES IN SIX MONTHS.

Referee in Bankruptcy Makes Report of Petitions Settled.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 7. — William Burns, referee in bankruptcy for the first division, has completed his report for the six months ending Sept. 30. Bankruptcy business in this district has been rather light during this six months, there being only five cases, all voluntary, disposed of by the referee. The total liabilities, direct and contingent, amounted to $34,656.97. No dividends were declared. The total amount set apart as exempt amounted to $1,235. The total fees, commissions and expenses paid amounted to $100.

RED WING HAS BIG FIRE.

Traffic on River Division of Milwaukee Road Is Tied Up.

Red Wing, Minn., Oct. 7.—Fire last night destroyed the mill and yard of the Charles Betcher Lumber company, causing loss aggregating approximately $70,000, and resulting in the tying up of traffic on the River division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. At a late hour Fire Chief Cook and his men had gotten the fire under control. The Betcher company's plant is close to the railroad tracks, and all telegraph wires were burned in a short time. The loss on the mill is about $30,000; on the lumber yard, $40,000.

AUTHOR IS DISCOVERER.

Hamlin Garland Takes Capitalists to Visit Lands He Finds.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 7. — Hamlin Garland of West Salem, the author, has succeeded in interesting capitalists of this city in what he terms land discoveries made in Indian Territory a year ago, and which he says will make all those who take advantage of the opportunities offered wealthy beyond their fondest dreams. Garland and a party of capitalists left last night for Muskogee, Ind. T., to investigate Garland's "finds," made while in the West searching for local color for a new novel of Western life.

BODY MANGLED; SEEKS AID.

Shotgun Discharge Bares Ribs and Hipbone of Hunter.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Oct. 7.—Alfred Stoh, aged twenty years, was accidentally shot through the right side by the discharge of a shotgun. The bones of the hip and lower ribs were laid bare and the flesh and muscles running to the leg were severed. After the accident he crawled a mile to his father's cabin on the island, and was then brought to the city, where a quantity of the shot was removed. He had laid the gun on a log to tie his shoe string, when it slid down and the hammer caught on a bush.

THREE SHOT IN QUARREL.

La Crosse Man Shoots His Wife, Child and Father-in-Law.

Sparta, Wis., Oct. 7.—A man named Labell came here from La Crosse and shot his wife and child and John Crowley. Family trouble was the cause. Mrs. Labell has been living with her father, John Crowley, and Labell has been trying to persuade her to return to him. He went to Crowley's, and, in a quarrel, shot the three, seriously, if not fatally, injuring them all. He is still at large, and the sheriff, with an armed posse, is searching for him.

JAILER IS SENTENCED.

La Crosse Man Given Fifteen Months in Prison.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 7.—J. M. Childers, jailer of the La Crosse county jail, who was convicted Saturday of assisting in the escape of Earl Trainor and Andrew Cunningham, two members of the notorious Eddie Fay gang of postoffice robbers, was sentenced to a term of fifteen months in the house of correction by United States Judge Sanborn yesterday. The evidence showed that Childers received $800 for the release of the two prisoners.

Murder Case Deferred.

Sisseton, N. D., Oct. 7.—At the opening of court the state's attorney filed an information against Zach Flute, the Indian murderer, but owing to the absence of Sears, one of the attorneys for the defense, who was called home to attend the funeral of his mother, there was no arraignment or pleadings in the case at this time.

Successful Canning Season.

Belle Plaine, Minn., Oct. 7. — The Belle Plaine Canning company shut down yesterday after a most successful season's run, having packed 260,000 cans of corn. The company will can various lines of vegetables next year.

RUSSIAN CROWN LANDS.

Altai Estates Alone Three Times as Large as England and Wales.

So much is being written of the internal economy of Russia lately that the extent of crown lands has escaped attention, says I. H. James, Cleveland. "The czar's Altai estates alone cover an area of over 170,000 square miles, being about three times the size of England and Wales. The Nertchisak estates in Eastern Siberia are estimated at about 76,600 square miles. In the Altai estates are situated the gold and silver mines of Barnaul, Paulov, Sinijov and Laktjepp, the copper foundry of Gavrilov, in the Salagirov district. The receipts from these enormous estates are not commensurate with their size, but this is largely owing to a deficit in working the mines. The ore from the mines is transported 300 or 400 miles to the smelting works, which are built in districts where wood abounds."—Milwaukee Free Press.

Reversing Things.

They had just finished breakfast and the woman of the future was about to start down town, when her husband arose from the table, placed his arms about her neck and kissed her.

"Dearest," he murmured softly, "I love you more than words can tell."

"Oh, you do, eh?" she rejoined, suspiciously. "What is it now—a new silk hat or a pair of trousers?"—Chicago News.

Advancing the Farmers' Interests.

Traveling agents and salesmen are now sent from the home offices of the Chicago packers into all South American and Asiatic countries. They are going into every land, no matter what language may be spoken or what money be used. They will exchange their goods for cowries or elephant tusks—anything to sell the product and get something in return convertible into money. It may seem odd to some folks, but traveling men, carrying cases with samples of American meat products, can be seen in the desert of Sahara, the sands of Zanzibar, or in Brazil, "where the nuts come from." Great is the enterprise of the Yankee merchant. The greater the market, the greater the price and stability of the price of the product and all that goes to make it in its various stages.

Exceptional.

"Is he a really good violinist?"

"Yes, and an exceedingly remarkable one."

"In what respect?"

"His instrument is not 'a genuine Stradivarius.'"—Philadelphia Press.

And the Next Day It Snowed.

They were telling a story to-day of a conversation a friend of H. H. Rogers had with the Amalgated's president. The friend wanted to know whether the "system" was going to let Lawson make any serious impression upon the price of Amalgamated this trip.

"Oh, pshaw," Mr. Rogers was reported to have replied, "what's the use of sweeping the snow off until it has stopped snowing?"—New York Mail.

Stated His Reason.

A well known actor tells the following amusing yarn:

In his early, struggling days, before he attained fame and fortune, he once found himself in a small country place with a fifth-rate company. Wandering idly round the morning after their arrival, he was passing a church entrance just as a wedding was about to be celebrated. To kill the time he went in. The ground floor of the church was pretty full, but a low, dark gallery near the roof was apparently deserted.

The ceremony proceeded on the even tenor of its way until the minister inquired if anyone present knew any reason why the couple before him should not be united together in the holy bonds of matrimony.

There was silence for a moment and then a small, thin voice in the gallery was heard to say, "Yes, I do."

All eyes were turned to the gallery, where the figure of a small, milk-and-watery-looking individual was barely discernible in the gloom.

"State your reason!" said the minister, fixing the protester with a steely eye.

A fit of uncontrollable mirth seized all present when there came from the gallery the diffident reply:

"Please, sir, I—I want the gal myself!"

"GOLD GOLD."

"Good," He Says, "But Comfort Better."

"Food that fits is better than a gold mine," says a grateful man.

"Before I commenced to use Grape-Nuts food no man on earth ever had a worse infliction from catarrh of the stomach than I had for years.

"I could eat nothing but the very lightest food and even that gave me great distress.

"I went through the catalogue of prepared foods but found them all (except Grape-Nuts) more or less indigestible, generating gas in the stomach (which, in turn produced headache and various other pains and aches) and otherwise unavailable for my use.

"Grape-Nuts food I have found easily digested and assimilated, and it has renewed my health and vigor and made me a well man again. The catarrh of the stomach has disappeared entirely with all its attendant ills, thanks to Grape-Nuts, which now is my almost sole food. I want no other." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ten days' trial tells the story.

There's a reason.

SOME GOOD ADVICE.

Henry Wallace Tells How to Handle Minnesota Lands.

Mr. Henry Wallace, the veteran Iowa editor and farmer, writes as follows about Northern Minnesota and the state lands for sale there:

"Many of our readers will no doubt invest in these lands, and we wish now to drop them a little advice: Buy lands that have either clay (whether red or white is not material) or clay loam or loamy clay. Don't refuse to buy a swamp that is growing red top, provided it can be drained conveniently.

"If you get prairie land, break up the driest and best parts of it, grow wheat a year or two and get it down to meadow. If you get timber land, sell whatever hard wood you can, burn the rest, and keep the brush cut down the next year. If it grows with popple, close-cut it; that is, have it cut off as close to the ground as possible. Then seed to clover and timothy, cut off the brush which will sprout up the next year. Let the hard wood stumps alone for two or three years, then pull them and make a solemn contract between yourself and the pine stumps that if they will let you alone you will let them alone. Bear in mind that a pine stump will last a hundred years, that you can't burn them in the ground; that blasting them out is expensive; that many of them can't be pulled out; and that you did succeed in pulling them out you would be as badly off as you were before. Therefore let pine stumps alone.

"On almost any quarter section here is enough hardwood land for cultivation. There is a splendid opening in all that country for industrious men who will go at it the easy way. Meadow and pasture is the first requirements. Then go dairying and growing roots. Don't bother with corn. Sow oats and make them into hay. Then learn how to keep cows, and let the cows and the young stock tramp down the brush while looking for the wild legumes for which the clay sections of Minnesota are noted. The wild peas, as they are called, are richer in milk food than clover and as good as alfalfa. Outside of the Minnesota drainage basin and alluvial lands of the Red River Valley, dairying is the proper thing. In fact, Minnesota has more complete dairy conditions than any other state we know of. It has the dairy air, the dairy water, grows cow feed of the first quality, and all it lacks is men that are not above studying the cow and milking her."

FOR BOTH

One disease of thinness in children is scrofula; in adults, consumption. Both have poor blood; both need more fat. These diseases thrive on leanness. Fat is the best means of overcoming them; cod liver oil makes the best and healthiest fat and is the easiest and most effective form of cod liver oil. Here's a natural order of things that shows why Scott's Emulsion is of so much value in all cases of scrofula and consumption. More fat, more weight, more nourishment, that's why.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Send for free sample.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists
409-415 Pearl Street, New York
60c. and $1.00 :: :: :: :: All druggists

Northern Pacific-
Shasta

The route for those who will spend the winter months in California. Rates are very low; magnificent scenery; comfortable trains.

Red Lake Falls to Los Angeles
and Return $63.00

Write F. A. Mizen, Red Lake Falls, for detailed information or to A. M. Cleland, General Pass. Agt., St. Paul.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN Hair Renewer

Is it true you want to look old? Then keep your gray hair. If not, then use Hall's Hair Renewer, and have all the dark, rich color of early life restored to your hair.

FARM MACHINERY

I have just received a carload of farm machinery and it will be to the interest of every farmer in Red Lake County to see me and see some snaps I have to offer before buying. My goods are all anti-trust. Here are a few of the reliable goods I have for sale:

Robinson Buggies, Disc Harrows, Beggs-Goodson Wagons, The Celebrated Acme Harrow and Pulverizer, Van Brunt Single Disc Drills, Goodhue Wind Mills.

Get My Prices---I Can Save You Money

S. A. SWANSON

ST. HILAIRE.

Chas. Gustafson was a Thief River Falls visitor Thursday.

Miss Clara Lund returned from Minneapolis last Monday.

Dr. J. E. Argue was here on his monthly business trip last week.

Louis Roy, who is teaching at Wylie spent Sunday with his parents.

M. J. Cort of the Cry Package company of Minneapolis was in town Thursday.

Mrs. J. B. O'Brien is entertaining her mother Mrs. J. M. Makinson of St. Paul.

Herman Pettibone left for Minneapolis Thursday to resume his high school work.

Geo. L. Austin made a short business trip to Red Lake Falls Wednesday evening.

Mrs. R. H. Duntley made a short business trip to Red Lake Falls Wednesday evening.

Juluis Pleth and wife of Plummer spent several days in town last week returning home Friday.

Attorney Thos. Germo and S. L. Lewis, of Red Lake Falls were business visitors here Thursday.

R. H. Aimer went to St. Paul to attend a blacksmiths convention and transact other business.

Misses Helen and Mabel Hannay drove to Red Lake Falls Saturday and spent the day with friends.

Rev. Gildman and wife, the new pastor of the M. E. church arrived Tuesday and will take charge of the work here.

Miss Etta Zaiser came down from Red Lake Falls Friday to call on friends and remain Saturday for her music classes.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sanmoen died at noon Monday Oct. 9. and the funeral took place from the house Tuesday.

Misses Mabel and Helen Hannay entertained their young lady friends at their home Monday evening in honor of Miss Helen's birthday.

Miss Katie Patterson entertained about twenty five of her lady friends Friday evening. Miss Patterson is a charming hostess and those present pronounce the gathering as one of the social events of the season.

The "Bon Ami" club of Red Lake Falls was entertained by Miss Olga Hoff and Misses Lulu and Blanche Gebott Saturday. The day was an ideal one for a picnic dinner and the young folks had a very pleasant day.

Prof. Onstad was in town Tuesday to drill the band boys. Wednesday morning was so tempting for a morning walk the professor decided to walk to Red Lake Falls instead of waiting all day for the train. From reports he reached there about noon.

The confectionery store first purchased from Geo. Casbon by Juluis Pleth, then sold to Oscar Carlson of Plummer has again changed hands Albert Fellman and Charles Carlson have purchased the business and will put in a first class stock of confectionery goods.

Rev. Barker returned from the M. E. conference Tuesday morning. Mr. Barker will preach at Menahga, the coming year Mr. and Mrs. Barker have made many friends during their stay here who regret to see them leave but wish them success in their new field.

The people of St. Hilaire were shocked Tuesday morning when the death of James McAndress was announced of heart failure Mr. McAndress was apparently in the best of health and worked in his shop Monday evening. His bereaved family has the sympathy of the entire community.

Don't Grind
YOUR LIFE AWAY
Become a demonstrator and earn $5.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working over time. Act today.
COLONIAL SUPPLY CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

Order for Hearing Proof on Claims, etc.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss
County of Red Lake, }

IN PROBATE COURT
Special Term October 3, 1905

In the matter of the Estate of Cyprien Asselin, deceased.

Letters of Testamentary of the estate of Cyprien Asselin, deceased, late of the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, being granted to Cleophas Asselin and Onezime Asselin.

It is Ordered, That three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date of this order, in which all persons having claims or demands, against the said deceased are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said County, for examination and allowance, or be forever barred.

It is Furthered Ordered, That the 3rd day of January, 1906, at ten o'clock A. M., at a Special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the Probate Office in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County, be and the same hereby is appointed as the time and place when and where the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And it is further ordered, that notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, the 3rd day of October A. D. 1905.

By the Court,
N. W. TARRENT,
[seal] Judge of Probate.

Summons.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Red Lake. }

In District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

Berget Stolass, plaintiff, vs. Anna O. Anderson, formerly Anna O. Skaali; and Ludvig Anderson, her husband, and E. G. Skaali, defendants.

SUMMONS.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants:

You and each of you are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which said complaint has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint upon the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, Polk county, Minnesota, within twenty days after the service of this Summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated September 18th, 1905.

E. O. HAGEN,
Attorney for plaintiff,
Crookston, Minnesota.
Rooms 10, 11, 27, Wallace Blk
s21-o26

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Chapter 2, General Laws 1902.

Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the County Auditor in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land sold for taxes in Red Lake county to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Chapter Two (2) General Laws of Minnesota, 1902, and amendments thereof, will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the highest price offered therefor, which shall not be less than the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs charged against it. Immediate payment to the County Treasurer is required. The sale will begin at the time and place named above and continue from day to day until every tract or parcel shall have been offered for sale. The County Auditor of Red Lake county is hereby authorized and directed to conduct sale. A list of said real property is now on file in the offices of the County Auditor and State Auditor.

Dated St. Paul, Minn., September 30th, 1905.

S. G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Section 1616, General Statute Minnesota 1894.

Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at two o'clock in the afternoon at the office of the county auditor in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land, sold for taxes, in Red Lake county, to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Section 1616, General Statutes of Minnesota 1894, and amendments thereof will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the highest price offered therefor: which shall not be less than the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs due thereon, unless such amount exceeds the actual value of the property. Immediate payment to the county treasurer is required. The sale will begin at the time and place named above and continue from day to day until every tract or parcel shall have have been offered for sale. A list of said real property is now on file in the offices of the County Auditor and State Auditor. This sale will be held pursuant to directions from the Auditor of the State as provided by law.

Dated Red Lake Falls, Minn., September 30th, 1905.

JAMES E. FORD,
Auditor Red Lake County.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
[illegible]

A HOPELESS FIGHT

It is as impossible to conquer the king of diseases—Contagious Blood Poison—with Mercury and Potash as it would be to conquer the king of the forest in a hand-to-hand encounter, as thousands who have had their health ruined and lives blighted through the use of these minerals will testify. They took the treatment faithfully, only to find when it was left off, the disease returned with more power, combined with the awful effects of these minerals, such as mercurial rheumatism, necrosis of the bones, salivation, inflammation of the stomach and bowels, etc. When the virus of Contagious Blood Poison enters the blood it quickly contaminates every drop of that vital fluid, and every muscle, nerve, tissue and bone becomes affected, and soon the foul symptoms of sore mouth and throat, copper-colored blotches, falling hair and eyebrows, swollen glands, sores, etc., make their appearance. Mercury and Potash can only cover up these evidences for awhile; they cannot cure the disease. S. S. S. has for many years been recognized as a specific for Contagious Blood Poison—a perfect antidote for the deadly virus that is so far-reaching in its effects on the system. S. S. S. does not hide or mask the disease, but so thoroughly and completely cures it that no signs are ever seen again. S. S. S. while eradicating the poison of the disease will drive out any effects of harmful mineral treatment. A reward of $1,000.00 is offered for proof that S. S. S. contains a mineral ingredient of any kind. Treatise with instructions for home treatment and any advice wished, without charge.

SSS

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..

Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - - MINNESOTA

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel - - - - Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.

Strictly First-Class In Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

Boiling Water in a Reservoir

It's something that's hard to do when the reservoir is on the right hand side because it's too far from the fire, takes too much fuel to do it. But, when the reservoir is right next to the fire pot, it's a mighty easy job and don't take much fuel either. Then on the Majestic we have a lever that by turning throws the reservoir away from the fire so that there is never any danger of the water boiling all away and spoiling your reservoir.

If you are going to need a range, don't look too much at the price, the Majestic is not the cheapest, but the least expensive.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

WELL DIGGING ..

[illegible]

St. Benedict's Academy ..

[illegible]

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 2. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1905. WHOLE NO. 366.

GREAT NORTHERN CO. SUED

Attorney General Young Asks Restraining Order to Prevent Tearing Up of Wylie Track.

Attorney General E. T. Young has commenced proceedings in the Red Lake county district court to restrain the Great Northern Rail way company from tearing up its track between Shirley and St. Hilaire, and County Attorney Germo has been instructed to procure the necessary affidavits and serve subpeonas on the officials of the road.

It is the attorney general's intention to have a hearing at the October term, but it is doubtful if the service of papers can be arranged by that time. However, if Judge Watts is of the opinion that the case has merit a temporary restraining order can be issued.

This question involves some peculiar points of law. At the hearing in St. Paul some weeks ago before the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners, brought by the citizens and business men of Wylie, one of the members of the board ruled that while the railroad company could be made to maintain a train service while the track was there, he was of the opinion that the law could not prevent the company from tearing up the track if it was so inclined. The points raised in this case will determine a number of mooted questions in railroad law, and will be watched with interest.

Musical Instruments Below Cost.

We will give 25 per cent. discount on all violins, guitars and other small musical instruments for the next thirty days.—Anderson & Wander.

GRAND FORKS LAWS BEATEN

High School Foot Ball Team Takes The Game by a Score of 23 to 0.

The Red Fake Falls high school foot ball team played a fast, furious game on the home grounds Saturday with the students of the law department of the North Dakota state university. The score was 23 to 0 in favor of Red Lake Falls and the game was won with scarcely an effort. The Grand Forkers are husky fellows, too, weighing on an average of 15 pounds more to the man than our boys.

Touchdowns were made by Garceau, Blake, Brunelle and LaFreniere, and Garceau made a phenomenal play by getting nearly across the field with the ball before he was intercepted. All of the boys were in good form and played a star game. It is no undeserving praise to say that our team is the superior of any high school in this part of the state.

Two more games are scheduled, one on the home grounds with Thief River Falls next Saturday, October 21, and another with Crookston at that city on November 3. Ofcourse we expect to win both of them.

The Orignal.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons.

FATHER CHRISTMAS COMES

Grafton Divine Healer is Consulted by Hundreds of Afflicted People Monday.

Father Christmas, the Grafton "divine" healer, was in the city Sunday afternoon and all day Monday. He made headquarters at the Kaufer building on south Main street, and it is not putting it too high to say that at least two hundred and fifty people were treated. The halt, the lame, the blind, and all manner of afflicted mortals took advantage of the opportunity to consult the much advertised healer, stories of whose remarkable cures have been sent all over the northwest. So far no reports of marvelous healings have come in, although a number profess to believe that the treatment has been of benefit to them. All day Monday a large crowd was in line in front of the building to secure tickets of admission. They were in turn given a numbered card, and were allowed to see the healer in theorder of their numbers. Father Christmas makes no charge for his professional services, but takes whatever sum the patient chooses to give. Of course many are profoundly grateful for a promised cure and make liberal contributions to the healer's exchequer.

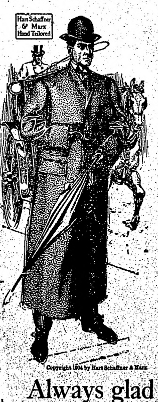
The average person has little faith in the divine power claimed by Father Christmas, but nevertheless there is a general belief in his power to relieve certain kinds of afflictions. The rational view is that the healer is endowed with personal magnetism to an unusual degree, and this, combined with the gift of hypotism, can relieve pain and physical disorders where the imagination has greatly magnified the trouble.

Berthon & Armstrong

Men's and Boys' Leading Clothing Outfitters

You Like New "Stunts"

that are clever and original, that help to make clothes what they ought to be—



Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored
Copyright 1904 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

good lookers.

That's exactly the kind of "stunts" we are doing with H., S. & M. Clothing.

First—Styles decidedly clever;

Second—Original and exclusive patterns;

Last and not least, the prices never "stunt" your pocketbook.

Always glad to show you.

JIM AND PAUL

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

BAND'S FINANCIAL SHOWING

It Costs Money to Support a Good Band, but Few Will Say it is Not Worth the Price.

As the first indoor band concert for the season of 1905-6 is approaching, the management desires that those who have pledged $1 per month for the support of the band should clearly understand the matter of accomodation tickets, and that the public in general should know the exact standing of the band at the present time.

It must be understood and will be seen in the following report that it takes money to support an organization of this kind. The generous support given by the citizens and the city pays the larger part of the expense, viz: the leader's salary and music; and the band is dependent on the receipts at the indoor concerts for incidental expenses. It is our aim, then, to do all we can to increase these receipts. To do this we have made arrangements that we believe to be eminently fair and right. Those who contribute $1 a month to the band's support shall have two reserved seat tickets to each concert. Those who have children who would be benefitted by attending the concerts or who enjoy going may have tickets for them free by getting an order from the manager, Lee Healy, or the secretary, J. B. Armstrong.

At present the band is in excellent condition. We have begun regular steady practice of two nights each week, and have recently added four new horns, two of which are band property. We have twenty-six active members, five Bb clarinets, one picilo, one Eb clarinet, one saxaphone, four melephones, five cornets, three trombones, one baritone, three Eb basses, and a snare and bass drum. The band also owns a full set of uniforms, two melephones, a bass drum, a fine library of music, worth about $300, together with a cupboard for its preservation. There is a "kid" band which has been at work all summer and fall that will furnish much material before the winter is over. With the continued support of the citizens by the end of the season we will have a band hard to beat. We would add that if there are any who have been overlooked and who should desire to aid in the good cause it would be appreciated if they should make it known to the manager or secretary. The first indoor concert will be given October 27.

Following is the financial statement of the band's work from July, 1903, when Prof. Onstad took charge of the directorship, to the present time:

RECEIPTS.

Paid by business men	$ 1,277.00
Paid by city council	488.00
Indoor concerts	185.53
Earnings of band	771.29
	$ 2,721.82

DISBURSEMENTS.

Leader's salary	$ 1,680.00
Uniforms and instruments	524.23
Music	207.19
Opera house for concerts	161.35
Incidental expenses	95.90
Cash on hand	53.15
	$ 2,721.82

INVENTORY OF BAND PROPERTY

Uniforms	$ 342.50
Instruments	205.00
Music	306.00
Music cabinet	23.50
Stationery, etc	25.00
Cash on hand	53.15
	$ 955.15

Deeds for a Dollar.

Deeds for $1 considerations are becoming a great deal more popular with the real estate men and speculators. By making the consideration $1 a real estate man purchasing a piece of property can conceal the amount which he paid for it without "padding" and the amount of money which actually changes hands need never be known unless either of the interested parties speaks of the matter. In that manner a future purchaser is kept in the dark as to what the former prices of the property were.

STATE LAND SALE NEXT WEEK

Nearly 12,000 Acres to Be Offered at the State Land Sale to be Held Next Thursday.

The sale of state school land in Red Lake county will be held at the court house next Thursday. State Auditor Samuel G. Iverson will be here in person to conduct the sale, and it promises to be a busy day, as large crowds of people are attending the sales this year and the lands are bringing good prices. It is not improbable that the Red Lake county lands will average more than $10 per acre, as many of the tracts offered are first-class farming lands. Never before has there been such great interest manifested in these sales, and this shows that the demand for Red Lake county land has not abated. The lands to be sold are scattered over the county, not much more than a section being located in any one township.

POTATO FAMINE IN VALLEY

Peculiar Affection of Tubers is Compared to the Blight that Spread Over Ireland.

Potatoes in northern Minnesota are nearly as costly as apples. Farmers who planted quarter sections of the tubers are not receiving a yield large enough to warrant digging, and thousands of acres will be allowed to rot in the ground rather than create expense thru digging operations.

According to potato experts of this section, the entire seed stock of the Red River valley must be changed before the crop can again be profitable. Frank T. Hazeltine a Crookston potato specialist, says:

Seed must be imported from some locality or localities in which the rot and blight, so disastrous to the crop in this section this year, is not apparent. Otherwise the rot will continue year by year to devastate the fields of the tubers, and farmers who plant the vines will have their trouble for nothing.

"The rot this year is widespread and leaves hardly a potato in the valley which is fit for either the table or for use another year as seed. Montana and southern districts in which the tuber is grown have not been affected by the trouble to such a great extent, but the crop is nevertheless short all around, and importation from foreign potato districts will be the only hope of again raising a successful potato crop in the valley."

The rot is a peculiar affliction of the potato, and is compared to the blight that spread over Ireland when the famine in that potato country was so severe. The tubers, after reaching partial maturity in the ground, suddenly turn into a soft, mushy substance and later on dry out into dust. Farmers who sold their crop early in the season are rejocing at their good fortune.

Plans to Get Rich.

Are often frustrated by sudden breakdown, due to dyspepsia or constipation. Brace up and take Dr. King's New Life Pills. They take out the materials which are clogging your energies, and give you a new start. Cure headache and dizziness too. At all drug stores; 25c., guaranteed.

FIRST MONTHLY CONCERT

Regular Indoor Band Program to be Commenced Next Friday Evening, October 27.

The first indoor band concert for the season of 1905-6 will be given at the Metropolitan opera house on Friday evening, October 27, and it is hoped that there will be a liberal turn-out of our people on this occasion. The program which appears below, is of exceptional merit:

PART I.

March—"On Dress Parade"..Chambers
Waltz—"Impassioned Dream"....Rosas
"Pilgrim Chorus" ....Verdi
Baritone Solo..............Selected
J. B. Armstrong.
Reading—"The Gladiator"............
Ralph Healy.
Patrol—"The Blue and the Gray"..Dalhy

PART II.

Vocal Solo..................Selected
Mrs. Edwin H. Chase.
Trombone and cornet duet.....Selected
Harry and Ralph Healy.
Reading—"Tommy"................
Miss Inez Linnihan.
Selection—"Lucia de Lammermoor...
Donizette.

The price of admission will be 25, 35 and 50c. Invite your friends and the strangers in town to attend.

ASSESSMENT INCREASED.

Figures Show a Raise of $300,000 Over Last Year.

The assessment for Red Lake county will show an increase of nearly $300,000 over last year. The real estate assessment for 1905 totals $2,559,688. As left by the county board the personal property assessment was $644,005. The extension of the taxes has not yet been completed by Auditor Ford, but he figures that there will be an average raise of 50 per cent on all the personal taxes as a result of the work of the state board of equalization. Assuming this to be correct, the total of the personal assessment will be $966,098, making a total for real and personal of $3,525,786.

Last year the real estate assessment was $2,413,858 snd the personal property $818,047, making a total of $6,231,905. It is not likely that the amount of taxes will be larger this year than last, so that the tax rate will probably be a trifle less.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

October a Good Month for Cupid's Little Arrows.

Marriage licenses have been issued so far during the month of October to the following persons by Clerk Perault:

Albert Geska of Rocksbury to Martha Lauterbach of Silverton.

Sigurd O. Grolid to Inga Dahl, both of St. Hilaire.

Wilfred Vaudrin to Minnie Moquin, both of Red Lake Falls.

James Connely to Katherine McMahon, both of Thief River Falls.

Fred Carpenter to Emma Brown, both of Lambert.

John A. Larson to Mary Bothun, both of Thief River Falls.

John McDonald of Eau Claire, Wis., to Anna Enger of Thief River Falls.

W. J. Pollard of Beltrami county to Katie L. Olson of Thief River Falls.

Button's Business College Crookston, Minnesota, begins a new term October 9. Enroll now.

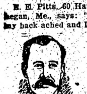
IF

1—IF our rate of interest on Time Deposits is high enough;
2—IF our rate of interest on Loans is low enough;
3—IF the accommodations we afford are satisfactory;
4—IF our business is safely managed (and we think it is);
5—IF you are not already a customer, then we invite you to become one.

FIRST STATE BANK

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Our vault is protected by the latest ELECTRIC BURGLAR ALARM System.
We make FARM LOANS without delay.



RAISED FROM A DEATH-BED.

Mr. Pitts, Once Pronounced Incurable, Has Been Well Three Years.

E. E. Pitts, 60 Hathaway st., Skowhegan, Me., says: "Seven years ago my back ached and I was so run down that I was laid up four months. I had night sweats and fainting spells and dropped to 90 pounds. The urine passed every few minutes with intense pain and looked like blood. Dropsy set in and the doctors decided I could not live. My wife got me using Doan's Kidney Pills, and as they helped me I took heart, kept on and was cured so thoroughly that I've been well three years."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

His Opinion of Him.

"Do you think I could get an audience with the boss?" asked the political hanger-on, going in.

"Yes," snapped the disappointed office-seeker, coming out, "if you featured him in a dime museum as the 'Two-faced man.'" — Philadelphia Press.

Wherever a lie alights its progeny arise.

WHEAT

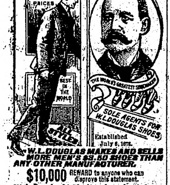
The wheat markets of the world have been very strong throughout the past week. Prices have not risen materially in American markets on account of the restraining influence exerted by the leading bull operators, who do not seem to be ready at this time to head a sharp campaign. While the domestic levels have been only maintained, Liverpool and the continental markets have seen a series of sharp upward jumps that have brought the foreign markets practically to a basis upon which our Wheat may be shipped.

The advisability of marketing any of our Wheat abroad in the shape of raw grain has been seriously called in question, and the peculiar action of our markets may be the logical answer to this query. It is a known fact that the Minneapolis mills are booked months ahead with capacity orders. The largest of these mills has orders for six months which will tax its productive power and has been grinding on the same character of business for a month. It is announced that not a pound of this Flour is for domestic delivery.

The question immediately arises: Is it worth while to export any Wheat as long as we can export Flour instead, thus giving American labor profitable employment?

The underlying conditions in Wheat are so strong that we cannot advise selling operations except of a scalping character.

Edwards-Wood Co.
(Incorporated)—Dealers In
STOCKS GRAIN PROVISIONS
Main Office—5th and Robert Sts.—St. Paul.



W.L.DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
ALL STYLES
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W.L.DOUGLAS SHOES
Established July 6, 1876.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN
W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.

W.L.DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W.L.Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

On the Trail with a Fish Brand Pommel Slicker

"I followed the trail from Texas to Montana with a FISH BRAND Slicker, used for an overcoat when cold, a wind coat when windy, a rain coat when it rained, and for a cover at night if we got to bed, and I will say that I have gotten more comfort out of your slicker than any other one article that I ever owned."

(The name and address of the writer of this unsolicited letter may be had on application.)

Wet Weather Garments for Riding, Walking, Working or Sporting.

HIGHEST AWARD WORLD'S FAIR, 1904.

A. J. TOWER CO.
BOSTON, U.S.A.
TOWER CANADIAN CO., Limited
TORONTO, CANADA

THE BEST COUGH CURE

A well-known Rochester lady says: "I stayed in the Adirondacks, away from friends and home, two winters before I found that by taking

Kemp's Balsam

I could subdue the cough that drove me away from home and seemed likely to never allow me to live there in winter."

Kemp's Balsam will cure any cough that can be cured by any medicine.

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

The Song of the Flyer

I throw the miles behind me with a never-ending roar,
I pant with heart impetuous for the miles that stretch before;
With ne'er a pause I leap within the tunnel's yawning mouth,
I stop for naught from east to west, for naught from north to south.

The steel-blue ribbons glow with pride to bear my passing form;
The signals beckon down the line, through sunlight and in storm;
The mountain lions cower, when they hear my whistle's blast;
The mountain gorges echo as I thunder proudly past.

I hold the road by right of way, a royal race I run,
Nor stay, until my goal is reached, beneath the setting sun.

—A. Po. Payson in Four-Track News.

A DESIRED END

BY MARGARET MONDIE

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

The gate was open and in the long shaded path between wonderful bushes of blooming roses, the form of a white clad woman lingered.

It was very still; hardly a leaf stirred; the air was hot and heavy. The man at the open gate paused before entering and drew the gate shut. The woman turned at the sound and faced the man. A look of swift recognition flashed between them, but for some reason it was not openly acknowledged by either. Then there ensued a strained silence, broken at last by the woman's voice, soft, low and vibrant, truly a voice none could hear and not heed.

"You are seeking the Prospects perhaps?" she asked slowly.

"Yes—yes—" he hesitated.

"I am indeed sorry, but they are in Europe for the summer, we—we—that is"—her voice sank—"I have taken the house for the season; is there anything I can do for you?"

"Why, no, nothing, I think," he answered very slowly.

"You are stopping near here?" she asked suddenly.

"My place is over on the beach road, a mile east of here."

"Ah, then we are neighbors!"

"Yes; perhaps I may have the pleasure of calling some time? Or—I've a car that I will be happy to place at your service."

"I thought this country too hilly for autos, so we—that is, I have only a team and a modest runabout. You see, I am seeking rest and absolute quiet, and I am so sorry, but I fear that I will have little inclination to receive callers, but I am grateful. And now you will pardon me?" She waited for him to turn and go and this he started to do without a word.

At the gate he stopped and wheeled round, a look of determination came into his face and the woman knew instantly the situation that she would undoubtedly have to cope with, and a fear trembled in her heart, but she met his eyes without a visible sign.

"Is he here or when do you expect him?" he asked fiercely.

"I beg your pardon, sir. Please remember I am mistress here. I have nothing more to say," and she drew herself haughtily away.

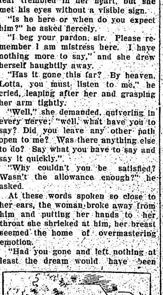
"Has it gone this far? By heaven, Lotta, you must listen to me," he cried, leaping after her and grasping her arm tightly.

"Well," she demanded, quivering in every nerve; "well, what have you to say? Did you leave any other path open to me? Was there anything else to do? Say what you have to say and say it quickly."

"Why couldn't you be satisfied? Wasn't the allowance enough?" he asked.

At these words spoken so close to her ears, the woman broke away from him and putting her hands to her throat she shrieked at him, her breast seemed the home of overmastering emotion.

"Had you gone and left nothing at least the dream would have been



"You are seeking the Prospects, perhaps?" she asked slowly.

take. I looked for you, no one could mine, but to be paid and deserted to be brutally told that you had a duty to posterity, that you must marry and one in your own class! Is that wife of yours any purer than I was once? Is her love equal to mine? And now you come to preach to me, you—you—who have brought me to this. Do you think that I would touch your money? No, I have not fallen that low," her voice checked with passion.

"Lotta, dear, little woman, I didn't get married—I found out my mis- tell me where you went. Come back to me, dear, do come, I love you. I found that out, too," he pleaded.

"Come—with—you? How — how?" and she held out her arms to him. "Do you mean that you will marry me—oh—" and she began to cry.

The man remained silent for a moment and when he spoke his tone was soft and hesitating.

"And the man at that house? If—he is not there—has not been there—but why speak of all this? I only want you, you, your own dear self—"

The woman stiffened and the tears died in her eyes, her lips formed a

"Go back to your little, narrow world of wealth!"

thin red line, her hands hung limply at her sides, all the life that throbbed but a moment before in her veins seemed to be gone, chilled and killed somehow at those few soft spoken words. There was an instant of strained silence and then the woman laughed.

"You will come and see us some time?" she asked, gayly.

The man stood in amazement, too surprised to move, he could only stare and gasp, "Lotta, Lotta!"

"I prefer him," she laughed back at him; "he don't preach to me."

"Whatever has passed between you, dear, will make no difference," he began.

"Would you marry me in spite of anything?" she interrupted quickly.

"As for that—Lotta, come, be reasonable, dear;" he evaded her direct questioning eyes.

"There is and never has been any one but you and there never will be, but I no longer love you. I loved what I thought was you; I am here along with the mother of a man who has asked me to marry him; I told him of you, but he loves me, he forgives and forgets all things." Her strength suddenly deserted her. "Ah, that such a man as you are should live. You thought bad of me at once. Did I ever do anytthing bad in my life? I thought you loved me and you trapped me—but as He is witness, was I to blame? Go back to your little, narrow world of wealth, the world where women's hearts are but to be tramp'ed on and crushed—go back and live!"

When the man recovered from his astonishment, he could just catch a glimpse of white down in the path that led to the vine-covered house. He stood for a moment in silence, then took himself off through the gate and out into the road. In the dusty distance he could see his auto and the impatient wife of whose existence Lotta was ignorant. Things looked bitter to the man, but manlike he cursed the woman for her lack of faith and her cruelty. The auto drew up and the wife stormed all the way home. But the man did not care much; his thoughts were all down in that beautiful garden with the other woman.

The Real Skipper.

The boat drifted on the clear lake. The man and the maid were silent and a little sad. Already the leaves were turning. Summer was drawing to a close.

"Dear," he breathed softly, "dear."

She looked up and blushed.

"Dear," he said, "will you float with me always—down the stream of life?"

"The same as now," she whispered.

"The same as now," said he.

"I will. Gladly," cried the young girl.

He, you see, was rowing, doing all the hard work. She had the helm. She steered.

SEIZED THE JUDGE'S THOUGHT

Lawyer's Display of Tact Secured Client's Acquittal.

At the American Bar association's banquet at Narragansett Hector Lawrence of Duluth said, apropos of tact:

"Tact often goes a great way in a case. I know a man who defended an old fellow charged with stealing an armful of wood.

"The judge was very deaf and had a habit of talking to himself. Sometimes unconsciously he talked to himself in a pretty loud tone.

"Now, in this case, when the prosecutor took the stand and identified his stolen wood with great positiveness, the judge asked himself in a louder key than he was aware of:

"'How can he identify this wood when one stick's as much like another stick as one egg is like another?'

"The tactful lawyer for the defense rose immediately.

"'Your honor,' he exclaimed passionately, 'how can this witness identify his wood so positively when one stick is as much like another stick as one egg is like another?'

"The judge turned to the jury with a great start.

"'Gentlemen,' he said, 'you will acquit the prisoner. That very thought flashed through my head not a moment before the words were spoken by the learned counsel for the defense. You will acquit the prisoner, gentlemen. I consider this a direct interposition of Providence.'"

Mr. Rockefeller Was Meek.

While Mr. and Mrs. William Rockefeller and daughter were automobiling through England and Scotland recently they stopped at Harrogate, taking a suite of nine rooms at the hotel. The day after Mr. Rockefeller arrived he went to the barber shop in the hotel to be shaved, his mustache having been clipped into the semblance of a scrubbing brush.

The barber proceeded to strop the razor and lather the oil magnate's face. At the same time, wishing to entertain his client, he remarked:

"We have the wealthiest man in the world staying here."

"Ah," said Mr. Rockefeller, "who is that?"

"Rockefeller, sir, the great oil king."

"But," said Mr. Rockefeller, "perhaps it is the rich man's brother, who is a very poor man. For instance, if your brothers were rich would it necessarily mean that you were?"

"No," said the barber, "but in this case I do not know which Rockefeller it is. Anyway, I should not want anything more than to have the 'rocks' this man has."

Mr. Rockefeller returned to his room, told his courier of the incident, and laughed heartily. All the smart people of the hotel were absurdly concerned in the doings of the Rockefellers.

Cableways in Brazil.

Freight cableways are used at Manaos, on the Amazon river, 1,000 miles from Para. The vessels discharge at floating landing stages some distance from the shore. Adjoining these stages is a steel pontoon carrying the head towers of three cableways of 550 feet span.

The tail towers are located between the warehouses on shore. The cableways are of the double-track type. The shore ends of the track cables are not made fast, but, passing over sheave wheels at the apex of the towers, are fastened to vertical counter weights of 10 tons sliding in guides on the far side of the tower. Both the endless and hoisting lines operating the motion of the carriage and the hoisting fall are operated by means of a motor in the base of the "head" tower on the float.—Engineering Record.

Reciprocity.

Mr. Rentall was annoyed with Mr. Shorter. It was not only that Mr. Shorter never paid his rent—though that was bad enough—but he was so extremely cool about it. Another Monday morning had come, and once more Mr. Shorter was "sorry, but he'd have to beg Mr. Rentall to excuse him for the time."

The long-suffering landlord's patience was at last worn out.

"Look here," he cried, "you're precious off-handed about it; but how on earth do you expect me to live if you don't pay your rent?"

Mr. Shorter smiled the surprised smile which cheers not but exasperates.

"That, my dear sir," he said, softly, "is, to my thinking, somewhat beside the point; the question is, rather, how do you expect me to live if I do?" —London Answers.

Plea for Shorter Hours.

President Mitchell of the Mine Workers made an interesting statement in his Tamaqua speech, when he said: "I do not ask for the eight-hour day as a matter of sentiment, but as a matter of good citizenship. A man can do more work in eight hours than in ten hours. Do you know that in the soft coal regions more coal is produced per man in an eight-hour day than was produced in a ten-hour day?" Let's see, who was the lawyer who said that he could do a year's work in eleven months, but not in twelve?—Boston Globe.

Too Much of an Improvement.

They are thinking of paving Pleasant Lane, but the principal property holders claim that if they do pave the place the children will have no place to dig dirt and the last man home will not be able to walk quiet so that the people may not hear him when he gets to his own door. We don't know, but we rather favor the present streets and sidewalks.—[illegible]

Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

Mrs. Chester Curry Mrs. Chas. F. Brown

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the ovaries, and especially between the shoulders; bearing down pains; nervous dyspepsia, and almost continually cross and snappy?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women testify to this fact.

Mrs. Chester Curry, Leader of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra, 42 Saratoga Street, East Boston, Mass., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I was troubled with extreme nervousness and hysteria, brought on by irregularities. I could neither enjoy life nor sleep nights; I was very irritable, nervous and despondent.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and proved to be the only remedy that helped me. I have daily improved in health until I am now strong and well, and all nervousness has disappeared."

Mrs. Charles F. Brown, Vice-President of the Mothers' Club, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and nervousness, until it seemed as though I should fly. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was, and the wonderful results she derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I decided to try it. I did so, and at the end of three months I was a different woman. My nervousness was all gone, I was no longer irritable, and my husband fell in love with me all over again."

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine that holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female ills, and take no substitute.

Free Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write to her for advice. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with female troubles enables her to tell you just what is best for you, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

HAVE YOU TRIED PEPPER POT?

Something Doing in the Eating Line if You've Not.

"No gourmand can afford to hang up his hat until he has been to Barbados and partakes of the 'pepper pot,'" said J. W. Smith of Havana. "It is the culinary piece de resistance of the West Indies. Like the olla podrida of Spain, the Scotch haggis, the polenta of Italy, and other national dishes, it deserves special consideration, for it is in every way an excellent and savory dish. It is a stew, the basis of which is a vegetable preparation called casaripe, a thick black syrup prepared from the casava root. This stew has for its foundation a fowl and a piece of pickled pork. But it becomes the daily recipient of any stray pieces of meat which might otherwise be wasted, and the earthen pot which contains it is always kept simmering on the hearth. It is, in fact, the 'pot au feu' of France, with a delicious flavor peculiarly its own, due to casarope and the large African pepper. You needn't expect any fish at Barbados, for nature omitted rivers when it constructed this one of the Windward island, and the sea fish (barracoutas, snappers, etc.), are not of the best quality, but the pepper pot is worth a voyage over the Caribbean. I was there in February.—Milwaukee Free Press.

COFFEE NEURALGIA.

Leaves When You Quit and Use Postum.

A lady who unconsciously drifted into nervous prostration brought on by coffee says:

"I have been a coffee drinker all my life, and used it regularly, three times a day.

"A year or two ago I became subject to nervous neuralgia, attacks of nervous headache and general nervous prostration which not only incapacitaed me for doing my housework, but frequently made it necessary for me to remain in a dark room for two or three days at a time.

"I employed several good doctors, one after the other, but none of them was able to give me permanent relief.

"Eight months ago a friend suggested that perhaps coffee was the cause of my troubles and that I try Postum Food Coffee and give up the old kind. I am glad I took her advice for my health has been entirely restored. I have no more neuralgia, nor have I had one solitary headache in all these eight months. No more of my days are wasted in solitary confinement in a dark room. I do all my own work with ease. The flesh that I lost during the years of my nervous prostration has come back to me during these months and I am once more a happy, healthy woman. I enclose a list of names of friends who can vouch for the truth of the statement." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

Ten days' trial leaving off coffee and using Postum [illegible]

Beyond Him.

Casey—Oi hear yer wife has twins agin, Pat. How many childer does that mek?

Murtagh—Dom'd if Oi know; Oi'm no add'n machane.—Puck.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is seni partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doi business in the City of Toledo, County and St aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and ev case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the u HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENE

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my p ence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{ SEAL } A. W. GLEASON,
NOTARY PUBLIC.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and act directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Not That Kind of Stage.

"Yes, when I was younger I was importuned to go on the stage."

"I suppose that was before they had any street cars."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.
The Kind You Have Always Bought.

There Are Many.

Gunner—There goes a man who has taken crowds of people off their feet.

Guyer—Ah, a great orator, I presume?

Gunner—No, a reckless motorman.—Columbus Dispatch.

Here is Relief for Women.

Mother Gray, a nurse in New York, discovered a pleasant herb remedy for women's ills, called AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain monthly regulator. Cures female weaknesses, Backache, Kidney and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

After you get married, young lady, it is just as well to remember that cooking is a greater art than thumping a piano.

If you want to know what a man's weakness is, let him do the talking and he will mention it.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Fargo, N. D.

Tell a woman that her letters sound just like her, and she believes you have said they are interesting.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Some fellows are like sponges, except that sponges will take water.

Farmers and Merchants will be interested in announcement of Acetylene Jones in this paper.

[illegible] mistakes of our [illegible]

Churches.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Very Rev. E. Fayolle, Rector.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8. and 10 a. m.—Rev. Father Ansgar, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN—Services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., every Sunday. Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Rev. H. W. Knox, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

I. O. O. F.—Clearwater Lodge No. 133, meets every Saturday evening at I. O. O. F. hall. Visitors are always welcome.—F. A. Mizen, N. G. William Schwalen, V. G., F. A. Grady, R. S., James E. Ford, F. S.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—Red Lake Falls Lodge No. 169, meets every Monday evening K. of P. hall.—W. A. McIntyre, C. C.; S. L. Lewis, K. of R. and S.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS—Meets every other Friday evening at C. O. F. hall.—L. A. Kaufer, Chief Ranger; J. R. Fortier, Recording Secretary.

MODERN WOODMEN—Meets every other Wednesday at M. W. A. hall.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd. and 4th. of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city, Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, - Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Merchants State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

Junior Toilettes

THE FASHION AND PATTERN MAGAZINE FOR YOUNG FOLKS.

10c. A COPY, $1.00 A YEAR.

FOR SALE BY
BOOKSELLERS AND NEWSDEALERS

Paper Patterns exclusive, stylish, practical and modest in price.
If you cannot get JUNIOR TOILETTES from your bookseller write for sample copy or send your subscription to

TOILETTES FASHION CO.
172 Fifth Ave., Cor. 22d St., New York.

HOLLISTER'S
Rocky Mountain Tea Nuggets
A Busy Medicine for Busy People.
Brings Golden Health and Renewed Vigor.
A specific for Constipation, Indigestion, Live and Kidney Troubles, Pimples, Eczema, Impure Blood, Bad Breath, Sluggish Bowels, Headache and Backache. It's Rocky Mountain Tea in tablet form, 35 cents a box. Genuine made by Hollister Drug Company, Madison, Wis.
GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE
Will cure any case of Kidney or Bladder disease that is not beyond the reach of medicine.
GIVEN UP TO DIE.
B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over four years I was troubled with a kidney and bladder affection. I lost flesh and was unable to work. Three physicians failed to help me and I was given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured."
Two Sizes 50 Cents and $1.00

RAISING DRAFTERS.

Advised by an Iowa Man as a Good Investment on High Priced Land.

"Where are the drafters to come from that are now so eagerly sought by buyers at all the horse markets?" asked Mr. H. G. McMillan before the Iowa state farmers' institute. At the same time answering his own question, Mr. McMillan said that the supply of heavy mares is very limited. Farmers who owned good mares a few years ago sent them to market because they believed that the days of profitable horse breeding had passed. As a result of this unwise policy, before an adequate supply of drafters can again be grown for market draft mares will have to be produced first from which to raise the supply in the future. This will take years to accomplish, so that it may be reasonably expected that the price of draft horses will continue firm for years.

Good Returns In Colts and Farm Work.

While pure bred stallions have been selling in many cases at seemingly high figures, pure bred draft mares can yet be obtained at a very reasonable figure. The Iowa or Illinois farmer who owns one hundred or one hundred and fifty dollar land cannot make a better investment than to buy a pair or two of pedigreed draft mares. At the price at which such mares are now selling, if given proper care, they will bring in a larger return on the investment than any stock that can be placed on this high priced land.

In addition to producing colts that the draft horse breeders and dealers will gladly buy at $100 or $300 when a year old, they will do the work required on the farm just as well as or better than mares that produce colts that are only worth $100 when fully matured.

Old Time Dentistry.

In the early days of dentistry a hickory plug was put into the cavity to fill the space where a tooth ought to be. This plug had to be gently pounded into its desired position. Old Judge Peckham was somewhat addicted to strong language, and when the dentist began his work the judge indulged in some classic comment. As the tapping of the plug continued he threw all dignity to the four winds of heaven, and his language became decidedly "more forcible than elegant." When, however, he arose from the chair, after what seemed to him an interminable period of agony, he pulled out all the stops in his vocabulary for a grand climax. The impression on his listener seems to have been deep and lasting. As the judge passed out the dentist grimly remarked to a

Wanted a Big "Bar'l."

A newspaper tells the story of a storekeeper in a country town who, after twice telling a young man that he had no "onions," reverted to the matter after the customer had gone. "I declare," he said, "I do' know but what it was ingans that feller wanted!"

A similar tale is told by a young woman who, being in search of a barrel to catch rain water, applied to the village innkeeper.

"Have you a hogshead that I could buy?" she said, with the careful enunciation that she had learned in childhood.

The innkeeper shook his head.

"Not any sort of hogshead?" she asked, with gentle persistence. "I thought you must have a good many."

"I wonder what set you thinking that?" said the landlord, looking as if he considered her demented. "I haven't kep' a single hog for ten years back, and when I did keep 'em I never had any call for their heads."

It was the young woman's turn to look horrified.

"Oh, I don't know anything about hogs' heads!" she said excitedly. "I want a hogshead, an old molasses hogshead or something."

The landlord looked at her, and light dawned at last.

"I believe you mean you want a hugshud," he said, smiling broadly. "You step this way and take your choice of what I've got."

A Very Funny Joke.

"The head of our firm had a trying experience one Fourth of July," said a commercial man. "He thought he would play a funny joke on his family, so a day or so before the holiday he bought one of those candy boxes made in imitation of a cannon firecracker. He secreted this in the pantry, where he thought it would be safe.

"But his little son, about eight years old, discovered the firecracker and also discovered that it was filled with candy. He helped himself to the contents and finally, finding the box empty, he made way with it and substituted a real cannon cracker.

"Fourth of July came and the head of the family, smiling broadly, came downstairs and placed his big firecracker in the middle of the breakfast table. Then, regardless of his wife's expostulations, he touched a match to the fuse, never thinking but what it was the candy box on the table.

"His son and heir astutely vanished from the scene about this time. In about thirty seconds there was an explosion that wrecked a once happy breakfast table, and one hour later the worst spanked boy in Detroit had sobbingly confessed to an irate father why the joke had failed."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

It Ought To.

McKnub—I see a French scientist is advocating the wearing of wooden clothes. How do you think a wooden suit would look? Sleeth—Rather knobby.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

It is better to be able to appreciate the things we cannot have than to have things we are unable to appreciate.—Anon.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Let the boastful man have his own way. He won't listen to you anyway.

The only way to tell a love story, after all, is in kindness and good cooking.

It is too late to congratulate some people after they have been married as long as a week.

A great many people have consciences that would require an alarm clock to wake up.

Artificial roses never appear to so poor an advantage as when they bloom on a girl's cheeks.

Come to think of it, if you hate any one don't you hate his laugh more than anything else about him?

A pessimist is one who sees the time ahead when he will break with a friend and therefore tells the friend nothing. An optimist sees only eternal friendship and tells the friend all.—Atchison Globe.

New Burglar Trap.

A Paris burglar was caught in the act of leaving a house with his spoil owing to a musical album, which formed part of the stolen goods, starting to play the "Marseillaise" and thus rousing the inmates.

A River of Wine.

Casks holding 320,000 pints of wine exploded in a wine vault at Quiller, Switzerland, the wine flowing in torrents down the street.

Scotch and Irish.

As illustrating a difference in characteristics it is officially noted that twice as many people in Scotland as in Ireland choose to go to prison for minor offenses rather than pay a fine. In Ireland they pay the fine.

The Creamery For Ice Cream.

The creamery industry in Maryland is in some respects quite different from that found in the west, inasmuch as most of those in this state do not confine themselves to the making of butter, but make butter only as a means of utilizing surplus and sell most of their products as cream or ice cream. The selling of the products of creameries for cream and ice cream rather than the making of it into butter has enabled the farmer to realize better prices than would be obtained otherwise. Some creameries of the state that have made all of their products into butter have been run quite successfully, while many have been a disappointment to the farmers and could not hold their patronage because of the low prices paid for milk.—C. T. Doane.

Feeding Plantation Mules.

The ration now fed to mules at one of the large Louisiana sugar factories consists of eight pounds of corn and cob meal, two pounds of cottonseed meal, eleven pounds of molasses and fifteen pounds of pea vine hay, the cost being 14.5 cents per head. It is stated that this ration has diminished the cost of feeding the mules one-half and at the same time improved their health.

The Era of Noise.

What an age of noise this is! Do you know any single human being who is capable of being silent for an hour at a stretch? I know two, and I value them according to their rarity. Not only does everybody talk, but almost everybody talks loud. I went into a shop the other day, and the clatter of conversation sounded as though the place were full of people. Yet all the noise was produced by three individuals. Why should they shout?—London Truth.

The Classes In England.

In England the upper class gambles, but does not drink; the middle class drinks, but does not gamble, and the lower class both drinks and gambles. It is a characteristic circumstance that the upper class makes laws to prevent the lower class from gambling and that the lower class is in favor of legislation to prevent the upper class from drinking.

Great Inducements.

Gyer—Fitzem, the clothier, is advertising a silk umbrella with each twenty dollar overcoat he sells. Mrs. Gyer—That's nothing. Bloom, the florist, is giving away the earth with each plant he sells.—Chicago News.

Papa's Own Idea.

She—Darling, we must elope. He—But surely your father has no objections to— She—None whatever. He suggested it, in fact. He says it will be cheaper.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Wild Animals.

Zoologists say that all known species of wild animals are gradually decreasing in size.

Trees In Iceland.

Iceland seems to be hardly as destitute of trees as some suppose, an old idea being that it possesses only a single tree. An investigation shows that the island really contains woods having various trees of considerable size and that the climate is not unfavorable to tree growth.

Cheese Sellers of France.

In France a cheese seller is as familiar a sight on city streets as a fruit man is in our cities.

Lincoln's Retort to Douglas.

Douglas, meeting Lincoln on one occasion during the exciting campaign of 1860, made a characteristically unpleasant remark, saying:

"Why, Abe, I remember you when you were nothing but a young clerk in a little western town, peddling out goods at retail and selling liquor over the counter."

"Yes," answered Lincoln, "the only difference between you and me was that I was on one side of the counter and you were on the other."

Beef Tea!

This story was told by an old physician who had practiced for nearly fifty years in a small country town. One day he was summoned to a farmhouse, where he found a woman in a high fever and evidently exceedingly ill. He said to her husband, who was the only other person in the house:

"Your wife is very sick and must have nothing to eat except milk and beef tea, but I want you to give her a cup of one or the other every two hours." When he came the next morning and asked about his patient her husband said:

"That beef tea don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't. She began to feel bad as soon as she took it."

"That's odd," said the doctor. "You didn't give her any little bits of the meat in it, did you?"

"No, sir; I strained it first on account of the grounds."

"Grounds!" roared the doctor. "What did you make that beef tea out of?"

"Corn beef and the best green tea. I boiled 'em together all yesterday afternoon to get the strength out. But it don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't."

The Gain From Others.

A man is strong in proportion to the quantity, the quality and the variety of forces which he absorbs from others. He is a power in proportion to the extent of his contact—socially, mentally and morally—with his kind and a weakling just in proportion as he cuts himself off from others.—Success.

After the Defalcation.

Junior Partner—I never suspected him at all. Senior Partner—Neither did I, although it did seem a little singular to me that he should be able to pay $2,000 a year rent out of a salary of $1,500.—New York Press.

No man will be found who does not sometimes hope or fear beyond the limits of sober probability.—Johnson.

Your Watch Is a Compass.

"Most men who own a good watch," said a jeweler, "think they know all about it. They have the number fixed in their memory in case it is stolen. They could probably pick it out from fifty other watches with their eyes shut. But how many men know that their watch is a compass and will tell north from south as accurately as it will tell the time of day? Stanley, the explorer, did not know it until he had groped his way through the dark continent and met a Belgian sailor on the coast. Every watch is a compass. If you point the hour hand to the sun, the south is exactly halfway between the hour and the figure XII on the dial. Suppose, for instance, it is 4 o'clock. Point the hand indicating 4 to the sun and II on the watch is exactly south. If it is 8 o'clock, point the hand indicating 8 to the sun and the figure X on the dial is due south. No man need get lost if he carries a watch."

The Suburban Home.

The suburban house expresses freedom from restraint; it is the home of children; it means purer air; it means more room to move around in; it means gardens, and it implies a social life which years of city living may never engender. These are matters of first importance, and when to them is added the material advantage of lower rents the superiority of the suburban house over the city dwelling is established. There are long rides by trolley or train; there is the necessity of keeping early hours; there are difficulties with limited grocery, butcher and bakery service; there are other practical drawbacks. But over and beyond these is the abiding space of freedom of movement, of ample air and sunlight, of a place to live in.

And that is exactly what a house is for. It is neither to look at nor to serve as an ornament to a highway. That it should be ornamental and should be viewed with interest are matters of course that are extremely desirable, but after all it is the house within that counts; that makes suburban life bearable, adds to its joys, increases its advantages, cements its superiority to every other sort of living unless it be the country life pure and undefiled.—House Beautiful.

Hidden Water Supply.

The investigation of a neglected spring or rivulet may bring to light a valuable supply of water for gardening or domestic purposes. A surprising quantity is often obtainable by installing a ram at some seemingly insignificant source. A ram is cheap, because the first expense is the last, there being no cost of maintenance, and it is satisfactory, because the ram requires no attention. Once started, it takes entire care of itself.—Country Life In America.

Twenty Shots In His Head.

At the present time there is a keeper on a Hertfordshire estate who has about twenty shots in his head. Nearly thirty years ago this man was accidentally shot by an under keeper, and there were twenty-two holes in the hat he wore, which is preserved to this day. The injured man never had the shots extracted, was long between life and death and completely lost his hearing.—London Standard.

Qualified Approval.

"How did you like the opera?"

"First rate," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I didn't care much about the tunes they played, but it was a great comfort to have enough noise to drown the vacuous conversation that was going on around me."—Washington Star.

A [illegible]

Mr. Critick—Miss Arts tells me the [illegible]

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored

LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee.

Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

3 DONT'S
- Don't boil it too long.
- Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving.
- Don't use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)
(Lion-head on every package.)
(Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

SUNSHINE ALL THE TIME

In California. Arrange your winter trip via "Northern Pacific-Shasta" Route, the scenic way to winter resort points. Ask about the advantages of the Northern Pacific service. Rates are low. Ask your local agent about them. Superb trains and excellent service via

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

Great Trans-continental Highway

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY

A. M. CLELAND, Gen'l Passenger Agent, St. Paul.

F. A. MIZEN, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Where Flowers Bloom The Year Around

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY

TO CALIFORNIA
VIA THE
Great Northern Railway
"THE COMFORTABLE WAY"
New Observation Compartment Cars.

For detailed information address
J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

S. S Minnesota sails for the Orient NOV. 8.

Burlington Route

Chicago! Day or Night

By day—the scenic Express, leaving Minneapolis at 7:30 a. m., St. Paul at 8:20 a. m. Cafe-parlor car, with observation platform, chair car and coaches thro to Chicago. Fine for fall travel along the majestic Mississippi.
By night—the electric lighted Chicago Limited, one of the world's famous and finest trains.

Before you definitely plan your trip, write

F. M. RUGG, Northwestern Passenger Agent,
Germania Life Building St. PAUL.

Ayer's Pills Act directly on the liver. They cure constipation, [illegible]

Want your moustache or beard [illegible] BUCKINGHAM'S DYE

Your Heart

May Be Weak. One Person in Four Has a Weak Heart.

One of the surest signs of a weak heart is shortness of breath after exercise.

Your heart is not able to pump the blood fast enough to your lungs.

Some of the other symptoms of Heart Trouble are: Pains in the Side, Back and Shoulder; Fainting or Weak Spells; Dry Cough; Swelling of Feet and Ankles; Cold Feet or Hands.

No one can afford to allow a weak heart to go without medicine, because weak heart means poor circulation, and poor circulation means weak lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, etc.

If, therefore, you suspect heart trouble, begin taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. The Heart Cure will do you good, as it is a splendid tonic for the blood and nerves, and will revitalize your entire system.

Finally, remember, Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold under a guarantee that the first bottle will do you good.

If it doesn't—your money back.

"I was afflicted with heart trouble for three years. I would be apparently all right, and without a moment's warning would fall as though shot. The attacks were frequent, and a terrible dread possessed me, as I never knew when or where, nor under what conditions I would be attacked, and whether I would survive them. I consulted and was treated by some of the most eminent physicians of the state. Not finding relief from this source, I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and began to improve at once. I used ten bottles, which entirely cured me, as I have not had an attack for five years."—MRS. JOHN DRESBACK, Leipsic, O.

FREE Write to us for Free Trial Package of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, the New Scientific Remedy for Pain. Also Symptom Blank. Our Specialist will diagnose your case, tell you what is wrong, and how to right it, Free. DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., LABORATORIES, ELKHART, IND.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

TIME CARD —OF— TRAINS. RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND

No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at........ 7:45 am

SOUTH-BOUND

No. 156—Departs........ 6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.

Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.

A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

F. A. MIZEN, Agent.

McMURRAY'S VANILLA

WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

St. Benedict's Academy.......

ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.

A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

Don't Grind YOUR LIFE AWAY

Become a demonstrator and earn $5.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working overtime. Act today.

COLONIAL SUPPLY CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

WELL DIGGING ...

I will dig wells by the day, foot or job and guarantee satisfaction on every job. Repairing a specility. I now devote my entire attention to this work. Leave orders at Courier office.

A. O. LETVIG, Wylie, Minnesota.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.

Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

PLUMMER.

(From the Pioneer.)

Joseph Helm and F. E. Hunt were out from Red Lake Falls Monday to look after some business interests in this vicinity.

Carl Sorenson of Garnes, returned yesterday from Starbuck, Manitoba where he has been working at carpenter work since last spring.

Martin and Alfred Johnson arrived home on Thursday night from Red Lake where they have been engaged all summer raising sunken logs.

Will McAnulty was up yesterday from Terribone to look over the work on ditch No. 22 with a possible view to taking a sub-contract on the job.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Scheldrup returned from Grand Forks where Mrs. Scheldrup has been taking a course of medical treatment.

Paul I. D. Ostby returned yesterday from North Dakota where he has been working at his trade as stone mason and threshing during the past few months.

John Lynch of Equality, was here Tuesday on his way home from Langdon, N. D., near weere he has been working for about four weeks harvesting and threshing.

Anton Peterson of Garnes, threshed his wheat the first of the week and found a yield of a little over 21 bushels per acre. The grade of the grain will be about No. 3,

Percy Taggart's cow got in front of the south bound freight train on Tuesday evening and was deposited in the ditch in a helpless condition. Percy couldnt move her so he made up his mind to let her stay there for a while. He devoted a good deal of his thought to the animal over night and on Wednesday morning went to explain his ideas to the cow. She met him with a limp and an overgrown calf-like smile and 'lowed as how she'd go home and behave in the future.

Indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, kidney and liver disorders, and all stomach troubles positively cured by using Hollister's Rockey Mountain Tea. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.

H, H, Finrow, Wm, Lauritzon and Chas. W. Latta, made a trip to Erskine on Wednesday, Mr. Lauritzon went to see the creamery down there and the town, while the others represented the village of Plummer to investigate a fire pump which the village of Erskine had for sale. They found the pump and some other supplies to be all right and purchased same for the village of Plummer. The appliances will be shipped in as soon as a place can be prepared for them.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal conditton, heaaing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co. Sold by druggists, 75c. Toledo, O. Take Halls Family Pills for constipation.

California or Florida.

It is time to plan your winter vacation. Early arrangements secure the best accommodations. Choice of routes via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway to Californir or to Florida, combined with low rates, make the trip to either resort a most attractive one. A postal will bring complete information about rates, train service and resorts, free and by return mail. Address W. B. Dixon, N. W. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Enquire at the Big Store.

NOTICE OF EXPIRATION ON ABSOLUTE PROPERTY BID IN BY THE STATE.

NO. 53

In Whose Name Assessed	Description of Land			Years Tax Levied	Amt Sold for to State	Date Sold to Purchaser	Amount Sold for to Purchaser	Amount required to redeem at date of notice.
	Addition or Subd.	Lot.	Blk.			Mo Day Year
Carl Wedmer	Original townsite of Thief River Falls.	1	5	1897 1898 1899 1900 1901 1902 1903 1904	$2.08	June 28, 1905	$24.59	$25.37

Office Of COUNTY AUDITOR.
RED LAKE COUNTY, MINN.

To CARL WEDMER,

You are hereby notified on the 6th. day of May, A. D. 1901, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate judgment, which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Red Lake in the 14th Judicial District in the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March A. D. 1901, the above described piece or parcel of land situated in Red Lake County, State of Minnesota was bid into the state to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgement, interest and costs, for the above named sum; that the above described real estate has become and now is the Absolute Property of the State.

That on above stated date the above described real estate was sold by the County Auditor of Red Lake County, as directed by the State Auditor in accordance with Section 101 of Chapter II of General Statutes of 1878 and the several acts amendatory thereto, for the sum above stated; that the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from such sale at the date of this notice, exclusive of the costs to accrue on this notice is the amount above stated, with interest at the rate of twelve percent per annum on the amount paid by the purchaser from said above date until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of said piece or parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice, and proof thereof has been filed in the office of the County Auditor of this county.

Witness my hand and official seal third day of October A. D. [illegible]

[illegible]
County Auditor.

(SEAL)

ST. HILAIRE.

Mrs. O. F. Post has the appendicitis.

Henry Enderle was over from Plummer last Sunday.

Miss Katherine Pirath visited her parents at Red Lake Falls over Friday night.

County Superintendent McAnulty has been visiting the schools in this vicinity the past week.

Mrs. Fred Case left last Thursday for Canada. Mr. Case will join her as soon as the mill closes.

Mrs. Jens Nelson entertained her cousin, Mrs. Robert Monroe of Thief River Falls, the past week.

Rev, Barker shipped his household goods to Menabga Tuesday where he will preach the coming year.

R. J. McKircher, who has been in North Dakota the past summer, has returned to spend the winter here.

Miss Clara Hoff returned Friday from Thief River Falls, where she had been visiting friends for a few days.

Saturday evening the Swedish Mission held an auction sale at the church, and it was a social and financial success.

Mr, and Mrs. Geo. L. Austin entertained Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Barker and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gilman at dinner Sunday.

Mrs. J. M. Makinson, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. B. O'Brien, returned to her home in St. Paul last Tuesday.

Mrs. R. H. Aimer, who has been confined to her home for several days threatened with an attack of typhoid, is improving.

Joel G. Winkjer was in town several days the past week inspecting the creamery and starting some herd records for state statistics.

The Swiss Entertainers closed their three nights' engagement at the Imperial hall Saturday evening. They had fair-sized audiences.

W. B. Martin and family left Saturday for St. Paul, where they will make their home. During their stay here Mr. and Mrs. Martin have made many friends who regret to see them leave.

A Prominent Trainman.

The many friends of G. H. Hansan, Engineer L. E. & W. R. R., at present living in Lima, O., will be pleased to know of his recovery from threatened kidney disease. He says: "I was cured by using Foley's Kidney Cure which I recommend to all people. Sold by A. L. Reichert.

The funeral of James F. McAndress took place on Thursday from the Catholic church and interment was made in St. Bernard's cemetery at Thief River Falls. Several non-resident relatives were here to attend the funeral.

Presidential election make no change.

No matter which candidate is elected Foleys Honey and Tar will remain the peoples favorite remedy for coughs, colds, and incipient consumption. It cures colds quickly and prevents pneumonia. A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foleys Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me.—A. L. Reichart.

Mrs. H. D. Pettibone and family expect to leave for Chicago Tuesday. Mr. Pettibone has opened his office there and the family expect to make that place their home. Their many friends here regret their departure but wish them happiness in their new home.

Consumptives made Comfortable.

Incipient consumption is cured by Foleys Honey and Tar, but we do not hold out false hopes to consumptive by claiming that it will cure this dread disease in the advanced stages; but if the lungs are not too far gone Foleys Honey and Tar will effect a cure, as it stops the racking cough and soothes the inflamed air passages giving them a chance to heal, and even in the advanced stages it always gives comfort and relief. A. A. Herren, of Finch, Ark., writes "Foleys Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages.—A. L. Reichert.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Poison Made Body Luminous.

At the inquest of a man who died at the London Hospital recently from swallowing rat poison it developed that the whole of his body was luminous in the dark. The rat poison contained phosphorus.

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It is a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn out by the pains and poisons of dyspepsia, billiousness, Bright's disease and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your symptoms, but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. Here you will find sure and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, [illegible]

Poor Effort at Translation.

The English papers have lately been having fun with a new German-English and English-German dictionary. The best example of the work is said to be the translation of our word "gimcrack." According to the London Daily Chronicle four meanings have been given for this word, which, when translated back into English, are: "The handsome girl," "the bad machine," "the ordinary handshake," and "a magician."

Full of Tragic Meaning

are these lines from J. H. Simmons, of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough, that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases; prevents grip and pneumonia. At all druggist; guaranteed; 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

An Uncivilized View.

"Aren't you ashamed to be placed in the attitude of protecting those brigands?"

"Well," answered the Bulgarian official, "politics is politics with me. Those brigands are the people who have the money nowadays."—Washington Star.

New Cure For Cancer.

All surface cancers are now known to be curable, by Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Jas. Walters, of Duffield, Va., writes: "I had a cancer on my lip for years, that seemed incurable, till Bucklen's Arnica Salve hoaled it, and now it is perfectly well." Guaranteed cure for cuts and burns. 25c at all drug stores.

Man With the Gun.

The man with the gun has his inning. There are as many men promoted from the ranks in the regular army this year or from civil life as used to be given commissions from the academy at West Point. It is a noble profession if nobly carried out, and black marks on the list are few.

Order for Hearing Proof on Claims, etc.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss
County of Red Lake, }

IN PROBATE COURT
Special Term October 3, 1905

In the matter of the Estate of Cyprien Asselin, deceased.

Letters of Testamentary of the estate of Cyprien Asselin, deceased, late of the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, being granted to Cleophas Asselin and Onezime Asselin.

It is Ordered, That three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date of this order, in which all persons having claims or demands against the said deceased are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said County, for examination and allowance, or be forever barred.

It is Furthered Ordered, That the 3rd day of January, 1906, at ten o'clock A. M., at a Special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the Probate Office in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County, be and the same hereby is appointed as the time and place when and where the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And it is further ordered, that notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, the 3rd day of October A. D. 1905.

By the Court,
N. W. TARRENT,
[seal] Judge of Probate.

Summons.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Red Lake, }

In District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

Berget Stolass, plaintiff, vs. Anna O. Anderson, formerly Anna O. Skaali, and Ludvig Anderson, her husband, and E. G. Skaali, defendants.

SUMMONS.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants:

You and each of you are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which said complaint has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint upon the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, Polk county, Minnesota, within twenty days after the service of this Summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated September 18th, 1905.

E. O. HAGEN,
Attorney for plaintiff,
Crookston, Minnesota.
821-026 Rooms 10, 11, 27, Wallace Blk

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Chapter 2, General Laws 1902.

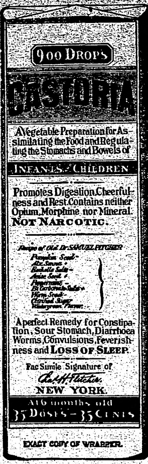
Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the County Auditor in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land sold for taxes in Red Lake county to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Chapter Two (2) General Laws of Minnesota, 1902, and amendments thereof, will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the highest price offered therefor, which shall not be less than the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs charged against it. Immediate payment to the County Treasurer is required. The sale will begin at the time and place named above and continue from day to day until every tract or parcel shall have been offered for sale. The County Auditor of Red Lake county is hereby authorized and directed to conduct sale. A list of said real property is now on file in the offices of the County Auditor and State Auditor.

Dated St. Paul, Minn., September 30th, 1905.

S. G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Section 1616, General Statute Minnesota 1894.

Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at two o'clock in the afternoon at the office of the county auditor, in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land, sold for taxes, in Red Lake county, to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Section 1616, General Statutes of Minnesota 1894, and amendments thereof will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the highest price offered therefor, which shall not be less than the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs due thereon, unless such amount exceeds the actual value of the property. [illegible]



900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS POULTRY FISH GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

Boiling Water in a Reservoir

It's something that's hard to do when the reservoir is on the right hand side because it's too far from the fire, takes too much fuel to do it. But, when the reservoir is right next to the fire pot, it's a mighty easy job and don't take much fuel either. Then on the Majestic we have a lever that by turning throws the reservoir away from the fire so that there is never any danger of the water boiling all away and spoiling your reservoir.

If you are going to need a range, don't look too much at the price, the Majestic is not the cheapest, but the least expensive.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS

Popular Hardware Dealers

RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA

Salvation for Women in Nu-tri-ola

THE world is full of sick women who might be well. Poor, pale, suffering Martyrs! Blood so poor that every vital organ, nerve center, even the brain cells, are starved and lose their force. Their sufferings from Dyspepsia, Headache, Kidney Trouble, Dragging or Bearing Down Pains, Leucorrhœa, Nervous Prostration, etc., etc., the victim and God alone may know. Listen to our

EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.

Emancipation from the power of disease, suffering and death. Be it known to women everywhere that NUTRIOLA, the new Blood and Nerve Food, will make the frailest woman "NEW ALL OVER." This statement is backed by $500,000.00 Capital Stock and the largest Medical Company in the world. WE GUARANTEE A PERFECT CURE or ask no pay. We employ the most skilled Physicians in the United States. THEIR SERVICES ARE FREE. FREE CHEMICAL ANALYSIS. In short, the benefit of all their skill and NOT A CENT TO PAY for it. We are curing thousands, treating by mail. Every case confidential.

READ THIS, YE SUFFERING WOMEN!

NUTRIOLA COMPANY—Gentlemen: I had been an invalid for over 10 years. KIDNEY TROUBLE had caused such a weakness in my back that I was unable to work standing up. Then disease peculiar to my sex fastened upon me and my life became one round of UNENDING TORTURE, such as only one afflicted as I have been can know. To stand upon my feet for five minutes was a torture unspeakable. The terrible DRAGGING DOWN SENSATION would send such a feeling to my brain as to impair my vision and drive me almost insane. Nervous Headache was my constant visitant, and the slightest noise would drive me almost wild. The doctors told me I could never get well. I learned of NUTRIOLA and applied for treatment. As a result I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH. From [illegible] pounds I increased in weight to [illegible] pounds. I have never seen a sick day since. I now weigh [illegible] pounds. I would not be back again where I was before I took NUTRIOLA for all the wealth of the world. May God bless you in your efforts to help suffering humanity. Your grateful servant, MRS. JANE A. WEBBER.

Detailed testimonials in "Fountain of Life." It's Free.

Mrs. Jane A. Webber

Book on Female Diseases, Illustrated, filled with secrets you ought to know, FREE in plain envelope.

NU-TRI-OLA Costs 3 Cents a Day. [illegible] treatment.

THE NUTRIOLA COMPANY, [illegible] W. Madison St., Chicago, Ills.

For Sale by All Druggists

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

A modern school, [illegible]

HOW A FRIENDSHIP GREW

The Story

Whether Hand Sapolio got a more enthusiastic welcome in homes where Sapolio was an old and tried friend, or where it was a stranger, is a question. Where women had come to rely on Sapolio for rapid, thorough cleaning in every part of the house except the laundry, they commenced without loss of time, to avail of this new prize. Grubby little hands, and stained, work-worn older ones, whitened, softened, and smoothed out as if by magic, callous spots disappeared, and complexions cleared. Children ceased their strenuous objections to the scrubbing up process, because it became a pleasure. It freshened up the hands after dish-washing, removing the most disagreeable feature of that necessary task. It was found to keep delicate baby skins from chafing better than salve or powder, and the crowning note in the song of delight came when an adult member of the family used it in a full bath, and realized that a Turkish Bath at a cost of one dollar was outdone by a small fraction of the little, ten-cent, velvety cake.

Do you want a clear and healthy Skin?

But, strange though it may seem, there were people who had not learned to prize Sapolio. To these the advertising of Hand Sapolio came as a surprise. Sapolio, a scouring soap, adapted for the hands, the face, the general toilet? Impossible, it would be horrid. Who ever heard of such a use? Finally a bold shopper carried home a cake. Does it look like kitchen Sapolio? No one is sure, and a cake of that is bought, and comparison made. Behold a family using both the Sapolios for every conceivable purpose, and comparing notes! After easily and quickly cleansing a greasy pan with Sapolio, Jane thought the other would be gritty, and was astonished at the smooth, dainty lather. Another was certain it would harden the hands and could scarcely realize how soft and "comfy" they felt after the washing.

Then began the excitement of adventure; what would the new soap NOT do? A girl tried a shampoo. Her hair, pretty, soft and silky "went up" perfectly, with none of the unmanageableness that generally exists for a full week after the usual process. A man used the delightful lather for shaving, and felt no need for cold cream afterwards. A pimply face was treated to a daily bathing with the full suds, and promptly became clear. Tartar on the teeth yielded to it, and feet that had a tendency towards hardening of the skin regained their natural condition, till another family had joined the chorus of friendly acclaim. And so it is everywhere, those who know the "elder brother" welcome the newcomer, for the sake of the first known, and those who meet both for the first time are plunged into a whimsical worry as to which they could better spare if they had to make a choice.

THE FIRST STEP away from self-respect is lack of care in personal cleanliness; the first move in building up a proper pride in man, woman, or child is a visit to the bathtub. You can't be healthy, or pretty, or even good, unless you are clean. Use HAND SAPOLIO. It pleases everyone.

THE DISTRICT SCHOOL OF SPOTLESS TOWN

CLASS IN ALGEBRA

Let housewife equal X plus E;
Let E the sign for Sapolio be;
For dirt let minus X be had;
Then all these symbols we will add.
The X and minus X drop out
(As anyone can see no doubt)
And leave what must the housewife please—
The happy symbol we call ease.

$$\begin{array}{r} X+E \\ E \\ -X \\ \hline EE \end{array}$$

WHY TAKE DAINTY CARE of your mouth and neglect your pores, the myriad mouths of your skin? HAND SAPOLIO does not gloss them over, or chemically dissolve their health-giving oils, yet clears them thoroughly by a method of its own.

TRY HAND SAPOLIO. Its steady use will keep the hands of any busy woman as white, untanned and pretty as if she was under the constant care of a city manicure. It is truly "The Dainty Woman's Friend," in the suburbs or on the farm.

Those ugly dark brown streaks on the neck, arising from tight collars, and the line where the sunburn stops, can be wiped out by the velvety lather of HAND SAPOLIO. It is, indeed, "The Dainty Woman's Friend."

NEW JOB FOR THE AUTO MADE.

The Man Who Looks After Collisions Between Devil Wagons and Trolleys.

There is one man in the employ of the New York City Street Railway company whose duties might seem a round of pleasure to some automobile enthusiasts.

It is his business whenever word is received of a collision of one of the company's cars with an automobile to jump into the machine provided for him, hasten to the scene of the accident and inform himself as to the extent of the damages suffered by the injured devil wagon, so as to be able to testify in the company's behalf if suit is brought by the owner.

Motormen must have the automobile habit, for he is kept pretty busy, though he exercises other and subsidiary functions in the company's service.

As Represented.

Boarder—Look here, you told me if I took that room I'd sleep like a top. I was turning all night.

Landlady—Well, don't tops turn?—

Storekeepers and Hotelkeepers Should investigate acetylene gas. Write "Acetylene Jones" to-day.

The religion that cannot stand camping out had better be left at home in the ice box.

The average woman can hit the nail on the head more successfully with an argument than with a hammer.

When a man economizes, he buys fewer clothes; when a woman economizes she buys less to eat.

She'd Fix the Dipper.

At the sand piles in Central Park a little girl had a dipper of water with which she wet the sand and built marvelous things. The water in the dipper was drawn into its hollow hands, according to the habit of dippers, and, overbalancing the bowl, tipped it over. When this had gone on at intervals of nearly an hour, the little girl got angry. She sat up and put the dipper down hard. Then she said threateningly:

"If you do that again, dipper, I'll cut your tail off and make a basin of you."

Throwing Away Good Money.

"I see that a comparatively rich New Yorker recently sold his wife to a wealthy banker for $5,000."

"Of course that was an exorbitant price for a wife of the salable sort."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In some Hindoo temples the collection is made by an elephant, who goes round with a basket. No one, it is said, has ever ventured to feign unconsciousness when the basket came in his vicinity.

THIN BLOOD—WEAK NERVES

One Follows the Other, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Quickly Cure Both.

The steady use of a particular set of muscles tends to chronic fatigue, which produces faulty or difficult motion, trembling, cramps and even paralysis. Writers, telegraphers, tailors and seamstresses are among the classes most threatened in this way with the loss of their power to earn a living. The following instance shows that nerve power may be recovered after it seems entirely lost, if the right means are taken. Mrs. O. S. Blacksten, of No. 584 North Bowman street, Mansfield, Ohio, says:—

"For years my hands would become so numb at times that I would drop anything I attempted to lift. Later they became so bad that I could not sew any longer, and at last I could scarcely do anything at all with my hands. At night the pricking sensations would come on worse than ever, and my hands and arms would pain so that I dreaded to go to bed. My family doctor gave me some nerve tablets. They helped me a little, but only for a short time after I had taken them and if I happened to be without them for a day or two I would be as bad as ever or even worse. Finally I got a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began to take them.

"The result was surprising. By the time I had taken the last pill in my first box I could see a gain. Thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I am now all right. I can sleep undisturbed by pain, and for two years I have been as well as ever."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills feed the nerves by making new, rich blood and in this way have cured nervous diseases of every description from simple restlessness to paralysis. They have banished the tortures of neuralgia, the weakness of nervous prostration, the disability and awful pain of locomotor ataxia. They are sold by all druggists or direct by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Cause of Failure in Poultry Raising.

The man that generally fails in poultry raising is the novice, who begins the raising of poultry on account of the glowing accounts he has seen of the ease with which it is done, and the enormous profits to be made. Millions of men have figured themselves rich on chickens. It merely requires a knowledge of the science of numbers. If a hen lays a hundred eggs a year and fifty of the chickens are pullets, and they in turn lay a hundred eggs a year, it takes but a little while to figure out enormous returns from a small investment. The unfortunate thing about the problem is that things do not work out in practice as they do on paper. With the beginner in poultry raising ignorance is the first obstacle, but with many it proves to be so large an obstacle that the attempt to raise poultry is not continued. To successfully raise poultry requires a large amount of knowledge, which must be acquired partly by experience.—Julia Smith, Cook Co., Ill.

Winter Eggs Profitable.

Winter eggs are far more profitable than eggs produced in the spring or summer. This is due to several reasons. One is that there are fewer eggs produced in the winter, and they are higher on that account. Another factor is that eggs are more uniformly good in the winter, and there is a larger demand for them, especially in hotels, restaurants and railroad trains. People that travel more generally call for eggs in the winter than in the summer. The cost of producing the winter egg is not much greater than the cost of producing the summer egg, because in the winter the hens have to be kept and fed whether they are laying or not; and this winter cost of keeping has to be charged against the production of the summer egg if the hen produces eggs only in the summer. Every farmer should therefore try to secure most of his eggs in the winter season.—Mary Pickering, Elkhart Co., Ind., in Farmers' Review.

Culls.

Culls are birds that are taken out of the flock for various reasons. The cull is not always a poor bird. It depends on the reason for the culling. One man that is breeding birds for exhibition culls out all that lack symmetry of form. In so doing he takes out all the birds that have been laying for a long time, especially if they are large producers of eggs. Laying to a large extent destroys the symmetry of the body of the bird. In this case the culls may be first-class layers. They may be more valuable to the general farmer than the show birds that take large prizes. Another man culls out the hens that are poor layers, though sometimes some of these culls are birds of fine form and feather. The farmer that lives near a fancier can pick out a fowl now and then at a low price, yet of high quality for his purposes.

Tonic for Exhibition Fowls.

Whether or not it is profitable to feed tonics to fowls at any time may be doubted, but we know that some exhibitors of fowls do feed them these tonics to keep up their stamina during their long days of confinement while on the road for exhibition purposes. There are many combinations that are made, but some of them use the following: Two ounces of carbonate of iron, some pulverized gentian root, a little black antimony, some mandrake, ginger, flower of sulphur and powdered charcoal, with half a pound of bicarbonate of soda. These are mixed thoroughly, and one teaspoonful of the mixture is stirred into each quart of soft food given the fowls. We cannot recommend this from personal use, but it may be as valuable as the users think it is.

Time to Buy Young Stock.

October and November are the best months in which to buy stock, especially for the purchase of birds that are to be used in exhibitions. At this time of year most of the spring birds are becoming mature, and they have not lost their plumage through laying nor the beauty of their plumage through moulting. With a little judicious feeding these birds may be made successful exhibition birds, but another year they would be sadly out of form and feather.

Exhibition Coops.

Many of our readers at this time of year are making coops for the exhibition of fowls. The usual size now in favor is 28 inches long, 18 inches wide, and 20 inches high. The length extends from the front of the coop to the back rather than from side to side. This makes it possible to place a larger number of fowls in the same row and makes it easier to keep drafts off the birds.

Parafining the Fowls.

In a recent show, visited by the writer, he noticed some birds whose legs were highly polished. As there was no indication of any coloring matter in the application of any [illegible] inquired of the show [illegible]

To make Cheap Gas-light for Country Homes

TAKE a common Clay Pipe.

Put a simple "Acetylene" Gasburner on its stem.

Bind the two in position with a tight-fitting piece of Rubber Hose.

Then fill the bowl of the pipe with fine-ground Calcium Carbide.

Next tie a rag over head of the bowl to keep in the Carbide.

Now put the pipe into a Glass of Water, as in picture.

There you have a complete Gas-plant for 25 cents.

Touch a match to the Burner—and you'll get a beautiful White Gas-light.

Of course, this is only an experiment, but it shows the wonderful simplicity of Acetylene Lighting.

That very simplicity gave Acetylene Light a setback, at first.

It seemed so simple to turn Calcium Carbide into Gas-light that over 600 different kinds of "tanks" and "Acetylene Machines" were invented, patented, and marketed for the purpose, by about as many different people.

Well, the thing to be expected certainly happened!

About 530 of these "Acetylene Machines" had been invented and sold by people who knew more about Tinware than they did about Gas-making.

The "Calcium Carbide" was all right all the time, but 530 of the machines for turning it into Gas were all wrong all the time.

So Acetylene Gas "got a bad name," though it is clear enough now that it never deserved it at any time.

It was like selling Wood Stoves to burn Hard Coal in, and then blaming the Coal for not burning.

* * *

Lots of things happened to grieve the Owners of these 530 makes of alleged "Acetylene Machines."

But very few accidents occurred from them even in the days of rank experiment and dense ignorance, among "Generator" Makers.

Of course, a gun will go off unexpectedly, now and then, if the trigger be pulled by a person who "didn't know it was loaded."

But, that's no fault of the Ammunition—is it?

Well, finally the Insurance Companies got after these 530 odd makes of "Acetylene Machines" that wouldn't Acetylate, and the Insurance Board made an investigation of all Generators that were submitted to them.

Then, out of the 600 odd "Machines" patented, only about 70 were "permitted" by the Insurance Board to be used.

Oh, what a howl was there!

By "permitted" I mean that the Insurance Board was willing that any building should be Insured, without extra charge, which used any one of these 70 Acetylene Generators it had found safe, and effective, just as it permitted houses to be piped for City Gas, or wired for Electricity, under proper conditions.

Now, the Insurance Companies ought to know whether or not these 70 different makes of Acetylene Generators were absolutely Safe to use.

Because they have to pay the bills, if Fire or Explosion occurs, from any one of the Acetylene Generators they authorize.

And, here's a proof of their good judgment.

Though there are now Two Million people using Acetylene Light in America, there have only been four Fires from it in one year, against 8865 Fires from Kerosene and Gasoline.

There have also been 4691 Fires from Electricity, 1707 Fires from City Gas, and 520 Fires from Candles.

Besides these there have been 26 Fires from the Sun's rays. But,—only four Fires from Acetylene.

That shows how careful the Insurance Board was in its examination of Acetylene Generators, and in "permitting" only the 70 makes that were above suspicion, out of the 600 experiments that were once on the market.

* * *

Well,—the boom in Acetylene Lighting made lower prices possible on the material it is derived from, viz., Calcium Carbide, a material that looks like Granite but acts like Magic.

Today, Acetylene Light is a full third cheaper than Kerosene Light, or Gasoline Light, per Candle Power.

It is not more than half the price of Electric Light, nor three-fourths that of City Gas.

If I can't prove these statements to your full satisfaction my name is not "Acetylene Jones."

But Acetylene is more than the safest and cheapest Light of the year 1905.

It is also the Whitest Light—the nearest to natural Sunlight in health-giving Blue and Violet rays, and because of this, with its freedom from flicker, it is the easiest of all Artificial Light on the Eyes.

It is so much like real Sunlight that it has made plants grow 24 hours per day in dark cellars where no ray of Sunlight could reach them. It made them grow twice as fast as similar plants that had only the Sunlight of day-time, viz., half the time.

That was proven by Cornell University in a three-months' experiment made this very year.

* * *

Now, I've saved up for the last a point more important to you than all the others about Acetylene Light.

It consumes only one-fourth as much of the vital Oxygen from the Air of Living rooms or bed-rooms, as either Kerosene or City Gas-Light consumes.

That's a tremendous difference in a lifetime, mark you—three-fourths of a difference.

Because,—Oxygen is Life.

And every bit of Oxygen stolen from the lungs of Women, Children and Men, through Lighting, is a loss that can never be made good again.

A 24 Candle-Power Acetylene Light costs you only two-fifths of a cent per hour.

That's about $5.85 per year, if burned every night in the year for four steady hours.

A Kerosene Lamp of equal capacity would cost you a third more, viz.: three-fifths of a cent per hour for Kerosene alone, or $8.75 per year.

That's exclusive of broken lamp chimneys, new wicks, and the everlasting drudgery and danger of cleaning, filling and trimming daily.

I want to prove these figures to you, Reader, if you are a house-owner or storekeeper.

Tell me how many rooms you've got and I'll tell you what it will cost to light them with brilliant, beautiful, Sanitary, eye-saving Acetylene.

Write me today for my Free Book about "Sunlight on Tap."

Just address me here as—

"Acetylene Jones,"
8 Adams St.,
Chicago, Ills.

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson, patent lawyers, 911-912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn. Fredrik Anderson, Red Wing, Minn., dental matrix; Henry G. Becker, Grand Rapids, Minn., pen guide; Adam Bishman, Otisco, Minn., traction gang plow; Clarence W. Carter, Minneapolis, Minn., concrete building block; George Curtis, Big Timber, Mont., hay stacker; Charles Grosser, Minneapolis, Minn., level; Joseph Lambrix, Minneapolis, Minn., boiler.

Easy.

She—How do you know that you want to marry me?

He—Because I love you.

She—How do you know that you love me?

He—Because I want to marry you.—

Ask Your Dealer for Allen's Foot-Ease A powder. It rests the feet. Cures Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating Feet and Ingrowing Nails. At all Druggists and Shoe stores, 25 cents. Accept no substitute. Sample mailed FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

A Neglected Opportunity.

Dr. Cutler—So you made a wrong diagnosis of the case of that patient?

Dr. McSawley—Yes. I thought he was an ordinary business man, but he turned out to be a millionaire.—Puck.

"Acetylene Jones."

See his advertisement in this paper and write him to-day for free booklet.

Faith does not fatten on fog.

Asserting Her Supremacy.

"Yes, she's ordered all the papers made over again."

"What was the trouble?"

"Why, her husband, by mistake, signed his name on the top line and she had to sign under him."—

FITS permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for FREE $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ltd., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Very Kind.

Papa (severely)—I hear you have been a naughty little girl to-day. What have you to say for yourself?

Daughter (aged five, brightly)—Oh, I'm not insulted!—Judge.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

$16 AN ACRE

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

In Western Canada is the amount many farmers will realize from their wheat crop this year.

25 Bushels to the Acre Will be the Average Yield of Wheat.

The land that this was grown on cost many of the farmers absolutely nothing, while those who wished to add to the 160 acres the Government grants, can buy land adjoining at from $6 to $10 an acre.

Climate splendid, school convenient, railways close at hand, taxes low.

Send for pamphlet "20th Century Canada" and full particulars regarding rates, etc., to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to the following authorized Canadian Government Agent—Charles Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, North Dakota. (Mention this paper.)

ALL ABOUT CUBA.

Reliable information about Cuba sent free. We can get you a low rate to Cuba. We will have an excursion to Cuba first part of November. Write at once.

THE CUBAN LAND CO.,
200 Torrey Bldg., Duluth, Minn.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

PRICE, 25 Cts.

TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY ANTI-GRIPINE

ANTI-GRIPINE IS GUARANTEED TO CURE GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

I won't sell Anti-Gripine to a dealer who won't Guarantee It. Call for your MONEY BACK IF IT DON'T CURE. F. W. Diemer, M. D., Manufacturer, Springfield, Mo.

HE ATTENDS TO BUSINESS who goes straight to work to cure Hurts, Sprains, Bruises by the use of St. Jacobs Oil and saves time, money and gets rid of misery quickly. Price, 25c. and 50c.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

[illegible]

CALUMET
Baking Powder

The only high grade Baking Powder sold at a moderate price. Complies with the pure food laws of all states.

Trust Baking Powders sell for 45 or 50 cents per pound and may be identified by this exorbitant price. They are a menace to public health, as food prepared from them contains large quantities of Rochelle salts, a dangerous cathartic drug.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

THE Republicans seem to have concluded to bury the hatchet—in each other.

IT is a wise policy holder who knows what becomes of the premiums.

THE "simple life" should certainly appeal to the economical man. It's cheap.

THERE is a senatorial election in 1907 and Knute Nelson is beginning to sit up and take notice.

THIS is the time of year when the ice man disappears and the coal man claims a share of your attention.

THE week's weather has made the storm doors and windows rest very uneasily in their snug summer quarters.

FROM the appearance of the New York Life family tree it would seem that an insurance company pay roll covers a multitude of sons.

19

WILL some knowing one ad-Vance a prediction as to the name of the lucky Chap slated for private secretary when Governor Block gets in harness?

MR. ROCKEFELLER is right when he says that getting money is not the best part of life. Any millionaire editor will assure you that spending money is a whole lot more fun.

THE Princeton Union hits the nail squarely on the head and drives it home when it says that the business of the merchant that advertises judiciously is never seriously encroached upon by the mail order houses.

LOOK up your real estate taxes carefully. All lands in Red Lake county on which taxes are delinquent for three years will be sold at the auditor's office November 4. The county auditor has a complete list of these lands.

HARVEY W. GRIMMER, of St. Cloud, has been selected by Governor Johnson as executive clerk to succeed Cleve W. VanDyke, who resigned the position Saturday to become manager of a mining company in Arizona. Mr. Grimmer was for several years political editor of the St. Paul Globe and did splendid service during the campaign last year.

Ayer's

Doctors first prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral over 60 years ago. They use it today more than ever. They rely upon it for colds, coughs, bronchitis, consumption. They will tell you how it heals inflamed lungs.

Cherry Pectoral

"I had a very bad cough for three years. Then I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. My sore lungs were soon healed and my cough dropped away."
MRS. PEARL HYDE, Guthrie Centre, Ia.

25c., 50c., $1.00. All druggists. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for
Old Coughs

[illegible] Ayer's Pills at bedtime insure [illegible] next morning.

SAM JONES once said: "If a man should come to me to haul logs with a team made up of a mule, a billy goat, a bumble bee and a skunk, I'd think he was crazy, but the average preacher has just such a team as that in his congregation to help him—a kicker, a butter, a stinger and a stinker. He may get his load to heaven but will never get his team in."

IT is pretty hard to have weather that suits everybody. The Oshkosh Northwestern makes some comment along this line and says; "Some of the merchants are inclined to complain that trade is being hampered by the fine weather lasting so late in the fall. At the same time tt is well to remember that this kind of weather means additional dollars in the pockets of the farmers, and when the latter do etart out to make their fall purchases business will thrive."

JUDGE START, of the supreme court who is a member of the state pardoning board, does not believe in making a distinction between embezzlement and stealing. He says embezzlement is the worse form of stealing, and adds "if a trusted employee steals a few thousand it is called embezzlement and he is pitied, but if he has no friends and takes a few dollars, it is called stealing and no one comes to ask his pardon. If a man is educated and in good surroundings, where he has all the comforts he needs, so much greater is the crime."

IF you have a lot of time on your hands try this. Go down to one of the elevators with an ordinary checker board and undertake to put a grain of wheat on the first square, two on the second, four on the third, etc, and see how many grains would be used before all the sixty-four squares are filled. It does not seem possible, but a Kansas City mathematician figured it out not long since at 9,223,371,385,654 bushels allowing 1,000,000 grains to the bushel, or as much wheat as the United States would produce at its present rate, in 18,446 years. If you doubt the figures just try it for yourself.

THE Chicago Record-Herald says "if insurance company officials who mis-use the funds which are placed in their care as trustees and who falsify their company's books escape unpunished the policy holder of the country might as well surrender their policies for what they can get and quit. This is a critical moment in the history of American insurance and, indeed, in all fiduciary finance. It is the moment when the standards of right and wrong are to be set. It is the moment when a tradition is to be established as to whether those standards are merely formalities or genuine rules of conduct which must be obeyed."

THE corporations find that, under the administration of Gov. Johnson, things are not as they used to be, says the Fairmont Sentinel. On Saturday the State Board of Equalization, by a unanimous vote, the Governor, Attorney General and State Auditor being present, added $2,891,895 to the assessments of four corporations, to-wit: Twin City Rapid Transit Co., $2,220,000; St. Paul Gas Light Co., $325,675; Minneapolis Gas Co., $211,000; Minneapolis Gas and Electric Co., $125,220. The board will endeavor to make the trusts, the beef trust, the Standard Oil trust, and other corporations pay their portion of the public burden.

S. P. DAVIS, comptroller and insurance commissioner of Nevada, [illegible] revoked the license of the New York Life Insurance company in that state. Mr. Davis sent to President McCall the following telegram: "Pending the investigation of the corrupt management and fraudulent disposal of funds entrusted to your company, and so long as George W. Perkins and yourself retain offices of trust in the management of the New York Life Insurance company, the license to do business in the state of Nevada is hereby revoked. Upon advice of a change of management, and satisfactory proof of honest management the license will be reissued. A notice has been forwarded throughout the state warning all agents of the fact of the order and giving the agents two weeks to close the records."

THE Walker Pilot thinks it hardly fair for the Republicans to collect the insurance money because of the death of the Democratic party last fall.

BEMIDJI is said to have a prospect of having its blessings doubled by the addition of another daily newspaper. There is always a possibility of getting too many good things, though, for Bemidji isn't large enough to support two dailies, and the Pioneer seems to be filling whatever long felt want is apparent.

FORFEITED TAX SALE HELD ON NOVEMBER 4

The forfeited tax sale will be held at the auditor's office on November 4, as advertised elsewhere in the COURIER. The total amount of taxes delinquent at this sale is nearly $25,000, and nearly all of it is on outlying lots in Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire. In Red Lake Falls 3,600 descriptions will be offered for sale, in Thief River Falls 840 descriptions and in St. Hilaire 100 descriptions. It is hardly necessary to say that the greater part of this property is not worth the taxes and probably no bids will be offered on the most of it. The state auditor's instructions are that none of the property can be sold at a less sum than the taxes, interest and costs, and the state will probably wait a long time for the money due it.

ST. HILAIRE CREAMERY GIVEN A DIPLOMA

St. Hilaire Spectator: The St. Hilaire creamery this week received a diploma signed by Governor Johnson for the excellent display made at the recent September scoring contest for butter at St. Paul. The butter displayed was given a mark of 94 per cent. The creamery is still doing a good business and no week so far has fallen under 40 tubs, or about 2,500 pounds a week. This is a busy time of the year and farmers do not like to come in with cream but still they are doing remarkably well.

Got Over the Line.

Warren Sheaf: Paul Ernest, of Thief River Falls, and John Wenzel of Crookston, were arrested by a game warden for shooting in another county without a license, and were brought before justice Keenan. They were fined $25 and costs each, and also had their guns confiscated. They had shot only one single, solitary duck, and were not allowed to keep that, although it was a very expendsive one.

For Your Protection

we place this label on every package of Scott's Emulsion. The man with a fish on his back is our trade-mark, and it is a guarantee that Scott's Emulsion will do all that is claimed for it. Nothing better for lung, throat or bronchial troubles in infant or adult. Scott's Emulsion is one of the greatest flesh builders known to the medical world. [illegible]

LAST CALL FOR REAL ESTATE TAX PAYMENT

The date for payment of the last half of the 1904 real estate taxes is drawing near and people who do not wish to pay the 10 per cent penalty should keep this fact in mimd and make preparations accordingly. The first half of the tax must be paid on or before June first, and the last half on or before November first. County Treasurer Hansen informs us that a good many people are now taking their receipts for the final payment. He also states that it will be a great convenience to him and will save time for the tax payers, if they will present their first receipts when they call to make the second payment. Some are not familiar with their description of their lands and this is liable to lead to delay and even to failure to pay on some tracts, and consequent advertising of the same in the delinquent tax list next winter. It is not a good plan to put off payment until the last day of the month as there is always a rush at that time. By deferring payment until the last miuute there is also a possibility that something may prevent paymect on the last date and it is therefore a good plan to pay at once.

Cigarettes and School Students.

The fact that quite a number of school students are daily to be seen smoking cigars and cigarettes it might be well to call the attention of dealers, as well as the minors who are inclined to use the weed, to the provisions of the state law. The law provides that any person who sells, gives or in any way furnishes cigarettes to any minor pupil in any school or college is liable to a fine of $50 or imprisnment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days. The law further provides that any person under the age of 18 years, or any minor pupil of any school or college who shall use cigaretts, cigars or tobacco in any form on any public street or highway, park or other public lands, is liable to a fine of not more than $10 or imprisonment for five days in the county jail.

Lost: On Sunday last on the graded road south of town, a bundle containing a silk waist partly made. Finder please leave at the Courier office. Josephine Cartur.

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.'s North'n Pacific Elevator Open

❧

Our Elevator at the Northern Pacific Depot is now open and ready for business with Frank La Bissoniere as agent, who will buy all kinds of grain at highest market prices. FLOUR and FEED for sale.

❧

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.

RED LAKE FALLS FOLKS CALL ON ST. HILAIRE

A jolly party of folks, young and old—of course the latter designation applies only to the men of the party—attended a dancing party at St. Hilaire Monday evening, and everybody votes the affair one of "the affairs of their lives." Those present—unless some of the names are inadvertently missed—were J. B. Armstrong and wife, Mrs. E. F. Marshall, Misses Pauline Nieland, Melvina Allard, Lillian Buse, Ida Lemieux, Etta Garceau, Henrietta Zaiser, Effie Hamry, Iza Tibbetts, Margaret Kaus, Eliza Trudeau, Stella and Gertrude Hennemuth, and Messrs. H. H. Zaiser, J. L. Tracy, Omer Hall, John E. King, Harry, Leland, Verne and Ralph Healy, Roy Blake, Sullivan Hall, Albert LaFreniere and Orson Doe. Good music was furnished and lunch was served at the popular Hotel Arthur.

Shot Too Many Ducks.

Warren Sheaf: M. W. Bullock, of Thief River Falls, was brought to this city Monday by a game warden and before justic Keenan charged with having 130 ducks in his possion, while the law allows only 50. The case will be tried in district court, and in the mean time the defendant is out on $500 bail. Greeley E. Carr, of Thief River Falls, appeared for defendant.

Need of Rubber.

Cultivation seems to offer the best prospect for keeping up the supply of rubber in the future. It is true that there have been some unfortunate undertakings in cultivating rubber, but that this can be accomplished has been pretty well demonstrated, and it is to be hoped that the work will be taken up energetically and in a sound business way at once. There is a greater need for this, as it appears that the production of rubber has passed its limit and is now decreasing. We all need Golden Grain Belt Beer to keep ourselves in the most healthy condition. Serve it regularly with your meals. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

The Courier for stationery.

TIME GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West		Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar. 7:35 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:00 A. M.	Crookston	6:45 P. M.
8:50 A. M.	Dugdale	6:00 P. M.
9:25 A. M.	Red Lake Falls	5:25 P. M.
9:55 A. M.	St. Hilaire	4:55 P. M.
10:20 A. M.	Thief River	4:30 P. M.
10:40 A. M.	Steiner	4:05 P. M.
11:03 A. M.	Sandridge	3:52 P. M.
11:30 A. M.	Middle River	3:32 P. M.
11:55 P. M.	Strathcoma	3:57 P. M.
12:25 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv. 2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from
J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Keep Warm and Keep Cool

It's easy enough to KEEP WARM with a good Fur, but it's another thing to KEEP COOL in buying your Fur at a price meritful of style and quality. Take one of our Furs home, take one from another store, look them over, pull the fur out of them and see yourself why the

:...LANPHER FURS...:

SELL ON NAME and RE-SELL ON QUALITY—made since 1876.

PRICES TO GET BUSINESS	Black Belgian Fur Boas, 50c Polaris Blacks, wide back, warm, $1.00 and $1.50 Chenille-trimmed Beavers, $5.50 to $8.00 Fox Furs—our best efforts shown here; anything up to $24; excellent values at $18.59; regular $21 fur

Your Coat may be here; one you may like. Drop in, try it on, see how well it fits; take it home and see if it isn't worth every cent we ask for it. Snappy and stylish, at $5.50, $8.50 and $12.50

We boomed our Dress Goods trade this fall. Values did it, good values. Velvets are becoming and selling; good choice left. Changeable Velvets only 60c per yd. Crushed Silk Velvets only $1.00 per yd. Gloves and Trimmings to match.

THE BUSY STORE

[illegible]

ROYAL

The Absolutely Pure

Baking Powder

Made of Cream of Tartar, and Free From Alum or Phosphatic Acid

Royal Baking Powder renders bread, biscuit, cake and all flour foods finer and more healthful.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Baking powders made from alum, phosphates and other harsh, caustic acids are lower in price, but they are injurious to the stomach.

"The injurious effect of alum on the mucous coat of the stomach is positive and beyond dispute; it is both an irritant and an astringent. The use of alum in any article of food or article used in the preparation of food should be prohibited."

JOHN C. WISE, M.D., Medical Inspector, U. S. Navy.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Stoves and fuel are in strong demand this week.

Miss Dora Marchand is reported to be quite ill this week.

Swan Aakenson was a passenger for Crookston last evening.

A. P. Hanson, the Fertile banker, was a business visitor to the city Tuesday.

Found—mouthpiece for a horn. Owner can have same by calling at COURIER office.

Jesse LaBree and wife were down from Thief River Monday to visit at the Tarrant home.

L. T. Bergh, the St. Hilaire land man, was down Friday on business at the court house.

F. J. Parker was up from Marshall the latter part of the week with a party of land men.

The young folks held a delightful dancing party at the K. of P. hall Friday evening.

K. J. Taralseth, one of the leading merchants and old settlers of Warren, died last Saturday of paralysis.

The editor came up from St. Paul Monday morning to look after business matters for a week or ten days.

Ralph Wyer left Minneapolis Sunday night for Toronto, Ont., where he will engage in his new work at once.

Unclaimed letters are at the postoffice for Ester Nelson, Anthony Kern, L. R. Ricker and Rev. C. A. Cook.

Mrs. E. H. Draper of Thief River Falls was a guest at the home of Ovide Emard several days of this week.

Wanted—a girl for general housework in a small family. Scandinavian preferred. Apply to COURIER office.

Adelard Lemieux returned Monday morning from a two weeks, visit with friends and relatives at Grand Forks.

The new vault in the office of County Auditor Ford is nearly completed and will be ready for use in a few days.

Miss Cora Hanson of Fertile visited over Sunday with her sister, Miss Ella Hanson, principal of the high school.

A game of foot ball between Red Lake Falls and Crookston is scheduled at the latter place on Friday, November 3.

Mrs. William Zaiser went to Grand Forks last night, having been called by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Adams.

W. W. Prichard, cashier of the First National Bank of Thief River Falls, was a visitor to the city over Monday night.

Mrs. M. M. McLaughlin of Rock Rapids, Iowa, arrived yesterday to attend the bedside of her father, L. A. Dautremont.

James I. Wyer came up yesterday from Excelsior to assist at the First State Bank. He expects to remain for several weeks.

Mesdames Charles Schuster and Chris Porter of Thief River Falls were guests of Judge Tarrant and wife over Sunday.

Mrs. Otto Kankel of Fertile is visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Hennemuth, and her cousin, Mrs. B. Zaiser this week.

Mrs. Con Short and her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Walker, were in from Equality Monday and Tuesday visiting friends and buying supplies.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

The Wesley piano, a strictly high-grade instrument, endorsed by leading musicians and a piano of the highest merit, for sale by Anderson & Wander.

Exerie Chatel returned Monday from North Dakota, where he has just finished a large grading contract for the Great Northern on one of the new branch lines.

The first snow of the season put in an appearance Monday night. Over an inch of the "beautiful" fell, although the most of it had disappeared by the next morning.

Mrs. Samuel Allard and family left Tuesday morning for East Grand Forks, where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Allard is employed there in electrical work.

Mrs. S. M. Sivertson will serve lunch at the Presbyterian church parlors on Wednesday. October 25, from 4 to 6 p. m., for the benefit of the church. All are cordially invited.

The infant daughter of Thomas Germo and wife has recovered from a light attack of scarlet fever, and the quarantine was raised last week. There are no other cases in the vicinity.

Lew Adams, formerly a Red Lake Falls barber, passed through town Tuesday evening enroute from Thief River to Grand Forks, where he is employed in one of the leading barber shops.

We note by a number of exchanges that a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. LaFreniere last week. Mr. LaFreniere is editor of the Grand Rapids Independent and a former Red Lake Falls boy.

E. P. Murphy, representing the A. F. Benke company of St. Paul, was a guest of Judge N. W. Tarrant over Sunday. Mr. Murphy is an old Wisconsin friend of the Judge, and is married to a sister of Mr. Tarrant's brother's wife.

William Ittner, the Red Lake Falls representative on the Minnesota foot ball team, played a great game Saturday in the Minnesota-Ames match. Four of the touch-downs made are credited to him! The final score of the game was 46 to 0.

Mrs. B. Zaiser has sold her residence property to William Zaiser, taking in the latter's residence as part of the purchase price. Mrs. Zaizer and family have rented the Rue house on north Main street, and will live there during the winter.

Emil Hennings went to Minneapolis last week to consult a specialist with regard to his eyes. His sight has been failing for some time, and it is feared that he will be obliged to give up his work as a watchmaker and jeweler unless relief is found.

The Great Northern work train, which has been stationed here for the past month, was taken to Crookston Tuesday night. It is thought the condition of the track here has been much improved, and that there will be little further trouble this fall and winter.

The Red Lake Falls Milling company this week announces the opening of their Northern Pacific elevator, with Francois LaBissoniere in charge. The highest market price for all kinds of grain will be paid, and flour and feed is kept for sale and exchange.

Desire Grenier, son of a prominent Red Lake county farmer, Frank Grenier, died Monday evening of consumption, after an illness extending over a period of nearly a year. The funeral was held yesterday forenoon from St. Joseph's church, Rev. Father Fayolle officiating.

E. E. Sugden arrived yesterday to take charge of the Courier's job rooms. Mr. Sugden is counted one of the best printers in southern Minnesota, and with the COURIER's splendid equipment of type and material we are sure he can please the taste of the most fastidious.

R. H. Green, one of the most prominent and popular farmers of the eastern part of the county, was in from Equality Tuesday on business. Mr. Green says that crops out his way are the best in the history of that section and that the farmers are going to realize a profit from their year's work.

Grand Rapids Independent: Rev. Andrew Walker of the Presbyterian church, left yesterday to attend the meeting of the Duluth presbytery at Duluth. Mr. Walker recently handed in his resignation for the church at this place, but it was not accepted, and it is probable that he will return next year.

Hon. E. Mark, of Princeton, one of the prominent members of the last legislature, passed through Red Lake Falls Tuesday night, enroute from Thief River Falls to Staples. Mr. Mark owns stores at several towns in the northern part of the state, and has been looking after them the past few weeks.

The Thief River high school foot ball game will be here Saturday for a game with the local high school eleven. This will be the first game for the Thief River club, and although they claim to have a surprise in store, there seems to be little apprehension on the part of our boys as to the outcome.

Noel Delorme was quite seriously ill Tuesday and Wednesday, and for a few hours Tuesday afternoon his condition was extremely critical. He was attacked with a siege of internal bleeding and before the flow of blood could be checked he was almost exhausted. At present he is recovering, although still very weak.

J. E. Bray, who is now operating a hotel and saloon at Calgary, Assiniaboi, returned to Red Lake Falls Saturday to move his family to their new home. Mr. Bray says business is good in western Canada, and that he has prospects of making lots of money there. Calgary is a city of about 15,000 people and growing rapidly.

H. Fant, proprietor of the Thief River Falls Telephone exchange, was in the city over Monday night visiting friends and looking after business matters. Mr. Fant says he has 257 'phones on his local system, and that he is extending the long distance lines to a number of the new towns in his vicinity this fall.

Three new grand jury cases will be determined at the November term of court. C. A. McKenzie of Thief River is held for larceny, his offense being the forgery of a check for a small amount; "Kid" Lemieux of Thief River is charged wit[illegible]ape, and Dolphis Beausoliel, an old offender from Red Lake Falls, [illegible]held for adultery.

The October term of the district court will convene next Tuesday, but only the court cases will be heard this month. All of the jury cases have been continued until November 13, and the juries will not be summoned until then, in order to give the farmers a chance to get as much work as possible done while the good weather lasts.

J. P. Harren was called to St. Cloud Monday evening by a telegram announcing the death of his mother, Mrs. Lena Harren. Mrs. Harren died very suddenly of heart disease, and she was about 66 years of age. The funeral was held Tuesday forenoon from the German Catholic church. Mr. Harren will be gone until Saturday.

August Krueger has sold his dray line to Alphonse Roi, and expects to leave in the near future for one of the new towns in North Dakota to embark in the harness busines. August's many friends will be sorry to learn that he and his family are to leave Red Lake Falls, but will hope that all kinds of prosperity will come to them in their new home.

Arthur LaPlante expects to leave Saturday with his family for North Yakima, Wash., where they will make their home. Mr. LaPlante says there are at least a hundred former Red Lake county people in the vicinity of Yakima, and that most of them are doing well. He expects to go into business of some kind out there in the near future.

The big foot ball game of the year is the match between Minnesota and Wisconsin at Minneapolis November 4. The Red Lake Falls people take especial interest in the Minnesota club this year because of the fact that William Ittner, one of our home boys, is a member of the team. It is likely that fully twenty-five people from here will go down for the game.

The new Washington school building on the north side is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy by November 1. The building is thoroughly modern and most conveniently arranged. Teachers and pupils, who have occupying rooms at the north side opera house during the construction of the new building will be glad to get in their new quarters.

"Malleable Ranges"

The Even Bakers. The Fuel Savers.

"THE MALLEABLE"
TRADE MARK
FIRE ALL YOUR MALL ALL YOUR IT'S NON-BREAK STEEL—MALLE ABLE.

ARE you going to buy a STEEL RANGE?

If so, be sure to come and see the "MALLEABLE.

It costs a little more in the first place but is a lot cheaper in the end. It is made throughout of malleable iron and steel so that the first cost is the only cost. The reason that it take less fuel than the old cast iron cook stove is that it is riveted together like a boiler making every joint absolutely air tight.

Then the Malleable is very easily cleaned, its exterior is of Polished Steel, not of black painted iron. Surfaces all perfectly smooth, no corners to catch the dirt or grease.

We fit all the Malleables with 'Portable Flush Reservoirs' on the right side. These reservoirs are made of copper and hold 15 gallons, almost half a barrel.

We would be pleased to have you call and look the "MALLEABLE over, and

Get a Malleable Cook Book FREE!

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878. Gen'l Hardware

Don't buy a Cloak

Without Seeing Our Line.

The Palmer GARMENT

You don't have to Pay any more for a PALMER COAT than you would for undependable garments.

$5.00 Up To $25.00 is the Range.

New Shirts!

Fine Line of Wilson Bro.'s Shirts at $1.00, the Best $1.00 shirt Made.

Fine Maroon Negligee Shirts only ONE DOLLAR.

Fine Lightweight Corduroy shirts Swell and Rakish at $3.00.

Blue Flannel shirts $1.25 to 2.50.

Satine Shirts, Special 50c.

The Best 50c. Fleece Lined Underwear in the city.

SPECIAL GROCERY LIST:

Cranberries 10c. per Qt. 12 1-2 Tomatoes 10c. 25c. Box Soap 10c. Smoking Tobacco 15c. per lb. 15c. Vermicelli at 10c. Dates 6c. Pears 10c. walnuts 15c. per lb.

The Big Store.

Verna Bernice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Kinseth, died this morning from kidney trouble. The funeral will be held tomorrow forenoon from the family residence. The little girl was two years and three months old, and an exceptionally bright and lovable child. The sympathy of the entire community will go out to Mr. and Mrs. Kindseth in their great affliction.

Crookston Times: Miss Lizzie Cyr, a sister of Mrs. Arthur Buckingham, who has spent several days in the city as a guest at the Buckingham home home, departed this morning for Red Lake Falls, where she has many friends and relatives with whom she will enjoy a pleasant visit during the coming week or more. Later on Miss Cyr will leave for North Yakima, Washington to make her home.

Chas. B. Dean, who has been looking after the business management of the COURIER for the past few weeks, left Tuesday evening for his home in Hector, Minn. Mr. Dean has a newspaper proposition in view in the southern part of the state, and was called home sooner than expected. Mr. Dean is a capable newspaper man and a most estimable gentleman. During his short stay here he made many friends among the people of the city.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

Merchants State Bank

Of Red Lake Falls.

Do You Know That the Merchants State Bank is a strictly home institution. All our officers and stockholders live in Red Lake Falls and have established the Merchants State Bank with their own money. We do a regular banking business in every department. There is no transaction too large for us to handle and none too small for us to give our attention.

Our Savings Dept. We would especially call your attention to our savings department. We have now on our books a large list of names of men, women, children who deposited with us, ranging from $100 to $200. These are saving accounts and are continually growing by adding to them the spare pennies, nickles and dimes. Don't put off any longer. Open a savings account with us. [illegible]

THE COURIER

JOHN E. KING, Pub.

Red Lake Falls, Minn

A "hopeful feeling" is reported from Wall street. The lambs must be straying back.

Of course the true answer to the question, "Why do men wear corsets?" is that men do not.

New York is to have an elegant new hotel, eighteen stories high—with prices, no doubt, to match.

Before we decide that the corset is not a good thing for men to wear, let us see how ——— looks in one.

"If you are well, don't talk about it," says an adviser of the people. Correct! And if you are sick, forget it!

A note announcing a suicide has been found in a bottle. The bottle contains the reason for many a suicide.

A contemporary asks, "What is a sweet girl?" Can't answer; wife is looking over shoulder.—New York Herald.

To the Occidental ear an animated conversation between an Austrian and a Hungarian sounds in itself like an overt act of war.

Tidings from Manchuria are rather meager. All the same, the two great armies are busy breaking camp and moving toward home.

Baron de Forest is said to contemplate founding an empire in the Sahara, though the desert is notoriously a bad place for Forests.

Now that the peace envoys have gone New Hampshire learns with pain that even a premature snowstorm does not draw attention its way.

"He that maketh haste to be rich," said Solomon, "shall not be innocent." Things do not seem to have changed much since Solomon's time.

Several members of the Cornell football squad have suffered sunstrokes. The hardships of college life are not to be lightly considered.

The per capita consumption of tea in England is six pounds a year—without prejudice to various other beverages that are strong favorites there.

Candidates are so called because they were originally clad in white. You wouldn't think it, to see the bunch that comes forth every year in politics.

Only two presidents of the United States have been married while in office, chiefly probably because so many of them were married before they got elected.

Love is now to be legally recognized in French marriages, under the revised code. Heretofore, it has usually developed later, and then with some other person.

It ought to be easy to decide the case of bigamy of John Grady, one of whose wives loves him and the other does not. Hand him over to the one who does not.

In spite of all the costly styles of garments shown at the dressmakers' convention the good husband will do his best to wear a straight and unwrinkled front.

St. Louis argues that a man who spends $25,000 a year ought to pay taxes. Not necessarily. We shouldn't have any money left for taxes after spending $25,000 a year.

When Envoy Witte completed his tour of New York he remarked: "Everywhere is advertising. All is advertising." Right you are, M. Witte! And just notice how it pays!

All the cats in Farmington, Mass., are to be killed on account of a diphtheria epidemic. Doubtless all the town mice are already inviting their country cousins to visit them.

Prof. de Martens of the late peace conference says that American girls are pretty, but American cooking is abominable. And yet they say that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach.

Mr. Carnegie offers half the cost of a laboratory at Smith, because he thinks that women should be up on biology. That they are up on buyology, observers at any of the bargain sales can testify.

The full-rigged ship from Parrsboro, N. S., bound for Buenos Ayres, that collided with a monster whale, must have greatly surprised the whale. The ship has put into Bahia for repairs. The whale has not reported yet.

An English judge has ordered a woman to pay for ducks' eggs that she got when she merely ordered eggs. Any old eggs are eggs, he says; they don't have to be manufactured by a hen. Would he insist that she pay for sparrows' eggs, or mosquitoes', for eggsample?

"She came into the professional field like a skylark at the age of twenty-four," writes the enthusiastic press agent of the prima donna. We don't think we should care about listening to a skylark at the age of 24.

The News of the Week

Washington.

Marlin J. Carter, United States consul at Yarmouth, N. S., died suddenly. He was 46 years old. His home was at Minersville, Pa.

It was decided at a cabinet meeting that the control of the Panama canal would continue to remain in the war department instead of being transferred to the state department.

The census bureau has issued a bulletin showing the production and distribution of the cotton of the United States available between Sept. 1, 1904, and Sept. 1, 1905, to be 13,597,782 bales.

The president has appointed Edward B. Kelley of South Dakota to be agent at the Rosebud Indian agency in that state, to succeed Charles E. McChesney, who has been appointed special agent of the Indian bureau.

Having reached the age limit of 64 years, Maj. Gen. George Morton Randall, commander of the northern division of the United States army, with headquarters in St. Louis, has retired from the command. He will be succeeded by Brig. Gen. John F. Weston.

Foreign.

Admiral Togo, with a squadron of the best ships in the Japanese navy, will visit European and American waters some time next year.

The Bourse Gazette of St. Petersburg announces that negotiations are in progress with American bankers to float a 500,000,000 rouble loan.

The Russian foreign office is engaged in drawing up the program for the second peace conference at The Hague. It is said that it will be eminently practical.

Several leases of houses on ground belonging to the crown recently have fallen in and been relet on terms showing the increasing value of property in London.

Prof. Behring will not even consider the reported American offer to pay him a large sum of money if he will make public his consumption cure. He will in no way be diverted from his chosen path.

There is an unprecedented boom in mushrooms this year in England. So abundant is the crop in some parts of East Norfolk that they are being mowed down with scythes to save the labor of hand picking.

The kaiser has ordered the preparation of a comprehensive work, richly illustrated, which will describe all those artistic objects for the existence of which he is directly responsible in architecture and painting.

The Japanese Times publishes news of a number of cases of embezzlement by Japanese naval officers, among which that of Paymaster Commander Takenouchi, financing naval constructor in England, has fled after embezzling $165,000.

The St. Petersburg police discovered in the outskirts of St. Petersburg a number of secret printing establishments which have been engaged in issuing revolutionary proclamations. As a result of the discovery forty arrests have been made.

Lord Inverclyde, chairman of the Cunard Steamship company, died at Castle Wemyss, Scotland. He had been ill for a month with pleuro-pneumonia. Lord Inverclyde's brother, James Cleland Burns, succeeds to the title. Lord Inverclyde was 44 years old.

Criminal.

Albert Lynn shot and fatally wounded his cousin, James Lynn, at Kalimazoo, Mich., after a quarrel over a young woman.

Judge A. G. Bradner committed suicide at his home in Kansas City by inhaling illuminating gas. He grieved over the death of his wife.

Frank Woods, alias "St. Louis Frank," was executed in the state prison at San Quentin, Cal., for the murder of Policeman Eugene Robinson in San Francisco three years ago.

During a fight over a woman at Evansville, Ind., in which both men used razors, Henderson Carter, a negro, was killed by James Battles, another negro. Battles is thought to be fatally wounded.

News has just reached Bainbridge, Ga., of the lynching of a negro, eight miles west, by a mob of his own race. The negro had assaulted a negro girl, and had attempted to assault another, who cut him in the breast.

Daniel J. Donnelly, a member of the Boston city council and formerly a member of the legislature, has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter. It is alleged that Patrick J. Grinley, a laborer, met his death as the result of an encounter with Donnelly.

A shortage of $250,000 has been found on the books of the Alamoosa, Cal., bank. Abraham Schiffer, part owner of the bank, whose disappearance caused an investigation, has not been located. Mr. Schiffer was last seen when he left that city, ostensibly for New York, a week ago.

John Carmody of Sioux City was fatally shot in the abdomen by Policeman Robert Carraher, who, with other officers, was called to quell a disturbance. The men put up a fierce fight and three policemen were hurt.

George M. Murray, colored, a former member of congress, was sentenced at Columbia, S. C., to serve three years in the penitentiary for forgery. Murray, who is reported to be quite wealthy, was charged with forging the name of an old negro to certain notes for land. At the time of his arrest Murray was released on [illegible] bond which it is thought will be forfeited.

Casualty.

Fireman George C. Krahmer fell from a Northwestern engine near Tama, Iowa, and was killed.

As a result of an attempt to light a fire with a can of coal oil, Mrs. Amanda Carlson, and Miss Esta Lawson, living a few miles out of Austin, Tex., were burned to death.

A west-bound freight train on the Rock Island was wrecked in the western part of Davenport, Iowa. Ray McCullough of Davenport, who was riding on the engine, was killed.

In a runaway accident near Ackley, Iowa, Agnes Ranz, daughter of a prominent farmer, jumped fro mthe buggy and broke her neck. Two brothers escaped with slight injuries. A dog scared the team.

A street car accident occurred near the village of Winooski, Vt., in which thirteen persons were injured, some of them seriously. A car carrying about fifty passengers crashed into a waiting car on a siding.

Ten men met instant death at the quarry of the Vermont Slate Co. at Granville, N. Y., when about 100 feet of the west bank crashed down without warning, burying the victims under hundreds of tons of slate and loose earth.

One workman was killed and five were perhaps fatally injured in an accident that occurred at the old county building at Chicago. A girder which was being raised to the roof was at the third floor when it gave way and fell to the ground, crushing the men beneath it.

Walter Palmer of Athens, Mich., was instantly killed, Chauffeur Blake of Kalamazoo was fatally injured and Mrs. Walter Palmer and her daughter Frances were badly bruised in an automobile accident. The automobile, while traveling at good speed, swerved out of the road into a marsh and capsized.

After falling into a Big Four gravel pit near Lawrenceburg, Ind., and breaking his neck, an Italian laborer, assisted by a friend, walked nearly a mile to his tent, holding his head in his hands the whole distance. Physicians found that the man's neck had been fractured at the fifth vertebrae and declared that the injuries will undoubtedly prove fatal.

Falling out of a second-story window at the home of Adam Luscavage at Minersville, Pa., a six-months-old baby escaped death as if by a miracle. A washerwoman was passing with a basket on her head. The baby tumbled into the basket and was unhurt, though the washerwoman was knocked down and driven almost into spasms by her fright.

Fire of unknown origin at Eldora, Iowa, destroyed the building and stock of the Koenman Drug company, and the building of Mrs. S. Lang, and badly damaged the new brick building of the Bank of Whitten at Whitten. There was no insurance on the bank or the Lang building. The insurance of the Koenman drug stock is $2,500. The total loss is about $5,000.

General.

With only one voice raised in opposition, the Republicans of Massachusetts in convention declared for a revision of the tariff.

Intense excitement exists in Lorain, Wis., over the discovery of gold. While digging a well on his farm in section 21, Charles Eggers discovered gold.

Maj. Gen. John R. Brooke, retired, was chosen commander-in-chief of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion by the members of the commandery-in-chief, at its annual meeting.

Suspended from all college privileges, even to visiting the grounds, for one year is the punishment dealt out to three sophomores at Columbia who have been convicted of hazing.

Dr. Abisha S. Hudson, aged 86 years died at Mount Vernon, Ohio. He choked to death on a fig. He founded Keokuk Medical college and has contributed much to medical science.

Isadore Wormser, the millionaire banker of New York, offered $100,000 reward for the conviction of a gang of men who recently assaulted Annie Thornton, a domestic employed in his household.

United States District Attorney Sullivan rendered an opinion holding that Annie Ballen, alias Nejdley, arrested at Cleveland by federal officials on the charge that she was a notorious anarchist, will be deported.

Dr. J. W. Ordway, a wealthy farmer and banker of Onawa, Iowa, died at Los Angeles as the result of worry over frequent attempts to rob him. During the last eight years he had been held up twelve times.

United States Marshal Flinn sold on the $45,000 judgment of Charles S. Hinchman, of Camden, N. J., the one-half interest of J. Edward Addicks in the personal property on his Riverside farm, two miles below Newcastle, Del. The sale netted only $510.

Mrs. Annie E. McKinley, widow of the late Abner McKinley, was married at Baltimore very privately to Capt. J. B. Allen of Tampa, Fla. So quietly was the ceremony performed that it was impossible to learn either where it took place or who was the officiating minister.

Skins of twenty-two frogs have been successfully grafted on the body of Ethel Teague, ten years old, of Salem, Mass., who was severely burned two weeks ago while playing with matches. The child's right thigh, right arm and side were badly burned. She is rapidly recovering.

LEFT TO DIE IN BURNING MINE

SIX MINERS IMPRISONED HALF A MILE BACK FROM THE ENTRY.

RESCUE WORK IS ABANDONED

BURNING COAL BAFFLES MEN IN ATTEMPT TO REACH HELPLESS MINERS.

MAY HAVE TO BE FLOODED

TWO HUNDRED MEN WERE IN THE MINE WHEN THE FIRE STARTED.

Fredericktown, Pa., Oct. 15.—Half a mile back from the entry six miners are imprisoned—perhaps dead—in the mine of the Clyde Coal company. The mine is on fire and attempts to rescue the entombed men have been abandoned. Two others were seriously burned in an explosion in the fan house following the breaking out of the fire in the mine, one of them so fearfully that he will not live. Nearly 200 men were in the mine when the fire started. Its exact origin is not known, but it is supposed that it was caused by a wire becoming short-circuited and igniting the brattice cloths which serve to create drafts by means of which the mine is kept free from four air.

All But Six Men Escaped.

As soon as it was discovered that some of the men had been left behind two rescue parties began efforts to reach them. Late last night the attempts to effect a rescue were abandoned as hopeless. The burning coal has baffled the men in every effort to reach the imprisoned miners, who are now almost certainly dead. It is believed that the only hope of extinguishing the fire is by flooding the mine.

NEGROES SINK WITH STEAMER.

Vessel Heavily Loaded With Freight Strikes Snag and Sinks.

Vicksburg, Miss., Oct. 15.—Heavily loaded with freight and with a crew of twenty-five men, the steamer Elk, while backing out from the city landing yesterday struck a snag and sunk in twenty-five feet of water. From five to ten negroes, roustabouts, were drowned, but the exact number will not be known for several days. The loss on the boat and cargo is estimated at $25,000; partly insured. The Elk is a local steamer which has been plying between this point and Davis Bend.

CAPTAIN OF LIFESAVERS OUT.

Fired as Termination of Bitter Quarrel With His Crew.

Ludington, Mich., Oct. 15. — Capt. Adam Weckler, for five years keeper of the Ludington lifesaving station, was dismissed yesterday. The keeper's discharge is the termination of a bitter quarrel between Capt. Weckler and his crew. Two months ago the seven surfmen resigned in a body, charging that they were not being treated fairly. An official investigation followed and Capt. Weckler's dismissal resulted. Public sympathy here is about equally divided.

NO RIVER BILL THIS YEAR.

Further Congressional Action on River and Harbors to Be Deferred.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The chief of engineers of the army will not make any estimates for river and harbor improvements this year to be submitted to congress, save for the continuing contracts which have been authorized by law. There will be no river and harbor bill at the coming session of congress, and the apportionment of the funds appropriated by the river and harbor bill last winter has been so made as to make it unnecessary to make additional appropriations for at least a year.

HOCK HEARING MONDAY.

State Files Brief of 265 Pages in Murder Case.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 15.—The state filed its brief yesterday in the Johann Hock murder case, and the argument is set for hearing by the supreme court Monday. Twenty-four points are set up in the briefs of the state, the most important of which is that the fact of a corpus delicti need not be directly proved, it being sufficient if it is established by circumstances so strong as to produce a moral certainty. The brief is a document of 265 pages of solid printed matter.

CAPT. TAGGART WINS.

Court Decides Divorce Case in His Favor.

Wooster, Ohio, Oct. 15.—Judge Eason, who heard the divorce case of Capt. Elmore F. Taggart against his wife, rendered his decision yesterday afternoon. The court grants Capt. Taggart the divorce and the custody of the two children, Culver, aged eleven, and Charles, aged seven. Although Mrs. Taggart is denied possession of the children she will be [illegible]

GORKY TALKS OF REVOLUTION.

Declares It Is Inevitable in Spite of Quietness.

Moscow, Oct. 15.—Voicing the sentiments of the extreme wing of the Russian reformers, Maxim Gorky yesterday expressed sincere sorrow at the death of Prince Troubetskoy as a man and a Russian, but declared that Russia had nothing to hope from the reported activities of such men as Prince Troubetskoy. He added:

"I regret Prince Troubetskoy as a frank, just and honest man, not as a representative of the Liberal party, which can never effect great reform in Russia. The ancestors of Troubetskoy, Galitzin and Golovin went hand in hand with imperialism. The taint is still in the blood. They are incapable of realizing their splendid opportunities to know and further the needs of the people. The revolution will come soon, like an avalanche, when least expected. The disorders at Moscow will perhaps cease temporarily, but will be resumed in a month or two with renewed force."

USE DIPLOMACY WITH CASTRO.

American Grievances May Be Settled, But France May Use Force.

Washington, Oct. 15. — American grievances against Venezuela may be settled by diplomacy, while France, in the absence of any diplomatic relations at Caracas, may yet be compelled to resort to a show of force. Despite the assurances of foreign office officials at Paris, it is stated here that the French ultimatum has been practically ready to dispatch for a week or more, and that France has the full assent of the Washington government to adopt an effective course of action against Venezuela to obtain the renewal of diplomatic relations and the restoration of French property seized by the Caracas government.

FRISCO MAN FOR BOARD.

Franklin K. Lane Probable Successor to Ex-Gov. Fifer of Illinois.

Washington, Oct. 15. — Having accepted the resignation of Former Gov. Fifer of Illinois as a member of the interstate commerce commission, the president has let it be understood that he expects to appoint as his successor a man from the Pacific coast. While no definite decision has yet been reached regarding the appointment, it is known that Franklin K. Lane of San Francisco is under serious consideration for the place. Mr. Lane is a well known lawyer, was one time the Democratic candidate for governor of California, and later for the mayoralty of San Francisco.

MEN AND BEASTS SUFFER.

Chicago Firemen Are Caught in Fall of Burning Barn.

Chicago, Oct. 15. — Twelve persons were injured, two probably fatally, a score of horses were burned to death, and property valued at $65,000 was destroyed in a fire that demolished the La Salle Avenue livery barn, La Salle avenue and Ohio street, last night. While the fire was at its heighe the roof and third floor collapsed and twelve firemen who were in the building were caught in the debris.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

St. Paul, Oct. 16. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 83@83 3-4c; No. 2 Northern, 79@81c; No. 3, 76@79c. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 49@50c. Oats—No. 3 white, 26 1-2@27c.

Duluth, Oct. 16. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 83 1-4c; No. 2 Northern, 80c; flax, 98 1-4c; rye, 64c.

Minneapolis, Oct. 16. — Wheat—No. 1 hard, 83 7-8c; No. 1 Northern, 88 3-8c; No. 2 Northern, 80 7-8c. Oats—No. 3 white, 26 1-2c.

Milwaukee, Oct. 16. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 86@88c; No. 2 Northern, 82 1-2@86c. Rye—No. 1, 69 @ 70c. Barley—No. 2, 54c. Oats—Standard, 29@30c.

Chicago, Oct. 16. — Wheat — No. 2 red, 87@88c; No. 2 hard, 85@87 1-2c; No. 3 hard, 83@86c; No. 1 Northern, 88@90c; No. 2 Northern, 85 @ 87c. Corn—No. 2, 53@53 1-2c. Oats—No. 2, 78@78 1-4c.

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 16.—Cattle—Beeves, $3.40 @ 5.75; cows, bulls and mixed, $2.25@3.70; stockers and feeders, $3@4; calves and yearlings, $2.50 @3.25. Hogs—Bulk, $5@5.05.

Chicago, Oct. 16. — Cattle—Good to prime steers, $3.70 @ 6.30; stockers and feeders, $2.40@4.45; cows, $2.50@4.50; heifers, $2.20@4.80; calves, $3@7. Hogs—Mixed and butchers, $5.05@5.52 1-2; bulk, $5.10 @ 5.50. Sheep—Good to choice wethers, $4.60@5; native lambs, $5.25 @ 7.25; Western lambs, $5.75@7.

South St. Paul, Oct. 16. — Cattle — Good to choice steers, $4.50 @ 5.50; good to choice cows and heifers, $3.50 @4; butcher bulls, $2.75@3.50; veals, $2@4.50; good to choice stock steers $2.50@3.50; good to choice milch cows, $20@35. Hogs — Range price, $4.80 @5.25; bulk, $5@5.10. Sheep—Good to choice lambs, $5@5.85; fair to good $4@5; good to choice yearling wethers, $4.50@5.50; good to choice ewes, $3.75@4.40.

NEW ELECTRIC ROAD.

Service to Be Opened Between Marshalltown and Charles City.

Charles City, Iowa, Oct. 15. — Surveyors are engaged in running a line for a new interurban electric road from here to Marshalltown, in which Charles City capitalists are interested. The line will be surveyed south to Clarksville, and from thence to Parkersburg and Grundy Center. The surveying party is composed mostly of students at Ames college [illegible]

COSTLY FIRE AT PORTLAND FAIR

MISSOURI STATE BUILDING AND CONTENTS ARE DESTROYED.

MAY HAVE BEEN INCENDIARY

SECRET SERVICE MEN WORKING ON THEORY THAT FIRE WAS INCENDIARY.

COSTLY ART TREASURES LOST

PRACTICALLY NOTHING OF MISSOURI'S MAGNIFICENT EXHIBIT SAVED.

Portland, Or., Oct. 15. — The Missouri State building at the Lewis and Clark exposition was completely destroyed by fire last night. Practically nothing of the magnificent exhibit gathered by the Missouri State commission was saved, and the beautiful collection of art and statuary which was one of the features of the Missouri display will prove almost a complete loss. It is estimated that the pecuniary loss will exceed $50,000, with no insurance save $5,000 on the are exhibit.

The secret service agents are working on the theory that the fire was of incendiary origin, and that it started among a collection of packing cases stored just beyond the building awaiting the period of dismantling of the Missouri exhibit.

Lays It to Faulty Wiring.

Superintendent of the Building Edward Crumbaugh of Columbia, Mo., the only person within the structure at the time of the fire, is of the opinion that the fire had its origin in the same faulty electrical construction which has been the cause of the several incipient blazes which have occurred in different buildings during the fair. Three-quarters of an hour after the first alarm was sounded the Missouri building was in ruins. That the flames did not spread to some of the adjoining buildings was due to the almost complete absence of wind and to the work of the firemen, who fought the fire desperately to save adjacent exhibit places.

The only casualty was the serious injury to an electrician named Harry H. Jones, who in the early stages of the fire mounted the roof to cut the electric wires and who fell to the main floor of the building.

FEVER CASES INCREASE.

Causes Surprise, But No Uneasiness at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 15.—The official report to 6 p. m. yesterday is as follows: New cases, 25; total to date, 3,286; deaths, 4; total to date, 423; new foci, 6; cases under treatment, 167; cases discharged, 2,696. The jump to twenty-five new cases was something of a surprise, but it has caused no uneasiness, because the experience of all past visitations of the fever is that toward the end there is always a periodical variation in the reports from day to day. Dr. White considers the fever to be absolutely in hand and points to the weekly lists as the surest indication of the progress that is being made. The current week will make the finest showing since the fever started.

CURES CANCER BY RADIUM.

New York Physician Makes Report on Experiments.

New York, Oct. 15.—That five persons have been cured of cancer at the Flower hospital by the use of radium coatings on celluloid rods inserted into the diseased parts, was the substance of a paper read last night by Dr. W. H. Dieffenbach, United States delegate to the international medical conference at The Hague, before the Homeopathic Medical Society of the County of New York. In only one of six cases which he treated, Dr. Dieffenbach said, did his effort meet with defeat. In that case the disease was far advanced.

TWO NEW CARDINALS.

South America Will Get One for the First Time.

New York, Oct. 15. — A cable dispatch to the Herald from Rome says: Pope Pius X., in a consistory to be held on Nov. 28, will name as the first South American cardinal Mgr. J. A. de Arcovede de Albuquerque Calvacanti, archbishop of Rio de Janeiro, thus ending the long struggle in the South American republics for a representation in the sacred college. At the same time Mgr. Cagiano de Azevedo, majordomo of his holiness, will be created a cardinal.

SAY THEIR BOOKS ARE LOST.

Echo Bankrupts Can Show but $4,000 in Assets.

Echo, Minn., Oct. 15.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Propp & Blado, farm implement and harness dealers of this place and W. S. Hughes of Minneapolis has been appointed receiver. [illegible]

In Minnesota

State News of the Week Briefly Told

John Hynes of Rosemount was adjudged insane in the probate court at Hastings and taken to the Rochester asylum.

: : : :

While threshing, a spark of fire from the engine set fire to one of Elias Bruzek's stacks of wheat at New Prague and destroyed it.

: : : :

Fire destroyed the Queal coal sheds and part of the lumber yards at Comfrey. The fire is believed to have been caused by tramps.

: : : :

George Munford of Two Harbors, assistant state warehouse register at Duluth, has tendered his resignation to take effect Oct. 31.

: : : :

The barn and granary of Frank Campbell, five miles west of Stephen, was destroyed by fire. The origin is unknown. No insurance.

: : : :

Frank Campbell, living six miles west of Stephen, lost by fire his barn containing eight horses, harness, 2,000 bushels of wheat, oats, hay an dwagon.

: : : :

Charles Lakeburg, a farmer living fourteen miles north of Mora, while returning home, was thrown from his rig and killed. Lakeburg was intoxicated.

: : : :

Rev. Edwin B. Dean of Clinton, Iowa, has accepted the call to the pastorate of the First Congregational church at Northfield and will begin his services on Nov. 1.

: : : :

In order to meet the demand for building lots, Gary Thorpe has platted an extensive area on the west side of Ada, which will be known as Thorpe's addition.

: : : :

The New Prague board of directors elected the following officers: Joseph T. Topka, president; Frank Soukup, vice president; John Joach, secretary, and J. W. Mach, treasurer.

: : : :

Frank Jiran, about ten years of age, had the toes of his left foot cut off by freight cars at Glencoe. He was jumping on and riding along as the cars slowly moved through town.

: : : :

Bagley R. F. D. Route No. 1 was started Oct. 2 with William Wiltse as the first mail carrier. The route extends westward from the village of Bagley into the town of Popple.

: : : :

The program for the Range Teachers' association meeting, which will be held at Eveleth Nov. 10 and 11, has been completed. The high school building will be dedicated the first day.

: : : :

William Babcock was found dead in St. Paul in the bathroom at his home. There was a bullet wound in his right temple. He had been in poor health for two years and became despondent.

: : : :

While out hunting on Lake Oakey, near Watertown, Richard Strass of Watertown was accidentally shot. He lived but a few minutes. Mat Singley, his companion, was injured, but will recover.

: : : :

The heir to a large estate for which Washington attorneys have been searching has been found at Pickwick in F. J. Willard, a well-known citizen. He is the only son of J. H. Willard, testator of the will.

: : : :

Charles Joy, 78 years old, a member of the Joy Bros.' automobile firm of St. Paul, dropped dead on the street of heart failure resulting from the excitement caused by a small fire in the upper floor of the garage.

: : : :

Clarence Sorter had his leg broken in a runaway accident at Prior Lake. He was driving a mower on W. F. Luedke's farm, when the team became unmanageable and broke away. The mowing machine was demolished.

: : : :

The sawmill of the HerseyLumber company at Oak Park, near Stillwater, which has been idle because the company had finished its logging on the St. Croix, will be operated next year. A sale of the property has been made to William F. Mackey.

: : : :

Walter Enright, aged 20 years, an inmate of the St. Cloud reformatory, has been committed to the insane hospital at Fergus Falls. He was committed to the reformatory several months ago on a transfer from the state training school at Red Wing.

: : : :

The cattle on the farm of M. Westerholm, who runs a dairy in Hutchinson, were tested for tuberculosis, and out of thirty-four head twenty-one were found to be diseased, and were shipped to South St. Paul, where they will be killed and dissected by the state sanitary board. They were appraised at $400, three-fourths of their value, and this amount will be paid to their owner by the state.

: : : :

The building committee of the board of county commissioners met at Bagley and arranged plans for the reconstruction of the village hall, transferred to the county for court house purposes. It is the intention to have the building ready for occupancy this year.

: : : :

James Bryce of Reno, aged 16 years, was accidentally shot and killed while out hunting. In removing his gun from the boat both barrels were discharged, one charge taking effect in his side and chest, the other in his hand and leg.

INSPECTION ROW TANGLED.

Grain Situation at Superior Does Not Improve.

C. F. Staples of the state railroad and warehouse commission returned to St. Paul recently from Duluth. Grain inspection at Superior is badly tangled, he said, and is still up in the air. Minnesota at present stops the cars going to Superior at Sandstone or Cass Lake, where the "in" inspection is made. After the grain has been unloaded onto the boats these are steamed out into neutral waters and inspected "out."

The Wisconsin authorities inspect the grain at the yards in Superior both "in" and "out." The grain handlers there contend that the elevators are private houses and have asked an injunction restraining the Wisconsin inspectors from inspecting grain at Superior. The injunction was denied in the lower courts, the court holding that the law is constitutional and that the inspectors have the right to inspect the grain both "in" and "out."

The buyers have their private inspectors at Superior grading on the Minnesota basis, but the Wisconsin authorities are trying to stop this by arrests. The owners will not recognize the Wisconsin inspection and will not pay for it. The matter will be appealed to the Wisconsin supreme court, and if the supreme court upholds the lower court it will be up to the buyers to say if they want the double inspection of the two states or which they want.

The Minnesota inspection is all carried on in the state or on neutral waters, so the Wisconsin authorities can do nothing to stop it, and the Minnesota commission has nothing to do but stand pat.

The Wisconsin inspectors have even denied the right of Ed. Pew, who has a sampling bureau at Duluth, to take samples in the cars at Superior for showing at the Duluth board of trade.

BIG LOSS IN POTATO CROP.

Excessive Rains Blight Minnesota's Product.

Minnesota's potato crop in the northwestern portion of the state will only be one-quarter the average yield, and the crop in the northeastern section of the state will be one-third below the usual output.

So asserts William Zimmerman, formerly a resident of St. Paul, but now connected with the Chicago Packer, and for which paper he has just completed a tour of the Northwest potato districts, sizing up the fall supply.

"Within seventy-five miles of St Paul," said Mr. Zimmerman, "is located the greatest potato district in the whole country. I refer to that district along the lines of road between St. Paul and Duluth. Every fall on the average this section will send out 10,000 cars of fine potatoes.

"This season, however, the crop will be fully a third less than usual, a result of blight, being caused by excessive rains. In the Red river valley the potato crop is worse off yet. There the crop is not over a quarter of the usual average. Blight is getting to be a serious thing for the Minnesota potato crop. Two years ago it was unknown in the state. This year it has worked great havoc.

"In Wisconsin, which is also a great state for potatoes, the potato sections being scattered over it, blight has destroyed half the crop.

"All over the country the story is the same, as far as the potato crop is concerned; blight has destroyed much of it. Minnesota farmers are now receiving 22 to 32 cents for potatoes. This is because they are all rushing to market to sell a grade which needs to be used at once and will not do for storage purposes.

"Soon, however, the general shortness of the crop will begin to boost the price. I look to see farmers getting 60 to 75 cents a bushel for good stock, and before the winter is over I believe potatoes will be easily bringing $1 a bushel in the Twin Cities."

Alleged Pothunter.

The state game and fish commission has made an arrest and seizure of game in Red Lake county which Executive Agent Fullerton claims is nearly as important as the famous Lakefield seizure last year, when William Curr was captured with over 2,000 ducks.

Deputy Wardens T. H. Elliott and J. T. Jones, Thief River Falls, have arrested a man named Bullock, who was taken with 130 ducks in his possession. It is alleged that Bullock has been continually violating the game laws and wardens have been endeavoring to apprehend him for two or three years.

Bullock has been bound over to the grand jury.

Trespassers Must Settle.

Big timber trespass suits will be filed by the state next week unless satisfactory settlement is arranged by certain timber trespassers when the timber board meets this week.

E. T. Young, attorney general, has prepared new suits and these will be instituted at once unless the trespassers come to time. Suits against five Minneapolis lumber companies are still pending and these will also be pressed unless a settlement can be reached at once.

Loses Fingers in Mill.

Hudson, Wis., Oct. 14. — Arnold Peterson, a boy about eighteen years of age, met with an accident at H. J. Anderson's mill which resulted in the loss of several fingers on his right hand.

HENRY IRVING PASSES AWAY

MOST REPRESENTATIVE ENGLISH ACTOR OF CONTEMPORARY TIMES DEAD.

DIES LITERALLY IN HARNESS

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY AFTER A GRAND PERFORMANCE OF "BECKET."

WAS MAKING FAREWELL TOUR

SEIZED WITH ATTACK OF SYNCOPE, HE DIED BEFORE DOCTORS ARRIVED.

London, Oct. 14. — The English-speaking world has suffered an irreparable loss by the sudden death last night of Sir Henry Irving, who was universally regarded as the most representative English actor of contemporary times.

Sir Henry died literally in harness. He was giving a series of farewell performances in the English provinces, and this week was playing an engagement at Bradford, appearing in several favorite roles. Thursday he presented "King Rene's Daughter" and "The Bells," and seemed to be in excellent health, taking the exhausting part of Matthias in the latter play with

All the Vigor of Youth.

Last night, before an enthusiastic audience he portrayed one of his most characteristically intellectual parts, the title role in his own stage adaptation of Lord Tennyson's "Becket," with marked success.

After the performance Sir Henry returned to his hotel, reaching his rooms at 11:30 o'clock, when it was observed that he was in great pain. Physicians were immediately summoned, but before they could arrive Sir Henry was seized with an attack of syncope and expired.

Irving Liked Americans.

Washington, Oct. 14.—"Sir Henry Irving was looking forward with much enthusiasm to his coming tour of the United States," said Charles Frohman, his American manager, in speaking of the distinguished English actor last night. "He liked the Americans," continued Mr. Frohman, "and he had many friends among them. It was Mr. Irving's intention to come to the United States probably two months in advance of the time for the opening of his season in the latter part of next October and just spend the time in visiting among them.

Was to Be His Farewell.

"His season was to cover a period of twenty playing weeks, extending over a large part of the United States, and was to terminate at the Knickerbocker theater in New York city. It was to be Mr. Irving's farewell appearance in America and he wanted the opportunity to make his adieu to the American people. Following his last appearance in New York, about the end of February, he was to be entertained at a breakfast to which well known people from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other cities were to be invited. He then expected to sail for England."

GIRL IS EMBEZZLER.

Confesses to Crime to Save Another Eploye.

New York, Oct. 15.—Mary E. Golding, cashier for the Larkin Soap company, confessed in police court yesterday that she had embezzled at least $2,000 from her employers within four years, and had made use of it to support and care for her father, mother and invalid sister in Buffalo. She was sent to prison in default of bail. The young woman was unsuspected by her employers up to yesterday, when to save another employe upon whom suspicion had fallen she voluntarily went to her employer with the same confession which she made in court.

CHOSE A QUICK DEATH.

Milwaukee Bank Clerk Shoots Himself.

Milwaukee, Oct. 15. — August E. Fell, twenty-six years old, a collection clerk in the Wisconsin National bank, shot and killed himself in his home, 92 Knapp street, yesterday. Relatives say they believe his act was due to ill health, and the fear that he could not recover from a heart affliction with which he suffered. They say he was not engaged and had no bad habits and that the suicide could not have been due to a love affair. Fell was thought well of at the bank, where he had worked up during the past ten years from a messenger boy.

FUNERAL TRAIN OF 16 CARS.

New York Officials Attend Obsequies for S. Fred Nixon.

Westfield, N. Y., Oct. 15. — The funeral of S. Fred Nixon, late speaker of the state assembly, which was held here yesterday, was largely attended. The special train bearing Gov. Higgins and members of the legislature, besides state officials and friends of the dead speaker, numbered sixteen cars. It was the largest funeral train that ever crossed the state.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

WITNESSES ARE IN CONTEMPT

JUDGE VAN DEVANTER RULES ON REFUSAL TO ANSWER QUESTIONS.

PAPER TRUST WILL APPEAL

PROCEEDINGS PART OF PLAN TO GET CASE BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT.

JUDGE IMPOSES FINE OF $100

THE APPEAL OPERATES TO SUSPEND JUDGMENT OF CONTEMPT.

St. Paul, Oct. 14.—Benjamin F. Nelson, president of the Hennepin Paper company; Clarence I. McNair, general manager of the Northwestern Paper company, and C. C. Bassard, treasurer of the Itasca Paper company, were yesterday afternoon adjudged in contempt by Judge Van Devanter in the United States circuit court, for failure as witnesses in the case of the government against the General Paper company to answer certain questions and produce certain books and papers called for by the summons.

The case is one commenced by the government against the General Paper company and its constituent companies charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law. The witnesses at the hearing before Special Examiner Taylor refused to answer questions put to them. The matter was argued before Judge Van Devanter, who ruled that the Witnesses Must Answer.

The proceedings yesterday were part of a prearranged plan to get the points raised concerning the answering of questions in such shape that it may be taken to the supreme court for settlement.

The witnesses were summoned before Examiner Robert S. Taylor in the federal building yesterday, pursuant to an order of the court. The witnesses again refused to testify and an immediate application was made by attorney Robert E. Olds to have the witnesses adjudged in contempt. The motion was argued before Judge Van Deryanter in the afternoon.

The respondents contended that to compel them to answer and produce the required books and papers would be to compel them to which in no wise affect the issues in the case; that it was sought to prove the respondents guilty of violating "an act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restrictions and monopolies," and that to compel them to answer the specified questions would be repugnant to the fifth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, as well as the principles of the common law, which provide that no man shall be compelled to be a witness against himself in any criminal proceeding. Furthermore, that such compulsion is obnoxious to the fourth amendment of the Constitution, which safeguards the right of a citizen to be secure in his papers and person from unreasonable searches and seizures.

Disclose Business Secrets

Witnesses Fined.

Judge Van Devanter adjudged the respondents in contempt and imposed a fine of $100 and imprisonment in the county jail until the order to testify should be complied with.

Frederick Weyerhauser and R. C. Jefferson were secured as bondsmen for each of the respondents and an immediate application was made for a writ of error to the supreme court of the United States, counsel being given five days in which to file a bill of exceptions. The appeal operates to suspend the judgment of contempt until it is passed upon by the supreme court.

KILLS HIS HOST'S SON.

Accidental Discharge of Weapon Is Fatal to Young Boy.

Ada, Minn., Oct. 14. — The fifteen-year-old son of G. A. Kautrud, a farmer living near Perley, was accidentally shot and killed by Andrew Berg. Berg and A. L. Olson had been hunting near the Kautrud farm and were about to dine with Mr. Kautrud when Berg undertook to remove the cartridges from his gun. In so doing he accidentally discharged the weapon killing young Kautrud.

Boy Drowns in Barrel.

Rochford, S. D., Oct. 14. — Little Teddy Miller, four years of age, was drowned by falling into a barrel of water at the rear of the house. He was a son of County Commissioner John Miller.

Flour Mill Burns.

Hastings, Minn., Oct. 14.—The Emmis flourmill, owned and operated by the Hastings Electric Light and Milling company, was burned yesterday morning. The loss is estimated at $10,000; insurance, [illegible]

GASOLINE HURTS FIREMEN.

Seventy-Five Gallons Explode in Fight With Flames.

Duluth, Oct. 15.—Eight firemen injured and property damage to the amount of $9,000 were the results of a fire accompanied by an explosion of gasoline in the plant of the Zenith City Dye works, East Superior and Michigan streets, yesterday. The fire department had arrived and was just getting down to work when a can containing seventy-five gallons of gasoline exploded with terrific force. William Lee, a truckman, was blown over a chemical engine. He and J. W. Walsh, an engineman, were both seriously burned about the face and head. Charles Jones, Dan McIver, Joe Cole, A. A. Elmer, George Grammett and Peter Salheim, all firemen, were burned and cut by flying glass. Lee and Walsh are in the hospital. The explosion shattered plate glass on the opposite side of Michigan street and heavy buildings in the neighborhood were shaken.

MAY AGAIN POSTPONE SALE.

Further Investigation of Conditions at White Earth May Be Made.

Washington, Oct. 15. — Whether Secretary Hitchcock of the department of the interior will order another postponement of the sale of the timber on the White Earth reservation in Minnesota depends to a considerable extent on the wishes of Indian Commissioner Leupp, who is expected here early next week. The report of Inspector McLaughlin relative to the timber sale and allotments at White Earth is now before the secretary. Maj. McLaughlin will participate in the conference to be held here next week relative to the suggestion of Senator Clapp and other members of the Minnesota delegation that the sale be indefinitely postponed in order that a further investigation of the conditions at White Earth be made.

THOUGHT HE WAS CHEATED.

Man Returns to Store Where He Had Bought Revolver and Shoots Clerk.

St. Paul, Oct. 15—Benjamin A. Fink, clerk in the store of Morris Samuelson, was shot yesterday afternoon by James Newman, who arrived in the city Thursday morning from Michigan City, N. D. Mr. Fink is in a serious condition at the city hospital. The shooting took place soon after Newman had bought a revolver and cartridges in the store. Newman, it is said, went to a saloon near the jewelry store, and somebody told him that he had been cheated in the purchase, and that he returned to the store intending to have the deal called off. Newman, after his arrest, denied all knowledge of the shooting or of buying a pistol.

PROMINENT MEN HORSETHIEVES

Horse Owners Organize to Root Out Alleged Interstate Organization.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 15.—Sensational reports reach here from Eastern Montana of the work of horse thieves operating in that section and in Western North Dakota. It is said that a horse thief and desperado killed a few months ago in Northern Montana by Deputy Sheriff Hall of Valley county had on his person letters incriminating several well known people of two states in wholesale horse stealing, by which at least 1,000 animals have been taken from the range and sold to small farmers in North Dakota through confederates. Montana horsemen are excited over the reports and detectives will work on the case.

CARNEGIE CHANGES MIND.

Takes Back Offer of Library to North La Crosse.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 14.—After offering a donation of $10,000 to North La Crosse for a public library, Andrew Carnegie, after the city had complied with the conditions, has refused to give the money for the library. Mr. Carnegie gives as his reason for a change of mind that the city of La Crosse now has a good library, and that it is the duty of the city to provide library facilities for the suburbs.

LIES ILL AT WASHINGTON.

Former Badger Editor's Condition Is Reported Serious.

Hudson, Wis., Oct. 15.—A telegram from Washington says Byron J. Price, for twenty-five years editor of the Hudson Star-Times and now deputy auditor of the navy department, is critically ill. He was president of the Editorial Association of Wisconsin and was one of the best known newspaper men in the state. He assumed his present condition March 4.

Valuable Horses Killed.

Dodge Center, Minn., Oct. 15. — A freight train going east early yesterday morning killed four horses and a young colt, three of them valuable, belonging to M. R. Dresback. They had escaped from their inclosure and had gone over the cattle guard and a little distance up the track, where they were met by the freight train and killed.

Big Reward for Husband.

Menominee, Mich., Oct. 15. — Mrs. Duncan McGregor has offered a reward of $1,000 for the return of her husband, dead or alive. McGregor's hat was found recently in the river [illegible]

NOT UP ON CHOCOLATE.

Mr. and Mrs. Billtops Both Surprised by a Question Put by Mr. B.

"What is chocolate made of?" asked Mr. Billtops of Mrs. B., who was at the moment engaged in sawing up a block of chocolate, preparing to make fudge.

"Why," said Mrs. Billtops, "it's made of some—of some—I don't know what it's made of. It grows."

And Mr. Billtops didn't say anything but it dawned upon him suddenly that that was about as near as he could have come to telling what chocolate is made of himself, and no nearer. What he didn't know about chocolate, as he now realized, would fill a nice little booklet, if not a great big book.

BABY'S AWFUL ECZEMA.

Face Like Raw Beef—Thought She Would Lose Her Ear—Healed Without a Blemish—Mother Thanks Cuticura.

"My little girl had eczema very bad when she was ten months old. I thought she would lose her right ear It had turned black and her face was like a piece of raw meat, and very sore. It would bleed when I washed her, and I had to keep cloths on it day and night. There was not a clear spot on her face when I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and now it is completely healed, without scar or blemish, which is more than I had hoped for. (Signed) Mrs. Rose Ether 291 Eckford St., Brooklyn, N. Y."

Coming Events.

Benedict is a New Haven man, who has been eight times the father of a bouncing bounder. In the outskirts of the university city is a little town among the hills named prospect, and last year four of the children were sent there for the summer.

One day Benedict and his wife entertained at dinner a new acquaintance, Professor B. The professor is a bachelor, and, like many scholarly men, ill at ease in society.

"What a fine little family of children you have," he began with an admiring glance at the four stay-at-homes.

"Yes, indeed," replied Benedict, proudly, "and we have four more in Prospect."

The professor blushed his astonishment.—Lippincott's.

Analysis of Medicines Open to All.

"There is no public demand and there is not the slightest public necessity for a law compelling the publication of the formula of proprietary medicines," says the Committee on Legislation of the Proprietary Association. "Every Health Commissioner and every Pure Food Commissioner in the country, as well as every private physician or chemist, if he pleases, has the right to make an analysis of any proprietary medicine and to publish the result and to tell the public what he thinks, and there is nothing in the world to prevent such action. But that is not what the agitators for such legislation want. Their object is to destroy the sale of such remedies entirely."

THE SANITARY ONION.

Good for Most Everything From Deafness to Gumboils.

"I have implicit faith in the sanitary properties of an onion," said a trained nurse. "It is my custom to introduce an onion into every sick room where I am called in, hanging it up somewhere. I believe it attracts all maladies and infections to itself. Violets and roses and lillies are very pretty in a sick room, and the patient is doubtless cheered when his friends think enough of him to send them, but practical friendship would dictate that a basket of onions be sent. There is something about them hostile to disease. The juice of an onion is a cure for deafness, a roasted onion remedies earache and gumboils, and onions and holly berries bruised together are a certain cure for chilblains. A poultice of onions and cream is also good for bunions. Beau Brummel was opposed to onions, but Sairy Gamp upheld them, and I always considered her a more useful member of the community than the dandy."—Milwaukee Press.

An Honest Opinion.

Mineral, Idaho, Oct. 16th.—(Special.)—That a sure cure has been discovered for those sciatic pains that make so many lives miserable is the firm opinion of Mr. D. S. Colson, a well-known resident of this place, and he does not hesitate to say that cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reason Mr. Colson is so firm in his opinion is that he had those terrible pains and is cured. Speaking of the matter he says:

"I am only too happy to say Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me lots of good. I had awful pains in my hip so I could hardly walk. Dodd's Kidney Pills stopped it entirely. I think they are a grand medicine."

All Sciatic and Rheumatic Pains are caused by Uric Acid in the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy kidneys and healthy kidneys strain all the Uric acid out of the blood. With the cause removed there can be no Rheumatism or Sciatica.

Of course the chigger has a good appetite, but so would others have if they fed on sixteen-year-old girls.

Acetylene Gas.

All country people will be interested in reading about it in another part of this paper.

If Heaven must be overcrowded if we are to believe all the [illegible]

L. A. DAUTREMONT IS DEAD

End Came Peacefully This Afternoon at 4:30 After a Brief Illness From Cancer.

Louis A. Dautremont died at his home in this city this afternoon at 4:30 after a ten days' illness with cancer of the stomach.

Mr. Dautremont was born in France in 1838, being about 67 years of age. Until about ten years ago he lived in Iowa, locating first near Washington, then moving successively to Riverside and Matlock. In 1895 he went to Adrian, Minn., living there until the fall of 1901, when he came to Red Lake Falls. He has been a farmer all his life until the past few years. Since 1902 he has been proprietor of the Red Lake Falls Gazette, and he also owned several farms in this vicinity.

The deceased leaves, besides the widow, nine children, five sons and four daughters. They are Mrs. M. M. McLaughlin of Rock Rapids, Iowa, Charles, Arthur, Victor and Bert, of Lewiston, Montana; Mrs. S. S. Haislet, Rose, Florence and Raymond, of Red Lake Falls.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral, but it probably will be held Saturday and the remains shipped to the southern part of the state for interment.

The COURIER in common with the people of Red Lake Falls, extends its sympathy to the bereaved ones in this dark hour of their affliction.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: It is awful hard to believe all the things you want your children to.

Once in a while two people stay married because they love each other.

There is always some part of a woman's figure that she feels is a great credit to her.

A man has to love a girl an awful lot to think that a cold in the head is becoming to her.

A bachelor thinks that running an automobile is very extravagant until he tries to run a family.

One Interest in Common.

Kelliher Journal: The papers of the eastern end of the district—in Norman and Red Lake counties—want to be set off from Beltrami county, and have district reapportioned, claiming the interests of the two sections are not identical. They have at least one common interest—drainage and good roads. The two sections should unite in securing advocates of this policy to represent the district. Let this be the first and essential requirement of any candidate, whatever part of the district he lives in.

Read the Big store's announcement regarding winter cloaks and furs.

"Jim & Paul" have a new advertisement this week for the edification of our readers.

Exerie Chatel went to St. Paul tonight to bid on a job of railroad work on the Greenbush extension.

Joseph Belair returned today from North Dakota and wishes us to announce that he is prepared to take care of all the auction sales that dome his way.

Crookston Times: Henry McAnulty, superintendent of the Red Lake county schools was a caller at County Superintendent Casey's offices in the court house last Saturday, and both gentlemen enjoyed their lengthy chat on "shop topics" very much, Mr. McAnulty won out in a hot fight over east a year ago and has been very successful in his management of the Red Lake county schools since taking hold of them. He and Mr. Casey are old friends.

Victor and Bert Dautremont of Lewistown, Montana, arrived in Red Lake Falls Monday morning in response to a telegram announcing the serious illness of their father. The former is chief clerk in the grocery department of the largest general store in Lewistown, while Bert is associated with his brother Arthur in the proprietorship of an exclusive shoe store. Both of the boys have made a success of their work and say that Montana is a lively state this year.

Fergus Falls Globe: "The weather is this fall so far like the weather of 1877. That fall and winter of 1878 the weather was so mild that plowing could be done in every month. I finished my plowing by Dec. 26, 1877, and in January and February I built the second story of my log house. Edward S. Erickson now of Twin Valley worked for me much of the winter of 1878 and we never used mittens and seldom coats. I hope this fall and coming winter may be as mild as then."

THE ISLAND OF TANGIER.

Strange Yet Beatific Conditions Prevailing Upon This Little Body of Land.

In Chesapeake bay, 125 miles south of Baltimore, with which city communication by boat three times a week may be depended upon during the summer season, is the strange Island of Tangier, so completely isolated from the usual lines of travel that it hardly seems possible that it can be a part of the state of Virginia. * * * Imagine if you can, writes Charles E. Fairman, in Four-Track News, an island about five miles long and three-fourths of a mile in width, with a population of nearly 1,500, where each house is connected with Chesapeake bay by a tiny canal; an island where the population has built homes along one narrow street but nine feet in width, without sidewalks, road-bed or gutter; an island where the women go about with bare feet and calico gowns during the week, and where the men leave for their work at an early hour on Monday morning and remain away until Saturday afternoon; an island where intoxicating liquors are not sold, where billiard-rooms and pool-rooms are unknown; an island where one physician and the minister constitute the professional class; an island where profanity is punished by fine; an island without a jail or lock-up, and where religion is the rule, and to be outside of the church is to be outside of the pale of the best society; an island where public cemeteries are unknown, and where the dead of each home are buried in the front yard; if you can imagine all this you may have some faint idea of the peculiar surroundings of the inhabitants of Tangier.

HUNTER'S ODD EXPERIENCE

Fox and Hawk Attempt to Purloin Quail His Gun Had Brought Down.

Dr. William Rowland, of Pasadena, who was up at Middle Ranch quail shooting a few days prior to the close of the season, had a most unique experience, relates an Avalon correspondent of the Los Angeles Times.

He ran upon a covey of quail, and, flushing them, dropped one with his left barrel, and then, at considerable of an angle, dropped another with the right barrel. Turning to his first bird, he was just in time to see a fox snatch it up and start to run away with it. Quickly pumping another cartridge into his gun, he let the fox have it, knocking him stiff. After reconnoitering a minute, and finding his first bird, he was returning to pick up the second, when something shot down like an arrow from the skies in front of him, the object proving to be an osprey.

The quail had been wounded, and its fluttering attracted the attention of the big hawk, which, while sailing through the ether had an eye out for a quail dinner, and, darting upon the wounded bird, was about to cheat the hunter out of his quarry. Dr. Rowland, while amazed at the turn of events, did not propose to stand for such a play, and, training his ready gun on the bold robber, with a pull of the trigger put him out of commission, and saved both his birds.

PHOTOGRAPHING AN OWL.

Easy of Accomplishment If a Dog Be Brought to View of the Bird.

The great horned owl may also be fascinated by a dog, writes Silas A. Lottridge, in "The Great Horned Owl," in St. Nicholas. And the photographing of the great horned owl under these conditions is not difficult; wait until the owl seizes the fowl and stops to rest on the return to the woods; then let a dog be led to within 20 or 30 feet of the owl, and the bird will be all attention for the dog and take no apparent notice of the person leading it. The behavior of the owl at such times is very amusing. It stands motionless, gazing intently at the dog; but after a few minutes, if the dog remains quiet, the bird seems to become nervous, and steps first to one side and then to the other, hissing, snapping its beak, and ruffling its feathers. After this the owl will usually try to make off with its prey; but if another halt is made, the bird's actions show even more nervousness. While the owl's attention is thus attracted is the time to approach within "photo-distance" to get the "snap-shots."

The Papal Flag.

The papal flag is comparatively unfamiliar outside of the Eternal city. The war flag of the defunct temporal power of the pope was white, and in its center stood figures of St. Peter and St. Paul with the cross-keys and tiara above them. The flag of the merchant ships owned by the subjects of the states of the church is a curious combination, half yellow and half white, with the design of the cross-keys on the white. In the banner used by the crusader king of Jerusalem, Godfrey, the only tinctures introduced were the two metals, gold and silver, five golden crosses being placed upon a silver field. This was done with the intention of making the device unique, as in all other cases it is deemed false heraldry to place metal on metal.—Chicago Journal.

Like Some Women.

Mrs. A.—Yes, I despise that Mrs. Binks. I'm going to get even with her, too.

Mrs. Z.—You are going to do something desperate?

"Indeed I am. I'll not notice that she has a new cook, and every time she passes I'll make faces at her baby."—Chicago Daily News.

UNFINISHED NOVELS

TALES THAT WERE STOPPED BY THE HAND OF DEATH.

Nathaniel Hawthorne's Foreboding About "The Dolliver Romance." The Fragment That Stevenson Left. Thackeray's Last Work.

George Gissing's "Varanilda" is a masterpiece that its author did not live to finish. One well known critic considers this tale of the Roman and the Goth the deceased writer's finest work, and, though many may question this judgment, there can exist but universal regret that the romance must forever remain incomplete.

A greater work by a greater writer, "Weir of Hermiston," by R. L. Stevenson, was left a mere fragment, of which the lurid grandeur proved that its creator was taken from us in the zenith of his power. Another romance, "St. Ives," by the same pen, was running in a monthly magazine at the time of his premature death. Here, however, readers were not balked of a satisfactory denouement, for the story was brought to a conclusion by Mr. Quiller-Couch, well known under the nom de plume of "Q."

"I hardly know what to say to the public about this abortive romance, though I pretty well know what the case will be. I shall never finish it," wrote Nathaniel Hawthorne with reference to "The Dolliver Romance," which he had undertaken to write for the Atlantic Monthly. This foreboding was but too soon verified, for the author had scarce time to do more than lay the groundwork of the story and write the initial chapters ere death struck him down.

At his funeral at Concord the scarce commenced manuscript lay upon his coffin. Soon afterward the first chapter appeared in the Atlantic, and subsequently the second chapter, which he had been unable to revise, was published in the same periodical. Several years elapsed when a third fragment, revised and copied by the novelist's wife, was placed in the publisher's hands. The original manuscript is now preserved in the Concord public library.

"Wives and Daughters" was running in the Cornhill when the authoress, Mrs. Gaskell, died. Fortunately the work was nearing its completion, so that, although it was not actually finished by the gifted writer, the plot was sufficiently advanced to enable us to make more than a shrewd guess at the ultimate fate of the characters and to take leave of the hero fully assured of his ultimate happiness.

Another serial that was being written for the same magazine when its author laid down pen forever was "Denis Duval." Thackeray, indeed, was already in his grave when its publication commenced. Three parts and a portion of a fourth were all that appeared, and "the story," wrote the editor, "breaks off as his life ended—full of vigor and blooming with new promise like the apple trees in this month of May." With the fourth part was given a set of notes, taken from Thackeray's own papers, elucidatory of the subsequent development of the plot.

Thackeray's great contemporary, Charles Dickens, died, too, in harness. For long his health had been but indifferent, but he stuck unflinchingly to the work he had in hand. On June 8, 1870, the end came. The morning and part of the afternoon of that day were devoted to completing the sixth number of "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," but scarcely had he finished work and sat down to dinner ere he was seized with a fit. From this he never recovered, but after lingering some hours, without regaining consciousness, died at 6 the next day.

"I shall publish late in this year," wrote Laurence Sterne, "and the next I shall begin a new work in four volumes, which, finished, I shall continue 'Tristram' with fresh spirit." This new work here referred to is the "Sentimental Journey," one volume alone of which was ever given to the world, nor by reason of the author's death was the immortal "Tristram Shandy" ever continued.

"Arcadia," the pastoral romance which Sir Philip Sidney composed at Wilton House, was never completed and ran no small danger of being entirely lost to future generations when its author, before his death, gave orders for its destruction.

SIRES AND SONS.

M. Jean de Reszke is said to be the only professional singer who has ever sat at the czar of Russia's dinner table.

Baron Gautsch, the new premier of Austria, is practically self made. He commenced his career as an usher in a school.

Lord Alverstone, lord chief justice of England, will be the speaker at next summer's meeting of the American Bar association.

President Roosevelt is a hearty eater. He consumes three big meals a day and sometimes takes a supper before he goes to bed.

Speaker George L. Rouse of the lower house of the Nebraska legislature is the first farmer to hold that position since the early days of that state.

Comte Guido, visconti di Modrone, a young millionaire well known in society and sporting circles in Milan, has decided to devote himself entirely to music and with this end has accepted the directorship of important operatic performances to be given in Palermo.

Henry H. Rogers, who worked for $1.16 a day, is the most powerful single individual in the world of finance and commerce. He is a little fellow, has a cowlick on each side of the part in the middle of his hair and wears an iron gray mustache with [illegible]

GLEANINGS.

An American spends on an average $70 a year for food, a Frenchman $48, a German $45, a Spaniard $33, an Italian $24 and a Russian $40.

Capital punishment has been abolished in the state of Nuevo Leon, Mexico, for ordinary criminals, but is reserved for highway robbers, traitors, revolutionists and such other offenders.

It is calculated that in England, Ireland, Scotland and the United States $50,000,000 a year is spent in golf. There are 879 golf clubs in England, 760 in America, 632 in Scotland and 134 in Ireland, numbering altogether 600,000 players.

The London fire department has been experimenting with the American "quick hitch" system and is delighted with it. One company boasts that it can now hitch up in fifteen seconds. From three to four seconds is the time in many of our cities.

THE WRITERS.

Maxim Gorky's real name is Pjeschkoff. He could scarcely read at fifteen. He is now only thirty-six, but one of the world's great writers.

A number of unpublished letters of Robert Louis Stevenson will be included in Dr. Japp's forthcoming book on the author of "Treasure Island." Some of them are mentioned as remarkable.

Captain Cecil Battine of the king's hussars, London, is writing a book entitled "The Crisis of the Confederacy," in which he describes, from his own point of view, the campaigns of Gettysburg and the Wilderness.

Dr. Charles A. Eastman, the noted Sioux Indian lecturer, author and historian, is collecting material for his comprehensive history of the Sioux Nation. The work is being prepared under the direction of the interior department, special attention being given to land titles.

WISE SAWS.

You can't preserve the peace in alcohol.

When a man asks you to invest in stocks jest add "igate" to the process he suggests an' do it mighty thorough.

"What," says the man, "is wit?" "Wit," replies the old philosopher, "is wisdom with a tack in it. Don't step on the tack."—Puck.

Robert Burns' Muse.

Robert Burns, though he had the choice of such works as the Spectator, "Locke on the Human Understanding" and Pope, together with odd plays of Shakespeare, which formed the staple reading of his home, nevertheless owed most to an old collection of songs. "This," he says, "was my vade mecum! I pored over them during my rest or walking to labor, song by song, verse by verse, carefully noting the true, tender and sublime from affectation and fustian. I am convinced I owe to this practice much of my critic craft, such as it is!"—All the Year Round.

Robert Louis Stevenson.

Here is a pen portrait of Robert Louis Stevenson, written by Dr. Alexander H. Japp: "Not so tall probably as he seems at first sight from his extreme thinness, but the pose and air could not be otherwise described than as distinguished. Head of fine type, carried well on the shoulders, and, in walking, with the impression of being a little thrown back; long brown hair, falling from under a broadish brimmed Spanish form of soft felt hat, Rembrandtesque; loose kind of Iverness cape when walking and invariable velvet jacket inside the house."

Only Art.

The studio "tea" had been a great success. The one small and very youthful member of the company had walked softly about, looking at the pictures. Just before the party broke up the artist discovered him surveying a picture of a lion with awe and interest.

"Don't be afraid, little chap," said the artist genially, patting his small guest on the head. "He won't hurt you."

"Oh, I'm not afraid at all," came the response in a clear treble that caused every one to listen. "He doesn't look a bit as if he were alive, you know."

SSS FOR THE BLOOD

"S. S. S. for the blood" has grown to be a household saying. When the blood is out of order, or needs treatment from any cause, this great remedy is the first thought of and used by thousands of people all over the country, because it is superior to all other blood purifiers. It is a purely vegetable remedy, and while it penetrates the circulation and forces out all poison and morbid matter, it also builds up the entire system by its fine tonic effect. During the winter months the natural avenues of bodily waste have become dull and weak and failed to perform their full duty, the blood has been sluggish and an extra amount of poisons and waste matters have accumulated in the system and been absorbed by it. With the coming of Spring and warm weather the blood is aroused and stirred to quicker action and in its effort to throw off these acids and poisons the skin suffers. Boils, pimples, blotches, rashes and eruptions break out and continue until the blood is cleansed and made pure. S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for this condition; it clears the blood of all impurities, makes it rich and strong and these skin troubles pass away. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all other diseases of the blood are cured by S. S. S. Book on the blood and any advice desired, free of charge.

I was suffering from impure blood and a general run-down condition of the system. I had no appetite, was losing flesh, and an all-gone tired feeling that made me miserable. I began the use of S. S. S. and my blood was restored to its normal, healthy condition. My appetite returned, I increased in weight, that "tired feeling" left and I was again myself.

Columbus, Ohio. VICTOR STUBBINS,
Cor. Barthman and Washington Aves.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat THAT'S FIT TO EAT

Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel
Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.

Strictly First-Class In Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stamp for full particulars to-day

National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS. MINN.

Name.........
Town.........
State.........
R.F.D.No.........
Age.........

Try Courier Job Work

FARM MACHINERY

I have just received a carload of farm machinery and it will be to the interest of every farmer in Red Lake County to see me and see some snaps I have to offer before buying. My goods are all anti-trust. Here are a few of the reliable goods I have for sale:

Robinson Buggies, Disc Harrows, Beggs-Goodson Wagons, The Celebrated Acme Harrow and Pulverizer, Van Brunt Single Disc Drills, Goodhue Wind Mills.

Get My Prices---I Can Save You Money

S. A. SWANSON

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 3. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1905. WHOLE NO. 367.

THIEF RIVER BADLY BEATEN

Local Football Team Takes Them Neatly in Tow by a Score of 85 to 0.

The Thief River Falls high school foot ball boys are very nice young men. They might take a lot of prizes at a beauty show, but they can't play foot ball. They came down last Saturday eleven strong, and went through the motions of a game, but they didn't get any scores. Red Lake Falls kept on piling up the tallies until they reached eighty five, when they concluded to end the agony and refused to make the score any higher, the game ending 85 to 0. It was a frightful slaughter of the innocents, but it simply couldn't be helped.

Our foot ball reporter was out of town when the game was pulled off, but from the accounts given of the bloody struggle by impartial and accurate witnesses we are informed that the local team played a faultless game, both offensive and defensive, and that every member of the club is entitled to a portion of the glory.

There is but one more game scheduled for the season. Our boys go to Crookston November 3 to contest with the high school eleven of that city. Crookston is said to have a good team, but at the rate the locals have been going lately there ought to be no doubt of a substantial victory for them.

Plans to Get Rich.

Are often frustrated by sudden breakdown, due to dyspepsia or constipation. Brace up and take Dr. King's New Life Pills. They take out the materials which are clogging your energies, and give you a new start. Cure headache and dizziness too. At all drug stores; 25c., guaranteed.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE NOV 23

Dr. Curryer and His Corps of Trained Instructors to Hold Meeting in Red Lake Falls.

A state farmers' institute under direction of Dr. J. C. Curryer will be held at Red Lake Falls on Thursday, November 23, at the Metropolitan opera house. Five or six of the prominent agricultural experts and lecturers will be here on that occasion to address the farmers, their wives, sons and daughters.

This institute will be absolutely free, and it is hoped that every farmer within driving distance of the city will take advantage of this unusual opportunity to hear the eminent and trained speakers.

A meeting will be held at St. Hilaire on November 24 and at Thief River Falls on November 25. Further particulars of the meeting will be given later on.

More School Districts.

There has been a material increase in the number of school districts, schoolhouses and teachers during the last year, according to a report compiled by the department of public instruction. Last year there were 7,449 school districts. This year there are 7,560. The number in 1903 was 7,354. The number of school houses then was 7,771, increased to 8,061 last year and to 8,268 this year. The number of teachers in 1903 was 12,619, in 1904 it was 13,083 and this year there are 13,200. The wages of county superintendents have increased in thirty one counties and decreased in three, the decreases being mostly a matter of expenses. The total increase minus the decrease is $3,643, or an average increase of $43.89 for each superintendent. The largest increase is $400.

SHORT SESSION OF COURT

Regular Term Adjourned Until November 13, When Juries Will Report for Duty.

District court convened Monday morning, with Judge Willaim Watts on the bench, but only one court case was tried—that of Ernest Buse vs. the First State Bank of Red Lake Falls. The evidence in the case was finished, but it will not be decided until arguments are filed.

The indictment returned against Henry W. Lee, the Thief River lawyer, by the last grand jury on the charge of failing to account for moneys collected, was dismissed on motion of County Attorney Germo, it being understood that the proper evidence to sustain the indictment could not be secured.

On Tuesday evening court was adjourned until November 13, on which date the grand and petit jurors report. The adjournment was made to give the farmers opportunity to take advantage of the good weather for threshing and plowing.

REAL ESTATE TAXES DUE.

Penalty on Last Half Will Attach It Not Paid Prior to Nov. 1st.

Those who have paid the first part of their real estate tax for 1904 are reminded of the fact that the last half of the tax must be paid before November 1st or the penalty of 10 per cent will attach. In many instances where persons pay the first half of their real property tax before June first they are apt to forget or overlook the second payment, and before they are aware of the fact their land is sold for the tax. Bear the date in mind and save the penalty and sale.

STEENERSON IS HOME AGAIN

Congressman Has Been Investigating Statehood Conditions in Arizona and New Mexico.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson, who was in the city the fore part of the week to try a lawsuit in district court, returned Sunday morning from Arizona, where in company with about fifteen other congressmen, he investigated the statehood proposition. There is a strong likelihood that Arizona and New Mexico could be admitted as one state, but to this program the Arizona people enter strenuous objection. Arizona has a smaller population than New Mexico, but a smaller percentage are Indians and Mexicans. The general sentiment of the people of Arizona is that the proposed new state would be an unnatural and unwilling alliance. It would be the coercion of the two populations, which are unlike in character, in ambition and largely in occupation. The union would be abhorrent to both. Simply because the two countries are in the southwest the country should not suppose that they are alike or sympathetic. A recent pamphlet, issued by the anti-joint statehood league of Arizona says:

"The possibility of four United States senators from Arizona and New Mexico is a matter of importance to the whole country, and raises a question concerning which men may honestly differ. If Arizona and New Mexico are so barren that there is no possibility of future development, there might be some reason in refusing them statehood separately. If on the other hand the resources of Arizona alone, when developed, will create a great commonwealth, then surely we should at some time be admitted to the union.

"Two-thirds of the area of the United States is west of the Mississippi. It has thirty-eight senators as compared with fifty-two senators from the eastern states. The west is still undeveloped, and it seems consistent with broad statesmanship to give the southwest a chance to grow before cutting off forever its right to representation in the United States senate equal to that of the further developed eastern and southern states. One hundred years ago there was nothing west of the Mississippi; sixty years ago, as great a statesman as Danial Webster concluded that it was worthless; even twenty-five years ago "the great American desert" extended east well into Kansas.

"The one real test as to whether Arizona should remain separate from New Mexico with the expectation of eventually becoming a state is whether its resources, developed and undeveloped, will bring a population that will convince the whole country of its fitness to take a place among the states of the union."

Congressman Steenerson is of the opinion that neither New Mexico or Arizona will be admitted at the next session of Congress, and that the demand for joint statehood will gradually disappear. However, he thinks that Oklahoma and Indian territory will be admitted as one state this winter. Mr. Steenerson says he is not a candidate for governor and will not be. His sole ambition is to continue in the lower house of congress and has already announced his candidacy for another term.

Deserting from the Navy.

Nearly 4,000 men deserted from the American navy last year. It is true that many of those were cooks, engineers and laborers of one kind onother, but the fact remains that the small pay, strict discipline and monotony of naval life during times of peace are not attractive to an American of ambition and energy. The kind of men that use golden grain belt beer are energetic, strong, sturdy fellows who feel like working with mind and body. This tonic produces good health and strength. Its what most of us need every day in the year to keep us "up to snuff." Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

STATE LANDS SELL AT AN AVERAGE PRICE OF $9.00

Four Thousand Acres Sold at State Land Sale Today by Auditor Samuel G. Iverson—Large Increase in Price Over Sale Held Here Four Years Ago.

State Auditor Samuel G. Iverson and C. H. Warner, state immigration agent, assisted by County Auditor Ford and Treasurer Hansen, conducted a sale of the state school lands in Red Lake county at the court house this morning.

Out of about 10,000 acres offered, approximately 4,000 acres were sold, the average price being close to $9.00. The highest price paid was $15 for a forty in section 16, Garnes, Samuel Varstad being the purchaser. John Peterson paid $14.25 for a quarter in Lambert. None was sold at less than $6.00. The cash proceeds of the sale were $3,500.

Messrs. Iverson and Warner left for Roseau, where they hold another sale Saturday,

MILLINERY STOCK BURNED

Miss Ford Loses All of Her Goods by Fire Last Evening—Small Insurance.

Miss Kathrine Ford's millinery, stock was totallly ruined by fire last evening, and the building badly damaged. About 8 o'clock smoke was discovered in the rear of the building, and for a while the flames burned quite briskly. Chemicals were used and the fire was soon under control, but the millinery stock was a total loss. Anderson's jewelry store was also injured to some extent by smoke and some of the goods injured in moving them to the street.

Miss Ford's stock was valued at $800, with an insurance of $300, so the loss is not inconsiderable. It is probable that Miss Ford will re-establish the business, but no definite plan has been decided upon.

YOUNG LIFE GOES OUT.

Miss Dora Marchand Fails to Survive Attack of Appendicitis.

Miss Dora Marchand, one of the most talented and attractive young ladies in Red Lake Falls, died at her home on Champagne avenue Tuesday afternoon from an attack of acute appendicitis. She had been sick for only ten days, and was not considered daugerously ill until a day or so previous to her untimely demise.

Miss Marchand was born in Lake Pleasant township twenty-one years ago, and has always lived in this vicinity. For the past several years she has been teaching and earned the reputation of being one of the best teachers in the county.

The funeral was held this morning from St. Joseph's church, Rev. Father Fayolle officiating, and the remains were interred in the cemetery at this place. Miss Marchand had a most happy disposition, and was loved by a wide circle of friends. The Courier extends its condolences to the bereaved family.

Cattle Sale, Fargo.

The Great Northern Railway will sell tickets at one and one-third fares for the round trip on account of sale of blooded cattle and swine to be held at Fargo under the auspices of the North Dakota Agricultural College. Tickets will be on sale November 7th, final return limit November 9th.

CITY ELECTION NOVEMBER 7

The Bi-ennial Municipal Voting Day Promises to be Devoid of Excitement.

The bi-ennial election will take place Tuesday, November 7, and as yet there is very little excitement or talk of candidates. The officers to be chosen are a mayor, two aldermen at large, one alderman for each of the three wards, two justices, treasurer and constable. It is tacitly understood that Mayor Duffy will be a candidate for re-election and as he has given the city good service during his term there is no reason why he should not be given the job again. Alderman Borchers, Hennemuth and Brady will likely run again and will have no opposition. Alderman Crompe of the Third ward has given it out that he will not be a candidate again, and although several names are mentioned in connection with the place public sentiment has not been crystalized as yet. There will also be an alderman-at-large to be elected to take the place of M. A. Hatten, who moved away some months ago. Justices Toupin and Lewis will probably run again and we have heard of no one else having a longing for these jobs. Ovide Emard has been city treasurer for the past eight years, but whether or not he intends to run again we have not learned. In a few days things are likely to get more interesting and by next week there may be some real campaign news, though no one anticipates much of a scramble for places.

The State Fair.

If the state fair is a state institution it is high time it was placed under state supervision and control. At present the state erects the buildings and pays the deficits and only the Lord knows where the profits go.—Red Lake Courier.

Right you are, Bro. King. The state fair officials have been receiving and spending hundreds of thousands of dollars annually with the same ease and freedom of the officials of the New York life insurance companies. Each dollar may have been handled honestly, and then again it may not. In either case the taxpayers of this state are entitled to know the truth. Let's have an accounting, gentlemen.—Perham Enterprise.

Berthon & Armstrong

Men's and Boys' Leading Clothing Outfitters

You Like New "Stunts"

that are clever and original, that help to make clothes what they ought to be—good lookers.

That's exactly the kind of "stunts" we are doing with H., S. & M. Clothing.

First—Styles decidedly clever;

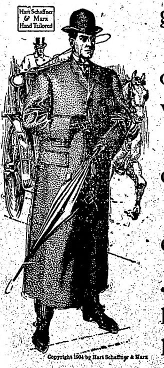
Second—Original and exclusive patterns;

Last and not least, the prices never "stunt" your pocketbook.

Always glad to show you.

JIM AND PAUL

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN



Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored

Copyright 1905 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

IF

1—IF our rate of interest on Time Deposits is high enough;
2—IF our rate of interest on Loans is low enough;
3—IF the accommodations we afford are satisfactory;
4—IF our business is safely managed (and we think it is):
5—IF you are not already a customer, then we invite you to become one.

FIRST STATE BANK

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Our vault is protected by the latest ELECTRIC BURGLAR ALARM System. We make FARM LOANS without delay.

THE COURIER

JOHN E. KING, Pub.

Red Lake Falls, Minn

Well, Mrs. Reader, if you must pay somebody's debts, they might as well be ours.

"When is a man drunk?" asks the New York World. When he has drunk too much, of course.

Witte's title comes too late to do him any good. A married man cannot hope to wed an American heiress.

The only thing bigger than the new liners that cross the ocean are the poker stories told when they reach port.

You could never make Mark Twain believe that his gout is a delusion of mortal mind when he knows it is in his toe.

When Sir Gilbert Parker said the other day: "England is on the verge of protection," did he mean Japanese protection?

Golf may cure hay fever, but one would think that talking it would be highly detrimental to those having throat trouble.

Idle men are few in New York, says the labor bureau. In New York everybody has to be up and doing, or he is sure to be done?

Hall Caine says that he wouldn't quit being a novelist to be a millionaire. But we thought all novelists now were millionaires.

"High finance scandals are ruining our credit," says Dr. Hamilton W. Mabie. Speak for yourself, Ham. Our credit was never better.

Occasionally some smooth person comes along and gives Wall street a dose of the medicine it is in the habit of handing out to suckers.

In France the popular name for the automobile is "teuf-teuf." That is fairly expressive, but "honk-zipp-phew!" would be more so.

Doubtless the man who was driven to drink by the sight of his wife's new and gaudy hat will have a violent relapse when he sees the bill.

A man in Oklahoma has invented a match-scratcher. He should have turned his attention to the promotion of artificial ice plants in Alaska.

Some of these rapid-fire novelists would make themselves more popular if they would only take a hint from the man who swallowed his lead-pencil.

The man who started the "How old is Ann" puzzle is now editing a New York comic weekly. There still seems to be such a thing as poetic justice.

We expect to live a long while, but we do not expect to live long enough to learn why people think they have to raise the voice when speaking to a foreigner.

Kisses are worth $20 apiece in Virginia, according to the courts. If you have ever kissed a Virginia girl you won't complain that the valuation is excessive.

In one day recently a baron and a count were locked in New Jersey jails for debt. The poor fellows were probably trying to make their way on foot to Pittsburg.

The number of guards around the Czar's palace will, says a dispatch from St. Petersburg, be increased. Is it suspected that the Czar thinks of trying to run away?

Whether it was 100 or 10,000 slain in the Caucasus the average reader has forgotten before his eyes reach the next headline. So cheap is human life, away from home.

There seems to be no doubt that the higher education widens a young man's sphere of usefulness. Witness the success of the college graduates in professional baseball.

Andrew Carnegie prescribes a European alliance for the United States. Well, haven't our girls married a lot of European noblemen? And isn't matrimony a united state?

The New York Tribune's music critic says Boston is temporarily resting under a "Gallic spell." If he means what we think he does, he has chosen the wrong word. Not resting, son—restive.

G. Bernard Shaw has offered to pay a clipping bureau 5 cents for each clipping about himself that it doesn't send to him. Mr. Shaw is an adept at the business of securing low advertising rates.

King Edward wanted to have General Chaffee come to see him, but the General had an engagement and could not go. If he were English, the royal wish would have been a command. Being an American, the royal wish didn't "stick."

The Chinese have reached the bomb-throwing stage, and if they progress as rapidly as the Russians have been progressing it may be necessary in the course of a few years for the empress dowager to sleep in a safe with a time lock on it.

The News of the Week

Washington.

Members of the isthmian canal commission and the board of consulting engineers have returned from a tour of inspection of the Panama canal. No decision has been reached as to the sea-level plan.

Commissioner Leupp of the Indian bureau has issued a circular to Indian agents asking them to designate Indians capable of acting as forest reserve guards. He suggests that eight or ten of the most capable Indians be selected from each reservation, and says that an arrangement for their employment when feasible has been made with the United States forester. The especial duty involved is to protect the forest reservations against fire.

Chairman Shonts of the isthmian canal commission made the following statement of his observations on the isthmus of Panama during his recent visit: "The most encouraging feature of affairs on the isthmus observed by every person who had been there previously during the last six or eight months was the improvement in the feeling among the men. Chief Engineer Stevens' methods and personality are making a strong impression and creating confidence in his measures."

Casualty.

Lightning, which set fire to the lumber yard of C. A. Brown at Ashmore, Ill., caused a loss of $50,000.

M. Perusch, a miner of Chisholm, Minn., was killed by gas asphyxiation in a Third street lodging house at San Francisco, Cal.

Mrs. Alice Hartman and her five children were burned to death and their homes were destroyed by fire at Port Royal, a village in Franklin county, Mo.

Four negroes were drowned while crossing the Alabama river in a skiff at Prattville, Ala. The skiff sank in midstream. Their bodies have been recovered.

The entire business section of Alturas, Cal., was destroyed by fire, twenty-seven business houses and two residences being consumed. Loss, $100,000; insurance light.

Leo Giffard, an employe of the St. Paul road, was killed at Channing, Mich. He caught his foot in the guard of an extra ore train switching in the yards and was run down.

T. C. Carson, president of the Johnson County Savings bank and the Iowa City Electric Light company of Iowa City, Iowa, died in Philadelphia from injuries received falling from a street car.

Twelve persons were injured, two fatally, a score of horses were burned to death and property valued at $65,000 was destroyed in a fire that demolished the La Salle Avenue livery barn in Chicago.

Arthur E. McKinstry, financial secretary of the Maumee River Yacht club, and Willis Donohue, his 14-year-old companion, were drowned by the capsizing of a small sailboat in Maumee bay, near Toledo, Ohio.

Two miles below Hazard, Ky., on Second creek, two children of Jason Comett, a veterinarian, were killed by swallowing corrosive sublimate, thinking it was sugar. They died a few minutes afterward.

John Dorsey of South Chicago fell from the top of the Irondale elevator, 105 feet, to the Calumet river. He suffered no ill effects from his fall. A few weeks ago, when Dorsey was painting a chimney, the platform on which he was standing broke and he fell fifty feet, but escaped uninjured.

Thirteen people were injured in Detroit, none fatally, when a Trumbull avenue car, running west on Fort street, struck a brick that had been placed on the track and jumped the rails. The car ran a hundred feet on the pavement and then crashed into a tree. It was well filled with passengers and they were thrown into a heap, and those on the rear platform were hurled to the pavement. It is thought that the brick was placed on the track by boys.

Criminal.

John Newton Williamson, congressman from the Second Oregon district, convicted in the land frauds suit started by the federal government, was sentenced in the United States court in Portland, Or., to serve ten months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $500. He was also reprimanded by the court for his failure to set a good example in his exalted public position.

Virgil Bowers, a negro, was taken out of the county jail at London, Ky., and hanged to an apple tree on the road leading to Barboursville. The negro shot and killed George Ferris, a prominent and wealthy Knox county lumber dealer, on the night of Aug. 26. He has been serving a life sentence for the crime. All of the mob were masked and armed with guns, pistols, sledges, picks, axes and dynamite. They forced the jailor to deliver the prisoner.

Sidney L. Fazer, formerly head of the brokerage firm of S. L. Fazer & Co., Chicago, was arrested at St. Louis on warrants charging him with taking stock worth $4,200 belonging to a client. Fazer said he would go back to Chicago and face the charges.

While her boarders were at dinner, Mrs. Caroline Buehler of St. George, Staten Island, suddenly excused herself, and going to her room shot herself through the head with a revolver. It is supposed that she had become despondent over the death of her four-year-old son, who was accidentally scalded last winter.

Foreign.

Right Rev. Alfred George Elliott, former bishop of Kilmore, Elphin and Ardaugh Church of Ireland, is dead. He was born in 1820.

Prince Frederick Leopold of Prussia, who has been with the Manchurian army, has arrived at St. Petersburg from the Far East.

The striking Berlin electrical workers voted to accept the employers' original offer of 5 per cent. increase in wages, which they demanded.

Herr Moller, Prussian minister of commerce and industry, has resigned. He will be succeeded by Herr Delbruck, president of the province of West Prussia.

The Prince and Princess of Wales have started on a trip to India. They will go overland to Genoa, where they will embark on the battleship Renown, which is due at Bombay Nov. 9.

An imperial rescript has been published at St. Petersburg conferring on Count Lamsdorf, minister of foreign affairs, the Vladimir order of the first class in recognition of his signal services throughout the war and during the peace negotiations.

A duel with swords was fought at Paris between Deputy Dauzon, president general of the council, and Daroza, a journalist, the author of an article reflecting on Dauzon. In the third round Daroza received a deep wound in the forearm, which ended the duel.

General.

Women of Iowa are engaged in a canvass of the state in the hope of inducing the legislature to put the matter of equal suffrage before the voters at the polls.

The smuggled jewels of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, which the government seized, were sold at auction in the United States marshal's office in Cleveland. They brought $2,154.

Rev. Dr. D. M. Gilbert, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, Harrisburg, Pa., and one of the foremost Lutheran clergymen in the country, died suddenly of angina pectoris.

Justice Greenbaum of the Illinois supreme court has directed a verdict for $69,767 against Joseph Leiter in favor of William E. Zeeler, on account of Leiter's attempt to corner wheat in 1898.

Isaac Taylor, the Indian fighter, scout, stage coach driver and one of the first men to make the trip overland from Kansas to the Pacific coast, died at his home in Kansas City, aged 84 years.

Revised figures on the attendance at the Lewis and Clark exposition show that a total of 2,551,780 persons passed into the grounds during the exposition period. Of these, 1,580,617 were paid and 971,163 were free.

One hundred and five students of the high school at York, Pa., went on strike. The boys refused to obey the order not to wear colors. They are satisfied to do away with class fights, but refused to lay off their colors.

It developed that the mysterious package addressed to John D. Rockefeller and left at the express office at Vinton, Iowa, two weeks ago, contained a remedy for dyspepsia, and was left there by a driver of a Standard Oil company wagon who had faith in the cure and wanted Rockefeller to try it.

Charges of conspiracy among army officers made by Oberlin M. Carter, who was convicted of embezzling $3,000,000 from the government, enlivened the proceedings before Special Examiner Wyman in Chicago. "I was condemned and sentenced to prison on secret testimony at a hearing where neither myself nor my attorney was allowed to be present," said Carter.

Seven hundred employes of the Wyandotte yard of the Detroit Shipbuilding company went on strike at Detroit, complaining that they have to work twenty minutes longer per week than they should, and also that the time clock system in force at the yard is unsatisfactory. Riveters, helpers, punchers and laborers are involved. Only a part of the men belong to unions.

While waiting for a train at the union station in Chicago to carry him to his home in Glenview, Andrew L. Gyllenhaal, editor of a Swedish newspaper, was stricken with heart failure and dropped dead. He was born in Sweden and was educated at Upsala university. In 1866 he emigrated to America. One of his sons is a professor in the Swedenborgian college in Philadelphia.

The parents of Sam. Schubert, the theatrical manager who was mortally injured in the wreck of the Pennsylvania railroad Chicago express last May, brought suit in the United States circuit court in New York for $200,000 against the railroad company, alleging that negligence caused their son's death. This suit is one of several others aggregating $600,000 and growing out of the same wreck.

Gov. George H. Utter and all the other present state officers were renominated by acclamation at the Republican state convention at Providence, R. I. The platform paid high tribute to President Roosevelt and reaffirmed the principles of protection.

In the presence of great grandchildren of each of the contracting parties, Henry Helman, a wealthy farmer, 74 years old, and Katherine [illegible], widow, 67 years old, were married at Appleton, Wis. A son of the groom is the husband of the daughter of the bride. Henry Helman's former wife has been dead six months.

GEORGIA GIVES WARM GREETING

PEOPLE OF ATLANTA LEAVE NO ROOM FOR DOUBT OF THEIR SINCERITY.

CROWDS POUR INTO ATLANTA

SURROUNDING COUNTRY SENDS GEORGIANS TO GREET THE PRESIDENT.

DUBBED GEORGIA'S GRANDSON

ALLUSION TO HIS ANCESTRY BY SPEAKER TICKLES MR. ROOSEVELT.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 22. — The president's visit to Atlanta yesterday was a marked event in the history of the State of Georgia. He was greeted on his arrival by her most distinguished citizens, and throughout the day on every hand were shouted words of welcome that left no room for doubt of their sincerity. The city was in gala attire and business was practically suspended that all might greet the distinguished guest. South Carolina, in the person of Gov. Heyward, added its welcome to the South.

Numerous extra trains brought their burden of Georgians from the surrounding country and it was estimated that not less than 100,000 persons saw and welcomed the president.

Given Noisy Welcome.

The presidential train came into the handsome new station exactly on time, and as it appeared threading its way through the maze of tracks in the yards it was given a noisy welcome by all the steam whistles in that part of the city, the demonstration increasing in volume as the train came to a stop. Waiting to receive the president was the committee headed by Gov. Terrell and composed of Senator Clay, Congressman Livingston, Mayor Woodward and Bishop Nelson of the Episcopal diocese of Georgia.

The line of march was quickly formed and the president and his escort started for Piedmont Park, where the state fair is being held.

Cheered by the Throng.

The distance from the station to the park is about three miles, and throughout the entire route, which ran along historic Peach Tree street, crowds lined the sidewalk and gave the president round after round of cheers, which the executive smilingly acknowledged, hat in hand. It was a few minutes past 11 when the president reached the park, and again he was greeted by the noise of steam whistles from all the engines in the fair grounds and by the cheers by many thousands who were waiting his arrival. After a review of the Seventeenth infantry, which had recently returned to Fort McPherson from the Philippines, the president delivered an address.

Georgia's Grandson.

From the speakers' stand the president was taken to the Piedmont club house attended by a detachment of the Twelfth cavalry. About 1,200 guests were seated at the tables. During the progress of the luncheon John Temple Graves, editor of the Atlanta Dail News, addressed the president in a personal welcome as a man "whom it was a delight to meet aside from his official character." He referred to the president as "Georgia's most illustrious grandson," which the president received with a broad smile.

A reception followed the luncheon, which, though brief, afforded the opportunity for several hundred to meet the president.

The Georgia school of technology was visited on the way to the city and here the president spoke briefly.

Then came a drive about the city under escort of the cavalry and the reception committee, the president's train leaving for Jacksonville promptly at 7 o'clock.

IRVING ASHES ARE INTERRED.

Great Concourse of All Sorts of People at Westminster Abbey.

London, Oct. 22.—Besides that other great actor, David Garrick, and under the shadow of Shakespeare, the ashes of Sir Henry Irving were yesterday given burial in Westminster Abbey, thus being accorded England's greatest tribute to her dead. The services, which were of an impressive character, were conducted in the presence of a congregation which included many from the highest official life of England, eminent representatives of all the walks of life and all the representatives of that gallery to which Irving was so invariably attentive who could find standing room in the abbey.

IS SHOT AT CHARIVARI.

Boy Badly Wounded by Discharge of Companion's Shotgun.

Letcher, S. D., Oct. 22.—While participating in a charivari at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holland last night, after the couple's marriage, Tom Miller, aged sixteen years, was critically wounded by the charge of a shotgun in the hands of one of his companions. [illegible] was in a stooping posture and his shoulder, which received the full charge of shot, was nearly torn from his body.

ROADS FACE LEGAL INQUIRY.

Officials Tell of Having Exclusive Car Line Contracts.

Washington, Oct. 22.—The existence of exclusive contracts between railroads and private car lines, by which the latter assume the business of refrigerating perishable freight, was brought strongly yesterday in the hearings now in progress before the interstate commerce commission. It was developed by the testimony of H. M. Emerson, traffic manager of the Atlantic Coast line, that the shippers would be compelled under the contract with the Armour car lines to use cars of this company exclusively, or the railroad would not transport their freight. At the same time, he said, the schedules of the road would not permit the use of other private cars, and the apparent inconsistency is a matter that the legal department of the road would have to solve if brought into controversy. Officials of the Central of Georgia, the Southern and the Seaboard Air Line testified that the Armour car lines have exclusive contracts with their roads to handle all refrigerator business.

SHIPS ON POLAR OCEAN.

Russians Open New Trade Route by Way of Arctic Passage.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 22.—The steamer Lyra brings news that the Russian government has established a trade route via the Arctic passage to the mouth of the Yenesei, to reinforce the trans-Siberian route. Seagoing steamers will run from Russian ports via the Polar ocean and the Kara sea to the mouth of the Yenesei, where depots are established to transfer their cargoes and passengers to the river ports. The barges will be towed to Krassnoyarsk, on the Yenesei, where connection will be made with the main Siberian railway.

WILL BUTT IN ON TRADE.

Orientals Plan to Send Tramp Steamers With Low Rates.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 22. — Advices were received by the steamer Lyria that a combination had been formed of Japanese shipping firms to send tramp steamers to the United States and Europe with cargoes from Japan and Indo-Chinese points, carrying freight at a low rate, about one-third of the present rate. The sixty-six steamers which were captured while running contraband and confiscated by the prize courts will be used in connection with the fleet now in use by the government to bring home the troops.

FAVORS WHIPPING POST.

Oshkosh Judge Would Mete Out Severe Punishment to Wife Deserters.

Oshkosh, Wis., Oct. 22.—Judge Goss of the municipal court expressed himself yesterday in favor of confining wife deserters where they would be obliged to work and turn the proceeds of their labor over to their families. Another remedy he favored is the whipping post. The judge declared that wife abandonment is one of the hardest questions with which the lower courts have to deal, as the judge is often puzzled in determining a suitable punishment.

SHOULD BE FREE OF DUTY.

Nashville Resolution Anent Miss Roosevelt's Importation of Presents.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 22. — The Nashville chamber of commerce has unanimously adopted a resolution requesting Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, if possible, to admit free of duty the articles brought into this country by Miss Alice Roosevelt, inasmuch as they "were not her own selection and purchase, but were presents from foreign people, and could not be refused without the possibility of giving offense."

LAW HITS COUNCIL QUORUM.

Three City Dads Resign Because of Anti-Pass Statute.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 22.—The new Wisconsin anti-pass law has caused Onalaska to be without a city council. Three members of that body, who are employes of railroad companies, have resigned, and without them the council has no quorum. A special election will have to be held before the city's business can proceed.

STANDARD OIL GOES UP.

All Crude Grades Except Raglan Are Advanced in Price.

Pittsburg, Oct. 22. — The Standard Oil company yesterday advanced the price of all crude oil except Raglan. Pennsylvania, Tiona, New Castle and Cable oil were advanced 5 cents. Corning was raised 10 cents and Somerset 8 cents. The lower grades were advanced 2 cents.

Norway Needs $23,000,000.

Christiania, Oct. 22.—The Norwegian budget for 1905-6 estimates the revenue and expenditures at $23,000,000. The duty on matches is expected to yield an additional $12,500, the state lottery $12,500 and the stamp duties an additional $120,000.

Gives Up Paying Job.

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—Samuel Sutliffe, chief of the bureau of street cleaning, resigned his [illegible] position and Samuel B. McHaffey, his chief clerk, also resigned. The resignations are due to the strained political conditions in this city.

[illegible]

FIND MORE OF CUNLIFFE LOOT

ONLY ABOUT $10,500 OF STOLEN $101,000 REMAINS TO BE RECOVERED.

ATTEMPTS TO BRIBE POLICE

OFFERS TO DIVIDE $80,000 WITH CAPTAIN ON PLEDGE OF SECRECY.

IS BETRAYED BY HIS FRIEND

FORMER FRIEND PUTS DETECTIVES ON TRACK OF FUGITIVE FOR REWARD.

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 22. — The chances that the police will recover nearly the whole of the $101,000 stolen from the Adams Express company in Pittsburg by Edward G. Cunliffe, who was arrested Thursday and taken to Pittsburg yesterday seem bright. Last night $9,065 was found in a trunk belonging to a butler in a prominent family at Black Rock, but the butler and the family by whom he is employed are ignorant of the fact that the large sum found was within the house. Although there is a possibility that the remaining $10,500 has been destroyed, the police are of the opinion that another accomplice of Cunliffe may reveal the hiding place of the missing sum. In round numbers $90,000 have been found within the past twenty-four hours.

Watch Chance Acquaintance.

The discovery of the money in the Black Rock home last night was brought about by keeping a close watch on one of Cunliffe's chance acquaintances, George Eisenman, who was with Cunliffe when he was arrested. According to Eisenman's story he met Cunliffe in a cheap hotel on Wednesday night, the two being together for some time. Cunliffe had a package with him and as the men were about to leave each other Cunliffe said that he wanted Eisenman to take care of the package as it was laundry which he wanted to keep in a safe place. Eisenman took the bundle to his sister's house, and when alone opened it and found the big sum of money.

Money Is Recovered.

Capt. Arnold of the detective bureau, who knows Eisenman and who saw him with Cunliffe when the latter was taken, went to the home of Eisenman's sister and found the bundle of shirts, but no money, and he suspected that Eisenman had abstracted a part of Cunliffe's plunder. Eisenman was shadowed all yesterday and he was seen to give a small package to his friend, the butler. Last night Eisenman was taken to the Black Rock house and asked the butler for the package. He went to his trunk and turned it over to Capt. Arnold intact. The butler had not been told what was in the package. Eisenman was taken to police headquarters but was released later.

Attempts Bribery.

Two other new features of the chapter of events in connection with the capture of Cunliffe cropped out last night, one being an attempt by Cunliffe to bribe Capt. George Arnold of the local detective force, and the other being the story of betrayal by a friend of Cunliffe for the purpose of securing the reward of $2,500 offered for his arrest. During one of the talks which Capt. Arnold had with Cunliffe Thursday night the prisoner made a proposition to divide the $80,000 which he had sent to his brother-in-law, Joseph W. Boardman, in Bristol, on the promise of secrecy.

The betrayal of Cunliffe by his friend, James Missett, is interesting. Missett formerly lived in Bristol and knew Cunliffe well. Last Tuesday Missett went into the Tremont hotel bar room and saw Cunliffe standing at the bar. Missett went up to him and said:

"Hello, Cunliffe; what are you doing here?"

Cunliffe turned around and pretended not to know Missett, who was sure of his man.

Gets the Reward.

The next morning Missett went to New York and visited the Pinkerton agency.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I know where Cunliffe is and I want to know what reward is offered for him."

He was told $2,500.

The Pinkerton people thought at first that Missett was a crank, but he assured them that he was in earnest and said that if the Pinkertons would give him a written agreement that he would get the reward if he told them where the missing man could be found he would do so. This was agreed to and Missett told them. The arrest of Cunliffe followed.

Last night Missett returned from New York with the $2,500 reward and proceeded to spend it lavishly throughout the lower part of the city.

Engine Kills Girl.

Minneapolis, Oct. 22. — While attempting to cross the Milwaukee tracks at Twenty-second street [illegible]

MINNESOTA IN THIRD PLACE.

Only Michigan and Harvard Have Larger Attendance.

Minnesota university ranks third among American colleges for attendance this fall, with Michigan first and Harvard second.

According to statistics compiled by Frank B. Tracy in the Boston Transcript it is shown that Minnesota has increased 4 per cent this year and has distanced Columbia, which was in second place last year. Michigan has increased 11 per cent and has gone up from third to first place, while Harvard has come down from first, which place she had held for over ten years to second place.

The work of Frank Tracy was compiled last week and has all the latest figures from the leading universities in the country. He was induced to secure the information by a recent article by Merritt Butler in which the statistics for last year were given and the total registration in each college shown. In that list Harvard led with 4,559 students, Columbia was second with 4,056, Michigan third with 3,742, Minnesota fourth with 3,633, and Illinois, Wisconsin, Cornell, California, Yale and Chicago following in order.

For ten years previous to the school year of 1904-5 Minnesota gained 62 per cent, a greater increase than was shown by any college except Columbia, and among the state universities was only equaled by the remarkable growth of Illinois from 607 students in 1894 to 3,391 in 1905. That increase was explained by the rapid growth of the new university at Champaign.

According to the records of the colleges for the opening of this year the ranking is as follows: Michigan, 4,049, a gain of 11 per cent over last year; Harvard, 3,865, a loss of 3 per cent; Minnesota, 3,759, a gain of 4 per cent; Columbia, 3,725, a loss of 8 per cent; Pennsylvania, 3,250, a gain of 11 per cent.

An interesting feature of the work of Mr. Tracy is the fact that in nearly all the universities where an increase has been noted that increase has come in the engineering department. The great majority of students, in the Western and Middle states, especially, are turning to engineering subjects, while the law schools are usually ranked second in point of increase. The increase of the universities in the Middle and Western states is especially noted. The rankings for the total registration last spring, which have been slightly altered by the records this fall, show the ratio of Western and Eastern attendance. That list in order of rank is as follows: Harvard, Columbia, Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Cornell, California, Yale and Chicago. In that list of the first ten universities in the country six are west of the Allegheny mountains, and the fact that the Western schools have been increasing with a greater degree of rapidity than the Eastern ones during the past ten years is still apparent in the figures for this fall.

In closing his article on the increase in the West Mr. Tracy says: "Nothing is more evident from these figures than that the seat of educational empire is moving to the Middle West. It is not a rapid growth, but it is sure. Take the twelve universities of this table west of the Alleghanies and east of the Rockies and the average percentage of growth is 12, while the average of the seven Eastern universities is 4."

The fact that Minnesota has gained one point in the ranking of the universities since last year was received with considerable gratification at the office of the registrar at the university. Although the registration for the year in all the colleges is by no means completed, many students always coming in during the middle winter, there is little doubt but that Minnesota will be able to hold the new position and remain among the first three.

STATE FUNDS DEPLETED.

School Apportionment Leaves a Big Deficit in Revenue Fund.

State funds in city and country banks to the amount of $862,000 have been called in by State Treasurer Block to provide for the October apportionment of the current school fund. The revenue fund is now greatly overdrawn, and will not be much relieved until the railroad taxes come in next February.

There are applications pending for loans from the permanent school fund amounting to $400,000, but there are no funds to meet them. The coming state land sales will bring in some funds, possibly as much as $100,000, but it will be several months before the fund will be able to take care of pending applications. Many school buildings and other local improvements are held back waiting for these loans.

The special election at Owatonna for the purpose of authorizing a bond issue of $15,000 to be used in the construction of a new city and fire hall resulted in favor of the bonds, 323 to 208. The Owatonna fire company was the main promoter of the idea. With the new hall Owatonna will rank with the other cities of Minnesota in fire equipment.

Louis Gersting, a cable splicer for the Tri-State Telephone company, fell forty-five feet from a pole at Faribault and was seriously injured. His home is in Minneapolis.

Two Children Are Burned.

Bladen, Neb., Oct. 22.—Two children of Fred Pic, sixteen and four years old, were burned to death, and their mother was so badly burned that she cannot recover in a fire which destroyed their home last night.

PROMISES CASH NOT ON HAND

Investment Board Approves Applications for Loans.

Applications from school districts for loans aggregating $28,745 and applications from counties and villages aggregating $26,266 were granted by the state investment board at its last meeting. The total of the loans granted at the meeting was $5,011.

The total of loans that were allowed by the board at previous meetings is larger than the money available for the purpose; the applications which have been granted and not paid aggregate a half million. The members of the board believe, however, that money is coming in so that before the end of the year there will be enough to pay the applicants.

The state auditor said that the total applications approved by the investment board exceed the money in the trust funds by $205,416, or $90,000 for the school districts, $31,200 for the townships, and $84,216 for the counties. To meet this the receipts from the sales of mineral lands, timber lands and sales of agricultural lands within the next two months will amount to nearly $300,000. The auditor estimates that the mineral lands to be sold will bring $70,000; state agricultural lands, $75,000; state timber sales, $110,000, and collections on former land sales, $40,000.

The applications granted are: The village of Starbuck (from permanent university fund), $5,000; Wadena county, for county ditch, $7,450; Kittson county, for county ditch, $13,816; School District No. 80, Aitkin county, $750; No. 42, Blue Earth, $800; No. 110, Clay, $700; No. 95, Douglas, $2,500; No. 6, Fillmore, $2,000; No. 64 Grant, $800; No. 123, Jackson, $1,000; No. 74, Kittson, $3,500; No. 10, Kittson, $5,000; No. 114, Morrison, $450; No. 34, Norman, $1,000; No. 272, Otter Tail, $3,400; No. 44, Polk, $2,500; No. 26, Ramsey, $1,345; No. 126, Red Lake, $1,800; No. 51, Redwood, $2,000; No. 28, Roseau, $1,000; Browns Valley Traverse, $2,000; No. 36, Wadena, $1,500; No. 37, Wadena, $400.

CAPT. R. H. L. JEWETT QUITS.

Was Oldest Employe in State Auditor's Office.

Capt. R. H. L. Jewett, who has been connected with the land department of the state auditor's office for the greater part of the last twenty years, has resigned and will go to California to spend the winter. He will be accompanied by his wife and son. His son has a permanent location and will remain in California, but Mr. Jewett expects to return in the spring.

The state auditor has appointed as Capt. Jewett's successor as assistant land clerk, Ed H. Walden of Rochester. Mr. Walden was county auditor of Olmsted county for six years. The salary of the assistant land clerk is $1,200.

Mr. Jewett was the oldest employe in the office. He was appointed by Auditor Braden in February, 1885. He was out part of the time during Auditor Biermann's term, but was reappointed when R. C. Dunn became auditor, and since then has held the office continuously.

Mr. Jewett came to the state in 1865 and lived at Faribault, where he was employed at engineering and public surveys until his appointment by Auditor Braden. He earned his title of captain as commander of a company of the Fifty-fourth Massachusetts volunteers during the Civil war.

A handsome gold watch, chain and Masonic charm were presented to Capt. Jewett by the other members of the staff.

TOWNSITE PATENT HID IN BOX

Lost Paper Found After Search of Forty Years.

After forty long years the lost townsite patent of Clearwater has been discovered in an old soap box among a lot of waste paper, and was in excellent condition.

The patent was issued May 1, 1860, to Simon Stevens as president of the village council, and bears the signature of James Buchanan, president of the United States. Instead of having it recorded with the register of deeds of Wright county, Mr. Stevens mislaid the document, and search for it as they did for forty years, the paper could not be found. Owing to the loss of the patent considerable annoyance had been experienced of late years in making transfers of village property.

While the government patent was on file at Washington, there was nothing of record in Wright county. Clearwater townsite comprises between 200 and 300 acres.

NEW GOVERNOR'S CLERK.

Harvey W. Grimmer Succeeds Cleve W. Van Dyke.

Harvey W. Grimmer of St. Cloud has been appointed as the governor's executive clerk to succeed Cleve W. Van Dyke, who resigned.

Mr. Grimmer's appointment is said to be a recognition of his assistance to the Democratic state central committee in the campaign last year. Mr. Grimmer was political writer on the St. Paul Globe until that paper suspended. Recently he has been connected with the St. Cloud Journal-Press. Mr. Grimmer has a wide acquaintance throughout the state, especially with men of both parties in public life.

FIERCE STORM SWEEPS LAKES

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION IN WAKE OF GALE ON THE LOWER LAKES.

TWELVE DROWN IN ANGRY SEAS

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS' WORTH OF PROPERTY LOST.

MANY VESSELS ARE WRECKED

ONE OF THE FIERCEST GALES THAT EVER SWEPT THE LOWER LAKES.

Chicago, Oct. 22. — Death and destruction have resulted from one of the fiercest gales that ever swept the lower lakes, which has been blowing for the past twenty-four hours and has not yet subsided.

As far as returns are obtainable ten vessels have been completely wrecked and twelve of fifteen others more or less severely damaged. Twelve lives are known to have been lost, and as the gale on Southern Lake Huron and Lake Erie is still blowing fiercely it is feared that other losses, both of life and property, will be reported within the next twenty-four hours.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property has been lost. Crippled vessels yesterday sought refuge in Chicago harbor, and at every other lake port.

The east shore of Lake Michigan has suffered severely, dock property worth thousands of dollars being swept away at St. Joseph, Holland, South Haven, Grand Haven and Muskegon. Heavy waves are still bombarding the coast and the Pierre Marquette bridge spanning the St. Joseph river near its mouth, is in danger of being swept away.

Great Anxiety Felt.

Much anxiety is felt in shipping circles for vessels that are on the lakes. The hurricane was one of the worst in recent years, and it is believed shipping interests will be fortunate if many wrecks are not reported.

Three vessels that made port at Chicago yesterday came in badly damaged. The Al Williams of Sheboygan was crippled to such an extent that Capt. Charles Carland and his crew at the life saving station prepared to go to the aid of the boat, but a tug reached the vessel and towed it into the harbor.

The schooner Kate Lawrence, from Fort River, and the schooner Lotus, from Menominee, both lumber vessels, got in with difficulty, badly damaged.

The storm damaged portions of the sea wall along the north shore and washed out huge chunks of the bluffs north of Evanston.

Barge Is Ashore.

The barge Rhoades, which broke away from the Joseph Fay before the latter was beached at Rogers City, was reported ashore yesterday at Sheboygan Point. She is in an exposed position, but all the members of the crew were saved. From Lake Erie comes reports of the sinking of a vessel thought to be one of the vessels of the barge fleet owned by James Corrigan of Chicago. Capt. Stewart of the steamer Walter Scranton, which passed up the Detroit river yesterday, sent word ashore that he had passed a sinking vessel in Lake Erie. Capt. Stewart's report was that the two and a half miles southwest of the southeast shoal lightship. The top of her cabins showed above water and the Corrigan colors were in evidence.

Wreck Was Seen

The steamer Bulgaria of the Corrigan fleet was soon after sighted under shelter of an island. Apparently neither of the two barges Tasmania or Ashland, which the Bulgaria had in tow when she passed Detroit Thursday, were then with her. From this it was inferred that the sinking vessel sighted was one of these barges, the fate of the other remaining a problem.

Evidence of another wreck is found in the discovery of a considerable amount of wreckage floating by Thunder Bay Island in Lake Huron late yesterday. The schooner Emma L. Nelson of Alpena, Mich., is reported ashore in Presque Isle harbor, which is not far from Rogers City.

Shore Is Strewn With Wrecks.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 22.—As a result of the wildest storm that has swept Lake Erie in years, wrecks have strewn the shore the entire distance from Buffalo to Detroit. The storm came with abrupt suddenness at an early hour Friday morning and continued throughout the day.

The storm swept lake from one end to the other and every vessel that was exposed suffered to a more or less extent.

Tornado Kills Two.

Guthrie, Okla., Oct. 22.—A tornado [illegible] Payne county, last night killed [illegible] small children of [illegible] vin Anderson, living on [illegible] badly injured Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and demolished the house of Edward Root, breaking his daughter's [illegible]. The storm followed the Cimarron [illegible]

COLLECTED SOUVENIRS.

Nurse Admits Stealing Bric-a-Brac Worth Thousands of Dollars.

New York, Oct. 22.—Hilda Austin, a professional nurse, was arrested last night charged with stealing silverware and other valuable articles from the Hotel Regis, where she had been employed since early in September. In her room was found several thousand dollars' worth of silverware, cut glass, china, jewelry, jewel cases, bric-a-brac and many other articles. She is said to have admitted that she had been robbing the hotel during most of the time she was there, but begged for leniency, declaring her trouble had all come from a fad for collecting souvenirs. Later she said her real name was Marie Weston, and that her home is in Brooklyn. Some of the silverware found in her room has the names of the Waldorf, Empire and other hotels on it.

TELL OF BRUTALITIES.

Great Indignation Displayed by the Spectators.

Fort Scott, Kan., Oct. 22. —Several hundred women yesterday flocked to the court room where George F. Riggin and his wife were being given a preliminary hearing on the charge of murdering six-year-old Herbert Riggin by starvation and brutality. One woman testified that she had seen Mrs. Riggin whip the boy unmercifully, and that two days before the boy died the stepmother beat him until it seemed she wanted to kill him. Frequently after such punishments, the witness testified, Mrs. Riggin or her daughter would knock the child down with a blow of the fist in the face. During the proceedings yesterday great indignation was displayed by the spectators.

TOPNOTCH MASONS.

Three Minnesota Men Take Thirty-Third Degree.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Paul E. Baumgartner of Winona, Robert E. Danfell of Duluth and O. O. Whited of Minneapolis, have taken the highest degree in Scottish Rite Masonry at the session of the supreme council here. They were given the thirty-third degree last night by James E. Richardson, the highest Mason in the world.

SAYS "SHOOT TO KILL."

Odessa Police Are Ordered to Shoot Into Mobs.

Odessa, Oct. 22.—The governor yesterday issued an order to the police instructing them in the event of disturbances to fire directly into the mobs without any preliminary volleys in the air. This order, it is expected, will have a deterrent effect on proposed gatherings for the purpose of disorder.

Minsk, Russia, Oct. 22.—A meeting of members of the revolutionary party, held in a Jewish school here yesterday, for the purpose of discussing the candidates for the national assembly, was dispersed by Cossacks and police. Workmen, in retaliation, attacked the Cossacks with sticks, and in the conflict a hundred persons were slightly and twenty severely injured. Demonstrations in the streets continue.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

St. Paul, Oct. 23. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 83 1-2@84 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 81@82 1-2c; No. 3, 79 1-4@80 1-2c. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 49@50c. Oats—No. 3 white, 27@27 1-2c.

Duluth, Oct. 23. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 84 1-4c; No. 2 Northern, 82 1-4c; flax, 97 1-2c; rye, 65c.

Minneapolis, Oct. 23. — Wheat—No. 1 hard, 84 5-8c; No. 1 Northern, 184 1-8c; No. 2 Northern, 81 7-8c. Oats—No. 3 white, 26 5-8c.

Milwaukee, Oct. 23. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 86@87 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 82@85 1-2c. Rye—No. 1, 68 1-2@69 1-2c. Barley—No. 2, 54c. Oats — Standard, 29@29 1-2c.

Chicago, Oct. 23. — Wheat — No. 2 red, 88@88 1-2c; No. 2 hard, 84 1-2@87 1-2c; No. 3 hard, 82 1-2@86c; No. 1 Northern, 88 1-2@90c; No. 2 Northern, 86 1-2@88c. Corn—No. 2, 52@52 1-2c. Oats—No. 2, 28 1-4@28 1-2c.

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 23—Cattle—Beeves, $5 @ 5.75; cows, bulls and mixed, $2.25@3.70; stockers and feeders, $3@4; calves and yearlings, $2.50@3.25. Hogs—Bulk, $5.10@5.15.

Chicago, Oct. 23. — Cattle—Good to prime steers, $3.65 @ 6.30; stockers and feeders, $2.40@4.45; cows, $2.50@4.50; heifers, $2.20@4.80; calves, $3@7. Hogs—Mixed and butchers, $5 @ 5.57 1-2; bulk, $5.15 @ 5.45. Sheep—Good to choice wethers, $4.60@5; native lambs, $5.25 @ 7.25; Western lambs, $5.75@7.

South St. Paul, Oct. 23. — Cattle — Good to choice steers, $4.50 @ 5.50; good to choice cows and heifers, $3.60@4; butcher bulls, $2.75@3.50; veals $2@4.50; good to choice stock steers $2.50@3.50; good to choice milch cows, $20@35. Hogs — Range price, $4.80 @5.25; bulk, $5@5.10. Sheep—Good to choice lambs, $5@5.85; fair to good, $4@5; good to choice wethers, $4.50@5.50; good to choice ewes, $3.75@4.40.

SELL WORK OF MAD KING.

Jewelry Designed by Ludwig Brings $3,750 in London.

London, Oct. 22.—A collection of jewelry designed by the mad King Ludwig of Bavaria was sold in London yesterday afternoon and realized [illegible]

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

HOLDS BABES FOR BILL.

Sends Tickets to Milwaukee But Cannot Pay the Board Bill.

Milwaukee, Oct. 21.—There are two half-fare railroad tickets at the union station awaiting the call of the owners, two children, at present in the baby home conducted by Johanna Schultz near the Wells street viaduct, which has been involved in the Schandein case by the liberal contributions to the home for all the children, not one particular child, according to the testimony of Miss Schultz. The tickets were purchased by the mother, Mrs. Jennie Watts, at Minneapolis, and telegraphed to Milwaukee. The funds necessary for their purchase were earned by days and weeks of patient, weary, plodding toil, during which the only ray of sunshine was the hope of the mother that she might again see her loved children and again might be gladdened by the feeling of their little arms about her neck. Miss Schultz, the owner of the baby home, refuses, however, to give up possession of the children until her claim for board has been satisfied.

WHOLE WEST UNDER SNOW.

The Earliest Fall on Record Opens the Winter Season.

St. Paul, Oct. 21.—Nature yesterday dealt to the Northwest the first hand of the annual game of freez-out, and the prospects are that the rest of the sitting will be played absolutely without a limit. Cold winds and snow flurries characterized the unusually early coming of cold in most localities, and where there was no snow a cold rain took place of the display of "goose feathers."

No section of the great Northwest escaped the attention of the weather clerk. The commonwealths of the United States and the Canadian provinces faired alike, and in many places where the farmers had been able to take care of their crops the damage done will leave a big vacancy in the development of their plans for the year. Special dispatches from South Dakota told of a fall of snow in almost every county of that state.

FIND LONE FARMER DEAD.

Head Blown Off, Evidently by a Hunting Accident.

Devils Lake, N. D., Oct. 21. — Near Crary, nine miles east of here, yesterday, the remains of William Stewart, aged forty years, were found by boys who were hunting for cattle. Stewart owned a farm a mile and a half from Crary, and on this farm the body, with the head blown off, was found. The coroner, state's attorney and sheriff investigated the matter. They believe that death resulted from an accident. It is quite probable that Stewart was hunting geese and in some unknown way caused the discharge of the gun. Circumstances do not point to foul play or suicide. Stewart came a number of years ago from North Ireland. He was single and leaves no relatives in this country.

FEAR SPREAD OF RABIES.

Five Cattle and a Horse, Bitten by a Dog, Die of Disease.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 21.—Five head of cattle and one horse is the loss by rabies sustained by A. Tibesar of the town of Mount Vernon, in this county, this fall. The shepherd dog owned by Mr. Tibesar was infected by a strange dog that passed through that way last summer, and it was some time after before Tibesar's dog showed the effects and had to be killed. About five weeks ago some of the stock began to show signs of rabies, and up to the present time the five cows and one horse have had to be killed. Farmers are much alarmed, and every precaution is being taken.

TO HAVE NEW RURAL ROUTES

Representative Volstad Gets Promise for Minnesota District.

Washington, Oct. 21. — Representative Volstad of the Seventh Minnesota district left for home yesterday. He has been here for three or four days attending to matters in the departments of interest to his constituents. Among other things he took up the question of rural free delivery in the Seventh district, and got the promise of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General De Grew that additional routes will be established there. Mr. Volstad engaged winter quarters, where he and his family will reside during the coming session.

AITKIN BOY LOSES HIS LEGS.

Dodges Freight Train and Is Run Down by Passenger.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 21.—John Kjellman, an eighteen-year-old boy from Aitkin, Minn., was struck by a Northern Pacific passenger train last night and will lose both legs. He was going down Broadway, and while getting out of the way of an east-bound freight stepped in front of an incoming passenger from the west. One leg was cut off at the calf and the other badly mangled. The boy is here visiting his sister, Mrs. John Lagerburg, and was not familiar with the crossing. It is thought he may survive the operation.

Lightning [illegible] Barn.

Forest City, Iowa, Oct. 21.—During [illegible]

MILLERS RESIST OFFICERS.

Superior Mill Is Scene of a Battle Royal.

Superior, Wis., Oct. 22. — A battle royal was waged at the Listman mill in this city yesterday afternoon between the Wisconsin inspectors and the employes of the mill, acting upon the orders of the Duluth board of trade, which controls the mills at the present time. As a result of the fight the mill bears the appearance of the center of a battle ground. The doors are torn from their hinges and broken bags of dust are scattered knee deep over the floor of the house. The trouble started when the mill people attempted to unload cars of grain into its elevators with Minnesota inspectors doing the weighing. The Wisconsin officials claim the sole right to weigh the wheat and immediately after the unloading process started, they began to break their way into the building. The doors were barricaded, and about 100 employes of the two mills were brought to the Listman to resist the efforts of the Wisconsin weighmen to enter. The opposing forces did not come to blows, but there was some lively shifting of the two crews to protect the different entrances to the scale house. Finally the Wisconsin men, with the aid of a squad of police, succeeded in forcing in one of the doors and took charge of the scales. The mill immediately shut down and the unloading stopped.

HEAD TORN FROM BODY.

Mass of Rock Hurled by Blast Kills Workman.

Lead, S. D., Oct. 22.—A Slavonian by the name of Spisagi Miljanich met a horrible death yesterday at the stone quarry near this city. A blast had been put in, and as the rock commenced to slide after the explosion the other workmen got out of its way. Milanich, however, either did not observe the danger in which he stood or else he did not realize it, for he stood directly in the way of the rock and shale. A great mass came rolling down the side of the cliff, and was upon him, hurling his body against a rock car with such terrible impetus that his head was torn completely off his body and rolled some ten feet away. An inquest will be held this morning.

ANOTHER BIG DEAL.

Tract of 200,000,000 Feet of Pine Sold to Weyerhaeuser Interests.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 22.—The tract of pine north of Virginia, known at the Goodyear tract, has been sold to the Edward Hine Lumber company, a division of the Weyerhaeusers. It contains about 200,000,000 feet and the consideration was $1,600,000. The Goodyear pine is in the same territory as the White & Friant tract of 150,000,000 feet that the Weyerhaeusers purchased a few weeks ago, and all of it is tributary to the Duluth, Virginia & Rainy Lake road. This trade is one of several heavy timber deals that have been made in Northeastern Minnesota recently.

NO RACE SUICIDE THERE.

South Dakota Reports 774 Deaths, 722 Marriages and 2,113 Births.

Pierre, S. D., Oct. 22.—The quarterly report of the bureau of vital statistics shows 2,113 births, 774 deaths, 722 marriages, 89 divorces, 187 declarations of citizenship, and 78 final naturalization papers. The death rate for the year would be 7.1 in the thousand population annually. The greatest number of deaths were from tuberculosis, with heart failure next and old age third.

HE'S TOO FAT; LOSES HIS JOB.

Iowa Capitol Employe Will Appeal Case to the Governor.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 22. — Tom Graham, who tips the scales at 300 pounds, was discharged as night watchman at the state capitol by Custodian McCurdy because he was "too fat." Graham is an old soldier and has the G. A. R. lined up to appeal to the governor. He says his only duty is to see that the doors are locked and that he can do it as well as any one.

ONE DAY IN PRISON.

Court Imposes Shortest Term Ever Given in Iowa Penitentiary.

Dubuque, Iowa, Oct. 22. — Judge G. W. Burnham has imposed the shortest term in the Iowa state penitentiary ever given. Edward Frondel and John Lang, found guilty of obstructing the right of way of the Rock Island railway at Vinton, have been sentenced to one day each in Anamosa prison. The sentence is the minimum fixed by law.

HOLD UP 1,100,000 ACRES.

Government Land Office Considers Irrigation Project.

Washington, Oct. 22.—The commissioner of the general land office has ordered the withdrawal from entry of all the public land in areas covering 1,100,000 acres in the [illegible] land districts of [illegible] the Lake Basin irrigation project in that state.

Accidentally Killed.

[illegible]

A friend of the home
A foe of the Trust

Calumet Baking Powder

Complies with the Pure Food Laws of all States.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

PRESIDENT McCURDY of the Mutual Life says he has no apology to offer. An apology dosn't count for much when a man is caught with the goods on him.

SOME of the Duluth people are trying to shelve Congressman Bede by pitting W. E. Culkin against him. Adam, though, has a faculty of enduring opposition.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is cultivating the people of the southern states this week. He announces that this will be his last extended jaunt during his term of office.

THE Roseau Region has sized up the situation concisely: "There is no dearth of good Republican gubernatorial timber, but the question is, who can beat Johnson?"

THE Atchison Globe has discovered that hens have no further use for a rooster that has been whipped in a fight with another rooster and concludes that chickens are a good deal like people.

FRANK EDDY has a good second hand buggy top which he proposes to present to the first wheatmaker who will explain how a tariff on lumber benefits him. And, nowadays, this kind of talk isn't treason, either.

SIX new battleships within the next six months four more in the six months following, and still three more in the six months after that—let no one imagine that the United States will not be a great naval power by 1907. But there are those who never will be satisfied.

THE Minneapolis Journal remarks that the bright young business men of the future, kings of commerce of 1920, are not found today sitting around on boxes, playing cards in the back room of the boozery, smoking cigarettes and wearing hats with red bands on them, jauntily poised on the sides of their heads.

IT is planned by the officials of the war department to put the army of the United States on a war footing of 250,000 men. A scheme with this end in view will be submitted to congress at its next session. It has been under consideration for several weeks by officers of the department and they now have the plan in tangible form.

THE political wiseacres at St. Paul have it that Senator Stephens is to be the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. It used to be considered that this position was the graveyard of political hopes, but maybe Andy doesn't care for that. It is a notable fact, however, that a lieutenant governor has never been made governor save by the resignation of the latter.

Ayer's

Do you like your thin, rough, short hair? Of course you don't. Do you like thick, heavy, smooth hair? Of course you do. Then why not be pleased? Ayer's Hair Vigor makes beautiful heads of hair, that's the whole story. Sold for 60 years.

Hair Vigor

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a long time. It is, indeed, a wonderful hair tonic, restoring health to the hair and scalp, and, at the same time, proving a splendid dressing."
DR. J. W. TATUM, Madill, Ind. T.

$1.00 a bottle.
All druggists.
J. C. AYER CO.,
Lowell, Mass.

for

Weak Hair

THE senatorial clique is said to be attempting to foist a condidate for governor on the Republican party. Of course they want one who would be friendly to the senatorial interests. Senator Lord won't do, they say. He's too honest, and besides is not inclined to stand up for the corporations in all emergencies. The senatorial clique is an important though undersirable adjunct to the Republican party.

THE Buckman adherents in the Sixth district still insist that Senator Rrower is the logical candidate for governor. There is considerable self-interest apparent, of course. Buckman's friends are interested primarily in getting Mr. Brower out of the way as a congressional candidate. We still insist that the happiest solution is to give Brower the seat in congress and let Buckman run for governor.

IN noting the great revival in progress at St. Paul the Mapleton Enterprise says there is need for a revival all over the northwest—a revival that will awaken an interest in upright living and business honesty between man and man—a revival that will bring about respect for existing laws—a revival which will cause men to think of those about them and to do what they can to make the old world brighter and better.

IT may be, as Congressman Boutell thinks, that the accumulation of cash in the treasury will cover any shortage of revenue for some years to come, but that depends. The available cash balance is now $131,500,000. Probably it ought not to be reduced below $50,000,000. Not more than $82,000,000, therefore, is really available. The revenues have been $2,400,000 less than the expenditures this month and $12,200,000 less since the 1st of July. When the dirt begins to fly at Panama the money will begin to fly too. There is the navy to consider, not to speak of irrigation and other extraordinary demands on the treasury. Economy is not to be counted on. So it may be necessary to lay more taxes.

Schools Get State Money

The school apportionment fund has been received by County Treasurer Hansen this week. The regular per capita apportionment amounts to $8,070.70, being $2.30 for each pupil in the county attending school an average of forty days during the past year. Out of this fund the city of Red Lake Falls gets $1,251.80; Thief River Falls, $1,903.40, and St. Hilaire $549.70.

There are also several sums apportioned to the various high and graded schools of the county. Red Lake Falls city gets $1,495, Thief River Falls, $1,375, and St. Hilaire $525. District 79, Terrebonne township, a semi-graded school, gets $240. Of the first-class rural school district No. 1, Wylie, will receive $114, and district 81, Terrebonne, $81. Three second class rural schools gets $37 each, as follows: District No. 27, Lake Pleasant; district No. 63, Red Lake Falls township, and district No. 112, Gervais. Owing to the appropriation being insufficient the full amount to which these districts are entitled, but the deficiency will be taken care of by the next appropriation.

The Orignal.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons.

The Re-Apportionment Problem.

Ada Herald: The politicians will have a mighty ticklish job on their hands when they attempt to re-apportion this senatorial district which now comprises Red Lake, Clearwater, Beltrami and Norman counties. We are big enough for two senators but the interests of Beltrami county are not inimicable to the other counties. Beltrami has not enough people to form a senatorial district alone and none of the other counties seem anxious to couple up with her.

Musical Instruments Below Cost.

We will give 25 per cent discount on all violins, guitars and other small musical instruments for the next thirty days.—Anderson & Wander.

Stationery at the Courier office.

SCHEME OF THE RAILROADS

Country Newspapers Inveigled Into Clever Trick to Oppose President's Program.

If money and herculean efforts can turn the northwest states from their now evident purpose of standing by President Roosevelt in demanding government control of railroad rates the railroads will win. Special agencies in every section to quell the anti-railroad spirit have now been supplemented by the establishment of a "ready print" service. Every country newspaper which will use this "magazine section" is given it absolutely free, delivered at his office door. There is not a cent of charge for the print paper, for typesetting, or for expressage.

This new feature of the railroads' plan of campaign has caught on. While the purpose of it is obvious, the promoters of the scheme are most adroit in the selection of matter for the "magazine section." For the first few weeks there was not a reference to the railroads in this "free service," but now there is an occasional article, cleverly disguised as "news" in every instance the railroads are shown to be doing wonderful work in the development of the country, in supporting a vast army of employes and in making enormous outlays of wealth to the benefit of all people. Yet the dividends are said to be small. These statements would not arouse the suspicious of the average reader in a thousand years. It is only after one knows who the publishers are that the motive becomes apparent. Tho chief pursose is, of course, to keep the newspapers friendly.

It is creditably reported that several hundred of the country newspapers are accepting and using this "magazine section" in Iowa, South and North Dakota, Minnesota and Nebraska, and it is said the service is extended over the entire west and South.

The building of the Northwestern and the Milwaukee and St. Paul railroads across western South Dakota, improving a section, which the people have long waited to have traversed by railroads, is certain to make friends, in that state for the railroads.

TEACHERS' MEETING.

To be Held at Thief River Falls November 3 and 4.

The next meeting of the Red Lake county Teachers' Protective Association will be held at Thief River Falls on Friday and Saturday, November 3 and 4. It is intended to take up the subjects of writing and language at this meeting, and numerous papers on these topics will be read. Addresses by prominent educators have also been arranged for.

It is desired to have a good attendance of the teachers of the county, as the session promises to be especially interesting and profitable. Each teacher is requested to bring to the meeting exhibits of writing and language work that is being done in the schools—not only the best but also the poorest work, it being the aim to find out the true condition of work done in these subjects in the schools of the county. These exhibits should be prepared with pen and ink.

The Better Way

The tissues of the throat are inflamed and irritated; you cough, and there is more irritation—more coughing. You take a cough mixture and it eases the irritation—for a while. You take and it cures the cold. That's what is necessary. It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. That's how Scott's Emulsion deals with a sore throat, a cough, a cold or bronchitis.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

WE'LL SEND YOU A SAMPLE FREE.

SCOTT & BOWNE, [illegible]

The Busy Store

DO IT NOW!—That's what you should do if you take advantage of the bargains which we are giving FOR THIS WEEK. The well known

LANDESMAN CLOAKS

are going fast. Stocks are selling low, but we can still show you remaakable values. A stylish lot, worth from $10 to $13, our price.................. $9 to $10

Bargains in Boys' and Mens' Caps

Values worth from 50c to $1.00. Men's sizes, good warm and seviceable Bargain price choice.............. 48c.

Lots of Boys' Warm CAPS

Worth from 25c to 50c; Your choice for only........ 19c

Cotton Blanket Bargains

Tan border, and soft, going at only.............. 65c

ENGLISH FLANNELETTES,

Very downy, special, per yard.................. 10c

Furs of QUALITY,

When you know that LANPHER FURS have been made right in your own state for 33 years they must be good. No matter what fur or style you want. we have it for you . . . .

RICH BLACK CONEYS at .. $50 to $125

MOST STYLISH BOA, a bargain at........... 1.50

FOXES, from..... $13 to $25

Money back if we do not give better for less money than you get elsewhere . . . . . .

GARCEAU & ZAISER

BANKER HANNAY BACK FROM THE COAST

John K. Hannay, the St. Hilaire banker and lawyer, returned Saturday from an extended visit to the far west, having visited Portland, Tacoma, and other places. Mr. Hannay has three sons at Seattle, the eldest—John—being engaged in the wholesale and retail optical business there, and Will is working for him. Another son, Norman B., has recently commenced the practice of law. All of the boys are doing well and are enthusiastic in their praise of the coast country. Mr. Hannay thinks himself that Seattle is going to become one of the great centers of trade, like New York and Chicago. The trade with Alaska and the Orient is coming to be enormous and will continue to grow in volume every year.

HALLOWE'EN GOBLINS MIGHT CATCH YOU

The Y.P.S.C.E. of the Presbyterian church will give a Hallowe'en party at the church parlors next Tuesday evening, October 31. All who attend are requested to bring sheets and pillow cases. Masques will be furnished at the church. An admission of 25 cents will be charged. Luncheon will be served and the evening spent in having a jolly good time. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

SCHOOL BOARDS WARNED.

State Superintendent Wants them to Be Careful.

State Superintendent J. W. Olson has issued a circular warning school authorities of bogus agents who impose on them by selling supplies. He denies that he has approved of the goods sold by agents of the "Agricultural Educational Society," which claims to have his endorsement, and urge that school boards do not buy supplies unless the question has been considered at a regular meeting, with the best advice to be obtained from educators.

BOB AND EVA COMING.

Excellent Attraction at the Metropolitan Next Week.

Word was received this morning by Managers Anderson & Wander of the Metropolitan opera house that Bob and Eva McGinley, the well-known entertainers and character artists, will be in Red Lake Falls on Friday evening, November 3. These people were here three years ago and many of our people will remember them with a great deal of pleasure. Full particulars will be [illegible]

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.'s

North'n Pacific Elevator Open

Our Elevator at the Northern Pacific Depot is now open and ready for business with Frank La Bissoniere as agent, who will buy all kinds of grain at highest market prices. FLOUR and FEED for sale.

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.

The Right Road

TO CHICAGO, KANSAS CITY AND OMAHA
FROM SAINT PAUL OR MINNEAPOLIS

CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
MAPLE LEAF ROUTE

Many trains daily, superbly equipped, making fast time.

Through Tourist Cars to California, with choice of routes west of Omaha or Kansas City.

For information write to

J. P. ELMER, General Passenger Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

CALUMET

Baking Powder

The only high grade Baking Powder sold at a moderate price. Complies with the pure food laws of all states.

Churches.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Very Rev. E. Fayolle, Rector.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Rev. Father Ansgar, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN—Services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., every Sunday. Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Rev. H. W. Knox, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

I. O. O. F.—Clearwater Lodge No. 133, meets every Saturday evening at I. O. O. F. hall. Visitors are always welcome.—F. A. Mizen, N. G. William Schwalen, V. G., F. A. Grady, R. S., James E. Ford, F. S.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—Red Lake Falls Lodge No. 169, meets every Monday evening K. of P. hall.—W. A. McIntyre, C. C.; S. L. Lewis, K. of R. and S.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS—Meets every other Friday evening at C. O. F. hall. L. A. Kaufer, Chief Ranger; J. R. Fortier, Recording Secretary.

MODERN WOODMEN—Meets every other Wednesday at M. W. A. hall.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, - Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Merchants State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

Junior Toilettes
THE FASHION AND PATTERN MAGAZINE FOR YOUNG FOLKS.

10c. A COPY, $1.00 A YEAR.
FOR SALE BY
BOOKSELLERS AND NEWSDEALERS
Paper Patterns exclusive, stylish, practical and modest in price.
If you cannot get JUNIOR TOILETTES from your bookseller write for sample copy or send your subscription to
TOILETTES FASHION CO.
172 Fifth Ave., Cor. 22d St., New York.

HOLLISTER'S
Rocky Mountain Tea Nuggets
A Busy Medicine for Busy People.
Brings Golden Health and Renewed Vigor.
A specific for Constipation, Indigestion, Live and Kidney Troubles, Pimples, Eczema, Impure Blood, Bad Breath, Sluggish Bowels, Headache and Backache. It's Rocky Mountain Tea in tablet form, 35 cents a box. Genuine made by Hollister Drug Company, Madison, Wis.
GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

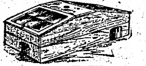
FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE
Will cure any case of Kidney or Bladder disease that is not beyond the reach of medicine.
GIVEN UP TO DIE.
—B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over four years I was troubled with a kidney and bladder affection [illegible] and was unable to work. Three physicians failed to help me and I was given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured."
Two Sizes 50 Cents and $1.00

POULTRY AND BEES

HOME-MADE BROODER.

Description of One of Simple Construction Which Is Said to Do Good Service.

The accompanying pictures and condensed descriptions are furnished by C. E. Beare, Trumbull county, Ohio, to the Ohio Farmer. Fig. 1 shows the outside of the brooder. Fig. 2 is a cross section. Heat is supplied by lamp, L, over which is suspended an inverted box, A, with a galvanized iron bottom, and having openings in its sides for ventilation. An inch above the sheet iron is a platform, C, on which the chicks are placed. The space between forms the hot-air chamber, B. Fresh air is supplied by shaft, H, passing into the chamber, B, where it is heated and rises through a warm air pipe, K, into the brooder pen, P, P, where it is partially confined by the cover, D, which may be adjusted to suit the size of the chicks. About the edge of D is hung a woolen curtain, E, notched so that the chicks may run in and out. The warm air finally finds an outlet through the ventilators, V, V, V, in the roof, M, M. Platform C is hinged at T, so that the portion R may be raised or lowered by cord, N. When raised it is supported by the spring, S. It is important that this slope be inside rather than outside the brooder, as the chicks are invited by the open door, and when this leads them to the bottom of the slope they will generally find their way up. If the slope is outside they may fail to find the entrance. Raising the slope gives a double floor space and plenty of room inside the brooder on bad days. Have a thermometer in brooder. Start chicks at 95 degrees and gradually reduce to 90, 85, 80 degrees, with less heat as they grow older.



THE INCUBATOR.

SECTIONAL VIEW OF INCUBATOR.

HENS FOR HATCHING.

Plymouth Rocks Are Undoubtedly the Best Sitters and Mothers.

In spite of the fact that incubators and brooders have been brought to a great state of perfection, the old hen will still be used on most farms. The hen is a more skillful producer of chicks than is the incubator in the hands of the average man and woman. Where only a few fowls are kept and only a few chicks are desired the hen will still hold her popularity. We believe that where the farmer desires to keep a good-sized flock of hens, and to raise yearly in excess of 100 chicks, the incubator should be used. But we realize the fact that on millions of our farms just enough fowls are kept to consume the scraps from the table.

The hens for setting purposes must come from some of the breeds that have not had the maternity instinct bred out of them. We would not think of selecting any of the Leghorn breeds for setters. Probably there is no breed that produces better setters than the Plymouth Rocks. But in selecting a fowl for this work, preference should be given to those that are light in weight, as the heavy fowls both break eggs and trample chicks to death. We have found the lighter weights to give most excellent satisfaction. While they cannot cover so many eggs as the larger fowls, they will bring more chicks to maturity.

CACKLES AND CROWS.

The hen is the friend of the small capitalist.

The hen is still a leader as a money maker on a small scale.

The farm boy and the farm girl should each own a flock of fowls.

Everybody interested in raising poultry should own an incubator.

An incubator raises more hens, consequently more eggs, which makes more money.

Separate the fowls into small flocks of 25 to 30, putting the hens by themselves and dividing the pullets. You can then feed them better and get more eggs.

For incubating purposes care should be exercised to make sure that a large proportion of the eggs are fertile. It will also pay to candle the eggs after they have been in the incubator a couple of days, removing those that are not fertile.

Small Egg Producers Infertile.

Contrary to general impression the fewer eggs a hen lays the more are they likely to be infertile, if we can judge anything from experiments carried on at the Maine station. There an attempt was made to breed downward in egg yield as well as upward. The experimenters were surprised at finding an unlooked for obstacle, namely, the infertility of the eggs [illegible]

WAIL OF ROYAL CHEF

WELL PAID, BUT MASTERS ARE MOST EXACTING.

How the Kingly Menus Are Prepared —Franz Joseph Selects His Own— Kaiser Eats in Four Languages —Sultan Fears Poison.

London.—"Menus are the greatest burden of sovereignty," once remarked the emperor of Austria, and this, coupled with the statement of the late Czar Alexander III. that a monarch required more diplomacy in dealing with his cooks than with his ministers leads one to believe that culinary matters are a source of unceasing worry to every crowned head.

Emperor Franz Josef has, however, good cause to grumble, because although the actual cost of the food he consumes himself does not amount to $5,000 a year, he pays his chef—a Belgian—a salary of $10,000 per annum, and the kitchen expenses at the palace are never less than $75,000. The reason for this is that, whereas the emperor always takes his meals alone in his study, his palace dinners are produced regardless of expense.

The emperor's chef always submits a menu for the following day's dinner to his royal master when dinner is served. Punctually at six o'clock his valet enters with a large tray, which he places on the emperor's desk, and while Franz Josef is negotiating his soup he scans to-morrow's menu and crosses off with a blue pencil anything he does not care for.

At the German court things are somewhat different. There are four chefs—a German, a Frenchman, an Englishman and an Italian—because the kaiser never decides till the day arrives whether he will have a German, a French, an English or an Italian meal, with the result that there is much scurrying to prepare a menu. This is not an easy matter if there are many guests present, because each chef is only allowed so much a head, and he must serve up an elegant meal at that figure. Each chef has five assistants and has to render an account of each day's expenses to the head steward.

The chef at the Portuguese court is an Englishman and he receives only $4,000 a year. When King Carlos paid his first visit to England and was staying with the late Lord Salisbury, he said that what struck him most about Britain was the roast beef, and he forthwith took back with him an English chef. King Carlos insists on an English meal every day, but the queen and the members of the household have two French chefs to study their wants, and they each receive salaries of $5,500 per annum.

The most trying post any man can wish for is that of chef to the sultan of Turkey at the palace at Yildiz. Here the royal kitchen is situated right under the royal apartments; it is quite a small room, strongly guarded, and even the windows are barred. The sultan's horror of poison led him on one occasion to install a soldier whom he trusted as chef, and for two years he endured badly cooked food rather than face the risk of poison.

The present chef has held his post seven years, but he is only responsible to Kelarji, the chief steward, for the food, and this official is in his turn responsible to the sultan. When the meal is ready it is placed on a tray and the tray is then covered with a black cloth, the ends of which are sealed by Kelarji before it is borne into the imperial apartment.

The czar of Russia's chef is likewise a much harassed individual, but as he is well paid—his salary from all sources being over $10,000 a year—he is not to be pitied.

THIRTEEN PROVES UNLUCKY

Courtship Lasted 13 Months; April 13 Set for Wedding; Groom Dies After 13 Days' Illness.

Muskegon, Mich.—The number "13" proved unlucky to F. Delong, who died here after all preparations had been completed for his marriage to one of the most prominent young women of this section.

After a courtship of just 13 months Delong proposed and was accepted. April 13 was set as the wedding day, and all preparations for the wedding were completed when the prospective bridegroom became ill. For 13 days and 13 nights the bride-to-be was his constant attendant, even to eating her meals at his bedside.

The unlucky combination of thirteens had been noted, and when the thirteenth day of illness ended to-day the sudden death of the patient was hardly a surprise to his superstitious friends.

The young woman who was to be a bride April 13 is hysterical, and refused to leave the hospital or be consoled.

Never Had Seen White Men.

Nordenskjold, the famous arctic explorer, has returned to Montevideo, Paraguay, from an expedition into the interior of South America to the borders of Brazil, Bolivia and Peru, where he found Indians who had never seen white men. They are among the most primitive people in the world. They believed him to be some god because he gave them flesh of monkeys he had hunted. They begged him to remain as their chief, but he did not accept the offer, knowing the prestige would be lost with his ammunition.

Reaching the Goal.

Russia is to carry the war to the bitter end. There must be rather a bad taste [illegible]

CHICAGO'S FREIGHT SUBWAY

Will Furnish Facilities for the Best Underground Mail Service in the World.

Far below the surface of Chicago's streets scores of electric locomotives are pulling freight trains that are taking thousands of tons of coal into the boiler rooms of skyscrapers, without dirt, noise or sign of effort in the street, says the Scientific American. They are removing tons of ashes, and caring for the excavations from the basements of buildings in course of construction. More than this, they are hauling daily thousands of tons of freight which was formerly carried over the pavements in wagons. On February 15, 1905, the company entered into a contract with the government under which all Chicago's second, third and fourth-class mail matter will be transferred from the railway stations to the new post office through the tunnels. A further plan to utilize the tunnel for mail purposes involves the building of chutes connecting the street corner mail boxes with boxes in the tunnel, where the mail can be collected by cars. When the new schemes are perfected and added to the present pneumatic tube service for first-class mail, Chicago will have the most perfect underground mail facilities in the world. Eight hundred and eighty tons of mail will be handled in the tunnels daily, in special locked United States cars. The system will be in operation by June 1.

Without noise, dirt, smoke or the slightest delay to traffic, the central business district of Chicago has been honeycombed with these tunnels. Twenty-eight miles already have been constructed, and extensions are projected.

OUR SHARE OF SIMPLON.

Drill That Made the Plan Possible Was Invented by an American.

To the great Alpine tunnels we have, of course, contributed nothing in money and probably nothing in labor. It is not probable that an American was employed in any of them. But we did contribute the original invention which enabled the Mont Cenis to get through even in 13 years, the St. Gothard in nine, and the Simplon in less than seven, says a writer in the Chicago Inter Ocean.

J. J. Couch, an American, in 1849 made the first machine rock drill. He was the first man in all the world to substitute steam or other mechanical power of human muscle in such work. The use and adaptation of his invention was slow in spreading. In 1857 it was so little known that work began on the Mont Cenis tunnel with hand drills, and machine drills were not used on the Italian end until 1860, or on the French end until 1862.

The American inventor made the Mont Cenis tunnel commercially practicable. He shortened the time of such works all over the world. He made the Simplon tunnel possible in less than seven years.

That is the American share in the great engineering work whose completion Europe is now celebrating.

WASHINGTON'S ARMY HOME

House at Valley Forge Which Sheltered the General for Six Months.

It is hardly more than an hour's ride from Philadelphia to Valley Forge, and one alights from the railway train about 100 yards from the ancient, pointed stone house of miller Isaac Potts; the structure which all America cherishes to-day as the home of Washington for the half year the continental army was encamped in that country. As nearly as can be ascertained, writes W. H. Richardson, in Four-Track News, the building is very much the same as it was when it was getting its right to a high place on history's page. "The log cabin to dine in," about which Mrs. Washington wrote, has been rebuilt, and otherwise the restorations have been carried on in a consistent manner. Externally the substantial and comfortable look of the building is very impressive, and its simple, dignified proportions appeal at once to the good taste of every visitor. The curious porch over the front door, the exquisite hand-made moldings and other details of its architecture are charming notes in the very pretty harmony. Interest in the interior is heightened by the presence in the various rooms of rare old furniture, prints, engravings and other relics of the colonial and revolutionary eras.

Biblical Arithmetic.

To the number of times Paul was stoned add the number of times he was shipwrecked; add the number of times he was beaten with rods; multiply by number of times he received 40 stripes save one; add the number of fathoms at first sounding when Paul was shipwrecked; add number of days they sailed; multiply by number of anchors cast out, and the result will be number of persons on board the ship that was to carry Paul to Rome.—Ram's Horn.

Bulls Killed in Spain.

A Spanish contemporary says that in 1904 nearly 12,000 bulls were killed in bull fights in that country. The bulls killed about 10,000 horses. The best and most valuable bulls for the arena are raised on the vast estates of the [illegible] in Andalusia, who has made a fortune out of this business.

[illegible]

Customer—I thought you said that last pair of rubbers about you sold me were elastic?

Salesman—So they were. What was the matter with them? [illegible]

Truths that Strike Home
Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.
LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.
In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.)
(Save the Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)
SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE
WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

TO CALIFORNIA
This winter? Use the 'Northern Pacific-Shasta Route," the scenic way to the land of summer in winter Rates are low. "North Coast Limited" to travel on west to Portland. Shasta Route rest of the way. Ask your local agent about the trip over the
NORTHERN PACIFIC YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
Great Trans-continental Highway
NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY
A. M. CLELAND, Gen'l Passenger Agent, St. Paul.
F. A. MIZEN, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
Ease
Elegance
Excellence
in every department of the
Two Overland Trains
of the
GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
"The Comfortable Way"
New Observation Compartment Cars New Dining Car
Palace Sleeping Cars Tourist Sleepers
For detailed information address,
J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn

Burlington Route
Chicago! Day or Night
By day—the scenic Express, leaving Minneapolis at 7:30 a. m., St. Paul at 8:20 a. m. Cafe-parlor car, with observation platform, chair car and coaches thro to Chicago. Fine for fall travel along the majestic Mississippi.
By night—the electric lighted Chicago Limited, one of the world's famous and finest trains.
Before you definitely plan your trip, write
F. M. [illegible], Northwestern Passenger Agent,
Germania Life Building St. Paul.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN Hair Renewer
[illegible]

Headache

Can be Cured with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

If your nerves are subject to disturbances, such as Headaches, Neuralgia, Backache, Rheumatism, Menstrual Pains, Sleeplessness, etc., their jarring and jangling can be quickly ended with a Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pill.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are pleasant little pink tablets, which do not act on the bowels, nor do they have any disagreeable weakening or habit-forming effect on the system.

They are the result of the latest scientific knowledge on the subject of Pain, and bring relief safely and quickly to the greatest sufferer.

You should always keep a box of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills in the house, since you never know when pain may attack you, and it is wrong to suffer when your suffering can be so quickly relieved.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills contain no opium, chloral, cocaine, morphine, or similar drugs, and are sold by druggists under a guarantee to relieve you or pay your money back.

By relieving Pain, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills shorten suffering, and lengthen life. 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills when troubled with headache, and find that one pill infallibly effects relief in a very short time. I also use Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills when necessary. I am considerably afflicted with neuralgia of the head and find these pills of much benefit to me. They are all that is claimed for them."—GEORGE COLGATE, 219 Oakland St., San Antonio, Tex.

FREE Write to us for Free Trial Package of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, the New Scientific Remedy for Pain. Also Symptom Blank. Our Specialist will diagnose your case, tell you what is wrong, and how to right it, Free. DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., LABORATORIES, ELKHART, IND.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

TIME CARD
—OF—
TRAINS.
RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 a m
SOUTH-BOUND
No. 156—Departs	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.

Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.

A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.
F A. MIZEN Agent.

McMURRAY'S
VANILLA
WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

St. Benedict's Academy......

ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.

A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

Don't Grind
YOUR LIFE AWAY
Become a demonstrator and earn $5.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working over time. Act today.
COLONIAL SUPPLY CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

WELL DIGGING ...

I will dig wells by the day, foot or job and guarantee satisfaction on every job. Repairing a specilty. I now devote my entire attention to this work. Leave orders at Courier office.

A. O. LETVIG, Wylie, Minnesota.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS
WITH Dr. King's New Discovery
FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS
Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.
Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

ST. HILAIRE.

Mr. J. K. Hannay returned from his trip west Saturday morning.

A. R. Jones is in town visiting with his family.

Miss Carrie Hoff is visiting relatives at Blackduck.

Miss Ereda Itter of Red Lake Falls visited relatives here last Monday.

O. F. Post and E. M. Hoff were Crookston visitors Friday evening.

Manager J. M. Richards of Benridge looked over the mill here Friday. He and Supt. Evans went to Thief River Falls in the afternoon.

Miss Annie Hakinson entertained her friends at a "hard time" party Friday evening at the home of Dr. Blomburgh. Prizes were given for the most appropriate hard time costumes, Miss Mable Aimer received first among the girls and Alton Jackson among the boys.

A. O. Davison has accepted a position with the Merchants State Bank and will move his family here the first of November. The bank at Wylie of which Mr. Davison is cashier goes out of business at that time.

Mrs. James McAndress is at Fargo visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Patterson went to Crookston last week.

There will be a special meeting of the shareholders of the creamery association at the city hall, Monday evening to consider plans for enlarging the creamery.

Mr. A. S. Wilson returned from Grand Forks Friday, where he was called by the death of his brother M. P. Wilson, and children returned with him and will visit here for a few days.

George L Austin left on a business trip to Fergus Falls Tuesday evening.

Indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, kidney and liver disorders, and all stomach troubles positively cured by using Hollister's Rockey Mountain Tea. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.

Deadly.

"Do you think that using coloring matter on the hair is attended with danger?"

"Well, whoever uses it dyes."—Houston Post.

The Responsible Party.

Policeman—Which o' yez beginned this fight?

One of the Belligerents—He did. His dog pitched into mine.—Chicago Tribune.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co. Sold by druggists, 75c. Toledo, O. Take Halls Family Pills for constipation.

California or Florida

It is time to plan your winter vacation. Early arrangements secure the best accommodations. Choice of routes via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway to Californir or to Florida, combined with low rates, make the trip to either resort a most attractive one. A postal will bring complete information about rates, train service and resorts, free and by return mail. Address W. B. Dixon, N. W. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

Poison Made Body Luminous.

At the inquest of a man who died at the London Hospital recently from swallowing rat poison it developed that the whole of his body was luminous in the dark. The rat poison contained phosphorus.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Enquire at the Big Store.

A Prominent Trainman.

The many friends of G. H. Hansan, Engineer L. E. & W. R. R., at present living in Lima, O., will be pleased to know of his recovery from threatened kidney disease. He says: "I was cured by using Foley's Kidney Cure which I recommend to all people. Sold by A. L. Reichert.

The Englishwoman.

The American or the French woman never allows herself to be daunted by the fact that she has not been endowed by nature with good looks or a good figure. She dresses as carefully, carries herself as grandly, as her beautiful sisters and indeed assumes rather more of an air than they, with the happy result that America and France seem to have no ill dressed and no really plain or ungraceful daughters. We Englishwomen are too modest and fancy we are altogether hopeless unless we have good material on which to work.—London World.

Presidential election make no change.

No matter which candidate is elected Foleys Honey and Tar will remain the peoples favorite remedy for coughs, colds, and incipient consumption. It cures colds quickly and prevents pneumonia. A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foleys Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me.—A. L. Reichart.

The Horse Dealer.

"What is the secret of your success?" asked the young man.

"In buying," said the old horse dealer, "I look sharp, and in selling I look just as ignorant as I can."—Chicago News.

A Costly Poem.

"My hat is a perfect poem, isn't it, John?"

"It ought to be. I paid more for it than Bryant got for 'Thanatopsis.'"—Houston Post.

Consumptives made Comfortable.

Incipient consumption is cured by Foleys Honey and Tar, but we do not hold out false hopes to consumptive by claiming that it will cure this dread disease in the advanced stages; but if the lungs are not too far gone Foleys Honey and Tar will effect a cure, as it stops the racking cough and soothes the inflamed air passages giving them a chance to heal, and even in the advanced stages it always gives comfort and relief. A. A. Herren, of Finch, Ark., writes "Foleys Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages.—A. L. Reichert.

First Life Insurance Policy.

The first life insurance policy of which the details are on record resulted in a lawsuit. William Gybbons insured himself on June 15, 1583, for £383 against dying in twelve months. He did die on May 18 of the next year, and the disgusted underwriters (the company of those days) contested payment on the plea that he had lived twelve months of twenty-eight days each.—World's Work.

Determination.

"Our Willie shows great determination," said the boy's mother.

"Yes?" queried the proud papa.

"Yes. He spent the whole day making soap bubbles and trying to pin one to the wall."—Philadelphia Ledger.

New Cure For Cancer.

All surface cancers are now known to be curable, by Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Jas. walters, of Duffield, Va., writes: "I had a cancer on my lip for years, that seemed incurable, till Bucklen's Arnica Salve healed it, and now it is perfectly well." Guaranteed cure for cuts and burns. 25c at all drug stores.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Baffling.

A maid neither rich nor romantic
Wed a man neither proud nor pedantic,
And so retired is their life
And empty of strife
That the neighbors are thoroughly frantic.
—Puck.

He Had Tried It.

"Old Mr. Selfmade seems to have such a ready wit."

"Yes; sort of rough and ready, you might say."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Cruel Blow.

Mr. De Fashion—Why did you discharge that nurse girl?

Mrs. De Fashion—She kicked poor little Fido just for biting the baby.

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It is a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn-out by the pains and poisons of [illegible]

Full of Tragic Meaning

are these lines from J. H. Simmons, of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough, that disturbed my night's rest. I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung diseases; prevents grip and pneumonia. At all druggist; guaranteed; 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of a certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by S. A. Swanson and Ida Swanson, his wife, mortgagors, to Joseph Glatzel, mortgagee, which mortgage was dated on the second (2d) day of April, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Three (1903), and recorded in Record Book Twenty-one (21) of Mortgage Records, on page One Hundred Forty-eight (148), in the office of the Register of Deeds of Red Lake County, Minnesota, on the Eighteenth (18th) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Three (1903), at half past nine o'clock a. m., and said Joseph Glatzel is now the owner and holder of said mortgage. That default has been made in the payment of Eighty-two and 50-100ths Dollars ($82.50) interest due and payable according to the terms and conditions of said mortgage on the second (2d) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Five (1905), and a further default has been made in the payment of the taxes duly levied and assessed upon said mortgaged premises for the years 1903 and 1904; and that by reason of said defaults, said mortgagee has elected and hereby elects and declares the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and is due the sum of Sixteen Hundred Thirty-one Dollars and Nine Cents ($1631.09) at the date of this notice, and no action at law or equity has been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the property described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which said property is situated in Red Lake County, Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit:

The North-West Quarter (NW¼) of Section Twenty-seven (27), in Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-four (44), containing One Hundred Sixty (160) acres of land, more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Which said sale will be made by the Sheriff of Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, on Saturday, the Ninth (9th) day of December, A. D. 1905; at two (2) o'clock p. m., at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay the amount then due on said mortgage and the costs of sale, and Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure.

Dated this 23d day of October, 1905.

JOSEPH GLATZEL,
Said Mortgagee.

THOS. F. CRAVEN,
Attorney for said Mortgagee,
Chaska, Minnesota. o26d7

Order for Hearing Proof on Claims, etc.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss
County of Red Lake, }

IN PROBATE COURT
Special Term October 3, 1905

In the matter of the Estate of Cyprien Asselin, deceased.

Letters of Testamentary of the estate of Cyprien Asselin, deceased, late of the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, being granted to Cleophas Asselin and Onezime Asselin.

It is Ordered, That three months be and the same is hereby allowed from and after the date of this order, in which all persons having claims or demands against the said deceased are required to file the same in the Probate Court of said County, for examination and allowance, or be forever barred.

It is Furthered Ordered, That the 3rd day of January, 1906, at ten o'clock A. M., at a Special term of said Probate Court, to be held at the Probate Office in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County, be and the same hereby is appointed as the time and place when and where the said Probate Court will examine and adjust said claims and demands.

And it is further ordered, that notice of such hearing be given to all creditors and persons interested in said estate by forthwith publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, the 3rd day of October A. D. 1905.

By the Court,
N. W. TARRENT,
[seal] Judge of Probate.

Summons.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Red Lake, }

In District Court, Fourteenth Judicial District.

Berget Stolass, plaintiff, vs. Anna O. Anderson, formerly Anna O. Skaali, and Ludvig Anderson, her husband, and E. G. Skaali, defendants.

SUMMONS.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendants:

You and each of you are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which said complaint has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to the said complaint upon the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, Polk county, Minnesota, within twenty days after the service of this Summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff in this action will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated September 18th, 1905.

E. O. HAGEN,
821-026 Attorney for plaintiff,
Crookston, Minnesota.
Rooms 10, 11, 27, Wallace Blk

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Chapter 2, General Laws 1902.

Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the County Auditor in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land sold for taxes in Red Lake county to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Chapter Two (2) General Laws of Minnesota, 1902, and amendments thereof, will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the highest price offered therefor, which shall not be less than the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs charged against it. Immediate payment to the County Treasurer is required. The sale will begin at the time and place named above and continue from day to day until every tract or parcel shall have been offered for sale. The County Auditor of Red Lake county is hereby authorized and directed to conduct sale. A list of said real property is now on file in the offices of the County Auditor and State Auditor.

Dated St. Paul, Minn., September 5th, 1905.

S. G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Section 1616, General Statute Minnesota 1894.

Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at two o'clock in the afternoon at the office of the county auditor in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land sold for taxes in Red Lake County to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Section [illegible], General Statutes of Minnesota 1894, and amendments thereof, will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the [illegible]

NOTICE OF EXPIRATION ON ABSOLUTE PROPERTY BID IN BY THE STATE.
NO. 53

In Whose Name Assessed	Description of Land			Years Tax Levied	Amt Sold for to State	Date Sold to Purchaser	Amount Sold for to Purchaser	Amount required to redeem at date of notice.
	Addition or Subd.	Lot.	Blk.			Mo Day Year
Carl Wedmer	Original townsite of Thief River Falls.	1	5	1897 1898 1899 1900 1901 1902 1903 1904	$2.08	June 28, 1905	$4.59	$5.37

Office Of COUNTY AUDITOR,
RED LAKE COUNTY, MINN.

To CARL WEDMER,

You are hereby notified on the 6th. day of May, A. D. 1901, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate judgement, which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Red Lake in the 14th Judicial District in the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March A. D. 1901, the above described piece or parcel of land, situated in Red Lake County, State of Minnesota was bid into the state to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgement, interest and costs, for the above named sum; that the above described real estate has become and now is the Absolute Property of the State.

That on above stated date the above described real estate was sold by the County Auditor of Red Lake County, as directed by the State Auditor, in accordance with Section [illegible] of Chapter [illegible] of General Statutes of 1878 and the several acts amendatory thereto, for the sum above stated, that the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from such sale at the date of this notice, exclusive of the costs to accrue on this notice is the amount above stated, with interest [illegible] twelve percent per annum on the amount paid by the purchaser from said above date until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of said piece or parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice, and proof thereof has been filed in the office of the County Auditor of this county.

Witness my hand and official seal third day of October, A. D. [illegible]

(SEAL) [illegible]

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signatnre of Chas. H. Fletcher. and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

Boiling Water in a Reservoir

It's something that's hard to do when the reservoir is on the right hand side because it's too far from the fire, takes too much fuel to do it. But, when the reservoir is right next to the fire pot, it's a mighty easy job and don't take much fuel either. Then on the Majestic we have a lever that by turning throws the reservoir away from the fire so that there is never any danger of the water boiling all away and spoiling your reservoir.

If you are going to need a range, don't look too much at the price, the Majestic is not the cheapest, but the least expensive.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA

Salvation for Women in Nu-tri-ola

THE world is full of sick women who might be well. Poor, pale, suffering Martyrs! Blood so poor that every vital organ, nerve center, even the brain cells, are starved and lose their force. Their sufferings from Dyspepsia, Headache, Kidney Trouble, Dragging or Bearing Down Pains, Leucorrhœa, Nervous Prostration, etc., etc., the victim and God alone may know. Listen to our

EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.

Emancipation from the power of disease, suffering and death. Be it known to women everywhere that NUTRIOLA, the new Blood and Nerve Food, will make the frailest woman "NEW ALL OVER." This statement is backed by $500,000.00 Capital Stock and the largest Medical Company in the world. WE GUARANTEE A PERFECT CURE or ask no pay. We employ the most skilled Physicians in the United States. THEIR SERVICES ARE FREE. FREE CHEMICAL ANALYSIS. In short, the benefit of all their skill and NOT A CENT TO PAY for it. We are curing thousands, treating by mail. Every case confidential.

READ THIS, YE SUFFERING WOMEN!

NUTRIOLA COMPANY—Gentlemen: I had been an invalid for over 10 years. KIDNEY TROUBLE had caused such a weakness in my back that I was unable to work standing up. Then disease peculiar to my sex fastened upon me and my life became one round of UNENDING TORTURE, such as only one afflicted as I have been can know. To stand upon my feet for five minutes was a torture unspeakable. The terrible DRAGGING DOWN SENSATION would send such a feeling to my brain as to impair my vision and drive me almost insane. Nervous Headache [illegible]

NU-TRI-OLA Costs 2 Cents a Day. [illegible]
THE NUTRIOLA COMPANY [illegible]
For Sale by All Druggists.

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE [illegible]

For Breakfast Luncheon or Tea

A few small biscuits easily made with Royal Baking Powder. Make them small—as small round as a napkin ring. Mix and bake just before the meal. Serve hot.

Nothing better for a light dessert than these little hot biscuits with butter and honey, marmalade or jam.

You must use Royal Baking Powder to get them right.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for real estate loans.

Joseph Gray was a passenger to Crookston Monday night.

Al Pouliot and family are moving into the Sam Allard house this week.

Ed L. Healy has purchased the Celous Raymond farm in Louisville.

Miss Eva Lizee will give a birthday party this evening to her girl friends.

Attorney D. E. Gossmann was up from Crookston on legal business Tuesday.

Dr. Dunlop was over from Crookston Saturday in consultation with Dr. Watson.

S. M. Sivertson was at Crookston over Monday night lookiug after his milling interests.

H. L. Gaylord, the Fertile attorney, was in attendance at the district court Monday.

The Royal Neighbors will hold a meeting at the Woodman hall tomorrow (Friday) evening.

A new boy baby came to the home of C. O. Kankel, the Terrebonne miller, last Saturday.

Advertised letters are at the postoffice for N. L. DeLoom, Will Scribner and Fred Cross.

M. R. Hall and family are moving to town and will occupy the Altnow house on the north side.

Attorney Henry W. Lee and M. C. Harlow were present at the opening of the district court Monday.

Julius Pleth, the Plummer land man, was in the city yesterday on business at the court house.

The stock of the P. K. Olson saloon at Plummer was sold at receiver's sale last Saturday.

This seems to be moving week in Red Lake Falls. Fully a dozen families are finding new quarters for the winter.

Attorneys S. Cooke and E. M. Stanton were down from Thief River Falls to attend court Monday.

Arthur LaPlante and family left Monday evening for their new home in North Yakima, Washington.

Mrs. J. L. Tracy is expected home from her extended visit to Lake City, Minn., Saturday or Monday.

Olous Raymond of Cottonwood, Minnesota, is here this weeek looking after his farms in this vicinity.

Hugo Zaiser was up from Minneabolis over Sunday visiting the home folks and enjoying a few days' hunt.

Carl Pochardt is up from Lyon county this week looking after the threshing on his farm south of town.

Wanted—a girl for general housework in a small family. Scandinavian preferred. Apply to COURIER office.

Thief River Press: Mr. and Mrs. Pat Roarck spent Sunday at Red Lake Falls visiting with friends and relatives.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church served supper last evening at the church parlors and realized a handsome little sum.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barrette of Crookston are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Paradis and other friends in the city this week.

A dancing party was held by the young people at the K. of P. hall Saturday evening for the Thief River foot-ball players.

S. A. Swanson has sold his threshing outfit to John Jacobsen, who intends to return from Oregon next year to take charge of it.

Big game licenses have been in strong demand this week, and up to yesterday noon Auditor Ford has issued seventy-six permits.

The Wesley piano, a strictly high-grade instrument, endorsed by leading musicians and a piano of the highest merit, for sale by Anderson & Wander.

Ed. L. Healy reports the sale of the northwest quarter of 17, Emardville township, to John Meisner, principal of the Rugby, N. D. schools.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

Thomas Belair has returned from Grand Rapids, where he has made his home for the past two years, and will spend the winter in Red Lake Falls.

L. T. Thompson and O. H. Olson of Minneota, Minn., have been in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls this week looking after their real estate holdings.

Mrs. M. M. McLaughlin, who was called here last week by the illness of her father, L. A. Dautremont, left Monday evening for her home at Rock Rapids, Iowa.

George L. Austin, manager of the St. Hilaire creamery, passed through town Tuesday evening enroute for his old home in Fergus Falls on a short business trip.

It is reported on good authority that Father Christmas, the Grafton healer, is to return to Red Lake Falls in a couple of weeks. He will be here for two days.

The exterior of the new north side school house is completed, and plastering was commenced yesterday. The building will be finished in a couple of weeks.

F. A. Chase of Tama, Iowa, was the guest of his brother, Ed. H., Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Chase is a railway mail agent, running between Tama and Chicago.

Mrs. P. E. Pirath entertained the sewing club at an afternoon luncheon Saturday. Mrs. Henry Hennemuth was the fortunate winner of the prize in a guessing contest.

Attorneys A. C. Wilkinson, E. O. Hagen, Halvor Steenerson, A. A. Miller and Chas. Loring were over from Crookston Monday to attend the opening of the district court.

John Jacobsen, who used to run a threshing machine for S. A. Swanson, has been visiting here for a week or ten days, and left Tuesday for his home in Portland, Oregon.

Drew Marshall, who is attending the university at Minneapolis, came up Saturday morning for an over Sunday visit with the home folks. Drew says he is enjoying his school work.

Joseph Laframboise, who formerly lived in Red Lake Falls, is here for a visit with friends. Mr. Laframboise is now farming in the North Yakima country and says he is doing well.

Deputy Sheriff Jarman came down from Thief River Tuesday evening to look after the sheriff's office a few days during the absence of Sheriff Linnihan, who was called to Crookston on business.

Thief River Press: Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar entertained Mrs. W. A. Schreiter, of Red Lake Falls; Mrs. J. Hoernig, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, and Mrs. John Padden, of Red Lake Falls, last Saturday.

It is announced that Miss Susie Boyd, formerly a resident of Red Lake Falls is to be married in a few weeks to Joseph Eager of Yellow Grass, Assiniaboi, near which place the Boyd and Kezer families are living.

E. E. Hawkins is again representing the McClellan Paper company in this territory and made his regular visit here Tuesday. For the past nine months Mr. Hawkins has been conducting a branch house for his company at Fargo.

H. L. Veigel and family are moving into the William Zaiser house this week. Mr. Zaiser will occupy the residence he bought last week of Mrs. B. Zaiser, and the latter family will move to the Rue house on north Main street.

Button's Business College will give a grand free opening entertainment, free to everyone, at its large halls in Crookston on Friday evening November 3. Scholarships in this college will be sold for half price on this date only.

Victor and Bert Dautremont, who were called here last week by the illness of their father, left Monday afternoon for Duluth and St. Paul. They will visit a few days in these cities before returning to their home at Lewistown, Montana.

A reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Zaiser by the Knights of Pythias last Friday night in their hall. About fifteen [illegible] and their ladies were [illegible] evening was [illegible]

Gilbert Westphal, who is now connected with a wholesale wagon concern at St. Paul, came up to Red Lake Falls Saturday morning to visit a few days with his father. Gilbert looks after the city sales in the Twin cities for his company.

A marriage license was issued Tuesday to Frederick Andreas Gobler of Necoma, N. D., and Daisy Louise Kratka, of Thief River Falls. Miss Kratka is a daughter of former mayor Kratka, and one of the prominent young ladies of that city.

John Deutschman's new brick saloon building on the north side is about ready for occupancy and John expects to move into it within the next ten days. It is a substantial building, and will furnish splendid quarters for this popular thirst parlor.

Editor Harry Ives was down from St. Hilrire, but it is not known that he made his appearance on Main street. The prevailing gossip is that Harry is interested in one of the Red Lake Falls young ladies, but of course these reports are often erroneous.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Kindseth desire to express their sincere appreciation of the many kindnesses shown by their friends and neighbors during the illness of their little daughter. They also wish to extend thanks especially to the Presbyterian choir and Rev. H. W. Knox.

Conrad Hirsch's family living on the north side, has been increased by the addition of a girl baby this week. This is the twelfth child, and all are living and in good health. There is no apparent danger of race suicide here, and Hresident Roosevelt ought to send along a medal.

The "oldest inhabitant" fails to remember a year when the leaves remained on the trees so long. Here it is almost the first of November and not half of the leaves are gone. Frequently the trees are denuded by the middle of September, especially when heavy frosts come early in the season.

The Northern Pacific will make a rate of a fare and a third for the Minnesota-Wisconsin foot ball game at Minneapolis on November 4. This will make the round trip price $11.70. Tickets will be on sale Friday evening and are good returning until Monday night.

The Red Lake Falls creamery will close for the winter on November 1, and H. A. Blaisdell, the buttermaker, will leave for his home at Janesville, Minn. Mr. Blaisdell has been very successful in managing the creamery the past year and the patrons will be glad to hear of his return next spring.

Wiley Tindolph, the well-known Thief Riverite, returned yesterday from an extended trip to the coast. Mr. Tindolph visited the fair at Portland, of course, and stopped at Seattle, Salt Lake City and Denver while enroute home. He stopped over at Red Lake Falls a few hours yesterday while homeward bound.

Princeton Union: According to statistics the average production of butter in Minnesota is 166 pounds per cow per annum. Dairying authorities state that by proper care and management this can be increased to 475 pounds per cow per annum. This should be an incentive to farmers to look alive to their interests.

August Krueger has decided to start a harness shop at Antler, Bottineau county, N. D., and will move his family to that place in the near future. Mr. Krueger says his own has a big territory and that the crops are unusually large there this year. August's many Red Lake Falls friends will wish him all kinds of success in his new location.

T. G. Brunelle has sold his harness stock to August Krueger, who will move the goods to Antler, N. D., one of the new Great Northern towns in Bottineau county. Mr. Brunelle has received a flattering offer to go into partnership with a prominent harness-maker in North Dakota, and expects to leave for there about the first of December.

The season of storm windows is at hand and the "odd job" man of the city finds himself very much occupied as a result. The odd weather of the past few days has given the majority of property owners a "hunch" that winter will be early and there is a general scramble to put up the windows, doors and storm sheds. Coal bins are being filled accompanied by the usual [illegible]

T. N. Robinson, superintendent of the German Mutual Dwelling House Fire Insurance company of Minneapolis, was in the city Saturday looking over the field with his special agent, O. T. Tandberg. Mr. Robinson is an old insurance man with twenty years practical experience, and says he is meeting with pronounced success with his new venture.

George Lang was up from Cottonwood, Minn., this week looking after his farm near town. George was formerly a resident here, and says he is well enough satisfied with Red Lake county to hold his land, and it is not at all unlikely that he may conclude to move back here before long. The COURIER is indebted for a pleasant call and a payment on subscription.

The assessment extension for Thief River Falls has been completed by County Auditor Ford and shows a decrease of $17,000 from last year. The total for real estate is $341,572, and for personal property $135,417, making an aggregate of $476,989. The total for Red Lake Falls city will be a trifle under $400,000. The exact figures will be ready within a few days.

Fire Warden Drier has a notice in the COURIER this week relative to the use of manure for banking houses and barns. Manure must not be used for this purpose unless fully protected with a covering of earth. He also gives notice that straw and hay stacks will not be allowed within seventy-five feet of buildings, and ashes must not be piled in close proximity to buildings.

The open weather of the past week continues to hang on throughout northern Minnesota and farmers are rushing plowing. The weather reports several days ago, stated that a cold snap would sweep over the country, but so far the zero weather predicted has failed to materialize. Four weeks of bright sunshine and warm weather would mean much to the farmers of this section, who still have enormous acreages of unplowed fields.

A state free traveling library has been installed at Reichert's drug store, and the books are free to all our people. There are fifty volumes in the library and the books will be exchanged for new ones every six months. The public library commission is doing a good work in placing these libraries in towns and school districts and is putting the best books at the command of all the people without expense except the carrying charges.

O. T. Tandberg, former county treasurer, was down from Thief River Falls over Saturday night calling on friends. Mr. Tandberg has recently accepted the special agency of the German Mutual Dwelling House Fire Insurance company for Red Lake, Polk and Marshall counties and expects to devote his entire time to this work. Mr. Tandberg enjoys a wide acquaintance in these counties and no doubt will do a good business for the company.

Daniel Patterson, Otto Zaiser and Gilbert Haavi, who were appointed viewers for the proposed new county ditches in Gervais and Black River townships, started on their work Monday and will be kept busy for a week or more. A meeting of the board of county commissioners will be held in the near future to act upon the report of the viewers, and it is likely the sale of ditching jobs will be held about the first of January. Both of these ditches are needed badly and no objection to their construction is anticipated.

Dr. J. E. Argue left Friday evening for Chicago, where he will spend a week looking after business matters and visiting friends. Dr. Argue has recently received a patent on a very handy little contrivance which will doubtless be in demand in dental offices. It is a tool for expelling mercury from amalgam, something which has always heretofore been accomplished by a crude and laborious process. The doctor expects to confer with dental instrument dealers relative to the manufacture and sale of his patent, and there is every reason to believe he will make a nice profit from the invention.

The funeral of the late L. A. Dautremont was held from St. Joseph's church Saturday morning, Rev. Father Fayolle officiating, and the remains interred in the cemetery at this place. A large concourse of friends gathered to pay the last tribute to the dead. The COURIER was in error last week in stating that Mr. Dautremont was born in France. He was of French ancestry, but was born in Angelica, Penn., where he lived until about ten years of age. He afterwards moved to Ohio, going from there to Washington county, Iowa. All of the children, with the exception of two sons in Montana, were present during their father's final illness.

The Courier $1. one year.

Found—mouthpiece for a horn. Owner can have same by calling at COURIER office.

THE CHURCH SUPPER.

"Ding-dong!" said the big church bell,
"A supper to-night and things to sell;
Ding-dong! I do declare,
Here I'm rung in on a vestry fair.
I've a mind to stick and refuse to ring,
For I wasn't donated for such a thing.
But my, oh, my! How sweet that smells!
I wish that coffee were good for bells!"
For at every pull the sexton gave
The bell swung out above the pave,
And at every swing he got the scent,
And on he swung there, all content.
Said down below good pastor Pipp,
Fingers tapping, tip to tip,
"I have been asked by all who're here
To say unto the sister dear,
Who brought the coffee here to-night,
That we consider it her right
To thus be thanked in public wise—
She finds great favor in our eyes.
May all her deeds smell sweet as this
By which she brings her neighbors bliss."
Thought blushing Mrs. Jones, "I knew
What CHASE & SANBORN'S brand would do."
Good deeds, you know, are only lent,
And so she smiled in deep content.

....A FULL LINE OF....

Chase & Sanborn's Teas and Coffees

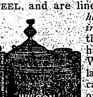
....FOR SALE AT....

THE BIG STORE..

The place where it pays to trade.

A Good Stove Cheap

is what you can truthfully say about a WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER.



All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL, and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft that you have heard so much about. A Wilson, if taken good care of, will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary-sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burners

Would be pleased to show you our line.

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TIME TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West			Going East
8:15 P. M.	Lv.	St. Paul Ar.	7:35 A. M.
8:50 P. M.	Lv.	Minneapolis Ar.	7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M.	Lv.	Duluth Ar.	7:10 A. M.
8:20 A. M.		Crookston	6:45 P. M.
8:50 A. M.		Dugdale	6:00 P. M.
9:25 A. M.		Red Lake Falls	5:25 P. M.
9:55 A. M.		St. Hilaire	4:55 P. M.
10:20 A. M.		Thief River	4:30 P. M.
10:40 A. M.		Steiner	4:05 P. M.
11:03 A. M.		Sandridge	3:52 P. M.
11:30 A. M.		Middle River	3:32 P. M.
11:55 P. M.		Strathcoma	3:57 P. M.
12:25 P. M.	Ar.	Greenbush Lv.	2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier.
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

Merchants State Bank
Of Red Lake Falls.

Do You Know that the Merchants State Bank is a strictly home institution. All our officers and stockholders live in Red Lake Falls and have established the Merchants State Bank with their own money. We do a regular banking business in every department. There is no transaction too large for us to handle and none too small for us to give our attention.

Our Savings Dept. [illegible]

DEFECTIVE PAGE

For Breakfast Luncheon or Tea

A few small biscuits easily made with Royal Baking Powder. Make them small—as small round as a napkin ring. Mix and bake just before the meal. Serve hot.

Nothing better for a light dessert than these little hot biscuits with butter and honey, marmalade or jam.

You must use Royal Baking Powder to get them right.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for real estate loans.

Joseph Gray was a passenger to Crookston Monday night.

Al Pouliot and family are moving into the Sam Allard house this week.

Ed L. Healy has purchased the Celous Raymond farm in Louisville.

Miss Eva Lizee will give a birthday party this evening to her girl friends.

Attorney L. E. Gossmann was up from Crookston on legal business Tuesday.

Dr. Dunlop was over from Crookston Saturday in consultation with Dr. Watson.

S. M. Sivertson was at Crookston over Monday night looking after his milling interests.

H. L. Gaylord, the Fertile attorney, was in attendance at the district court Monday.

The Royal Neighbors will hold a meeting at the Woodman hall tomorrow (Friday) evening.

A new boy baby came to the home of C. O. Kankel, the Terrebonne miller, last Saturday.

Advertised letters are at the postoffice for N. L. DeLoom, Will Scribner and Fred Cross.

M. R. Hall and family are moving to town and will occupy the Altnow house on the north side.

Attorney Henry W. Lee and M. C. Harlow were present at the opening of the district court Monday.

Julius Pleth, the Plummer land man, was in the city yesterday on business at the court house.

The stock of the P. K. Olson saloon at Plummer was sold at receiver's sale last Saturday.

This seems to be moving week in Red Lake Falls. Fully a dozen families are finding new quarters for the winter.

Attorneys S. Cooke and E. M. Stanton were down from Thief River Falls to attend court Monday.

Arthur LaPlante and family left Monday evening for their new home in North Yakima, Washington.

Mrs. J. L. Tracy is expected home from her extended visit to Lake City, Minn., Saturday or Monday.

Olous Raymond of Cottonwood, Minnesota, is here this weeek looking after his farms in this vicinity.

Hugo Zaiser was up from Minneabolis over Sunday visiting the home folks and enjoying a few days hunt.

Carl Pochardt is up from Lyon county this week looking after the threshing on his farm south of town.

Wanted—a girl for general housework in a small family. Scandinavian preferred. Apply to COURIER office.

Thief River Press: Mr. and Mrs. Pat Roarck spent Sunday at Red Lake Falls visiting with friends and relatives.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church served supper last evening at the church parlors and realized a handsome little sum.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barrette of Crookston are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Paradis and other friends in the city this week.

A dancing party was held by the young people at the K. of P. hall Saturday evening for the Thief River foot-ball players.

S. A. Swanson has sold his threshing outfit to John Jacobsen, who intends to return from Oregon next year to take charge of it.

Big game licenses have been in strong demand this week, and up to yesterday noon Auditor Ford has issued seventy-six permits.

The Wesley piano, a strictly high-grade instrument, endorsed by leading musicians and a piano of the highest merit, for sale by Anderson & Wander.

A Good Stove Cheap

is what you can truthfully say about a WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER.

All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft, that you have heard so much about. A Wilson if taken good care of will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights

from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burner

FRANK L. [illegible]

[illegible] If you want to [illegible] farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to [illegible] Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn.

Thomas Belair has returned from Grand Rapids, where he has made his home for the past two years and will spend the winter in Red Lake Falls.

L. T. Thompson and O. H. Olson of Minneota, Minn., have been in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls this week looking after their real estate holdings.

Mrs. M. M. McLaughlin, who was called here last week by the illness of her father, L. A. Dautremont, left Monday evening for her home at Rock Rapids, Iowa.

George L. Austin, manager of the St. Hilaire creamery, passed through town Tuesday evening enroute for his old home in Fergus Falls on a short business trip.

It is reported on good authority that Father Christmas, the Grafton healer, is to return to Red Lake Falls in a couple of weeks. He will be here for two days.

The exterior of the new north side school house is completed, and plastering was commenced yesterday. The building will be finished in a couple of weeks.

F. A. Chase of Tama, Iowa, was the guest of his brother, Ed. H., Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Chase is a railway mail agent, running between Tama and Chicago.

Mrs. P. E. Pirath entertained the sewing club at an afternoon luncheon Saturday. Mrs. Henry Hennemuth was the fortunate winner of the prize in a guessing contest.

Attorneys A. C. Wilkinson, E. O. Hagen, Halvor Steenerson, A. A. Miller and Chas. Loring were over from Crookston Monday to attend the opening of the district court.

John Jacobsen, who used to run a threshing machine for S. A. Swanson, has been visiting here for a week or ten days, and left Tuesday for his home in Portland, Oregon.

Drew Marshall, who is attending the university at Minneapolis, came up Saturday morning for an over Sunday visit with the home folks. Drew says he is enjoying his school work.

Joseph Laframboise, who formerly lived in Red Lake Falls, is here for a visit with friends. Mr. Laframboise is now farming in the North Yakima country and says he is doing well.

Deputy Sheriff Jarman came down from Thief River Tuesday evening to look after the sheriff's office a few days during the absence of Sheriff Linnihan, who was called to Crookston on business.

Thief River Press: Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar entertained Mrs. W. A. Schreiter, of Red Lake Falls, Mrs. J. Hoernig, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, and Mrs. John Padden, of Red Lake Falls, last Saturday.

It is announced that Miss Susie Boyd, formerly a resident of Red Lake Falls is to be married in a few weeks to Joseph Eager of Yellow Grass, Assiniboi, near which place the Boyd and Kezer families are living.

E. E. Hawkins is again representing the McClellan Paper company in this territory and made his regular visit here Tuesday. For the past nine months Mr. Hawkins has been conducting a branch house for his company at Fargo.

H. L. Veigel and family are moving into the William Zaiser house this week. Mr. Zaiser will occupy the residence he bought last week of Mrs. B. Zaiser, and the latter family will move to the [illegible] house on north Main street.

[illegible] Business College will give a grand free opening entertainment [illegible]

[illegible] the interests of his company.

A marriage license was issued Tuesday to Frederick Andrew Gobler of Necoma, N. D., and Daisy Louise Kratka, of Thief River Falls. Miss Kratka is a daughter of former mayor Kratka, and one of the prominent young ladies of that city.

John Deutschman's new brick saloon building on the north side is about ready for occupancy and John expects to move into it within the next ten days. It is a substantial building, and will furnish splendid quarters for this popular thirst parlor.

Editor Harry Ives was down from St. Hilaire, but it is not known that he made his appearance on Main street. The prevailing gossip is that Harry is interested in one of the Red Lake Falls young ladies, but of course these reports are often erroneous.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Kindseth desire to express their sincere appreciation of the many kindnesses shown by their friends and neighbors during the illness of their little daughter. They also wish to extend thanks especially to the Presbyterian choir and Rev. H. W. Knox.

Conrad Hirsch's family living on the north side, has been increased by the addition of a girl baby this week. This is the twelfth child, and all are living and in good health. There is no apparent danger of race suicide here, and President Roosevelt ought to send along a medal.

The "oldest inhabitant" fails to remember a year when the leaves remained on the trees so long. Here it is almost the first of November and not half of the leaves are gone. Frequently the trees are denuded by the middle of September, especially when heavy frosts come early in the season.

The Northern Pacific will make a rate of a fare and a third for the Minnesota-Wisconsin foot ball game at Minneapolis on November 4. This will make the round trip price $11.70. Tickets will be on sale Friday evening and are good returning until Monday night.

The Red Lake Falls creamery will close for the winter on November 1, and H. A. Blaisdell, the buttermaker, will leave for his home at Janesville, Minn. Mr. Blaisdell has been very successful in managing the creamery the past year and the patrons will be glad to hear of his return next spring.

Wiley Tindolph, the well-known Thief Riverite, returned yesterday from an extended trip to the coast. Mr. Tindolph visited the fair at Portland, of course, and stopped at Seattle, Salt Lake City and Denver while enroute home. He stopped over at Red Lake Falls a few hours yesterday while homeward bound.

Princeton Union: According to statistics the average production of butter in Minnesota is 166 pounds per cow per annum. Dairying authorities state that by proper care and management this can be increased to 475 pounds per cow per annum. This should be an incentive to farmers to look alive to their interests.

August Krueger has decided to start a harness shop at Antler, Bottineau county, N. D., and will move his family to that place in the near future. Mr. Krueger says his own has a big territory and that the crops are unusually large there this year. August's many Red Lake Falls friends will wish him all kinds of success in his new location.

T. C. Brunelle has sold his harness stock to August Krueger, who will move the goods to Antler, N. D., one of the new Great Northern towns in Bottineau county. Mr. Brunelle [illegible]

[illegible] is an old insurance man with twenty years' practical experience and says he is meeting with pronounced success with his new venture.

George Lang was up from Cottonwood, Minn., this week looking after his farm near town. George was formerly a resident here and says he is well enough satisfied with Red Lake county to hold his land, and it is not at all unlikely that he may conclude to move back here before long. The COURIER is indebted for a pleasant call and a payment on subscription.

The assessment extension for Thief River Falls has been completed by County Auditor Ford and shows a decrease of $17,000 from last year. The total for real estate is $341,572, and for personal property $135,417, making an aggregate of $476,989. The total for Red Lake Falls city will be a trifle under $400,000. The exact figures will be ready within a few days.

Fire Warden Drier has a notice in the COURIER this week relative to the use of manure for banking houses and barns. Manure must not be used for this purpose unless fully protected with a covering of earth. He also gives notice that straw and hay stacks will not be allowed within seventy-five feet of buildings, and ashes must not be piled in close proximity to buildings.

The open weather of the past week continues to hang on throughout northern Minnesota and farmers are rushing plowing. The weather reports several days ago, stated that a cold snap would sweep over the country, but so far the zero weather predicted has failed to materialize. Four weeks of bright sunshine and warm weather would mean much to the farmers of this section, who still have enormous acreages of unplowed fields.

A state free traveling library has been installed at Reichert's drug store, and the books are free to all our people. There are fifty volumes in the library and the books will be exchanged for new ones every six months. The public library commission is doing a good work in placing these libraries in towns and school districts and is putting the best books at the command of all the people without expense except the carrying charges.

O. T. Tandberg, former county treasurer, was down from Thief River Falls over Saturday night calling on friends. Mr. Tandberg has recently accepted the special agency of the German Mutual Dwelling House Fire Insurance company for Red Lake, Polk and Marshall counties and expects to devote his entire time to this work. Mr. Tandberg enjoys a wide acquaintance in these counties and no doubt will do a good business for the company.

Daniel Patterson, Otto Zaiser and Gilbert Haavi, who were appointed viewers for the proposed new county ditches in Gervais and Black River townships, started on their work Monday and will be kept busy for a week or more. A meeting of the board of county commissioners will be held in the near future to act upon the report of the viewers, and it is likely the sale of ditching jobs will be held about the first of January. Both of these ditches are needed badly and no objection to their construction is anticipated.

Dr. J. E. Argue left Friday evening for Chicago, where he will spend a week looking after business matters and visiting friends. Dr. Argue has recently received a patent on a very handy little contrivance which will doubtless be in demand in dental offices. It is a tool for expelling mercury from amalgam, something which has always heretofore been accomplished by a crude and laborious process. The doctor expects to confer with dental instrument dealers relative to the manufacture and sale of his patent, and there is every reason to believe he will make a nice profit from the invention.

The funeral of the late L. A. Dautremont was held from St. Joseph's church Saturday morning, Rev. Father Fayolle officiating, and the remains interred in the cemetery at this place. A large concourse of friends gathered to pay the last tribute to the dead. The COURIER was in error last week in stating that Mr. Dautremont was born in France. He was of French ancestry, but was born in Angelica, Penn., where he lived until about ten years of age. He afterwards moved to Ohio, going from there to Washington county, Iowa. All of the children, with the exception of two sons in Montana, were present during their father's final illness.

The Courier $1. one year.

Found—mouthpiece for a horn. Owner can have same by calling at COURIER office.

"Ding-dong!" said the big church bell,
"A supper to-night and things to sell,
Ding-dong! I do declare,
Here I'm rung in on a vestry fair.
I've a mind to stick and refuse to ring,
For I wasn't donated for such a thing.
But my, oh, my! How sweet that smells!
I wish that coffee were good for bells!"
For at every pull the sexton gave
The bell swung out above the pave,
And at every swing he got the scent,
And on he swung there, all content.
Said down below good pastor Pipp,
Fingers tapping, tip to tip,
"I have been asked by all who're here
To say unto the sister dear,
Who brought the coffee here to-night,
That we consider it her right
To thus be thanked in public wise—
She finds great favor in our eyes.
May all her deeds smell sweet as this
By which she brings her neighbors bliss."
Thought blushing Mrs. Jones, "I knew What CHASE & SANBORN'S brand would do."
Good deeds, you know, are only lent,
And so she smiled in deep content.

...A FULL LINE OF...

Chase & Sanborn's Teas and Coffees

...FOR SALE AT...

THE BIG STORE..

The place where it pays to trade.

TIME GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

[illegible]

Merchants State Bank

[illegible]

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

DEFECTIVE PAGE

ALCOHOL IN MOST MEDICINES.

Indispensable Requisite in Compounding of Some Prescriptions.

It is of course true that some proprietary medicines contain alcohol and nearly all liquid medicines prescribed by physicians contain it. No honest man will defend the sale of intoxicants under the guise of medicine; but every honest man should protest against a system of wholesale denunciation born of malice or ignorance of pharmaceutical principles and fostered by selfish interests. It is assumed that alcohol is the cause of intemperance; but there is a great difference between alcohol and whisky. If a substitute for alcohol could be found for use in the manufacture of medicines its discoverer would render a great service to the profession of pharmacy and the science of medicine, for alcohol is a very expensive ingredient and a cheaper substitute would be gladly accepted. Unfortunately the word alcohol in the minds of many people is associated exclusively with bar-rooms, drunkenness and all forms of degradation and vice. This is due to a lack of knowledge by the general public of the fact that alcohol is an indispensable requisite in drugs, tinctures and fluid extracts. All fluid extracts and tinctures on the druggists' shelves contain from 20 to 90 per cent of alcohol; and of all liquid medicines prescribed by physicians more than 75 per cent contain it in large proportions.

Alcohol is required to preserve organic substances from deterioration and from freezing, and it is also required to dissolve substances not soluble in water, while it contriblutes to their preservation when dissolved. Diluted alcohol is largely employed in fluid extracts; and whenever a greater strength of alcohol is required as a solvent (for extracting medicinal principles) the medicine is of such a character as to preclude a large dosage; and for this reason preparations, even if containing 50 per cent or more of alcohol are practically less intoxicating than beer. In such cases the character of the medicinal constituents is such as to absolutely forbid the taking of the medicine in any way except in very small doses and at stated intervals only. To assume that any great number of proprietary medicines are used as beverages is the veriest absurdity.—Exchange.

A WATCH HIS ONLY WEAPON.

What Chance Did He Have Against the Man With a Frying Pan.

Alton B. Parker was talking at Esopus about graft.

"And the worst of it is," he said 'that the typical grafter has, on detection, an injured air—an air of injured and reproachful innocence. He reminds me of the man who was accused of stealing a watch.

"The man pleaded not guilty; he even brought against the complainant a counter charge of assault. The latter, he declared, had assaulted him with a frying pan.

"Well, the case came into court and in the heat of cross-examination the man lost his head a little.

"'You dare to say,' shouted the cross-examiner, 'that my client attacked you with a frying pan?'

"'Yes, sir,' said the man, gulping nervously.

"Came at you with a frying pan, eh! And you—a big, strong fellow like you—had you nothing in your hand to defend yourself with?'

"'Only the watch, sir,' said the witness 'And what'—his voice was hurt, reproachful—'what's a watch against a frying pan?'"

Good News for All.

Bradford, Tenn., Oct. 23d.—(Special.)—Scientific research shows Kidney Trouble to be the father of so many diseases that news of a discovery of a sure cure for it cannot fail to be welcomed all over the country. And according to Mr. J. A. Davis of this place just such a cure is found in Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Davis says:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are all that is claimed for them. They have done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I had Kidney Trouble very bad and after taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am completely cured. I cannot praise them too much."

Kidney complaint develops into Bright's Disease, Dropsy, Diabetes, Rheumatism and other painful and fatal diseases. The safeguard is to cure your kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills when they show the first symptom of disease.

Misunderstood.

"I didn't know young Snobberly really took any interest in politics."

"Nonsense! He doesn't."

"But I just heard him talking for the past ten minutes about 'party ties.'

"Oh, he means white lawn bows."—Philadelphia Press.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

"Gabbleton is very fond of criticising his neighbors, isn't he?"

"Yes, he engages in an extravagant use of projectiles for a person residing in a conservatory."—Puck.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Opportunity is only the obverse of obligation.

Farewell.

Oh, drowsily the breezes lingered over
lane and lea,
And wayward moonbeams, fairy-fingered,
lushed the restless sea,
When through the meadows, dim with shadows, came my love to me.

A dainty ditty he was singing—Oh, I loved him well!
And all the world went idly swinging where the echoes fell,
While soft, serene, by hill and dene there
throbbed an evening bell.

Oh, wistfully the winds went sailing o'er
the sobbing sea,
And cloud-wrack swift with moonlight
trailing worked its wizardry,
When far away, as lovers may, went forth my love from me.
—Wilfrid L. Randell, in Boston Transcript.

HURLBUT'S QUEST

BY NELLIE CRAVEY GILMORE

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Russell had made no mistake. There was but one jewel like that in the whole world. He had made sure of that before he bought it for his wife—ten years before. Curious it was; a solid diamond heart, flanked by a score of tiny ruby ones, held in place by the finest thread of gold that was quite invisible at the distance of a few feet.

To-night she was wearing it in a new place—as a sole ornament to the gleaming pile of corn-gold hair that, alone, might have made Nannie Russell beauty-famous. But besides this, there were eyes of a matchless ambergray, a richly pale, perfect skin, and fine, scarlet lips that were gravely sweet.

Russell gradually let his eyes away from the jewel to a furtive contemplation of his wife's familiar features. No; seven years had made slow progress in ageing a woman of this indestructible type. If anything, she had grown more splendid in her thirties than she had ever been in the old girlhood days of their first love.

She was conversing spiritedly with an ambassador, and Russell thanked Heaven that he had been allotted a seat at the other end of the table. She would hardly bestow more than a casual glance in that direction, and he relied upon his short beard and eyeglasses to protect him from recognition.

The dinner progressed tiresomely, and the running fire of small talk Russell found himself obliged to keep up with the lady on his right, was about the hardest work the young broker had ever done in his life.

Presently there was a lull, and he became conscious that all eyes were turned upon the man who sat directly opposite to him.

"Yes," Hurlbut was saying, "it seems I am here on a very absurd quest, considering the fact that I don't even know the fellow's name or address—or that of any of his friends. All I have to go on is that he lived on Fifth avenue seven years ago—was tall and dark and smooth-faced, with the 'prettiest wife in New York,' and spent his work hours on Wall street."

Russell started. Luckily no one was looking at him, and the ridiculous red that poured over his face went unnoticed. After all, how many thousand people there were to whom this description might apply as well as to himself! He sincerely hoped he was not growing egotistic.

"The man was dying, you see—it was out in India—and all I could get out of him was that this friend of his had brought a lot of trouble and seeming disgrace upon himself in trying to shield him from it, and that I must move Heaven and earth to locate him and make matters right between him and his wife, who, it appears, left him because of this thing."

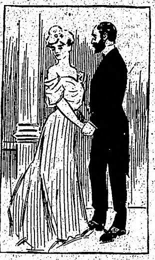
Russell shifted his gaze transiently to his wife's face. From pale, it had grown all at once bloodless, and she was leaning forward with parted lips and wide, tense eyes. A remark from her dinner partner recalled her to herself, and sent the crimson to her cheeks. She made some hurried response, laughing in a half-hysterical little way to conceal her agitation. Then she looked back at Hurlbut again; he had stopped talking, and Russell almost jumped at the sound of his wife's clear, controlled tones.

She had grown more splendid in her thirties.

"Do tell us all about it, Mr. Hurlbut," she was saying, "a romance like that is too rare not to be interesting."

"There isn't really much more to tell," he answered, smiling, "that's where the trouble comes in. Evans was always more or less gloomy—almost melancholy—except at times; then he was unpleasantly hilarious. One day he got confidential and told me all about his trouble, but withholding the names of the parties. A month later, he was stricken with a fever, and they sent for me at his request. In some way, he made it known to me that I must look up these people and make things right, now that he was going. But he was too far gone to talk distinctly, and I never could get at the names. The story, in brief, however, is this:

"He was staying with some friends in town two weeks prior to his wedding. A young lady was there, at the house, and Evans—man-like—found himself making love to her in spite of himself. One night, he kissed her in the rose-garden. In some way, it has never been discovered how, the fact came to the ears of his fiancee. She wrote an immediate letter, dissolving their relationship. Evans replied, asseverating his innocence. He could not do otherwise. But the girl refused to budge. He confided in his friend, who, like a brave Don Quixote, took the affair into his own hands and went to see the girl, and, in order to prove to her that Evans was innocent, himself took the blame of the whole thing, and swore that he it was who kissed the young lady in the rose garden. And in turn, the young lady who was kissed, betrayed the man to his wife, and the wife took French leave."



"I am afraid she has never ceased to—"

"But did the girl—the one who was kissed—did she uphold the husband in his deception, to protect the other girl's fiancee?"

"Just exactly."

"Then I should have thought that the husband would have explained everything to his wife!"

"He tried to—pleadings were vain."

"I don't much blame her, do you?"

"Well—I hardly know."

"A man's reply. Were there any children?"

"I don't think so."

"That was lucky. So many women have to endure a continual flagellation of their souls if there are children."

"But the man—think of him! He loved his wife; he must have suffered terribly when she turned on him."

"If he loved her so much, why did he place her in such a position?"

"He thought he could explain; thought that she would trust and believe him. And he loved his friend, and couldn't bear to see his life wrecked all on account of a little nonsense."

Mrs. Russell laughed then, the tension had to give way somewhere, and when she looked up again, her eyes were calm, with a new light in them. "Quite a little drama," she remarked, "and so it has fallen to your lot to arrange a climax!"

"In a way, it has."

"And do you think the woman would believe—"

"On the oath of a dying man, I think so. Don't you?"

She nodded. "I think she would like to, at any rate."

"I gave Evans my solemn promise."

"Why did he wait so long to set matters straight?"

"He never knew of the estrangement till a year ago. He went to India, you see."

After that there was a silence, and soon the hum of general conversation was resumed.

Half an hour later, on emerging from the smoking room, Russell found himself being presented to his wife.

At the sound of his name, she looked up, startled, and the color faded swiftly from her face and lips.

"Francis!" The name came involuntarily in a sharp whisper.

[illegible] introduced [illegible] had disappeared, and Russell drew his wife's hand within his and led her out into the cool, shadowy moonlight.

"Nannie," he said, suddenly getting both her hands in his, "do you think that that woman would still like to believe that her husband had told her the truth."

She met his gaze for an instant, impassioned, pleading, compelling, and her eyes went down.

"I am afraid she has never—ceased to—believe, dear, since it was—too late."

He stooped and took her in his arms, but for only a moment. Some one was coming, and they moved off down the veranda. At the end of it they came face to face with Hurlbut. Russell held out his hand.

"First chance I've had to speak to you, old man. I was very much interested in that little story of yours tonight. Meet me at the club to-morrow at one, and I may be able to give you a clue." He turned to his wife with a little half-laugh, "and if you'll condescend to dine with us at seven, there may be even a chance of meeting some of the dramatis personae."

TURNED JOKE ON HIS FRIEND

Political Orator Delivered Speech the Other Had Prepared.

In the Hayes-Tilden campaign the Hon. W. W. Rice of Worcester, Mass., was a candidate for Congress, and made a desperate fight for his election. He had secured the aid of a friend of Gen. Butler to speak for and with him.

On the 20th and last night of the campaign Mr. Rice, who before that had always spoken first, said to his friend as they were driving to Westboro, "Joe, you must speak first tonight."

The reply was: "I have raked after the cart so far, and decline respectfully to change the program." Mr. Rice insisted, and his friend said, "Well, what shall I talk about?" "Anything you please."

The thought flashed through his friend's mind to play a little joke on the principal, and he replied, "All right, I will open the meeting and give you the pleasure of closing it."

Mr. Rice had prepared carefully a speech which he had given at all his meetings, and his friend had heard it so often that he was familiar with all its details. When the meeting was called to order Mr. Rice's friend was introduced as the first speaker and exhausted, in his own choice of words every point of Mr. Rice's speech.

As he sat down, Mr. Rice slapped him on the knee and said, "Joe, when I get you out of doors, I'll give you a sound spanking." Which he forgot to do, as he had enough to do to extemporize a speech in his turn at the wheel.

Sky Falls.

"Many stones must fall into the sea," says a contributor to the Windsor. "Sailors have described their weird appearance in the night watches, but unfortunately the trail of the sea serpent is over all salt-water yarns, and they get discredited. One such fall may be quoted here, because it is near at home—at Dover, Dec. 17, 1852, and was witnessed by a naval officer, Lieut. Higginson. 'At three minutes past five in the morning,' he writes, 'the meteor having spanned the channel from S. E. to N. W. upon approaching the land, evidently throwing off portions of its substance as it passed through the atmosphere with a terrific rushing noise the nucleus suddenly exploded with a report similar to a heavy clap of thunder. The great body of the meteorite seemed to fall into the water, about half a mile from the land—as indicated by a vast volume of spray which rose foaming in the distance. Some fragments of the exploded aerolite were picked up along the sea beach."

Unconventional Call.

Mme. Rejane, the great French actress, has received a call by balloon at her summer villa at Hennequeville. At the hour of afternoon tea, five o'clock, there settled down on the lawn an airship, and standing up in it was Mme. Henri Lettellier, who observed quietly as she extended her hand to the astonished lady of the house, "We have called to thank you, dear madame, for your co-operation in our charity play."

"This is the first time anybody has dropped from the clouds to thank me," said Rejane.

"It is the way we have, in 1905 of paying tribute to talent," was the ready response.

A Sweet Young Face.

Along the noisy city ways,
And in the rattling city car,
On this the dreariest of days,
Perplexed with business fret and jar,

When suddenly a young sweet face
Looked on my petulance and pain,
And lent it something of its grace,
And charmed it into peace again.

The day was just as bleak without,
My neighbors just as cold within,
And truth was just as full of doubt,
The world was just as full of sin.

But in the light of that young smile
The world grew pure, the heart grew warm,
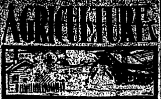
And sunshine gleamed a little while
Across the darkness of the storm.

I did not care to seek her name,
I only said, "God bless thy life,
Thy sweet young face be still the same,
Or happy maid or happy wife."
—Phillips Brooks.

Third Belmont to Join Racing Game.

August Belmont III, though he has decided to take part in business affairs, evidently does not mean to keep out of the sporting game altogether. He has made application for membership in the Jockey club, which will elect him no doubt at the next meeting. It is his intention to relieve his father of much responsibility in connection with eastern racing affairs.



Electricity in Agriculture.

For at least half a century men have been discussing the possibilities in the application of electricity to the growing of plants. I saw in an old paper published before 1850 a long article on some experiments being made in the application of electricity to growing plants, and also predictions as to the future of such a combination. Within the last fifteen years a great many experiments have been made along this line. The students of agriculture have not, however, put very much faith in the use of electricity in the growing of crops. There may be, however, more in it than now seems possible. The experiments made in the last ten years have occurred in almost every country of Europe and America, and from latitudes varying from the polar regions to the tropics. While the results have not been altogether favorable, yet the majority of experiments have shown a decided increase in the speed with which plants grow when they are subjected to electrical conditions. Where electricity has been used in the growing of plants, there has been a noted increase in the digestible, nitrogenous matter in seeds, of the sugar in sugar beets, and of the elements that produce sweetness in berries. It must be realized that most of these experiments are carried on in green houses and very little in the open fields. Several of the late writers on electricity in its relation to agriculture figure out that in the experiments up to this time there has been an increase of 45 per cent in the crop where electricity was applied on land of average fertility. The better the land is cultivated, the more scientifically it is handled, and the more it is manured, the greater is the increase per cent. A striking fact is that on poor soils electricity does not seem to affect the plants. This would seem to indicate that the work of the electricity is to hasten the preparation of the plant food. This may be by stimulating the bacteria in the soil or by stimulating the energies of the plant in reaching out after the food. This would be further borne out by the fact that there are some vegetables that cannot endure the electrical treatment unless they are watered. If watered they make a very rapid increase. Among the plants thus sensitive are peas, carrots, and cabbage. There may be some electrical power in the sunshine, because it has been discovered in these experiments that when the electrical treatment is given during a sunshiny period, the vegetables are damaged and the treatment has to be discontinued during the hot periods on sunny days.—Charles Comstock, Cass Co., Mich., in Farmers' Review.

Storing Potatoes.

I have found in my experience on the farm that it is necessary to use considerable care in the storing of potatoes in the cellar if they are to be made to keep well throughout the winter and not sprout or rot. The storing in open bins used to be followed by my father when I was a boy, and the potatoes got a good deal of sunlight and warmth. The result was that several times throughout the winter we boys had jobs sprouting the potatoes. The work is all right, but the potatoes are reduced in condition each time they are permitted to sprout. The moisture that goes out in the sprouts leaves the tubers soft and wrinkled. In that condition they are of little value for eating and of less value for seed.

There are two things that need to be looked after in the storing of potatoes. One is to keep the potatoes boxed or barreled tight, so as not to permit the air to pass through the storage places and draw moisture from the tubers. The other is to keep the cellar cool. Under modern conditions this is more difficult than it was under the old conditions; for the reason that many of our farm houses are now heated by means of furnaces which greatly increase the warmth in the cellar. In a case of this kind it is absolutely necessary to have a second cellar beyond the first or have the first cellar divided into two parts by a double wall that will not permit the heat from the furnace to warm the air in the other portion. The windows from the cellar to the open air must be fixed to open, so that now and then throughout the winter the storage cellar may be filled with cool air. Potatoes must be kept from sprouting and must also be kept from losing moisture. They should be as sound and hard late in the winter as when first put into the cellar.—J. Y. Hudson.

Alfalfa Growing.

Many sections of the United States are now growing alfalfa in immense quantities, and the farmers do not have to think twice as to how they will succeed with alfalfa. But this has not always been the case. Alfalfa growing in any new locality has always been accompanied by serious problems that had to be solved. Even in the states best adapted to it, it was at first destroyed by over pasturing, the ranchmen supposing that it would stand the same severe pasturing as buffalo grass. It took some time for each locality to learn that there were certain things that had to be considered in the successful growing of alfalfa.

Recommended by Prominent Physicians and Chemists

Calumet Baking Powder

Perfect in Quality
Economical in Use
Moderate in Price

Ponderous Don'ts.

Mr. Grover Cleveland doesn't think women should join clubs or have the right of suffrage. When he gets through his list of "don'ts" will he kindly indicate the privileges that they may legitimately enjoy?—Boston Transcript.

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson patent lawyers, 911-912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn. Charles Bird, Minneapolis, Minn., dumping platform; Martin Brennan, Garretson, S. D., harrow; Almon Dutton, Pleasant Grove, Minn., fence post; Eberhard O. Hough, Fosston, Minn., grain seive; Joseph Kugler, Waconia, Minn., surgical appliance; George Wilson, St. Paul, Minn., game apparatus; Charles Wyman, Anoka, Minn., harvester.

Joke on Jacob Riis.

Once in a Massachusetts town Jacob A. Riis was asked by a gaunt, funeral sort of a chap what he should say by way of introducing him to an assemblage. "Oh," replied Mr. Riis in a spirit of levity, "say anything you like. Say I am the most distinguished man in the country. They generally do." Whereupon his serious-minded friend marched upon the stage and calmly announced that he did not know this man Riis whom he was charged to introduce, and had never heard of him. "He tells," he went on with never a wink, "that he is the most distinguished citizen in the country. You can judge for yourselves when you have heard him."—Kansas City Journal.

THE BOSTON BAG EVIL.

Even the Men at the Hub Are Carrying Them Now.

"The Boston bog is a growing evil," said a man who has just returned from the Hub. "Formerly it was only the women who carried them, but now no Boston man is correctly equipped for the street who does not carry a bag. Every day in Boston I saw scores of business men carrying large green or blue broadcloth bags, exactly like those the women affect. They contain their books, papers, small packages, and on one occasion I saw a man dive into his bag for street car fare.

"Do you think you could hire a Kansas City man to do that?"

THE SECRET OF YOUTH.

De Soto looked for the secret of youth in a spring of gushing, life-giving waters, which he was sure he would find in the New World. Alchemists and sages (thousands of them), have spent their lives in quest for it, but it is only found by those happy people who can digest and assimilate the right food which keeps the physical body perfect that peace and comfort are the sure results.

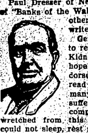
A remarkable man of 94 says: "For many long years I suffered more or less with chronic costiveness and painful indigestion. This condition made life a great burden to me, as you may well imagine.

"Two years ago I began to use Grape-Nuts as food, and am thankful that I did. It has been a blessing to me in every way. I first noticed that it had restored my digestion. This was a great gain, but was nothing to compare in importance with the fact that in a short time my bowels were restored to free and normal action.

"The cure seemed to be complete, for two years I have had none of the old trouble. I use the Grape-Nuts food every morning for breakfast and frequently eat nothing else. The use has made me comfortable and happy, and although I will be 94 years old next fall, I have become strong and supple again, erect in figure and can walk with anybody and enjoy it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a Reason. [illegible] Wellville [illegible]

GREAT SONG WRITER.

Paul Dresser, the Popular Composer, Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.



Paul Dresser of New York, author of "Banks of the Wabash" and many other great song hits, writes:

Gentlemen: I wish to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, in the hope that my endorsement will be read by some of the many thousands of sufferers from kidney complaint. I was so wretched from this malady that I could not sleep, rest nor eat, and had a weak and aching back. Doan's Kidney Pills effectually cured me, and I wish that others may know.

(Signed) PAUL DRESSER.

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Just What He Meant.

"Yes," said Popley, "my baby's got hair like I'm pretty sure to have some day."

"Ha! ha! You mean the baby's pretty sure to have hair some day like you've got."

"I mean what I said. The baby's bald."—Philadelphia Press.

A Severe Blow.

"The disappearance of the lobster is going to be a severe blow to the members of at least two professions."

"What are they?"

"Physicians and humorists."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WHEAT

Since the publication of our last review a number of important developments touching the wheat situation have come to life. American wheat is practically on a basis where exports may be made, but the shortage of cars to transport the grain to tidewater has proved a considerable obstacle to a free foreign movement. As a result stocks have increased at several of the primary points despite the normal foreign demand.

In the Northwest, however, the intense activity of the mills has a tendency to hold down undue accumulations, and the shipments of flour are something tremendous.

The speculative wheat market is strongly supported on each decline by the most powerful interests in the trade. This support is given openly, but without any blare of trumpets. As a direct consequence of the stiffness in our markets the foreigner has been obliged to come to us, and not we to him as has been the custom in years past.

Alarmist rumors of locusts in the wheat fields of Argentina have been published and denied several times. It may be that the insect pests will shorten the yield of that important country, but it is too early to make a definite statement on that subject. Disregarding the locust stories we advise purchases of wheat on conditions which are more clearly legitimate.

Edwards-Wood Co.

(Incorporated.)

— DEALERS IN —

Stocks—Grain—Provisions.

Western Life Indemnity Co.

The Policy Holders' Committee at No. 77 Jackson Blvd., Chicago, will give complete information about the expenditure of $200,000 of company funds as commissions to Mr. Rosenfeld for the purchase of Life Insurance Company of Pennsylvania business made on or about February 20th, 1905, and the expenditure of $200,000 on September 20th, 1905, to purchase 8,000 shares of stock in the Security Life and Annuity Company, (par value $10 per share.) Mr. Moulton, Mr. Rosenfeld and Mr. Moore, the Executive Committee, are now cited by Judge Kohlsaat to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt in making the last transaction. Make inquiry at once. HERVEY B. HICKS, Chairman.

Beautify Your Walls and Ceilings!

Alabastine

THE SANITARY WALL COATING

A Rock Cement in white and beautiful tints. Does not rub or scale. Destroys disease germs and vermin. No washing of walls after once applied. Any one can brush it on—mix with cold water. Other finishes, bearing fanciful names and mixed with either hot or cold water, do not have the cementing property of Alabastine. They are stuck on with glue, or other animal matter, which rots, feeding disease germs, rubbing, scaling and spoiling walls, clothing, etc. Such Finishes must be washed off every year—expensive, filthy work. Buy Alabastine only in five pound packages, properly labeled. Tint card, pretty wall and ceiling design, "Hints on Decorating" and our artists' services in making color plans, free.

ALABASTINE CO.,

Grand Rapids, Mich., or 105 Water St., N. Y.

THE GRAND PRIZE
A. J. Tower Co.
TOWER'S FISH BRAND
MAKERS OF
WATERPROOF OILED CLOTHING, SLICKERS, POMMEL SLICKERS AND HATS.
FOLLOWING OUR SUCCESSES AT PHILADELPHIA, CHICAGO AND OTHER EXPOSITIONS WE WON THE HIGHEST POSSIBLE AWARD AT THE ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.
A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON CHICAGO NEW YORK
TOWER CANADIAN CO. LIMITED, TORONTO, CAN.
TOWER'S FISH BRAND
THE GRAND PRIZE

TWENTY-FIVE BUSHELS OF WHEAT TO THE ACRE

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Means a productive capacity in dollars of over $16 per acre.

This on land which has cost the farmer nothing but the price of tilling it, tells its own story.

The Canadian Government gives absolutely free to every settler 160 acres of such land.

Lands adjoining can be purchased at from $6 to $10 per acre from railroad and other corporations.

Already 175,000 farmers from the United States have made their homes in Canada.

For pamphlet "Twentieth Century Canada" and all information apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to following authorized Canadian Government Agent—Charles Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

(Mention this paper.)

DAIRY NOTES

Creamery Sewage.

We frequently notice in creamery papers reports of creameries having trouble with sewage. This sewage consists largely of refuse from milk vats and washings from the floors of the creamery. This contains a large amount of casein. When this putrifies it produces an odor that is as offensive as decaying animal matter. It is no wonder, therefore, that when this sewage is run off in almost open ditches through a settled community, it has been the cause of suits and injunctions against the creameries. There is no reason why the matter of sewage should make trouble if the latest scientific methods are known to the creamery manager. What is known as the septic tank system is proving a complete success everywhere. This consists in conveying the sewage through a perfectly tight pipe some hundreds of feet to a closed tank or vat, in which the material is almost stagnant for some hours. The capacity of the tank must be great enough so that the flow of water through it will be very slow. Cross planks are put in to impede the progress of the sewage. At the further end of this tank, at the bottom, is an orifice permitting the outflow of the clear water. If this tank is tight, what is known as anaerobic bacteria, that is, bacteria living without air, operate upon the scum that forms in the tank and entirely destroy the organic matter, changing it into gas. In this way everything is destroyed except the ash. Nothing putrifies, for the putrifactive bacteria are not present. Therefore no offensive smells are engendered. This sysetm is now being used in the sewage systems of 500 cities in Europe and America. It is equally suitable to creameries, cheese factories and farms. The procedure of its operation is so well known that any state experiment station can supply the required information. Every farmer that reads this paper, and every creamery manager, can make himself the possessor of the theories in practice in this matter, for the process itself is not patented, although some companies have been formed that claim to have patented certain methods in connection with it. It is safe to say, however, that none of these patents are essential to the operation of the system.—Elmer Ashton, Bureau Co., Ill., in Farmers' Review.

Best Pasture for Milch Cows.

By long experiment it has been learned that the best pasture for milch cows is that containing 8 or 10 varieties of grass. It is desirable that the grasses be of such a character that they will mature at different times from late spring to late fall. By having mixed grasses in the pasture a greater weight of herbage is obtained than when one kind of grass is used. When one kind only is used there is a flush period when it is approaching maturity, and after that the grass declines in succulence and does not thereafter produce the same luxuriant growth that it did at the first of the season. The practice of sowing timothy, clover and blue grass in the pasture is not to be commended. The clover soon dies out and very little of it remains after the third year. This applies, of course, to the permanent pasture. In the system of rotation, of which the pasture forms part, clover and timothy may well be used. In some parts of the country several varieties of blue grass are used as a foundation for pasturage. Kentucky blue grass and Canadian blue grass, though similar in name, are dissimilar in looks and habits of growth. These do not ripen at the same time. At the Missouri station are to be seen large pastures of blue grass in all their luxuriance, and in these pastures the Canadian and Kentucky varieties are the most prominent. The best pasture for milch cows is that pasture that produces a large amount of succulent feed throughout the growing season. Cows should not be compelled to wander over large areas to secure the food necessary to sustain themselves and manufacture milk.

The Weight of Milk.

Professor Van Norman of the Indiana Experiment Station says that one gallon of milk of average density weighs 8 pounds 9½ ounces. This will vary slightly according to the amount of cream in it. The greater the proportion of cream the less will be the weight, as cream is lighter than the milk. In the weighing of cream, the percentage of fat counts largely. If the cream contains 15 per cent of butter fat, it will weigh 8 pounds and 6 ounces. If it contains 35 per cent of fat, it will weigh 8 pounds 3 ounces; 40 per cent, 8 pounds and 1 ounce.

Milk for the City.

Any farmer engaged in supplying milk for the city should be as conscientious about it as he is about the milk produced for his own family. He should not use any kind of preservative, and should see that the milk is fresh when it leaves the farm. Mixing old milk and new milk results in a great increase of the bacterial content, as the temperature of the old milk is raised by the new. If the morning's milk and the night's milk are to be poured together for one delivery, the mixing should not be until after the temperature of the last milking has been reduced as low as possible.

POULTRY

How Many Varieties?

The number of varieties of fowl that a farmer should keep will depend a great deal on what he wishes to do with his fowls. There are three different procedures looking to three different ends. The ordinary farmer that wants poultry as a side issue, and who intends to sell a good many birds and eggs in the market, and has nothing but revenue to look for from them will do well to confine himself to one kind of fowl. If he has but one variety and they are kept pure, he will find it possible to produce birds of a uniform size, and now and then he will find it very easy to sell some at more than ordinary prices. His eggs, too, will be of one size and one color. On the other hand, if he wishes to have a flock to supply himself and his family and does not expect to sell dressed poultry or eggs, then he can just as well have a mixed flock, or even nondescripts. The advantage of this is that some of these birds will lay at different times of the year, and a mixed flock well fed will give eggs during much of the winter months as well as the summer months. The man that wishes to keep a number of varieties is generally a man who has either a scientific leaning toward investigation, or is building up a trade in breeding stock. Sometimes one farmer will keep forty or fifty varieties of land and water fowls. The only difficulty about this is that some buyers prefer to purchase from a man that keeps but one variety, as there is less likely to be a mistake made in the breeding of the birds, and the eggs that he buys for setting purposes. Thus, the man that wants to buy pure Plymouth Rock eggs is more than likely to send to the man that has Plymouth Rocks only than to the man that has a dozen varieties of land fowls, for he rightly judges that in the latter case it is very likely that a mistake will be made somewhere along the line from the time the eggs are collected from the nests until the time they are shipped.

Slyvanus Banks.

Champaign County, Ill.

Clean Eggs.

The eggs from some farms are always clean, and from other farms are always dirty. We know of poultry houses where at least half the eggs gathered are stained with mud. This is because the hen yard is small and the situation low. Water gathers in front of the poultry house door, and when the hens go out and in they naturally beat the soil into a mud. A single hen going onto a nest of eggs will stain nearly every egg. As poultry raisers know, it is practically impossible to wash these stains off. The glutinous substance on the outside of the egg shell seems to catch and hold the dirt, and it is no easy task to remove it. It is perfectly easy to keep the eggs clean by keeping clean the surroundings of the poultry house. If any farmer will notice the market quotations, he will see that dirty eggs sell at a very much lower price than clean eggs. The difference in the prices is what the farmer loses by permitting his eggs to become dirty. This loss is the more inexcusable as it is an unnecessary one. It is easy enough to keep the hen yard clean and the nests clean.—Peter Graham, Bourbon Co., Kan.

Wildness of the Turkey.

The wildness of the turkey has never been bred out of it, except in a minor degree. Breeding the turkey in confinement has seldom been attempted by farmers that have made a business of raising turkeys. They have recognized the fact that the turkey requires freedom and a considerable territory to roam over. Instead of attempting to breed out this quality, they have catered to it. The work of breeding out the wildness has hardly begun. The wild instincts are also retained by the use of new turkeys captured from the woods. The elimination of the instinct for roaming would greatly increase the number of turkeys being raised in the country.

The Old Breeds of Fowls.

Other things being equal, the old breeds of fowls are generally superior to the new ones, for the very reason that their characteristics are well fixed. Thus, the Dorking, the oldest fowl known to the western world, has its domestic instincts thoroughly established, though it lacks a little in the egg-producing power. The Langshans, centuries old, can be depended upon to give black birds of great hardiness, and of ability to produce larger numbers of eggs. The same is true of the original forms of the Brahmas and Leghorns. We should demand more in new breeds than mere changes in color of feather.

Brightening the Combs.

People that visit show rooms frequently wonder at the brightness of the combs and wattles of the birds. Those in the secret know that these combs and wattles have been daily rubbed with a mixture composed of two parts of alcohol and one part of glycerine.

There is a difference between roup and cold, but poultry should not be allowed to take cold. The cold makes the roup more possible as the germs of the disease can then find a chance to develop.

STRENGTHEN THE STOMACH

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Really Cure Indigestion Instead of Merely Relieving Symptoms.

There are plenty of remedies by which you can relieve for the time heartburn, pain and gas on the stomach and can smother nervous sensations and induce artificial sleep. You can humor your stomach by giving it predigested food. But when you take your next meal all your trouble begins afresh.

There is only one sensible thing to do. Strengthen the stomach and do away with the necessity for drugs and artificial foods. The best remedy ever found for this purpose is the one that was used by E. E. Strong, of Capleville, Shelby county, Tenn.

"For years," he states, "I suffered greatly from indigestion. I tried many different remedies and some of them would relieve me for a time, but the trouble always came back. About six months ago I had an unusually severe attack, and while I tried everything I had ever heard of, I found that none of the ordinary remedies would reach the difficulty this time.

"One day I read in a Memphis paper how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured a Michigan woman, a sufferer from chronic dyspepsia of a most stubborn type. I then tried the same remedy and it proved just as successful in my case. I took only three boxes, and was cured. I have not had the slightest symptoms of indigestion since."

The tonic treatment has a sound principle as its basis, and abundant success in actual use. Multitudes of cases that had defied all other remedies have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pills actually make new blood and strike at the root of all diseases caused by bad blood. They contain no harmful stimulants or opiates. Every dyspeptic should read, "What to Eat and How to Eat." Write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y., for a free copy.

A Word Hunt.

Towne—You don't like Mr. and Mrs. Woodby Kulchert to call on you, eh? What's the matter? Do they stay too late?

Browne—It isn't that they stay so late, but they keep us up so late.

Towne—What? I don't understand—

Browne—Well, you see, after they leave it keeps us busy for an hour looking through the dictionary.—Philadelphia Press.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Hidden in a Cloud.

"Say, Cogger, why in the world do you go through the park blowing a cloud of steam out of the back of your automobile that looks like a geyser?"

"For an object, my boy. There is such a cloud of steam back there you can't see the number."—Columbus Dispatch.

TORTURING HUMOR.

Body a Mass of Sores—Treated by Three Doctors but Grew Worse —Cured by Cuticura for 75c.

"My little daughter was a mass of sores all over her body. Her face was eaten away and her ears looked as if they would drop off. I called in three doctors, but she grew worse. Neighbors advised Cuticura, and before I had used half of the cake of soap and the box of ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's skin was as clear as a new-born babe's. I would not be without Cuticura again if it cost five dollars, instead of seventy-five cents, which is all it cost us to cure our baby. Mrs. G. J. Steese, 701 Coburn St., Akron, Ohio."

Masculine Perversity.

Men are funny creatures to cater for. A woman will buy the things she wants, but a man will only buy the things he needs.—Tailor and Cutter.

RUSSIAN PRESCRIPTION BLANK.

Oddly Shaped and Not Calculated to Suit Some American Doctors.

"Did you ever see a Russian prescription blank?" said a druggist to a visitor. "Well, it is an odd-shaped affair. I had one the other day.

"It was a triangular piece of paper, eight inches long, two inches wide at one end and half an inch wide at the other. The edges were turned down a little to show the telephone number of the apothecary.

"If some of our physicians who prescribe eight or nine drugs for an ailment, in the hope, perhaps, that one will effect a cure, had to use one of these blanks he would have a hard time, and he'd have to write pretty small."

Wanted to Shave Him.

Here is an amusing story of a leading Thespian who engaged a green supe to assist him in a heavy tragedy. In one scene there was a robber's cave in which the robber was supposed to be hiding.

"Ha, ha!" shouted the leading man, nudging his assistant. "He is concealed amid the rocks. Go in and beard him in his den."

"Beard him?" responded the green supe. "You've engaged the wrong man. I ain't no barber. I never shaved a man in my life."—Columbus Dispatch.

Hard to Find.

Edwin—A great surgeon! He can do as he pleases with any one's heart and then replace it in its normal position.

Dick—Wonder if he ever experimented with a summer girl's heart?—

THE PEOPLE'S SHOE MAKERS.

The Mayer Boot & Shoe Co. of Milwaukee, Wis. Its product held in high esteem by the public.

The Mayer Boot & Shoe Co. of Milwaukee is designated as the People's shoe makers because it provides shoes for each and every member of the family from the baby up. Whether a working shoe for the farmer, mechanic, miner or lumberman, or the most stylish and up-to-date shoe for Sunday wear and special occasions; whether it is shoes for boys and girls, misses or ladies, every day shoes or dress shoes, this bog factory supplies them all.

"Mayer School Shoes" are known everywhere as the "Shoes that wear like iron. "Martha Washington" is the name of the company's most popular comfort shoe, made without buttons or laces and for which there is a big demand among ladies who seek extreme comfort. Mayer's "Western Lady" represents the most approved and up-to-date style in ladies' shoes and "Honorbilt" for men is what best dressers everywhere are wearing. Mayer shoes are supplied by leading shoe dealers.

When a woman works to hard for her church, it is terribly hard for her husband to care if he saves his soul or loses it.

The World's Standard

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

600,000 In Use.

Ten Times All Others Combined.

Save $10.- per Cow Every Year of Use over all Gravity Setting Systems and $5.- per Cow over all Imitating Separators.

Send for new Catalogue.

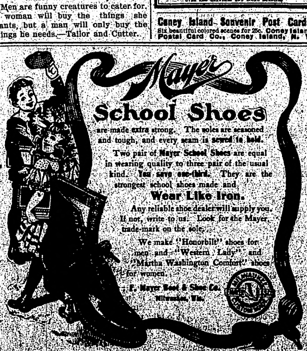
THE DE LAVAL SEPARATOR CO.

Canal & Randolph Sts., CHICAGO.

74 Cortlandt Street, NEW YORK.

OVER 1800 BRANCHES AND LOCAL AGENCIES.

Coney Island Souvenir Post Cards. Six beautiful colored scenes for 25c. Coney Island Postal Card Co., Coney Island, N. Y.



Mayer

School Shoes

are made extra strong. The soles are seasoned and tough, and every seam is sewed to hold.

Two pair of Mayer School Shoes are equal in wearing quality to three pair of the usual kind. You save one-third. They are the strongest school shoes made and Wear Like Iron.

Any reliable shoe dealer will supply you. If not, write to us. Look for the Mayer trade-mark on the sole.

We make "Honorbilt" shoes for men and "Western Lady" and "Martha Washington Comfort" shoes for women.

F. Mayer Boot & Shoe Co. Milwaukee, Wis.

MILWAUKEE

PRICE 25 Cts.
TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY
ANTI-GRIPINE

ANTI-GRIPINE

IS GUARANTEED TO CURE GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

[illegible]

Woodward & Co., Grain Commission. DULUTH.

[illegible]

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

INTELLIGENT WOMEN PREPARE

Dangers and Pain of This Critical Period Avoided by the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. A. E. G. Hyland

How many women realize that the most critical period in a woman's existence is the change of life, and that the anxiety felt by women as this time draws near is not without reason?

If her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, it is at this time likely to become active and, with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden.

At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to begin their destructive work. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, dizziness, headache, dread of impending evil, sounds in the ears, timidity, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the world's greatest remedy for women at this trying period, and may be relied upon to overcome all distressing symptoms and carry them safely through to a healthy and happy old age.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism, and builds up the weakened nervous system as no other medicine can.

Mrs. A. E. G. Hyland, of Chestertown, Md., in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had been suffering with falling of the womb for years and was passing through the change of life. My womb was badly swollen. I had a good deal of soreness, dizzy spells, headaches and was very nervous. I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms left me, and I have passed safely through the change of life a well woman."

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. It is free and always helpful.

CURES INDIGESTION

When what you eat makes you uncomfortable it is doing you very little good beyond barely keeping you alive. Digestive tablets are worse than useless, for they will in time deprive the stomach of all power to digest food. The stomach must be toned up—strengthened. The herb tonic-laxative, will do the work quickly and pleasantly.

Lane's Family Medicine

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN

W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
ALL STYLES
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES
Established July 6, 1876.

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

The R. Paxton Company Boston, Mass.

BIG GAME SEASON IS HERE

Hunters Will Take to the East Woods in Pursuit of Deer and Moose November 10th.

The approaching cold weather calls to the mind of the hunter the fact that the big game season opens within a few days and already parties are organizing to have a go at the moose, deer and caribou in the tall timber east of here. There is a fascination about a big game hunt that puts the sportsman's blood at fever heat long before the season arrives and already many are polishing their trusty rifles and looking to their equipment. We would suggest that the local nimrods look well to the game laws before they make their pilgrimage to the big woods and for their benefit we publish the following condensed outline of the state law governing the handling of big game:

Deer and Moose—Season for killing.—No person shall hunt, catch, take, kill, ship, convey or cause to be shipped or transported by common or private carrier, to any person, either within or without the state, or purchase, expose for sale, have in possession or under control at any time, any elk, moose, thereof including the hides and horns, except as hereinafter provided. Provided that deer may be killed between Nov. 10 and Nov. 30 of the same year, and any deer or any part thereof may be had in possession by any person during said time; but no person shall kill or have in possession during said time more than two (2) deer, or parts thereof; and provided further, that any person who is lawfully in possession of any deer, or part thereof, may ship or cause the same to be shipped in the manner provided for by this chapter, but not otherwise; and provided further, that male, antlered moose may be killed between Nov. 10 and Nov. 30 of the same year, and any such male moose, or part thereof may be had in possession by any person during the time aforesaid, but no person shall kill or have in possession during said time more than one (1) male moose, or part thereof; and provided, further; that when any deer or such male moose or part thereof are lawfully in the possession of any person as provided for in this chapter, such person may continue in the possession of the same for five (5) days after the time herein limited for killing said animals; and provided further, that no cow or female moose can be killed or had in possession at any time.

COMMISSIONER TO RESIGN.

Chairmen of Township Boards Will Name Successor.

James Sutor has announced that he intends to sell his real estate and personal property holdings in Red Lake county and move to Washington state. He will probably resign his office as county commissioner from the first district soon after the January meeting of the board. His successor will be elected by the chairmen of the boards of supervisors comprising the district in which he is located. These townships are Black River, Polk Center, Louisville Bray and Numedal. There is no mention of any names in connection with Mr. Sutor's successor. The retiring official has served the county in the capacity of commissioner ever since the county was organized, and has been a capable and efficient public officer. He has hosts of friends who will regret his removal from Red Lake county.

A FAREWELL RECEPTION.

The following from the Twin Brooks, S. D., News, refers to Mr. Elmer E. Sugden, who came to Red Lake Falls last week to assume charge of the job department of the Courier:

"One of the most pleasant gatherings of the season took place last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beck in this city and was in the nature of a surprise party for Elmer Sugden who left that night for Red Lake Falls.

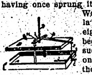
"Upon invitation about thirty young people had gathered when Mr. Sugden, in company with a couple friends came in. The surprise was complete, as he had no intimation of the presence of the guests. The evening was passed with games and social chat. Delicious refreshments were served, and it was at a late hour when the guests bade their host and hostess good night. Several of the young people escorted Mr. Sugden to the 12 o'clock train to "see him off." He leaves a large circle of friends in Twin Brooks whose good wishes go with him to his new location."

ROAD AND FARM IMPROVEMENT

AN EXCELLENT RAT TRAP.

Home-Made Device Which Will Catch the Most Wary and Cunning Rodent.

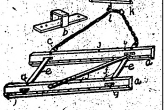
The only kind of trap proved to the writer a complete success is the deadfall shown in the accompanying cut. It has been used in his family for nearly half a century, catching, during that time, an army of rats. Simple in construction, it is, nevertheless, so swift and deadly in its action that any rodent, having once sprung it, never escapes. Wonderful to relate, as many as eight rats have been caught in such a trap at one time, which, though it did not kill them, held them prisoners until they could be dispatched, says Fred O. Sibley, in Epitomist. The platform A should be about 20 inches square, and the drop B consist of hardwood plank with two holes bored through exactly middle-way, so that it will slide readily up and down the posts supporting the crosspiece H. Through the center of this is a hole for the similar action of the circular post D, which is securely embedded into B. A piece of light band-iron is G, which, when the trap is set, rests on the support H and, being loosely fastened to D at I by an iron pin, thus holds up the plank B. The rat enters and begins nibbling at Indian meal sprinkled in the groove of the platform at J, and finally reaching the spindle, hidden beneath it, agitates it enough to displace the bottom E on the outside; this, in turn, releases both the string F and band-iron G, the latter of which, owing to the weight of the plank B, is drawn upward into a groove, sawed middle-way through D by its sliding down the hole in the center of H and as the motion of B is then exceedingly fast, the victim, ere it can scramble over the sides round the platform, is caught and killed. Provided the affair is nicely adjusted and made so that it operates easily, there is no patented trap on the market, to my knowledge, half as good, for it has such an innocent appearance that the oldest and most cunning rat will ultimately be caught by it. To work well the spindle C should have a little play, and the more lightly the button E rests against the notch cut in it and yet will hold, the better. Made on a smaller scale, this kind of trap is also most excellent with which to catch mice.



HOME-MADE ROAD SCRAPER

It Will Do as Good Work as the High-Priced Grader, and Is Very Durable.

In the illustration a a are 3x12x8 feet long, bottom edge beveled with its hoe of steel ¼x4 inches, bolted on cutting edge as shown at g. The crosspieces, e e, are bolted with inch bolts in mortises 1x8, two inches from the top of a a, and made out of 1x4x30-inch iron, which has holes in front ends to fasten draft chain to, also a hole in e at the right-hand end to bolt brace, f, on, which is also bolted to the rear a at h. The guider, f, is 1x2 inches and six feet long, with holes in back end so the rear a can be changed at any time so it will properly follow front a. A seat board, b, is bolted to a a at i i when team is hitched at b for ditching, and at j j when smoothing up the roadbed. The right-hand ends of a a are sloped back 45 degrees to prevent catching in the bank of side ditch. If properly made of good material, this is very durable, and does almost as good work as a costly grader.—Farm and Home.



ROAD GRADER.

FARM FACTS AND FANCIES.

Farming is a poor business when the farming is poor.

Wire fencing is more durable and cheaper than wood.

A farmer without plans is next to a ship without a rudder.

One way to increase the profits in farming is to reduce the cost of production.

What per cent. of that seed corn do you think will grow? If you haven't tested it, you don't know.

The greatest saving of time is made by the use of the best tools in the preparation of the ground, planting the seed, and after cultivation.

It is much more profitable to keep land in good condition than to get it out of such condition by one-sided fertilization and then try to bring it back.

Time will be saved and you will be apt to be more careful in your selection if the seed corn is selected this month. If you intend buying seed, place your order now.

Every farmer should have his seed corn testing patch on which competing selections from his own fields and varieties secured elsewhere may be subjected to a careful field test under his own eye.

THE VALUE OF GOOD COWS

Few Farmers Realize the Income Which May Be Realized from Them.

Prof. Eckels, in charge of the department of dairy husbandry at the University of Missouri, says of the value of good cows:

"Very few farmers realize the income that can be had from a good cow. The farmer who keeps a cow a year to raise a $15 or $20 calf, usually thinks he has done well, but his profits do not compare with those of the dairyman. Except with the high-priced registered cattle, the milk, not the calf, is the most valuable product of the cow.

"The milk produced by the average Missouri cow in a year will sell for about $50 at the creamery or when made into first-class butter. A good cow of the dairy breed will make at least $50 cash income every year. I have a list of about 50 Missouri farmers who report a cash income of $50 to $100 a cow every year, and these figures do not include the income from the sale of calves, and pigs fed on the skim milk. 'But,' says one, 'milking is a tremendous task.' As a matter of fact, it takes only 60 hours, worth 15 cents an hour, to milk a cow twice a day for ten months.

"Last year the cash income from the herd of cattle on the college farm was $82.50 a cow for butter sold and $12.50 a cow for milk, skimmed milk and calves, making a total income from each cow of $95. This year the average income per cow from the same source will be over $100 for the entire herd of 28. These results do not come from expensive or excessive treatment of any kind. But they are the result of doing the right things at the right time in the proper way."

A DAIRY CATECHISM.

Some Questions and Answers for the Education of the Keeper of Cows.

Q. How many kinds of cows are there?

A. Three.

Q. What are they?

A. Dairy cows, beef cows and combination cows.

Q. What is a dairy cow?

A. One that has the ability to turn all she may eat and digest, over and above that required for maintenance, toward the udder, there to be transformed into milk.

Q. What is the beef cow?

A. One that turns her surplus food into fat.

Q. What is the combination cow?

A. One that tries to take both turns of the road and never gets anywhere.

Q. What causes this difference in cows?

A. Heredity.

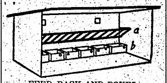
Q. What is heredity?

A. The biological law by which living beings, whether animal or plants, tend to reproduce themselves in their descendants.—Blooded Stock.

FEEDING RACK FOR CATTLE

Cattle Shed with Convenient Feeding Boxes for the Dairy Farm.

The cut shows interior of cattle shed arranged with rack and boxes for feeding, says Farm and Home. The rack, a, may be built of two by fours placed horizontally above and below with slats one by two or two by two vertically for holding the hay. The boxes, b, may be made of any suitable size. They are placed in position loose and have a large hole bored in one end to make them easily removed for cleaning, which we do after each feed.



FEED RACK AND BOXES.

HINTS FOR THE DAIRY.

Wasteful feeding may mean too much or too little.

Always skim sweet milk; never let cream thicken.

Cows should be milked with dry hands and the udders should be washed clean.

Provide a milking stool with a bottom to set the pail on for the boy. Don't expect him to hold the pail between his legs.

Improved machinery improves every industry. The dairy cow is the most important of the machinery connected with the dairy.

Cream is a very perishable article and must be kept under the most favorable conditions if good butter is to be made out of it.

A Missouri writer says: "Missouri has 800,000 dairy cows, and has sunshine, water, grass and feed enough to support 10,000,000 cows."

Any farmer that has ten or more cows should have a silo unless he is selling his milk to some company that refuses to take milk made out of silage.

Stable ventilation is best secured by some well-constructed and easily operated device, rather than by loose boards or accidental holes in the windows.

Borers.

Borers burrow in the base of the trunks of trees. The only way to fight them at this time of year is to inspect the trees and dig out the borers with a stiff wire. It is well to scrape all the loose bark off the trunks of the trees and whitewash them. This will at least make it easy to find the borers and the whitewash will perhaps prevent to some extent the entrance of borers.—Farmer's Review.

CONCERT TOMORROW NIGHT

The first of the winter series of monthly band concerts will be given at the Metropolitan opera house tomorrow evening, October 27. A program of unusual merit has been prepared, and it is hoped there will be a liberal attendance of our people. The program is as follows:

PART I

March—"On Dress Parade" . . . Chambers
Waltz—"Impassioned Dream" . . . Rosas
"Pilgrim Chorus" . . . Verdi
Baritone Solo . . . Selected
J. B. Armstrong.
Reading—"The Gladiator" . . .
Ralph Healy,
Pastrol—"The Blue and the Gray" . Drbly

PART II.

Vocal Solo . . . Selected
Mrs. Edwin H. Chase
Trombone and cornet duet . . . Selected
Harry and Ralph Healy.
Ready—"Tommy . . .
Miss Inez Linnihan
Selection—"Lucia de Lammermoor . . .
Donizette.

The price of admission will be 25, 35 and 50c. Invite your friends and the strangers in town to attend.

MARRIAGE TIES SEVERED.

Judge Watts Grants Two Divorces at This Term of Court.

In the district court Tuesday Annie J. Duntley was given a decree of divorce from Richard H. Duntley, on the grounds of desertion and ill treatment. The parties live in St. Hilaire, Mr. Duntley being proprietor of a confectionery store there.

Anna Blaine was also freed from the matrimonial knot that bound her to John Blaine. They are Thief River people.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

A Fine Distinction.

'Twas twins! The doctor laughed "Ha, ha!"
And the father laughed "He, he!"
A difference in the laughs, you'll note.
Now, wherefore should it be?

"Ha, ha!" is the proper thing to laugh
At thought of the bill and its joys.
"He, he!" is the laugh pronominal
When it's twins and the twins are boys!
—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Time Wasted.

Miss Passay—He was so impatient. He wanted to marry me right away. But I said there was no hurry.

Miss Pert—The idea! And you getting older every minute!—Catholic Standard and Times.

Striking Him.

Quietly she came up behind him as he sat in his armchair and whispered.

"Will you let me have $10, dear?"

"I am surprised," he said, "that you would strike a man behind his back."—Yonkers Statesman.

A Trade In Love.

Little Willie; charming Sue.
Little Willie: "I love you."
Charming Susie: "Give to me
Half your apple, then I'll see."
Little Willie: "Take it, Sue."
Little Sue: "How I love you!"
—New York Times.

Took It Hard.

Gunner—I hear that Carter created a great uproar when he lost $200 at poker.

Guyer—Yes, he created as much uproar as if he had lost his collar button.—Detroit Tribune.

Notice to Property Owners.

Property owners in Red Lake Falls city are warned that banking houses or other buildings with manure is not allowed unless the manure is covered with earth. Straw and hay stacks are not allowed within seventy-five feet of buildings, and no ash heaps will be premitted in close proximity to buildings. Violations of these rules will be summarily dealt with.—John Drier, Fire Warden. 2 w.

SKIN DISEASES
SPEAK FOR THE BLOOD

Skin Diseases speak for the blood and tell of the acid-laden, poisonous condition of that vital fluid, and of its effort to throw off and rid the system of the poisons and waste matters that have accumulated in it. Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Boils and diseases of this type are all caused by a weakened and polluted blood circulation, and though they may have lain dormant in the system during the cold weather, at the coming of Spring and Summer, when the blood is reacting and making extra efforts to expel all morbid and poisonous matter, they make their appearance. External remedies cannot cure; they soothe and give temporary relief, but often clog the pores and glands, and the poison causing the trouble is thus shut up in the system to break out afresh later on. S. S. S., a purely vegetable blood remedy, cures all skin diseases by going down into the circulation, driving out all poisons and waste matters, strengthening the blood, leaving the skin soft and smooth, and building up the entire system by its tonic effect. S. S. S. cures Nettle Rash, Poison Oak and all skin diseases that enter the system through the pores and glands, as well as those that have their origin in the blood. Book on Skin Diseases and any advice wished, without charge.

In 1896 I experienced at times patches on the inside of my hands that itched and burned, causing much discomfort. I was convinced I was afflicted with a type of Eczema. I consulted several physicians, and used several external applications, receiving but slight temporary relief. I decided to try S. S. S., and soon I found myself entirely cured.
Station A., Kansas City, Mo. W. P. BRUSH.

SSS

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

MASCOT
"A Pure Flour."
Sweet, Pure and Wholesome
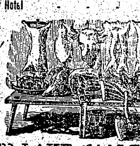
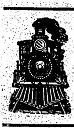
It's All the Wheat
THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..
Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET
Opposite Grand View Hotel
Groshong & Blake, Props.
Fresh and Salt Meats.
Strictly First-Class In Every Respect
Telephone Your Order to Number 19.
RED LAKE FALLS MINN



Earn from $80 to $125 per month
WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stanp for full particulars to-day
National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
Name.........
Town.........
State.........
R.F.D.No.........
Age.........



Try Courier Job Work

FARM MACHINERY

I have just received a carload of farm machinery and it will be to the interest of every farmer in Red Lake County to see me and see some snaps I have to offer before buying. My goods are all anti-trust. Here are a few of the reliable goods I have for sale:

Robinson Buggies, Disc Harrows, Beggs-Goodson Wagons, The Celebrated Acme Harrow and Pulverizer, Van Brunt Single Disc Drills, Goodhue Wind Mills.

Get My Prices---I Can Save You Money

S. A. SWANSON

SOCIETY

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL, VIII—NO. 4. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1905. WHOLE NO. 368.

WYLIE PEOPLE TO BE HEARD

Injunction Sought to Restrain Great Northern From Tearing up Shirley Track.

Judge William Watts of the district court today set the hearing on the Wylie versus Great Northern injunction case for November 7th and on that date Attorney General Young and Assisstant general Stone in conjunction with County Attorney Thomas Germo, of Red Lake Falls will appear at Crookston to submit arguments in behalf of the Wylie people, and to set forth why the Great Northern, a semi-public service corporation, should be restrained from tearing up the rails between Wylie and St. Hilaire.

Some fine points of law, which have never been brought up in this state, will come out during the case, and from the standpoint of peculiar principles involved, the controversy will undoubtedly be a record breaker.

The decision of the district court in the matter is likely to be appealed from no matter which way the scales of justice tip, by the railroad company if against the corporation and by the Wylie people, if in favor of the railroad.

The application for a temporary injnnction submits many things, among which, is the fact that the line has been established for twenty years and that the people of Wylie and vicinity contributed to the road's financial coffers at the time it was built; that the railroad is a semi-public service corporation and has not the right, as such, to arbitrarily remove an established piece of road, to the inconvenience of the traveling public simply because the line does not pay.

Musical Instruments Below Cost.

We will give 25 per cent. discount on all violins, guitars and other small musical instruments for the next thirty days.—Anderson & Wander.

IT IS SELF SUSTAINING.

Postal Receipt Show Heavy Increaso For the Year.

A Washington telegram says that the forthcoming annual report of the postmaster general will show the twelve-month period ended June 30th to have been the banner year tn the history in postal receipts. Exclusive of rural free delivery the postoffice department is self-supporting, and while the deficit will be larger than a year ago a substantial increase in receipts will be recorded.

During the twelve months ending June 30 last 600,000,000 more postage stamps and stamped wrappers and postal cards were issued than for the corresponding period of a year ago. This resulted in increased receipts, approximating to $10,000,000.

The number of stamps and mailing devices issued and sold in the past year aggregated over $7,700,000,000 in value.

Advance figures from first-class postoffices indicate that the business in money orders aggregated close to $1,000,000,000, a gain of approximately 20 per cent.

While postal revenues come from various sources, the great bulk of the postal income is derivhd from the sale of stamps, post cards and envelopes and wrappers with stamps attached. Sales from these sources footed up to more than $141,000,000. Postage stamps, postal cards and wrappers of various kinds were sold to the number of 7,704,982,162, a tremendous increase over the sales of the preceding year.

Man's Unreasonableness.

is often as great as woman's, But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth. Ind., was not unreasonable when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble, "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick. she could eardly leave her bed, and five (5) pnysicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured and can now perform all her household duties," Guaranteed by all Drufigisrs; 50c.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY DADS

Regular Meeting Held at The City Hall, October 26.

Meeting called to order by president Borchers.

Rollcalled: Aldermen all present.

Minutes of last regular meeting read and approved.

On motion duly carried the following bills were allowed:

John Deforge, street work.	19.80
Julius Keihe, do	16.50
D. W. Brown, "	90
Joseph Perros, "	6.00
Henry Peoutx, "	6.00
A. P. Tousin, insurance	5.80
Robertson Lbr Co., lumber	169.41

An amendment was introduced to the ordinance granting to the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Rail way Co. its successors and assigns, the right to lay down, construct, maintain and operate a pipe line on 1st street in said city and on motion duly carried the amendment was adopted, and the ordinance as amended passed its second reading.

The city clerk was duly authorized to hire room in the vaults of the city banks for protecting city records etc.

Moved and carried that we submit to the legal voters of the city of Red Lake Falls Minn., the question as to whether or not the city council shall be authorized to appropriate the same of not to exceed $750. for the purpose of purchasing a chemical engine and apparatus for the fire department and that said question be submitted by inserting the same and the city ballots for the coming election to be held Nov. 7 1905.

On motion meeting adjourned.

President.

Approved this 1st day of November. A. D. 1905. J. A. Duffy, Mayor.

Attest:

A. P. Toupin, City Clerk.

If you are troubled with indigestion, contipation, sour stomach, or any other pain, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will make you well. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets At A. L. Reichert.

PROJEECT FOR A BIG DITCH

State Drainage League Proposes to Reclaim 250,000 Acres East of Here.

In connection with the activities of the State Drainage League of Minnesota, there has come to light a proposition for one of the vastest and most auspicious drainage projects that has ever been launched in this state. The terms of this proposition are such as to include the drainage of 250,000 acres of the most fertile soil in the north country.

During the appeal in the State Drainage League for federal aid in Minnesota drainage before the congress next December there will no doubt come up for detail consideration a gigantic government ditch seventy-five miles long extending down the fifteen standard pile line through the very heart of Red Lake reservation from a point almost north of Bemidji and running westward to the outlet of Thief Lake.

The construction of such a ditch as this will be made entirely thru the government land and the petition may be based entirely upon the interests of their ownership or guardianship of Indian lands.

The cost of such a construction as will be proposed to the federal goverment will be in the neighborhood of $150,000. The topography of the country through which it is proposed to run is peculiarly suited to the economical and rapid building of the drainage ditch. Along the fifteen standard pile line and from fifteen to twenty miles north and south of it along the suggested route there is an even and level stretch of country and its soil is peculiarly adapted to the growing of small grains. The fifteen standard pile line marks the lowest depression of this land, running in a long and gradual slope without obstruction or watershed westward into Thief Lake.

At present this region is overflowed with water and surveyors in passing through that country remember it as one of surplus water without any means of drainage containing great possibilities of development, on account of the fertility and peculiar farming quality which they noticed upon examining the soil and the vegetation that, notwithstanding the continual presence of water makes of it a most beautiful sweep of meadowland pleasant to gaze upon.

In the construction of the ditch and draining of the water there will be a peculiar economical feature attached of importance. This consists of the fact that the eastern end of the ditch may be drained into the Rainy Lake system of rivers and on the eastern side of the graat northern sheds into the Lake, while the western and larger end of it may be drained into the Red River system of the water flow. This country of the Red Lake Indian reservation lies directly across that northern watershed that divides the river system of the Great Lakes and those of the Red river and Hudson Bay.

Economy exists in the plan set forth above, for the reason that by the drainage of the waters in two different directions the ditch will not have to be constructed of such capacity as to carry the entire waters which it would have to do if drained entirely in one direction. Under the proposed reimbursable use of government funds in the reclamation of overflowed lands as is proposed by drainage magnates the cost of draining this country will be much less than one dollar per acre.

And the land can be readily sold at that advance according to the word of engineers who have made that region.

A Card.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough and heals the lungs. Prevents pneumonia and will cure incipient consumption. Contains no opiates and is safest for children. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and insist upon having it. Stops the the cough and hhe lungs. Sold at A L Reichert.

THANKSGIVING DAY NOV. 23?

Say Some, but the 30th May be the Date This Year—

Have you noticed that calenders differ as to the date of Thanksgiving Day this year? Some of them designate November 23, while others claim the 30th as turkey day. The trouble arises from the fact that this year November happens to have five Thursdays, which is unusual. It may be left for the president to help the calendar makers out of the difficulty. Some say it is usual for the president to proclaim the last Thursday, but others, however, think the day designated is the Thursday after the fourth Wednesday, which in the present instance would bring the holiday on the 23rd. Since the calendars are at sea on the question it remains to be seen what the president will do about it. As the day of thanks marks the limit of the foot ball season it is expected that pigskin enthusiasts all over the country will bend their efforts toward influencing the president in favor of the latter date, says an exchange.

Must Have License.

A recent ruling of the commissioners of internal revenue relative to the sale of patent medicines composed largely of distilled liquors, is likely to have an important effect on the northern district of Minnesota in a general way. Reversing a ruling of the department rendered a few years ago, the commissloner now declares that the makers of patent medicine containing a large amount of distilled liquors in their composition must take out licenses as rectifiers and liquor dealers, and that druggists and other persons handling liquors will have to pay the usual retail liquor dealer's license.

Miss Brady Entertains.

Last Saturday evening at her pretty North Side home. Miss Viola Brady entertained twenty of her school friends, the party being in honor of her sixteenth birthday.

The first part of the evening the guests participated in a Geography contest in which Miss Ina Linnihan captured first prize. Then followed an apple paring contest with forfeits which were redeemed in a manner satisfactory to all.

Dainty refreshments were served at a late hour, and the guests departed wishing their hostess many happy returns of the day.

Another Use for the Phone.

The Le Sueur News tells of a Nicollet county farmer who went to St. Peter, raised a disturbance contrary to the peace and dignity of the state, and then went home. In the evening he was called up over the rural telephone, informed that a warrans had been issued for him and told that he might consider himself under arrest. He was asked by the officer whether he would come to town, or would he have to come after him. The farmer telephoned back that he was too busy to quit work, but would plead guilty and send the money by the rural mail carrier the next day, and so did.

A Disastrous Calamity.

It is a disastrous calamity, when you lose your health, becanse indigestion and constipation have sapped it away. Prompt relief can be had in Dr. King's New Life Pills. They build up your digestive organs, and cure headache, dizziness, colic, constipation, etc. Guaranteed at All Druggists, 25c.

DRAINAGE AND GOOD ROADS.

When one realizes that each year euough money to drain all Minnesota wet lands is lost through crop failure or only a partial crop the wonder is that the determined movement for drainage now on foot was not started long ago. Besides the millions of acres more that produce no crop at all, each acre of which would yield yearly ten times the cost to drain it.—Crookston Journal.

The State can not dispose of its lands until they are drained, and it has no right to expect the homesteaders on the adjacent lands to drain its lands for it. So the time is here when the State must get busy in fulfilling the agreement under which it acquired these lands, and the sooner it does it the sooner will it begin to reap the benefit, not only directly by the sale of its lands, but also by the more rapid development of the whole section affected.—Warroad Plaindealer.

It is impossible to develop any portion of a state without directly or indirectly benefitting the whole. Drainage and good roads in northern Ninnesota will be such a widespread blessing that only those whose eyes turn inward can fail to see that blessings will only be limited by the boundary lines.—Cass Lake Times.

The rapid agricultural development of this territory will surprise those who investigte the subject. It represents a steady growth for the past several years, and means that it will continue until we will be shipping out produce in the course of a few years instead of shipping it in.—Eveleth Star.

EXCHANGE ECHOES.

Kasson Republican: When it is cold a newspaper folded across the breast will protect the lungs from blasts of autumn or winter," says the Stillwater Gazette. This is true if your subscription is paid in advance, but if in arrears look out for cold feet, followed by chills.

Fairmont Sentinel: An Iowa clergyman who resigned his pastorate to take up the practice of law assigned as one reason for his change that "the average man will pay more to be kept out of jail for one day than to be kept out of hell for all eternity."

Duluth News Tribune: Too many young girls on the street after school. The way from the schoolhouse to the home should be the shortest way, after the school day is done. What some parents can be thinking of is difficult to understand.

Rochester Post and Record: Lieut. Gov. Jones announces his intention of quitting politics. This is a wise decision on the part of Mr. Jones. It is surmised that the public was preparing to assist him at arriving at this conclusion if he had not himself decided to get out from under.

Cannon Falls Deacon: The days have gone by when the public feels any interest in the personal feeling entertained by one editor for another whether in the same or different communities. In these saner and busier days there is no more occasion or excuse for personal exchanges in public print between editors than similar exchanges between other citizens who may not hold each in high regard. They are an abuse of privilege not in any sense justified by ownership or control of a publication, they are not what the public is paying its money for.

BERTHON & ARMSTRONG

Men's and Boys' Leading Clothing Outfitters

Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored

Copyright 1904 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

When you buy clothes here, you may be sure of getting what you want.

H. S. & M. clothes are noted for style and quality--all wool, no mercerized, nor any other cotton.

They're priced right too.

Just Step In And See Our Line.

JIM AND PAUL

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

IF

1—IF our rate of interest on Time Deposits is high enough;

2—IF our rate of interest on Loans is low enough;

3—IF the accommodations we afford are satisfactory;

4—IF our business is safely managed (and we think it is):

5—IF you are not already a customer, then we invite you to become one.

FIRST STATE BANK

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Our vault is protected by the latest ELECTRIC BURGLAR ALARM System.

We make FARM LOANS without delay.

Like Papa Whipped the Horse.

Mrs. Frederick Schoff, president of the National Mothers' congress, said, on her return from Utah:

"I met in Salt Lake City a delightful child of five years, named Jane.

"Jane was out driving with her father one afternoon, and her father, to hurry the horse on, slashed the whip through the air, making a humming sound. This sound had a good effect. The horse quickened its pace.

"'Papa,' said Jane, 'why don't you whip us children that way?'"

Huge Fig Tree.

The largest fig tree in western Europe is the one at Roscoff, Brittany. It is in the garden of a Capuchin convent, and its spreading branches, supported by scaffolding, are said to be capable of sheltering over 200 persons.

Not Quite the Same.

Nell—He said I looked lovely in that gown, didn't he?

Belle—Not exactly, dear. He said that gown looked lovely on you.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Shocking Confession.

Benedict is a New Haven man who has been eight times the father of a bouncing bounder. In the outskirts of the university city is a little town among the hills named Prospect, and last year four of the children were sent there for the summer.

One day Benedict and his wife entertained at dinner a new acquaintance, Prof. B. The professor is a bachelor, and like many scholarly men, rather ill at ease in society.

"What a fine little family of children you have," he began with an admiring glance at the four stay-at-homes.

"Yes, indeed," replied Benedict proudly, "and we have four more in Prospect."

The professor blushed his astonishment.—Lippincott's.

A Teacher's Testimony.

Hinton, Ky., Oct. 30th.—(Special.)—It has long been claimed that Diabetes is incurable, but Mr. E. J. Thompson, teacher in the Hinton school, has pleasing evidence to the contrary. Mr. Thompson had Diabetes. He took Dodd's Kidney Pills and is cured. In a statement he makes regarding the cure Mr. Thompson says:

"I was troubled with my kidneys for more than two years and was treated by two of the best doctors in this part of the state. They claimed I had Diabetes and there was little to be done for me. Then I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and what they did for me was wonderful. It is entirely owing to Dodd's Kidney Pills that I am now enjoying good health."

Many doctors still maintain that Diabetes is incurable. But Diabetes is a kidney disease and the kidney disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure has yet to be discovered.

The Champio nOfficeholder.

E. W. Sweeley, a justice of the peace in Loyalsock, Lycoming county, Pa., claims the record for officeholding in that state. Altogether he has held various township and county offices whose terms aggregate 109 years, during his life of 68 years, and he is still adding to his record. Mr. Sweeley is a Democrat, and that he is popular is shown by his record, as fallows: Justice of the peace, thirty-five years; assessor, twenty-six years; supervisor, eight years; school director, fifteen years; overseer of the poor, six years; township auditor, twelve years; county auditor, four years; jury commissioner, three years.—Kansas City Journal.

The Male Novelist's Absurdities.

One of the most infallible signs of an average man's work is an entrancingly beautiful heroine, who generally also contrives to be beautifully dressed, at least as her creator fondly imagines. At any rate, a woman does not make a penniless or nearly penniless girl dress as if she had a hundred pounds a year to spend on her wardrobe. A man in drawing a very young girl almost invariably makes out that she has eaten far too much of the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, as much as he himself would have eaten at a similar age, for instance; which is altogether absurd.—Outlook.

FUNNY

People Will Drink Coffee When It "Does Such Things."

"I began to use Postum because the old kind of coffee had so poisoned my whole system that I was on the point of breaking down and the doctor warned me that I must quit it.

My chief ailment was nervousness and heart trouble.

Any unexpected noise would cause me the most painful palpitation, make me faint and weak.

"I had heard of Postum and began to drink it when I left off the old coffee. It began to help me just as soon as the old effect sof the other kind of coffee passed away. It did not stimulate me for a while, and then leave me weak and nervous as coffee used to do. Instead of that it built up my strength and supplied a constant vigor to my system which I can always rely on. It enables me to do the biggest kind of a day's work without getting tired. All the heart trouble, etc., has passed away.

"I give it freely to all my children, from the youngest to the oldest, and it keeps them all healthy and hearty." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

The Scourge of Damascus

A Story of the East.

By SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

Copyrighted 1891 by Robert Bonner's Sons.

INTRODUCTION.

Horam, King of Damascus, then at its glory as the zenith city of the east, bemoaned the coming of old age without prospective heir to the throne. In his younger days he had loved Helen, his queen, but fearing that she was disloyal to him had her cast into the black, swift flowing Phorpar. At the time the story opens Ulin, the daughter of Aboul Cassem, the king's prime minister, three times dreams that she has become the wife of the king and that a son being born to them is heir to the throne. Cassem tells the story to the king. The latter having long admired the many charms of Ulin, seeks an interview with her and on the sixth day following they are to be married. He thereupon abolishes his harem. Within the week Albia, the pretty slave maid-in-waiting to Ulin, tells the story of the tragic fate of Helen. The story makes a deep impression and preys upon the mind of the bride-to-be. But her father urges her on and she now deems it a sacred duty to become the queen. On the morning set for the wedding Ulin's mother dies. According to the laws of Damascus she must go into mourning retirement for thirty days. Horam agrees with her father that she shall pass the period of mourning in a secluded palace in the beautiful Valley of Lycanius. This valley is the sole possession of the king and can only be reached by one passage through a mighty mountain, capable of admitting but one person at a time. Thither Ulin goes with Albia, where they are placed under the protection of the attendants by the king and Ulin's father. Six days after their entering Horam returns unexpectedly. Ulin acting on the suggestion of Albia, treats him kindly.

CHAPTER I.

Julian the Scouge.

She asked if her father had come.

"No, my sweet lady," returned Horam. "He was busy. It may appear unseemly for me to come hither alone; but my great love and my deep solicitude for your welfare, must be my excuse. I hope you have found it pleasant here."

The maiden said she could not have asked for a more pleasant place of abode.

The king was charmed by her smiling speech—so different from what she had ever before given him—and he fondly believed that she was delighted with his presence.

Ulin, fearing that the least sign of coldness or reserve might excite the jealousy of the grey-headed-monarch, and bring down upon her some terrible evil, exerted all her powers of pleasantness, and wore the smile upon her face while a pang was in her bosom.

But Horam's visit was destined to be cut short. While he was, for the sixth time making excuses for his visit the door of the apartment was unceremoniously opened and a black entered—not one of those who had been on guard in the valley but a stranger to Ulin, covered with sweat and dust, as though he had been riding hard and fast.

"Ha!" cried the king, starting to his feet. "How now, Sadak? What is the meaning of this?"

"Pardon, sire, I knew not that you were thus engaged. They only told me that you were here and I stopped to inquire no further."

"Not that—not that Sadak. Why have you come from Damascus in such hot haste?"

"I came to inform you sire that Julian the Scourge of Damascus is approaching our city!"

"Death and devastation!" cried Horam starting back with alarm. "How know you this?"

"We heard from him by way of a merchant who was in a caravan that he had robbed."

"What caravan?"

"The caravan from Tadmoor, with the riches which were on their way from Bassora."

"Those riches were mine," said Horam.

"Aye, sire; and Julian took them—took all that belonged to you, but spared the poorer merchants. But that is not the worst. He sends word that he will lay Damascus in ashes. Aboul Cassem bade me hasten hither and give you warning."

The king was fairly beside himself with fear and rage. The name of Julian was a terror to him, and at the sound thereof he trembled exceedingly. And he seemed to fear more than the mere physical prowess of the Scourge. There was a mystic quality in his fear—a nameless dread of the avenger.

"Where is the demon now?" he asked, after he had gazed awhile in silence upon the messenger.

"He is not far from the city, sire. Somewhere to the eastward, we think. Your journey back, if you make haste, will be safe."

"I will return," cried the monarch, smiting his fists together; "and I will bring out an army and sweep this terrible Scourge from off the face of the earth!"

He bade Sadak go and make ready for the start, and then he turned to Ulin.

"You will be safe here, sweet one, and it will not be long before our happiness shall be complete."

His words of parting were few, for he was much excited, and his voice trembled as he spoke. He turned back once after he had reached the door as though he would say something, but finally went away without giving the intended speech [illegible]

Ulin watched the royal cavalcade until it had disappeared within the narrow pass, and when the last man had gone from her sight she turned to her companion.

"Albia, what is it about this terrible robber—this Scourge of Damascus? I have heard something about him. I heard my father once speak of him; but my little knowledge of the world did not lead me to be inquisitive. Do you know anything about him?"

"I have heard a great deal of him, my lady. He has been a terror to Damascus for a great many years."

"How many years, Albia? I was thinking that my father said he had not been long known in this section."

"I may be mistaken," said Albia, trying to recollect herself. "I know that he is a terrible Scourge, and that men fear him; but I do not know how many years he has been so. It may not be so many as I thought."

"But who is he? Where did he come from?"

"Ah, there is a mystery, my dear mistress. Nobody knows where he came from; but it is said that he is one whose family has suffered some great calamity at the hands of Horam. He is alone in the world, so far as relatives are concerned, and Horam hath done it; and so he comes to seek vengeance. He has a large body of bold men under him, and twice has he met and overcome the forces which the king had sent out to capture him. He does not rob as common robbers do. He never troubles the poor, or those of the middle class; but the rulers and princes of Damascus he causes to suffer."

"Did you ever see him, Albia?"

"Mercy! no. I would not see him for the world. He must be terrible to look upon. I have heard one of your father's officers say that he could strike a blow with his fist to fell an ox, and that before the lightning of his eye brave men shrank in terror. O, I should be afraid to see him."

"It seems to me that I should like to see such a man," said Ulin, in a musing tone. "I have never seen such men. The man whose arm can strike down an ox, and whose eye flashes forth such power, could not harm a helpless maiden."

"Upon my life, you have a curious taste," Albia returned.

"Because," added Ulin, with a smile, "I never had my taste cultivated. Still, in all seriousness, it does seem to me that I should love to lean upon a strong, bold man. If I were to love a man with my whole heart, I should like him to be so strong and so powerful and so brave, that his very presence would be protection to me. Is that very strange?"

"It is so strange," replied the slave, significantly, "that I fancy the king would feel new cause for jealousy if he should hear you say so."

"When I am the king's wife I shall be true to him, and I shall honor and respect him. I will love him if I can. But, Albia, there is no need of saying more. We will have our dinner, and then we will walk out into the garden."

Suddenly a messenger appears asking for assistance from the guard. With 50 stalwart guards he hurries toward the gates.

"What can it be?" cried the princess, in alarm.

But Albia could not imagine. She could only beg of her mistress to take courage, and hope for no evil.

Ere long, however, another messenger came to the palace, who made his way to the room where the princess was sitting. He trembled with excitement.

"How now, Aswad?" demanded Ulin. "What is the meaning of all this disturbance?"

"Alas, my lady, an enemy is at our gates. The terrible Scourge of Damascus demands entrance into the valley."

"What does he seek?"

"I dare not tell you?"

"What seeks he?" cried the princess, authoritatively. "If there is danger, I would know what it is."

"There may not be danger for you, lady. We may beat the robber off. We will do so if we can."

"But the king told me that a handful of determined men could hold that pass against a thousand."

"But these are not ordinary men. This Julian is a very demon, and I verily believe that he hath more than human power. Still we will do the best that we can."

"You have not told me what he seeks. Answer me that question—answer it without further hesitation."

"He seeks the maiden whom the king is to take for a wife."

"Seeks me?" uttered the princess, with a start.

"Yes, my lady. Such is his avowal."

"In mercy's name, good Aswad protect me. Let not that dreadful robber gain access to the valley."

"Hurry, hurry!" cried Albia. "Away to your companions, and bid them strain every nerve. If they suffer the Scourge of Damascus to gain passage hither they know what the wrath of the king must be."

"Powers of heaven!" cried Ulin with clasped hands and quivering frame, "the demon must not find us."

"You are not so anxious to see him as you were," remarked Albia. "I thought your whim was a strange one."

"Speak not of that," said Ulin quickly and severely. "I meant not that I would have him come to seek me. O Albia, what can he want?"

"Indeed, my mistress, [illegible] think. But let us look in another direction. If he does not find us, we care not why he comes. Ha! See! Here comes Aswad again. He looks frightened."

Aswad entered the chamber with trembling step and seemed afraid to speak, but the demand of the princess opened his lips.

"Lady, I fear that the robber will prevail against us. He is accompanied by fierce, furious men, who fight like lions and his own sword is irresistible. His body is covered with scales of finest steel and the blows of our men fall harmless upon him."

"But the dreadful man has not yet broken through?" said Ulin eagerly.

"No, lady. Our brave men fight as well as they can."

"Has the robber entered the pass?"

"Not far."

"Then you may hold him at bay yet. O, Aswad, if you would be blessed forevermore let not the Scourge gain the valley!"

"We will do our best, lady; but you must be prepared for the worst. If we are finally overcome you must hide yourself."

"Where? Where can we hide?" asked Albia.

"In the palace or somewhere in the gardens, or upon the mountains."

"There is no hiding place which a keen eye would not detect. I have looked in every direction. So, Aswad, save us by your stout arms."

"I fear the demons will prevail," said Ulin, in a tone of breathless suspense.

"I dare not hope otherwise," returned Albia.

"If they do come, we must find some place in which to hide."

"Alas, my dear mistress, there is no such place. If we go up among the rocks, we not only run the risk of being easily found, but we run the greater risk of starving."

"I would rather starve than fall into the dread Julian's hands," said Ulin.

"It would be a terrible death to starve upon those bleak rocks!" returned Albia, with a shudder. "But I will share your fate, my mistress, let it be what it may."

"And would not death by starvation be preferable to the fate which must meet us if that monster captures us? O, Albia, I cannot think of it!"

Before the slave could reply they saw Aswad again coming toward them; but he did not enter the palace. He struck off into a path that led to the westward, and fled with all his might. Directly afterwards a score of the guards came rushing from the pass, and when they had gained the open space, they threw down their swords and sank upon their knees.

"What means that?" cried Ulin. "Are they killed?"

"No," answered Albia. "They are overcome, and have surrendered. See! there come the victors!"

"Let us flee!" exclaimed the princess, starting to her feet. "O, we must find some place of refuge!"

Albia was more thoughtful. She saw very plainly that flight would be useless.

"My dear mistress," she said, taking Ulin's hand. "We must hope for the best. If we leave the palace, we shall be overtaken at once; for the way to the mountains lies only through the park of fountains. If we flee to the garden in the rear, we shall be surely found, and it may be worse for us in the end. If this dreadful Julian has the least spark of humanity in his bosom, he will respect you more in your own chamber than he would if he found you hiding in the garden."

"Spirits of mercy defend us!" ejaculated the princess, clasping her hands upon her bosom, and sinking back in her seat. "O, Albia, Albia, the presence of the king would now be a blessing!"

The faithful slave crept close to her mistress, and tried to speak words of comfort; but her own fears were too deep and intense to permit comforting power to her words. She could not be calm in view of the coming of that dreadful man, at the sound of whose name even the monarchs trembled.

(To be continued.)

Dress in the Senate.

It is not always safe to judge a man by his clothes, but dress goes a long way in certain localities. If any one doubts our democracy let him spend a day in the gallery of the United States Senate, the least dignified "Upper House" of legislation in the world. "Befo' de wah" all members were clean shaven, wore black frocks and high stocks, beavers, peg-top trousers, and a solemn air of public importance privately expressed. They believed in their hearts that they were statesmen, and the world acknowledged them as such. Dignity was their chief quality, pride their most cherished possession. The old-timers, like Morgan, Teller, Cockrell, Berry, Proctor and Daniel still wear their before-the-war clothes, dignity and pride, but the post-bellum regiment of politicians is uniformed in the sack suit or the cutaway.—New York Press.

The West Point of Mexico.

In Mexico experience has conclusively shown that officers and even soldiers cannot be improvised, and the very first care of General Diaz has been to establish a good school for instructing scientific officers. The military school of Chapultepec in its actual condition is the fruit of his efforts. Many foreign officers of different nationalities have visited that establishment and believe that it ranks among the first in the comprehensiveness and perfection of military instruction there imparted and in the severe but just discipline to which the cadets are subjected.—National Geographic Magazine.

Not all are saints who wear their [illegible]

LAW URGED BY SELF-SEEKERS.

Real Animus of Movement Against Remedies Deservedly Popular.

An adroit but plausible scheme by which it is hoped to prejudice the sale of proprietary medicines is the proposition to prohibit the sale of any remedy which "contains poison" unless each package or bottle is expressly labeled "Poison." Such bills are also well designed to impose upon men who have no familiarity with the subject matter. The pretense of protecting the public health put forth in support of such bills is generally the merest subterfuge; and when ever you hear a demand for a law of this kind it originates with those who have a direct pecuniary interest to serve by destroying the sale of proprietary remedies.

Some of the best and most widely used remedies in the world contain some one ingredient which, if taken in sufficient quantities, might be poisonous, and yet the preparation as a whole is not poisonous at all. Opium, for instance, is used in small quantities in many of the best cures for coughs, colic, diarrhea, etc., in toothache drops and in almost all liniments. To require such medicines to be falsely labeled "poison" would be merely a cunning device to alarm the public and thus bring about the destruction of the sale of those remedies, and indirectly to compel people to procure the medicine they want by the more expensive method of consulting a physician and getting his prescription. In other words, it is an effort to prevent them from getting cheaply the remedies which they and their fathers before them have used for many years.—Medical exchange.

Why Bishop Brooks Caught No Fish.

Sigourney Butler, the noted Boston lawyer and society man, who died a few years ago, told the following story at a dinner party:

"I met a friend the other day who had been on a fishing party with Bishop Brooks. I asked him if the bishop caught any fish, and he said 'No; he swears too much.'

"'Why,' I said, 'Bishop Brooks never swears.'

"'Oh, yes, he does,' said my friend. I caught a large fish and said, "Bishop, that's a d—d good fish," and he said "Yes, it is," in response.'"—Boston Herald.

The Auto and the Baby.

"I wish to adopt a child," said the wealthy woman in the orphan asylum. "What have you?"

"Oh, we have them in all shades," replied the polite lady superintendent; "which do you prefer?"

"I think a blonde child will be the most appropriate," answered the wealthy woman; "my automobile is finished in blue."—Puck.

ECZEMA FOR TWO YEARS.

Little Girl's Awful Suffering With Terrible Skin Humor—Sleepless Nights for Mother—Speedy Cure by Cuticura.

"My little girl had been suffering for two years from eczema, and during that time I could not get a night's sleep, as her ailment was very severe. I had tried so many remedies, deriving no benefit, I had given up all hope. But as a last resort I was persuaded to try Cuticura, and one box of the Ointment and two bottles of the Resolvent, together with the Soap, effected a permanent cure.—Mrs. I. B. Jones, Addington, Ind. T."

Busy and Versatile Writer.

One of the busiest and most versatile of European writers is Spiridion Gopcevic, who lives in Lussinpiccolo, and who has written newspaper articles and books in nine languages—German, French, Italian, English, Servian, Danish, Spanish, Portuguese and Swedish. In thirty years he has contributed 8,363 articles to newspapers in those languages.

Japan's Indemnity Prizes.

Japan has secured so many Russian war vessels that she will be able to economize on naval expenditures for some years to come. This is equivalent to a cash indemnity as far as it goes, and it probably goes as far as $40,000,000 to $50,000,000, besides the large addition to her mercantile marine by the merchantmen secured as war prizes.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Off Again; On Again.

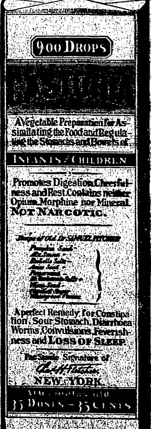
If Secretary Shaw retires Feb. 1, as announced, it is probably safe to predict that his presidential boom will be launched not later than Feb. 2.—Toledo Blade.

Ask Your Dealer for Allen's Foot-Ease

A powder. It rests the feet. Cures Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating Feet and Ingrowing Nails. At all Druggists and Shoe stores, 25 cents. Accept no substitute. Sample mailed FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

The future tense of the verb "to love" is "to get married"—so says a school girl.

No man should start a fight with his wife unless he is prepared to pay an indemnity.



900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS & CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES – 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Groundless Accusation.

Kloseman—Well, of all things! The idea of his accusing me of making a lie out of whole cloth—

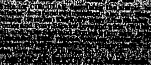
Peppery—Yes, the idea!

Kloseman—Ridiculous, isn't it?

Peppery—Oh, very. Evidently he doesn't know how economical you are.

Make your Buggy a Sleigh for $8.00

Freight Prepaid. [illegible]



[illegible]

The Government of Canada

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Gives absolutely FREE to every settler one hundred and sixty acres of land in Western Canada.

Land adjoining this can be purchased from railway and land companies at from $6 to $10 per acre.

On this land this year has been produced upwards of twenty-five bushels of wheat to the acre.

It is also the best of grazing land and for mixed farming it has no superior on the continent.

Splendid climate, low taxes, railways convenient, schools and churches close at hand.

[illegible]

Announcement.

For the benefit of our patrons we have secured and now haue on sale a large shipment of the celebrated Cooper remedies.

We will gladly explain the nature of tnese remarkable preparations to all who call at our store.

Cooper's New Discovery will be sold for $1.00 per bottle, three for $2.50, six for $5.00. Cooper's Quick Relief, the assisstant remedy. costs 50 cents.

Cooper's New Discoveay and Quick Relief are the medicines with which Mr. L. T. Cooper made his famous cures in Minneapolis. They can be used in the home of the patient with the same results as though applied personally by Mr. Cooper. They cure Rheumatism, Catarrh, Stomach Trouble, Nervousness, Paralysis, Catarrhal Deafness, and diseases of the blood

We are Mr. Cooper's sole agent for this city.

W. A. Schrieter, Agent.

Headache

Can be Cured with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

If your nerves are subject to disturbances, such as Headaches, Neuralgia, Backache, Rheumatism, Menstrual Pains, Sleeplessness, etc., their jarring and jangling can be quickly ended with a Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pill.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are pleasant little pink tablets, which do not act on the bowels, nor do they have any disagreeable weakening or habit-forming effect on the system.

They are the result of the latest scientific knowledge on the subject of Pain, and bring relief safely and quickly to the greatest sufferer.

You should always keep a box of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills in the house, since you never know when pain may attack you, and it is wrong to suffer when your suffering can be so quickly relieved.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Puls contain no opium, chloral, cocaine, morphine, or similar drugs, and are sold by druggists under a guarantee to relieve you or pay your money back.

By relieving Pain, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills shorten suffering, and lengthen life. 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills when troubled with headache, and find that one pill infallibly effects relief in a very short time. I also use Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills when necessary. I am considerably afflicted with neuralgia of the head and find these pills of much benefit to me. They are all that is claimed for them."—GEORGE COLGATE, 249 Oakland St., San Antonio, Tex.

FREE Write to us for Free Trial Package of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, the New Scientific Remedy for Pain. Also Symptom Blank. Our Specialist will diagnose your case, tell you what is wrong, and how to right it, Free. DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., LABORATORIES, ELKHART, IND.

TIME CARD —OF— TRAINS.

RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 a m
SOUTH-BOUND
No. 156—Departs	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.

Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.

A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

F. A. MIZEN. Agent.

St. Benedict's Academy.......

ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.

A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

McMURRAY'S VANILLA

WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

WELL DIGGING ...

I will dig wells by the day, foot or job and guarantee satisfaction on every job. Repairing a specility. I now devote my entire attention to this work. Leave orders at Courier office.

A. O. LETVIG, Wylie, Minnesota.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS

Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.

Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

ST. HILAIRE.

Dr. Pleth of Crookston was a professional cailer here Friday.

M, J. Lindahl left Monday evening for Oregon in search of a location. He sold his jewelry stock here to Rob't Sivenson.

Dr. Dodds, the presiding elder, held services in the M. E. church Sunday morning followed by communion services. He drove to Thief River Falls in the afternoon.

Mrs. W. A. Arthur is suffering from a severe attack of quinsy.

The ladies Aid of the M. E. church will meet next Thursday at the home of Mrs. R. H. Aimer.

Mrs. H. O. Jackson and two daughters and Mrs. Herman Nelson returned from Grafton N. D. last Wednesday where they have been visiting relatives the past two weeks.

L. T. Bergh was in town Tuesday.

The funeral of Catherine Beebe, the four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Beebe, took place at their home east of town Saturday at three o'clock. Rev, Gilman conducting the services. The remains were taken to Grookston on the evening train Mr. and Mrs. Beebe have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

A Hallowe'en social was held in the M. E. church Tmesday evening. Everybody reports a good time.

The funeral of little Elsa Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Carlson residing on Water Street took place last Tuesday Gct. 24, from the Swedish Lutheran church. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson have the sympathy of all in their sad hour of bereavement.

The store of E. M. Hoff is undergoing considerable repairing.

The Ladies-Aid Society of the Norwegian Lutheran church held an auction and supper at their chnrce Saturday evening.

There will be an auction and social at the home of H. J. Hanson in Rocksbury Saturday evening Nov. 11 for the benefit of the mission church. All are cordially invited.

The special meeting of the shareholders of the St. Hilaire creamery association will be held in the village hall at St. Hilaire on Monday, Nov. 6th, 1905 at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of deciding whether or not to enlarge the creamery plant.

California or Florida

It is time to plan your winter vacation. Early arrangements secure the best accommodations. Choice of routes via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway to Californir or to Florida, combined with low rates, make the trip to either resort a most attractive one. A postal will bring complete information about rates, train service and resorts, free and by return mail. Address W. B. Dixon, N. W. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Enquire at the Big Store.

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Chapter 2, General Laws 1902.

Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the County Auditor in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land sold for taxes in Red Lake county to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Chapter Two (2), General Laws of Minnesota, 1902, and amendments thereof, will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the highest price offered therefor, which shall not be less than the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs charged against it. Immediate payment to the County Treasurer is required. The sale will begin at the time and place named above and continue from day to day until every tract or parcel shall have been offered for sale. The County Auditor of Red Lake county is hereby authorized and directed to conduct sale. A list of said real property is now on file in the offices of the County Auditor and State Auditor.

Dated St. Paul, Minn., September 30th, 1905.

S. G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

Public Sale of Absolute Property of the State Under Section 1616, General Statute Minnesota 1894.

Notice is hereby given that on the 6th day of November, 1905, at two o'clock in the afternoon at the office of the county auditor in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, all tracts or parcels of land, sold for taxes, in Red Lake county, to which the state has acquired title under the provisions of Section 1616, General Statutes of Minnesota 1894, and amendments thereof will be offered at public sale. Every tract or parcel will be sold for cash to the person bidding the highest price offered therefor: which shall not be less than the amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs due thereon, unless such amount exceeds the actual value of the property. Immediate payment to the county treasurer is required. The sale will begin at the time and place named above and continue from day to day until every tract or parcel shall have have been offered for sale. A list of said real property is now on file in the offices of the County Auditor and State Auditor. This sale will be held pursuant to directions from the Auditor of the State as provided by law.

Dated Red Lake Falls, Minn., September 30th, 1905.

JAMES E. FORD,
Auditor Red Lake County.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of a certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by S. A. Swanson and Ida Swanson, his wife, mortgagors, to Joseph Glatzel, mortgagee, which mortgage was dated on the second (2d) day of April, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Three (1903), and recorded in Record Book Twenty-one (21) of Mortgage Records, on page One Hundred Forty-eight (148), in the office of the Register of Deeds of Red Lake County, Minnesota, on the Eighteenth (18th) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Three (1903), at half past nine o'clock a. m., and said Joseph Glatzel is now the owner and holder of said mortgage. That default has been made in the payment of Eighty-two and 50-100ths Dollars ($82.50) interest due and payable according to the terms and conditions of said mortgage on the second (2d) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Five (1905), and a further default has been made in the payment of the taxes duly levied and assessed upon said mortgaged premises for the years 1903 and 1904; and that by reason of said defaults, said mortgagee has elected and hereby elects and declares the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and is due the sum of Sixteen Hundred Thirty-one Dollars and Nine Cents ($1631.09) at the date of this notice, and no action at law or equity has been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the property described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which said property is situated in Red Lake County, Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit:

The North-West Quarter (NW¼) of Section Twenty-seven (27), in Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-four (44), containing One Hundred Sixty (160) acres of land, more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Which said sale will be made by the Sheriff of Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, on Saturday, the Ninth (9th) day of December, A. D. 1905; at two (2) o'clock p. m., at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay the amount then due on said mortgage and the costs of sale, and Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure.

Dated this 23d day of October, 1905.

JOSEPH GLATZEL,
Said Mortgagee.

THOS. F. CRAVEN,
Attorney for said Mortgagee,
Chaska, Minnesota.

o26d7

NOTICE OF EXPIRATION ON ABSOLUTE PROPERTY BID IN BY THE STATE.

NO. 53

In Whose Name Assessed	Description of Land			Years Tax Levied	Amt Sold for to State	Date Sold to Purchaser	Amount Sold for to Purchaser	Amount required to redeem at date of notice.
	Addition or Subd.	Lot.	Blk.			Mo Day Year
Carl Wedmer	Original townsite of Thief River Falls.	1	5	1897 1898 1899 1900 1901 1902 1903 1904	$2.08	June 28, 1905	$24.59	$25.37

Office Of COUNTY AUDITOR.
RED LAKE COUNTY, MINN.

To CARL WEDMER.

You are hereby notified on the 6th. day of May, A. D. 1901, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate judgment, which was entered in the District Court in and for the County of Red Lake in the 14th Judicial District in the State of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March A. D. 1901, the above described piece or parcel of land situated in Red Lake County, State of Minnesota was bid into the state to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgement, interest and costs, for the above named sum; that the above described real estate has become and now is the Absolute Property of the State.

That on above stated date the above described real estate was sold by the County Auditor of Red Lake County, as directed by the State Auditor, in accordance with Section 101 of Chapter II of General Statutes of 1878 and the several acts amendatory thereto, for the sum above stated; that the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from such sale at the date of this notice exclusive of the costs to accrue on this notice is the amount above stated, with interest at the rate of twelve percent per annum on the amount paid by the purchaser from said above date, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of said piece or parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice, and proof th[illegible] has been filed in the office of the County Auditor of this county.

Witness my hand and official seal third day of October A. D.

JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor, [illegible]

(SEAL)

Auditor's Notice of Hearing on Ditch Petition.

State of Minnesota }
County of Red Lake } ss

In the matter of the petition of A, T. Gorden and others, for a public ditch in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, designated and numbered as county ditch No. 24.

Notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said county, praying for the construction of a public ditch, designated and numbered by the county auditor of such county as county ditch No. 24 beginning at the southwest corner of section 6 in township 151, range 42, running thence north on the range line between section 6 in township 151 north, of range 42 west and section 1 in township 151 north, of range 43 west in Red Lake county, thence north on the range line between the southwest quarter of section 31 in township 152 north, of range 42 west and the southeast quarter of section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west to the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west, thence running west on the quarter section line through the center of sections 36, 35, 34 and 33 in township 152 north, of range 43 west, to the west line of section 33, thence in a southwesterly direction across the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 32 in said twp. 152 range 42 a distance of 400 feet and there terminating at a creek which empties into Red Lake river.

Also a branch ditch, commencing at the northeast corner of Section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west and running thence south on the range line between 31 in township 152, range 42 and section 36 in township 152, range 43 and terminating in the main ditch at the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of said section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west.

Also a branch ditch specified by the engineer in his report as being necessary for the proper drainage of lands affected by the main ditch and described as follows: Commencing at a point 1249½ feet east and 750¼ feet south of the northeast corner of section 6 in township 151 north, of range 42 west, thence running in a northwesterly direction through the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of said section 6 to the township line, thence west along said township line between section 6 in township 151 north, of range 42 west and section 31 in township 152 north, of range 42 west to the southwest corner of said section 31 in township 152 north of range 42 west, terminating at and emptying into the main ditch at the last named point as appears by the report of the engineer hereinafter mentioned and that the names of owners of lands and names of municipal and other corporations that will be affected by the construction of said ditch, as appears in the report of the viewers hereafter mentioned are as follows, to-wit: Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad company, Andrew Johnson, John G. Anderson, C. C. Bergan, A. A. Cooper, Bernhard Thelander, Solomon Swenson, Peter Hogquist, Ole Wedul, Charles H. Foy, Otto Swenson, Sarah Hogquist, Henry J. Enderle, Hubert Haupt, G. A. Konikson, Anna Emanuelson, D. M. Clark, Fred Ulrich, Emil Just, Wilhelmina Just, R. E. Farley, William F. Seiter, E. A. Satterburg, Frank Satterberg, Charles A. Swanson, Anne Gordon, Annie Fangstrom, State of Minnesota, K. O. Gigstad, Ole Hanson, John Mahla, Lars A. Svenson, McCormick Harvesting Machine Co., Christ Martenson, Town of Wyandotte, Town of River Falls, Town of Gervais and Town of Emardville and that the engineer appointed by the board of county commissioners of said county to make a survey of the route of said ditch has completed his work and made due report thereon, and filed the same in the office of said county auditor, and that the viewers appointed by said board of county commissioners to view the same have completed their work and filed their report thereon in the office of said county auditor.

And that therefore, the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, will hold a special meeting on Friday, the 24th day of November, 1905, at the county auditor's office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county at two o'clock p. m., of said day, for hearing and consideration of said petition and of said surveyor's and viewers' report thereon; and that all persons interested in the construction of said ditch are invited to appear and be heard by and before said board of county commissioners at said time for or against the construction of said ditch.

Dated this 30th day of October, A. D. 1905.

JAMES E FORD,
County Auditor,
Red Lake Co., Minn.

(Seal)

Auditor's Notice of Hearing on Ditch Petition.

State of Minnesota }
County of Red Lake } ss

In the matter of the petition of Aug. Konikson and others, for a public ditch in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, designated and numbered as county ditch No. 23.

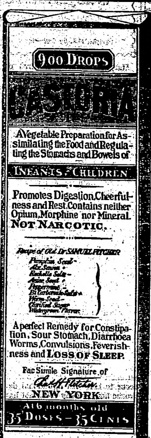
Notice is hereby given, that a petition has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said county, praying for the construction of a public ditch, designated and numbered by the county auditor of such county as county ditch No. 23 beginning at the southwest corner of section 12 in township 151, Range 43, (town of Gervais), in said county running thence through the following described lands to-wit: North on the section line between sections 11 and 12 in said town and range, thence west on the quarter section line through section 11 in said town and range to about the center thereof, thence running in a southwesterly direction through said section 11 to the southwest corner thereof, thence running in a southerly direction through the eastern part of section 15 in said town and range to the southeast corner thereof, thence running in a southerly direction through the northeast quarter of section 22 and the west half of section 23 all in twp. 151, range 43 aforesaid and terminating at the southeast corner of section 22 in said Twp. 151, range 43 and having its outlet a creek or coulee as appears by the report of the engineer hereinafter mentioned and that the names of the owners of the lands and the names of the municipal and other corporations that will be affected by the construction of said ditch, as appears in the report of the viewers hereafter mentioned are as follows, to-wit: Ingra Hammer, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Ry Co., G. A. Swensen, Oscar Anderson, Sjur M. Harbolen, Bengt Anderson, J. B. Kempton, William Schwalen, James L. Taylor, Middlesex Banking Company, H. M. Martinson, L. O. Thorpe, Peter A. Konikson, Frank O'Meara, J. C. Brown, Abraham Johnson, the township of Gervais, Caroline Lunde, August E. Craft, Henry M. Martinson, John Loffelmarker, W. M. Erb, Andrew N. Ydstie and John Suchomel; and that the engineer appointed by the board of county commissioners of said county to make a survey of the route of said ditch has completed his work and made due report thereon, and filed the same in the office of said County auditor; and that the viewers appointed by said board of county commissioners to view the same have completed their work and filed their report thereon in the office of said county auditor.

And that, therefore, the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, will hold a special meeting on Friday, the 24th day of November 1905, at the county auditor's office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, at nine o'clock a. m., of said day, for hearing and consideration of said petition and of said surveyor's and viewers' report thereon, and that all persons interested in the construction of said ditch are invited to appear and be heard by and before said board of county commissioners at said time for or against the construction of said ditch.

Dated this 30th day of October A. D. 1905.

JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor.

(Seal)



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK
At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS. MINNESOTA

SPECIAL PRICES

On

HEATING STOVES FOR 30 DAYS.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS

Popular Hardware Dealers

RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA

Salvation for Women in Nu-tri-ola

THE world is full of sick women who might be well. Poor, pale, suffering Martyrs! Blood so poor that every vital organ, nerve center, even the brain cells, are starved and lose their force. Their sufferings from Dyspepsia, Headache, Kidney Trouble, Dragging or Bearing Down Pains, Leucorrhœa, Nervous Prostration, etc., etc., the victim and God alone may know. Listen to our

EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.

Emancipation from the power of disease, suffering and death. Be it known to women everywhere that NUTRIOLA, the new Blood and Nerve Food, will make the frailest woman "NEW ALL OVER." This statement is backed by $500,000.00 Capital Stock and the largest Medical Company in the world. WE GUARANTEE A PERFECT CURE or ask no pay. We employ the most skilled Physicians in the United States. THEIR SERVICES ARE FREE. FREE CHEMICAL ANALYSIS. In short, the benefit of all their skill and NOT A CENT TO PAY for it. We are curing thousands, treating by mail. Every case confidential.

READ THIS, YE SUFFERING WOMEN!

Mrs. Jane A. Webber

NUTRIOLA COMPANY—Gentlemen: I had been an invalid for over 10 years. KIDNEY TROUBLE had caused such a weakness in my back that I was unable to work standing up. Then disease peculiar to my sex fastened upon me and my life became one round of UNENDING TORTURE, such as only one afflicted as I have been can know. To stand upon my feet for five minutes was a torture unspeakable. The terrible DRAGGING DOWN SENSATION would send such a feeling to my brain as to impair my vision and drive me almost insane. Nervous Headache was my constant visitant, and the slightest noise would drive me almost wild. The doctors told me I could never get well. I learned of NUTRIOLA and applied for treatment. As a result I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH. From 98 pounds I increased in weight to 142 pounds. I have never seen a sick day since. I now weigh 158 pounds. I would not be back again where I was before I took NUTRIOLA for all the wealth of the world. May God bless you in your efforts to help suffering humanity. Your grateful servant, MRS. JANE A. WEBBER.

Book on Female Diseases, Illustrated, filled with secrets you ought to know. FREE in plain envelope.

Detailed testimonial in "Fountain of Life." It's Free.

NU-TRI-OLA Costs 8 Cents a Day. [illegible]

THE NUTRIOLA COMPANY, 142-148 W. Madison St., Chicago, Ills.

For Sale by All Druggists

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE

[illegible] teachers, 500 pupils, 150 positions filled last year

Full course in Actual Business, Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Banking

Summer School. New Fall term Sept. 4. Catalog free. [illegible]

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great [illegible]

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Churches.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Very Rev. [illegible], Rector.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8, and 10 a. m.—Rev. Father Ansgar, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN—Services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., every Sunday. Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Rev. H. W. Knox, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

I. O. O. F.—Clearwater Lodge No. 133, meets every Saturday evening at I. O. O. F. hall. Visitors are always welcome.—F. A. Mizen, N. G. William Schwalen, V. G., F. A. Grady, R. S.; James E. Ford, F. S.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—Red Lake Falls Lodge No. 169, meets every Monday evening K. of P. hall.—W. A. McIntyre, C. C.; S. L. Lewis, K. of R. and S.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS—Meets every other Friday evening at C. O. F. hall. L. A. Kaufer, Chief Ranger; J. R. Fortier, Recording Secretary.

MODERN WOODMEN—Meets every other Wednesday at M. W. A. hall.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Merchants State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

Junior Toilettes

THE FASHION AND PATTERN MAGAZINE FOR YOUNG FOLKS.

10c. A COPY, $1.00 A YEAR.

FOR SALE BY

BOOKSELLERS AND NEWSDEALERS

Paper Patterns exclusive, stylish, practical and modest in price.

If you cannot get JUNIOR TOILETTES from your bookseller write for sample copy or send your subscription to

TOILETTES FASHION CO.
172 Fifth Ave., Cor. 22d St., New York.

HOLLISTER'S
Rocky Mountain Tea Nuggets
A Busy Medicine for Busy People.
Brings Golden Health and Renewed Vigor.

A specific for Constipation, Indigestion, Live and Kidney Troubles, Pimples, Eczema, Impure Blood, Bad Breath, Sluggish Bowels, Headache and Backache. It's Rocky Mountain Tea in tablet form, 35 cents a box. Genuine made by HOLLISTER DRUG COMPANY, Madison, Wis.

GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Will cure any case of Kidney or Bladder disease that is not beyond the reach of medicine.

GIVEN UP TO DIE.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over four years I was troubled with a kidney and bladder affection. I lost flesh and was unable to work. Three physicians failed to help me and I was given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured."

Two Sizes 50 Cents and $1.00

New Use of the Subjunctive

By CATHERINE BURGESS

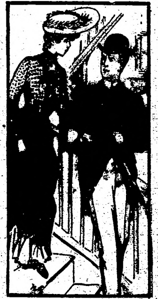
Copyright, 1905, by Catherine Burgess

Margaret White was tired of commuting, tired of the daily ride on the elevated road from Christopher street to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, very tired of the crowded class room at the end of it, so it is not strange that her mind, idle through design and strenuous through habit, picked out the broad shouldered young man who strode into the car at Forty-second and off again at One Hundred and Sixteenth street regularly as the morning came as a pleasant enough plaything.

Not that he was particularly good looking. He was distinguished only by a general purposefulness, eyes that looked neither to the right nor to the left, but buried themselves in the morning paper; a general air of being alone and liking it, which appealed to her state of being alone and not liking it.

Lately, instead of the newspaper, he had each morning drawn a book from his pocket and immediately become absorbed in it. It was not altogether a pleasant book, to judge from his face, which betrayed at times great irritation of spirit. Its covers were protected by a paper slip, calculated to balk the curiosity of whomsoever it might not concern. Margaret undoubtedly fell within this category, but that did not occur to her. An intentional device to arouse her curiosity could not have succeeded better.

One morning it chanced that the side of the car he always took was occupied by Italian laborers, dirty and malodorous. With hardly a glance at them and none at her, the man dropped into the seat at Margaret's side and produced his book. Alas! A side glance at it revealed only a Spanish grammar! Margaret could not have told what she had expected, but the unromantic fact suddenly let the whole affair down to the level of every day. The world again seemed cut out of one dingy piece, and all its uses flat, stale and unprofitable.



HE GUIDED HER TOWARD A COMPARATIVELY QUIET CORNER.

Then habit asserted itself; the instinct of the teacher triumphed; in the student she forgot the man. His brow was knit as he searched the pages for something he apparently could not find. At last, oblivious to his surroundings, he muttered with emphasis, "Oh, hang!" The sound of his own voice recalled him. He glanced around guiltily. The Italians were stolidly unconscious of his existence, but he flushed as he met Margaret White's friendly gaze.

"Let me help you," she said softly.

Then hastily flushing in her turn at the wonder in his eyes, "I—I am a teacher, you see—and you seemed in difficulty."

His face cleared. Of course that explained everything. He answered frankly:

"I am. It's the subjunctive mood. I thought I was doing a fine thing when I got a native Spanish teacher, but he doesn't know much more English than I do Spanish, and between us heaven knows what tongue I am acquiring."

"I know; I've been through it," she assured him, smiling. "But tell me what puzzles you."

"As I said, the subjunctive. It's really the—the"—

"Exactly," she assented quickly. "It really is."

At One Hundred and Sixteenth street he shut the book with a triumphant snap.

"I'm getting hold of it," he announced. "I say, do you come up on this train often?"

"Every morning."

"Then"— But the train was already starting again. He had just time to dash to the platform and bow to Margaret at her window before it was gone. His smile, as he stood bareheaded in her last glimpse of him, completed the broken sentence.

Don't Grind YOUR LIFE AWAY

Become a demonstrator and earn $8.00 to $10.00 a day. Men or Women. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working overtime. Act today.

COLONIAL SUPPLY CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

CRIMINAL MICROBE.

GERMS OF CRIME BLOSSOMING DURING SUMMER HEAT.

City of Paris Disturbed Over Unusual Prevalence of Criminality—Efforts of the Police to Abate It.

Paris.—Just as when the earth temperature rises to a certain degree it is supposed to release the germs of infectious disease, so the criminal microbe seems to be especially active in the summer heats. It is, perhaps, not really so, from a statistical point of view, but, at any rate, it is a microbe that gets itself more talked about than in the winter, when there are other matters to occupy the attention of the newspapers. At this moment, with the Grand Prix over and the fashionable life in the Boise on the wane, we are rapidly approaching the silly season, when Paris criminally reaches its high-water mark in the columns of the "Faits Divers." Of a truth there is reason for a certain disquietude at the prevalence of crime, not only at this moment, but during the whole round of the 12 months.

The central parts of Paris are well and adequately policed, but the suburbs and the outer regions are in a deplorable condition of insecurity. No other conclusion can be come to from the long series of attacks upon the person, murders, robberies and violations which have been set forth in the police news during the last 18 months. A case in point is the shocking assassination of the English governess, Miss Charlotte Cary, which is now occupying the attention of M. Hamard and his sharpest detectives. That such a deed is possible in broad daylight and at the very gates of Paris is no compliment to the police arrangements. I hasten to say that the police themselves are not necessarily to be condemned; rather, on the contrary, it is the limited budget, or grant, that is at fault. The police service is starved for want of funds, a condition, by the way, which is not singular to Paris.

The organization of the cycle police has brought a certain amount of order and security into some districts, but they cannot obviously perform quite the same service as the foot police. Too much license is unfortunately given to the creatures belonging to a detestable class which preys upon women and supplements its evil earnings by an occasional robbery or murder. Numbers of these utterly worthless members of society are to be seen on any fine afternoon sunning themselves on the fortifications, which are the especial haunts of the malefactor. One of the first measures toward rendering the town and environs of Paris secure would be the suppression of these ill-favored loafers, whose characters and occupations are well known to the police.

Short of Draconian laws against these people there are other measures to be taken that should result in some amelioration of the summer crime of Paris. Appeal should be made to the good taste and patriotism of certain journals who specialize in criminal details, whose daily dole of murder, suicide and spoliation is a succession of stimulation to the weak-brained to go and do likewise. The theaters, too, are not without blame. Lately we have seen a series of positively horrible dramas, one in which a woman is strangled before the audience in the most realistic manner and in much the way in which the poor English woman appears to have met her death. There is too lenient an eye cast on incitements to crime, and that is, I believe, the cause of a great deal of it. No wonder a deputation from the city council is urging the government to abolish public executions, which is the apotheosis and glorification of the criminal. Without advertisement he would largely cease to be.

DIRTY TOWELS FOR SOLONS

Lavatory Appropriation Was Unwittingly Killed by the Last Congress.

Washington.—Members of the Fifty-ninth congress have just discovered that congress, in a fit of absent-mindedness during the last session, struck out the appropriation that provides the clean towels used by members in the performance of their daily ablutions. In the last appropriation bill there was an item of $25,000 for "miscellaneous items." Certain persons employed under that appropriation were obnoxious and they were legislated out of office by the insertion of a proviso reading: "Exclusive of salaries and labor." The washing of the enormous number of towels used on the house side is paid for out of this appropriation.

On the morning of July 1 the new legislative act went into effect and the clerk of the committee on accounts promptly decided that washing towels was "labor" and, therefore, could not be paid for out of an appropriation that expressly forbids any payment for labor. The matter was referred to the comptroller of the treasury, from whose decision there is no appeal, and he took the same view. The question now is how is the Fifty-ninth congress to get its towels?

Crop Estimates.

The New York broker does not care very much whether the crop is scanty and prices high or abundant and prices low so long as he keeps on the profitable side of the market. But the government has gone into the crop estimating business to protect the producer, and the producer kicks like a mule when the figures do not suit him. The reply of Secretary Wilson to the New York cotton trade when they protested against his figures implied that he was mainly concerned to serve the interests of the producers.

IN THE METROPOLIS

THE STRONG PERSONALITY OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY JEROME.

OF LIVELY INDEPENDENCE

Police Force of New York Suffering from Politics—Smashing a Prejudice—Uselessness of a Late Expensive Toy.

NEW YORK.—LORD BROUGHAM once referred to Daniel Webster as a steam engine in trousers. He didn't mean that Webster suggested the panting hurry of the locomotive; a steam engine then meant rather the grim, smooth power of the stationary engine.

We think nowadays in terms of electricity. William Travers Jerome is a human live wire. His father was Larry Jerome, celebrated as a wit, whose best witticisms gained point from a delicious stammer. The elder Jerome was a clubman, of a type then rare in New York; the younger is a clubman, too, if mere membership in exclusive organizations can be so defined; but he has no time to waste in club windows. He is 46 years old, of medium height, athletic when he can get the time for training. His portraits make him look younger than he is; his face is deeply marked with lines of thought and activity. On the platform he again looks younger than he is; his lithe, panther tread, the intensity of a voice he never needs to raise above a conversational tone to make thrill with earnestness, aid in the impression of deathless youth and vigor.

Jerome is an aristocrat by birth, if there is any such thing the new world; yet he is the idol of the great East side. He is a democrat; yet he has thrown the so-called democratic leadership in this city into a panic. He is a law officer; yet he has alone among men of this generation dared to tell the truth about New York's courts, which is that they are unworthy of New York. He is financially poor, the son of a man who never cared to make or save money. He is a relative of that Jennie Jerome who entranced England with her beauty, who became Lady Randolph Churchill, and was nearly thereby the wife of a premier, and who has since married a man much her junior.

Such the man and such his antecedents, who has thrown Tammany into a flutter by announcing his candidacy for reelection upon a nomination by petition.

Jerome in Larger Politics.

THERE was never any question that Jerome could get a regular party nomination if he wished it. What he wanted was to get his call from the people first; then he could accept an indorsement without being bound by bargains. There is in his feeling over the matter the combination of a boy's chuckling glee over a merry prank and a man's deeper purpose. He enjoys his work, every minute; enjoys controversy, enjoys the smoke and heat of battle. He is outspoken, has abused every leader of prominence in both parties—Platt, Depew, Odell, Murphy, Hill, the latter least of all. Four years ago, when he was running upon the fusion ticket for his present office, he gave Platt a lively platform trouncing; people said it meant his defeat at the hands of knifing republicans. He actually carried the borough of Manhattan, which was a bigger feat than carrying the whole city. If New York has an idol, Jerome is that man.

Will Jerome be reelected upon his novel platform? How can they prevent it? He is out against both machines, the republican and the democratic. The people in this city love neither. They have suffered from both. Tammany, which has usurped the democratic name, rules them badly, robs them, neglects them; the republican machine exploits the city to the advantage of upstate republicans and taxpayers. Neither is liked, either is capable of trying to share in Jerome's power by indorsing him.

There is another way. The people may insist upon nominating him for mayor. He is the logical opponent of Mr. McClellan, who is a gentleman like himself, and whom the people instinctively recognize as personally an excellent man.

The Chinese Riots.

COMPARE the district attorney's office—dockets cleared up for the first time in years, the "lottery king" sent to Sing Sing, gamblers closed up—with the inefficient police.

I hesitate to speak of gangs and gang rule again so soon, but when a white gang gives notice that a policeman, who has offended them by arresting a member, must not walk his beat, on pain of mur-

Conviction Follows Trial

When buying loose coffee at anything your grocer happens to have in his bin, how do you know what you are getting? Some queer stories about coffee that is sold in bulk, could be told, if the people who handle it (grocers), cared to speak out.

Could any amount of mere talk have persuaded millions of housekeepers to use

Lion Coffee,

the leader of all package coffees for over a quarter of a century, if they had not found it superior to all other brands in Purity, Strength, Flavor and Uniformity?

This popular success of LION COFFEE can be due only to inherent merit. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity.

If the verdict of MILLIONS OF HOUSEKEEPERS does not convince you of the merits of LION COFFEE, it costs you but a trifle to buy a package. It is the easiest way to convince yourself, and to make you a PERMANENT PURCHASER.

LION COFFEE is sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages, and reaches you as pure and clean as when it left our factory.

Lion-head on every package.
Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums

SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

TO CALIFORNIA

This winter? Use the "Northern Pacific-Shasta Route," the scenic way to the land of summer in winter. Rates are low. "North Coast Limited" to travel on west to Portland. Shasta Route rest of the way. Ask your local agent about the trip over the

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

Great Trans-continental Highway

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY

A. M. CLELAND, Gen'l Passenger Agent., St. Paul.

F. A. MIZEN, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Ease
Elegance
Excellence
in every department of
the
Two Overland Trains
of the
GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY

"The Comfortable Way"

New Observation Compartment Cars New Dining Car
Palace Sleeping Cars Tourist Sleepers

For detailed information address
J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn

Burlington Route

Chicago! Day or Night

By day—the scenic Express, leaving Minneapolis at 7:30 a. m., St. Paul at 8:20 a. m. Cafe-parlor car, with observation platform, chair car and coaches thro to Chicago. Fine for fall travel along the majestic Mississippi.

By night—the electric lighted Chicago Limited, one of the world's famous and finest trains.

Before you definitely plan your trip, write

F. M. RUGG, Northwestern Passenger Agent,
Germania Life Building St. PAUL.

Ayer's Pills

The dose is one, just one pill at bedtime. Sugar-coated, mild, certain. They cure constipation.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Use

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE
50 CTS. OF DRUGGISTS OR R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

SUFFERINGS UNTOLD.

A Kansas City Woman's Terrible Experience with Kidney Sickness.

Mrs. Mary Cogin, 20th st. and Cleveland ave., Kansas City, Mo., says: "For years I was run down, weak, lame and sore. The kidney secretions were too frequent. Then dropsy puffed up my ankles until they were a sight to behold. Doctors gave me up, but I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, and the remedy cured me so that I have been well ever since, and have had a fine baby, the first in five that was not prematurely born."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Bugle of the Six Hundred.

A military relic of undying interest will be disposed of next month in a West End salesroom. This is the very bugle which belonged to the Earl of Cardigan's bugler when the order was given for the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava. It is surely a relic which should be acquired by the nation. It is now fifty-one years since Balaclava, yet the Countess of Cardigan, widow of Lord Cardigan, is still with us, and resides at Deene Park, Northants, a seat which her husband left her for life. The earldom of Cardigan is now merged in the marquisate of Ailesbury, and is borne by Lord Ailesbury's eldest son.—Sheffield Telegraph.

One of the Very Hot Places.

"In the popular mind the stokehole of a big steamship is the hottest place in which human beings are called upon to labor," said a steam engineer, "but the subcellar of a skyscraper, where the boilers, engines and dynamos are located, is a close rival. In some big buildings where peculiar architectural difficulties have been encountered the engine rooms are veritable furnaces. In summer one sometimes gets an idea of the under-sidewalk temperature wherein men are roasting when he passes an open ventilator and a wave of hot air that starts perspiration in a second strikes him.—New York Sun.

Parish School of Domestic Science.

Rev. Thomas J. Gillen, rector of St. Mary's church, Pawtucket, R. I., has established a school of domestic arts in which the girls of his parish are fitted for the practical duties of the house. It has proved one of the most successful experiments ever made in a parish and the results have been remarkably satisfactory.

PARALYSIS CURED

Case Seemed Hopeless but Yielded to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. Kenney has actually escaped from the paralytic's fate to which he seemed a short time ago hopelessly doomed. The surprising report has been fully verified and some important details secured in a personal interview with the recent sufferer.

"The doctor," said Mr. Kenney, "told me that if I wanted to live any length of time I would have to give up work altogether, and he told my friends that the paralysis which had begun would in time involve my whole body."

"Just how were you afflicted at this time?" Mr. Kenney was asked.

"Well, I had first hot, and then cold and clammy feelings, and at times my body felt as if needles were being stuck into it. These sensations were followed by terrible pains, and again I would have no feeling at all, but a numbness would come over me, and I would not be able to move. The most agonizing tortures came from headaches and a pain in the spine.

"Night after night I could not get my natural sleep and my system was wrecked by the strain of torturing pains and the effect of the opiates I was forced to take to induce sleep. As I look back on the terrible suffering I endured during this period I often wonder how I retained my reason through it all.

"But relief came quickly when I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The very first box seemed to help me, and seven boxes made me entirely well. There can be no doubt about the thoroughness of my cure, for I have worked steadily ever since and that is nearly four years."

Mr. Kenney is at present employed by the Merrimac Hat Company and resides at 101 Aubin street, Amesbury, Mass. The remedy which he used with such satisfactory results, is sold by all druggists, or direct by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N Y.

Strangers Now.

Edith—Percy de Smythe asked me to tell him the difference between pretty and handsome.

Mayme—I suppose he thought the opinion of a disinterested person would be best.—Chicago News.

WHEAT

The wheat markets of the world have advanced sharply this week. The impetus for the rise was furnished by Europe and our response was a reflection of the strength of Liverpool and the continental markets, aided by a wild scramble of shorts to get to cover.

Red revolution is only thinly disguised under the mask of labor troubles in the land of the czar. The railroad strike has tied up transportation lines so that no wheat is available for export, and as a direct result the demand of the world is centered on the United States and Canadian supplies of wheat.

We advised buying when the market was at a somewhat lower level and there is nothing in prospect to cause us to change our views in the slightest, unless it is to make our conviction as to the value of wheat as an investment even stronger.

Edwards-Wood Co.
(Incorporated)
DEALERS IN
Stocks—Grain—Provisions.

FARM

MISCELLANY

Fungus Attacks on Telegraph Poles.

The length of service of a telegraph or telephone pole is determined in a section of the pole not more than a foot or a foot and a half long. In a standing pole this section extends about six or eight inches above and below the top of the ground. This is the universal point of attack upon the life of the pole, and is called its breaking point. Decay is the arch-enemy of these poles. It sets in at the ground line and reaches both up and down the pole, but only so far as the conditions exist which promote the growth of wood-destroying fungi. A few inches below the ground there is lack of the necessary oxygen and heat, while at about the same distance above ground the requisite moisture fails. The exact time at which decay begins its work depends upon the climate, the character of the soil and similar conditions. In a hot, moist climate it ordinarily sets in with great rapidity. But at best, in a very few years after the pole is set the struggle has commenced. The decay soon girdles the pole and gradually eats into it, deeper and deeper until it is so weakened that it breaks under the weight of its equipment.

The strain upon the pole from wind pressure and the weight of its cross-arms and wires is calculated for the ground line. When the diameter of this ground line is constantly decreased, the strength of the pole is proportionately reduced, and it becomes only a question of time when the pole must fall. Chestnut and white cedar have been found, among available woods, most successfully to resist decay; but the life of the former is only from twelve to fifteen years, and of the latter ten to twelve years. The co-operative study of the bureau is for the purpose of extending, if possible, this time.

The experiments already made by the United States Forestry Bureau show conclusively that poles can be subjected to a preservative treatment which insures materially lengthened service. This treatment consists in impregnating the wood with antiseptics which prevent the growth of the fungi that cause decay. The treatment of telegraph and telephone poles, when attempted at all in this country, generally has been applied to the whole pole, requiring the use of air-tight cylinders 100 feet long or more. In these the poles are subjected to live steam for some time, when a vacuum is created. Creosote is then run in and pressure applied to force it into the wood. Manifestly this is a laborious process. Yet for telegraph and telephone poles only about one foot of the entire length needs to be made immune from fungus. If this foot at the fatal ground line can be preserved from decay, the rest of the pole will take care of itself. Experiments will now be made in treating the butts of the poles for a distance of about eight feet, thus carrying the antiseptics just beyond the zone of decay attack. The creosote method will be used and dead oil of coal tar forced through the butt of the pole.

The telegraph companies have made little use of preservative treatment. They employ millions of poles on their various lines, and it would be a tremendous economy to add even a few years of service to the life of each pole. But there will be another large saving both to them and to the forest through preservative treatment. To provide a good margin against decay, poles are now much larger than demanded by the strain upon them. It is expected that decay will quickly eat away a furrow around the pole at the ground line, and the diameter of the pole at that point is gauged to allow for this weakening process. When it is known that decay, in a certain number of years, cuts the diameter from perhaps 12 to 8 inches, and that below 8 inches the weakened pole falls, the course to be pursued is obvious. Antiseptics prevent, for the time of their effectiveness, the starting of decay, and thus permit at the outset the selection of an 8-inch diameter rather than a 12-inch. The 4 inches saved represent a tremendous difference in the size and age of trees used for poles. Both the companies and the owners of forests will be great gainers by this economy, with its shortening of the length of time necessary to grow a pole.

Corn Seed Not Everything.

It is a pleasure when traveling through the country at this time of the year to see the tall corn shocks thickly covering the wide areas of fertile land. Not many years since corn shocks were most found in the eastern districts and in those districts where dairying is made a specialty. Now one sees corn shocks everywhere, even towards the far west, where cattlemen begin to understand that there is much more nutriment in cut corn fodder than in the weathered corn stalks of the standing husked-out crop. There was a time when straw piles were burned to get rid of them, when manure piles suffered in the same way, when corn stalks were little thought of. These things are less common now, and year by year appreciation of corn forage is increasing.

Under the circumstances it should be apparent that exclusive attention to the improvement of the grain of the corn plant is wrong. It is quite true that corn seed needs improvement everywhere and that the work being done by Prof. Holden and other scientists is admirable and utilitarian. It is important to increase protein in corn, as is being attempted by Prof. Hopkins in Illinois. It will be wise to continue expert judging of corn at the agricultural colleges and by every possible means to educate our young men to a true scientific and practical knowledge of corn and other seeds. But equal attention should be paid to other parts of the plant, apart from the ears.

It is of importance that corn stalks should grow more than one good ear and that the ears should be at a proper distance from the ground; also that the leaves shall be large and numerous. Thirty-foot corn stalks, with ears ten feet from the ground are no improvement. Tall, spindly plants, with small, ribbonlike leaves and one large ear too far from the ground are not an improvement. The best corn plant must be a dual purpose one, combining fine ears of the best seeds on small cobs and withal a great abundance of large, wide leaves which will insure a bountiful fodder crop. Let us not lose sight of these things in seeking to improve corn seed. Let us endeavor to improve the entire plant for every purpose to which it can be put and in so doing there will result the greatest benefit to farmers.

Coal Ashes as Mulch.

I have believed for many years that coal ashes make a good mulch, and I still hold to the opinion, but with some modifications. It is true that the ashes will for a time prevent the growing of weeds, especially during the early part of the season. But in the ashes weed seeds will ultimately grow up and develop enormously. I might say that if ashes are put on a piece of ground in the summer the weeds will probably not appear during that year, for the reason that the seeds of weeds will not have time to fall upon the ashes and sprout before cold weather comes. But the next year, look out.

Last winter I put ashes between my rows of current bushes as well as between my rows of strawberries. The ashes were spread on fully six inches deep, so deep that I thought it impossible for any weed to push through. During the first part of this summer the weeds did not appear, but after midsummer showed a sudden vigor. The ashes then seemed to help instead of hinder them. I was away from home for some time in the middle of the summer, and when I came back those weeds were five or six feet and I had to pull up the stalks to make the presence of the weeds in my currant patch less obvious to the neighbors.

In my strawberry patch the result was the same. The weeds grew up and in addition every strawberry runner that got onto the ashes sent down a good system of roots and developed plants right amid the ashes. I am going to follow the matter further and see how deep I will have to pile the coal ashes to prevent the growth of weeds. I am sure, however, that coal ashes are a great help for a few weeks, but they will not accomplish much as a permanent destroyer.—Albert Bates, DuPage Co., Ill., in Farmers' Review.

Fattening Fowls.

It is time to begin thinking of fattening fowls for the fall market and for the Thanksgiving table. When we are getting them ready for market we give them a thorough cleaning, to get rid of all vermin, and then confine where they will have plenty of fresh air, but very little exercise. We pay special attention to see that they are kept free from vermin now, for they have not a fair chance to look out for themselves when confined. Pure air in great abundance is very essential, but exercise will work off the flesh you are trying to lay on them. Corn is one of our best fattening foods, with some oats and buckwheat. A variety in the food tempts their appetite and gives better results. During the last ten days we feed nothing but soft foods and these we feed in great quantities. In confining the fowls for fattening, we separate the cocks and hens, and in case any individual fowl is inclined to be "scrappy" and persists in bothering his neighbors and worrying himself about them, we put him in a coop by himself. Anything which tends to worry the fowls or to work off flesh must be watched for and avoided.—Cora H. Porter, Grant Co., Ind., in Farmers' Review.

Small Flies in Milk.

I ship my milk to the city, usually sending about four cans. One day, a few weeks ago, I received all the cans back because in one there were a number of tiny flies, hardly visible unless they were in great numbers. I felt badly to have every can returned when only one was at fault, for I had taken great care with my milk and rather prided myself on my cleanliness. Just how the flies got in the milk I do not know, for it was all carefully strained and then put in the tank to cool, and fresh water pumped in. Whether the flies were in the can, or whether they came while the milk was in the water cooling, I do not know, and I have wondered if other farmers have been troubled in this same way. At any rate, I made up my mind that there would be no more flies in my milk, so now I use two sets of cans, and after I take the milk from the cooler I strain it again into clean cans. I have had no further trouble with the little pests, although it means some more work and a double number of cans to be used.—S. H. Langworthy in Farmers' Review.

Fresh manure is not available for plant food. It must be worked upon by bacteria and the elements [illegible] before the plants can [illegible].

[illegible]

Forcible Expression of Opinion as to the Prisoner's Guilt.

George Washington Brown, an eccentric cousin of old Ossowatomie, lived at Coldwell, Ohio, and being a substantial citizen was often drawn but seldom served on a jury, because of his impulsive declarations when inquired of as to his preconceived opinions.

One day a man charged with grand larceny was on trial and Brown was called from among the bystanders to a seat in the jury box. Brown bolted in and sat down. Counsel for the prisoner rose and made the usual inquiry of him: "Have you formed or expressed an opinion touching the guilt of the prisoner at the bar?" the answer being, of course, simply yes or no. Brown electrified the court room by shouting back: "Yes, sir; he's guilty as hell." He was excused, amid roars of laughter.

How She Helped Him to Propose.

After a woman is happily married she is usually willing to admit that she had a good deal to do with the "proposing." A pretty young Atchison married woman confesses that she managed her only proposal in this way: One evening the man she afterward married attempted to kiss her. She drew back, saying, "The only man who can ever kiss me is the man I expect to marry." The young man laughed and said: "Well, Miss Alice, is that a hint?" The girl replied: "Well, that is the only condition under which you can kiss me." The man kissed her, and she began the next day working on her trousseau.—Atchison Globe.

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson, patent lawyers, 911-912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn. Albert Behnke, St. Paul, Minn., lubricator; Kennedy Dougan, Minneapolis, Minn., T-square clamp; Julius Heilbron, St. Paul, Minn., vapor burning lamp; Howard McLeod, Great Falls, Mont., head motion; Charles Miller, Minneapolis, Minn., store service apparatus; Louis Olson, Minneapolis, Minn., ice shave; John Patty, St. Paul, Minn., wrench.

Mrs. Gould's Diary of Travels.

During her recent travels abroad Mrs. George Gould kept a journal, which she is now planning to have printed and distributed among her intimate friends. Mrs. Gould has been spoken of as being "in the distinguished list of automobile survivors."

Something Wrong.

Mrs. Homer—Our new cook seems to be shy of intelligence.

Homer—That's queer. I got her from an intelligence office.—Columbus Dispatch.

Here is Relief for Women.

Mother Gray, a nurse in New York, discovered a pleasant herb remedy for women's ills, called AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain monthly regulator. Cures female weaknesses, Backache, Kidney and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Was Not Paid in Silver Dollars.

The most significant feature of Mr. Bryan's trip is the fact that a country editor is able to get so prosperous under a Republican administration he thinks nothing of a year's run around the world.—Pittsburg Gazette (Rep.).

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

It's queer how two men can accidentally exchange umbrellas and both get the worst of it.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Men who spend their time knocking never open any doors.

The things of life are likely to get in the way of life itself.

FITS permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for FREE $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ltd., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

God never calls a man to command until he has learned to obey.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

Margrite Ryan
Margret Merkley

When a physician tells a woman, suffering from ovarian or womb trouble, that an operation is necessary it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation, she felt that her death knell had sounded.

Our hospitals are full of women who are there for ovarian or womb operations!

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations.

Margrite Ryan, Treasurer of St. Andrew's Society, Hotel English, Indianapolis, Ind., writes of her cure as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I cannot find words to express my thanks for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. The doctor said I could not get well unless I had an operation for ovarian and female troubles. I knew I could not stand the strain of an operation and made up my mind I would be an invalid for life. Hearing how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had saved other women from serious operations I decided to try it, and in less than four months I was entirely cured; and words fail to express my thankfulness."

Miss Margret Merkley of 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps, bearing down pains, and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said that I had ovarian trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation as my only hope. To this I strongly objected—and I decided as a last resort to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"To my surprise the ulceration healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared, and I am once more strong, vigorous and well; and I cannot express my thanks for what it has done for me."

Ovarian and womb troubles are steadily on the increase among women—and before submitting to an operation every woman should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. for advice.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been curing the worst forms of female complaints, all ovarian troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb, leucorrhœa, irregularities, indigestion and nervous prostration. Any woman who could read the many grateful letters on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office would be convinced of the efficiency of her advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

As Selfish as Most of Us.

Wilson—What do you think of government ownership?

Gilson—Well, I should approve of it heartily if I had anything I wanted the government to buy.—Somerville Herald.

The Genuine TOWER'S
POMMEL SLICKER
HAS BEEN ADVERTISED AND SOLD FOR A QUARTER OF A CENTURY LIKE ALL TOWER'S FISH BRAND WATERPROOF CLOTHING
It is made of the best materials, in black or yellow, fully guaranteed, and sold by reliable dealers everywhere.
STICK TO THE SIGN OF THE FISH.
TOWER CANADIAN CO. Limited, TORONTO, CAN. A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON, MASS., U.S.A.

THE BEST COUGH CURE

Cough syrups are all cheap enough, but if you should get a gallon of cough syrup that does not cure for the price of a small bottle of the best cough cure, you would have made a bad bargain—for one small bottle of Kemp's Balsam may stop the worst cough and save a life, whereas the cough "cure" that does not cure is worse than useless.

Kemp's Balsam

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN
W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
SOLE AGENTS FOR W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES
ESTABLISHED JULY 4, 1876

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

THE COMFORTER

A congested vein pressing on a nerve accounts for the swelling, throbbing ache of

Neuralgia

St. Jacobs Oil

frees the circulation, allays the pressure and soothes away the pain.

Price, 25c. and 50c.

PRICE, 25 Cts.

ANTI-GRIPINE

IS GUARANTEED TO CURE GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

[illegible] MONEY BACK IF IT DON'T CURE. [illegible]

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

The R. Paxton Company Boston, Mass.

Coney Island Souvenir Post Cards. Six beautiful colored scenes for 10c. Coney Island Postal Card Co., Coney Island, N. Y.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

When Answering Advertisements Kindly Mention This Paper.

N. N. U. —NO. 44— 1905

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

[illegible]

Woodward & Co., Grain Commission.

[illegible]

Calumet

is the only
High Grade Powder
offered to the consumer at a
Moderate Price

It should not be confused with the cheap, low grade powders on the one hand, nor the high priced trust powders on the other.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

THE Saturday Evening Post has defined the difference between the masses and the classes. The classes ride in automobiles and the masses get run over.

THE average policy in the Mutual is $2,346, on which is paid $95 a year. Last year the McCurdy family took all the premiums of 4,784 policyholders, or all the dividends of 109,922 policyholders.

THE state senators intended having a meeting last week to decide upon a candidate for governor, but too much publicity spoiled the plan. Nothing suits the senators so well as an air of mystery and star-chamber methods.

THE Republicans enter the campaign under a handicap. The admission that there is danger of reelecting a Democratic governor in a state so overwhelmingly Republican is worth a good many thousand votes to Johnson.

FRANK M. EDDY must mean somebody special when he says: "When a man has to put up an organization and establish a bureau to secure a nomination, it is a sure sign that the party would not select him if left to itself."

THE Minneapolis Tribune cannot be accused of friendliness to Governor Johnson's administration, but in a recent issue it says: "Governor Johnson has given the state a good administration. He cannot be beaten with the kind of ticket and platform republican conventions have been making."

THE state board of health has ordered that all teachers in public schools and all pupils attending these institutions must be wholly free from the white plague—consumption, says the Thief River Press. Of late years it has developed that tuberculosis is contageous and decidedly so, although it was once believed to be entirely hereditary. The edict of the state board is imperative and the order must be complied with. And why no? It is but just that healthy children should be protected as far as possible from the ravages of that dread disease.

Ayer's

Take cold easily? Throat tender? Lungs weak? Any relatives have consumption? Then a cough means a great deal to you. Follow your doctor's advice and take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It heals, strengthens, prevents.

Cherry Pectoral

"For 40 years I have depended on Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds. I know it greatly strengthens weak lungs."
MRS. P. A. ROBINSON, Saline, Mich.

25c., 50c., $1.00. All druggists.
J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for Weak Lungs

Ayer's Pills increase the activity of the liver, and thus aid recovery.

ONE tenth of the deaths of the United States is charged to pneumonia. The germ takes up its residence in the nose, mouth and throat passages and 20 per cent of the people examined posses such germs. If a person lives a sanitary life he is immune from pneumonia. So cleanliness is an enemy to this dreaded disease.

A. R. McGILL, governor of Minnesota from 1887 to 1889, died at his home in St. Paul early Tuesday morning of heart disease. Mr. McGill was born in Pennsylvania February 19, 1840; came to Minnesota in 1861. He was insurance commissioner from 1873 to 1887, when he was elected Governor. At the time of his death Mr. McGill was state senator and postmaster of St. Paul.

AN error is made by the self-supporting, debt-paying wage-earner without property when he supposes that he pays no taxes. To the extent that he consumes, he pays. The tenants pay the landlords' taxes, finally. The customers pay, indirectly, the taxes of the merchants. And if the weight of taxes is oppressive, those whose names are on the books of the collector hold their money tighter, make fewer improvements on their property, employ less labor. There is no citizen to whom it matters more than to the working man, even though he owns no property, whether taxes are moderate or excessive.

A VOTE THAT MEANT A MILLION.

Republicans of the state are asking to what straits has their party organization come that the names of Senator Samuel Lord and Senator Ripley B. Brower are more frequently heard in connection with the gubernatorial nomination than any others. Had either of these men on March 28, 1899, voted as did John A. Johnson, the state treasury would have been richer by nearly a million dollars. Both Lord and Brower voted in favor of the indefinite postponement of a bill which would increase the gross earnings tax on railroads from 3 to 4 per cent, and which had previously passed the house with only five votes against it. John A. Johnson, then new to the game of politics, but with a heart beating true, voted with the people and against the corporations. With any people less forgetful of the direlictions of their servants, their votes on this important question would utterly condemn both Lord and Brower. And yet one of these men is more likely to be called by St Paul hotel regulators of the Republican party to be its standard bearer in the next campaign. The independent, tax-paying voters of the state should leave no doubt either as to their memories or their gratitude toward these men. The present state treasury, so far as the general revenue fund is concerned, is practically bankrupt. Last winter the legislature found it necessary to increase the rate of taxation and even with this extraordinary action, money is lacking to operate the machinery of the state. Had either of the two senators now so prominently before the people voted as did John A. Johnson, this condition would never have arisen. The state would have been a million dollars richer and the corporations a million dollars poorer.

Waterville Advance: A stranger drifted into the city of Montgomery last week and after preparing a mixture of cheap soap, tallow and lampblack, sold it to the farmers for harness grease. It is said that he did a land office business until taken in custody by the authorities.

MERCHANDISE ASSESSMENT.

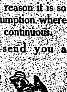
Several of the country newspapers have shown no disposition to be either fair or honest in criticizing the work of the late board of equalization regarding the assessment on goods and merchandise. Several classes of property were lowered this year, notably live stock, household goods and merchandise, and the reasons therefor are given by State Auditor Iverson, who ought to be high enough Republican authority to satisfy the most partisan of the Republican papers that are laying the blame on Governor Johnson and the Democratic members of the board. With regard to the matter Auditor Iverson says:

"The committe on goods and merchandise found that hardly a county in the state reported that item in the list as high as it was last year. The committe went down the list and figured out what percentage of raise was necessary to bring each county up to last year's assessment, but found sentiment, not only on the committe, but among members of the board generally, against putting merchandise as high as last year. After reducing cattle, sheep and hogs, and bringing down the per capita assessment on household goods, it was thought no more than to let merchandise also off easier. So the committe went down the list again and cut the percentages it had figured right in two. Where a county was to be raised 30 per cent, they made it 15 per cent, and a 10 per cent raise was cut to 5 per cent. Accordingly, the merchandise assessment of nearly every county was left lower than last year, and country merchants were relieved in about the same proportion as those in the cities.

STATE TAX LEVY.

Fifty Per Cent Increase in General Revenue Fund.

State Auditor S. G. Iverson has sent letters to the various county auditors throughout the state certifying to the tax levy for the ensuing year. It is in total 1 8-10 mills. It is made up of the soldiers' relief fund levy of one tenth of one mill, the funding tax levy of two tenths of a mill, and the state revenue fund levy of one and a half mills. It differs from the levy of the previous year in two points. The levy for the revenue fund is one half of one mill more, an increase of 50 per cent, and the three tenths of one mill tax for the agricultural college, which existed the two previous years and brought in $125,000 a year for the school is abolished. The increase in the general revenue fund is because of the lavish appropriations made by the last legislature. The previous year, when the general revenue levy was but one mill, there was but $800,000 to be raised. Mr. Iverson says that the general revenue levy the ensuing year will have to raise $1,200,000.



Consumption

¶ There is no specific for consumption. Fresh air, exercise, nourishing food and Scott's Emulsion will come pretty near curing it, if there is anything to build on. Millions of people throughout the world are living and in good health on one lung.

¶ From time immemorial the doctors prescribed cod liver oil for consumption. Of course the patient could not take it in its old form, hence it did very little good. They can take and tolerate it for a long time. There is no oil, not excepting butter, so easily digested and absorbed by the system as cod liver oil in the form of Scott's Emulsion, and that is the reason it is so helpful in consumption where its use must be continuous.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

¶ We will send you a sample free.

¶ Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

Scott & Bowne
Chemists
409 Pearl Street
New York
50c. and $1; all druggists

The Busy Store

Snappy cold days these! Warm Wraps, Cloaks, Furs! Prices that are positively the lowest that high quality will permit. You would be interested if you saw the new style furs priced so low, with a Lanpher guarantee from .... 75c to $25.00

You would distinguish features about LANDESMAN cloaks, after you tried them on, that you would not hesitate in saying, "they fit well, cloth is fine, finish beautiful and style most eastern." Styles from $5.00 to $50.00

BLANKETS, Cotton or wool, soft and warm.

10 x 4 Tan, fancy border only	65c.
10 x 4 Gray fancy border only	48c.
11 x 4 Gray, fancy border only	$1.00

Wool from $3.50 to $7.00

Tams and Sweaterettes in catchy designs and colors, an excellent assortment at . . . 50c.

SHOES of QUALITY.

QUEEN Quality for Women,
DOUGLAS for Men and
RED SCHOOL HOUSE for Children.

MENS' FUR COATS

North Star Guaranteed Quality made since 1876.

Genuine Russian Dog, regular 18.00, we ask	$15
Something new, a Sheared Mocha Wombat collar, looks neat and wears like Buffalo, at	$19
Ladies' Mocha fur coat, very warm, guaranteed, only	$25

Underwear Special:

For women. Fine fleeced garments–ribbed only	25c
Pure white Jersey fleece downy only	50c

Underwear Special:

For Men. Extra heavy wool fleece lined, double breast and back only 50c.

Gray wool fleece lined, soft and warm, only 38c

Underwear for Children:

Heavy fleece lined any size rom 16 to 34 our secial only 25c

GARCEAU & ZAISER

According to recent press dispatches the Russian autocracy is crumbling and Czar Nicholas has consented to a number of radical reforms. He is willing to grant a constitution, giving the subjects of benighted Russia the right of free speech and free press, the right of assembly and the immunity of person, and many other fundamental civil liberties. Count Witte, the Russian ambassador in the recent peace conference, is made head of the new cabinet by an imperial manifesto. Hail the new Russia.

SEND BOOKS TO FARMERS.

Public Library Commission Will Increase Traveling Libraries.

The Minnesota Public Library commission has decided to enlarge the number of its public traveling libraries this fall. Aside from general reading there will be more libraries for the study clubs and also some collections in Swedish Norwegian and German which will be loaned to the smaller cities and libraries.

A new feature will be the house libraries of ten volumes which will be sent to families in isolated communities. The commission will have special libraries for students, the libraries to include books on any subject which may be desired by those studing at home.

The librarian, Miss Clara F. Baldwin and her assistants, are working on the orders so as to get the libraries into circulation before winter. They will have about 350 of the general traveling libraries of either twenty-five or fifty books. The number of the special libraries has not yet been decided upon, but will be according to the demand of the books.

The general libraries are loaned to any community upon the application of ten tax payers and the payment of 50 cents for the twenty five book library and $1.00 for the fifty book kind. The libraries are loaned both to communities which have no library and to libraries seeking a greater assortment of books.

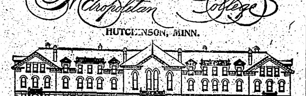
Counterfeiting The Genuine.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and [illegible]

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.'s
North'n Pacific Elevator Open

Our Elevator at the Northern Pacific Depot is now open and ready for business with Frank La Bissoniere as agent, who will buy all kinds of grain at highest market prices. FLOUR and FEED for sale.

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.



Metropolitan College

HUTCHINSON, MINN.

Our new $50,000 College Building, located on a beautiful ten acre campus on Brooklyn Heights, overlooking the city.

OPENS NOVEMBER 6, 1905

Courses: Bookkeeping, Office Practice, and Higher Accounting; Shorthand and Typewriting; Telegraphy; Preparatory Department in English from the lowest grades and up, qualifying the student for entrance to high schools, or colleges; also courses in Civil Service and Music.

Individual and Class Instruction. Students enter at anytime. No entrance examination. Tuition, $50 for 10 months.

Board at the Dormitory, $2 per week. Elegantly furnished, steam heated and electric lighted rooms at $3 per month. Lavatories, toilets, and bathrooms on every floor of the Dormitory.

An ideal college, located in a model college city, two hours from Minneapolis; a college for men and women of all ages, nonsectarian; exemplary government; recommended by the mayors of Minneapolis and Hutchinson, and by every church, business house, and bank wherever known.

This college is under the management of the Metropolitan Commercial College, 329 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, and the student may change from one college to the other without the loss of a single lesson. Nowhere else in the United States can you find better equipped Commercial, Shorthand, or Telegraph departments. Our teachers are the best money can secure. The Employment Department connected with our Minneapolis College enables us to place all graduates in positions. Allow us to arrange a course for you, and we will guarantee you a good position as soon as competent.

For full particulars, address G. M. Langum, President Metropolitan College, Hutchinson, Minn., or 329 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

Cattle Sale, Fargo.

The Great Northern Railway will sell tickets at one and one third fares for the round trip on account of sale of blooded cattle and swine to be held at Fargo under the auspices of the North Dakota Agricultural College. Tickets will be on sale November 7th, final return limit [illegible]

The Wesley piano, a strictly high-grade instrument, endorsed by leading musicians and a piano of the highest merit, for sale by Anderson & Wander.

A Matter of Health

There is a quality in Royal Baking Powder which promotes digestion. This peculiarity of Royal has been noted by physicians, and they accordingly use and recommend it exclusively.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Tom Elliott made a trip to Thief River Falls Tuesday.

Ed. Garceau of Polk Center was in the city Saturday.

Thos. Germo was a passenger to Thief River Falls Monday.

L. C. Simons was a business caller at Crookston Wednesday night.

Chas Huot a prominent farmer of Huot, was in the city Wednesday.

Go to Spillane's store for Groceries, Candies, Nuts, Fruits, Cigars, etc.

Ed. L. Healy returned Wednesday from a business mission at the Twin cities.

Theo. Garceau left Saturday for a short business visit at the Twin cities.

The 5c "I Lead" and 10c "B. B" cigars are the best to be had for the money.

Geo. Peppin of Willow city N. D. is visiting friends and relatives in the city.

T. G. Brunelle was a passenger Monday evening to Crookston for a few days stay.

Mrs. Henry Kaufer has been under the weather for a few days but is improving nicely.

M. O. Sortedahl left Monday on a business trip to northern Iowa and southern Minnesota points.

W. G. Myers of Worthington Minn is in the city to-day conferring with the Ed. L. Healy Land Co.

The claimed letters at the Red Lake Falls Post office for week ending Oct 58th are: Clifford Sherard.

O. G. Clay, the right of way man for the Great Northern, was a passenger for points up the line Wednesday.

Pain may go by the name of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, pleursr. No matter what names the pains are called, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will drive them away. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert.

Mrs. H. Gonigam of Walnut, Ill., a former resident of this place, is here for a short visit with relatives and friends.

Try an "I Lead" cigar, only 5c, guaranteed to give satisfaction; if you want something better smoke a "B. B."

J. P. Gonigam, of the Gonigam Land Co., is in the city looking over his land holdings and sizing up his crop returns.

Miss Albina Lemieux was very sick Wednesday. She is improving and her many friends hope for an early recovery.

Ildiage Baril returned from St. Paul the first of the week where he took a car lood of cattle. He reports prices quite low.

John E. King returned to the Capitol Saturday after a couple of weeks spent looking after his business interests here.

Miss Iza Tibbits resumed her duties this week as teacher of the Roi school in Louisville Twp after a couple of weeks vacation.

Some of the members of the famlies of E. A. Moran and Nic Helm are suffering from r mild attack of scarlet fever and are in quarantine.

Wm. Zaiser was called to Grand Forks yesterday having received a message that his daughter Bertha was in a very critical condition.

The Misses Orilla Hennemuth and Iza Tibbets drove in from their schools to attend the Halloween party at the Presbyterian church.

For Sale, or will Trade for cattle, one team of three year old colts. Call on undersigned, three miles east of city. Geo. Walker. 4-6

The Northern Pacific announces an excursion rate of one fare plus fifty cents to the Minnesota-Wisconsin foot ball game. Tickets on sale Friday Nov. 3d good for return Monday Nov. 6th.

A Good Stove Cheap

is what you can truthfully say about a WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER..

All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL, and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft that you have heard so much about. A Wilson, if taken good care of, will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary-sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights

from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burners

Would be pleased to show you our line.

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

Brunelle Bros. are working nights to keep up with their cigar orders. Speaks well for the boys. Give them a lift.

Miss Lizzie Ford, who is attending the University at Grand Forks, was an over Sunday visitor at the home of her uncle James E. Ford.

Jack Lagassy is in the city after six months spent in the Dakotas. The many friends of Jack are glad to see him again and to hear that he has done well.

Sunday evening at the Presbyterian Church there will be a special service in commemoration of the "Protestant Reformation" and its benefits to the world.

Fred Richards is in town and says that he had to have a few days off from his ardous duties as "Schoolmaam" in order to take in the foot ball game at Mpls. next Saturday.

The Great Northern has made a specisl rate of $9.05 round trip to the Minnesota, Wisconsin foot ball game, on rate the 3rd good until the 6th.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

Thomas Welsh was a pleasant caller at our office today. Tom is more than pleased with crop returns, just as a sample his macaroni wheat went 27 bushels per acre.

A little girl arrived at the home of Frank Jeffers last Thursday and was so well pleased with the reception that she has concluded to stay there indefinitely. Mother and child doing well.

The Universal Favorite Bob and Eva McGinleys comedy company at opera house Nov. 3. songs and dances and their famous comedy the N. Y. news boy. You can't afford to miss this one.

Mrs. Wm. Zaiser returned Monday from Grand Forks where she has been for a short time with her daughtor, Mrs. Louis Adams. She reports Bertha as still in a dangerous condition.

A ten cent lunch will be served from four to six o'clock and a twenty five cent supper will be served from six to eight o'clock on Wednesday, Nov. 8th, in the parlors of ibe Presbyterian Church.

Walter Garceau conducted a little experiment with a match and a quantity of powder this week resulting in a badly burned face. Boys should be careful in matters of this kind and a look at Walter will convience them of this fact.

Theo. Garceau, cashier of Eirst State Bank, while in the Cities purchased the bank stock of James I. Wyer and G. A. Archer, thus gaining a controlling interest in the bank There will be no change in the officials or management of the bank at this time.

Bob and Eva McGinleys comedy Co. will show November 3 at the opera house this season they have Miss Lezette Hoskins, the Chicago Vanderville in new songs dances and illustrated songs, and Mr. Claude Woods from Indiana in his own orginal comedies, plays etc will be heard.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for real estate loans.

Jacob Thill, one of Wylie's oldest residents let yesterday for his new home at Berthold, N. D. at which place he will buy grain. Mr. Thill has a host of friends throughout the county who deeply regret his removal from Wylie.

Mrs. Thill will will remain in Wylie for some months yet.

The High School foot ball team accompanied by 30 or more local enthusiasts left on the G. N. for Crookston to night. Tomorrow our boys will play the Crookston high school team. This will be the heavy game of the season and the results are anxiously awaited.

A number of the boys will go from Crookston to Minneapolis and take in the Minnesota—Wisconsin.

Eli Blair employed at the St. Hilaire Mill as edger met with a fatal accident last Saturday. In some manner the board he was running through flew back and struck him, death resulting a few hours afterwards. He will be remembered by Red Lake Falls people as he was employed in a aimilar capacity at the mill here a few years ago. A wife and five small children are left to mourn his early demise.

Many children inherit constitutions weak and feeble; others due to childhood troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children and make them strong. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert.

Wanted—a girl for general housework in a small family. Scandinavian preferred. Apply to COURIER office.

The following births are reported this week; A boy at the home of Joe. C. Renoit; A boy at the home of Joseph Belair: A boy at the home of Hubert Cardinal, and a boy at the home of W. A. Reichel.

Alfred Blondin and wife, former residents of this city, returned on Monday from St. Hiliare where he has been employed. They will spend a short time visiting relatives and friends and will make their future home at Grand Rapids.

On Thursday evening Nov. 9th, Mr. R. F. Sulzer of Minneapolis, State Sunday School Missionary, and Mr. D. K. Laurie of Crookston will hold a meeting at the Presbyterian Church in the interest of Sunday School work. All are invited, old and young.

Mr. L. A. Kaufer's harness emporium is now located in the H. H. Zaiser building, formerly occupied by Shorty Brunelle. Mr. Kaufer will be pleased to meet his many patrons at the new stand and assures them the same fair treatment that has marked their past dealings.

Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago, the great temperance oralor, will give an address at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. Mr. Stewart is a lecturer of national reputation and regularly commands $50.00 a night for his lectuaes. Do not fail to improve this opportuniry to hear one of the finest orators awno has ever visited Red Lake Falls.

Auditor Ford reports the following totals resulting from the State Land Sales last week. Total number of acres sold 5307.06, bringing $41840.75, making the average price close to $8.00 per acre. Nearly one half the land offered was sold and the State is $7231.79 richer as a result of the sale. The bigest price paid was $31.00 per acre and none sold at less then $6.00.

The "Halloween Social" given by the Christian Endeavor Society at the parlors of the Presbyterian Churce on Tuesday evening was largely attended. The rooms were tastefully decorated and the evening was spent in Halloween frolics. About $17.00 was realized, which will be used in payment on the Vocalion, which is now nearly paid for.

Harry Ives the genial editor from the Saintly city to our north went through the city Tuesday afternoon in his automobile on his way home. He had engineered the machine from Crooskton covering the distance in less than two hours. Harry must be taking some nerve tonic to get so far away from home, the last time we saw him he was out of St. Hilaire a little ways pushing the "auto" home.

K. O. Gigstad and A. M. Edstrom of St. Hilaire sbent Friday night at the county seat on business matters.

The first indoor band concert of the season last Friday night was well attended and those present all report the concert as in every way up to the standard set for last season and in fact better than ever. If you have not made it a practice to attend the concerts heretofore it would be well to commence now. Get the habit.

Fred, the 22 year old son of Louis Perrault of Terrebonne Twp., met with a fatal accident Monday. He was threshing and in taking the blocks from under the engine preparatory to moving he slipped and in some manner fell under the wheels of the engine, death resulting instantly. Fred was well and favorably known in this end of the county being a young man of good habits and every acquaintance became a friend. Interment was had at St. Anthony's Cemetery at Terrebonne, Wednesday. The sympathy of the community goes forth to the parents and relatives of the deceased.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, LUCAS COUNTY } ss

Frank J. Coeney makes oath that he is senior partne, os the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., boing business ie the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hrll's Cararrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENER.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886. A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal.) Notary Public.

Hall,s Catarrn Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Courier $1. one year.

A $5 Suit of XTRAGOOD Free to the best detective

The man who sells XTRAGOOD boys' clothes for Ederheimer, Stein & Co., Chicago, is coming to see us within ten days. We will give FREE any XTRAGOOD suit in our store to the first clever boy under 16 years of age who finds THIS man before he leaves town.

WHAT YOU MUST DO

When you think you haue found the right man, say to him: "You are from Ederheimer, Stein & Co., Chicago, and sell XTRAGOOD Clothes." Remember these words. If you say anything else he will not answer.

THE BIG STORE,
Theo. LaBissoniere, Prop.

Rates For Foot Ball Game.

On account of the Foot Ball game between North Dakota Agricultural College and the University of North Dakota on November 18th at Fargo, the Great Northern Railway will make a rate of one and one third fare for the round trip. Date of sale November 17th and for trains arriving in Fargo before noon of the 18th, final return limit November 20th. Ask your local agent for full particulars.

George Dupont of Dupont & Sons Terrebonne, was in the city Tuesday and reports that their store at Terrebonne was broken into late Monday evening and the safe blown open. The robbers secured about $175.00, mostly Uncle Sams money and made good their escape and at the time of going to press had not been apprehended. This is the second robbery of the kind in the county in the past few months. County Attorney Germo and Sheriff Linnihan threw out the drag net as soon as notified and a couple of suspicious characters were rounded up but as their movements were satisfactorily explained to Judge Lewis they were discharged.

Milk in Tea.

The use of plenty of milk with tea is a wise precaution and must be regarded as a sound physiological proceeding, since the proteids of milk destroy astringency and probably prevent the otherwise injurious action of tannin on the mucous membrane of the stomach. In the intestinal juice the proteids are separated and the tannin propably combines with the sodium salts. The immoderate drinking of tea is an unquestionaple evil, but the repular use of golden grain belt beer will improve your health. Order a case and serve it regularly with your meals. Order a case of your nearest dealer, Alex. Thompson, Crookston.

At the city election to be held next Tuesday the following are candidates for the respective offices. Mayor John A. Duffy is up for re-election with no opposition. Mayor Duffy has given the city a clean business-like administration and that it is appreciated is manifest. For the offices of alderman-at-large W. P O'Brien and Henry Hennemuth, two to be elected. Mr. Hennemuth is a member of the council and Mr. O'Brien seeks the chair vacated by Mr. Hatton. Aldetman, 1st Ward, James Brady; 2nd Ward for re-election Fred Borchers. In the 3rd Ward Simon Paul and Joseph Belair seek to represent their ward, may the best man win. For Justice of the Peace there are three aspiracts, two to be elected. S. L. Lewis is a candidate for re-election having served two years. S. A. Swanson a former Justice is a candidate and Adam Zeh, former County Auditor, is the other seeker. With the above named citizens anxious to serve the interests of the city the people may rest assured that the coming administration will be honest and all transactions conducted in a business-like manner.

Found—mouthpiece for a horn. Owner can have same by calling at COURIER office.

BADGER.

Miss Alma Quesnell returned home Friday after a weeks visit with Red Lake Falls friends.

Mr. Desire and Mrs. O. Robillard drove to Gentilly Sunday to visit friends and relatives.

Maggie the eleven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Luxumberg is seriously ill with inflamation of the bowels, her many playmates hope for a soon recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Quesnell of Mentor dined at the home of A. Laurent Sunday.

Mr. Armand Clement of lower Canada is visiting with friends here this week..

Mr. John Demerais of Gentilly drove to his brother Philip of this place Monday returning home Tuesdoy.

Miss Alice Quesnell who has been staying at Mr. L. C. Cadieux's of Terrebonne for the past several months return home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lacourcier of Lambert spent a few days of last week at the home of Mr. Lacourcier's parents, Favored by Both Parties.

Republicans and Democrats alike praise Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs bolds and all throat and lung diseases, as no other remedy can compare with it. It is safe and sure, F. T. Slater, merchant, 171 Main St., Gloucester, Mass., writes., "Foley's Honey and Tar cured me of a very bad cough which I had for three months though other remedies failed to benefit me. I can highly recommend it for coughs and colds." Sold at A. L. Reichert.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidey Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91 years old." Sold at A. L. Reichert.

Son Lost Mother.

"Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my Mother," writes E. B. Reid, of Harmony, Me. "For the past five years, however, on the slightest sign of a Cougd or Cold, I have taken Dr King's New Discovery for Consumplion, which has saved me from serious lung trouble." His mother's death was a sad loss for Hr. Reid, but he learned that lung trouble must not be neglected, and how to cure it. Quickest relief and cure or coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed at All Druggists. Trial bottle free.

TIME GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West		Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar. 7:35 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:00 A. M.	Crookston	6:45 P. M.
8:50 A. M.	Dugdale	6:00 P. M.
9:25 A. M.	Red Lake Falls	5:25 P. M.
9:55 A. M.	St. Hilaire	4:55 P. M.
10:20 A. M.	Thief River	4:30 P. M.
10:40 A. M.	Steiner	4:05 P. M.
11:03 A. M.	Sandridge	3:52 P. M.
11:30 A. M.	Middle River	3:32 P. M.
11:55 P. M.	Strathcoma	3:57 P. M.
12:25 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv. 2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

You Are Welcome At The

MERCHANTS STATE BANK

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Even if you have to use most of your money from week to week and month to month, pay it through this bank.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.00

We will loan you money on personal security. We will make farm loans at LOWEST RATES. We will take your money on deposit and pay you 5 per cent per annum. In our savings department we pay 5 per cent on deposits of $1.00 and up. Interest computed May and November each year.

A. E. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
F. F. POUDIOT, Ass. Cashier

THE COURIER

JOHN E. KING, Pub.

Red Lake Falls, Minn

Japan owes a billion and a quarter of dollars. She is getting civilized fast.

The man who forced his wife to get up and play the piano at 2 a. m. should marry a pianola next time.

Becoming engaged to the king of Spain seems to be a favorite occupation among European princesses just now.

However, the angels must be women, for is it not written that "man was created a little lower than the angels?"

A New York man has offered $50,000 for the secret of Behring's consumption cure. If it's a cure the offer is small.

"Kid" McCoy says he quit prize fighting because it ceased to pay. Mr. McCoy, it will be seen, is not an artist for art's sake.

Grand Duke Cyril of Russia is the latest to take a second-hand bride. He married the divorced grand duchess Victoria of Hesse.

Moscow's rioters may not have heard that they have acquired the blessings of free government and are thoroughly contented.

A New Jersey woman testifies that her husband has not been once sober since 1905. She ought to be exhibiting, not divorcing him.

Their fig leaves are to be removed from the statues in the Detroit Museum of Art. This seems cruel, with cold weather coming on.

Goldwin Smith thinks married men should have two votes each. But it isn't likely that this kind of female suffrage will ever be accepted.

That Brooklyn financier who wants to fight a duel with Castro need not be surprised if he is haughtily told to go and get a reputation first.

Seattle says it does not want the Christian Endeavor convention. It is just as well. Christian endeavor would have a tough time in Seattle.

In the prevailing excitement it has been generally overlooked that the Washington baseball club this year lost the distinction of holding lowest place.

Chinamen may know how to make superior bombs, but they would never make successful anarchists, as they cannot grow the whiskers that go with the trade.

Considering the superior and satisfied look which science habitually wears, one must think it ought to come forward with a real cure for consumption.

To sue for loss of one's wife's services does not necessarily mean that had the services been available one would have forced one's wife to earn the amount named.

The Japanese are a thrifty people. If it becomes necessary for them to find something cheaper than rice to live on while they are paying their war debt they will find it.

In the recent balloting for the admission of candidates to the New York Hall of Fame two of the three men admitted were poets. They were, of course, dead when the votes were cast.

The Baltimore man who says $15,000 a year is the ideal income probably enjoys an income of $2 a day. Why, $15,000 a year is no more than enough to pay your wife's dressmaking bills.

There never was a man who had as good a time as his wife thinks he does when she is away for the summer. (Later: There never was a man who would acknowledge that he had as good a time, etc.).

American traveling men who have become so proficient that they can converse freely with the natives of New Jersey are not going to be scared by the announcement that they may have to learn Chinese.

What a pity that the seventy tons of dynamite which have blocked the Suez canal could not have been employed in cracking the rocks of Panama. It's another instance of the total depravity of inanimate things.

Miss Amanda Clement of Hudson, S. D., has just completed her first season as a professional baseball umpire, and will apply for a position in the western league next year. Come, Mere Man, this is getting serious.

Homeopathists in New York are advocating the passage of a law making it necessary for people to obtain certificates of health before they can get married. Don't laugh. Sillier laws than that have been passed in New York.

The bible says nothing about female angels. You remember that there is no marrying or giving in marriage in heaven, and there is also a text which asserts that "there was silence in heaven for the space of half an hour."—Chicago Journal.

The News of the Week

Washington.

Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador, denies the report that he is to succeed Count Lamsdorff as minister of foreign affairs at St. Petersburg.

A. F. Dueber, chief clerk of the St. Cloud land office for several years, has been summarily removed by order of Secretary Hitchcock. It was found that Dueber had been selling and speculating in scrip, and that his transactions were quite extensive.

Lieut. Commander Albert A. Key, U. S. N., who has been assigned to duty at the White House, is the second southern man to be appointed on the president's staff. The other is Capt. Fitzhugh Lee, Jr., the oldest son of the late Gen. Fitzhugh Lee. The lieutenant commander is a native of Tennessee.

The board of visitors to the military academy, in their report to the secretary of war, recommend that greater limitations be placed upon admission to the academy and suggest that the minimum height of the cadet necessary for admission to the academy be increased. The report says that the management of the academy, both in dicipline and efficiency, is all that could be desired.

The interior department has granted substantially all that Senator Clapp contends for in relation to the White Earth timber sale. In other words, the Indian office admits that the advertisement of sale says one thing and that the department means another. The rules and regulations will be changed, but it is a mighty safe wager that there will be no sale as originally contemplated, and that there will be no logging operations on reservations this coming winter.

Casualty.

John C. Dondero, aged 27, died at Willimantic, Conn., as the result of an injury received in a football game in Jewett City.

Two children of Fred Piel of Bladen, Neb., sixteen and four years old, were burned to death and their mother was so badly burned that she cannot recover, in a fire which destroyed their home.

Carrying a lighted lamp down stairs, Miss Flora Richards, principal of Ironwood school at Marquette, Mich., slipped and fell. Her night dress was set on fire and she was so badly burned that death is expected.

While returning to Beverly to Marietta, Ohio, in a motorboat, M. L. Williamson, dentist; Probate Judge Nixon and Will Selby, son of a wealthy oil producer, went over a dam at Lowell, on the Muskingum river, and Williamson was drowned.

Fire originated simultaneously in three places in the central part of Ridgeway, Pa., destroying the buildings in which it started. The opera house, the finest in this section, was burned, the loss on the building amounting to $60,000.

A tornado near Jennings, Payne county, Okla., killed two small children of Irvin Anderson, living on House creek, badly injured Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, and demolished the house of Edward Root, breaking his daughter's ankle. The storm followed the Cimmarron river, and in Yale destroyed many homes. The residents escaped injury by fleeing to caves.

Two Polish trackmen were killed and six fatally injured on the Boyne City, Gaylord & Alpena railroad, five miles northwest of Elmira, Mich, when a locomotive rolled down an embankment where the men were at work. Work was in progress for a crossing over a creek and a temporary bridge gave way under the weight of the locomotive. The engine crew escaped by jumping.

George Stadler was shot and killed by Frank L. Busche, his brother-in-law, at the Busche home at Plattsmouth, Neb. Stadler was trying to force an entrance to the house where his wife and children had taken refuge after he had threatened to kill them. He threatened to kill Busche unless admitted, and had broken down a door when the shot was fired. A coroner's jury acquitted Busche.

Foreign.

The Chinese imperial granaries burned just previous to the distribution of rice. The immense loss is apparently due to incendiarism.

The question of the friar lands purchase was practically settled at Manila when the commission paid the Dominican order $3,225,000, which is the last payment.

An incendiary fire which occurred at the arsenal at Cherbourg, where three submarine boats are being built, did extensive damage to the boats and other property.

The Belgian genre painter, Florent Willems, died at Neuilly, France. He was born at Liege in 1823. Some of his best known pictures are owned in the United States.

The correspondent at Tokio of the London Daily Express says it is understood that King Edward will send to Japan early in the new year a mission headed by Prince Arthur of Connaught to confer the Order of the Garter on the emperor of Japan.

King Victor Emmanuel recently received $10,000 anonymously for the benefit of the sufferers by the recent earthquake in the province of Calabria. Baron Kotchen, the Russian Consul at Messina, now states that the contribution was made by Emperor Nicholas.

Crimes and Criminals.

Justice of the Peace Daniel Q. Kelleher of Beechwood borough, a Pittsburg suburb, was found lying unconscious beneath a bridge near his home and died later. His watch, money and papers were missing.

Three thieves, two men and a woman, believed to be members of the gang that has been operating extensively in the West, entered the Gem Manufacturing company's store at Louisville and escaped with $1,300 worth of goods.

Mary Mabel Rogers, under sentence of death in Vermont for killing her husband, was granted leave to proceed on appeal before the supreme court of the United States, as a pauper, without payment of costs. The record in the case will be printed at public expense.

Crazed with grief over the death of his son, who committed suicide with illuminating gas, Herman Schulz, of New York, shot himself through the head while the funeral service was being read over the body of his son, and fell prostrate across the coffin dead.

Mrs. Zeta Eckles shot Constable Peter Martin through the head at her home at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The woman shot once into the ceiling as a warning, and then turned her weapon against the officer. The officer was attempting to serve a writ of execution and remove some furniture from the house.

Judge G. W. Burnham of Dubuque has imposed the shortest term in the Iowa state penitentiary ever given. Edward Frondel and John Lang, found guilty of obstructing the right of way of the Rock Island railway at Vinton, have been sentenced to one day each in Anamoosa prison. The sentence is the minimum fixed by law.

Burglars got away with $1,500 worth of goods after blowing the safe of J. C. Vicker's jewelry store at Hull, Iowa. An attempt had previously been made to rob the Iowa State bank, but the vault could not be penetrated. Several guests at the Lincoln hotel saw the burglars, but did not give the alarm for two hours. There is no further clue.

Seven robbers dynamited the safe in the Ridgeville State bank at Ridgeville, Ind., and escaped with about $6,000. The explosion aroused Cashier Branson, who hurried to the bank, and received a bullet in the ankle. Before going to the bank the robbers met the town watchman, overpowered, bound and gagged him. There is no clue.

Theodore Yauren arrived at Winnipeg from St. Anthony mine at Sturgeon Lake in New Ontario, reports the brutal murder of a miner, Jack Mackay. His body was found at the door of a place kept by a woman named Morrow, about a mile from the mine. It is supposed that Mackay had a row with the woman and her male companion. His head was pounded to a jelly and the club with which the murder had been committed was found by his dead body. Yauren related the details to the officers and was taken to Fort William, where a case will be prepared.

General.

Justice Stover of the New York supreme court has appointed Arthur D. Truax receiver for the Haight & Freeze Co.

Mrs. Elizabeth Widener, aged 24, died at Easton, Pa., as the result of excessive smoking of cigarettes. Eight years ago it was stated that her former husband, Frank Fisher, sold her for 50 cents to Samuel Widener.

Feeling the time is long overdue for the proper recognition of the grave of Betsy Ross, members of the Sons of Veterans have taken action which will probably result in the erection of a monument over the "Mother of the Star-Spangled Banner."

University of Chicago students were advised to be "mixers" by Dean Frank J. Miller, who addressed the students of the lower senior college. He said that if a young man failed in the quality of making acquaintances and impressing himself on men, his success in life would be impaired.

One of New York city's most conspicuous ventures in municipal ownership took form last week when the new ferry line between the Battery and Staten Island was put in operation. It is owned and operated by the city and its five splendid ferry boats are the largest in New York harbor, aggregating in value nearly $2,000,000.

Strenuous opponents of race suicide are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heise of Owosso, Mich., whose twentieth child has just arrived. All the score of youngsters, from Fred Jr., who is 21 and the oldest, down to the last little girl, who has just opened her eyes on the world, are healthy and happy. Heise has the contract for coaling the Grand Trunk engines here, and is a respected German citizen.

Announcement is made by the police department of Philadelphia that a recanvass of 22 of the 42 wards showed 15,861 names were illegally on the latest voting lists of these wards. The director of public safety said that his department would make every effort to prevent the voting of the alleged fraudulent names, and that the whole power of the police would be directed toward securing an honest election.

President Stuyvesant Fish of the Illinois Central road announces that the Illinois Central and the Southern railroad have jointly secured control of the Tennessee Central railroad.

PRESIDENT'S LIFE IN DANGER

LIGHTHOUSE TENDER IS STRUCK BY A FREIGHTER LATE AT NIGHT.

ROOSEVELT IS A REAL HERO

CLAD IN PAJAMAS HE ASSUMES COMMAND OF THE SINKING VESSEL.

GREAT PRESENCE OF MIND

SAVES LIVES OF HIMSELF AND OTHERS ON BOARD BY PROMPT ACTION.

New Orleans, Oct. 29.—In an effort to avoid running aground at a sharp turn in the Mississippi river, sixty miles below here, the British fruiter Esparta of the United Fruit company's fleet, collided with the lighthouse tender Magnolia, which was conveying President Roosevelt, Secretary Loeb and Dr. Rixey to the cruiser West Virginia, lying at anchor awaiting the president's arrival three miles off the mouth of the river.

The accident occurred at 11 o'clock Thursday night in a bright moonlight, and almost cost the president his life. He only escaped after he had taken command of the Magnolia while clad in his pajamas, with a biting wind almost chilling him to the bone.

Mr. Roosevelt and the members of his party were finally transferred to the Ivy, a sister ship of the Magnolia, at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and boarded the West Virginia on schedule time.

President Is the Hero.

That the president or some one else was not drowned is miraculous, and due to the remarkable presence of mind of Mr. Roosevelt. The strenuous day he spent in New Orleans the day preceding the accident fatigued him so much that he retired two hours after leaving this city for the trip to the gulf. He was sound asleep in a state room located well forward. The Esparta's prow smashed through the Magnolia's bow within a foot or two of where the president was sleeping. The force of the collision was so great that he was almost thrown out of bed.

Mr. Roosevelt hastily drew on his trousers, and further clad in a pajama shirt and slippers, he sallied forth on deck, the coolest man aboard either the Magnolia or Esparta. He gave orders to run the Magnolia on the bank to beach her and prevent her from sinking in probably 200 feet of water. After the ship was put in a safe position he assured himself that there was no further danger, and with his customary disregard for his personal safety he deliberately went back to bed after remarking that it was a strenuous birthday for him, as he was forty-seven years old yesterday.

Sends for another Vessel.

The first news of the accident was received here yesterday morning about daylight in a long distance telephone message from Capt. Rose of the Esparta, who asked that tugs be immediately sent to the assistance of the Magnolia. Two tugs left under forced draught, but before their arrival the president had been transferred to the Ivy.

The transfer was made in a lifeboat, which was brought up alongside the Magnolia and rowed to the Ivy, which had been intercepted and ordered back for the purpose from Pilot Town by a telephone message. A boat was sent ashore immediately after the accident to communicate with the Ivy, as the president did not want to defer his trip longer than necessary.

Spoken Off Pensacola.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 29.—The cruiser West Virginia, with President Roosevelt on board, was spoken yesterday by wireless telegraphy, the ship at the time being about 300 miles off. The message was received at the Pensacola navy yard and stated that the West Virginia would reach Key West Saturday night.

REPUBLICANS PICK JEROME.

He Is Unanimously Nominated at Reconvened Convention.

New York, Oct. 29.—William Travers Jerome has been unanimously nominated for district attorney by the Republican county convention. Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to England, last night offered his services to speak in behalf of Mr. Jerome for district attorney during the rest of the campaign. A meeting will be held at Carnegie hall next Wednesday night at which Mr. Choate will be the principal speaker.

LAWSON SUES STEVENS.

He of Frenzied Finance Fame Wants $20,000 From Mining Writer.

Hancock, Mich., Oct. 29.—Alleging that his character has been damaged to the extent of $20,000, Thomas W. Lawson of frenzied finance fame, has brought suit for that amount against Horace J. Stevens, a well known copper mine specialist of Houghton. He charges libel. Mr. Stevens is an extensive writer on copper mining topics, and it is presumed he hit the Bostonian hard in some of his articles.

17 ORPHANS POISONED.

Children Taste Fatal Drug While Attendants Are Away.

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 29.—It became known yesterday that seventeen girls whose ages range from two to six years, at the St. Joseph's orphan asylum in this city, were taken suddenly ill Thursday night and three of them died within three hours. At an autopsy held yesterday under the auspices of the state board of health it was determined that the death of the three girls was due to poisoning, but that the cause had not appeared. The girls who were taken ill all remained at the asylum Thursday evening, while the remainder of the 250 inmates were taken to an entertainment. It is supposed that in the absence of some of the nurses the children obtained something of a poisonous nature, which they all tasted.

DYNAMITERS GET ONLY $20.

Terrorize Village and Wreck Two Safes but Miss $4,000.

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 29.—Bold robbers who are working down Michigan's west shore terrorized the village of Mears, Oceana county, yesterday morning, breaking into the Pere Marquette depot and dynamiting the safe, then scurrying across the street to where the village postoffice stood. Both the postoffice and depot were sacked before any one could sound the alarm. The depot is also the office of the American Express company, and by rare fortune $4,000 of Chicago commission money had been taken away the previous night. The thieves, who had been given a tip regarding the big sum, secured about $20 from both scenes of wreckage.

FIVE WOMEN BADLY BURNED.

Explosion Sets Fire to Woman's Clothing.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 29.—Five women were badly burned, two of them probably fatally, in a fire which destroyed the hardware factory of M. Gould & So., last night. The fire started just as the factory was about to close, when one of the girls upset a candle in a pot of lasquer, causing an explosion which set fire to her clothing and that of her four companions. The girls rushed screaming down the stairs but were caught on the floor below by workmen who beat out the flames and carried them out of the building. The flames caused a property loss of about $60,000.

WILL TAKE THRONE NOV. 12.

Prince Charles Is Ready to Go to Norway.

Paris, Oct. 29—Information reaching the highest quarters here shows that definite arrangements have been made whereby Prince Charles of Denmark will accept the throne of Norway, following a plebescite on Nov. 12. Prince Charles will leave Denmark to assume the royal functions immediately after the official notification of his election is conveyed to him.

LAWYER MUST DIE.

New York Court Declines to Reopen the Patrick Case.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The court of appeals yesterday denied the motion for a rearrangement of the appeal of Albert T. Patrick from conviction of murder in the first degree and sentence of death for the killing in 1900 of W. M. Rice, an aged millionaire of New York city. The motion was made Oct. 2 by former United States Senator David B. Hill.

"Bill" Club Will Meet.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., Oct. 29—The "Bill" club held its annual meeting last night. The date of the "Bill" banquet was set for Dec. 14. The meeting was enthusiastic and it bids fair for a large attendance. "Bill" Warner, "Bill" Stone and "Bill" Wallace are expected to make speeches. The initiation fee was fixed at a dollar bill. Excelsior Springs is the home of the only "Bill" club in the world.

Taft Saves $9,717,922.52.

Washington, Oct. 29. — Secretary Taft has transmitted to the treasury department his estimates of the appropriations required for the war department for the fiscal year 1907. These estimates aggregate $104,988,267.75, being $9,717,922.52 less than the total appropriations made by congress for the use of the war department for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1906.

Shoots Wife and Baby.

Chicago, Oct. 29. — Daniel Francis, colored, last night shot and fatally wounded his wife, wounded her baby, which she held in her arms, and fatally shot Dora Scroggs, a young woman who was with Mrs. Francis at the time. Francis and his wife separated some time ago, and her refusal to return to him caused the shooting.

Murderer Is Hanged.

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 29. — Edward Lamb, who shot and killed Christopher D. Kennedy, also white, in Manitee county two years ago, was hanged yesterday at the county jail.

Crisis In Spain.

Madrid, Oct. 29. — According to a semi-official note a meeting of the cabinet last night resulted in the ministers unanimously offering to resign. The premier will confer with King Alfonso relative to the situation.

Seven Persons Injured.

Golden, Colo., Oct. 29. — A runaway switch engine crashed into the rear of a west-bound passenger train on the Colorado & Southern railroad in the yards here yesterday, injuring seven persons.

WORK FOR RATE LEGISLATION

TWO REGULARLY ORGANIZED BODIES SEEK TO ATTAIN SAME OBJECT.

THEIR VIEWS ARE DIFFERENT

REGULAR CONVENTION INDORSES ROOSEVELT'S PLAN FOR RATE CONTROL.

WILL EMPLOY STRONG LOBBY

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN WILL BE WAGED TO SECURE LEGISLATION.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Both conventions of the interstate commerce law league were adjourned sine die yesterday without making any efforts at reconciliation, and as a consequence there will be two regularly organized bodies working in the interests of railroad rate legislation. The title of the new association after much discussion was selected as "The Federal Rate Association." N. W. McLeod, the temporary chairman of the "anti" convention was elected president of the organization, and an executive board of vice presidents from the different states represented was elected by different state delegations and ratified by the convention as a whole. The purpose of the new organization as outlined by President McLeod and G. X. Wendling of San Francisco, are to be the same as that of the regular body, except that the views of the regular body are not to be followed as set forth in their resolutions.

Indorse Roosevelt Plan.

The regular convention before adjourning adopted resolutions indorsing President Roosevelt's plan for federal government rate regulation by enlarging the powers of the interstate commerce commission. It was also decided to send a copy of the platform as adopted direct to the White House by a committe of five.

In addition to such action the convention, on motion of Former Lieut. Gov. T. F. Campbell of Ohio, determined to send President Roosevelt a telegram saying the convention, representing forty-four states and territories and a large number of business, commercial, producing manufacturing concerns, had adopted resolutions indorsing the president's position on the rate question as Laid Down In His Message.

At the close of the regular convention the executive committee met and organized for the ensuing year by electing these officers: Chairman, E. P. Bacon, Wisconsin; vice chairman, J. E. Howard, Kansas; secretary, Adolph Mueller, Illinois; treasurer, R. S. Lyon, Illinois.

It was decided by the executive committee to organize in every state and enter upon a vigorous campaign for the success of the Roosevelt rate legislation plan.

According to present plans, a strong lobby will be sent to Washington at the next session of congress, and business and commercial bodies in each state will be asked to petition the United States senators of their respective states to vote for the Roosevelt measure. In addition to this the proceedings of the convention will be published and distributed along with other literature in the interest of the movement.

Keep Railroads In Check.

After several amendments to the report submitted by the resolutions committee of the "antis" had been considered, the report as presented was adopted by a unanimous vote. The resolutions as adopted declared "the railroads shall be kept within their defined rights" and that "such legislation be taken as will remedy existing evils."

In addresses of its members this convention protested that its delegates had not come to Chicago in the interests of the railroads.

WIDOW SUES LYNCHERS.

Kentucky Woman Wants $50,000 Damages From Men Who Made Up Mob.

Cincinnati, Oct. 29.—A sensational suit, the echo of the lynching of William Thacker at Flemingsburg, Ky., in 1903, was filed in the federal court of Covington, yesterday by Mrs. Mary Thacker, the widow. She is suing George Gordon and other citizens of Flemingsburg for $50,000 damages for lynching her husband, who had been indicted for the killing of the son of Gordon. The most sensational charge is made by Thomas Wallingford, that an arrangement existed between the mob and Jailer Morris to get the keys.

PASSENGERS HAVE CLOSE CALL.

Train Is Hurled From a Bridge Into Creek Forty Feet Below.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 29.—Passengers on the Louisville Southern train No. 8 had a narrow escape last night when the train was hurled from a bridge seven miles from here into a creek forty feet below. Twelve persons were injured, but none was killed. The tender, mail and baggage cars, and smoker were splintered and thrown into the creek, and the bridge, which was 150 feet long, entirely destroyed.

In Minnesota

State News of the Week Briefly Told

The I. O. O. F. lodge at Bagley is planning for the erection of a hall in the near future.

: : : :

Johannes Clausen of the town of Winsor was committed to the insane hospital at Fergus Falls.

: : : :

Falbe & Lease, the firm that has been doing the railroad grading east of Eden Valley, has completed its contract.

: : : :

Rev. W. C. Rice, formerly of Faribault, has entered upon his ministry as pastor of the Methodist church at Hastings.

: : : :

Carl Umlauf, who has resided at Fergus Falls for twenty-eight years, died from cancer. He was 60 years old and leaves a family.

: : : :

At a meeting of the Hastings city council the tax levy for the ensuing year was fixed at $20,720. It is regarded as exorbitant, the figure last year being a little over $18,000.

: : : :

A young man was assaulted and robbed of $25.85 by a companion in the railway yards at Hastings. The victim of the robbery said he and his assailant came here from the Twin Cities.

: : : :

Arne J. Higdem of Bagley is preparing for the erection of a two-story frame store building to adjoin the hardware store of Higdem, Heltne & Bugge. It is to be completed this fall

: : : :

The Ennis flour mill at Hastings, owned and operated by the Hastings Electric Light and Milling company, was burned. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is estimated at $19,000; insurance, $6,500.

: : : :

Two new altars were installed and dedicated in the Catholic church at St. Nicholas. Right Rev. J. Trobec of St. Cloud and all the former priests of that parish and many others were present.

: : : :

Willie Russell, 11 years old, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Russell of Stephen, while hunting in company with his 14-year-old brother, Charles, was shot and instantly killed by the accidental discharge of their gun.

: : : :

Rev. S. F. Kerfoot has moved his family from Winona to Mankato and will make that city his headquarters for the next year while engaged as special agent in raising an endowment fund of $50,000 for the superanuated ministers in the Methodist conference.

: : : :

A stranger who gave his name as Henry Yang stopped at the home of Mark Wood at Fergus Falls, after spending the day at Mr. Wood's farm, pretending that he wanted to purchase it. In the night he robbed the house, taking Mr. Wood's pocketbook containing $38 and other articles, and succeeded in making his escape.

: : : :

The annual inspection of A. Devereau corps, W. R. C., at Janesville, was conducted by the department inspector, Mrs. Phoebe Fuller of Redwood Falls. Among the guests were the department president, Mrs. Mary Plymat, and a dozen others from the Mankato corps, also the past department secretary, Mrs. Ida Martin of Minneapolis. The inspection was followed by refreshments and a reception to the "old soldiers."

: : : :

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, one of the big ore roads of the steel corporation, is to build in Duluth what will be the largest ore dock in the world, this winter. It will cost in the neighborhood of $600,000 and will be the fourth dock of the company's ore shipping system here. Teh dock will have 384 pockets and will be 72 feet high. The structure will be ready to go into commission May 1, 1906. A year hence No. 1 dock of the Missabe system will be rebuilt.

: : : :

About three months ago J. W. Potter Son traded the livery stock at Caledonia, valued at $2,500, with one H. Thompson, for a quarter section of land in Clearwater county. Thompson never was on the land, but purchased it on the representation of the land company's listing, and offered to pay Potter's expenses to go and view the property before closing the deal. Potter failed to do so, but gave Thompson a bill of sale on all his horses, harness and rolling stock. Potter then went to see the land and if possible dispose of it. He found it not as represented, there being more water and sloughs on it than farming land. He commenced replevin proceedings to recover his livery stock, claiming for his cause of action, misrepresentation. The matter was adjusted by Potter paying Thompson $1,050 and reconveying to Thompson the land he traded, and receiving back his livery stock.

: : : :

Fergus Falls business men have organized a Commercial club, with a view to advertising the city and county and inducing manufacturers to locate there. Officers were elected as follows: President, J. G. Durrell; vice president, George H. Woodhouse; second vice president, Nate Desky; secretary, Leonard Eriksson; treasurer, A. G. Anderson. An effort is to be made immediately to secure better freight rates.

A farmer named Hedlund of Pine Lake broke and seriously twisted his arm in a threshing machine.

In and About the State

COUNTY TRIES TO BEAT STATE.

Repudiates Debt Contracted in Times of Need.

The refusal of a county in the western part of the state to pay its debt to the state surprised the employes in the state auditor's office a few days ago. The debt amounts to $4,833.25, and is for loans made to the county to help the farmers buy seed wheat The amounts were loaned in different years from ten to fifteen years ago.

The loans were due the state at the end of a year and since their maturity the state auditor has been annually sending notice to the county auditor to make a tax levy to pay the debt. No reply has been received until recently when the auditor received a letter containing the information that the county commissioners had consulted the county attorney who had informed them they do not have to pay the debt. The auditor turned the matter over to the attorney general. If he does not find out on what grounds the county refuses to pay, he will be instructed to take some action toward recovering the money.

The money was paid to the county and to several other counties under acts of the legislature of different years when the farmers had lost their crops through frost, hail, blight and destruction by the Russian thistle The legislature of 1891 appropriated $25,000 to aid the farmers in buying seed; the legislature of 1889 and some subsequent legislatures had also appropriated larger and smaller amounts. The farmers in many localities had lost their entire crop and it was absolutely necessary that something be done to give them a start the following year.

The money was sent to the county auditors upon bonds given by the counties to the state. The county auditor, through the town clerks, was to distribute the money to farmers who made application certifying that they needed the aid. From the crop of that year the farmers were to sell sufficient to repay what they had borrowed from the state. The county auditor was to collect this money and in case of failure to collect he was to make a tax levy upon the property in the county to pay the loan. The bonds were to bear 3 per cent interest before maturity and 6 after.

Most of the counties that secured loans paid them within a short time or at least made no attempt to repudiate the bonds. The county in question owes $341.05 from the appropriation of 1889, $3,772.43 from the appropriation of 1891, $321.27 from the appropriation of 1895, and $398.50 from a special fund for sufferers from Russian thistle. The total is covered by bonds now in the state treasurer's office, and the attempt to repudiate them cannot be accounted for by the state officials.

If the county auditor failed to collect from the farmers receiving the loans, that is no fault of the state. The law plainly directs the county auditor to make a tax levy to pay any deficit

MANY HAVE GLANDERS.

Lyon County Is Afflicted With Both Glanders and Cholera Outbreak.

Lyon county is keeping the state live stock and sanitary commission busy this season. Besides the outbreak of hog cholera, which has had the attention of the department officials for about two months, there has been an outbreak of glanders among the horses of the county. The board has killed eight horses and quarantined several more.

The outbreak of glanders is not confined to Lyon county. Minneapolis has had a number of cases, and horses in the counties near the North Dakota line have been affected. During the last quarter the commission inspected 782 horses and killed 153. The commission is killing all horses that show any symptoms and quarantining all that have been in contact with the sick horses.

NO VIOLATION OF LABOR LAWS

Injuries to Raymond Mills Will Not Be Further Investigated.

State Factory Inspector Julius Moersch has returned from Rock Creek, Pine county, and states that there will be no further inquiry into the injuries of Raymond Mills, the 11-year-old boy who was hurt in a saw mill at that point last week.

Mr. Moersch says the boy was injured in his father's mill and that there was no violation of the labor laws except that the shaft on which he was hurt was not as fully protected as it might have been. In this matter, however, the inspector believes the father has been sufficiently punished. The boy is in a serious condition, but will probably recover.

DIES AT AGE OF NINETY-NINE.

Aged Pioneer of Appleton Just Misses Century Mark.

Appleton, Minn., Oct. 24.—Mrs. Amy Barton died at the residence of her son-in-law, W. V. Lathrop, in this city, aged ninety-nine years. She was the oldest person in Western Minnesota, and had been very active both bodily and mentally until a short time before her death. She was a pioneer, having lived in Minnesota nearly sixty years, and in Appleton for more than thirty years.

NATIVITY OF CITY PEOPLE.

State Census Bureau Statistics for St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Nativity statistics for St. Paul and Minneapolis have been given out by the state census bureau.

The St. Paul statistics show 98,698 born in Minnesota, 41,412 in other states of the Union, and 56,912 foreign born. These are divided among different countries as follows:

Germany, 15,868; Sweden, 11,901; Canada, 5,698; Ireland, 5,097; Norway, 4,155; England, 2,114; Russia, 1,984; Austria, 1,952; Denmark, 1,344; Poland, 1,225; Bohemia, 1,065; Scotland, 872; Hungary, 841; Italy, 671; Switzerland, 523; France, 272; Finland, 74; Wales, 65; Syria, 79; at sea, 31.

The statistics show that in Minneapolis 115,987 persons are natives of Minnesota, and 68,321 were born elsewhere in the United States. There are 77,466 foreign born, or 29 1-3 per cent of the city's population. The foreign born are divided as follows:

Sweden, 25,561; Norway, 14,953, Germany, 9,074; Canada, 7,803; Ireland, 3,248; Russia, 3,007; Austria, 2,779; England, 2,347; Denmark, 1,904; Roumania, 1,191; Scotland, 979; Poland, 891; Finland, 844; Hungary, 602; Bohemia, 388; Italy, 349; Switzerland, 297; France, 239; Wales, 202; Holland, 159; Greece, 110; Syria, 105; Belgium, 55; Turkey, 35; at sea, 43.

The percentages of population in the two cities are:

St. Paul—Minnesota born, 49.9; total native born, 71.2; foreign born, 28.8.

Minneapolis—Minnesota born, 44.3, total native born, 70.7; foreign born, 29.3.

No account is taken in the state census of the "native-born of foreign parents," which must be taken with the foreign born to give an idea of the real strength of the different nationality elements.

STATE A BIG BAKER.

Buys $30,000 Worth of Flour for State Institutions.

Flour contracts aggregating $30,000 have been let by the state board of control. This represents the flour which will be used by the state institutions during the next nine months, and the amount contracted for is based upon the quantities of flour used at former periods.

Contracts were awarded for nine months on account of the probable rise in wheat and flour prices. This will supply the institutions until Aug. 1, 1906.

The largest consumer of flour among the institutions is the Fergus Falls hospital for the insane, which uses 1,800 barrels in the nine months, or 2,400 a year. The total consumption at the institutions for nine months is 7,725 barrels, and the average price paid is not far from $4.

The James A. Quirck Milling company of Minneapolis got the contract to supply 525 barrels to the asylum at Anoka, 525 barrels to the asylum at Hastings, 550 barrels to the training school at Red Wing, 600 barrels to the state reformatory at St. Cloud and 1,400 barrels to the three institutions at Faribault. The John A. Cole Milling company will supply 1,200 barrels to the hospital for the insane at Rochester. The Red River Milling Company of Fergus Falls will supply 1,800 barrels to the insane hospital in that town. Sackett & Fay of St. Peter will furnish 1,050 barrels for the hospital for the insane at St. Peter. The Owatonna Milling company will supply the state public school at Owatonna with 75 barrels. The Minnesota Flour Mills Company of Minneapolis will furnish 1,000 barrels to the state prison at Stillwater.

BUTTER SHOWS BETTER GRADE.

Dairy and Food Department Finishes October Scoring.

The October scoring in the twelve months' educational contest conducted by the state dairy and food department has been finished and H. J. Roseneau of Meriden won first place with a score of 97.50. H. A. Goetsch of Money Creek was second, with a score of 97, and N. E. Anderson of Norseland third, with 96.50.

The quality of the butter this month was better than last month, owing partly to an improvement in the feed given the cows. There were 129 entries, which was somewhat less than usual, as those who scored low in the first months drop out during the latter contests. The butter was scored by J. C. Joslin and Frank Shrewsbury. There are two more contests before the end of the twelve months' trial. The next one will be held in connection with the State Butter and Cheesemakers' convention at Mankato in November.

Bank of Central America.

New York, Oct. 28.—Cable advices from Berlin announce that the Deutsche Uerbesche Bank of Berlin, Speyer, Ellison of Frankfort-on-the-Main, and the Frederische Credit Anstalt of Zurich have founded a bank with a capital of $2,500,000, to be called the Bank of Central America, and which will have its head office in Berlin. The business of the bank will be started in Guatemala with the ultimate intention of opening branch offices in the surrounding Central American countries.

BLOODSHED IS INEVITABLE

RUSSIAN REVOLUTIONISTS AND TERRORISTS BENT ON FORCING CONFLICT.

MUST EMPLOY ARMED FORCE

TROOPS ARE ORDERED TO SHOOT EVERY AGITATOR CARRYING ARMS.

STRIKERS SURE OF SUCCESS

MONSTER MASS MEETINGS HELD WITHOUT POLICE INTERFERENCE.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.—That the present situation cannot end without bloodshed is the conviction prevailing in the higher government circles which from moment to moment are expecting a conflict between the troops and the revolutionists in St. Petersburg and news of trouble in the provinces, especially at Kharkoff, which has been declared in a state of war. The governor of Kieff has been instructed to take all necessary measures to restore order, which the local government and the commander of the troops are unable to maintain.

Must Employ Armed Force.

One of the most prominent members of the emperor's council received the Associated Press yesterday and said with every evidence of deep emotion: "The situation is a grievous and a painful one, and I see no way out of it except by the employment of armed force. Please do not misunderstand me. I look upon the prospect with tears, but it is becoming more and more evident that the troops will be compelled to fire. I can see no other possible outcome. The revolutionists and terrorists are absolutely bent on forcing a conflict upon us, and nothing we can do will satisfy them. The extension of the suffrage and the right of assembly will be nothing to them. They are determined to have bloodshed, and we cannot avoid the issue. It is a frightful disease from which Russia is suffering, and, sad and painful as it is, the government must act with force."

Tell Police to Shut Their Eyes.

Realizing that any attempt to interfere with the moster meeting at the university would inevitable lead to a bloody outbreak, Gen. Trepoff, who announced during the afternoon that he intended to prevent the assembly, instructed the police to close their eyes to the fact, and the meeting which was attended by between 15,000 and 20,000 persons, passed off quietly without a conflict.

Big meetings were also held in the technological and art institutes and in two engineering schools. The students at neither of these meetings took a prominent part in the deliberations, yielding the hospitality of the college buildings without attempting to cloak the meetings with the guise of student assemblies.

Concedes Right of Assembly.

With the hope of avoiding further meetings at the university, Gen. Trepoff later placed halls in three different parts of the city at the disposition of the people for meeting, thereby practically conceding the demands of the agitators of the right of assembly.

The scene inside the university beggars description. In the great open-air court, with no light except a few flickering candles on a hastily constructed tribune, from 4,000 to 5,000 workmen, students and professional men stood wedged together in the cold and wet snowfall, listening to Revolutionary Harangues.

Another great meeting was held in the central hall of the university and scores of smaller meetings of the separate trades and professions were held in the other rooms of the building.

In all the sections a strong minority urged conservatism, but these were carried from their feet by the general enthusiasm and resolutions for a general strike in every branch of social democracy were adopted with a hurrah.

A remarkable feature of all the speeches was the spirit of complete confidence that the success of the movement was at hand, and the manifest intention, as the minister quoted in the first part of this dispatch said, to

Force an Armed Conflict

upon the government. The meetings continued far into the night.

In the city, in spite of the absence of disorders, there is a condition of actual panic. Half of the population is compelled to rely on candles or kerosene lamps for light, while the street lamps in a large part of the city have been extinguished.

Orders Troops to Shoot.

Warsaw, Oct. 29.—The governor general has ordered the troops to shoot every agitator armed.

Act Without Mercy.

Lodz, Oct. 28.—The governor has ordered the officers in the event of disturbances to act without mercy.

Cubans to Be at The Hague.

Havana, Oct. 29.—The Cuban government has accepted the invitation of Emperor Nicholas, conveyed through Baron Rosen, to [illegible] second peace conference [illegible] Hague.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SUICIDE TO AVOID ARREST.

Mad Act of a Chicago Man Charged With Conspiracy and Fraud.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Leaping through a plate glass window, headlong four stories down to the street, to evade arrest on warrants charging conspiracy and fraud, Adolph Perbohner, who conducted a real estate and loan business at 151 Washington street, was dashed to death yesterday on the pavement, dying instantly. Prebohner's spectacular leap to death was witnessed by scores of people passing, and by many occupants of near-by offices. Slamming the door of a private office in the face of the police when they appeared with warrants, Perbohner hurled himself through the window Apparently the man was so overwhelmed mentally by the sudden imminence of arrest that his power of reflection was paralyzed and he had only one idea—escape.

TAFT OFF FOR PANAMA.

Secretary of War Will Look Over Canal Work.

Washington, Oct. 29. — Secretary Taft and his party started on their Panama trip last night, leaving here at 6:30 o'clock by boat for Norfolk. He will transfer to the United States cruiser Columbia at Old Point. Mr. Taft was overwhelmed with work up to the time of his departure. In the forenoon he went over the estimated expenditures of the canal commission since July 1. It is expected the purchase of the necessary plant to build the canal will be completed by January or June of next year.

IS BURIED IN TRENCH.

Eighteen Feet of Sand and Dirt Fall on Laborer.

Madelia, Minn., Oct. 29. — A most horrible accident here yesterday morning when Felix Bastien, a laborer, was buried alive in a sewer trench in St. Paul street at a depth of eighteen feet. A connection was being made with the sewer main at that point for the purpose of extending the sewer into a hotel. Mr. Bastien was doing the excavating. The nature of the soil for several feet is quicksand. He was at the bottom of the trench when a man on the bank called his attention to the fact that it was caving, and he started to climb out, but only succeeded in climbing a few feet. It was an hour and a half or two hours before the body was reached.

DEATH IN GIRL'S CARESS.

Jealous Woman Slashes Lover's Throat With Razor.

Des Moines, Oct. 29. — Placing her arms about the neck of her lover, Harold Stepp, and lovingly caressing him, Myrtle Williams of Albia last night opened a razor, and as she broke away slashed his throat. Jealousy was the cause. She claimed Stepp had been paying too much attention to another woman. She invited him to her home, and engaging him in embraces, attempted to murder him. The woman is under arrest pending developments, and the young man lies in a critical condition, with forty stitches in the wound. Doctors say it is doubtful whether he will recover. The girl feels no remorse for her act.

STONE CRUSHES LEG.

Mass Weighing Several Tons Falls on Man.

Wabasha, Minn., Oct. 29.—A bad accident occurred at the new orphanage here yesterday. Workmen had just placed in position over the main entrance a stone lintel fourteen feet long and weighing several tons. With but a moment's warning it broke in the center and fell to the landing some twenty feet below, carrying the pillars with it and doing great damage to the stone steps and decorative work. Donatus Koch, a stonemason, was pinned beneath a portion of the huge mass. His left leg was crushed to a pulp and it was found necessary to amputate the leg at once.

YOUTHFUL GROOM ARRESTED.

His Mother Makes Charge of Theft to Get Him Away From Aged Bride.

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 29. — Tom Eassa, the seventeen-year-old boy who eloped with a forty-year-old widow, Mary Eassa, his cousin, is under arrest for embezzlement, the charge being preferred by his mother. The arrest was made at Yankton, S. D. The boy is being brought here, while the elderly wife will go to Akron, Iowa, to visit relatives. The boy's mother made the accusation that he stole $200 in order to get him home. She will endeavor to have the marriage annulled.

CHICAGO MAN IS ARRESTED.

W. P. Tuttle, Fleeing From Indictment, Is Taken in North Dakota.

Steele, N. D., Oct. 29.—William P. Tuttle, a prominent board of trade man of Chicago, is under arrest here as a fugitive from justice on an indictment by the grand jury of Cook county for wife abandonment. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Thomas V. Morrison of Cook county.

Bank Robbed.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 29.—Telephone messages from Rockham, Faulk county, state that the bank at that place was robbed last night by cracksmen, [illegible] and succeeded in [illegible]

FATAL WRECK AT FAIRFIELD.

Fast Trains Collide and Four Persons Are Killed.

Fairfield, Iowa, Oct. 28. — Two fast passenger trains on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway collided head-on at a point one mile south of Fairfield early yesterday. Four persons were killed and between fifteen and twenty injured, none fatally. The cause of the accident is now laid to the train dispatcher's office. At the time of the accident the trains were running at the rate of about thirty miles an hour. Both engines, which are of the large Pacific type, were demolished by the impact, which was terrific.

REOPEN OLD IRON MINE.

Cleveland Cliffs Company Buys Property as New Field.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 28.—It was authoritatively made public yesterday for the first time that the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company has purchased a two-thirds interest in the Shores iron properties near Iron Belt, Wis. The consideration is about $50,000. The representatives of the Cleveland Cliffs company have been looking over the property and it is learned that $150,000 has been appropriated to carry on the work on the Iron Belt and Shores properties. The Shores mine has not been worked for four years.

IOWA STATE GETS WEALTH.

George W. Catt Bequeaths Scholarships and Libraries.

New York, Oct. 28.—By will of Geo. W. Catt Iowa State college at Ames is to be endowed with property worth $35,000 after the death of the widow, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. Mrs. Catt is to enjoy the use of the property during her life, after which the revenue from it is to be divided into $100 scholarships for Iowa State college. Mr. Catt's library on economics also goes to the college after Mrs. Catt's death, and his engineering library is bequeathed to the college immediately.

FARMER FOUND DEAD.

Evidently Apoplexy Caused Fall From Wagon.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 28. — August Abraham, a farmer of Riverside township, was found dead in a field between his home and Groton. He had been to Groton, and persons who met him on the way observed that he appeared to be ill. It is believed that he became unconscious and that the horses entered the field, where he fell from the wagon. The horses then ran away and were caught several miles distant. Apoplexy is given as the cause of death.

CALLS IT CONTEMPT.

Judge Makes Decision Against Company and Its Attorneys.

Superior, Wis., Oct. 28. — The Superior Milling company and its attorneys, E. F. McCausland, J. A. Murphy and Charles Crownhart, were held in contempt of court by a decision announced late yesterday afternoon by Judge Smith of the superior court. The judge held that the company was in contempt for operating its mills in Superior in violation of an order issued by the court restraining it from so doing.

ENGINE BACKS; KILLS MAN.

Threshing Engine Runs Away When Belt Breaks.

Ada, Minn., Oct. 28.—A man named Amundson was run over by an engine and instantly killed while working with a threshing crew on a farm near Gary. He was stretching the belt, when it broke, and the engine ran backward, the drive wheels passing over his body. He is survived by a widow and five children.

TWO CHILDREN DROWNED.

They Were Skating on a Pond and Went Through the Ice.

Stephen, Minn., Oct. 28. — Robert Richard, aged 7 years, and Vina Esther, aged 9, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook of Bridgeport, Kittson county, sixteen miles northeast of Stephen, were drowned yesterday afternoon while skating on a pond used for watering stock.

WHITEMAN SENTENCED.

Awarded Eight Years and a Half in Auburn.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 28.—A. J. Whiteman was sentenced yesterday to serve eight years and five months in Auburn prison. He will appeal. Whiteman was convicted of defrauding the Fidelity Trust Company of Buffalo by means of raised and forged checks.

Escaped From Jail.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 28.—A man arrested at Larimore on a charge of bootlegging, made his escape from the city jail by digging a hole through a brick wall at a point where a gas pipe entered.

Threshing Machine Burned.

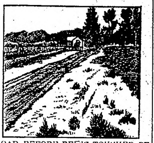
Perham, Minn., Oct. 28.—Johnson & Rasmussen's threshing machine and two wheat stacks were burned last night on the Johnson farm north of town. A man was seen running away just before the fire was discovered.

ROAD AND FARM IMPROVEMENT

GOOD ROADS IN IOWA.

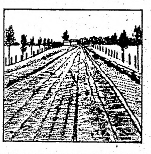
What That State Is Doing to Improve the Highways in Rural Districts.

The Iowa highway commission recently held at the Iowa state college an institute for the training of road officers in building and caring for the highways of the state, and the stimulus given to the interests of good roads will prove of lasting benefit to the state. Prof. W. H. Stevenson, in making report of the institute, says: "In Iowa there are approximately 100,000 miles of public roads for the maintenance of which the enormous sum of $4,456,000 in road taxes is raised each year, in addition to mulct tax moneys and the poll taxes. If this money were used by men trained in the science and practice of road building and skilled in business methods, as are the men intrusted with the affairs of great business concerns, it would be entirely possible to maintain every mile of roadway in the state in good condition and gradually to build hard surfaces along the main traveled roads without increasing the present road tax a single penny. Contrast the highways of Iowa of to-day with those which it is possible to have by earnest, thoughtful attention to this important subject. Without doubt there is a state-wide need for trained road builders and the good-roads school, within a few years, must prove a most potent factor in solving the good-roads problem.



ROAD BEFORE BEING TOUCHED BY GRADER.

"In the road demonstration work, three sections of earth roads were built, two with reversible graders and one with an elevating grader, all operated by experts. In addition, six kinds of road drags were exhibited and five were operated at the school. These included, besides the widely known King drag, the V drag, the Stevenson "ditch cleaner," the Russell road leveler and the Smith steel road drag. These drags were all shown and operated by the inventors, themselves, and it was made plainly apparent that all can do first-class work. So much interest was aroused in these road drags that the commission has decided to thoroughly test each kind on a section of earth road and to report the results in a bulletin.



SAME ROAD IN OPPOSITE DIRECTION SHOWING PROPER WIDTH AND CROWN.

"No feature of the many demonstrations in road construction attracted more attention than the building of a reenforced concrete culvert. At the present time many road experts in Iowa are carefully considering the advisability of displacing expensive and unsatisfactory wooden culverts with durable structures of concrete reenforced with steel. The commission has prepared standard plans and specifications of simple and inexpensive concrete culverts for distribution among Iowa road officers."

BREVITIES.

"No" is the shorter, but it seems easier to say "yes."

Land is a good thing to own, but the man "land poor" is to be pitied.

It is harder to get a crop in an overwet year than an unusually dry one.

Turnips make a good catch crop. Sheep will pasture them well in the fall.

A consolidated rural school means that the country boy and girl will have the same chance their city cousins now enjoy.

Rain barrels should be covered with mosquito netting or a little skum of kerosene to prevent their becoming a breeding place for the pests.

To Cure Clover Hay.

The way to cure clover hay, is to cut the grass in the morning as soon as the dew is off. At noon shake out the bunches, rake into windrows before evening dews get on it, and leave it lie until next day. Next day, shake out the hay as soon as the dew is off. You ought to be ready to haul, on a hot day by 11 o'clock or certainly after dinner. It spoils clover hay to get too dry. It should never be put in the barn when wet with rain or dew; but a little sap won't hurt it.

ON A DIVERSIFIED FARM.

There Is a Greater Demand on the Farmer for Skill and Energy Than on Single Crop Farms.

The man that has to run a diversified farm has his "hands full," if we may use a slang expression that has almost ceased to be slang. The man that has to look after 20 different crops needs a mental development far above that of the man that has to look after one crop only. The man with many crops to look after has to acquire 20 times the information about crops that the man does that has to look after one crop only. On the other hand, he does not have to do so much worrying about the sale of his crop, as the community around any farm will largely absorb the crops of the farm where diversified farming is practiced.

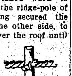
On a diversified farm all the ground is kept in use, and sometimes several crops are grown on the same piece of ground in one summer. One crop may be dove-tailed into another crop, so that a new crop is being started before the old one is off the ground. The mixed farmer generally breaks the old Jewish commandment not to sow mixed seed in the field. He does not find that the growing of two, three or even four crops in the same field the same season damages his fields, provided his land is kept well manured and well supplied with humus.

On a diversified farm, declares the Farmers' Review, labor can be used to better advantage than on a farm devoted to the production of any one crop. On the diversified farm there is a demand for labor from one part of the season to another, and the owner is also enabled to utilize all of his own time. This is a great thing to the man that is running a small farm. In this day it is not possible to make money out of any establishment that is run on half time, even a farm.

A ROPE FIRE-LADDER.

Safety Device Which Every Farmer Should Have Handy in Case of Fire.

There is always danger of fire catching the roof of farmhouse or barn. Quick work will often save much loss. But if one happens to be alone, it is almost impossible to raise long, heavy ladders, especially the one needed to reach any place on the roof. A very convenient ladder to keep on hand is one made of light ropes, as shown in the cuts, suggests the Farm Journal. At one end are two hooks and a connecting cross-bar which any blacksmith can make in a few moments. To the center of the cross-bar is attached a long cord with a bit of weight fastened to its outer end. It is but an instant's work to throw this cord over the ridge-pole of a building, and having secured the weighted end upon the other side, to draw the ladder up over the roof until the hooks cross the ridge. Then pull the ladder back into place with the hooks biting into the wood of the saddle boards, and one can go anywhere upon the roof. This ladder should be long enough to reach the ground from any building. One person alone can raise a wodden ladder to the eaves, and with this rope roof ladder he has command of the situation. The "rounds" of the rope ladder need not extend to the ground, but the ropes should, that the ladder may be manipulated from the ground. It will be seen from Fig. 2 that a staple over the rope keeps the latter from slipping off the "rounds."

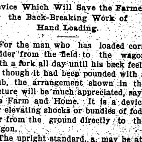


SHOCK CORN LOADER.

Device Which Will Save the Farmer the Back-Breaking Work of Hand Loading.

For the man who has loaded corn fodder from the field to the wagon with a fork all day until his back feels as though it had been pounded with a club, the arrangement shown in the picture will be much appreciated, says the Farm and Home. It is a device for elevating shocks or bundles of fodder from the ground directly to the wagon.

The upright standard, a, may be attached to wagon frame in the center or at the front or the hind end and braced in such a manner as will hold it rigid. The boom, b, is attached to a by an iron band or collar shown at d, so arranged that the boom may swing entirely around upright a, which may be secured to the bed of wagon by anchor chains or by setting into block as shown at c. The cable, e, is used to adjust the height of boom, elevating it to highest point in finishing out the load.



DETAILS OF CORN LOADER.

The farm telephone proves its worth in haying and harvest. It is quicker to telephone for repairs than to ride in and find they are not in stock.

DYNAMITE MAKES CHANNEL

Ice in Long Island Sound Was Blown Up to Permit of Navigation.

The severity of last winter in the neighborhood of New York is emphasized by an occurrence at Port Chester, N. Y., on Long Island Sound, says the New York Tribune. Usually the harbor of that place is not closed in the winter by the ice. The steamers from New York are able to make their way up the Byram river, the mouth of which forms the harbor of Port Chester, to the wharves. In the winter just ended it has been impossible for them to do this, for ice more than a foot in thickness formed and effectually blocked navigation in the channel.

The manufacturers became tired of waiting for nature in the form of gentle spring to release them from their icy bonds. When March came roaring in, and the ice was found still to be from a foot to 18 inches in thickness, they decided to treat the ice themselves. Procuring 450 pounds of dynamite, they set to work. Beginning at the open end of the ice field the ice was divided into huge blocks with plows. Then sticks of dynamite were inserted in holes made for the purpose. The dynamite was exploded by an electric current, and three or four miniature geysers of mixed ice and water would shoot up into the air.

Foot by foot the ice was broken away. Finally after five days of ice breaking of this sort the channel was opened sufficiently to permit a steamer to reach a wharf.

AN APPEAL FROM AFRICA.

What the People of the Dark Continent Ask of Those of Other Nations.

It is but very little that we ask—the right to work on our own soil, among our own people, ruled by some, at any rate, of our rulers, and to be permitted to eat and drink what we think good for us, instead of having deadly poison poured down our throats, says an extract from "Africa's Appeal to Christendom," in Century. Even if foreign powers should for a time be financial losers, they cannot eventually be anything but gainers—aided by a country almost unlimited in its capabilities, and the willing, grateful service of 20,000,000 of people rescued from the moral as well as physical death now staring them in the face. They will not have the obstacles presented to them in their own country; all will be with them in this crusade; leaders and people alike are stretching out their hands for aid. We appeal, not to England, not to France, not to Germany, not to other empires and states, but to the consciences of the individual men forming such nations. We appeal, not for a gift or favor, but for our right. Even as the Americans appealed for their rights, and obtained them by heroic measures, so do we claim the right for "freedom to worship God," and to worship Him by sobriety, industry, good will and all the Christian graces.

FOUND IN "LEMON" PIES.

Analysis of Restaurant Pastry Fails to Bring to Light Any Lemon.

Three lemon pies brought from the shelves of downtown restaurants were analyzed in the office of the state food inspector, and this is the composition of the filling of one of them, as announced by the chemist, reports the Chicago Record-Herald.

"Starch, in thick, firm paste, flavored slightly and very little acid; 21 per cent. sugar. Aniline coloring (methyl-orange group). The color is made synthetically from aniline, and aniline from coal. Method—di-methyl-aniline on diazo-benzine sulphonic acid. Methyl orange is poisonous in large doses. Found to contain very little flavoring and acid from lemon. Filling of starch paste, sugar and colored deep yellow."

In plain English, it was explained by the chemist that aniline is used instead of eggs. The butter was neglected altogether and the lemon juice was slighted.

Another lemon pie was beginning to decompose when it was delivered to the laboratory. There was dough at the bottom. The third lemon pie examined was said to be tolerably good. The much-abused mince pie escaped with good reputation, but one of the two pumpkin pies examined was said to be old.

Largest Known Sun Spot.

The Abbe Moreux has published a chart of the great sun spot made at the Observatory of Bourges, when on February 2 it attained its greatest extension of about 175,000 kilometers long and 102,000 kilometers wide—that is to say, about one-twenty-ninth part of the solar disk. It is the largest yet known. Lengths of 200,000 kilometers have been noted, but they represented a group of spots. One in 1858 was 250,000 kilometers long, but owing to its narrowness only measured one-thirtieth of the solar surface. The spot passed the central meridian of the sun on the night of February 2. It lay in the southern hemisphere, and varied notably in its aspect.—London Globe.

Pa's Theory.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what is the meaning of "noblesse oblige?"

Pa—I don't know, my son, unless it has some connection with those foreign nobles who are obliged to marry for money.—Chicago Daily News.

[illegible]

He—I understand [illegible] has been assigned a very [illegible] role in your amateur theatricals.

She—Yes, [illegible] [illegible].

Strikers Admit Defeat.

New York, March 13.—Admitting defeat in their fight against the Interborough company, the old employes of the subway and elevated railway crowded the offices of the company seeking their former positions. Some 3,000 men applied for reinstatement, but not more than 500 were accepted.

Nevada to Be Monte Carlo.

Reno, Nev., March 13.—The bill compelling all gambling to be conducted on the second floor has been repealed. The measure practically makes Nevada a state where gambling can be carried on in any place, either on the street, or in the house, so long as the gambler pays the license.

Awful Ravages of Plague.

Calcutta, March 10.—Deaths in India from the bubonic plague last week numbered 34,000. Statistics show that the deaths from bubonic plague in India within a few years reach nearly 3,000,000. In 1903 the mortality in India from the plague alone was 850,000.

Tragedy in Indiana.

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 11.—Joseph Jobst, 44 years old, a driver of a brewery wagon, shot his wife Friday and then committed suicide. The woman will live. She had applied for a divorce from Jobst.

Editor Munn Dies.

New York, March 13.—Henry Norcross Munn, editor of the Scientific American, is dead at his home in this cty. He was a member of the firm which publishes that paper.

A Record Price.

New York, March 13.—A seat on the New York stock exchange has been sold for $82,500. This is the high record price. The name of the purchaser is not disclosed.

Robbers Secure $2,700.

Renfrow, Okla., March 13.—Robbers blew open the safe of the Renfrow bank and escaped with [illegible] in cash. An armed posse is in pursuit.

WASHINGTON'S ARMY HOME

House at Valley Forge Which Sheltered the General for Six Months.

It is hardly more than an hour's ride from Philadelphia to Valley Forge, and one alights from the railway train about 100 yards from the ancient, pointed stone house of miller Isaac Potts; the structure which all America cherishes to-day as the home of Washington for the half year the continental army was encamped in that country. As nearly as can be ascertained, writes W. H. Richardson, in Four-Track News, the building is very much the same as it was when it was getting its right to a high place on history's page. "The log cabin to dine in," about which Mrs. Washington wrote, has been rebuilt, and otherwise the restorations have been carried on in a consistent manner. Externally the substantial and comfortable look of the building is very impressive, and its simple, dignified proportions appeal at once to the good taste of every visitor. The curious porch over the front door, the exquisite hand-made moldings and other details of its architecture are charming notes in the very pretty harmony. Interest in the interior is heightened by the presence in the various rooms of rare old furniture, prints, engravings and other relics of the colonial and revolutionary eras.

Elastic But Not Stretchy.

Customer—I thought you said that last pair of rubber shoes you sold me were elastic?

Salesman—So they were; what was the matter with them?

"Nothing; only I couldn't make them stretch from one end of the winter to the other."—Chicago Journal.

Notice to Property Owners.

Property owners in Red Lake Falls city are warned that banking houses or other buildings with manure is not allowed unless the manure is covered with earth. Straw and hay stacks are not allowed within seventy-five feet of buildings, and no ash heaps will be premitted in close proximity to buildings. Violations of these rules will be summarily dealt with.—John Drier, Fire Warden. 2 w.

RHEUMATISM ROBS LIFE of PLEASURE

Rheumatism does more than any other disease to rob life of pleasure and comfort. It is so painful and far-reaching in its effects on the system that those afflicted with it find themselves utterly unable to enjoy bodily comfort or any of the pleasures of life. Some are bound hand and foot and suffer constantly with excruciating pains, swollen, stiff joints and muscles, and often distorted, crooked limbs, while others have intervals of freedom, during which they live in constant fear and dread of the next attack, when, at the least exposure to damp weather, or slight irregularity of any kind, the disease will return.

I had been troubled with Rheumatism for two years, had been under the treatment of physicians, and tried everything recommended to me, but all to no avail. My knee and elbow joints were so stiff that I could not use them. I was unable to do my household work, and was truly in a pitiable condition. S. S. S. cured me after using it for awhile, and I unhesitatingly give it the credit it so much deserves.

Sta. A., E. Liverpool, O. MRS. M. A. DECKER.

The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, produced by food lying undigested in the stomach, poor bowel action, weak kidneys and a general sluggish condition of the system. External applications, such as liniments, oils, plasters, etc., do not reach the cause and can only give temporary relief. The blood must be cleansed and purified before a cure can be had. S. S. S. attacks the disease in the right way—it neutralizes the poison and filters out every particle of it from the blood, stimulates the sluggish organs and clears the system of all foreign matter. It cures the disease permanently and safely because it contains no harmful minerals to derange the stomach and digestion. Book on Rheumatism and any advice you wish, without charge.

SSS

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat

THAT'S FIT TO EAT

Always Uniform

Absolutely Pure

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel

Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.

Strictly First-Class in Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stanp for full particulars to-day

National Railway Training School

210 Boston Block

MINNEAPOLIS. MINN.

Name.......

Town.......

State.......

R.F.D.No.......

Age.......

Try Courier Job Work

FARM MACHINERY

I have just received a carload of farm machinery and it will be to the interest of every farmer in Red Lake County to see me and see some snaps I have to offer before buying. My goods are all anti-trust. Here are a few of the reliable goods I have for sale:

Robinson Buggies, Disc Harrows, Beggs-Goodson Wagons, The Celebrated Acme Harrow and Pulverizer, Van Brunt Single Disc Drills, Goodhue Wind Mills.

Get My Prices--I Can Save You Money

S. A. SWANSON

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 5. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1905. WHOLE NO. 369.

THE CITY ELECTION RESULTS

Vote was Very Light, Only About 225 Votes Being Cast.

Not much interest was manifested by the citizens at the city election last Tuesday there being contests on for but two offices, Alderman for the 3rd ward and Justice of the Peace, with the result that only about half of the vote was polled.

For Mayor, John A. Duffy received	186
For Treasurer, OvideEmard received	173
For Aldermau -at-Large.
Wm. P' O'Brien received	169
HenryHennemuth received	158
For Alderman 1st ward,
James Brady received	39
2ndward FredBorchers rec'd	35
3rd ward Simon Paul rec'd	59
3rd ward JosephBelair rec'd	56
For Justices of the Peace,
Adam Zeh received	143
S.A. Swanson received	138
S. L. Lewis received	88

For the coming two years dating from January, the following officers will serve the city's interests. John A. Duffy, Mayor; Ovide Emard, Treasurer; Aldermen-at-Large, Wm. P. O'Brien and Henry Hennemuth; Aledrmen, 1st ward James Brady' 2nd ward Fred Borchers and 3rd ward Simon Paul: Justices of the Peace, Adam Zeh and S. A. Swanson.

The proposition to buy a chemical engine was turned down by the voters by a vote of 126 against to 46 for. The contest for the honor of representing the 3rd ward was as close and exciting as anyone could wish for.. There was no telling who was to be Alderman until the judges came to the last five ballots when it was apparent that Mr. Paul was elected. There was the usual scattering complimentary votes for nearly all the offices of which no mention is made.

Pain may go by the name of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, pleurisy. No matter what names the pains are called, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will drive them away. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert's.

GONE TO HER FINAL REWARD

Mrs. Louis R. Adams Dies After Lingering Illness.

Bertha, the beloved wife of Louis R. Adams, died last Thursday night at Grand Forks after an illness of six weeks duration.

Bertha was the oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. William Zaizer of this city. She was born near Red Lake Falls 22 years ago last March and resided at this city up to three years ago when she was married. She lived at St. Hilaire for a time and then moved to Grand Forks.

The funeral services were held at St. Mary's church Sunday afternoon Rev. Father Ansgar officiating and thd remains were interred in the cemetery at this place. Bertha was loved by a wide circle of friends, who deeply deplore the sudden severing of life's tiny cord. Besides the husband, father, mother and other relations, two little children, a boy two years old and a baby girl two months old are left to mourn her untimely demise. The Courier extends its condolences to the bereaved relatives.

A CITIZEN LEAVES.

Ed. H. Chase and family left on Wednesday evening for St. Louis, Mo., where they will wake their future home, Mr. Chase having secured an excellent position with one of the large printing concerns of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Chase have only been with us since the early part of this year but during their stay have made hosts of friends all of whom are grieved at their departure from our midst. They were both popular in social circles and their home was always open to their friends. Mr. Chase stood well with our business men and was a valued member of our band. Their many friends all unite with the Couries in wishing them all the good in life in their new home.

Try COURIER Print.

PROCEEDINGS OF COUNCIL

Meeting Held at City hall October 12. Ordinance Passed.

The meeting was called to order President Borchers, all members being present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The following bills were approved and allowed:

W. A. Schreiter, medicine	$ 3.20
Ed Bray, drayage and street work	2.50
Thief River Lbr Co., lumber	156.47
Red Lake Falls Elec. Light light for Sept. 05	111.16
Henry Proutx, street work	4.50
John Deforge, " "	19.80
J. E. Wilkinson, services as health officer	7.00
Julius Kubl, street work	16.50
Alfonse Roy, drayage	7.40
Frank Jeffers, recording 3 deeds	3.00

The tax levy for the ensuing year was fixed at eight thousand dollars ($8000.00).

The following were appointed judges for the city election to be held Nov. 7, viz:

1st ward—JosephTschirhart, John Marleau, Louis Alstadt.

2nd ward—J. P. Harren, Elus Normandeau, Wm. McIntosh.

3rd ward—Frank Cyr, A. L. Reichert, J. C. Matthews.

Voting places were designated as follows: 1st ward—Theo. Schmitz building. 2nd ward—City hall. 3rd ward—Pouliot hotel.

On motion duly carried, an ordinance granting to the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba R'y Co., its accession and assigns the right to lay down, construct, maintain and operate a pipe line and the appertanances therewith on First St. in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn. was introduced and passed its first reading. On motion meeting adjourned.

Approved this 18th day of October, A. D. 1905.

Aitest: J. A. Duffy,
A. P. Toupin, Clerk. Mayor.

The COURIER, $1.00 per year.

OUR TRIP TO CROOKSTON

As Viewed by Superintendent, Faculty, Pupils and Football Team.

From first that it may seem extravagant for a superintendent to dismiss his whole school for a day and go to visit a neighboring school, But when you come to know that on that same day at least ten superintendents visited the Minneapolis schools with the teachers coming from at least four diffrent states you will conclude that there is something good in the practice.

Yet when you stop to think of the many thousands of things that teachers have to do you will see at a glance that a day spent in any well organized school would suggest enough of good, enough of plan, enough of new and helpful method to make such a day the most profitable day of the year. As I look back upon our visit to Crookston I can but feel that it was a day most profitably spent.

Crookston is a large town with a corps of thirty-six teachers. They have a live superintendent who has no teaching to do but who can spend all his time studing out plans and suggestions for his teachers and seeing that they are rightiy applied. They have six buildings besides the High School building and in no room did I find as many as forty pupils. The rooms are comfortable and well lighted but poorly planned.

Their High School is well equipped but when we think of that we must remember that they have been accumulating material at least ten years longer than we have and that it takes time to get those things.

Their chemical laboratory is not so well equipped as ours is but their physical laboratory is much better equipped as far as the teachers use in class is concerned, but they have not so much apparatus for the individual pupil to use. They have a fine start towards a splendidly equipped biological laboratory while we as yet have but little.

In the matter of reference books they are well supplied and thatought to secure better habits of industry and study on the part of their pupils.

While their schools are widely equipped with apparatus and books they are much better equipped with excellent teachers.

The superintendent has but to suggest a line of work and most of his teachers appreciate his thought and apply it at once. Yet without any doubt the best part of Crookstons educational equipment is the superintendent. Here they are certainly to be congratulated. Mr. McIntyre is a man with large experience in the school room an experience acquired in several states as is manifest from the meeting in vogue in his class rooms. But of this more below. One of the most helpful features and the most helpful one to the whole teaching force is the training department. Here we find about twenty prospective teachers who are taking a thorough review of the common branches under a special teacher. Their class work work is all finished in the forenoon and in the afternoon they are sent to the different rooms to aid the various teachers. Before being sent they are carefully instructed by the training teachers as to what they shall do and how they shall do it. In the lower rooms they have charge of the seat work of the littler ones and are responsible for correct work on the part of the pupils. This relieves the teachers of a larger part of the discipline allows her to spend all of her energy with her class. It also secures a better grade of preparation work thus insuring more harmonious results all along the line.

By a Student.

I visited the Crookston high school on Friday of last week. As the Crookston high school is much larger than ours and it is ten or fifteen years older I was prepared to see something much better than our own school. After I entered the building what seemed strange to me was the order in the halls and room before school began. The halls were thronged with pupils laughing and talking, which I did not expect see in a school of that standing. In our school we are not allowed to stand a minute in the hall after taking off our wraps but pass immediately to the assembly room, where we are not allowed to assemble in groups to talk and have a good time and where we do not speak above a whisper. This is done so that whed pupils come in early in the morning to study the room is quiet and it is kept quiet up to ten minutes to nine. Then the ten minutes that are left we use to speak to oneanother about our lessons, but this is done very quietly. This I think is a very good plan. In Crookston they commence at once with their work while we have ten minutes for singing, which we heartily enjoy. It braces us up and puts fresh life in us before we take up our studies. Two years are given there for ancient and modern history while here we take it in one. When I visited the history class I couldn't help but wish that our teachers would do as much of the reciting for us as she did for them. The English classes are doing about the same work in the two schools. It was impossible to visit all the classes, but the outlook was meagre.

By the Faculty

We found in vogue in the grades and to some extent in the highs a system of teaching known as the group system. This systen while purely in an experimental stage at Crookston and practically in Minnesota has been used in other parts of our United States. Prof. Aiton, our state high school inspector, advocated it strongly last year and Supt. McIntyre of the Crookston schools, generally recognized as one of the foremost educators of the state, has instituted it in their schools on trial. We were much impressed by its workings and its advantages but generally agreed that it could be carried too far.

The object of the system is to give each scholar moro opportunity for individual recitation than can be given by one lone teacher controlling from forty to fifty pupils. The system is used generally in the teaching of reading, spelling and arithmetic add the greatest aevantage is to be gained without a doubt in the teaching of reading. Here the teacher first goes over the advance lesson taking the pronounciation of the new words; then the lesson for the day is read and also the lesson of the previous day. As each lesson constitutes but one page, this takes but about half of the recitatiou period.

Continued Next Week.

State Butter Awards.

H. J. Roscneau of Meriden won first place in the October butter-scoring contest in the awards just announced by the State dairy and food department. His score was 97½. H. A. Goetsch, of Money Creek got second place with a score of 97 and N. E. Anderson of Norseland third with 96½.

There were 129 entries, a few less than in previous months, none of them scoring less than 93.

A Card.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough and heals the lungs. Prevents pneumonia and will cure incipient consumption. Contains no opiates and is safest for children. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and insist upon having it. Stops the the cough and heals the lungs. Sold at A L. Reicherts.

RED LAKE'S FOREIGN BORN

Norway and Sweden Furnish Most New Citizens in Our County—Official Figures.

The state census bureau has finished the compilation of its reports on nativity, and concludes that there has been practially no immigration into the state during the last five years, except from Sweden, Norway, Finland and Austria. The gain during the five years, in the percentage of Swedes, is 9.36 per cent; of Norwegians, 6.4 per cent; of Austrians, 62.3 per cent and of Finlanders, 85.1 per cent.

The German population has increased but 2.34 per cent.

The Swedish born population constitutes 8.89 per cent of the total of the state, the German born 6.05 per cent, the Norwegian born 5.64 per cent and the Canadian born 2.4 per cent. The Norwegian born lead in twenty-nine counties of the state, the Germans in twenty-eight counties and the Swedish born in twenty-five counties. The Swedish born constitute 34.4 per cent of the total population of Isanti county. The principal Swedish gains have been in Aitkin county, which gained 342, or 35 percent. Carlton county gained 533, or 50 per cent: Itasca county 737, or 300 percent, and Lake county 408, or 49 per cent. The principal Norwegian gains are in Red Lake county, which gained 886 or 65 per cent, and Roseau county gained 530, or 40 per cent.

Some of the nationalities show a decided decrease during the five years. The Irish have decreased 2,897. the English 424, the Bohemians 2,744, the Polanders 3,482, the French 172, the Welsh 157 and the Canadians 167.

Hennepin county during the five years has gained 5,860 Swedish born, 3,586 Norwegian born and 1,700 German born inhabitants. Ramsey county has gained 2,900 German born, 2,102 Swedish born and 1,396 Norwegian born. St. Louiscounty has gained 3,097 Swedon born and 2,240 Norway born.

In Red Lake county the native born population is 10,938, and the foreign-born 5,017. The countries from which the foreign-born residents of the county are accredited are given by the bureau as follows:

Norway	2,252
Canada	1,157
Sweden	884
Germany	371
Denmark	85
Austria	57
Ireland	47
Finland	41
England	30
Bohemia	23
Scotland	21
Poland	21
France	10
Russia	5
Wales	3

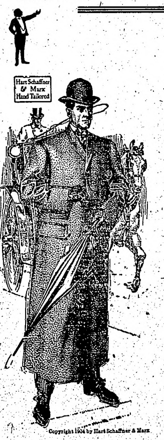
Counterfeiting The Genuine.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction, It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Sold at A L. Reichert's

FOR SALE or RENT:
The room now occupied by J. R. & R. Fortier as a general store. Address J. A. H. Lemieux, 505 2nd St. S. E. Little Falls, Minn.

BERTHON & ARMSTRONG

Mens' and Boys LEADING Clothing Outfitters



Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored

Copyright 1904 by Hart Schaffner & Marx.

Wherever you go you'll be dressed well if you're dressed in our Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes.

We can fit you in overcoats and suits, whatever you please.

Go anywhere, you won't find as GOOD clothes as those sold by

JIM AND PAUL

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

DESPITE the prevalence of robbery, a few continue to keep money about their homes. In doing this they are not only risking the loss of their money but also their lives.

How much safer and better it would be if these people were to bring their money to the bank. Are you running such risks?

We make farm loans at lowest rate of interest, We sell steamship tickets to all parts of the world.

Our vault is protected by the ELECTRIC BURGLAR ALARM System.

First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

THE COURIER

JOHN E. KING, Pub.

Red Lake Falls, Minn

"Business is war," says a magazine writer, and Gen Sherman told us what war is.

"Can a husband be cruel to his wife by too much kindness?" Well, few husbands are.

The principal thing noticeable about women's attire this fall is its multifariousness.

A Chicago pugilist is writing popular songs. Prize fighting is a fearfully demoralizing pursuit.

We knew it would come some day. Somebody wants photography taught in the public schools.

Sergius Witte, after looking over New York City, declared it a "clearing house of undigested nationalities."

Miss Susan P. Fowler of Vineland, N. J., has worn trousers for fifty years, and expects to die with them on.

As Rockefeller says, money is not the only thing in the world. There are mumps, measles and banana skins.

People say they might as well be hung for a sheep as a lamb, but that only shows lack of discrimination in appetite.

Kissing may be dangerous, as that doctor says, but you may have noticed that more people haven't died from it than have.

Courts uphold a Buffalo man who put a rattrap in his trousers pocket and caught his wife. Dissenting opinion filed by wife.

Diamonds have gone up again, but this is a hardship that isn't likely to bother the man whose last year's coal bill is still unpaid.

No one need have any difficulty in identifying New York after this. It is the town that holds the world's baseball championship.

The wages of sin remain the same as heretofore, but frequently the sinner has to wait a long time to get what is coming to him.

An old man used a "want ad." to get a wife and then he paid $50,000 to get rid of her. She will testify that "want ads." bring results.

The latest report of the coming marriage of King Alfonso is semiofficially denied. When you get your invitation to the wedding you'll be sure.

Harry Liberty is in jail at Burlington, Vt., charged with stealing a horse. Somehow the pun suggested by his name doesn't come out right.

A woman is suing for divorce from her husband on the ground that he hasn't taken a bath for twenty-two years. Naturally she wants to duck him.

Now that they have fixed up a rapprochement between France and Germany the sultan of Morocco will awake to the fact that the drinks are on him.

The "anesthetic highball" is likely to become popular, but many chronic sufferers will continue to take the highball without the anesthetic attachment.

A Connecticut man went out to haul his lobster pots, and came back with a live deer. Here, here! Stop that! If this keeps on, we shall all be in the dizzy house.

A Pittsburg man who is the father of fourteen boys has adopted a little girl. This case would seem to upset the theory that hope springs eternal in the human breast.

It is kind and considerate on the part of Mr. Edison, but the obstinate people of this country will go on pounding their ears and clogging their intakes as heretofore.

A farmer in Berks county, Pa., aged 90, has his third set of natural teeth. Imagine the trouble Uncle Methuselah may possibly have had, with thirty or more experiences in cutting teeth.

Maybe the ameer of Afghanistan really needs the dentist whom he has summoned from a distance and maybe this is merely his wily oriental way of bidding for the world's sympathy.

A new $10 counterfeit is in circulation which we are told may be distinguished by its size, being longer than the genuine note. What is wanted is a $10-bill that will not merely look longer, but last longer.

A general merchant advertises for a man who is a good saw filer and a bass singer. If the man is expected to sing at his work we're glad we don't have to sit around and listen when those two kinds of noises effect a juncture.

Marie Corelli is reported to be discouraged because she is developing a double chin. That's where Hall Caine has the advantage of Marie. Nobody can tell about his chin, because in looking like Shakespeare he has to have whiskers.

The News of the Week

Washington.

Charles A. Darling has retired from the office of assistant secretary of the navy, which post he has held since Dec. 16, 1901. He was succeeded by Truman H. Newberry of Detroit, Mich.

Announcing the results of recent investigations of the future of the cotton-protecting kelep of Guatemala, a report now being issued from the department of agriculture declares kelep to be "wonderfully adapted to the destruction of the cotton boll weevil" and portrays its possibilities in checking pest ravages.

Secretary Taft has transmitted to the treasury department his estimates of the appropriations required for the year 1907. These estimates aggregate $104,988,267.75, being $9,717,922.52 less than the total appropritions made by congress for the use of the war department for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1906.

In his testimony before the joint printing committee Foreman Brewer of the senate folding room said there are 375,000 un-called-for publications stored in his department. Amzi Smith, who has been in the senate document room for thirty years, said that the supply for documents there has quadrupled during his incumbency, but there are not too many to meet the demand.

The president has appointed Charles A. Stallings of Boston as public printer. Mr. Stallings is manager of the printers' board of trade of New York city. The appointment of Mr. Stallings was not forecast by any discussion of his candidacy for the place. The large printing firms of New York and Boston indorsed him as a practical printer and executive. He was also strongly indorsed by Senator Crane.

Casualty.

Fire in the plant of the Michigan Malleable Iron company in Delray, Mich., caused $50,000 damage.

Ainsworth, Iowa, has been fire-swept. All the business district was destroyed. The loss is $50,000.

Jacob Bosdeck, a pioneer farmer, was killed at Iowa City, Iowa, by a fall of twenty feet from a haymow. His neck was broken.

A South Shore train ran down and instantly killed an unknown man walking on the track east of Marquette, Mich. The victim is believed to be a Finnish woodchopper.

Leslie Wise, aged fourteen years, died at Milwaukee of injuries received in a boys' game of football. He fell in such a manner that a weed was thrust up his nostril into the brain.

A runaway switch engine crashed into the rear of a west-bound passenger train on the Colorado & Southern railroad in the yards at Golden, Colo., injuring seven persons.

Three shotfirers were killed in an explosion that occurred in the mines of the Central Coal and Coke company at Hartford, Ark. The explosion is supposed to have been caused by gas.

Six persons were killed in a head-on collision between two freight trains on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad at Casey, Iowa. Both trains were badly wrecked and engines piled up into a confused mass.

Three persons were seriously injured, one of whom subsequently died, and a dozen others had a narrow escape from the flames in a fire that destroyed the priest's house at Nazarine orphanage at Raleigh, N. C.

Walter Scott, the Death Valley miner who was thrown from an automobile at Los Angeles while running fifty miles an hour and was severely hurt, will recover, according to the statement of physicians who examined his injuries.

Passengers on the Louisville Southern train No. 9 had a narrow escape when the train was hurled from a bridge seven miles from Lexington, Ky., into a creek forty feet below. Twelve persons were injured, but none was killed. The tender, mail and baggage cars and smoker were splintered and thrown into the creek, and the bridge, which was 150 feet long, entirely destroyed.

W. F. Granger, one of the members of a company playing a melodrama at Toledo, Ohio, was shot in the eye during the progress of a play. The action of the drama includes the rescue of a girl from a cage of lions. Last night one of the lions showed anger and a revolver carried by the rescuer was accidentally discharged. Granger may lose his sight.

Foreign.

A dispatch from Corunna, Spain, says that the Spanish armored cruiser Cisneros foundered off Villanova after striking a rock. All on board the vessel were saved.

The Cuban government has accepted the invitation of Emperor Nicholas, conveyed through Baron Rosen, to send delegates to the second peace conference at The Hague.

The preparations which were going on at Constantinople for the execution of Ghirdis Vartanian, who claims American citizenship and who was condemned for the murder of Apik Undjian, a prominent Armenian, were suddenly stopped on the receipt of a note from the American legation, setting forth in unequivocal terms that such an act would inevitably produce serious consequences.

Capt. J. W. Broatch and twenty-six marines, constituting the American legation guard, have left Chemulpo on the cruiser Cincinnati, after a stay of eleven months in Seoul.

The retiring viceroy, Lord Curzon, who has been making a farewell tour of India, is prostrated at Lahore with fever. His departure from Lahore has been indefinitely postponed.

Christopher Robinson, Canada's great constitutional lawyer, is dead of pneumonia. In the Bering sea arbitration it was said that it was his presentation of the case that brought a Canadian victory.

An expedition to the north pole under the patronage of the Belgian government is about to be organized. The expenses, estimated at $2,000,000, will be defrayed by a national lottery on an extensive scale.

King Victor Emmanuel laid the corner stone of the new harbor works at Genoa. Over 500,000 spectators were present and in the harbor were forty-three warships, including the United States cruiser Minneapolis.

The announcement that King Edward had charged Prince Arthur of Connaught to proceed to Tokio early in 1906 on a special mission to bestow the Order of the Garter on the emperor of Japan has caused the greatest satisfaction among all classes at Tokio.

Crimes and Criminals.

Because his wife refused to live with him on account of his propensity for liquor, John Lee Phillips, an engineer, shot and fatally wounded her in front of a boarding house at Pittsburg, Pa. Then, before any one could interfere, he turned the revolver on himself and sent a bullet into his brain, dying in a few minutes.

George Washington Murray, a negro once a member of congress from South Carolina, will have to spend the next three years cracking rocks and road building as a member of the chain gang of Sumter county, Ga., although he is the largest land owner in that county. The supreme court denied the appeal of his attorneys for a rehearing. His punishment is for forging the names of ignorant negroes to land leases.

Edward Rehel, late of Grand Marais shot his wife five times at Munsing, Mich., and leaving her for dead, jumped from a dock and drowned. The woman is expected to recover.

The New York court of appeals denied the motion for a rearrangement of the appeal of Albert T. Patrick from conviction of murder in the first degree and sentence of death for the killing in 1900 of W. M. Rice, an aged millionaire of New York city. The motion was made Oct. 2, by former United States Senator David B. Hill.

Elias Johnson, who shot and killed his wife at their home near Slater, Salina county, Mo., was convicted of murder in the first degree and his punishment fixed at ninety-nine years in the penitentiary. Johnson, on Dec. 8, 1904, shot his wife and afterward made the claim that he thought he was shooting an owl.

Tom Eassa, the 17-year-old boy who eloped with a 40-year-old widow, Mary Eassa, his cousin, is under arrest at Sioux City for embezzlement, the charge being preferred by his mother. The arrest was made at Yankton, S. D. The boy was brought to Sioux City, while the elderly wife will go to Akron, Iowa, to visit relatives. The boy's mother made the accusation that he stole $200 in order to get him home. She will endeavor to have the marriage annulled.

General.

Judge Worthington of Peoria has overruled the motion of the attorneys for N. C. Dougherty to reduce his bail to $25,000.

The National W. C. T. U., in annual convention in Los Angeles re-elected all the officers of the organization now serving as executive heads.

Oscar Lindinger, aged 12, is dead at Mason City, Iowa, from milk sickness, the fourth member of the family to die from the same cause within a few weeks of each other.

The convention of the supreme lodge and the encampment of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, will be held at New Orleans, La., the third Tuesday in October next.

The "Bill" club held its annual meeting at Excelsior Springs, Mo. The date of the "Bill" banquet was set for Dec. 14. The meeting was enthusiastic and it bids fair for a large attendance "Bill" Warner, "Bill" Stone and "Bill" Wallace are expected to make speeches. The initiation fee was fixed at a dollar bill. Excelsior Springs is the home of the only "Bill" club in the world.

Alleging that his character had been damaged to the extent of $20,000, Thomas W. Lawson of frenzied finance fame has brought suit for that amount against Horace J. Stevens, a well known copper mine specialist of Houghton, Mich. He charges libel. Mr. Stevens is an extensive writer on copper mining topics, and it is presumed he hit the Bostonian hard in some of his articles.

The population of Greater New York, as counted by the state enumeration bureau on June 1, is 4,014,304, as compared with 3,437,202 in 1900 and 2,507,414 in 1890. The population of the state is 8,066,672.

Frank A. Vanderlip, vice president of the City National bank of New York, was the chief speaker at the Chicago Commercial club's first banquet of the season. His subject was "Old Age Pensions for Workmen" He declared that the present industrial system was severe on the older workers and advised the annuity plan now adopted by many large corporations.

RAPINE, MURDER AND PLUNDER

GIVEN FULL SWAY IN RUSSIAN PROVINCES, ESPECIALLY IN THE SOUTH.

KISHINEFF IS DESTROYED

RUSSIAN CITY REPORTED TO BE COMPLETELY WIPED OUT BY FLAMES.

1,000 KILLED; 10,000 WOUNDED

IS DAY'S BLOODY RECORD IN FIFTY PROVINCIAL TOWNS OF RUSSIA.

London, Nov. 5. — All Russian dispatches are still suffering considerable telegraphic delay. Apparently the text of the amnesty ukase has not yet been published. All dispatches received here go to confirm the continued seriousness of the situation throughout Russia, especially the anti-Jewish excesses.

Kishineff Wiped Out.

The Daily Mail's Odessa correspondent gives an unconfirmed report that Kishineff has been absolutely destroyed by fire. He says that the three suburbs of Odessa, Persessyp, Seaslav and Moldvandak, have been completely devastated.

A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from St. Petersburg states that Prince Alexis Obelonsky has been appointed to replace M. Pobiedonesteff as chief procurator of the holy synod.

The Daily Telegraph's Odessa correspondent also reports Kischineff in flames.

Driven Back From Helsingfors.

A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from Haparanda, Sweden, Sweden, says that the military officers at Kotka, Viborg, Frederikshamm, Lovisa and Borga have pledged themselves to assist the civilians in defense of the fatherland. A company of Russian artillery which had advanced toward Helsingfors was forced to retreat without an engagement.

Given Over to Plunder.

The Kieff correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company, under date of Nov. 3, says:

"The Jewish quarter has been given over to plunder, rapine and murder ever since the emperor announced the granting of a constitution. On that day during a monster demonstration in front of the town hall a shot suddenly was heard. The Cossacks and dragoons immediately charged into the crowd, firing right and left, and the police and others dragged away the dead and wounded, numbering more than 130, into the neighboring court yards, while the terror-stricken demonstrators fled, pursued by a mob of ruffians, who attacked them as they ran.

Murder and Pillage.

"At 7 o'clock in the evening an organized attack on the Jewish quarter began on the pretext that during the week a portrait of the emperor had been insulted in the town hall. The lower quarter of the town, Podol, was sacked, and, although the authorities promised a Jewish deputation protection, the pillage lasted all night long. Warehouses were looted and people robbed; incendiarism was indulged in and many were killed. On Wednesday the pillage assumed colossal proportions and the police and military stood absolutely impassive, only firing upon persons who defended themselves against looters, and on houses where Jews had fired on their assailants. While almost all the Jewish houses were laid in ruins, Christian establishments were untouched.

1,000 Killed and 10,000 Wounded.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from St. Petersburg, timed 9 p. m., reports the discovery of a plot to massacre the Jews in that city. It is semi-officially calculated, says the correspondent, that at least 1,000 persons have been killed and 10,000 seriously wounded ing the leading fifty provincial towns of Russia in the last twenty-four hours, and the death roll is still mounting.

Amnesty Is Signed.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 5. — The amnesty ukase has been signed.

Deplorable rioting in the provinces is still in progress, especially in the south. The most horrible stories of massacre and pillage by mobs and attacks on the Jews continue to pour in.

All is quiet here. There is no attempt at holding processions and the Cossack patrols are everywhere. Shops have been barricaded and railway communication with the frontier has not yet been restored.

Anti-Jewish disorders are reported from Theodosa, where a number of Jews and others were burned to death.

In a revolutionary outbreak in Krostroma many were killed or wounded. Rioting and anti-Jewish outrages occurred at Saratoff, where many shops were plundered. A bomb was thrown during the conflict between rioters and soldiers and several were killed or wounded.

A dispatch from Rostoff-on-Don gives the official figures of Wednesday's rioting at 34 killed and 159 severely injured.

Odessa in State of Siege.

Odessa, Nov. 5.—On this, the fourth day of terror, the peaceful population is practically under a state of siege. Even the markets and restaurants are closed and it is impossible to get bread or meat. The mob pillaged a number of Jewish shops in the main streets and among others the biggest wholesale grocery, that of Rabinovitch. The rioters also burned three factories and killed a physician and two assistants who were dressing wounds.

Last evening the rioters pillaged the biggest dry goods store in the city. The loss in this case is estimated at $175,000. A hardware store was also looted, involving a loss of $100,000. In addition twelve fur stores were sacked. The consulates and hotels are guarded by troops.

Warships Go to Finland.

Reval, Russia, Nov. 5. — Warships have sailed from here for Helsingfors.

MISSION MURDERS.

China Will Be Held to Strict Account for Slaughter of Americans.

Washington, Nov. 5.—China is to be held to strict accountability for the murder of the five American missionaries at Lien-chow mission station, in the southern province of Quang-tung. The guilty persons must be beheaded, the officials who failed to accord protection to the Americans must be degraded, removed from office and otherwise punished, should any evidence of their complicity with the murderers be found. The state department will send instructions immediately to American agents in the Far East to insure protection for the Americans still alive at Lien-chow, and for reparation.

DRUGGISTS IN SYNDICATE.

Retailers Organize With a Membership of 1,000 and Large Capital.

New York, Nov. 5.—There was organized in New York yesterday the American drug syndicate, which includes 1,000 retail dealers. The syndicate has a Rhode Island charter and is capitalized at $200,000. The organizer is C. F. Goddard, formerly of San Francisco, who controls 10 per cent of the stock. The organization is intended for mutual protection, to combat inferior and injurious drugs and compel a standard in the staple products. The president is George Ramsey of this city.

TRY TO STOP MORGAN'S SHIP.

Strikers Interfere With Vessel of American Capitalists.

Stockholm, Nov. 5.—George W. Perkins, J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., Mr. Baring and other financiers arrived here yesterday from St. Petersburg on board the Russian steamer Olhonna. Mr. Morgan proceeded immediately to London. Mr. Perkins remains here a day or two. Mr. Perkins said that when they succeeded in chartering the Olhonna at Helsingfors the strikers tried to prevent the vessel from sailing for St. Petersburg. Her captain, however, succeeded in eluding them.

GIVES COLLEGE $100,000.

New Jersey Man Endows Huron, S. D., Institution.

Huron, S. D., Nov. 5.—Ralph Voorhees of Clinton, N. J., has promised to give $100,000 to Huron college for use in the erection of a new central building for the college. The college will pay Mr. Voorhees an annuity of 5 per cent during life. The new building, which will be secured to Huron college by the gift, will contain recitation rooms, offices and, for a time, a chapel, library and gymnasium. It will be called the Ralph Voorhees hall.

CONDUCTOR IS SENTENCED.

Found Guilty of Manslaughter Because of Wreck on Railroad.

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 5. — Found guilty of manslaughter, because his carelessness resulted in a collision on the Boston & Maine railway at Fitchburg on July 3 in which three men were killed, G. E. Powers, a railway conductor, yesterday was sentenced to eighteen months in the house of correction.

Accused of Fraud.

Winona, Minn., Nov. 5. — Sheriff Jackson of Sioux City came here yesterday morning to take back Fred Storms, a farmer residing near Oto, Iowa, who is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses from the Western Elevator company, in taking advantage of the payment of $50 on grain he never delivered. Storms was arrested at St. Charles.

Cranberry Prices Mount.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Owing to the alleged failure of the Cape Cod cranberry crop, the prices of the berries here ranged yesterday from $10 to $11 a barrel as compared with $6 to $7.50 the corresponding day a year ago. A further rise to possibly $15 a barrel within the next two weeks is predicted by dealers here.

Powers Threaten Turkey.

Paris, Nov. 5. — The exchanges of communications going on between the powers have reached a stage where a joint naval demonstration against Turkey is practically assured unless the sultan promptly accepts the plan of the powers for financial reforms in Macedonia.

Was First White Settler.

Lac qui Parle, Minn., Nov. 5.—William M. Mills, a territorial pioneer and a pioneer of the Minnesota valley and the first white settler to locate and take possession of a claim in this county, died at his home here yesterday in his eighty-first year.

Explosion Kills Two.

Petersburg, Ind., Nov. 5.—By the explosion of a boiler in a sawmill yesterday, William Casey, the proprietor, and Jacob Dedman, an employe, were instantly killed.

NATION WATCHES JEROME'S FIGHT

WIDESPREAD INTEREST IN NEW YORK MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN.

PUT END TO RULE OF BOSSES

BOSSES IN OTHER CITIES WATCH UPRISING OF VOTERS WITH ALARM.

JEROME IS THE BIG FIGURE

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP IS ISSUE THAT IS WATCHED WITH INTEREST.

New York, Nov. 5.—Widespread national interest in the present municipal campaign here has become intense. Newspaper correspondents from Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati and Washington have arrived here to look over the situation and report the indications.

The correspondents are all men experienced in reporting campaigns, conventions and other political events. They say that every political boss and leader and the general public in all the large cities of the country are intensely interested in the outcome of the Jerome fight to free the voters from boss rule. Correspondents from Baltimore, Cincinnati and Pittsburg say that local bosses in those cities by the uprising of the voters in this city for Jerome. The bosses in those cities fear that the election of Jerome will mean their overthrow at the next primary election they face.

Are Thoroughly Alarmed

Correspondents from Washington say that at the national capital there is intense interest in the situation here because the question of municipal ownership of everything has been brought to the front so prominently, and many far-reaching consequences are involved. Chicago is reported to be watching the New York city campaign closer than it ever watched a national election. The present mayor of Chicago was elected on a platform of municipal ownership and has not been able to make good. He has not been able to take over the street railroads of that city as his platform promised. The voters of Chicago are therefore awaiting the result of the election here to learn whether or not the movement is rising or receding.

Ownership Big Issue.

Politicians at Washington are interested to the extent of excitement as to whether the chief city will vote to overthrow and change existing political economic conditions. Those politicians are reported to believe that if one of the candidates for mayor should win the question of government ownership of every kind of public utility would become at once a national issue and would have to be met by the next congress at the coming session.

But all the visiting correspondents agree that in all the cities of the country the most widespread and intense interest among politicians and voters of all classes is centered in the fight that Jerome is making against partisan bosses.

RICH MEN GET PENSIONS.

Millionaire Uses Money for Charitable Purposes.

Washington, Nov. 5. — Pensions for millionaires is one of the new developments under the executive orders of last year making age the only disability necessary for the granting of a service pension. According to Commissioner of Pensions Warner the application of a millionaire for a pension has been recently favorably passed upon. He did not want the pension, according to the commissioner, on account of the money it carried with it, but simply to perfect his record of honorable service in the Civil war. This view of the age disability order is being taken by many well-to-do veterans who would not otherwise apply for pensions. In the case of the millionaire pensioner, the commissioner has knowledge that the recipient has just made a bequest of a hundred thousand dollars for benevolent purposes.

ENGINE BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Boiler Explosion Derails Train and Kills Two Men.

Ennis, Tex., Nov. 5.—While running under full head of steam a freight engine was blown to atoms by the explosion of the boiler yesterday near Ennis. Practically the entire train was derailed, seven of the cars being ditched and four of them totally destroyed. Two men were killed and one probably fatally injured.

$2,500,000 in Land Deal.

Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 5.—The sale of 25,000 acres of coal land was closed yesterday. The property is located in Monongahela and Marion counties, W. Va., and the price paid by a syndicate is said to be $2,500,000.

Fled Fire in Night Garb.

Mauch Chunk, Pa., Nov. 5.—Fire which broke out in the American house yesterday partly destroyed that structure. Guests were compelled to flee in their night clothing. Loss $25,000.

In and About the State

SHIFT FROM SOUTH TO NORTH.

Census Director Finds a Tide in State Population.

George F. Wright, director of the state census bureau, has found some startling facts in the returns from Northern Minnesota. His deductions show that a small part of the population gain in those counties has come from other states and countries. The greater part of the new population has come from other parts of Minnesota.

Mr. Wright's researches indicate that there has been a great shifting of rural population from Southern to Northern Minnesota, while new families from other states have come into the southern counties to take the places of those moving to the north.

The figures are taken from twenty-three northern counties, embracing everything north of Chisago, Isanti, Sherburne, Stearns, Becker and Clay, and counting out the cities and villages. The gain in population for the rural districts of these twenty-three counties was approximately 83,000 in the five years since 1900. This represents the people who have lived in that part of the state five years or less, according to the residence tables.

Of this number only 12,242 have come from outside the state. They are found in the various counties as follows:

Carlton	380
Crow Wing	435
Wadena	502
Benton	232
Cass	686
Itasca	460
Kittson	425
Marshall	513
Mille Lacs	388
Pine	846
Red Lake	450
St. Louis	1,305
Beltrami	217
Todd	760
Hubbard	408
Morrison	566
Aitkin	945
Kanabec	310
Lake	112
Clearwater	140
Norman	575
Polk	1,070
Roseau	514

In his forthcoming report Director Wright will say concerning these figures:

"The increase of 83,000 in the northern part of the state includes births, which will amount in the five-year period to about 10 per cent of the total increase, or a little over 8,000, leaving about 74,000 people who have lived in that part of the state five years or less. No definite information can be secured as to this shift of population. There are about 62,000 people in that part of the state who have lived there five years or less and who were not born there; nor did they come into the state from other states or territories or from foreign countries. This increase came from other parts of the state, presumably many thousands from the southern part of the state.

"It is not alone in the northern counties of the state where there has been an influx of settlers from outside the state, for this element of new settlers can be found in every county in the state, even in counties which have decreased in population. In Dodge county, which has decreased nearly 600 in the last five years, over 300 new settlers have moved into that part of Dodge county outside of the villages in the last five years. From this it seems quite clear that the newer counties of the state have not always been the chosen fields of the newcomers, who have found homes for one reason or another in every nook and corner in the state. The increase in the population of the state is one constant addition and subtraction — a human ebb and flow—well-called a 'tide in the affairs of men.'"

CONSUMPTIVES CANNOT TEACH.

State Board of Health to Send Out Instructions.

Stringent methods to prevent the spread of tuberculosis have been determined on by the state board of health. A circular letter will be issued to the county school superintendents instructing them not to hire a teacher affected with tuberculosis nor to permit a child suffering from the disease to attend school.

This action was decided upon as a result of a conference with Dr. F. F. Wessbrook, director of the state laboratory, and Dr. H. W. Hill, the assistant director, who appeared at the quarterly meeting of the board and discussed plans for educational methods of dealing with tuberculosis from a laboratory and executive point of view. The action taken, according to Dr. Bracken, not only will provide for the safety of the public, but will be a godsend to the afflicted persons themselves, as the very worst thing they can do is to remain cooped up in a schoolroom.

Another matter taken up by the board was with regard to the abbatoirs and the rendering plants in the Midway distrist, St. Paul. Owing to the numerous complaints the board of health decided some time ago to take a definite stand and the matter was referred to the attorney general. Mr. Young stated that the board has jurisdiction over the plants. As a result of the decision the board will hold a hearing on the matter at its meeting Jan. 19, 1906.

MUST DRAW FOR EXPENSES.

State Revenue Fund Is Overdrawn $558,727.16.

The state revenue fund has been overdrawn $558,727.16 up to date, according to the balances made at the state treasurer's office at the close of business on the last day of October. The total overdraft permitted is $600,000, so only about $40,000 more can be drawn.

There will be some money coming in from the November tax settlements from the counties and the railroad taxes will begin to come in during December, but this will hardly make up the amount needed for current expenses till the close of the year. A section in the general appropriation bill provides that the governor, auditor and treasurer may make arrangements with the banks and other parties to pay the warrants issued against the revenue fund prior to the time when money to meet such appropriations comes into the state treasury.

The total balance in the other state funds is $1,004,545.98. From this the overdraft for the revenue fund has been drawn, leaving a cash balance in the state treasury of $445,818.82.

The balances in the different funds are shown by the following table:

	Debit.	Credit.
Revenue overdraft	$558,727.16
Soldiers' relief		$32,290.01
Agricultural college		236,173.23
Funding tax		155,190.38
Permanent school		176,881.54
General school		19,714.61
Permanent university		35,486.81
General university		114,351.81
Internal improvement		29,073.05
Internal improvement land		36,703.04
State institutions		6,927.28
State institutions fund interest		57,455.39
Swamp land		2,059.44
Swamp land fund interest		6,095.21
Grain inspection		94,640.29
Hay inspection		604.55
Cash balance	445,818.82
Totals	$1,004,545.98	$1,004,545.98

WAS ELECTION LEGAL?

Moorhead's City Council Considers an Important Problem.

The Moorhead city council is in doubt as to the legality of the recent special election. The law provides the hours during which the polls must remain open in cities of different sizes, and under the old census, Moorhead being under the 4,000 mark, the hours prescribed were from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Since the state census this year Moorhead has passed beyond that mark, and under the law for the cities the prescribed size of Moorhead the polls must be kept open from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. The city voted on Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., contrary to the statutes, and it looks as if the city attorney had slipped a cog in the preparation of the notice of election. It is claimed, however, that the old census figures hold good until the new figures have been officially given, and this, it is said, has not yet been done.

A serious difficulty arises in this connection that might affect the sale of the certificates of indebtedness. Investors in securities of that character are usually careful to look up all legal phases of the matter and a shadow of suspicion that the election was not strictly and technically legal, might make it impossible to secure the money for the improvements contemplated in the amendments voted for.

TOWNSHIP IS THREATENED.

Water Mysteriously Overflows Most of Land at Ramsey.

In the township of Ramsey, three miles west of Anoka, is a phenomenon which is puzzling the farmers.

Many years ago, according to Indian legends, a big lake covered part of the township. When civilization came the land was found tillable, no water being there. For fifty years crops have been raised with unbroken regularity.

This year the crops were planted as usual, but to-day much of this land is under water. There is water in the cellars of the farmers to a depth of several feet.

From the Stein farm to A. E. Merrill's is one broad expanse of rippling water. Along the railroad tracks the water is six and eight feet deep. Roads that have been passable since the time the old territorial road was laid out and when it was but a trail, are now under water.

Where it comes from is a matter of conjecture. Some are wont to ascribe it to springs. Others believe it due to the wet season. Yet other seasons have been as wet and cellars did not fill or fields disappear beneath a sheet of water.

Extends Mail Delivery.

Notification has been received in Winona that complete rural mail delivery in Winona county will be established on Jan. 2. An inspection for the establishment of the system was made last summer, but a reinspection was ordered by the postoffice department and only recently completed. This delayed the beginning of the service.

As mapped out the rural delivery includes twenty-two routes in Winona county and one in Wabasha county, extending over into Winona county. Two will start from Stockton, and one each from Altura, Homer, Lemoille, Minnesota City and Utica. The combined Wabasha and Winona county route will start from Minneiska.

In Far Northland

Tid-Bits of News for Scandinavians.

ORATOR FLAYED NORWAY.

Hr. Lithander Bitter in Criticism of Storthing's Act.

Swedish chauvinists had a fine opportunity to show themselves during the debate in the riksdag over the adoption of the Karlstad treaty, and several of them took advantage of the opportunity. Hr. Lithander, in the second chamber, made a heated address which attracted considerable attention in Scandinavia. He declared that it was the continued concessions by Sweden which had encouraged the Norwegians to carry out their treacherous plans. He could not bear to let all the untruths and distorted representations in the Norwegian storthing and press go unanswered.

The truth was, he said, that Norway was a vassal state when it was taken into the union, and Sweden had engaged in three wars and given up Pomerania and Rugen for the union. Since then Sweden had continued to make sacrifices for Norway, such as the reduction of charges for Norwegian ships in Swedish harbors; free trade in a splendid market like Sweden; the benefit of a diplomatic service at a nominal expense, etc.

All this, he declared, represented hundreds of thousands of millions, and was a clear debt on the part of Norway to Sweden, and it was incredible that no demand for an accounting had been made. At least Norway should have been grateful.

Hr. Bendicks was not satisfied with the terms of the treaty because, he said, Norway had secured more benefits than Sweden.

In the first chamber there was little or no debate, at least there was not much impassioned oratory, and the inevitable was accepted without any stir.

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen has been engaged in a newspaper duel with an anonymous writer in the Westminster Gazette, who is supposed to be none other than Sir Horace Rumbold, former British ambassador to Sweden and Norway. The diplomat is anything but flattering in his references to the Norwegians, whom he accuses of having been driven to their course by an exaggerated and morbid patriotism, the movement being hastened by republican doctrines sown by returning Norwegian-Americans.

He claims that it was the conduct of the Norwegian people during the Selmer crisis which converted Joseph Chamberlain from his home-rule ideas and made him a unionist. He was in Norway at the time and observed the trend of affairs at short range.

Norwegian Socialists have been clamorous for the establishment of a republic in Norway, and have insisted upon a referendum to determine the future form of government. According to the latest papers the sentiment was centering on a limited monarchy with Prince Carl of Denmark as king. The young prince, by the way, has Bernadotte blood in his veins, as his mother was a daughter of Carl XV.

Copenhagen understands that if Prince Carl is called to the Norwegian throne he is to pledge himself to take the name of Haakon and go down in history as Haakon VII. The last king of independent Norway was Haakon VI., who ruled in the latter part of the fourteenth century.

Lund Students Howl at Wiksell.

Prof. Knut Wiksall created a sensation in a students' meeting at Lund on Oct. 4 by declaring that Russia had as much right to demand the demolition of the Swedish fortifications at Boden as Sweden had to demand that the Norwegian frontier forts be razed. His address was soon drowned in a storm of yells and general uproar. He was advised to retire, but stood his ground, at which his friends surrounded him, as the situation appeared threatening. President Segerstedt advised the dissatisfied to leave the hall, which they did. The gas was turned out, after which Prof. Wiksell and his friends left the hall, first giving a cheer.

Death of Dr. Leman.

Dr. Philip Leman, one of the leading citizens of Gothenburg, died in that city Oct. 3, after a long illness caused by cancer. He had been a member of the municipal council for many years, represented his city in the first chamber of the riksdag, and had held many other important positions. He was born in Gothenburg, graduated from Upsala, studied law and was one of the leading jurists of Sweden.

The Lid on Throndhjem.

The municipal authorities of Throndhjem have passed a resolution prohibiting the sale of beer or wine in the city on Sundays and all holidays. The act is to take effect Jan. 1.

Honor to Ernst Sars.

Prof. Ernst Sars, the noted Norwegian historian, celebrated his seventieth birthday Oct. 11. He received delegations from the university at his home, a book of appreciations from his friends, including a poem by Bjornstjerne Bjornson, and many letters and telegrams. In the evening there was a torchlight procession by the university students and a banquet attended by Premier Michelsen, four other members of the ministry and the most distinguished men of science, art and literature.

PEASANTS ARE PROUD.

Gudbrandsdalen People Trace Their Ancestry to Important Conqueror.

The peasants of Gulbrandsdalen, in Central-Southern Norway, are very proud of their ancestry, writes a correspondent of the New York Post. They claim to be direct descendants form Harald Haarfagre, who, after defeating the many petty Norwegian kings in 872, made himself sole ruler of the land. Those royal peasants consider it beneath their dignity to marry outside their own class. The result is that in Gulbrandsdalen there are more cretins and degenerates than in any other part of the land. The following case illustrative of this family pride came under my observation:

Thor Sve, now dead, was some years ago one of the wealthiest farmers in his county; but his chief claim to outside notice was the unusual beauty of his three daughters. For the home education of these girls Thor Sve employed the best foreign teachers. While availing themselves of their many advantages, the girls did not object to the picturesque peasant costume, on which their father insisted.

One day—I know this sounds a bit like romance—the 18-year-old Marit stood by a gate which opened on a private road, when a good-looking, well-mounted stranger came riding up. He raised his hat to the beautiful Marit, and was about to dismount, when she opened the gate and bowed for him to pass. At first sight the horseman fell in love with the girl. Being single and a gentleman, the man sought out Thor Sve and boldly asked for the hand of Marit. He said he was an Englishman of wealth and position, but this had no effect on the royal peasant. "I will look into it," was the only response.

Finding that Marit reciprocated the stranger's love, Thor Sve at once started for England. There he learned that the young man had actually understated his wealth and position, for he belonged to the nobility. Returning to Norway, the peasant gave his consent to the marriage of his daughter, and never, since the days of Harald Haarfagre, was there such a grand event. But the other kinsmen were not satisfied. Sadly they shook their heads and muttered: "It is a disgrace that Marit should marry outside the family."

The Englishman took his bride to his own country, where her beauty made a sensation. They return to Norway every summer, living at Gulbrandsdalen, where they have built a fine house and where they are glad to entertain the other descendants of Harald Haarfagre and all the less royal who come within their gates.

ARDENT LITTLE SWEDE.

Ava Lagercrantz, in Her New York Studio, Belittles Norway.

Miss Ava Lagencrantz, a daughter of Vice Admiral Lagerkrantz of the Swedish navy, has opened a modest little atelier in New York, where she paints miniature portraits, in which she does remarkably good work. She has received many fine commissions and will undoubtedly enjoy a splendid success in America. She studied her art in Paris under Jerome Constant and others and is well known among the artists located in Paris.

Miss Lagercrantz is an ardent little Swede, judging from her remarks to a newspaper interviewer on the late crisis in Scandinavia, in which she said:

"I's good riddance," she assured her visitor, making a pretty moue at the thought, "for they never gave us anything but trouble. The only one I pity from the botoim of my heart is any monarch who is destined to rule them. We are all tremendously pleased at the turn affairs have taken. We will have at least fifty years of peace, for, according to the contract, the separation will cover that length of time, and then they must give five years' notice if they want to come back."

Away With Norsk Lion.

Thoraly Klavenes, one of the leaders of the movement for a new form of government in Norway, has attacked the design of the national coat of arms in the bitterest language. The lion as an emblem of Norway he characterizes as ridiculous, as the animal never inhabited Norway. He suggests the adoption of the elk in place of the lion. The idea has not won universal favor.

Danish Explorer in London.

Hr. Mikkelsen, the Danish Arctic explorer, is in London, the guest of Sir Clements Markham. He has a plan for reaching the unknown lands north of Alaska which is said to be indorsed by Mr. Markham. Mr. Mikkelsen is in London for the purpose of placing his plans before the Royal Geographical society.

A Sad Experience.

"How do you make such good bread?"

"By following my recipe closely."

"Can you let me have it?"

"I can, but it's like this: I gave that recipe to my next-door neighbor, and she didn't follow the directions, and her husband quarreled with her over the miserable stuff and she put all the blame on me and my recipe. And now she won't speak to me when we pass and her husband sicks his dog on our little boy."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FIRE SWEEPS WISCONSIN TOWN.

Business Portion of Brooklyn Almost Wiped Out.

Brooklyn, Wis., Nov. 4.—At 8 o'clock last night the business portion of this village was nearly wiped out by fire, which originated in the Brooklyn Mercantile building, destroying that structure, Frank Buchman's general store, A. G. Ellis' drug store, Snyder & Roberts' meat market, the postoffice and other smaller buildings. The Bank of Brooklyn was saved. This is the third time this village has been burned in the last twenty years. The loss will reach about $50,000. Fire departments from Evansville and Madison responded quickly, but on account of scant water supply could do but little.

JURY SUSPECT A CRIME.

Find Mystery in Winona Butcher's Sudden Death.

Winona, Minn., Nov. 4.—The coroner's jury which served at the inquest held over the remains of the late John Hamernik, who was found dead on the street on Wednesday morning from a farctured skull, would not accept the theory that the injury was sustained by a fall, and returned a verdict that the manner of receiving the injury was to them unknown. The police are still making a thorough investigation, but have been unable to find any further suspicious circumstances.

COLD BURSTS HYDRANTS.

Winona Water Service Suffers from Early Winter.

Winona, Minn., Nov. 4. — Winona has had a most unusual experience for the first of November. Many of the sprinkling hydrants around the city have been burst because of freezing, on account of which it has been necessary to stop springling, and the pipes have been very badly damaged. The "oldest inhabitant" says that such severe cold weather has never been experienced in this city at this season of the year.

AGED NEGRO IS CREMATED.

Colored Man, Believed to Be a Centenarian, Burned in His Shack.

Minneapolis, Nov. 4. — Paul Brown, an aged negro expressman, was burned to death yesterday in his shack here. Brown is supposed to have been more than a hundred years old. He was smoking in bed and the bed clothing took fire from his pipe. He was suffocated before help could reach him. Brown was a well-known character on the East side, where he had been an expressman for more than fifty years.

WOULD LOOK AT HER LUNGS.

Mayor of Ballard Defendant in Breach of Promise Suit.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Seattle, Wash., says:

Because Rosena Grover refused to allow him to inspect her lungs by means of the X-ray in a hunt for suspected tuberculosis germs, James Zook, mayor of Ballard, broke his engagement with the young woman. He has been sued by her for $25,000 damages for breach of promise.

MISMANAGEMENT IS CHARGED.

Petition Filed Asking for Receiver for Jewett Typewriter Company.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 4.—Thomas D. Morley of Mentor, Ohio, yesterday filed a bill in the federal court asking for a receiver for the Jewett Typewriter company, incorporated for $2,500,000. Charges are made of mismanagement, misappropriation of funds and discrimination in using dividends among preferred stockholders.

LAND SALES ARE ENDED.

List at Fergus Falls Is Now Practically Cleared.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Nov. 4. — A state land sale occurred here yesterday and was attended by 150 farmers. The land generally sold for good prices, and the state auditor announced that the list was nearly cleared up and that it was probable that no more sales would occur here for several years.

MILK FOR THE ROOSEVELTS.

Wisconsin Cattle Are Added to Eastern Dairy.

Janesville, Wis., Nov. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt and his family will soon be enjoying milk and cream furnished by Wisconsin cows. J. E. Foreman last week sold seven Guernsey cows to F. E. Patterson of Wilmington, Del. These cattle are a part of the herd that furnish the White House with milk and cream.

Sentenced for Murder.

Houghton, Mich., Nov. 4. — Egista Sabbatini was sentenced to from ten to twenty years in the Marquette penitentiary for the murder of Pia Lombardin last March at a christening ceremony.

Killed While Hunting.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 4.—Edward J. Briske of La Crosse was accidentally killed while hunting. He and E. Sloat were in a boat and a flock of ducks came up, and in getting his gun it was accidentally discharged.

NEW ULM RECALLS TRAGEDY.

City Shows Respect to the Memory of Dr. Gebhardt.

New Ulm, Minn., Nov. 3.—Yesterday was the anniversary of the murder of Dr. L. A. Gebhardt. In commemoration of the tragic event a flag floated at half-mast above the Otto Meyer block on Main street, the scene of the murder. As a token of respect to the memory of the dead dentist a floral cushion was sent to Mrs. S. Gebhardt, mother of the murdered man, at Black River Falls, Wis., by members of the citizens' committee in behalf of the citizens of New Ulm. The crime seems to be as much of a mystery as it was on the night of the tragedy. Little hope is entertained here that the guilty person will ever be discovered.

TELLS STORY OF MURDER.

Grensberg Put Acid in Nyman's Whisky to Get Rid of Him.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Nov. 3.—Nels Grensberg, the self-confessed murderer of Halvor Nyman, was brought to the city yesterday and bound over to the grand jury. Grenberg states that he poured soldering water into Nyman's whisky, this soldering water being a preparation of muriatic acid used in cleaning tinware before putting on the solder. Grenberg had a contract to support Nyman during the balance of his life and was to have his farm upon his death. He was hard pressed for money, and being unable to raise anything on contract while Nyman was living, he decided to put him out of the way. Nyman was seventy-eight years old and was ill.

ALEXANDER BOTKIN DIES.

Famous Politician Falls Victim of Long Continued Disease.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Alexander C. Botkin, chairman of the commission to revise the criminal laws under the department of justice, died here yesterday. Mr. Botkin had been for twenty-five years a sufferer from paralysis brought on by exposure in a storm during President Arthur's administration. He was a native of Wisconsin and at one time served as lieutenant governor of Montana. He was prominent in politics and was a friend of Senator Carpenter, Senator Thomas H. Carter and others. During the twenty-five years just passed, although afflicted, he had been active in business and political life.

TO BE HANGED IN DECEMBER.

Gov. Johnson Fixes Date for the Execution of Elk River Murderer.

St. Paul, Nov. 3. — C. D. Crawford, the Elk River box car murderer will hang Tuesday, Dec. 5. The date was fixed by Gov. Johnson yesterday. The selection of the date followed the receipt of the supreme court's findings, denying Crawford's application for a new trial and affirming the decision of the lower court. This is the second time a date for Crawford's exit from this life has been fixed. Originally he was to have been hanged Aug. 15, but through his attorneys, he secured a respite and later a hearing by the supreme court.

AID TO NAVIGATION.

Vesselmen Ask for Storm Signal Reporting Station on Devil's Island.

Duluth, Nov. 3. — A meeting of a committee of vesselmen to prepare a memorial to Willis M. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, urging that steps be taken to establish a storm signal vessel reporting station on Devil's Island, Lake Superior, was held yesterday. Capt. J. T. Rose was elected chairman and H. W. Brown, agent of the Pittsburg Steamship company, secretary. A memorial was prepared setting forth the need of the proposed station.

Remarks Cost Him Five.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—The first arrest made in Fargo for years on the charge of being a masher was made last night. Fred Catlin, who claimed Iowa as his home, was the prisoner. He was released on depositing $5 bail, and failed to materialize when the case was called. Catlin was standing in a crowd waiting for a long train to pass and made some remarks to young ladies standing there.

Typhoid in Lumber Camps.

Hayward, Wis., Nov. 3.—An epidemic of typhoid fever prevails in the logging district fifteen miles southeast of this city. Three Indians have died of the disease. A number of other cases are reported. The disease first manifested itself in the lumber camps on the Chippewa river, and it is thought its spread was occasioned by lack of proper sanitary precautions.

His Home Was Too Desolate.

St. Paul, Nov. 3.—Erden Schroeder was found in his bedroom with his throat cut and a razor clutched in his right hand at 7 o'clock yesterday morning by his son, Lloyd Schroeder. He was despondent over the disappearance of his wife, who left home three weeks ago.

Dies on Way to Early Mass.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Katherine Hanson, wife of a prominent citizen here, fell dead on the sidewalk yesterday morning from apoplexy. She was on the way to early mass at the cathedral.

A friend of the home—
A foe of the Trust

Calumet Baking Powder

Complies with the Pure Food Laws of all States.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

WELL, Alice Roosevelt is home again safe and sound, and the yellow correepondents must find another mark for sensations.

MINNEAPOLIS news note: Messrs. Smith, Jones, Brown and Johnson, and a number of other gentlemen whose names we did not learn were at St. Paul between trains Sunday.

THE Republican newspapers continue their onslaughts on the traveling men. The traveling men supported Johnson almost to a man, and we haven't heard one of them express himself as being sorry.

THERE is a law on the statute book which imposes a fine of $10 on every boy under 18 and on every school attendant under 21, who smokes cigarettes, with an alternative of five days in jail. Selling or giving cigarettes to minors is punishable by a fine of $50 or 30 days in jail.

THE Slayton Gazette thinks that "more men should be employed in our public schools to give virility to our young people." When we were a boy there were schoolma'ams around endowed with all the virility and strength necessary, and we doubt if there has been a noticeable deterioration.

"HAZING" at the colleges and universities ought to be prohibited. From an innocent and fun-loving sport it has degenerated into a brutal and murderous custom. A few weeks ago a new student in a Ohio college was tied to a railroad track and killed by a train. It is all right for college boys to have their fun, but when they descend to barbarity it is time for the authorities to take a hand in the game.

THE Fairmont Independent, with a sort of ghoulish glee, points to the fact that John A. McCall is a Democrat. We are obliged to admit the corn. McCall is the sort of a Democrat who three times contributed $50, 000 of the policy-holders' money to the Republican national committe to save the nation's honor. McCall has been so concerned about the nation's honor that he has forgotten what personal honor and integrity is like.

DEATH is rapidly decimating the ranks of the ex-governors of Minnesota. Horace Austin, who was governor from 1870 1874, died at a Minneapolis hospital Tuesday forenoon, failing to survive a surgical operation. Mr. Austin was a St. Peter man, and for a quarter of a century was prominent in public affairs. The former governors now living are Lucien F. Hubbard, Will R. M[illegible], Knute Nelson, David M. C[illegible], John Lind and Samuel R. Van [illegible]ant.

Ayer's

What are your friends saying about you? That your gray hair makes you look old? And yet, you are not forty! Postpone this looking old.

Hair Vigor

Use Ayer's Hair Vigor and restore to your gray hair all the deep, dark, rich color of early life. Then be satisfied.

"Ayer's Hair Vigor restored the natural color to my gray hair, and I am greatly pleased. It is all you claim for it."
MRS. E. J. VANDECAR, Mechanicsville, N. Y.

$1.00 a bottle.
All druggists.

J. C. AYER CO.,
Lowell, Mass.

— for —

Dark Hair

THE Chicago American tells a story of how the money of the policy holders in one of the old line companies was used to defeat a bill that would have given the policy holders a chance to bring suit against the company to recover money illegally used. Four of the leading legislators called on the agent of the company at Albany and sat down with him to a game of poker. On four hands he managed to loose $1,000 to each of the legislators, and then they went out to work against the bill. No one could prove in court that those men had been bribed, but the work was just as effective as if they had been handed the money directly for their votes.

MARY MCFADDEN tells it so well that we cannot add to the sympathy and philosophy expressed in the following: "The newspaper fraternity will extend its sincere sympathy to Editor Greeley of the Big Fork Compass, whose aged mother was frozen to death in the woods near her cabin on the Big Fork, last week. A searching party found her in the drifted snow, where she had evidently fallen after vain attempts to locate her home. She had wandered into the woods before the storm began. The tragedies of pioneer life are especially cruel, its hardships many and its pleasures all to those who follow the trail blazer."

WILLIAM E. CURTIS, the renowned correspondent of the Chicago Record Herald has been in Canada lately and has explained the tariff fight in in that counry. The lumber interests of Canada are demanding a high tariff on lumber shipped in from this country. He says that in 1904 more than nine million dollars worth of lumber was shipped from the United States across the border and entered Canada free, and during 1905 there was considerable increase. The lumber barons of this country ship their product to Canada, pay the freight and undersell the Canadian competitors, yet, claim it is necessary to have a tariff on Canadian lumber. They can pay freight and undersell their Canadian brothers in that country, but cannot compete with them if they pay freight and come here. But that is as consistent as all argument in favor of a protective tariff.

IN the past the state board of control has maintained a silence that was almost dignified, but hereafter more publicity will be given to a portion of its dealings, says the St. Peter Herald. Through the efforts of Hon. L. A. Rosing, the democratic member, the board has voted to receive public bids for construction work and many contractors who have refused to prepare estimates for state buildings may now compete with the knowledge that they will receive a square deal. Mr. Rosing's stand in this matter is to be commended. The purchasing agents of the state should not engage in transactions which will not bear the light of day and the starchamber session is woefully out of place. Their course was one calculated to arouse suspicion and they will be wise to extend the new practice to all of their transactions.

THE officials who wrecked the Northwestern National Life Insurance company of Minneapolis are to be brought to the bar of justice. W. F. Bechtel, the president, W. A. Kerr, Dr. J. F. Force and Wallace Campbell, directors, have been indicted by the Hennepin county grand jury, and must stand trial for the misappropriation of funds. Elmer H. Dearth, former insurance commissioner, has also been indicted for accepting a bribe to suppress a report affecting the solvency of the company. John J. O'Shanghnessy, also a former insurance commissioner, has been censured for accepting a bribe, but no indictment would lodge against him because the statute of limitations has run. It will be remembered that this is the company which was saved from total wreck by the prompt action of Governor Johnson and Commissioner O'Brien last winter in compelling the old officers to resign and turn the affairs of the concern over to a citizens' committee headed by Hon. Loren W. Collins. The company is now paying its losses and getting a firm hold in the insurance world. In this single instance the people of Minnesota have seen the direct benefit of having capable and honest state officials on guard.

The 5c "I Lead" and 10c "B. B" cigars are the best to be had for the money.

PEANUT POLITICS.

Hon. Frank M. Eddy, four times Congressman and long prominent in Republican councils, has an article in last week's issue of his Sauk Centre Herald relative to state politics worthy the consideration of every voter. He flays unmercifully the small-bore country newspaper editors, who have been indulging in petty criticism of Governor Johnson and his administration, and advises the Republicans to take higher and broader ground by admitting the governor's honesty, ability and popularity. Mr. Eddy says:

"Some misguided writers in the dailies have taken it upon themselves to criticise Governor Johnson for his attendance on the various county fairs or as they sneeringly term them "the pumpkin shows" held in various parts of the state this fall, and there are some few country papers that draw their inspiration from the city dailies aforesaid whose original ideas are as scarce as their subscribers who take up the refrain.

"As a matter of fact these "pumpkin shows" have done more to advance the agricultural interests of this state than all the fast horse, high wire, trained dog, guideless wonders, Dan Patch, fire works hippodromes that have been held at Hamline since the institution of the state fair. These "pumpkin raisers" who give these "pumpkin shows" are the men that have placed Minnesota in the very front rank of states. They are the ones and not the railroad builders, wholesale jobbers and lumber barons, that have made our state what it is and have made it possible for the millionaires to accumulate their millions and if they want the govenernor of the state to appear at their "pumpkin shows" it is his duty to attend if he can do so without neglecting the duties he was elected to perform. It is the duty of the governor to make himself intimately acquainted with the citizenry of the state over whose destinies he presides, and in no way can he better do this than by attending the "pumpkin shows" that are annually held in the various counties. It is the duty of the governor to attend every gathering of the people that he can attend without neglecting his official duties and the course of Governor Johnson in attending county fairs, school commencements and similar meetings in the various parts of the state should be commended by right thinking men and not condemned. We do not imagine that the Governor takes any great amount of pleasure in attending these assemblages, no one but a natural born egotist finds any satisfaction in placing himself constantly on exhibition but it is one of the duties that he assumes when he assumes the office.

"We are getting tired of the small bore criticism of the present governor. He was an experiment it is true, but he made good and the only legitimate criticism that can be made on him is his politics. The fact that Governor Johnson has made a good governor makes him all the more dangerous to the continued republican supremacy in this state. It is not the Tim Murphys, the Dave Hills and the Arthur Gormans that the republicans need fear. It is the Bryans, the Folks and the Johnsons that are going to make us shuck our clothing to get out and work as we never worked before if we maintain republican supremacy in the nation and the state. And we cant win with Lodges, Forkers, Grosvenors and men of that ilk for standard bearers, We must have Roosevelts, LaFollettes, Nelsons, men from the people and of the people, to lead us in battle. Men that stand for something and who dare proclaim their position."

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

It will nourish and strengthen the body when milk and cream fail to do it. Scott's Emulsion is always the same; always palatable and always beneficial where the body is wasting from any cause, either in children or adults.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

SCOTT & BOWNE
CHEMISTS
409 Pearl St., New York
50c. and $1.00.
All Druggists.

The Busy Store . .

Can you tell how a fur or cloak will wear by merely examining it? We would both say NO! so the only way for you would be to buy goods made by firms of good reputation and reliability and there is where

We "base our claim to your business" in selling yon

LANPHER FURS and LANDESMAN CLOAKS

Ladies' Cloaks at
$5, $7.50, $9, $10, $12, $15, $17.50, $21, $50.

Ladies' Furs at
75c, 1.25 $2, 2.75, 3.50 5.00, 8.50, 15.00, $25,

Good Blanket Weather any style, color or size

50c to $7.00

PURE FOOD GROCERIES . . . . .

Holiday Embroidering is now be- and we are prepared with the largest line of Corticelli silks and stamped linens in the city.

Felt Shoes:
For Men—$1.50, $2, $2.75, $3,
For Women—$1.25, 1.50 1.65
For Children—$1.25 and 1.50.

Mishawka Brand - - Cold Proof

Ask a Lumberjack what are Gold Seal and Ball brand rubbers? He'll say, "the best."

Any Style and Price

. . GARCEAU & ZAISER . .

Metropolitan College
HUTCHINSON, MINN.

Our new $50,000 College Building, located on a beautiful ten acre campus on Brooklyn Heights, overlooking the city.

OPENS NOVEMBER 6, 1905

Courses: Bookkeeping, Office Practice, and Higher Accounting; Shorthand and Typewriting; Telegraphy; Preparatory Department in English from the lowest grades and up, qualifying the student for entrance to high schools, or colleges; also courses in Civil Service and Music.

Individual and Class Instruction. Students enter at anytime. No entrance examination. Tuition, $50 for 10 months.

Board at the Dormitory, $2 per week. Elegantly furnished, steam heated and electric lighted rooms at $3 per month. Lavatories, toilets, and bathrooms on every floor of the Dormitory.

An ideal college, located in a model college city, two hours from Minneapolis; a college for men and women of all ages, nonsectarian; exemplary government; recommended by the mayors of Minneapolis and Hutchinson, and by every church, business house, and bank wherever known.

This college is under the management of the Metropolitan Commercial College, 329 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, and the student may change from one college to the other without the loss of a single lesson. Nowhere else in the United States can you find better equipped Commercial, Shorthand, or Telegraph departments. Our teachers are the best money can secure. The Employment Department connected with our Minneapolis College enables us to place all graduates in positions. Allow us to arrange a course for you, and we will guarantee you a good position as soon as competent.

For full particulars address G. M. Langum, President Metropolitan College, Hutchinson, Minn., or 329 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

New Game Law Ruling.

Deer and moose skins, purchased in good faith from persons who have taken them from animals legally killed, may be lawfully shipped out of the state for tanning purposes.

The supreme court, in a decision today, so holds, and further denies the right of the game and fish commission to confiscate such hides so shipped.

The decision was written by Justice Elliot in a case to decide this point from Crow Wing county, where C. A. Allbright as executor of the estate of L. E. Warren, deceased, shipped several deer and moose hides to New York to be tanned.

Mr. Garceau's Recent Purchase.

The sale of the J. I. Wyer and G. A. Archer interests in the First State Bank to Theo. Garceau, cashier of that popular financial institution, is of more than passing moment. The interests held by Messrs. Wyer and Archer aggregated 149 shares of the bank's stock and the price paid by Mr. Garceau was $20,115, all cash. While the people of Red Lake Falls will regret the retirement of Mr. Wyer from the business circles of the city, they will be glad to know that the sale was made to a local business man of the high standing of Mr. Garceau. Mr. Garceau's recent purchase carries with it a controlling interest in the bank, his holdings now representing more than two thirds of the bank's stock. The transfer means no change in the management of the bank, since Mr. Garceau has been the active head for a great many years.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA.

What Others Say About This Section Pertinent Facts for Your Careful Perusal

The following from "The Farmers Call" of Quincy, Ill., contains some observations made during the editorial trip make through this section last summer that are worthy of pretty careful perusal by the valley farmers. The Call says;

"As we rode through northern Minnesota on the railway trains, or were driven around in buggies, the thought frequently came to us that there is no hardship any more in pioneering, judged by the standards of fifty or seventy-five years ago. Indeed, it is a fair question if there is any real pioneering nowadays. We found no place in Northern Minnesota where apparently every farmer did not have a buggy and a good, stylish team to attach to it. Everywhere we found on the farms self binders, mowers, sulky plows, etc. We found these on the farms just being made from the wild land. We did not see 2 percent of the farm machinery given any shelter of any kind. It is certainly a rich soil and it is certainly profitable farming that will stand such expenses for farm machinery allowed to rot and rust without hinder and will yet permit farmers to pay for land out of which they make good farms, and have for their enjoyment such things as buggies and organs.

"The useful clovers and grasses here grow most luxuriantly, and it certainly will not be difficult to provide a dairy farm with an abundance of pure, cool water and also of ice. We believe that before twenty-five years southern Minnesota, which has achieved such creditable results and notable victories in dairying, will be pushed closely, if, indeed, it is not surpassed in dairying, by the northern half of the state."

Favored by Both Parties.

Republicans and Democrats alike praise Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs colds and all throat and lung diseases, as no other remedy can compare with it. It is safe and sure. F. T. Slater, merchant, 171 Main St., Gloucester, Mass., writes, "Foley's Honey and Tar cured me of a very bad cough which I had for three months though other remedies failed to benefit me. I can highly recommend it for coughs and colds." Sold a A. L. Reicherts.

To California Without Change

The North-Western Line has inaugurated through tourist car service to California; these cars leave Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and are modern, wide vestibuled cars. For information as to rates, train service, etc., write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A., St. Paul.

DARING OF LIONS.

Incidents to Prove That the Brutes Are Not Cowardly.

It has been said many times that lions are cowardly brutes, but of the many lions with which I have had personal dealings, expectedly and unexpectedly, the epithet cowardly is the last I should consider appropriate in describing them. I have been charged by a lion, and he certainly did not look cowardly. I have come face to face, at a distance of some twenty feet, with a family party of half a dozen, fortunately full fed. They stood, with quiet dignity, looking at us, and then slowly moved away, stopping every few yards to stand and look again. There was neither fear nor meanness in their appearance or behavior.

I have seen lions stalking game, and I have myself been stalked by them. If I could have encouraged myself with the conviction of their cowardliness when I was the quarry and they the hunters, it would have put a different aspect on the situation. We were at this time living in a station over seventy miles from the nearest connecting link with the outside world, and when man eating lions took possession of the one road which led to this link things became serious.

A large troop was reported, and the natives maintained that this troop ran along in the grass parallel with the caravan road (a path some ten inches wide), and, having selected the most edible member of the caravan, jumped upon him like a flash, and, seizing him, disappeared as quickly as they came.

Our mail runners, attached to whom were a couple of native police armed with rifles, were several times attacked. Finally, as the mail party was camping one night, fortunately for it, with a native caravan, the lions became so bold that, in spite of fires, they sprang upon a native and carried him off into the bush.—Mrs. S. L. Hinde in Blackwood's Magazine.

Churches.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Very Rev. E. Fayolle, Rector.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8, and 10 a. m.—Rev. Father Ansgar, Pastor

PRESBYTERIAN—Services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., every Sunday. Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Rev. H. W. Knox, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

I. O. O. F.—Clearwater Lodge No. 133, meets every Saturday evening at I. O. O. F. hall. Visitors are always welcome.—F. A. Mizen, N. G. William Schwalen, V. G., F. A. Grady, R. S., James E. Ford, F. S.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—Red Lake Falls Lodge No. 169, meets every Monday evening at K. of P. hall.—W. A. McIntyre, C. C.; S. L. Lewis, K. of R. and S.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS—Meets every other Friday evening at C. O. F. hall. L. A. Kaufer, Chief Ranger; J. R. Fortier, Recording Secretary.

MODERN WOODMEN—Meets every other Wednesday at M. W. A. hall.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Merchants State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

Junior Toilettes
THE FASHION AND PATTERN MAGAZINE FOR YOUNG FOLKS.

10c. A COPY, $1.00 A YEAR.

FOR SALE BY
BOOKSELLERS AND NEWSDEALERS

Paper Patterns exclusive, stylish, practical and modest in price.

If you cannot get JUNIOR TOILETTES from your bookseller write for sample copy or send your subscription to

TOILETTES FASHION CO.
172 Fifth Ave., Cor. 22d St., New York.

HOLLISTER'S
Rocky Mountain Tea Nuggets
A Busy Medicine for Busy People.
Brings Golden Health and Renewed Vigor.
A specific for Constipation, Indigestion, Live and Kidney Troubles, Pimples, Eczema, Impure Blood, Bad Breath, Sluggish Bowels, Headache and Backache. It's Rocky Mountain Tea in tablet form, 35 cents a box. Genuine made by HOLLISTER DRUG COMPANY, Madison, Wis.
GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Will cure any case of Kidney or Bladder disease that is not beyond the reach of medicine.

GIVEN UP TO DIE.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., [illegible] writes: "For over four years I w[illegible] with a kidney and bladder affection and was unable to work. Three physicians [illegible] help me and I was given up to die. [illegible] Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief and after [illegible] second bottle I was entirely cured."

Two Sizes 50 Cents and $1.00

THE DAYS AND HOURS

ORIGIN OF OUR SYSTEM OF THE DIVISION OF TIME.

It Was Devised by the Babylonians, Who Were a Very Clever People, Was Adopted by the Greeks and Has Survived Through All Changes.

If you pull your watch out of your pocket you will have in your hand one of the most wonderful pieces of machinery ever constructed. Think how it works throughout the day and night and how it keeps it up year in, year out. Think how the second hand points to 3,600 divisions of time during every hour. It never sleeps.

If it is like the average watch, it will be built up of no fewer than 175 different pieces. These pieces will have passed through more than 2,400 separate operations, each being a distinct form of manufacture.

The fourth jewel wheel screw is so very small that it is almost invisible. To the naked eye it appears to be but a speck of dust. When examined under a magnifying glass it will be seen to be a perfect screw, having 260 threads to the inch, each thread being well cut. Actually the diameter of this screw is so little as the four one-thousandth part of an inch, and it would take no less a number than 100,000 similar screws in order to fill an ordinary thimble as used by the ladies.

Each screw has a double head and has to be hardened. After the hardening process the screws are arranged in frames, being placed in with the heads upward. This delicate operation is done by the sense of touch alone instead of by sight, and great rapidity marks the skillful operator. Somewhere about a hundred screws are placed in each frame, and the frames are attached to a machine which polishes the heads of the screws 10,000 at a time.

It will be seen how marvelous these screws are, yet one of them forms but one tiny piece of a watch. Still, this will show the remarkable nature of that everyday article. When special watches are considered there is indeed room for wonder.

For instance, take the watch which was presented to Catherine I. on her coronation as empress of Russia. This watch was one of the most remarkably constructed instruments ever made.

On the opposite side of the works of this extraordinary timekeeper there was an exact representation of the holy sepulcher, with a carved image of the Roman guard stationed outside it. As soon as the watch case was opened the imitation rocks would roll away from the mouth of the sepulcher, the soldier would kneel, angels would appear at opposite sides of the opening, and sweet strains of music would be heard. This remarkable watch took nine years' uninterrupted labor in order to construct.

The first clock in any way resembling those in use at present was made by Henry Vick in the year 1370, and it was made for Charles V. of France. This monarch was surnamed the Wise, but his education was imperfect in many respects, and he knew it well. As a result he was very obstinate in his claim to know everything. He showed this obstinacy when Vick brought the new timepiece for his approval. The king could not find any fault with its working, so he criticised the figures on the dial.

He told the maker that he had made a grievous error, as the figures to denote the hour of 4 should be four I's. Poor Vick ventured to tell the king that he was wrong. "I am never wrong!" thundered the irate monarch. "Take the clock away and correct the mistake at once upon pain of my displeasure!"

Vick had to do as he was told, with the result that all our timepieces have the fourth hour labeled IIII instead of IV, as should be the case if the correct numeration were followed.

How many people have the slightest notion why sixty seconds make a minute and why the hour is divided into sixty minutes, and so on? Why are there not ten hours to the day and ten to the night?

The reason is very simple. It is because the people of Babylon reckoned not only by a decimal system of notation, but also by a sexagesimal system. That is to say, they not only reckoned by tens, but also by sixties. The Babylonians were very clever people, and they saw that the decimal system was by no means the best.

They knew that no number had so many divisors as has sixty.

How about the division of the day into hours? The Babylonians began by comparing the progress made by the sun on its daily journey to the distance covered by a good walker, this being done at the time of the equinox. The astronomers divided the sun's journey into twenty-four parasangs, whence our hours.

The Babylonian system was adopted by the Greeks. It is one of the most remarkable facts of history that the system has survived through many changes made since the days of Babylonia. [illegible]

[illegible] we may be, [illegible] is always wanting to mar [illegible] fortune.—Horace.

TRAFALGAR.

The Swiftness of Action of This Great Naval Battle.

The world will see other sea fights, but never one like this, so close, so swift and with so much in it of the personal element. And what may be called the pace of the battle, the swiftness with which incident follows incident, is almost without a parallel in the history of war. The first gun was fired at 12:15; at 12:22, or only seven minutes after the French guns opened on him, Collingwood, with the British ships nearest to him, was through the enemy's line.

Only one brief minute later, or at 12:23 by the log of the Euryalus, Nelson is in the fight, and is pouring his first dreadful broadside into the stern of Villeneuve's flagship. Two minutes later the French and Spanish topmasts begin to fall. At 1:32, or sixty-seven minutes after the first gun was fired, Blackwood reports "the center and rear of enemy's line to be hard pressed in action." The fate of the battle is practically settled. Already some of the enemy's ships have struck. The swift moments run on, and the pulses of the great fight keep time with them. The advantage is not all on one side.

At 2:36, for example, or less than two hours from the moment when, a shape of majestic pride, the Royal Sovereign moved into the zone of the enemy's fire, she lies a mastless and helpless bulk. She has done her work, but she has paid a terrible price for it. There is at this moment a flutter of flags on the masthead of the Victory, for Nelson has a great captain's watchful vision, and a frigate—it is the Euryalus—comes down with every inch of canvas set, groping her way through the smoke, to take the battered hull of the Royal Sovereign in tow, so that her broadsides—the mighty ship can still fight, though she cannot sail—bear upon the enemy's ships within her reach.

This is not a battle spread through days. It is compressed almost into minutes. The first shot was fired at 12:15; before 3 o'clock flag after flag is going down; a great fleet is crumbling into ruin. By 5:30 o'clock all is over.—Cornhill Magazine.

FINGERS AND FORKS.

Never use a fork when taking a piece of bread.

Avoid using a spoon for anything that is not liquid.

Pastry should be eaten with a fork; also ice cream where the proper forks are served.

It is permissible to eat celery, corn, asparagus, water cress and undressed salad with the fingers.

Olives should be lifted from the dish with the olive fork or spoon, but should be eaten from the fingers.

Lemon is often served with fish and pancakes. The lemon should be taken in the fingers and squeezed upon the viands.

If cut sugar is served and there are no sugar tongs in the bowl, lift the pieces out as delicately as possible with the tips of the fingers.—New York Press.

Composite Pronoun Wanted.

The want of a composite pronoun to express both "he" and "she," and, what is sometimes more important, to express neither he nor she, must have embarrassed every one at some time or another. There are ungrammatical ways of shelving the difficulty, such as, for instance, by translating the convenient French "on" as "they," when we really mean one person who may be either masculine or feminine. The lack of a portmanteau word to express both sexes without specifying either did not, however, trouble the new maid who approached her mistress with the ingenious remark, "Please'm, a friend of mine has called—and may I ask it to tea?"—London Chronicle.

A Point In Punctuation.

For a century past, probably longer, the rule of the best printers and publishers has been, "Three words in the same construction are separated by commas." Two examples will illustrate the rule:

"John, James and Thomas have come."

As so punctuated the first name is vocative, the second and third nominative. Two persons have come.

"John, James, and Thomas have come."

And now the three names are all nominatives. Three persons have come.

The two meanings can be indicated otherwise only by a footnote.—New York Times.

A Stubborn Opening.

The head of the household was going through her husband's pockets the next morning.

"What kept you out so late last night?" she suddenly demanded.

"It was the opening of the campaign, my dear," the lesser half replied.

"Well, it didn't take three corkscrews to open it, did it?"

And she drew the offending articles from his side pocket and waved them before him.—[illegible]

"Yes [illegible]

"I am [illegible]

[illegible] throat [illegible] then, of [illegible] to that when we [illegible] a living together."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Try It.

"Don't you smell fire?"

"No, I don't think I do."

"I don't either, but most people do if you ask them."

THE MUSSULMAN.

His Devotion Is Intense and He Is Proud of His Religion.

A traveler in Africa writes: "This is a land of religion. The Mussulman's devotion is intense, ever present and all pervading, being not an accessory tacked on, as it were, to his life to be practiced more or less surreptitiously, but an essential part, wherewith and wherein he lives at all times. A Mussulman prays openly and publicly, in nowise afraid to be seen. Every man wears his string of beads whereon he records the number of his daily prayers. Notwithstanding its, to us, uninviting appearance, the religion has made and still is making great strides in Africa, and one can only attribute this to the fact that here at last is a religion of which its adherents are in no way ashamed. It offers to the faithful absolute assurance of salvation and engenders that blind, unhesitating faith therein which is so comforting to the native mind.

"Seeing a crowd of pilgrims bound for Mecca patiently—nay, with pleasure—enduring the worst treatment that one could imagine meted out to herds of driven slaves, one envies the excess of faith that can engender such a disposition. Though robbed, slain, starved, herded with pestilence and subjected to countless hardships and annoyances, yet year after year they come from far and near thousands and tens of thousands strong on this the most wonderful and far reaching of latter day pilgrimages.

"At Jedda one sees pilgrims from all corners of the globe—Dutch subjects from Java, Chinese from Peking, shiploads from India and Farther India, Russian subjects from all parts of the great empire, French subjects from Algiers, from Morocco, and dusky negroes who have tramped for months from the western shores of Africa. Through many lands and midst many tongues they come, all to meet at this thronged center of the maelstrom of the Mussulman faith."

GREEK ATHLETES.

The Way They Ran and the Style of Track They Used.

"In the foot races of the ancient Greeks," says a writer, "the shape of the stadium caused a great difference, since it was not circular, but long and narrow, with one or both ends semicircular. Consequently the runners had to take a sharp turn at the end of each lap, while except at the turn they were running a straight course. Evidently this turn needed much practice, for the pictures on the old vases show athletes practicing this one part of the race as a kind of drill, taking each movement separately.

"In early times, when all the runners turned round the same post, the turn gave opportunities for foul play, and there are stories of one competitor tripping another at the post or seizing him by the hair to prevent his winning. But later, in the shorter distances at least, each runner had his own track and post to turn round, and probably the separate courses were roped off in much the same way as they are now in sprint races. For the start elaborate arrangements were made and at Olympia the stone slabs are still to be seen with the grooves at regular intervals that had to be toed at starting.

"Greek long distance men ran in the most approved style of the present day. But the sprinters apparently employed a considerable amount of arm action and took very long steps, rising well on to the toes. Then there was the race in armor, an event highly praised by several of the Greek writers as a valuable preparation for war and which is supposed to explain the famous running charge of the Athenians at Marathon."

A Literary Coincidence.

"My father, W. Clark Russell," said Herbert Russell in telling of a literary coincidence, "had finished maturing the plot of his novel, 'The Death Ship,' which is a version of the legend of Vanderdecken. I was his amanuensis at the time. He said to me, 'Tomorrow we will begin the story.' On the following morning when I entered his study to take his dictation of the opening lines he showed me a letter he had just received. It was from W. S. Gilbert, the well known dramatist, asking him why he did not write a novel about the Flying Dutchman."

Funerals In the Highlands.

A Scottish correspondent writes of funerals in the highlands: "There are no undertakers here. A carpenter makes the simple coffin, relatives and friends carry it, hip high, to its last resting place, which is dug when the end of the journey is reached, and having walked perhaps six miles to the chosen kirkyard, they take a refreshment of sandwiches and whisky and walk home again. The [illegible] absence of pomp is maintained, but there is the added embellishment of pipe music."

Got Down to Them.

[illegible]

Force of Habit.

"How many times has your husband been under the knife?"

"Dear me, I don't know [illegible]. He has come so accustomed to it that he lies down to be operated on every time he sees a doctor."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Arctic explorers say the aurora produces an agreeable, prickly, stimulating sensation.

Ease Elegance Excellence in every department to the
Two Overland Trains
of the
GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
"The Comfortable Way"
New Observation Compartment Cars New Dining Car
Palace Sleeping Cars Tourist Sleepers
For detailed information address
J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY

[illegible]

To all points in FLORIDA
Less Than half-fare for the round trip from St. Paul, storting November 14 and returning within 21 days. Stop overs south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi rivers. Unusual chance! Improve it!
Full details concerning service via the Mississippi River Scenic Line and Chicago or St. Rouls will be furnished by
F. M. RUGG, Northwestern Passenger Agent,
Germania Life Building St. PAUL.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN Hair Renewer
A splendid tonic for the hair, makes the hair grow long and heavy. Always restores color to gray hair, all the dark, rich color of youth. Stops falling hair, also. Sold for fifty years. If your druggist cannot supply you, send $1.00 to R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N. H.

WASHING CLOCK FACES.

Some Timepieces Grow Soiled More Quickly Than Others.

"I've been washing the faces of the city clocks nigh on to ten years, I guess," said a pleasant Scotch-Irish-American, "and before that I did it in the old country. There aren't many face washers in this land, and the few who know the business do well at it." He looked prosperous in his tweed suit and derby hat.

"Is your work anything like that of the steeple climber?" he was asked.

"Bless you, no," he replied, with twinkling eye, much amused, "only in one thing, and that is that mostly sailors take up with the trade. That's because we're good climbers, you know. I've washed the faces of city and church clocks that were 180 feet from the ground, and it took me two and three weeks to do it. I'm a practical clock repairer, too—have to be, you know—and do my work in a huge wooden cradle made for the purpose. Some clocks get their faces dirty in a year or so; others remain clean ten years, and so on. Old Ben, Westminster's great clock, is expected to keep clean fifteen years.

"In the old days the trade was more dangerous. We used to work from scaffolds and got many dangerous falls. Now we have the cradles and all the fixings and comforts, and if a man keeps his head he can work as well as on the curb. How is the pay? Well that's hard to figure, for we work by the job. We don't clean clock faces in winter, so we make enough in the summer to last the year round. Of course sometimes the clocks are taken out of their cases and repaired in the shops. Last year I cleared $2,000 and visited only two other cities, Chicago and Boston. This year I'll make more, because building operations have grimed the clocks and given our trade a lift."—New York Post.

The Word Derrick.

The word derrick for a machine used to lift heavy weights is curiously derived from a London hangman in the beginning of the seventeenth century whose name was Theodoric and who is often mentioned in old plays. [illegible]

A Blot of Ink.

[illegible] used to tell how on one occasion he had visited the famous house of the Thrales in that suburb of London where Dr. Johnson was at home. "Johnson," said the canon in recalling the visit, "had occupied two rooms, and these were left as he had used them. The sight was an extraordinary one, for ink was splashed all over the floor and even on the walls. It was one of the doctor's habits to dip his pen in ink and then shake it."

Comfort Trains

Are more than half the journey. East and west over the Northern Pacific the service is unexcelled. Safety of travel is assured. Every luxury and comfort. No better dining car meals anywhere. The Northern Pacific's 5,325 miles of main and branch lines form thru routes between all the important poidts. Fast trains over the smoothest of roadway. Before you plan your next journey ask F. A. Mizen, Local Agent about rates.

Northern Pacific Railway.

A. M. CLELAND,
Gen'l Passeuger Agent,
St. Paul.

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

Don't Grind YOUR LIFE AWAY
Become a demonstrator and earn $5.00 to $10.00 a day. Man or Woman. Guaranteed salary if wanted. Household necessity—sells like magic. Our factory working overtime. Act today.
COLONIAL SUPPLY CO.,
Minneapolis, Minn.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Not Fatal!

No Matter What Doctors Say—We Know That Heart Trouble in Many Cases Can Be Cured.

There are seven main features of heart disease, viz.: (1) Weakness or Debility; (2) Rheumatism or Neuralgia; (3) Valvular Disorder; (4) Dilation; (5) Enlargement; (6) Fatty Degeneration; (7) Dropsy.

Documentary evidence will prove thousands of so-called "incurables" have been absolutely cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Patients often have no idea their disease is heart trouble, but ascribe it to Indigestion, Liver Complaint, etc.

Here are some of the symptoms: Shortness of breath after exercise. Smothering Spells. Pain in Chest, left Shoulder and arm. Discomfort in Lying on one side. Fainting Spells. Nervous Cough. Swelling of Feet and Ankles. Paleness of Face and Lips. Palpitation. Nightmare. Irregular Pulse.

"I have great faith in Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and speak of its merits whenever opportunity presents. I can now go up and down stairs with ease, where three weeks ago I could hardly walk one block." One year later.—"I am still in good health; the Heart Cure did so much for me, that I find it a far greater medicine than you claimed it to be."—S. D. YOUNG, D. D., 697 North Pine St., Natchez, Miss.

Money back if first bottle fails to benefit.

FREE Write us and we will mail you a Free Trial Package of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, the New, Scientific Remedy for Pain. Also Symptom Blank for our Specialist to diagnose your case and tell you what is wrong and how to right it. Absolutely Free. Address: DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., LABORATORIES, ELKHART, IND.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

TIME CARD —OF— TRAINS.
RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at 7:45 a m

SOUTH-BOUND
No. 156—Departs 6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan. Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.
F. A. MIZEN. Agent.

St. Benedict's Academy.......

ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.

A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

McMURRAY'S
VANILLA
WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

WELL DIGGING ...

I will dig wells by the day, foot or job and guarantee satisfaction on every job. Repairing a specilty. I now devote my entire attention to this work. Leave orders at Courier office.

A. O. LETVIG, Wylie, Minnesota.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS
WITH Dr. King's New Discovery
FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS and COLDS Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.
S[illegible] T[illegible] [illegible]d Quickest Cure for all [illegible] and LUNG TROUB-[illegible] [illegible]NEY BACK.

[illegible]ASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
[illegible] Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

Son Lost Mother.

"Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my mother," writes E. B. Reid, of Harmony, Me. "For the past five years, however, on the slightest sign of a Cough or Cold, I have taken Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved me from serious lung trouble." His mother's death was a sad loss for Hr. Reid, but he learned that [illegible] must not be neglected, and how [illegible] cure it. Quickest rel[illegible]d cure for [illegible]ghs and colds. Pric[illegible] 50c and [illegible] guaranteed at All Druggists. Trial [illegible]ree.

POISONOUS GASES.

[illegible] From Fermenting Food the Source of Much Suffering For Minneapolis Man.

A remarkable story of suffering is related by Mr. Edgar Orton, 1504 21st St., East, Minneapolis, Minn.

Mr. Orton has been a victim of Stomach Trouble for several years. His food did not digest and would ferment in his stomach causing him no end of pain and sugering.

In a recent letter regarding his experience, Mr. Orton said: "every thing I would eat seemed to disagree with me. I had continuous pains and a depressed feeling all over my body. Time passed and I grew worse and worse. Doctors could not relieve me nor did the many remedies that I tried. At last I gave up hope. One day while speaking to a friend about it, he induced me to try the famous Cooper Medicines that are so talked of and reluctantly I purchased several bottles. When I had finished two bottles I marveled at the change in my condition. My pains had stopped; my appetite returned two-fold. Now I eat everything and have forgotten what indigestion is. I feel better than I have for two years."

Cooper's New Discovery strengthens the stomach and digestive organs so they can properly perform their natural functions; it cures rheumatism, Catarrh Deafness, Kidney and stomach troubles, Blood Diseases and paralysis and sells for one dollar per bottle. Cooper's Quick relief used in connection costs fifty cents.

W. A. Schreiter, Mr. Cooper's agents in Red Lake Falls have the remedies for sale.

ST. HILIARE

Miss Helen Hannay returned from Minneapolis, Monday.

Joel G. Winkjer, of Crookston was in the village Monday.

Henry Enderle, of Plummer was a visitor here last Sunday.

C. H. Martz, took a car load of cattle to St. Paul returning Wednesday.

Miss Lillian Brady, of Red Lake Falls visited at the home of Prof. J. B. O'Brien last week.

The recent snow has spoiled the most delightful skating the young folks have had for years.

A. R. Jones left last Wednesday for Rollitte N. D. where he will run an elevator the coming year.

Mrs. David Collins and children returned from visiting friends at Thief River Falls, the last of the week.

The ladies of the Norwegian Synod church will serve warm supper in their church Thursday Nov. 16 from 6 o'clock uutil 9.

It is reported that Hotel Markham has been sold to Crookston parties and that Mr. Thompson of that city becoms its owner.

Mr. and Mrs. Knute Bjerkness have the sympathy of the community on account of the death of their infant son which occurred last Thursday.

Alton and Ella Jackson have been confined to their home the past week with severe colds. Ella is able to be up around but Alton is still in bed.

News of the death of Ole O. Opperud who left here this spring, reached his friends here Saturday. The remains were brought here for interment.

Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago one of the best known prohibition lecturers of the country delivered a very able address Sunday afternoon in the opera house.

John Makerud had the misfortune to have his large St. Bernard dog killed by the evening passenger Friday, just as the train crossed the creamery crossing.

A. O. Davison, of Wylie, has moved his family into rooms over Mrs. Duntley's confectionery store and will assist Cashier Gigstad at the Merchants State bank.

The band boys will give a rag ball social at Imperial hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 8th. The boys will furnish music and it is hoped there will be a large crowd out.

The many friends of Mrs. Lewis Adams will be grieved to learn of her death at Grand Forks last Thursday night. Mrs. Adams had been ill for several months. The remains were taken to Red Lake Falls, her childhood home for burial.

At the creamery meeting of the share holders held in the town hall Monday it was decided to extend the creamery, build new ware house and ice house and install a new churn. This will make the creamery one of the largest in the northern part of the state.

California or Florida

It is time to plan your winter vacation. Early arrangements secure the best accommodations. Choice of routes via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway to California or to Florida, combined with low rates, make the trip to either resort a most attractive one. A postal will bring complete information about rates, train service and resorts, free and by return mail. Address W. B. Dixon, N. W. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

BADGER.

Donna Laurent hauled a load of hay at the Falls Monday.

Mr. Gedeon Gagnon called on a few Badger people Tuesday morning.

Mr. Mrs. Robert Quesnell dined at Adelard Laurent's home Sunday.

Zelia Quesnell visited with Terrebonne friends a few days of last week.

Mr. Willie St. Ives and wife of Crookston visited with friends here Sunday.

Messrs Edward and Eli St. Ives entertained a few friends Sunday evening.

Mr. Havens and wife were business callers at the county seat last Saturday.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Demerais is quite ill at the present writing.

Mr. Desire Robillard and Mrs. Orilla Robillard visited with Gentilly friends a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Puesnell, visited with their daughter Mrs. Bourcier of St. Hiliare a few days this week.

Mrs. J. Ducharme has been confined to her bed for the last several days with a severe sickness. Improvements are hoped by her numerous friends.

Many children inherit constitutions weak and feeble, others due to childhood troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children and make them strong 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, LUCAS COUNTY } ss

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Cararrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, [illegible]is 6th day of December, A. D. 1886, A. W. GLEASON, (Seal.) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh [illegible] is taken internally and acts directly [illegible] the blood and mucous surfaces of [illegible] system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & C[illegible] [illegible]oledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75[illegible]

Take Hall's Family Pills [illegible]onstipation.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclos[illegible] Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of a certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by S. A. Swanson and Ida Swanson, his wife, mortgagors, to Joseph Glatzel, mortgagee, which mortgage was dated on the second (2d) day of April, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Three (1903), and recorded in Record Book Twenty-one (21) of Mortgage Records, on page One Hundred Forty-eight (148), in the office of the Register of Deeds of Red Lake County, Minnesota, on the Eighteenth (18th) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Three (1903), at half past nine o'clock a. m., and said Joseph Glatzel is now the owner and holder of said mortgage. That default has been made in the payment of Eighty-two and 50-100ths Dollars ($82.50) interest due and payable according to the terms and conditions of said mortgage on the second (2d) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Five (1905), and a further default has been made in the payment of the taxes duly levied and assessed upon said mortgaged premises for the years 1903 and 1904; and that, by reason of said defaults, said mortgagee has elected and hereby elects and declares the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and is due the sum of Sixteen Hundred Thirty-one Dollars and Nine Cents ($1631.09), at the date of this notice, and no action at law or equity has been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the property described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which said property is situated in Red Lake County, Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit:

The North-West Quarter (NW¼) of Section Twenty-seven (27), in Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-four (44), containing One Hundred Sixty (160) acres of land, more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Which said sale will be made by the Sheriff of Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, on Saturday, the Ninth (9th) day of December, A. D. 1905, at two (2) o'clock p. m., at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay the amount then due on said mortgage and the costs of sale, and Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure.

Dated this 23d day of October, 1905.

JOSEPH GLATZEL,
Said Mortgagee.

THOS. F. CRAVEN,
Attorney for said Mortgagee,
Chaska, Minnesota. o26d7

Auditor's Notice of Hearing on Ditch Petition.

State of Minnesota } ss
County of Red Lake }

In the matter of the petition of A. T. Gorden and others, for a public ditch in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, designated and numbered as county ditch No. 24.

Notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said county, praying for the construction of a public ditch, designated and numbered by the county auditor of such county as county ditch No. 24, beginning at the southwest corner of section 6 in township 151, range 42, running thence north on the range line between section 6 in township 151 north, of range 42 west and section 1 in township 151 north, of range 43 west in Red Lake county, thence north on the range line between the southwest quarter of section 31 in township 152 north, of range 42 west and the southeast quarter of section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west to the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west, thence running west on the quarter section line through the center of sections 36, 35, 34 and 33 in township 152 north, of range 43 west, to the west line of section 33, thence in a southwesterly direction across the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 32 in said twp. 152 range 42 a distance of 400 feet and there terminating at a creek which empties into Red Lake river.

Also a branch ditch, commencing at the northeast corner of Section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west and running thence south on the range line between 31 in township 152, range 42 and section 36 in township 152, range 43 and terminating in the main ditch at the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of said section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west.

Also a branch ditch specified by the engineer in his report as being necessary for the proper drainage of lands affected by the main ditch and described as follows: Commencing at a point 1249⅔ feet east and 750⅔ feet south of the northeast corner of section 6 in township 151 north, of range 42 west, thence running in a northwesterly direction through the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of said section 6 to the township line, thence west along said township line, between section 6 in township 151 north, of range 42 west and section 31 in township 152 north, of range 42 west to the southwest corner of said section 31 in township 152 north of range 42 west, terminating at and emptying into the main ditch at the last named point as appears by the report of the engineer hereinafter mentioned and that the names of owners of lands and names of municipal and other corporations that will be affected by the construction of said ditch, as appears in the report of the viewers hereafter mentioned, are as follows, to-wit: Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad company; Andrew Johnson, John G. Anderson, C. C. Bergan, A. A. Cooper, Bernhard Thelander, Solomon Swenson, Peter Hogquist, Ole Wedul, Charles H. Foy, Otto Swenson, Sarah Hogquist, Henry J. Enderle, Hubert Haupt, G. A. Konikson, Anna Emanuelson, D. M. Clark, Fred Ulrich, Emil Just, Wilhelmina Just, R. E. Farley, William F. Seiter, E. A. Satterburg, Frank Satterberg, Charles A. Swanson, Anne Gordon, Annie Fangstrom, State of Minnesota, K. O. Gigstad, Ole Hanson, John Mahla, Lars A. Swenson, McCormick Harvesting Machine Co., Christ Martenson, Town of Wyandotte, Town of River Falls, Town of Gervais and Town of Emardville and that the engineer appointed by the board of county commissioners of said county to make a survey of the route of said ditch has completed his work and made due report thereon, and filed the same in the office of said county auditor; and that the viewers appointed by said board of county commissioners to view the same have completed their work and filed their report thereon in the office of said county auditor.

And that therefore, the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, will hold a special meeting on Friday, the 24th day of November, 1905, at the county auditor's office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county at two o'clock p. m., of said day, for hearing and consideration of said petition and of said surveyor's and viewers' report thereon; and that all persons interested in the construction of said ditch are invited to appear and be heard by and before said board of county commissioners at said time for or against the construction of said ditch.

Dated this 30th day of October, A. D. 1905.

JAMES E. FORD,
(Seal) County Auditor.
Red Lake Co., Minn.

Auditor's Notice of Hearing on Ditch Petition.

State of Minnesota } ss
County of Red Lake }

In the matter of the petition of Aug. Konikson and others, for a public ditch in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, designated and numbered as county ditch No. 23.

Notice is hereby given, that a petition has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said county, praying for the construction of a public ditch, designated and numbered by the county auditor of such county as county ditch No. 23 beginning at the southwest corner of section 12 in township 151. Range 43, (town of Gervais), in said county running thence through the following described lands to-wit: North on the section line between sections 11 and 12 in said town and range, thence west on the quarter section line through section 11 in said town and range to about the center thereof, thence running in a southwesterly direction through said section 11 to the southwest corner thereof, thence running in a southerly direction through the eastern part of section 15 in said town and range to the southeast corner thereof, thence running in a southerly direction through the northeast quarter of section 22 and the west half of section 23 all in twp. 151, range 43 aforesaid and terminating at the southeast corner of section 22 in said Twp. 151, range 43 and having its outlet a creek or coulee as appears by the report of the engineer hereinafter mentioned and that the names of the owners of the lands and the names of the municipal and other corporations that will be affected by the construction of said ditch, as appears in the report of the viewers hereafter mentioned are as follows, to-wit: Ingra Hammer, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Ry Co., C. A. Swensen, Oscar Anderson, Sjur M. Harbolen, Bengt Anderson, J. B. Kempton, William Schwalen, James L. Taylor, Middlesex Banking Company, H. M. Martinson, L. O. Thorpe, Peter A. Konikson, Frank O'Meara, J. C. Brown, Abraham Johnson, the township of Gervais, Caroline Lunde, August E. Craft, Henry M. Martinson John Loffelmarker, W. M. Erb, Andrew N. Ydstie and John Suchomel; and that the engineer appointed by the board of county commissioners of said county to make a survey of the route of said ditch has completed his work and made due report thereon, and filed the same in the office of said County auditor; and that the viewers appointed by said board of county commissioners to view the same have completed their work and filed their report thereon in the office of said county auditor.

Aud that, therefore, the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, State of Minne[illegible]a, will hold a special meeting on Friday, the [illegible] day of November 1905, at the county auditor's [illegible] in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county, at [illegible] o'clock a. m., of said day, for hearing and co[illegible]tion of said petition and of said surveyor'[illegible] [illegible]ewers' report thereon, and that all persons [illegible]terested in the construction of said ditch are invited to appear and be heard by and before said board of county commissioners at said time for or against the construction of said ditch.

Dated this 30th day of October, A. D. 1905,

JAMES E. FORD,
(Seal) County Auditor,
Red Lake Co., Minn.

The Natural Effect.

Father—From my observation of him last night I came to the conclusion that young man of yours was rather wild. Daughter—Of course. It was your constant observation that made him wild. He wanted you to go upstairs and leave us alone.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Stole a House.

Bonesteel, S. D., Feb. 21.—As one result of the claim jumping and general lawlessness that have prevailed among settlers on the Rosebud Indian agency lands, recently thrown open to settlement, a house was picked up, put on bobsleds, and hauled several miles across the prarie last night, while its owner, Hans Oleson, and his family were asleep in the structure.

The house movers intended to appropriate the building to their own use. They had thought it was unoccupied, but when they opened the door they found Oleson and his family at home.

Four Killed.

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Feb. 21.—Four men are dead and fourteen injured as the result of an explosion yesterday of a stationary boiler at a mine of the Provident Coal company.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

SPECIAL PRICES

On

HEATING STOVES FOR 30 DAYS.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
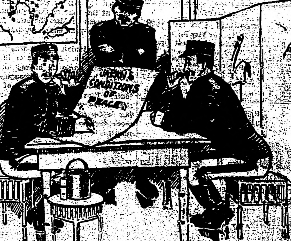
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA

DAKOTA BUSINESS COLLEGE
A modern school, 9 teachers, 600 pupils, 150 positions filled last year
Full course in Actual Business, Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Banking
Summer School Now. Fall term Sept. 4. Catalog free. F. L. Watkins Fargo

I WONDER WHAT RUSSIA'S CONDITIONS WOULD BE IF THEY WERE THE VICTORS.

By McCutcheon, in Chicago Daily Tribune.



MAP SHOWING JAPANESE VICTORIES
MAP SHOWING RUSSIAN VICTORIES
JAPAN'S CONDITIONS OF PEACE

A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

ROYAL
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

HAS NO SUBSTITUTE

A Cream of Tartar Powder, free from alum or phosphatic acid

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

J. K. Hannay of St. Hiliare was in the city Monday.

Julius Pleth of Plummer, was here on business Monday.

Prof. A. Onstad made his regular trip to St. Hiliare Tuesday.

Sheriff Linnihan returned Monday from a business trip to Crookston.

I. D. Converse of Cass Lake arrived Monday for a few days visit.

Go to Spillane's store for Groceries, Candies, Nuts, Fruits, Cigars, etc

Bob and Eva McGinley played to fair sized audiences Friday and Saturday evening.

Attorney Perl W. Maybe, of Thief River Falls was in the city Monday on legal business.

Marcus Johnson arrived Tuesday and will spend a few days looking over his business interests.

Miss Bertha Lafraniere came from her school north east of Lambert and spent Sunday at home.

Mrs. Risch of Crookston spent Sunday in the city the guest of her sister, Mrs. Arthur Zaiser.

Mrs. W. A. Schreiter returned Monday from a few days visit with relatives at the Upper Falls.

P. B. Gaass left the latter part of the week for a business trip to Central and Northern Iowa points.

K. O. Gigstad, cashier of the Merchants State Bank of St. Hiliare was a county seat visitor Monday.

T. M. Brevig, one of the prominent farmers of River Falls Twp. was here on business Monday.

S. M. Sivertson made a trip to Crookston on business connected with the Red Lake Falls Milling Co. returning Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Milton Converse and children accompanied Mr. I. D. Converse Monday for a two weeks visit at the Converse home at Cass Lake.

A Disastrous Calamity.

It is a disastrous calamity, when you lose your health, because indigestion and constipation have sapped it away. Prompt relief can be had in Dr. King's New Life Pills. They build up your digestive organs, and cure headache, dizziness, colic, constipation, etc. Guaranteed at All Druggists, 25c.

Thos. Germo was at Crookston on legal business Wednesday.

Dan Patterson of St. Hiliare was a caller in the city Tuesday.

A. P. Toupin made a business trip to Crookston Wednesday.

Telesphor Morinvill of Crookston arrived for a days visit Wednesday.

W. W. Prichard of Thief River Falls spent Tuesday night at the county seat.

Wm. Krueger, our popular hotel man, was a visitor at Thief River Falls Wednesday.

Mrs. Theo. LaBissonier is enjoying a few days visit from her mother Mrs. Martin of Crookston.

There will be a dance Friday the 17th at Woodman Hall. All Woodmen and Royal Neighbors invited.

Mrs. Tibbitts was a passenger north Wednesday for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davidson at St Hilaire.

Miss Lizzie Gedde was an outbound pessenger Wednesday for a few days visit with relatives at Crookston.

A. O. Davidson, who for some time has been in charge of the Bank of Wylie, is now assisting Cashier Gigstad in the bank at St. Hiliare.

The rivers at the junction were frozen over the latter part of last week and the boys all took advantage of the occasion to cut a few capers on the ice.

Paul and Jim drove to Crookston Sunday to meet Hart, Schaffner, and Marx's traveling salesman. Jim went to Grand Forks for a day and Paul returned in the evening.

Exerie Chetal Sundayed at the city having finished his job near Greenbush. He shipped his grading tools and horses to Wyoming Monday where he has a large contract.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

H. A. Seigne, the veterinarian who has made this place his home for the past year and a half left Monday evening for Antlers, N. D., where he will reside in the future.

On account of Saturday next being an open date for our football boys they have been trying to secure a game from some one of the High School Elevens in this part of the state but so far have been unsuccessful.

C. O. Kankel, the Terrebonne miller, was in the city the first part of the week and reports the mill running in fine shape. So far they have bought 7000 bushels of No. 1. Northern and 800 bushels of No. 1. Hard Wheat.

The many friends of Anthony Lafranier, a former Red Lake Falls boy, will be glad to learn that he has branched out still further and that the Itasca Iron News, published at Bovey, Minn., is the latest addition. This makes three papers under his control.

For Sale, or will Trade for cattle, one team of three year old colts. Call on undersigned, three miles east of city. Geo. Walker. 4 6 is what you can truthfully say about a WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER..

A Good Stove Cheap

All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL, and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft that you have heard so much about. A Wilson, if taken good care of, will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary-sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights

from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burners

Would be pleased to show you our line.

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878

Gen'l Hardware

The ladies of St. Mary's church will give a card party at the home of Mrs. W. A. Schreiter on Friday evening the 17th. All are cordially inviteb.

At the home of Mrs. F. E. Hunt on Wednesday, Nov. 15, at 2:30 P. M. there will be an important meeting of the Ladies Aid Society Presbyterian church.

District Court will convene on Monday the 13 inst. All Grand and Petit Jurors are to appear at 10 a. m. This is a continuation of the October term and will probably be a week or ten day session.

Lee Healy, at the close of Tuesday evening's practise as spokesman for the band boys in a well chosen speech, presented Ed. H. Chase with a beautiful suit case as a testimonial of the band's appreciation of his services.

Those being present to a six o'clock dinner at the home of Mrs. John Drier's last evening were Mrs. Doran, Miss Alice Boyd, Mrs. Posel, Mrs. Chas. Bourdon, Miss Frances Orr, Mrs. Healy, Mrs. Ittner, and Mrs. Groshong.

The hearing on the injunction proceedings against the Great Northern Railway, restraining them from discontinuing the Wylie St. Hiliare branch, has been continued to the 21st of November. In the meantime the restraining order is in force.

The Ladies' Aid of the Lutheran church will serve lunch at Mrs, P. O. Floan's home Saturday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock. An auction sale of the society's "Friendship Quilt" will also be held at the same time. All are cordially invited.

The Plummer creamery was closed last week and the machinery will be thoroughly overhauled and other improvements made which will materially increase the capacity of the creamery. It will remain closed until early in January when it will be started again.

Red Lake Falls High School football team trims up Thief River Falls High to the tune of 85 to 0 and Thief River High beats Fertile High 68 to 0. Query, what would be the score if Red Lake Falls played Fertile? Any answer should be addressed to captain football team.

Those from here who attended the Minnesota—Wisconsin game last Saturday were N. M. Watson, Mrs. Marshall, E. G. Buse, Sam Hunt, F. A. Grady, Carl Krueger, Ralph Healy, Hugo Ittner and Fred Richards. They all report having seen a good game but regret that Minnesota was beaten.

Thief River Falls has received $26,700.00 the proceeds of the city waterworks bonds. River water will be pumped into the mains in the near future as they have been unable to secure an adequate supply otherwise. Work on the well continues at a depth of 360 feet but no water yet.

Gus Krueger and family left on Monday evenings' passenger for their new home at Antlers, N. D. Mrs. Krueger will stay a few days at Crookston and will join her husband the latter part of the week. Their many friends regret their removal from our midst but trust they will do well in their new home.

Prof. Frank E. Miller of Dayton Ohio, arrived Tuesday morning. Mr. Miller is the new band instructor and comes highly recommended. He is taking hold in earnest and reports himself as more than pleased with the personuel of the band. We all welcome Mr. Miller into our midst and trust his stay with us will be pleasant.

The engagement of Harry E. Ives to Miss Catherine Pirath is announced. Mr. Ives is the genial publisher of the St. Hilaire Spectator and the bride-to-be is a Red Lake Falls girl who has been teaching in the St. Hilaire schools the past two years. The legion of friends of the contracting parties will extend sincere congratulations and wish for them a long and happy married life.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for real estate loans.

Man's Unreasonableness

is often as great as woman's, But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth. Ind., was not unreasonable when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble, "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured and can now perform all her household duties," Guaranteed by all Druggists, 50c.

FOOTBALL

RED LAKE VICTORIOUS

Local High School Football Team Defeats Crookston in Excellent Exhibition.

Last Friday the high school team met the Crookston team on the gridiron at the latter place in an exciting and interesting game. The weather was ideal and the grounds in good condition.

About fifty of the local rooters and enthusiasts accompanied the team.

At 3.45 Crookston kicked off followed by a rapid advance by Red Lake toward the Crookston goal. By the tackle shift and end runs, calmly walked over the line for a touch down and goal. Score 6 to 0.

Healy kicked to Crookston and ball advanced but fifteen yards. By continued line bucking a gain of twenty-five yards was made. Ball was fumbled and covered by Red Lake Falls who punted and was held by Crookston, who lost on downs. Red Lake was then bound to score, touch down and goal. Score 12 to 0. Time called for first half.

Second half.

Crookston kicked off. Ball advanced twenty yards. The locals then started "things" by going down the field in a hurry. Lost the ball on fumble and gained by Crookston. Short gains were made but were held for downs on Red Lake's thirty yard line Red Lake advanced down the field for a third touch down. Score 18 to 0.

Red Lake kicked off and ball was advanced thirty yards. Crookston forced to punt and Healy by one of the cleverest catches and runs of fifty yards was interfered with by "side liners" on the field which resulted in a loss of several yards that meant a touch down. Red Lake punted and catch was fumbled by Crookston, Red Lake recovering the ball making a thirty five yard run for touch down and goal. Score 24 to 0.

The final touch down was made on end runs and line bucking by Red Lake. Try for goal failed. Score 29 to 0.

Time was called with ball in Crookstons' possession. The line up of the teams are as follows:

Crookston:
Hamel,	C
Middleton, Anderson	R. G
Burkhardt	R. T
Maloney	R. E
Dahl	L. G
Heydte	L. T
Dodds	L. E.
Red Lake:
E. Toupin	L. E
Richard	L. T
J. Toupin	L. G
Zaizer	C
Ittner	R. G
Lafraniere	R. T
Garceau	R. E
Healy	Q. B
Brunelle	R. H. B
Blake	L. H. B
Buse, Capt.	F. B

"U. OF M. DEFEATED,

To Minnesota's Sorrow, the Pride of Her Athletics Goes Down to Defeat.

By grace of a field goal Wisconsin triumphed over the gophers last Saturday in what seemed to all, not a foot ball game but something like it. Two end runs and a field goal in the badger camp undid the gophers to the extent of raising the score to 16 against their 12.

Will Ittner, the famous left tackle of the Minnesota team was the star of the contest, making the first touch down and many clever tackles and runs. Will is a Red Lake Falls boy and at one time a member of the high school team here, which undoubtedly accounts for his rise in the realms of football.

Rates For Foot Ball Game.

On account of the Foot Ball game between North Dakota Agricultural College and the University of North Dakota on November 18th at Fargo, the Great Northern Railway will make a rate of one and one third fare for the round trip. Date of sale November 17th and for trains arriving in Fargo before noon of the 18th, final return limit November 20th. Ask your local agent for full particulars.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidey Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91 years old. Sold at A. L. Reichert's.

The Study Club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Boughton Nov. 15th. The lesson will be a review of the work of the club. Each member having had a paper is requested to present a review or a summary of same at this meeting.

A Comparison.

Between the modern overland trip to California and that of fifty years ago, reflects credit upon the great railroad builders. One of the greatest improvements is the establishment of through tourist car service via the North Western Line, providing the maximum comfort at the minimum expense. These cars leave Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday for California. For rates and other information write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A., St. Paul.

A New Bicycle.

A novel bicycle has been built in London which has been pronounced as comfortable "as a rocking-chair," and which shows remarkable mechanical ingenuity. It has a chair-like antivibrating saddle which affords wonderful relief to a tired back. The rear wheel is about the standard size, but front is about half this size, and the handle-bars are almost directly under the saddle. The steering gear is under perfect control, and allows a low diamond-frame wheel that ladies may mount and ride with ease. We are not trying to induce you to order one of these wheels, but to urge you to order a case of golden grain belt beer. It is the ideal family beverage. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A man is great by just how little those around him are.

Nobody ever thinks he is having real fun unless he is spending money for it.

A girl with a lot of money generally needs it to make up for marrying her.

Boys would get very little satisfaction out of being bad if the people expected them to be.

It is all right to advise people not to invest their money, but if they don't, how are the financiers going to get it?

Found—mouthpiece for a horn. Owner can have same by calling at COURIER office.

NEED EXCUSE.

Pupils Not Going to School Need Official Excuse.

To be legally excused from school, children of school age must have an excuse from the school board, according to an opinion rendered by Assistant Attorney General C. S. Jelley in reply to a query from State Superintendent J. W. Olsen. The state law provides that children between the ages of eight and eighteen must attend school the whole time it is in session unless they are excused for the following reasons: Inability of the parents to clothe the children properly, if the child's bodily or mental condition is such as to prevent his attendance or application to study, if the child is taught at home in the common branches, if the child has finished the common branches taught in the grades, if child is actually engaged in some useful occupation or service permitted by the law. The attorney general's department holds that all must attend unless excused by the board or some one authorized by the board for one of the named reasons. This makes the school board the sole judge of the inability of the child.

If you are troubled with indigestion, constipation, sour stomach, or any other pain, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will make you well. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets At A. L. Reichert's.

A FULL LINE OF...

Chase & Sanborn's Teas and Coffees

OUR LITERARY CLUB.

We always like to meet with Mrs. Brown,
She has the cosiest home there is in town,
A "Homey" kind of home, you know, a place
Where you can sit and sort of rest your face.
I know of houses gewgawd so with style,
That when you enter you put on a smile—
A sort of social shine, as you might say,
So that you'll harmonize and be au fait.
But oh, how dreadful tired I should get
If I should train forever with that set.
No, give me Mrs. Brown—whose happy guest
Can just lounge down and rest, and rest, and rest.
Her rooms are low and broad, and quiet green—
That restful green, and all the pictures lean
At comfortable angles, and you chat
In low and cosey tones—and there's a cat,
Of course a cat, that yawns there in the sun
A picture of content, like everyone.
Then Mrs. Brown brings out her dainty set
Of tea things, and we know that we shall get
The very nicest, dearest cup of tea—
'Tis CHASE & SANBORN'S brand, you know, and we Have all of us been using it 'round town,
It's always safe to copy Mrs. Brown.

....FOR SALE AT....

THE BIG STORE..

The place where it pays to trade.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TIME TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West			Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar.	7:45 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar.	7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar.	7:10 A. M.
8:11 A. M.	Crookston		6:45 P. M.
8:50 A. M.	Dugdale.		6:00 P. M.
9:25 A. M.	Red Lake Falls		5:25 P. M.
9:55 A. M.	St. Hilaire		4:55 P. M.
10:20 A. M.	Thief River		4:30 P. M.
10:48 A. M.	Steiner		4:05 P. M.
11:03 A. M.	Sandridge		3:52 P. M.
11:39 A. M.	Middle River		3:21 P. M.
11:55 P. M.	Strathcona		2:57 P. M.
12:25 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv.	2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

November Weather Averages.

A summary of November weather for fifteen years has been issued by the weather bureau. While it is of little value as a forecast, it is interesting as a statement of the records which the coming month must break if it is to uphold the standing of 1905 as a freak year.

The average temperature for fifteen years is 32 degrees. The warmest November came in 1899, when the mean temperature was 41 degrees and the coldest in 1896, when the temperture averaged 23 degrees. The warmest day was Nov. 6, 1893, with a temperature of 73 degrees, and the coldest, Nov. 29, 1891, when the mercury fell 13 degrees below zero.

The average precipitation, rain or melted snow, is 0.98 inches, and the average number of days with a precipitation 0.01 inches, or over, is seven. The wettest November came in 1896, and brought 3.80 inches of water, and the dryest, that of 1904, shows but 0.10 inches of precipitation. The heaviest precipitation for twenty-four hours was 2.01 inches, on Nov. 25-6, 1896, and the deepest snow was 9.0 inches, on Nov. 21-2, 1898.

You Are Welcome At The

MERCHANTS STATE BANK

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Even if you have to use most of your money from week to week and month to month, pay it through this bank.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.00

We will loan you money on personal security. We will make farm loans at LOWEST RATES. We will take your money on deposit and pay you 5 per cent per annum. In our savings department we pay 5 per cent on deposits of $1.00 and up. Interest computed May and November each year.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

The Scourge of Damascus

A Story of the East...

By SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

Copyrighted 1891 by Robert Bonner's Sons.

CHAPTER II.

The Terrible Julian.

In fear and trembling sat Ulin, awaiting the coming of the terrible robber. Half an hour passed, and she had not been troubled; but during that time she had witnessed transactions which were not calculated to allay her fears. She had seen over fifty of the king's guards bound and led away, and she saw that a number of the robbers had been placed on guard at the entrance of the rocky passage. They were wild, savage looking men, appearing to her fear-wrought vision, like the evil spirits she had heard her old black nurse tell about.

At length the sound of feet was heard near at hand, and very shortly the door of the apartment was opened, and a black slave entered. It was a woman, and one of those whom the king had left.

"Good lady," she said, trembling as she spoke, "the hour of doom has come. I am a slave to a new master, and that master has sent me to tell you that he wishes to see you."

"Who is he?" asked Ulin.

"I don't know, but I think he is Julian, the Scourge. His look is terrible.. Upon his brow sits the thundercloud, and in his eye flashes the forked lightning!"

"Will he come up here?"

"He said so."

"I have no power to prevent him. Tell him I am weak and defenceless, and at his mercy."

The slave bowed and withdrew, and in a little while some one else came. A heavy footfall sounded without, and the door was slowly and carefully opened.

But, who is this? What spirit has thus appeared in the palace! A man had entered the chamber alone. He was youthful—not more than three or four-and-twenty—with kindly look, and of noble bearing. He was not larger of frame than common men; but the perfect symmetry of form, the exact correspondence of all the parts; the delicate rounding of the graceful outline, and the filling up of all points where sources of strength could be deposited, gave token of a power which might lead the careless observer to pronounce him a giant.

He gazed upon the beautiful maiden for some moments without speaking, seeming to drink in a new inspiration from her loveliness, as the student of nature does when some new and unexpected scene of grandeur bursts upon his vision.

"Fair lady," he said in softest tones, "permit me to hope that this intrusion may be pardoned. I would not give you pain, and if you have been alarmed, be assured that you have cause for it no more. Tell me how I may serve you."

He approached her as he spoke, and she, without hardly realizing what she did, arose and gave him her hand. If he had gazed upon her with admiration, her own feelings had not been entirely different. Her woman's instinct told her that here was a man whom she could trust; and her woman's heart beat with an emotion entirely new and strange.

"Noble sir," she said, meeting his gaze with the strength of perfect trustfulness, "Heaven has sent you to save me from the dread man who has made his way to this place. If you have the power to do it, you will lead me to bless you forevermore."

"Of what man do you speak?" asked the stranger, still holding her hands.

"I speak of him who is known as the Scourge of Damascus—of the terrible Julian."

The man was silent for a few moments, but he did not withdraw his gaze from the maiden's face.

"Sweet lady," he at length said, speaking very lowly and tenderly, "I am informed that the king of Damascus has sent you hither to keep you safely until he can make you his wife."

"He hath done so, sir."

"And yet it seems that he did not provide so wisely, after all. Would you wish to be carried to the king?"

"No, no, sir—not to the king. I would be carried to my father."

There could be no mistaking the character of the emotions under which the princess spoke. With all the king's power her hope was not in him. The stranger marked the changes of her countenance; and, while a warmer light shone in his handsome eyes, he resumed—

"I cannot say when you shall be returned to your father; but I can give you my solemn assurance that I can protect you. I will protect you from the hands of those whom you have cause to fear; and, at the same time, I will regard you as a sacred trust, to be respected and purely cherished. And now, lady, have I your confidence?"

He let go her hands, held until now, and when he had taken a seat not far from her, he continued:

"Lady Ulin, you have spoken of Julian, and I see that you fear him. Did you ever see him?"

Ulin shuddered as she answered in the negative.

"Did you ever hear his story?"

"No, sir. Albia has told me something, but not much."

"I can tell you the whole, if you would hear it."

"I should like to hear it, fair sir."

"Believe me, lady, when you have heard what I shall tell you, you will not regard Julian with so much of abhorrence. But of one thing I give you warning: In telling the story of Julian I must speak harsh words against your affianced husband."

"My—affianced—husband?" repeated Ulin, with a troubled pause between her words.

"I mean Horam, King of Damascus," said the stranger, regarding the beautiful maiden as though he read her every thought.

"I am not keeper over the character of Horam. The truth, spoken in a true cause, will not offend me."

"Then, lady, let me first assure you that Julian is not the monster your fears have painted. He has never done wrong to any, save the powerful of Damascus. Go to the forests and mountains of Lebanon, and you shall find a thousand poor peasants whose families he has befriended. He has taken gold and jewels, and precious stuffs of silk and linen, from the stores of Horam; but he hath not made himself rich therefrom. He and his followers have lived, and beyond this the booty has been bestowed upon the poor and needy. Julian hath also waylaid and broken up caravans; and turned back many expeditions which the king had sent out. He may be just what hath been said—he may be the Scourge of Damascus, but he has no wish to trouble honest men. His aim has been, vengeance upon the king."

"And why should he seek such vengeance upon the king?" asked Ulin.

"I will tell you, lady. But for the king of Damascus Julian might be now one of the most free and happy men living; but as it is, he is a stranger and an outcast upon the face of the earth. He is a wanderer, without a home, and with only such friends as are bound to him in his adventurous and dangerous course. Once many years ago—he had parents and the prospect of life was bright before him; but in an unhappy hour the gloom and the darkness came. Horam, in wicked, jealous wrath, swept away all that was bright and promising from the path of Julian and shut out the star of hope forever. O, sweet lady, I dare not pain your ear with all that Horam did. Were I to tell you all, you would regard the king as such a monster that your heart would close against him, and your very soul would shrink at the sound of his name. As true as the heavens are above us, so true is it that the heart of Julian is not evil. When he looks back upon the utter desolation of his young life, and realizes that the king of Damascus malignantly and cruelly brought the curse upon him can you wonder that his soul is fraught with vengeance?"

"I never heard this story before," said Ulin, her voice trembling with deep emotion. "If it is true, as you have told me, I cannot blame Julian so much."

"And yet you fear him, lady?"

"I cannot help it. He hath come hither in battle array, and made war against me."

"Nay, nay, sweet lady. You do much mistake his intent. I can tell you why he came hither. He heard from a messenger whom he met upon the plains of Marthal, that a fair damsel was shut up here—a maiden whom the king intended to marry. It might have pleased him to deprive Horam of a wife; but it pleased him more to release a gentle lady from such enslavement. He knows what the king of Damascus has, ere this, done unto his wives. He has heard that the dark waters of the Pharpor are but a short span from the royal bed. And hence he came to set free one whom he feared might meet a worse fate than the encountering of the Scourge of Damascus. Did he commit a grievous sin in this, lady?"

"Indeed, sir, I know not what to say."

"Will you not see Julian? Do not shudder. I assure you that he will be most gentle in his bearing. But I know he would like to speak with you—he would hear from your own lips that you do not think him a monster; and he would also know your pleasure."

"When will he come?"

"Let it be tomorrow morning, lady. It is near evening now, and your rest shall not be disturbed. You may sleep as safely tonight as ever you slept upon your mother's bosom, and so shall you be safe while I am near you. You will see Julian in the morning?"

"You will come with him?"

"If you wish it, lady."

"I do wish it, for I feel that I am acquainted with you; and, furthermore, I have said that I would trust you."

"It shall be so."

And thus speaking the visitor arose, and moved towards the door. He turned, with his hand upon the latch, and added:

"I trust that your dreams may be sweet and pleasant. If dark phantoms come to your pillow they shall not be of Julian. There is another whom you have more cause to dread—one who, in hard and hoary age would feast upon the charms of your loveliness. Pardon me, for I go with a blessing breathed upon thee."

In a moment more the man was gone, and the door was closed behind him. Ulin gazed vacantly upon the spot where he had stood, until she felt a hand upon her shoulder. She started, and looked up; and it was only Albia.

"My dear mistress, is not this a strange adventure?"

"Very strange," replied the princess, casting her eyes to the floor, and then slowly raising them to that vacant spot.

"What do you think of the strange man?" the slave girl pursued, sitting down by her lady's side.

"What do you think of him?" said Ulin.

"I think he is very handsome. He is the most noble looking man I ever saw."

Ulin showed by her look that she was grateful for this answer. It pleased her, though she may not have known it.

"Such a man could not be a bad man," she said. "Deception cannot dwell in such a face."

"I should think not," returned Albia, to whom the remarks had been put in the form of questions.

"And what do you think of the story he told concerning the robber Julian?"

"I think he told us the truth, my lady. As he went on with the tale, I remembered that I had heard it just so before. He told us the truth."

"Then the king must be a hard, bad man, Albia?"

"I must not answer you lady. The king is to be your husband, and it is not well that you should urge me to speak against him."

"Indeed, girl, I asked you to do no such thing. I did not mean that you should speak against the king."

"Then you should have asked me no question touching his character. I would rather talk of this man who has just left us. I, who am only a poor slave, could love such a man."

Ulin lifted her hand to her heart, and pressed it there as though some new feeling had crept in to worry her, and, as she sat thus, one of her black slaves came in to see if she would like her supper.

"Not now, Calypso," said the princess, starting up. "You may bring me some grapes, and a few dates. But first, tell me what these strange men are doing. How many of them are there here?"

"Not more than a score of them are in the palace, my mistress, but there are thousands of them outside of the valley."

Ulin had no disposition to argue the point; so she asked what the robbers were doing.

"Albia," said the princess, after the black slave had gone, "I do not believe that Julian is such a terrible looking man, after all. What do you think?"

"I think," replied Albia, "that people have described him who never saw him, and that their fear-fraught imaginations drew the picture."

"So I think," returned Ulin. She gazed a few moments upon that old vacant spot, and then added: "I shall see him on the morrow, and I must say that the thought is not frightful. I feel assured that he means me no harm."

"Yet," ventured Albia, "it is a curious whim which should lead him to seek to release you from the hands of the king. But I don't know as we can wonder at it. Perhaps he thought you were some friendless girl who did not know—"

The princess motioned for her companion to stop.

"We will not talk of the king, Albia; and, touching this Julian, we shall know more when we see him."

(To be continued.)

COURTSHIP ENDED.

The Marriage of a Couple Stops Gossip in the East.

The end of the troubles of Miss Jennie Howell of Scranton, Pa., and Edward B. Dean of Hackensack, N. J., came when they were married. The courtship of Mr. Dean and Miss Howell was attended by unusual difficulties. The young couple met at Atlantic City last summer and were mutually attracted. Miss Dean was a woman of 31, and an invalid. Mr. Dean was a widower of 48, and each was well situated with regard to worldly goods. Mr. Dean frequently visited Miss Howell in Scranton, and a story was soon circulated that they were engaged. This was violently opposed by Miss Howell's brother, Franklin Howell, who instituted proceedings to have her declared a lunatic. How these proceedings finally collapsed in the face of the testimony of expert physicians from Philadelphia was told in the papers a short time ago. In answering the questions of the marriage license docket in court, Mr. Dean had placed on the records mention of the fact that he was divorced from his first wife in Cameron county in December, 1879, and his second wife died on March 17, 1900.

Cork Industrial Exhibition.

The Cork Industrial exhibition, which is to be held next year, has not only been supported by substantial subscriptions from both Cork and Dublin, but it has now been given the support of the Irish department of agriculture and technical instruction, of which Mr. Horace Plunkett is president. The department, it is announced, has allocated a sum of £5,000 for the purpose of the exhibition, subject to the general scheme being approved by the department. A portion of the sum will be devoted by the department to the organization of an exhibit of products, appliances, and processes relating to industries, which are capable of being introduced into Ireland, or when already established, or being developed.

To get people interested in you, you have got to make them think you are interested in them.

The highest reach of human science is the scientific recognition of human ignorance.—William Hamilton.

HORTICULTURE

The Man with the Hoe.

In the production of fruit the man with the hoe is a necessity. We may get along without him in the open field, but in the orchard or the garden there is much that horse tools cannot do. The hoe must come in to eradicate the last of the weeds that establish themselves among the plants or near the trunks of the trees. The man with the hoe must be a comparatively cheap laborer. The owner of the fruit farm cannot afford to put his own time into doing the work of the man with the hoe. He is too necessary for the planning and the superintendence of the carrying out of the plans. Some fruit growers and general farmers make the mistake of trying to do all the work themselves, to the detriment of the operations that depend on fine brain work. We have been trying to invent machines that would do away with the work of the hoe, but they have all proved inefficient in a way. The hoe is swung in accordance with a human intelligence, and it will be a long time before we become wise enough to find some other way out of the difficulty. In the cultivation of the orchard there are usually left some weeds that only the hoe can reach. It is the same with the small fruit plantation. As much as the Americans have tried to get away with hand labor they must still confess that it is yet a very large factor on every farm.

Tillage and Fruit Growing.

A thoroughly pulverized soil is as advantageous to the fruit orchard or fruit plantation as to any other form of crop production. This fact has been learned but slowly by the American farmers. The first orchards were permitted to fight their own way in the ocean of greensward and if they lived so much the better for the orchardist. In the beginning cane fruits were little cultivated. The wild ones grew without cultivation and it was argued that Nature in that way pointed out the profitable method of producing fruit. Little by little it was demonstrated that better crops of fruits could be produced if the fruit plants were grown a considerable distance apart and the ground was kept free from other vegetable growths. Tillage for the fruit plantation that is to be used should begin in the fall if possible, and the ground should be plowed several times. In that way the grasses and weeds decay, and so do all the weeds that have sprung up after the first plowing. It is sometimes advisable to plow the ground very late in the fall. In old fruit plantations that have not been deeply cultivated it is not advisable to plow the ground late in the fall, as this will increase the chances of winter killing or spring killing.

Pruning Points.

Prof. W. M. Munson says: Since in large fruits one spur bears one fruit, the alternate bearing of individual spurs will continue and it will be necessary to remove all of the fruit from individual spurs, thereby allowing a portion of the spurs to bear one year and others the next. It is doubtful, however, if any amount of thinning can produce an annual bearing habit unless the trees receive other necessary good care. It is probable that the better course to pursue in attempting to get fruit every year, is to change the bearing year of entire plants through a part of the orchard and allow these to bear one year and others the next year. It is not to be understood that these results will always follow, but the tendency is in the direction indicated. The season in which pruning is done has some influence on fruit bearing since winter pruning tends to produce wood, while summer pruning does not. The healing of the wound is, however, but slightly affected by the season in which the cut is made.

Land Suitable for Truck Gardens.

The man that would choose soil suitable for gardening must not select cold clay soil that is flat nor must he select steep clay uplands. With such soils it is about impossible to do much in gardening. A good many farmers that have such soils try to raise garden truck on them, believing that the only thing they need to do is to apply manure and cultivate thoroughly. That is true for some kinds of crops, but not those that come within the list of market garden crops. Level ground and soil of a sandy loam character are necessary for the growing of garden truck. Such soil warms up quickly in the spring, and at all times when it is not frozen lets in the air and the heat. The manure that is put into it is quickly found by the minute rootlets, which ramify everywhere through it.

Habits and Fruit Trees.

It seems absurb to suppose that fruit trees form habits as do human beings, but that seems to be the case. Professor Bailey and others that have looked into the matter declare that it is their opinion that if a tree begins to bear crops every other year it will continue to do so; and no amount of pruning or thinning will change that habit after it is once established. If, however, the orchardist is able by pruning and thinning to start the tree as an annual bearer it will remain that kind of a bearer. We have yet to see this theory thoroughly demonstrated, but on the face of things it appears to be true.

SEAT AND SHOE BOX

BEDROOM ACCESSORIES EASY OF CONSTRUCTION.

Box, a Few Boards, and Some Spare Time to Do the Work, All That Is Needed—Shoe Screen a Serviceable Piece of Furniture.

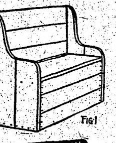
For a bedroom a comfortable seat and shoe box is shown in the illustration, and fir its construction a box and some boards may be employed.

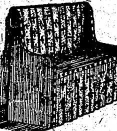
At a grocery store find a box three feet long, eighteen inches high and eighteen inches wide, or nearly so, and to the top of it fasten a cover with hinges.

From two tongued and grooved boards make the two sides, and attach them to the ends of the box, as shown in Fig. 1.

The shape of these sides may be cut with a compass saw or a draw knife before the boards are fastened to the box.

Across the back fasten a few boards with matched edges to form the back to the seat. These are to be screwed fast to the rear edge of the uprights, and as a result the frame will be ready for the upholstering and draping.





Shoe box and seat.

Line the box with heavy unbleached muslin, denim or other heavy, serviceable goods, and all around the front and ends form pockets of denim to accommodate shoes and slippers.

This can be done by taking a long strip of the material and tacking an end at one corner, using a pair of shoes or a shingle one as a model around which to wrap the material to determine the size of the pocket.

Between the pockets secure the material with a vertical line of large tacks, driven well into the wood.

From a mattress-maker obtain some curled hair and spread it over the seat over which the upholstery material is to be drawn and tacked.

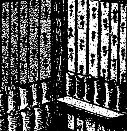
Treat the back in a similar manner and cover the uprights with the upholstery material, under which a thin layer of sheet wadding has been placed.

Across the front of the box arrange a flunce of the material so it will hang evenly, and tack it to the upper edge of the front boards just under the lid; and to cover the tacks use a piece of gimp and large headed nails.

A shoe screen will be found a very serviceable piece of furniture for the bed or dressing room, and a simple one can be made from the pattern shown in the illustration by any clever woman.

The framework of this screen is made from pine or white wood and the sticks are an inch thick by two inches and a half in width.

The bottom cross rails for each wing are four inches above the floor, and fifteen inches above them another rail is placed, against which the shoe pockets are attached. The sides of the screen are separated by a strip of wood four inches wide, to which the wings are fastened by means of hinges. This piece will allow the screen to be partially closed with shoes in the pockets, when it becomes necessary to remove it.



A shoe screen

The wings are to be covered with some effective material, such as China silk, cretonne or silkoline, and fastened at the edges with small tacks, over which gimp may be placed and caught down at regular distances with brass headed upholsterers' nails.

Pockets of denim, in a color to match the draping material, are made and securely tacked in place against the middle cross-rail, and on one of the wings a narrow foot shelf or ledge may be supported on brackets that are screwed fast to the side uprights of the wing.

If care is taken in making this screen the results should be very satisfactory, and the complete piece of furniture will be found a very useful accessory.—New York Herald.

Calumet Baking Powder

Health—Economy

The Dear Creatures.

Rosa—Miss Flipp says she has her clothes fitted on a dummy.

Tess—So? I just met her and she said she was all tired out from standing up at her modiste's.—Detroit Free Press.

According to Dorothy.

Dorothy is a sweet little maid of two and a half. Her father never carries a cane, and when a caller came in with one one day she was observed standing before it rapt in contemplation.

"Well, Dorothy," said her mother, "what's that?"

Dorothy looked up with a puzzled expression. "Umbwella wivout any clothes on," she said.—Lippincott's Magazine.

CAPT. GRAHAM'S CURE.

Sores on Face and Back—Tried Many Doctors Without Success—Gives Thanks to Cuticura.

Captain W. S. Graham, 1321 Eoff St., Wheeling, W. Va., writing under date of June 14, '04, says: "I am so grateful I want to thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison and others that I had barbers' itch. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends tell me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them all that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment did it."

BOILING WATER KILLS IT.

Life Energy and Natural Carbonating Are Lost.

"There is a vast amount of ignorance at large on the important subject of water," said ex-Congressman Thad Pound of Chippewa Falls. Many are satisfied with the knowledge that it consists of two parts of hydrogen and one of oxygen. Pure water (that least impregnated with foreign matter) is the most powerful solvent in nature, and to this quality is due its highest office. Boiling impure water precipitates some of the foreign matter held in solution, but fails to remove much of the most harmful elements, while boiling it the oxygen, which constitutes the life energy of water, is almost exhausted. It is significant that fish will not survive in boiled water. The life is gone from it. Filters remove solids in form, but leave an indefinite quantity of harmful salts and deleterious foreign matter in solution. From the start they begin and continue by their own process to become corrupted, until soon rendered hatching places for imprisoned disease germs. Distillation absolutely destroys the life energy of water, and the natural carbonic acid, so essential as a preservative, is lost. These elements cannot be restored artificially.—Milwaukee Free Press.

OLD FASHIONED FARE.

Hot Biscuits, Griddle-Cakes, Pies and Puddings.

The food that made the fathers strong is sometimes unfit for the children under the new conditions that our changing civilization is constantly bringing in. One of Mr. Bryan's neighbors in the great state of Nebraska writes:

"I was raised in the South, where hot biscuits, griddle-cakes, pies and puddings are eaten at almost every meal, and by the time I located in Nebraska I found myself a sufferer from indigestion and its attendant ills—distress and pains after meals, an almost constant headache, dull, heavy sleepiness by day and sleeplessness by night, loss of flesh, impaired memory, etc., etc.

"I was rapidly becoming incapacitated for business when a valued friend suggested a change in my diet, the abandonment of heavy, rich stuff, and the use of Grape-Nuts food. I followed the good advice and shall always be thankful that I did so.

"Whatever may be the experience of others, the beneficial effects of the change were apparent in my case almost immediately. My stomach, which had rejected other food for so long, took to Grape-Nuts most kindly; in a day or two my headache was gone, I began to sleep healthfully and before a week was out the scales showed that my lost weight was coming back. My memory was restored with the renewed vigor that I felt in body and mind. For three years now Grape-Nuts food has kept me in prime condition, and I propose it shall for the rest of my days.

"And by the way, my 2½ year old baby is as fond of Grape-Nuts as I am, always insists on having it. It keeps her as healthy and hearty as they make them." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

GRATIFYING PRAISE.

Letter from Marcus Mayer, the Great Patron of Music and Drama.

Marcus R. Mayer, who brought to America Mme. Patti, Duse, Salvini, Coquelin and other famous singers and actors, writes:

Gentlemen: I wish as many suffering men and women as I can reach to know the excellence of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was greatly benefited by this remedy and know it cured several who had kidney trouble so badly they were agonized with pain in the back, head and loins, rheumatic attacks and urinary disorders. I am glad to recommend such a deserving remedy.

(Signed) MARCUS R. MAYER.

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Indebted to Tobacco.

"What an immense debt the race owes to tobacco!"

"Oh, immense!"

"Oh, immense!"

"Only to-day I was reading that the cigar shape has proved to be the best not only for airships, but for submarine craft as well."—Puck.

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson, patent lawyers, 911-912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn. Zacharias Anderson, Minneapolis, Minn., building block and wall construction; Harry Colestock, assignor Sanitary Water Filter company, St. Paul, Minn., filter; Elisha Cutten, Butte, Mont., magneto dynamo electric machine; August Gagnon, Forest Lake, Minn., potato digger; Harry Herrick, Owatonna, Minn., self-indexing ledger; John Jamieson, Stillwater, Minn., hitching device.

A Cinch.

Nell—Mrs. Closeleigh is getting up a fair to help a poor widow pay her rent.

Belle—I didn't know Mrs. Closeleigh was so philanthropic.

Nell—She isn't. She owns the house the poor widow lives in.—Philadelphia Record.

Polite by Comparison.

Junior Partner—That fresh client addressed me by my first name.

Senior Partner—You ought not to mind that. You should hear the names he calls you behind your back

IF YOU ARE A WOMAN

What Mrs. Ford Says Concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will Surely Interest You.

"I wish I could help other women get rid of certain physical troubles as completely as I have succeeded in getting rid of mine," said Mrs. B. B. Ford, of Pushmataha, Miss., recently. "You know," she continued, "that a woman's health depends chiefly on the regularity of just one function. If she fails to keep that properly regulated she has no end of physical misery. I suffered from that one cause for two wretched years, during one of which I was kept in bed all the time. I tried medicines enough to cure any illness, but nothing gave me the slightest benefit until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They cured me. Why, I was suffering all the time practically from sickness of the stomach, dizziness or swimming in my head and pain in my back. Now I am entirely free from discomfort of that sort. I am not only able to keep on my feet, but to do my work as a teacher, and to enjoy the pleasures that come through the possession of sound health.

"Within three weeks after beginning the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I experienced such relief that I knew they must be adapted to the needs of my case. After using them for a short while longer I became and have since remained a well woman, and the reason why is simply that I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These pills make uterine action regular and painless, banish headaches, languor, nervousness, create appetite, promote digestion, put color in the complexion, build up strength and health.

Every woman should send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y., for a valuable booklet, entitled "Plain Talks to Women." It will be mailed free in sealed envelope to the address of any applicant. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists.

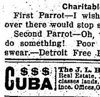
Charitable.

First Parrot—I wish that canary over there would stop screeching.

Second Parrot—Oh, well, it's got to do something! Poor thing, it can't swear.—Detroit Free Press.

$$$ CUBA The J. L. HEAD CO. Real Estate, Loans. All classes lands, each Province. Offices, O'Reilly 30A. Head Havana Cuba

MIXED FARMING



WHEAT RAISING RANCHING

three great pursuits have again shown wonderful results on the

FREE HOMESTEAD LANDS OF WESTERN CANADA.

Magnificent climate—farmers plowing in their shirt sleeves in the middle of November.

"All are bound to be more than pleased with the final results of the past season's harvest."—Extract.

Coal, wood, water, hay in abundance—schools, churches, markets convenient.

This is the era of $1.00 wheat.

Apply for information to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to authorized Canadian Government Agent—Charles Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, North Dakota. (Mention this paper.)

LIVE STOCK

Better Judging Needed.

Watching judges of horses at their work at the state fairs it becomes apparent that in very many cases insufficient attention is paid to soundness as a requisite of winners in the breeding rings. It would seem that some of the judges see prominent unsoundnesses, but dislike to throw out animals on that account, as rules are not strict in this connection, and to reject the unsound horse would be to get into trouble with the exhibitor and eventually with the management. Other judges do not see unsoundnesses, and, indeed, either do not look for them or are not educated as to location and appearance of some of the most common defects. Not long since we watched a judge going over several classes of draft horses, and his lack of attention to unsoundness was not only woeful, but positively unfair to the exhibitors. This is plain language, but it is deserved, when we state that a stallion was placed fourth although he had huge ringbones on one hind pastern and an enlarged fetlock on the same limb, which was not handled perfectly. The judge placed this horse over several animals that were at least sound and to all appearances quite as good in other ways as the one chosen for honor, writes A. S. Alexander in Farmers' Review.

An unsound horse should be disclassed, no matter how perfect he may happen to be in show points. He is intended for breeding purposes, and if affected with a disease such as ringbone, which is notoriously hereditary, or any other disease of similar seriousness, he should be sent to the stable before the judging commences. In order to do this, veterinary inspection is required, and we are fast coming to the time when that must be instituted at every great horse show. We have temporized with this matter too long as it is, and although alleged veterinary inspection has been provided for at some of the horse shows it has not been carried out to the letter, and, indeed, has seldom been resorted to, except at the request of a judge who has found something that he did not feel like dealing with personally.

Expert veterinary inspection is practiced at every great show of horses in Great Britain and doubtless in Europe also, the result being that horses exposed in the judging ring are known to be sound, and the judge has not to decide such matters. At the last show of Shire horses in London, England, many horses were rejected from each class, but the work was done in private and prior to the adjudication of prizes. One of the great live stock papers of that country in reporting the show stated, as regards each class, just how many horses went before the veterinary examiners and how many of them came back to enter the competition after being pronounced sound. In some instances, if our memory serves us aright, as many as five horses were rejected from a single class.

This is good work, and if done in each country from whence come pure-bred stallions to America it conduces to the breeding of sound horses locally, but throws out numbers of unsound horses that cannot be used in their own country, because pronounced unsound, but which too often sell at a figure that just suits the importer, who forthwith imposes them upon our breeders at fancy prices and possibly on the prestige of foreign show winnings earned before they turned unsound. These are in many cases the very horses our lenient judges fail to reject at our state fairs and other shows.

The unsound horses we have seen lately in the judging ring were imported horses. They were not blemished horses, nor injured horses new off the cars, but horses suffering from unsoundnesses such a ringbone, sidebone, spavin, curb or chorea. They should never have come across the ocean. They should have been rejected at the sea board, but as the government pays no attention to such matters the rejecting work should have been done in the first judging ring entered in this country, or, better still, veterinary inspection should have excluded them from competition. We have been speaking plainly, for there is no sense in glossing over matters of such vital importance. The question should be taken up at once and in real earnest, for it cannot longer be safely overlooked.

The Bacon Hog.

The English bacon hog is said to be the type toward which the bacon hogs of the world are being developed. The Danes and the Irish are producing fine bacon hogs, but they are doing so because they are closely following the English standard. The English have always been lovers of fine bacon and have a very well-fixed opinion as to what it should be. The price paid for bacon from the English hog is far above the price paid for the bacon from lard hogs produced in the American corn belt.

Swine of the Nations.

According to recent statistics the hogs of the leading nations of the world number as follows: United States, 47 million; Germany, 17 million; Russia, 11 million; Hungary, 7 million; Canada, 3 million; Spain, 2 million; Roumania, 2 million; Poland, Belgium, Denmark, Australia and the Netherlands, 1 million each; all other countries, together with the above, 117 million.

FARM

MISCELLANY

Spree of an English Cow.

We sometimes hear of farm animals becoming partly intoxicated on the stuff thrown out from breweries and distilleries and cutting up queer pranks. Whether the cow told about by "Cow Keeper and Dairymen's Journal" of Chatham, England, had been eating sour malt or some such by-product we do not know, but here is what the paper says occurred:

A cow was being driven home from market by the purchaser, when it started in pursuit of a little girl named Dickenson, who had started running on seeing the animal. The girl ran into her home, and her mother had barely time to barricade the sitting-room door with chairs and a sewing machine, when the cow commenced to butt the door. Unable to secure any degree of satisfaction here, the animal proceeded to stumble upstairs, and in the front bed room wrought sad havoc among the furniture and fittings. A great crowd had by this time assembled in the street, and one of the spectators ran in and opened wide the bed room window. Almost immediately the animal put its head and forelegs out of the window, and its hoofs slipping on the zinc covered roof of the bay window, the animal slid bodily into the street, to the accompaniment of a great smashing of glass. The crowd bolted in all directions, but the frightened beast, which was apparently uninjured, was secured without any further damage being done.

Atavism.

Atavism is that quality in plants and animals that is always working against improvement, when we consider improvement away from the natural type of plant or animal. Every man that has to do with the production of plants or animals finds a constant tendency to revert to the original type. Thus, if all the improved animals to-day were turned out into the wilds, they would in a very short time revert back to what they were before man took them in hand. The reversion would be very much more rapid than the progress has been away from the regular type. This force of atavism has its illustration in all breeds of animals. The Aberdeen-Angus is supposed to be purely a black animal, and yet many of us have seen pure-bred animals of this kind that were entirely red. Some of them even have horns. So frequently are animals of this kind produced that their presence causes little remark. It would be possible, by the choosing of such animals, to produce new breeds; and, in fact, this is just what is sometimes done when new breeds are brought before the public notice. This new breed may not be an improved breed. It may be simply a new breed lacking many of the qualities of the best breeds. Breeds produced from these sports would have more hardiness, that is, ability to withstand hard conditions, than the stock that is most suitable to the needs of man.—Albert Hicks, Cook Co., Ill., in Farmers' Review.

Lime in the Garden Soil.

I have read in papers that there is sufficient lime in the soil to last for a long time, and that men need not consider the lime in their estimates of the dressings to be used on the land. I notice, however, that in some soils the lime has washed down to a layer several feet deep in the soil and that in such cases sorrel grows on the land, especially if it is a hillside. There was one farm on which I lived where the soil was underlaid at a depth of about two feet by a layer of stones that had all the appearance of having been rounded by the action of water on the shore of some prehistoric ocean. The lime in the soil had washed down and acted as a mortar to hold these stones together. The top soil was a light sandy loam, but no water seemed able to get through that layer of rock and lime. All the wells in the vicinity were very hard, the water containing large quantities of lime. The soil above did not do well for the clovers or garden truck till we had made an application of lime. So I am convinced that the chemist cannot tell us exactly how much lime is in the soil and available for use. I believe land should be limed anyway if the owner does not know that it does not need lime. Of course if red clover and sweet clover grow on it abundantly, it does not need additional lime, for these plants will not thrive in soil that is acidy or where lime is deficient.—Mabel Goodchild, Clark Co., Ill., in Farmers' Review.

Making the Most of Land.

The farmer in the western part of the United States has never learned to make the most of his land, and is learning the lesson but slowly. He found at the beginning more land than he could take care of under intensive methods and arranged his work so that cattle, sheep, horses or hogs would do the work he had not the labor to do. This is why the Western farmer now finds it hard to place his land under intensive conditions. But with the increase of value of farm land the time is here when every acre must be made to yield the largest possible revenue. In the farming of the past in the middle west the cheapest thing was land. Now the conditions are becoming reversed and the most expensive thing is land.

Easily Detected.

"So they found out that the alleged 'bearded lady' was a fraud, did they? How did it happen?"

"Absentmindedly raised her hat when a girl spoke to her the other day. No woman would have done that, you know."—Chicago Tribune.

It is always a pleasure to the average man to boost another sinner down.

Accidents and Calamities.

"In Monte Carlo," said a New York musician, "I had the honor last winter to meet Calve.

"Calve was playing 'Carmen.' She talked to me of Prosper Merimee, the creator of 'Carmen.' She knew many anecdotes of Merimee. Once, she said, he was conversing with the young prince imperial.

"'What is the difference between an accident and a calamity?' the prince imperial asked.

"Just then the lad's cousin and rival Prince Napoleon appeared, and Merimee, smiling, said:

"'If your cousin fell into the Seine, it would be an accident; if somebody pulled him out, it would be a calamity.'"

Ask Your Neighbors.

Gelatt, Pa., Nov. 6th.—(Special)—Mrs. H. W. Sterns, a well respected resident of Gelatt, tells in convincing words what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for her. She says:

"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism, caused through my Kidneys being out of order. I was subject to it for years. It would take me without warning, and while the attack lasted I was so lame I could not get around. So I had to send for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took them for three days, but didn't feel much benefit, but on the fourth day I noticed a great change, the lameness in my back was gone, and the pains I used to suffer were less. I kept on with Dodd's Kidney Pills and now I am glad to say I have no lameness nor pain of any kind. I feel as if I didn't know what Rheumatism was. I shall never be without Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house and I bless the day I first heard of them."

Went the Limit.

"My wife went shopping to-day, and she had exactly $32.19 when she started out."

"How are you so sure she had just that much?"

"Because, when she came back, she told me that was the amount she had spent."—Philadelphia Press.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.
The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Explanation.

Tom (at the reception)—That young widow is acting rather kittenish to-night.

Jack—No wonder. She spent the summer in the Katskill mountains.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Open to Argument.

Still, it is often impossible to tell whether the life insurance director or the life insurance policy holder is the greater dummy.—Atlanta Journal.

Having one's way does not always bring as much satisfaction as was anticipated.

SHERMAN WOULDN'T AGREE.

"Drop Your Title of General and I'll Drop the Private."

One time Gen. Sherman, who was a warm friend of Private Dalzell, said to him:

"Don't you think you make too much of that Private business? Your friends tell me it has handicapped you greatly in Ohio politics, and I believe it, or you'd been in congress long ago. If I were you I'd drop that title."

"Agreed," Dalzell responded at once, "and so I will if you'll drop yours."

The grim old fellow, who loved a joke, grinned and dropped the subject and never mentioned it again.

Brain Food Snares.

Patent brain foods are a delusion and a snare. A man may cram himself with fish and phosphates until he becomes luminous in the dark (if that be possible); and yet remain to the end of time as incapable of comprehending the first problem of Euclid or the last joke in Punch as he was on his first birthday.—Dr. Wallace, in the Young Man.

Safety in Proprietary Medicines.

Replying to the charge that certain popular proprietary medicines contain narcotic drugs, an authority says:

"Some years ago one of the leading pharmacists of America, in connection with some official work, undertook to ascertain, by an elaborate inquiry in representative cities of the country, what percentage of physician's prescriptions contained a narcotic drug of some kind. Out of 100,000 representative prescriptions, dispensed in drug stores in all parts of the United States, it was found that 70 per cent contained opium or some one of its preparations.

"Proprietary medicines are almost invariably accompanied by the most detailed and specific directions for use, while the directions accompanying physicians' prescriptions are generally very brief and sometimes illegible. It is also true that but a moderate proportion of proprietary medicines contain any poison or narcotic, and, when they do, it is generally in such small quantities or so protected by accompanying antidotes, as to carry with it no danger whatever."

The Woman's Life.

"Now, you know, it is useless to deny that woman's life is made up of sacrifices," said Mrs. Browne.

"Of sacrifices sales, yes," retorted her husband.—Philadelphia Press.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

The most dangerous sort of attacks are those which are made through innuendo.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

A man from whom nothing is ever demanded that he cannot do never does all he can.

Around the World

"I have used your Fish Brand Slickers for years in the Hawaiian Islands and found them the only article that suited. I am now in this country (Africa) and think a great deal of your coats."

(NAME ON APPLICATION)

HIGHEST AWARD WORLD'S FAIR, 1904.

The world-wide reputation of Tower's Waterproof Oiled Clothing assures the buyer of the positive worth of all garments bearing this Sign of the Fish.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND

A. J. TOWER CO., Boston, U. S. A.
TOWER CANADIAN CO., LIMITED,
Toronto, Canada.

353

Coney Island Souvenir Post Cards.
Six beautiful colored scenes for 25c. Coney Island Postal Card Co., Coney Island, N. Y.

Mayer

"Western Lady" Shoes embody the latest and most approved styles for women. They are so perfectly designed that they fit every curve of the foot gracefully and with ease and comfort. Nothing better made no matter what you pay. Ask your dealer for Mayer

Western Lady

Shoes next time you need shoes and get the best wearing, dressiest and most comfortable shoes you ever wore.

Any reliable shoe dealer will supply you. If not, write to us. Look for the Mayer trade-mark on the sole. We also make the "Martha Washington" Comfort shoes.

F. Mayer Boot & Shoe Co.,
Milwaukee, Wis.

A TRULY IDEAL WIFE

HER HUSBAND'S BEST HELPER

Vigorous Health Is the Great Source of the Power to Inspire and Encourage—All Women Should Seek It.

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this century, in a recent article, has said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe all to my wife. From the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration, and the greatest helpmate of my life."

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley

To be such a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, to inspire him to make the most of himself, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, whites, irregularities or the blues, she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Following we publish by request a letter from a young wife:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with inflammation, female weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach so I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me health, new life and vitality."—Mrs. Bessie Ainsley, 611 South 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ainsley it will do for every sick and ailing woman.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free and always helpful.

CURES SICK-HEADACHE

Tablets and powders advertised as cures for sick-headache are generally harmful and they do not cure but only deaden the pain by putting the nerves to sleep for a short time through the use of morphine or cocaine.

Lane's Family Medicine

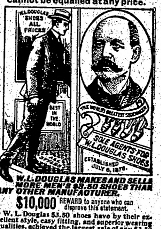
the tonic-laxative, cures sick-headache, not merely stops it for an hour or two. It removes the cause of headache and keeps it away.

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN

W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.



W.L. DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W.L.DOUGLAS SHOES
ESTABLISHED JULY 6, 1876

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes; and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make; why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.

Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.

THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.

N D N U —NO. 45— 1905

PRICE, 25 Cts.

TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY
ANTI-GRIPINE

ANTI-GRIPINE

IS GUARANTEED TO CURE GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

I won't sell Anti-Gripine to a dealer who won't Guarantee It. Call for your MONEY BACK IF IT DON'T CURE.

F. W. Diemer, M. D., Manufacturer, Springfield, Mo.

ESTABLISHED 1878.

MINNEAPOLIS. Woodward & Co., Grain Commission. DULUTH.

ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS.

THE MARAUDER.

There came a beggar to my door,
  A comely little lad,
With sun-kissed hair and azure eyes,
  With pensive mien, and sad.

So meek he seemed—so poor—alone,
  I wept at such ill-faring—
Regardez! When he entered in
  He proved a robber daring.

He barred the door, he barred the pane,
  (Defenseless quite he found me),
A prisoner in my own demesne,
  With braggart oaths he bound me.

He mocked my tears, he stole my heart,
  With jest and gibe to flout me;
With rose-leaf strung on rose-leaf red
  He wove his chains about me.

Quoth he: "Such sorry garb as yours
  No thief would deign to borrow!"
He stripped me of my Cynic's robe,
  Of Loneliness and Sorrow.

He found my store of Doubts and Fears,
  Made loot to merry measure;
He scattered far to left and right
  A hoard of doleful treasure.

He sealed my lips with kisses three,
  And swore he'd stay no longer,
But though he made to loose my chains
  I felt the links grow stronger.

Ay, strong as steel, these shackles sweet
  I would not break nor sever—
A prisoner in my own demesne,
  Love holds me fast forever.
—Meribah Philbrick-Reed, in Life.

A PORTRAIT

TWO children, a boy and a girl, stood before a painting that hung upon the wall. The boy gazed with all his soul in his eyes, dimly conscious, perhaps, of what the picture would some day mean to him. It represented a soldier mounted on a black charger, and the man's face was eager, ardent and earnest. With sword in his uplifted hand he seemed urging men to battle.

The little girl indifferently glanced at the portrait from time to time. She had seen it so many times, and then, too, patriotism had not yet awakened in her undisciplined little heart. She was proud in the thought, however, that she possessed something of absorbing interest to her new neighbor. Finally, she began to relate the story she had heard so often.

"You see, it's a really true man, and he painted himself on papa's horse. Those are the clothes he wore in battle—"

"Humph!" said the boy scornfully, looking at her with the superiority derived from his sex and his four years' seniority. "Those aren't fighting clothes, Lucile! He's on parade."

Lucile wondered vaguely what that might be and then begged him to "come and play."

They played for many a day to come, and then the boy's parents moved to another city.

Seven years later he came back for a visit. He had now attained the great age of 17 and when he had met his former playmate, who had just proudly entered upon her "teens," that long-looked-for period, he said most condescendingly:

"Why, this must be little Lucile Felton!"

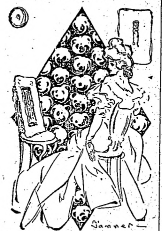
Straightway Lucile felt she hated him and they spent a few weeks of turbulent companionship in strife.

"I thought you were going to be a soldier," she said one day, "like the man on horseback in the picture!"

"What's the use of being a soldier?" he laughed. "There are no wars. I'd rather be the man that painted the picture than the soldier he represents. Let's go and look at it again."

"Papa gave it away—to the man who gave him the horse."

Ten years passed before Paul Willis saw his little playmate again. It was evening of a summer day at a fashionable watering place. He had just arrived and was instantly surrounded by a group of old-time friends who claimed his attention and recognition after his years of foreign travel. Looking beyond the little group about him into the ballroom, his roving gaze was instantly caught and held by the vision of a girl with a pair of wonderful dark and deep eyes, an exquisite face and a quiet dignity in the carriage of her svelte figure.



SHE GAZED INTENTLY AT THE PICTURE.

"Who is she?" he asked of the man nearest him, and even before the answer came he knew the name would be "Lucile Felton."

"Look out!" he was warned, "Lucile cannot be accused of flirting, but she attracts all men and always turns them down."

She saw him coming across the room and knew him by the winsome brown eyes that were still the eyes of the little boy she had played with years before.

"Oh, yes!" she said carelessly, as he recalled himself to her memory. "I remember all my old playmates."

Then she turned to a man immaculate in evening dress who claimed her for the waltz.

Paul Willis stood gazing after them, all his ardor and impetuosity dampened by her nonchalent greeting. She smiled softly to herself through the waltz. The "little" Lucile Felton at 13 had at last been avenged. All the evening he watched her dancing and chatting with her partners, always gay and careless. His whole heart went out to her.

Just before the last dance he found an opportunity to speak with her alone. He was tongue-tied from this new, strange feeling.

"Are your parents well?" he finally asked abruptly. A shadow came over her face. The fan she had trembled.

"Did you not know? They died four years ago."

"Forgive me—I did not know," he said.

"And the old home," she continued, lifting saddened eyes to his, "burned down and all its contents."

She was more beautiful still with this sudden sorrow in her eyes.

"And you—where is your home?"

"I live with my sister, Mrs. Lothrop, in your home city."

Then others came up to her and he was outside the little circle.

But the next day and the many that followed showed no more of her momentary softening, and she resumed her old careless manner toward him. The season ended, and they both returned to the city, where he became a frequent caller at Mrs. Lothrop's. Always was the longing in his heart, but Lucile did not relax.

Her sister chided her one night after he had left them.

"He loves you, Lucile," she reproached.

"Oh, I don't know," said the girl, turning away her lustrous eyes. "They say he has always been sought after by women, but is never serious."

"That's what they say of you, Lucile," returned Mrs. Lothrop, accusingly.

But Lucile was humming a gay little French chanson, and made no response.

Paul Willis stood before his easel, gazing at the unfinished picture—the picture of a fair-haired boy and a perfect darling of a little girl, who were both looking up at the wall. One of his old photographs had served as his model for the lad's portrayal, and love had brought to his memory her childish face, but the picture that was to hang on the wall he could only dimly recall. The subject and the attitude of the man on the horse that had so stirred his young fancy were in his memory, but not perfectly enough to transfer to canvas.

The next day, while rummaging through the old stock of a picture dealer's he saw a small painting, in antique frame that brought forth an exclamation of surprise and joy.

"Where did you get this?" he cried

"A lady sold it to me," replied the dealer. "She had met with reverses and—"

"Do you know where she got it?"

"Yes. She said the man who once owned the original of the horse in the picture gave it to her."

Willis secured the prize, and hastened to his studio, painting "the picture on the wall" with haste and skill.

It was Lucile's birthday. She was glancing with a half pleasure and half humor at the array of books, flowers and confectionery that covered the library table when a maid brought her in a note.

"There is a great, big package just come," she announced, "shall I have it fetched in here?"

"Wait!" and Lucile opened the envelope and scanned the note.

"Oh, Ethel!" she cried to her sister. "Paul Willis has sent me a picture—one he painted! Yes (to the maid) have them bring it in here and opened here."

She was not a little excited and curious. Paul was attracting notice in the world of art and to possess one of his pictures was a privilege. What would the subject be?

When the final wrappings were removed, she stood before it silent and memory-moved.

Her sister gave a little cry of pleasure.

"Oh, Lucile! I understand how he could paint you, but how could he remember that picture—the one we all loved so and we were so provoked when papa gave it away. Why, Paul was a mere child when he saw it!"

The maid now brought in a second package, a small picture, with explanatory note.

Lucile unpacked the portrait—the one thing left to her from her old home.

Later, when Paul Willis called, he found her still standing before the picture he had painted. He stood beside her as they had stood in their childhood, only now she was gazing intently at the picture, while his eyes were upon her.

She began to fear lest he should hear her heart-beats.

"Paul," she said tremulously, "I love it so!"

"Lucile!" he said in low, passionate tones, "Lucile, love me, too, can't you? I have loved you so long!"

"Paul," very softly, "I have loved you since the night at the ball."

"Lucile!"

He gathered her in his arms.

"But you were so cold—so indifferent—always, Lucile!" he said presently. "How could you hurt me so?"

"I was afraid," she murmured, "that you did not really care. I hoped you did, and then I remembered your tone once when you said: 'And this must be little Lucile Felton!'" His laugh was good to hear.

And the children so long separated were again united.—N. O. Times-Democrat.

TURNING BACKWARD

By BELLE MANIATES

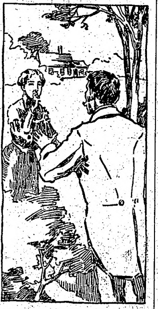
Copyright, 1905, by I. D. Marshall

It was the night of the wedding of Mrs. Baxter's youngest daughter. The mother had bidden her a fond farewell and watched her with her lord depart. When the wedding guests all had gone save those who were to remain all night Mrs. Baxter went to her room, dismissed her maid and gave full sway to her unwonted hour of solitude. She had loved her youngest daughter even more devotedly and fondly than she had her other two children, but she was not grieving over her departure now. Instead she was reveling in the first taste of freedom she had known in years, for her children—the practical Walter, the domineering Julia and the spoiled Dolly—had each and all in turn and en concerto ruled each movement, great or small, of her life.

When five years ago her husband had been the hero of a little adventure that had shocked a shocking world and her fond, foolish heart would have forgiven him as he desired, Walter had taken the affair into his hands, ably seconded by his sister Julia, and before the prostrated, bewildered wife had fully grasped the situation she had found herself divorced. David Baxter, contrite and conciliatory, had been most generous in settlements and had then completely effaced himself from the lives of all he held dear and had taken up his abode in a distant city.

Dolly had been too young to know much about the affair, and to her mother's timid proposal that the father should be asked to give the hand of his youngest and his favorite child in marriage she had lent a willing ear but Walter and Julia had emphatically vetoed such an outrageous act.

An hour after the wedding ceremony Walter had started on an important business journey and Julia had taken the same train to her home and children. Her mother was under orders to follow in a few days, when the big house should be closed for the summer. Julia had arranged for some cousins to remain also until her departure.



A TALL, FAMILIAR FORM CAME QUICKLY TOWARD HER.

"I feel," thought Mrs. Baxter, with a nervous little giggle, "as I used to when I was a little girl and my mother went away and left me alone in the house. It seems as if I ought to play with the clock or do something forbidden."

Suddenly she arose and went to her writing desk. Opening a secret drawer, she drew forth two photographs—David Baxter, boyish and debonair, aged twenty-one, and David Baxter, shrewd and jovial at the threshold of middle age, as when she had last seen him. There was also a slip of paper bearing his present address, for Mrs. Baxter had surreptitiously mailed him newspapers with marked articles from time to time, though she had never dared to write or hope to hear from him.

A tender look came into her eyes, and she swiftly reviewed her past. "It was my fault," she thought. "I neglected him for the children and their friends. Their wishes came first."

She carefully restored the pictures again and renewed her reverie.

"We were perfectly happy that first year only—before David got so very rich, and we lived in that dear little cottage on the forty acres. I wish—I will!"

A sudden bold resolution came to her, and fearful lest her weak nature should make her change her mind she dashed off two letters, one of which was to the people who lived in their old home, which she had never sold, but had allowed some needy friends to occupy rent free.

Her dreams that night were happy pictures of woods, meadows and country lanes. In the morning she looked almost girlish. At the breakfast table she made a welcome proposal to her cousins, who were left in charge of her. She asked them if they would not like to stay in the house for awhile and entertain their friends as they willed, while she made a visit to some friends in the country.

"I am so tired out," she explained. "I need the rest and quiet, and there is no need of the children knowing anything about it. I'll send my letters back here to be remailed to them."

The cousins, who had ever disapproved of the Julia and Walter espionage over their mother, heartily concurred in the little conspiracy. The following day brought a response to her letter to the farm. They would be only too happy to receive her, not as a summer boarder, but as a guest. The next train bore her to her old home, where she planned to stay a few weeks and live again the olden days in her memory and associations.

She gave a little cry of pleasure as they drove up to The Nutshell, as David had named it. Here time seemed to have stood still. The vine covered porch, the flower beds, the old apple orchard and the little rustic seat in the arbor were the same. She went over the whole place. Every spot was replete with beautiful memories. The next morning she arose with a little tremor of excitement running through her veins.

Never, not even for Dolly's wedding, had she taken such care with her toilet. She was glad the day gave promise of being one of extreme heat. It would account to the farm folk for the light, delicate gown she was donning. Her hair still waved softly back from her brow with an occasional escaping ring, as it had in her youth. Her thoughts and hopes had brought a delicate pink flush to her cheeks.

After breakfast she went through the meadows and down the lane to a piece of cool, dark woods that skirted the river. Her heart beat almost painfully as she came nearer to her destination.

"I am a foolish old woman," she told herself. "Of course no one will be there!"

Some one was there, however. A tall, familiar form came quickly toward her.

"Oh, David!" she cried, with a little gasp. "I was afraid you wouldn't come."

"You knew I would," he asserted. "But wait."

He put his arms about her and half led her through the woods. Not a word was spoken. She guessed what was in his mind and smiled happily when he led her to a certain tree apart from the others.

"There," he said. "Now I feel thirty years younger, and, Helen, you look not a year older than you did when we were here last."

"Oh, David! When I was left alone there in that big house the longing came to see you once more, but I didn't dare hope you would come."

"I have been waiting for the letter you wrote for five long years!"

"Have you, David? I didn't want a divorce—it was Julia and Walter"—

"Yes, I know. It was always Julia and Walter, but their day is over."

"I thought we'd have a little visit here in our old home for just this once, and no one need know."

"Helen," he said gravely, "you can't retract now. You called me and I came. I have the license, and we will either go to the old parsonage or have a little wedding up there at the house. We'll spend our honeymoon here, and then we will go abroad, and"—

"Oh, David! And the same minister who married us is still living here!"

Taking Chances.

A small boy had been punished and in consequence was feeling at enmity with all the world, but with his father in particular. When he came to say his prayers at night he gabbled through them at a high rate of speed, and while asking for the customary blessing on all the other members of the family, including the cat, he left out his offending parent.

His mother understood, but thought it best to "appeal to his better self."

"Harold," she said sweetly, "what about papa? You forget, dear."

"Didn't. Don't want papa blessed!"

"Why, Harold, when you love him so! Just think, dear. Papa has gone downtown now, and how would you feel if he got lost or hurt because you hadn't prayed for him?"

This rather worked on the boy's mind, and slowly he began to clamber out of bed, when just as he got on his knees he heard the familiar click of his father's key in the lock. "I guess I'll risk it!" he announced and quick as a wink jumped back into bed.—Lippincott's Magazine.

MALARIA A Poison Breathed into the System

The air arising from low, marshy places, damp cellars, stagnant ponds and pools and from decaying vegetable matter, as well as the gases from sewers, is loaded with germs of malarial poison. The water we drink, that has not been properly filtered and purified, is also full of these germs and microbes, and as we daily breathe and drink millions of these into the system, to be absorbed by the blood, the entire body begins to feel the effects of the poison. The most common form of Malaria is "chills and fever," but when the blood is thoroughly saturated with the poison it becomes so weak and polluted that abscesses, carbuncles, boils, sores, ulcers and other skin diseases result. Malaria also affects the liver, kidneys, bowels and stomach, producing a chronic state of biliousness that often results in jaundice or some malignant fever. In cases of Malaria the blood must be purified before the body can regain its natural health. S. S. S. contains purifying and tonic properties possessed by no other blood medicine, and is the ideal remedy for the treatment of Malaria. It destroys the germs of the disease and builds up the weakened, polluted circulation. It enters into the blood and forces out every particle of poison and waste matter and adds strength and activity to it. S. S. S. improves the appetite and digestion, tones up the entire system by its alterative and purifying action, and Malaria, with all its bad effects, is permanently driven from the system. Book on the blood and any medical advice, without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

MALARIA IN HIS SYSTEM FOR YEARS.

For several years I suffered with Chills and Fever, caused by Malaria in my system, and each summer for several years I would have a relapse. Finally my physician prescribed S. S. S. It entirely cured me; I have never been troubled since. 913 W. Market St., Louisville, Ky. I. SHAPOFF.

SSS

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat

THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..

Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel

Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.

Strictly First-Class In Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stanp for full particulars to-day
National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS. MINN.

Name.........
Town.........
State.........
R.F.D.No.........
Age.........

Try Courier Job Work

FARM MACHINERY

I have just received a carload of farm machinery and it will be to the interest of every farmer in Red Lake County to see me and see some snaps I have to offer before buying. My goods are all anti-trust. Here are a few of the reliable goods I have for sale:

Robinson Buggies, Disc Harrows, Beggs-Goodson Wagons, The Celebrated Acme Harrow and Pulverizer, Van Brunt Single Disc Drills, Goodhue Wind Mills.

Get My Prices---I Can Save You Money

S. A. SWANSON

HistoricalSociety
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 6. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1905. WHOLE NO. 370.

DISTRICT COURT CONVENES

For a Busy ten Day's Term Grand Jury in Session.

District court convened Monday the 13th for the adjourned October term. Hon. Wm. Watts, judge and Chas. M. Lohn, stenographer, Adam Zeh was appointed deputy clerk, J. Kivel and Fred Zaiser were appointed court baillifs. The grand jury were sworn Monday morning and under charge of Joseph Bergeron, foreman, retired to their work. Chas. Fellman of St. Hilaire was appointed baillif in charge of the grand jury. Joseph Bergeron was excused on Wednesday and the court named Louis Doucet foreman. They have brought in three iudictments, one against Casper Wiener for violation of game laws and two against Chas. McKenzie one charging forgery, the other larceny. They are considering other matters and it is expected they will complete their labors today.

There are no criminal cases on the calendar, although there are some offenders bound over to the grand jury. The civil calendar is quite large there being 13 cases continued from last term and 49 new cases, making a total of 62 cases on the calendar. The jury cases will be finished today and it is probable that conrt will adjourn the latter part of the week.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursdav, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

A Card.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough and heals the lungs. Prevents pneumonia and will cure incipient consumption. Contains no opiates and is safest for children. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and insist upon having it. Stops the the cough and heals the lungs. Sold at A L. Reicherts.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY DADS

Regular Meeting Held et the City Hall, November 9.

Meeting called to order by Fred Borchers President. Roll called: Alderman all present except Brady. Minutes of previous meeting read and approved. On motion duly carried the following bills were allowed:

Wm. McIntosh	Judge of election 2nd ward	$ 6.60
E. Schlesinger	Clerk of election 1st ward	2.60
Lewis Alstadt	Judge of election 1st ward	6.60
Eus. Normandeau	Judge on board of Reg. 2nd ward	4.00
Chas. E. Boughton	Clerk of election 2nd ward	2.60
John Marleau	Judge of electien 1st ward	6.75
Joseph Normandeau	Judge of election 2nd ward	2.60
Joseph Salley	Clerk of election 2nd ward	2.60
Frank Cyr	Judge of election 3rd ward	6.60
Joseph Tschirhart	Judge of election 1st ward	7.10
J. C. Matthews	Judge of election 3rd ward	6.60
John Deforge	street work etc	20.40
Julius Kuhl	"	16.50
Wilfred Bisson	"	20.25
J. P. Harren	Judge of election 2nd ward	6.60
Arthur Lizee	Tending to fire engine Oct. 05	3.00
Wm. Belair	Special police	2.25
Fred Cyr	"	2.25
Jim Campbell	"	2.25
John Drier	Services as fire warden etc	31.00
Joseph Salley	Drayage	12.00
Alphonse Roy	Drayage	7.15
Walter S. Booth & Son	City blanks	1.00
August Kreuger	Drayage	3.00

On motion meeting adjourned.

Fred Borchers President.

Approved this 15th day of November, A. D. 1905.

Aitest: J. A. Duffy

A. P. Toupin, Clerk. Mayor.

MAYORS PROCLAMATION

Calling Especial Attention to Thanksgiving Day

The past year has been one of great prosperity. The nation is at peace with the world. Throughout the entire chuntry there is an awakening of the people and a quickening of the public conscience, which is making for better citizenship and better government. In our own state we have abundant cause for rejoicing and general thanksgiving. Never have our fields and mines been so bountiful in their products, and in all that tends to material wealth our people have been enriched in greater degree than ever before.

Labor in all departments of human endeavor has been generously rewarded, and its efforts have been crowned with deserved success.

For all these bounties I would earnestly recommend that on Thanksgiving day our people abstain from their usual avocations and, meeting in their regular places of worship, join in general thanksgiving to the Divine Author for all our blessings and invoke the continuance of His favor.

California

with its fascinating panorama of lofty mountains fertile valleye and vast orchards, has long bee nthe mecca of the tourist. Nowhere is there to be found such delightful climate, such variety of sight seeing or health giving atmosphere as in California. The North-Western Line is now selling thru tickets to California at very low rates. For information as to train service, rates, etc., write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A., St. Paul Minn.

Why YouShould go to California

It is not an expensive trip, taking into consideration the benefit to your health which cannot be estimated in dollars. Comfortable tourist cars leave Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday via the North-Western Line. For information as to rates, train services, etc write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

THE RED LAKERS

Compliments to Our Teachers by the Crookston Journal.

The city of Red Lake Falls may not be eligible to the county seat of Red Lake county in face of the claims of Thief River, but—if the teachers of Red Lake Falls are a fair example of the character of the inhabitants that make up that well known little city we are in a position to say that Thief River will have to show some ability that no doubt rears itself in the domains of its walls. At the last foot ball game that was played in this city the teachers of the Red Lake schools were very observant of the manner of the doings that were going on around them during their visit on that Friday into the school rooms of the Crookston city schools.

"From first thot" they say "it may seem extravagant for a superintendent to dismiss his whole school for a day and go visiting to a neighboring school. But when you come to know that on the same day at least ten superintendents visited the Minneapolis schools with their teachers, coming from at least four different states you will conclude that there is something good in the practice.

"Yet when you stop to think of the many thousand of things that teachers have to do you will see at a glance that a day spent in any well organized school would suggest enough of good, enough of plan, enough of new and hopeful methods to make such a day the most helpful of the year. As I look back upon our visit to Crookston I can feel that it was a day most profitably spent."

The papers that were published in the press of Red Lake Falls are papers that set forth the wideawakeness of the persons who wrote them and no doubt also of the people that surround them and from which the inspiration arises. The paper takes up the elements of the Crookston schools and sets forth the better things and less commendable things that they saw therein as compared to schools of R. L. Falls. They pass criticism on the handling of the schools in this city and comment on the things in which they excell with a subtle suggestion thruout that it is but a little way before their school will possess this added improvement and urge their people on to such improvement.

It is not for the Journal to say that it believes that the Red Lake teachers are wrong in some of their criticisms But there is certainly deep down in the makeup of the High School teachers of Red Lake Falls a strong disposition to arise higher and reach the acme of public improvement and a deep inspiration to themselves to be the engines of that improvement.

The extensive scope of the observation, and the avidity with which every subject is brought up and discussed does credit to the teachers of that city of the country above and for her as well as her sister city (tho at the present time one is pouting at the other) there is much in the many years that are to come and open the great north country to the settlement of the world

FOR SALE or RENT: The room now occupied by J. R. & R. Fortier as a general store. Address J. A. H. Lemieux, 505-2nd St, S.E., Little Falls, Minn.

FARMERS INSTITUTE NOV. 23

Dr. Curryer and Corps of Trained Instructors To Hold Meeting In R. L. F.

A state farmer's institute under direction of Dr. J. C. Curryer will be held at Red Lake Falls on Thursday, November 23, at the Metropolitan opera house. Five or six of the prominent agricultural experts and lecturers will be here on that occasion to address the farmers, their wives, sons and daughters.

This institute will be absolutely free, and it is hoped that every farmer within driving distance of the city will take advantage of this unusual opportunity to hear the eminent and trained speakers.

A very instructive book will be given away to those farmers attending the morning session. This book is full to overflowing with the results obtained by the experiences of others and should be in every farmer's home. It forms a ready reference book and should be studied carefully in order that you may profit by the experiences of others.

Everyone should turn out and make this meeting a great success.

OUR TRIP TO CROOKSTON

As Viewed by Superintendent, Faculty Pupils and Football Team.

(continued from last week.)

The other half is then spent in reading in groups, each group containing from 4 to 5 pupils. One pupil is the leader of the group and conducts the class much as the teacher would, having them read any of the work that has been gone over by the class. He is responsible for perfect order and holds his position only so long as he maintains the interest of his group. Our teachers were much impressed with the way each little teacher maintained order. Some were seen to shake their pupils for laughing, others to ask them not to lean on the desks or against the walls for they stand during this work! One little fellow in the second primary was quite indignant because one of his pupils insisted on not paying attention. Great tact of course must be used by the teacher in selecting these leaders. Each group know where they will recite and the same leader presides from day to day. The great advantage of this group reading is at once evident in that each pupil is required to read out loud more than four times as much as under the old system. We tried and used a similar plan in reading in our schools only last year and found it to work to an advantage but this group system is an improvement over what we call the Chinese system. In spelling the work is carried on entirely by groups each pupil having an opportunity of spelling every word once at least. In arithmetic the group work constitutes only mental drill and fundamental processes with no work in practical problems, that being entirely carried on by teacher. Here it is a great time saver in the class and gives much individual practice which cannot otherwise be accomplished. In every case the teacher always had charge of the poorest groups. No group work was done in language, grammar or history but in certain lessons without doubt it could be worked advantageously. In the first primary practically no group work was done. It was used a very little in reading. In the high school it is not yet in working order but has been used to some extent in physics and algebra. It promises however to be as useful in high school subjects as in the grades and will without a doubt be instituted.

Some of our teachers have given it a trial this week and there is not one who has anything but words of praise for the system, its workings and its advantages.

Well you say what of it! What good did it do you? Much. First, I received many excellent suggestions which I could never have culled out of my books and educational papers, I saw their successful working and can the more easily apply them.

Second, my teachers saw the same things and were pleased with them. This means that any prejudice they may have had, the greatest dfficulty a Superintendent has to overcome, is removed. It also means that with few words I can tell them to do what it would otherwise have taken days for me to show them. And while our equipments will not allow us to put into use all of the suggestions we received still we will be able to apply many of them to the bettering of our work all along the line.

By Football Team,

The recent foot ball game between the High School of Crookston and Red Lake Falls shows that we no longer have any reason to fear mistreatment at the hands of Crookston as they played a good clean game and were as nice a lot of fellows as we ever played against. They played a good, hard game but were weak on defense. They had splendid material for a good foot-ball team but the team is not supported in the right way. We do not mean financially but by the people's lack of interest in them. But we do think that the people would take more interest in them if they went after the game in the right spirit and trained hard.

Training is something that most of the Crookston players do not know and without which no team can play or expect to play in any kind of championship form. From one in Crookston who knows and who is an earnest supporter of their team, we learned that a majority of the players smoke. What can a team expect to accomplish if all candidates for a team adhere to this habit while playing football. Every person who intends to play the game should have and show the moral courage to give up such habits, to keep regular sleeping hours to eat only plain food (that is, to cut out coffee, pastries, etc.) and above all things, to turn out as regular to pratice as if football was one of his studies. Our

(Continued on local page.)

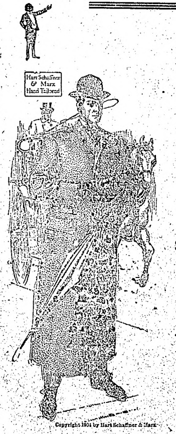
Pain may go by the name of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, pleurisy. No matter what names the pains are called, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will drive them away. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert's.

Counterfeiting The Genuine.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction, It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Sold at A. L. Reichert's

BERTHON & ARMSTRONG

Mens' and Boys LEADING Clothing Outfitters



Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored

Copyright 1904 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

FAIR DEALING

WE MAKE ONLY ONE ENTRY

ALL WOOL
IN OUR FALL
CLOTHING...

Suits and Overcoats cut in the latest styles, popular colors, no shoddy, no mercerized.

..NEW FURNISHINGS..

If you want to know what smartly dressed men wear this season, ask.

JIM AND PAUL

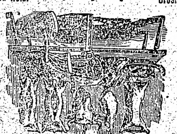
RED LAKE FALLS MINN

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel

Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.



Strictly First-Class In Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

DESPITE the prevalence of robbery a few continue to keep money about their homes. In doing this they are not only risking the loss of their money but also their lives.

How much safer and better it would be if these people were to bring their money to the bank. Are you running such risks?

We make farm loans at lowest rate of interest,
We sell steamship tickets to all parts of the world.
Our vault is protected by the ELECTRIC BURGLAR ALARM System.

First State Bank, Red Lake Falls

DEFECTIVE PAGE

THE COURIER

JOHN E. KING, Pub.

Red Lake Falls, Minn

Castro gets more ultimatums than picture postal cards and his wall-space is limited.

Somebody suggests there is no dispute about the sex of Lucifer. This takes the angel cake.

Nature is pretty wise, after all. When she gave Alaska its climate she also filled it with coal.

Castro is at present endeavoring to conquer the American language. He may tackle America itself next.

The Pittsburg embezzler who put $20,000 in large bills into the fire doubtless thought he had money to burn.

Three bears have been killed in Duluth, but the dispatches do not say what stocks will be affected by their demise.

An Omaha negro has trained his dogs to rob hen roosts, but watermelons will have to be "lifted" in the same old way.

The people who have been accustomed to speak of the Atlantic ocean as the "big pond," now call the Panama canal a ditch.

Statistics show that America makes more barrels than any other country. And bigger ones, too. Look at Rockefeller's and Carnegie's.

A revolution broke out the other day in Korea, but it luckily happened that forty or fifty Japanese soldiers were on hand to put it down.

If men ever do the cooking, at least two proverbs will have to be revised to "the sort that father used to make" and "feed the dear."

It is difficult for mere man to pick out the sound chestnuts from the wormy ones, but bright-eyed little Mr. Squirrel can do it every time.

An American who tried to introduce the quick lunch in London has failed. Perhaps he made the mistake of having coffee instead of tea on tap.

The "Empress of the Sahara" is singing songs in German variety halls. The Lord only knows what has become of "Emperor" Jacques Labaudy.

The total profits of baseball this season are estimated at $800,000. We wonder what the total profits were in the other great American national game.

A New York girl has invented a machine by which she claims one may count a million dollars a minute. John W. Gates will no doubt hail this as a real boon.

A New York girl has had her lover arrested "because he kissed her too much." One of the first things a lover should learn is to kiss the girl just enough.

Joseph H. Choate says the opportunities for young men are greater than ever. This may be so, but what about the opportunities for men who are over forty-five?

The English novelist who committed suicide in order to advertise her new book set an example that the most enthusiastic literary aspirant will hesitate to follow.

It has been necessary to place a special guard on duty to keep Princeton students from daubing a statue of Washington. Princeton should have a kindergarten department.

A German savant says the bite of a pretty girl is as deadly as a rattlesnake's. If any pretty girl wants to be shown, we offer ourself as a sacrifice in the cause of science.

In a recent race of carrier pigeons one bird made 200 miles in three hours. In aerial navigation the pigeon easily holds the lead over all other flying machines yet invented.

A recent count shows that there are 10,080 millionaires in the world, more than half of whom live in this country. Still, we had supposed that Pittsburg alone had more than 10,000 of them.

An advertisement in the Yorkshire Post asks, "Would any lady of means care to marry poor, crowded-out clerk, aged 37?" This sort of thing is almost the only fact behind the query, "Does advertising pay?"

Sir Thomas Lipton's promise that if all goes well he will be at Sandy Hook in 1907 with a new yacht to challenge for the America cup, means only that some American designer will also be there with a better one.

For the successful conduct of the war the mikado again gives credit to the illustrious ancestors. It would be interesting to know how far the ancestors would have been held to blame if the war had gone the other way.

Prof. Henry Van Dyke is quoted as saying: "If I can persuade men to see the difference between Shakespeare's writings and 'Fables in Slang,' I think I will accomplish a great task." We do hope, however, that Prof. Van Dyke really said, "I shall accomplish."

RESUME OF THE NEWS

Fresh—Reliable—Brief

Washington.

President Roosevelt informed a delegation of residents of Oklahoma that he would recommend in his forthcoming message to congress single statehood for Oklahoma and Indian Territory.

Postmaster General Cortelyou will remain at the head of the postoffice department and will not be transferred to the treasury next February when Secretary Shaw retires. Several influential persons have requested the president to keep Mr. Cortelyou at the head of the postoffice department.

Notice was received at the Georgetown customs house that the foreign gifts consigned to Miss Alice Roosevelt were to be examined at the customs house and not taken to the executive mansion. They will go through the regular routine and will be examined by the authorities without any representative from the White House being present.

Criminal.

The Sandborn bank, a branch of the German National bank of Vincennes, Ind., was blown to pieces and robbed of $5,000.

Judge S. F. Smith has called a grand jury to meet at Owosso, Mich., Dec. 4. Rumors of corruption in county affairs will be investigated.

Arnold V. Peterson, an American dentist, lately arrived in Winnipeg, is under arrest charged with burglarizing W. N. Brown's fur store on Oct. 20.

Garfield Hines was shot and killed by his wife at Cairo, Ill. Mrs. Hines was arrested and placed in jail. She says her husband was attacking her with a knife.

Arthur E. Clark, a theatrical manager who has been directing the rehearsals of the company which will present the extravaganza, "The Gingerbread Man," committed suicide in New York.

S. W. Sangster, who was recently arrested in Kansas, following charges that he had sent poisoned candy to his wife and daughter, was arraigned in court at Chicago. He pleaded not guilty and in default of bail was taken to jail.

The federal grand jury at Moscow, Idaho, engaged in ferreting out land frauds, has completed its work and was discharged. Eight indictments were returned, but United States Attorney Ruick declines to give out the names of those indicted at this time.

The grand jury of Marshall county, Ind., has returned sixty indictments against cigarette smokers. Plymouth, the seat of Marshall county, is the home of Senator Parks, author of the anti-cigarette law, and he will prosecute the offenders indicted by the grand jury.

Found guilty of manslaughter, because his carelessness resulted in a collision on the Boston & Maine railway at Fitchburg, Mass, on July 3, in which three men were killed, G. E. Powers, a railway conductor, was sentenced to eighteen months in the house of correction.

Everett B. Thomas, former supervisor of the government forest reserves in Southern California, has been indicted by the United States grand jury at Los Angeles, charged with having presented false and fictitious claims for expenses to the secretary of the interior during his incumbency.

A sensation has been caused by the arrest at Hampton, Ia., of M. G. Ogle, agent of the Iowa Central, charging larceny. It is claimed that he was implicated in the wholesale theft of coal from the railroad, and it is said that prominent citizens of the town will be involved, and that other arrests will follow.

John Cummings, arrested in Denver, has been identified as Jack Havlin, wanted in St. Paul on the charge of having murdered Policeman Charles Mayer on the night of Feb. 1, 1902. Cummings escaped from jail at Greeley, Col., a few nights ago. He is being held on a charge of highway robbery.

Foreign.

Emperor William is sending to the emperor of Japan six black stallions from his stock farm.

The queen of Portugal was thrown from her horse at Cascares, but her injuries were slight.

A dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph from Tokio says that China has opened the port of Haichau to foreign trade.

Stockholm has the largest death rate from the use of alcohol of any city in the world. The number of deaths from this cause is 90 in 1,000.

According to a dispatch received by the Berlin Tageblatt from Kiel, Emperor William will start in February on a six weeks' tour in the Mediterranean, which includes visits to Italy and Constantinople.

It is considered certain that a secret consistory will be held Dec 11 and a public consistory Dec. 14, and Mgr. Cagaino de Azevedo, majordomo of the Vatican; Archbishop Cavalcanti de Albuquerque of Rio de Janeiro; Archbishop Samasa of Elau, Hungary, and another prelate whose name is not yet known, will be created cardinals.

The American Asiatic association, representing the sentiment of the entire business community of Yokohama and the mission body of Japan, has sent a request to President Roosevelt that Minister Griscom be retained at Tokio as ambassador.

The remainder of the German battleships to be built under the naval program will have a displacement equal to the displacements of the large ships of the other naval powers.

Wu Tingfang, formerly Chinese minister to the United States, is reported to be totally deaf as the result of the explosion of a bomb thrown by a fanatic when the Chinese commissioners were leaving Pekin to visit foreign countries.

A typhoon which took place Nov. 7, has wrought extensive devastation in the province of Oshima, Japan, and the islands adjacent thereto. Over 2,000 buildings have been destroyed, and a steamer, it is said, has been wrecked. No loss of life is reported.

Paul Deroulede, the founder of the League of Patriots, has arrived in Paris after an exile of six years. It is said that M. Deroulede will be re-elected to the chamber of deputies, and further that he will take an important part as a Nationalist in the proceedings of that body.

Accidental Happenings.

A fire in the lumber yards of McPhee & McGinty at Denver destroyed lumber and cement to the value of $85,000.

Fire at Los Angeles completely destroyed the Bimin bath and sanitarium in the west end of the city, entailing a loss of $250,000.

One person, the engineer, was killed and six were injured by a headon collision of trains on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railway in the western part of Troy.

Fire which broke out in the American house at Mauch Chunk, Pa., partly destroyed that structure. Guests were compelled to flee in their night clothing. Loss $25,000.

Five persons were killed and several were fatally injured in a wreck on the Deleware, Lackawanna & Western railroad about ten miles south of Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Jacob Haugh, his wife and son Jesse, were cremated in a fire which destroyed their cottage, eight miles north of Dayton, Ohio. Oliver Haugh, another son, was seriously burned and was taken to the hospital.

The Southern Pacific south-bound coast limited passenger train dashed into a train of tourist cars at Santa Margarita station, fourteen miles north of San Luis Obispo, Cal. Nineteen people were hurt, several of them seriously and two probably fatally.

William McManaway saved a special train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad from crashing through a bridge over the Oakaw river at Pana, Ill., and but a few minutes later fell sixty feet while helping to repair the structure, receiving probably fatal injuries.

Mrs. F. Douzuk, wife of a progressive Galician farmer, at Valley River, near Douphin, Man., was found dead at her home. The woman's death was the result of a gunshot wound. From what can be learned Mrs. Douzuk's death was accidentally caused by her youngest son, aged 12.

While running under full head of steam, a freight engine was blown to atoms by the explosion of the boiler, near Ennis, Tex. Practically the entire train was derailed, seven of the cars being ditched and four of them totally destroyed. Two men were killed and one probably fatally injured.

General.

William Tod Otto, former district court judge of Indiana, friend of Lincoln, educator and author, is dead at his home at Philadelphia, aged 89 years.

W. D. Vandiver, state superintendent of insurance of Missouri, suspended the certificate of authority of the New York Life Insurance company to do business in that state.

The United States army transport Sherman sailed from San Francisco for the Philippines with the Fifteenth infantry and companies I and J of the Fourth cavalry, which are being transferred from Monteray to Camp Kieley on the island of Mindanao.

Preliminary figures indicate that 4,000,000 tons of iron ore were shipped from the upper lake ports in the month of October, bringing the total for the season beyond 29,500,000. Shipments this month are expected to bring the total for the year to 33,000,000, which will exceed any previous yearly record by about 5,000,000 tons.

In the death of Mrs. Alma Hake at Hanover, Pa., a nurse sacrificed her life for her patient. She was nursing Mrs. Albert Rodgers and her babe, when a kerosene lamp exploded in the bedroom. Unable to open the windows, the heroic nurse picked up the burning lamp and carried it down stairs. She was so terribly burned that death resulted soon afterward. Neighbors removed the mother and child and saved the house.

Keyed to such a high pitch of excitement after eleven hours of work under trying and exciting conditions, that his heart gave way, Matthew Kurtz, aged 25, Republican election inspector of New York, died suddenly. Kurtz was a small, slight young man, and the work was too much for him.

At a meeting of the chapel of printers in the composing room of the Baltimore News office, Prince Louis of Battenberg was elected a member, it having been developed during his visit to the office of that newspaper that his highness learned the printing art when he was a young man.

MASSACRES BY BLACK HUNDRED

ST. PETERSBURG AND MOSCOW SCHEDULED FOR SOME BLOODSHED.

BETTER CLASSES IN A PANIC

TREPOFF'S SUCCESSOR GIVES ORDERS TO CRUSH DISORDER IN INCIPIENCY.

A STATE OF WAR IN POLAND

SOON EXPECTED, BUT ORDER IS BEING RESTORED IN RUSSIAN INTERIOR.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 12.—Except in the kingdom of Poland, where the rapidly growing nationalist movement and the state of tension among the proletariat will soon bring about the declaration of a state of war, Russia seems for the time being at least to be generally tranquil. Telegrams from interior points report the restoration of order in nearly all cities and towns, but in many cities, notably St. Petersburg and Moscow, the better classes of the population are greatly disturbed owing to the rumors of approaching composed of the most ignorant types of the populace, which, according to these rumors, are scheduled to take place in St. Petersburg to-night and in Moscow to-morrow. The apprehension in St. Petersburg has become so great that the prefect, who succeeded Gen. Trepoff in command of the city police, has instructed his subordinates to take the fullest measures to crush any disorder in its incipiency so as to disabuse the minds of the "loyalists" of the idea that the police would remain inactive. In such an emergency the strong hand of Gen. Trepoff is being missed even by the factions which most execrated him.

Attacks by the "Black Hundred,"

Witte's Cabinet Ready.

Count Witte's cabinet may now be regarded as constituted, Count Lamsdorff, minister of foreign affairs, and M. Manuekin, minister of justice, will retain their posts, leaving only the posts of minister of the interior and minister of education to be filled. Dmitri Shipoff of Moscow, who was president of the first zemstvo congress, has definitely declined to accept any position in the cabinet.

Denies Responsibility.

A long official communication published this morning denies that disorders in any part of the country have been fomented by the government and promises a most careful inquiry into the outrages against life and property and the adoption of measures to prevent their recurrence. It says that even were the accusations against the government confirmed they would not form a pretext for the recent terrible occurrences. The government recognizes that its duty is to remain quite impartial and to give its protection to all persons requiring it.

Quiet at Kronstadt.

All is quiet at Kronstadt. The mutinous sailors have all submitted and the leaders, to the number of several hundred, have been deported from the island. The others are thoroughly repentant. Troops are pouring into Kronstadt from all sections by water. Beside machine guns, other street artillery and a battery of quick-firing field guns have arrived there, and any further disorder at present is utterly out of the question.

The mutineers and rowdies gutted the Tartar and Jew markets, and on Pavloff street, near the barracks, destroyed ten modern business blocks and several smaller stores.

FORMER MILL CITY MAN DIES.

John Dixon Is Found Dead in a Kansas City Hotel.

Kansas City, Nov. 12.—John Dixon, formerly private secretary to United States Senator William A. Clark of Montana, was found dead in his room at a local hotel yesterday. Dixon had been ill for some time. The coroner took charge of the body and an autopsy will be held. Several years ago Dixon moved from Minneapolis to Butte, and later practiced law in Oklahoma City. His parents live in this city.

SHAW WILL GIVE NO AID.

Says He Sees No Reason for Helping Out Wall Street.

Washington, Nov. 12. — Secretary Shaw returned from New York yesterday. He said that he saw nothing in the present situation in the New York money market to warrant any action by the treasury department.

PROSECUTE STANDARD OIL.

Federal Inspectors Have Evidence Regarding Rebate Infringements.

Chicago, Nov. 12. — The bureau of corporations of the federal commerce and labor commission is planning a prosecution of the Standard Oil company officials. The proceedings, it is said, will be similar to the action brought against the packers. Four inspectors have established headquarters in this city, where, it is said, they have quietly been carrying on an investigation.

BLOODY TRAGEDY IN KENTUCKY.

Cheer for Jeff Davis Starts Row in Which Three Men Are Killed.

Naugatuck, W. Va., Nov. 12. — A cheer for Jeff Davis, uttered by a drunken man on Beaver Creek on the Kentucky side of the river yesterday, resulted in a bloody tragedy in which three men were killed and three others were wounded. There had been much drinking after election on Tuesday. Con Estep, an old Confederate soldier, was among the men who had become intoxicated. When he yelled "hurrah for Jeff Davis," C. Prater, a young man in the crowd, told Estep to "shut up or he would kill him." Enock Bentley, another member of the crowd, told Estep to "hurrah for any one he pleased." Prater turned upon Bentley and emptied his pistol at short range, all five shots taking effect. After he had fallen Bentley shot and killed Prater. Rube Morgan, a friend of Prater's, who had shot Bentley after the latter had fallen, fired at Tom and John Bowling, friends of Estep, and then fled, but he was shot and mortally wounded by the Bowlings. Bentley died soon after the shooting and Morgan died two hours later. During the fight John Sadler, belonging to the Prater gang, was dangerously wounded. The Bowlings were both hit, but not fatally hurt. An election bet had caused hard feelings between Estep and Prater. The excitement over the the tragedy is intense and another clash of the factions is expected.

DISCHARGE FOR BURBANK.

Court-Martial Makes Recommendation to Department of War.

Leavenworth, Kan., Nov. 12. — Advices received at Fort Leavenworth yesterday from the Philippine islands, state that the court-martial proceeding in the case of First Lieut. Sidney S. Burbank, Sixth infantry, have been concluded, and that the papers, which have been forwarded to Washington, recommend his dismissal from the service. Lieut. Burbank was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer, the charges being based on his conduct toward Concepcion Vasquez, a Philippine woman whom the Philippine courts recently decided was Burbank's legal wife.

LETTER FROM LINCOLN SOLD.

Hundred Dollars Paid for One Sixty Years Old.

New York, Nov. 12.—A letter written by Abraham Lincoln in 1841, relating to political affairs in Illinois, one of a number of autographs collected by Mrs. George M. Moulton of Chicago, and sold at auction here yesterday, brought $100. An autograph poem signed by James Russell Lowell brought $23. A one-page letter signed, but not written by George Washington, Feb. 20, 1790, sold for $28.

MILLIONAIRE IS DEAD.

Pioneer Lumberman of Menominee River Region Dies of Cancer.

Menominee, Mich., Nov. 12.—W. O. Carpenter, a member of the firm of Carpenter, Cook & Co., wholesale grocers, died last night of cancer. He was over eighty years old. He was one of the pioneers of the Menominee river lumber region. His fortune is estimated at anywhere from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

St. Paul, Nov. 13. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 85@86c; No. 2 Northern 82 1-2@83 1-4c; No. 3, 78@83c. Corn —No. 3 yellow, 52 1-2@53c. Oats—No 3 white, 28 1-2@29c.

Duluth, Nov. 13. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 85 1-8c; No. 2 Northern 83 1-8c; flax, 99 7-8c; rye, 66c.

Minneapolis, Nov. 13.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, 86c; No. 1 Northern 85 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 83c. Oats—No. 3 white, 28 5-8c.

Milwaukee, Nov. 13. — Wheat—No. 1 Northern, 88@89c; No. 2 Northern 84@87c. Rye—No. 1, 72 1-2@73c Barley—No. 2, 55c. Oats—Standard 31 1-2@32c.

Chicago, Nov. 13. — Wheat — No. 2 red, 89 1-2c; No. 2 hard, 87@89c; No 1 Northern, 89c; No. 2 Northern, 87@89c. Corn—No. 3, 47c. Oats—No. 2, 30 1-4c.

Sioux City, Iowa, Nov. 13.—Cattle—Beeves, $4 @ 5.75; cows, bulls and mixed, $2 @ 3.75; stockers and feeders, $2.75@3.75; calves and yearlings, $2.50@3.40. Hogs—Bulk, $4.72 1-2 @ 4.77 1-2.

Chicago, Nov. 13. — Cattle—Good to prime beeves, $3.75@6.40; stockers and feeders, $2.10@4.30; cows, $2.50@4.50; heifers, $2.20@4.80; calves, $3@7. Hogs—Mixed and butchers, $4.70@5.10; bulk, $4.75@5.05. Sheep, $4.25@5.80; lambs, $4.75@7.65.

South St. Paul, Nov. 13. — Cattle — Good to choice steers, $4.50 @ 5.50; good to choice cows and heifers, $3.50 @3.75; good to choice milch cows, $20@35. Hogs — Range price, $4.60 @4.90; bulk, $4.70@4.80. Sheep—Good to choice lambs, $5@5.85; fair to good, $4@5; good to choice yearling wethers, $4.50@5.50; good to choice ewes $3.75@4.40.

Horace Lewis Stricken.

Brookline, Mass., Nov. 12.—Horace Lewis Smith, well known as an actor by the stage name of Horace Lewis, died at his home here yesterday of heart trouble. He was 51 years old and had been on the stage 30 years.

Ship 9,450 Sacks of Potatoes.

Stockton, Cal., Nov. 12. — The biggest shipment of potatoes that ever went East left here yesterday over the Santa Fe. It consisted of a solid train of thirty-five cars, containing 9,450 sacks of potatoes.

ELECTION FULL OF SURPRISES

TAMMANY HALL LOSES IN FIGHT AGAINST JEROME—McCLELLAN ELECTED.

HEARST CHARGES FRAUDS

TAKES APPEAL TO COURTS TO CONTEST McCLELLAN'S ELECTION.

OHIO SWEPT BY DEMOCRATS

PATTISON'S PLURALITY IS OVER 50,000—LEGISLATURE IS DEMOCRATIC.

The election of John M. Pattison, Democrat, as governor of Ohio, by approximately 40,000 plurality over Myron T. Herrick, the present Republican governor; a working majority in both houses of the Ohio legislature; an immediate appeal by William R. Hearst, the Municipal Ownership candidate for the New York mayorality, to the supreme court to contest McClellan's re-election in that city, on the basis of alleged evidence of wholesale illegal acts at the polls; a plurality of 3,485 votes for McClellan; and immediate contest by the fusionists in the courts against the election of Democratic municipal officers and members of the legislature, were the most important events of Tuesday's election.

Gigantic Frauds.

McClellan's plurality is the minimum on record for a successful mayorality candidate in New York. Mr. Hearst's managers claim evidence of illegal acts against 1,000 inspectors of election, and that 30,000 of his adherents were turned back from the polls because their names had already been voted. District Attorney Jerome has announced he will immediately make a searching investigation of the alleged wholesale frauds, and has ordered the returns from the Eighteenth and Sixth assembly districts to be carefully guarded. These are the home districts of Tammany Leader Murphy and "Tim" Sullivan.

Victory for Jerome.

W. T. Jerome was re-elected district attorney of New York by a large plurality.

Jerome's triumph was almost entirely a personal one, and showed that an appeal may be made successfully to voters on the strength of personal honesty and persistent, systematic denunciation of graft.

Fraud in Louisville.

In Louisville the fusion party managers claim a non-election in fourteen precincts because of the disappearance of election paraphernalia; that Democratic workers confiscated the ballot boxes in fourteen other precincts and allowed falsification of returns, and allege activity of "thugs" and repeaters.

Democrats Sweep Ohio.

All through Ohio the belated returns show Republican losses, and Republicans concede Pattison's plurality reaches 25,000. The Democrats claim Pattison's plurality approximates 55,000, which would elect the entire Democratic ticket. Republicans concede the Democrats between two and five majority in the senate and ten to fifteen in the house, while the Democrats claim a majority of five in the senate and twenty-seven in the house.

Reform Wins in Philadelphia.

The City party's (reform) plurality in Philadelphia is 43,333 for sheriff, and the fusionist candidate for state treasurer (Berry) carried the city by over 36,000 plurality. The upheaval was the greatest in Pennsylvania for many years.

The Maryland legislature is Democratic.

In Rhode Island the Republican gubernatorial candidate has a plurality estimated at 5,000, and Providence elects a Republican mayor for the first time in many years.

In Massachusetts.

In Massachusetts, Democratic threats are made for a recount of the vote for lieutenant governor. The Republicans in Massachusetts score 23,116 plurality for Guild for governor, though Draper, for lieutenant governor, got less than 2,000 plurality. The Democrats gained three senators and one representative in the legislature.

Every candidate of the Union Labor party in San Francisco was elected by a substantial majority.

In Salt Lake City the anti-Mormon victory is made complete by the election of the entire American party city ticket.

Democratic Legislature.

The Kentucky legislature, which will elect a successor to Senator Blackburn, apparently will include 31 Democrats, 5 Republicans and 2 doubtful in the senate and 79 Democrats, 14 Republicans and 7 doubtful in the house. The Democrats elect a mayor in Louisville by about 2,000.

Nebraska was swept by the Republicans. Returns from other states and cities show notable changes.

FINES GO TO COUNTY.

Attorney General Says Fines for Game Law Violations Belong to County.

Fines collected by city municipal courts for violation of the state game laws must be paid into the county treasury and not into the city treasury, is the opinion of Attorney General Young given in reply to a query from S. F. Fullerton, state game and fish commissioner. The matter came up through a conflict between the charter of the city of Mankato, which provides that all fines collected by the municipal court shall be turned into the city treasury, and the game law passed by the last legislature which provides that all fines collected under the law must be paid into the county treasury. County Auditor Weaver wrote to Fullerton about the matter and claimed that the district judge of Winona had held that the provisions of the Winona charter, which was similar to those of the Mankato charter, prevailed over the general law of the state.

The attorney general states in his reply that Judge Shaw, the judge of Winona, ruled on July 21, 1904, on a question whether a fine for a violation of the state pharmacy law should be turned into the treasury of the city of Winona as provided by the charter or to the state board of pharmacy as provided by the general law. Judge Shaw, after a hearing, decided that the provisions of the general law prevailed over the provisions of the city charter. Under this principle fines paid in the municipal court for violation of the game law should be paid into the county treasury instead of into the city treasury.

The reply continues: "It seems clear to me that by passing the game and fish law at the last session the legislature established a rule which applies to the entire state, and it cannot be that the legislature intended that the disposition of the money shall be made to depend upon the nature of the charter of the city in which the fine is paid. The fact that the municipal court of the city of Mankato, established under the charter of the city, had jurisdiction in an action of this kind would not itself be a sufficient reason why the provision of the city charter should be superior to the general law, which applies to all portions of the state. I think this fine ought to be paid into the county treasury, in whatever court it is imposed."

TO LOOK INTO INSURANCE.

Commissioner O'Brien Going to New York as Governor's Representative.

State Insurance Commissioner O'Brien has gone to New York as the special representative of Gov. Johnson to get facts concerning the big insurance scandal there.

During the past month hundreds of Minnesota policyholders, both in the New York Life and the Mutual, have written Gov. Johnson to act for them in the event of any trouble. This situation was intensified when the State Traveling Men's association met and agreed to make him the special representative of those members holding policies in the big companies.

The association, through the medium of a committee, tendered the governor all the proxies held by the members of the association to use as he saw fit, and these have since been augmented by hundreds of others. Before taking any action, however, Gov. Johnson decided on a thorough investigation as to the insurance situation, and this Mr. O'Brien has been delegated to accomplish.

Both Gov. Johnson and Mr. O'Brien were asked if the sending of the latter was preliminary to shutting the big companies out of Minnesota, but they denied that this was contemplated. "We simply want to be ready for anything, if it happens," said Gov. Johnson.

"I am going to New York," said Mr O'Brien, "at the request of the governor, whom many Minnesota policyholders desire to care for their interests. Hundreds of proxies have been tendered him and these can be used by him in any important meeting of the directorates that may be called. We desire to approach this thing calmly and with caution."

The Traveling Men's association is taking an unusual interest in the insurance troubles, and is preparing to call meetings all over the state in order to get expressions.

TWINE NOTES STILL DUE.

Stillwater Prison Receives $600,000 of Total Amount Outstanding.

Stillwater, Minn., Nov. 11.—The outstanding twine notes due Stillwater's prison are fast being taken up by farmers and others throughout the state. To date $600,000 has been received, leaving about $150,000 still out. This amount is expected to be paid before Dec. 1.

From Mikado to President.

Tokio, Nov. 11.—Lloyd C. Griscom, the American minister, had a farewell audience with the emperor yesterday, who asked him to convey his thanks to President Roosevelt for his care of Japanese interests in Russia throughout the late war.

London, Nov. 11.—King Edward celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday yesterday at Sandringham. Congratulatory telegrams poured in from all parts of the world. The usual salutes were fired.

Farmer Commits Suicide.

Faribault, Minn., Nov. 12. — Peter Woolstrum, aged 55, committed suicide yesterday. He left a note telling where his body would be found. He shot himself in the left breast. No reason is known for the act.

News of the Northwest.

RUNS AMUCK WITH AX.

Delirium Tremens Victim Creates Terror on Busy Street.

Minneapolis, Nov. 10. — James Patterson, a wandering laborer who recently came to Minneapolis from Chicago, created a miniature reign of terror in the neighborhood of First street and Third avenue north yesterday. Patterson suddenly was seized with a violent attack of delirium tremens and, armed with an ax, cleared the street of pedestrians and threatened to do great bodily harm to any one who crossed his path. He was finally arrested and now occupies a padded cell.

GOLL'S CASE IS CONTINUED.

Cashier's Trial Under Indictment Will Be Heard in January.

Milwaukee, Nov. 10. — The trial of the case of Henry G. Goll, former assistant cashier of the Milwaukee First National bank, charged in various indictments with aiding and abetting Frank G. Bigelow in his big defalcation, has been postponed until the January term, upon request of United States District Attorney Butterfield. Judge Quarles, who has been listening to arguments on the demurrer in Goll's case, will render a decision next week. In the meantime Goll will continue to be at liberty on bail.

EIGHT MEN ARE INDICTED.

Federal Grand Jury Announces Results in Idaho Land Frauds.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 10.—The official list of those indicted by the United States grand jury, which has been investigating land frauds at Moscow, Idaho, has just been made public. The following are indicted: W. F. Kettenbach, on three counts; George H. Kester, two counts; Clarence W. Robinette, three counts; William Dwyer, two counts; Ed Knight, one count; C. W. Colby, one count; Fred Emery, one count; W. B. Benton, one count. All the indicted men reside in Lewiston. Kettenbach and Kester are bankers who were indicted by a previous grand jury.

RIVER SEASON CLOSES.

Best Year Since the Old Days Is Enjoyed on Mississippi.

Winona, Minn., Nov. 10—The season on the river in this section has closed with the exception of a few raft boats which are bringing down the last brails of logs before cold weather. The local packet Lion has gone to the bank. The government fleets now are being taken to the winter quarters in the Black river at La Crosse and in Fountain City bay. The season now closing is said to have been the most prosperous for all connected with towing and transportation of any since the old days.

33,000,000 TONS SHIPPED.

Year's Ore Movement From Upper Lakes Breaks Records.

New York, Nov. 10. — Preliminary figures indicate that 4,000,000 tons of iron ore were shipped from the upper lake ports in the month of October, bringing the total for the season beyond 29,500,000. Shipments this month are expected to bring the total for the year to 33,000,000, which will exceed any previous yearly record by about 5,000,000 tons.

MINING TOWN IS BURNED.

Supposed Incendiary Fire Destroys Fourteen Buildings.

Deadwood, S. D., Nov. 10.—Fourteen dwelling houses and store buildings were destroyed by fire yesterday at Roubaix, a mining town twelve miles south of this city. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. The property loss is partly covered by insurance.

Railroad Agent Arrested.

Marshalltown, Iowa, Nov. 10. — A sensation has been caused by the arrest at Hampton of M. G. Ogle, agent of the Iowa Central, charging larceny. It is claimed that he was implicated in the wholesale theft of coal from the railroad, and it is said that prominent citizens of the town will be involved, and that other arrests will follow.

Sangster Pleads Not Guilty.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—S. W. Sangster, who was recently arrested in Kansas, following charges that he had sent poisoned candy to his wife and daughter, was arraigned in court here yesterday. He pleaded not guilty and in default of bail was taken back to jail.

Arrested on Forgery Charge.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 10. — George Monroe and Samuel Jacobson were arrested here yesterday, charged with forging two checks at Mankato, Minn. They will be taken back by officers from that city.

Worked Bogus Checks.

Winona, Minn., Nov. 10.—A man representing himself as a traveling glassware salesman from St. Paul worked two Dakota village merchants to cash bogus checks for small amounts and made his escape.

Crack Saloon Safes.

Yankton, S. D., Nov. 10—Safes in the saloons of Matthias Olson and Martin Olson at Volin were cracked Tuesday night. The robbers secured $150 and left no clue to their identity. They cut all wires and isolated the town.

ATTORNEY IS FINED.

St. Paul Man Held in Contempt of Judge Webber's Court.

Redwood Falls, Minn., Nov. 12—Fred B. Phillips, a young St. Paul attorney, was fined $250 for contempt of court by Judge Webber in the district court yesterday. An alternative was six months in jail. Either is the limit in such a case. Phillips immediately took an appeal to the supreme court. Phillips, with E. S. Cary of Minneapolis, has been engaged for a long time in attempting to prevent the Mos of Sleepy Eye from obtaining absolute control and possession of 400 acres of land in Springdale township, this county, valued at $16,000, for about $6,000. The land formerly belonged to Phillips' father, Rev. Robert Phillips, a superannuated Methodist minister of Ceylon. During the harvesting of the crop this year Hans Mo got out an injunction restraining the Phillips people from interfering with him in the cutting and threshing. When court opened here on Wednesday Mo submitted an affidavit to the effect that he had been interfered with by Fred B. Phillips, and asked that the latter be punished for contempt. The testimony of Mo was offered and Judge Webber adjudged Phillips guilty of contempt and imposed the fine of $250, or six months in jail.

$3,400 IS MISSING.

Express Cashier Is Accused at Billings.

Billings, Mont., Nov. 12. — Charles E. Sollin, cashier of the Northern Pacific company's office in this city, was arrested here yesterday afternoon on the charge of grand larceny. The particular shortage for which Sollin was arrested was the theft of two express packages, each containing $50, but it is expected that his entire shortage will reach about $3,400. Sollin had become infatuated with a woman upon whom he is said to have lavished large sums, far beyond his income. Sollin is well educated and of good appearance and dress. He was a member of the Episcopal church choir here. His father and family reside in Valley City, N. D., and are said to be prominent people.

HEIRESS HELD FOR RANSOM.

Agnes Pfifer Kidnapped Near Prairie du Chien.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Nov. 12.—Agnes Pfifer, an orphan sixteen years old, was kidnapped from the school grounds during recess at the Ryder schoolhouse in the town of Wauzeka Thursday afternoon, and it is believed is being held for ransom. Two men seized the girl from among a crowd of children at play, forced her into a closed carriage, and drove away at a gallop. The school teacher saw the affair, but did not report it to the authorities until she dismissed her pupils for the day. The girl is heir to considerable property and it is believed that she will be held for ransom. No clue to her whereabouts has been found.

FIRE BURNS SIX STACKS.

Incendiary Believed to Be at Work at Spring Valley.

Spring Valley, Minn., Nov. 12.—W. A. Hall of this city lost by fire on his farm, nine miles south of here, four stacks of wheat and one each of oats and barley. The fire is supposed to be the work of incendiary. There were thirteen stacks in that setting. Those destroyed were in the center. The remaining stacks were not burned, because of the recent rain and snowstorm.

ECKLUND GOES FREE.

American Embassy Directs His Release at Scotland Yard.

London, Nov. 12. — Peter Auguste Ecklund, who surrendered himself to the authorities of Scotland Yard on Oct. 23, charging himself with the embezzlement of $11,000, while secretary and treasurer of the Clay County Land Company of Moorhead, Minn., was released yesterday by request of the American embassy. He is not wanted by the Minnesota Authorities.

HARVESTING OATS.

Farmers Unable to Cut Grain Until After the Ground Was Frozen.

Moorhead, Minn., Nov. 12.—The oats harvest is on full swing in many parts of the Red river valley. Many fields were so wet that binders could not be run on them until the ground froze. It is said that a good many farmers will be able to save a good part of their oats in this way.

600 Miners Are Idle.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 12. — More than 600 miners are idle in the Hocking coal district near Oskaloosa and not a bushel of coal is being mined where the output was nearly 2,000 tons per day. Trouble arose over operators' charges for hauling miners to and from mines over the Iowa Central railway. The miners objected to the charges.

State Wants Evidence.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Nov. 12.—The body of Halvord Nyman, the old man whom Nels Grenberg admits having poisoned, has been exhumed by the coroner and the stomach has been sent to the state chemist for analysis.

PAY TRIBUTE TO GOV. AUSTIN.

Many Old Friends of Former Governor Attend Funeral.

St. Paul, Nov. 11. — Many friends, comrades and former associates of Former Gov. Horace Austin gathered to do honor to his memory at the funeral which was held from the residence of Gen. Mark D. Flower yesterday afternoon. The services, which were simple but very impressive, were conducted by Dr. Samuel G. Smith, pastor of the people's church.

The honorary pallbearers were Gov. J. A. Johnson, Judge H. C. Hicks, Capt. H. A. Castle, Former Gov. Hubbard, Gen. Flower, Congressman Loren Fletcher, Senator M. E. Clapp, Congressman F. C. Stevens, Former Gov. S. R. Van Sant, G. S. Ives, Col. Donahower, H. W. Childs, Prof. Judson Jones and Dr. W. W. Folwell, all of whom were present except Former Gov. Van Sant.

The active pallbearers were C. H. McGill, R. C. McGill, Trevor McClurg, Dr. James Gilfillan, H. W. Benton and Dr. A. G. Bennett.

The interment was at Oakland, following crematory services at Forest cemetery.

IS WORLD'S MILLET CENTER.

Claremont, S. D., Develops Shipping Facilities for All Grains.

Claremont, S. D., Nov. 11.—It is the proud boast of the people of Claremont that during the past two years the city has taken its place as the greatest primary market in the world for the shipment of millet seed. The town has also made a great record as a wheat shipping point. During the current season a single elevator has shipped out about one hundred carloads of wheat, and has paid to farmers in exchange for grain as much as $6,000 a day. This is only one of a number of elevators, and it is probable the others have done equally as well corn raising has also proved a success in this locality during the last few years, and Claremont is becoming a great market for the shipment of the finished product in stock for beef and portk.

BOY DROWNS IN LAKE.

Minneapolis Youth Meets Death While Hunting.

Minneapolis, Nov. 11.—John Lecelle, fourteen years of age and living in Minneapolis, was drowned while hunting at Peltier lake, near Centerville Lecelle took his gun Tuesday morning and started for the lake, which is about half a mile from the village. He got a boat and rowed out into the lake and that was the last seen of him. It was not known until yesterday, when the boat was found bottomside up upon the water, that the boy had been drowned. A search is being made for the boy's body, but so far it has not been discovered.

MURDERED FROM AMBUSH.

Menominee Man Gets Rifle Bullet in His Heart.

Marinette, Wis., Nov. 11. — Frank Lucas of Menominee was murdered late yesterday afternoon while driving along the state road north of here, a rifle bullet entering his heart. A coroner's jury last night found Lucas died by a shot fired by an unknown person. It was at first believed the shot was accidental, but an investigation showed there was a clearing on each side of the road, giving a view for some distance, and the shot was fired from a clump of bushes near the road. Lucas leaves a family.

KILLED BY WAGON.

Frank Rogge Victim of Fatal Accident at Jordan.

Jordan, Minn., Nov. 11. — Frank Rogge was instantly killed in an accident. While driving a load of wood down an incline a swerve of the road dislodged some of the contents of the wagon, which, falling on the horses, frightened them. Rogge was thrown off his seat and fell beneath a wheel He was badly crushed. Andrew Erkens, who was with Rogge, was also thrown off the wagon, but he escaped with a few bruises.

LEARNS THE FULL RESULT.

Man Who Wrecked Train as an Experiment Gets Life Sentence.

Marengo, Iowa, Nov. 11.—Erick von Kutzleben, an alleged German baron, who caused a train wreck on the Rock Island at Homestead last spring just "to see what would happen," was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday. Attorneys entered the plea of insanity, but failed to substantiate it, and after deliberating a few hours the jury found a verdict of guilty. A number of lives were lost in the deliberately planned wreck.

State Land Sales.

St. Paul, Nov. 11.—At the state land sale in Wadena county last Monday 5,000 acres of land were sold at an average price of $8 per acre, and at the sale in Todd county on Tuesday 6,500 acres were sold at an average of $9 an acre.

Thieves Rob Winona Residence.

Winona, Minn., Nov. 11.—The residence of J. R. Watkins, one of Winona's wealthiest men, was entered last night and furs and silverware valued at over $1,000 were taken. A reward of $400 is offered for the apprehension of the thieves.

BUY AT HOME

The Difference Between Ordering by Mail From a Catalogue House and Buying at Your Home Store.

There is much difference between buying goods at a home place of business and ordering them by mail from a catalogue house from a mere picture or description.

We want to point out to you a few facts that you may never have even thought of. Here you go into a store and make your wants known. The salesman shows you the desired article and if necessary helps select or suggests to you the article best suited to you. Right there you have a chance to examine the quality, to see the style, to select the size and color, as the case may be; you can compare the different qualities, etc., and then if all is satisfactory, and in your judgment the price right, you will make the purchase. When you get home and upon a rigid examination you find a flaw or crack in your purchase, or maybe in size too large or small, or blue instead of black, then the next day or a week after you go to town to your Mr. Dealer, who will gladly exchange the item or refund you the money.

Then how many times does your home dealer extend you credit? Has he not waited on you until your crops matured or until your produce is ready for market or until pay day? All these are accommodations you can get only at home, and are, at times, of much help.

Pictures Lie.

On the other hand, you order an article by mail. You look through the catalogue. The item is there (that is, a picture and a smoothly written description). We know that the picture of a $5.00 suit looks as good as the one for $20.00. You read the description; it seems to be what you want, and you send the money, because they want the money with your order. You can order the goods on inspection by sending part in money, balance C. O. D., but there is usually so much inconvenience in refusing a shipment that nine times out of ten you will accept the goods though they are not what you expected to get.

When the article comes it is not what you expected, it may not fit, or something is broken or has a flaw in it. If Mr. Catalogue man was right there you would not accept it, but he is so far away, he has your money. He says he will send money back, but rather than go to all that trouble you would accept the shipment. We know of one particular instance where a good fellow ordered a heating stove, think it was $8.95. When the stove came he was very much disappointed. It was a very small size. He told us he never got any use of it. Now if this same man had gone to one of our dealers and seen this same stove at $8.95 he would never have bought it; he would have selected one at $12 or $14 and obtained the right kind for his use and been satisfied.

More Illustrations.

Another case came under our notice recently. A certain young man needed a suit of clothes. Our home dealers had them, but after reading the glowing description in these catalogues, he thought we were entirely too high priced. He ordered—the suit came. It was to have been all wool (we know it wasn't). Then the style of the coat was from a few years back. It was a misfit, being fully a size too large, but he had sent the money.

Another time a good farmer ordered five rolls of barb wire. When it came and he had paid the freight, he found he could have saved $1 and a good deal of time and trouble by buying at home. Also this came to our notice: A man ordered wire fencing. The picture looked so good he desired to put it up around his home. When it came it was so different that he stored it away in his smoke house, as it was not suited for his use at all. We know of scores of other instances where goods received were not up to expectations.

We know it to be a fact that vehicles and farm machinery bought from some of these concerns which looked cheap at the time of purchase, but after a few years' usage proved that had these people bought from their home dealer, although at a higher price, they would actually have received more for their money—and so it is all through the line.

Harness Poor Grades.

Take harness and saddlery; there are several good reasons why you should buy of your home dealer. First, all the harness is made right here at home in a careful manner out of the best quality oak tanned leather—not like Mr. Catalogue Man does—who simply goes to a manufacturer and says, at what price can you make so many sets of harness, something that I can give a good description of, but caring not how it is made or how long it will last? He does not expect to sell more than one set to a customer, for experience has proved that when some one had a set sent they did not desire a second one. Another thing. If you have an old set of harness or collar to repair, does Mr. Catalogue Man repair them for you? No! If you want a new set of harness you can bring your catalogue with you to the home dealer and he will be glad to figure with you and save you from $1 to $3 a set. Then here you can examine the goods, have changes made if you like, and your money will stay at home and do this community some good.

The Way They Do It.

The mail order house will take a well-known brand of shotgun, say the Smith Hammerless, and offer it at $25. This gun they describe with a few lines and send a small cut or picture of it.

Next page they will use a large cut of their own brand of gun, and what they do not say about this gun is not worth saying. This wonderful gun they price at $19.87, and according to description this gun is worth a great deal more.

The reader orders the $19.87 gun, on which the supply house makes a profit of 50 per cent, while if he had ordered the $25 gun they would not have made 5 per cent. But listing a well-known brand at a cheap price establishes confidence and helps them gain their point to sell their own brand at a big profit.

It would set city people wild if these supply houses actually had values with style and quality. They would not need to leave their own large cities to sell at the prices they quote, as the city people would go wild over the bargains. But with style and value lacking they dare not show their goods in the city where the prospective customer would have the opportunity for comparison, but by cleverly worded and exaggerated description they make the country people believe they are offering more desirable wares than the country merchant keeps at a less price, and having no opportunity for comparison before buying, many people are actually duped.

Baits of Leaders.

We know it is a fact that many articles are priced in these catalogues cheaper than you can find them in your home stores. Have you ever thought of the reason why that is? It is not because he cannot get these goods and sell them to you at just as low prices, but it is because he is afraid to sell you articles that have no merit and because you can reach him daily and expect him to make it good. You expect to get goods of satisfactory quality or he may lose your trade. He is your personal friend and is afraid to sell you goods he cannot recommend. If he had never seen you nor expected to, and is several hundred miles away and could get the money first, he would be in a different position.

Remember we don't want to say that you can't get good goods from these concerns, for we know that you can, but these better grades cost you as much and more than they do at home, with the exception of a few baits and leaders.

There is still one more thing to bear in mind and which we think a serious one. Supposing the mail order houses could sell goods cheaper and everybody would order their goods from them—the local stores would soon be no more and you would then be obliged to send for everything. Remember a store cannot be kept up with the small purchases if the money is sent away for the big things. You have then succeeded in ruining your home trade and you have helped to build up an enormous corporation in some faraway city. Your home consumption and market would decrease, the value of your farms and houses would become less valuable, for you well know if a town goes back the value of it and its surroundings decrease. Sending your money away you get nothing but the goods; spending it at home it will come back to you in better towns, better stores, better schools, better churches and better social advantages.

Home Industries.

Is not the building up of your small town more to you than the building up of some faraway city? Is it not a fact that if our town had 10,000 population instead of 1,000 it would be better for us all? Would there not be much more employment; would not these people consume more products and consequently make a better market; would not the small homes with one lot be doubled in value and every farm within a radius of ten miles be worth $10 to $50 an acre more? Therefore is it only a good thing for the merchant or tradesman if you buy of him? Is it not just as good a thing for you?

Another thing. You probably have a family and some time one of your sons may think of going into business for himself. Where is there a chance for the young man with a limited capital to ever become a merchant when the people send their money to build up these gigantic corporations to compete with your son or your son's son?

Home Interests First.

True citizenship is not all in rallying around the "Star-Spangled Banner" of our country and singing "Hail Columbia." The spirit of true patriotism is shown by the man who patronizes home industry first, last and all the time.

It is quite amusing to read the smooth talk used in catalogues to deceive readers into sending their orders. They say that goods are sent in plain packages because many merchants who buy of them to sell again object to having their name appear on boxes, etc. We want to tell you we honestly believe not a single merchant in this United States orders any goods from these concerns. He cannot buy from them and stay in business. A good merchant buys from the manufacturers. The statement is made to make you, Mr. Reader, believe that you can buy as cheap as your merchant.

CALUMET
BAKING POWDER
NOT MADE BY THE TRUST

Health

Calumet makes light, digestible wholesome food.

Economy

Only one heaping teaspoonful is needed for one quart of flour.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

A BLOW TO BOSSISM

Bossism was given a blow at the elections last week wherever the voters had a chance.

In New York City Hearst was undoubtedly elected mayor, even though he may be counted out, over the combined opposition of Republicans and Democrats. Jerome, the fearless district attorney, who has fought graft and machine politics with all the vigor at his command, has been reelected, although he was not nominted by either of the great parties

In Ohio, Herick has been defeated for governor and a Democratic legislature elected; which insures the defeat of Senator Foraker, one of the prize exhibits in the boss gallery.

In San Francisco the labor candidate for mayor wins over the combined opposition of Democrats and Republicans.

In Philadelphia the reform ticket wins by an overwhelming majority, and Pennsylvania elects a Democrat is state treasurer.

In Cleveland, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Buffalo and other cities where municipal elections were held, the gangs have been cleaned out, and representative governments established.

The elections do not show a Democratic victory, though the Democratic victory, though the Democratic party profits most by the overturning of Republican states and cities. It is rather a victory over "graft" and machine politics. The people are aroused, and they have shown by their votes that they will no longer submit to the insolent dictation of corporations political machines.

A new era in politics has been reached. The wave of independence last year that gave us Folk, LaFollette, Deneen, Jonnson and Douglas is still spreading until its force is irresistible. The day is gone, may we hope forever, when any man can ask for an election to an office because he is a Republican or a Democrat. Honesty and a high sense of public duty are the prime requisites for positions of trust and power.

For the results of Tuesday's elections let every good citizen rejoice that they tend to make politics better and purer. The agitation of the past few years has had the effect of quickening the public conscience to a sense of duty, and the voter is clubbing a dishonest political head wherever it is raised.

THE GOVERNOR AT WINDOM

Governor Johnson was at Windom last week to make an address on the occasion of the dedication of Cottonwood county's new court house. The people of Windom, quite naturally, fell in love with the governor and the Reporter, one of the strong Republican papers of the state — and one which supported the Republican nominee last year, says of him:

"Chairman Ewert then introduced Gov. Johnson who has become one of the really finished orators of Minnesota, who spoke for half an hour. Being forced to return to St. Paul on the first train he necessarily had to be brief but for half an hour held his audience in a trance with his eloquence and appeal to the people to insist upon a rigid and healthy enforcement of the law. As a building stands for justice he urged the people to insist that justice be done to the big as well as the little offender He told the people that when they demanded enforcement of the law the officers would follow their demands and give it, but told them that enforcement of law is in response to public opinion and if public opinion is not right grafters and thieves will overrun the public. His address was logically correct, learned and wise, and made him many friends. If he were not known to have been elected as a democrat his sentiments could not have been distinguished from those expressed by President Roosevelt. In fact the governor was elected by Republican votes and the Republicans who voted for him were not disappointed in his oration.

"The Reporter only regrets that it could not get a verbatim report of his address. It was so candid, so strong, so patriotic, so good, that it ought to be preserved and filed in the archives of the county. In a hundred years from now people would rejoice to read what was said at this dedication, and nothing could be more interesting than the address of the governor of Minnesota on this memorable occasion."

THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

A number of country newspapers have enlisted in the cause of arousing the people to the importance of having a people's man for lieutenant-governor. It is well. That officer names the committees of the corporation controlled senate, and these committees shape the legislation. In the they might expect. Some one else past the people have got just what than a Ray Jones should deal the cards.—Elbow Lake Herald.

Thus another good paper is talking along the right lines on the matter of lieutenant governor. The country newspaper can do great work from now until convention time next year by impressing upon voters the importance that should be attached to the office of lieutenant governor. In order to get good, clean men on senate committees you must have a good clean man as president of the senate, and none should lose sight of the fact that senate committees have a great power in shaping legislation.—Brown's Valley Tribune.

The Lieutenant Governor plays an important part in the state government and for a great many years the people have been indifferent to the need of a good man in this position. This indifference gave us the spectacle of D. M. Clough as governor, and the record of the present occupant of the office does not savor of high political ideals. It is time that both parties put forth good men for minor state offices and it is also time that the voters spent a little time investigating the fitness of candidates all the way down the line.

A WESTERN editor has come to the conclusion that the people who desire "puffs" in his paper must pay for them and has establishet the following prices: "For telling the public that a man is a successful citizen when everybody knows he is as lazy as a government mule, $2.75: referring to a deceased citizen as one who is mourned by the entire community when he knew he will only be missed by poker circles, $1.08; referring to some gallivanting female as an estimable lady whom it is a pleasure to meet, when every business man in town would rather see the devil coming, horns hoofs, and all, than to see her coming towards them, $3.10; calling an ordinary pulpit pounder an eminent divine, 60c; sending a tough sinner to heaven with poetry, $5.00"

THE editor of the Fairmont Independent urges that as the editor of THE COURIER would not support the Savior of mankind if he was on the Republican ticket, there is no excuse for THE COURIER'S "butting in" on the Republican game. As the editor of the Independent would support his Satanic Majesty if approved by a Republican convention there is every reason in the world why he should "butt in" to his heart's content, but this furnishes no argument why the plain citizen, desirous of good government regardless of party, creed or nationality should follow the Independent's lead.

THE Duluth News-Tribune discovers that "the public is rapidly getting around to the frame of mind wherein a prominent citizen who betrays the trust reposed in him looks no better than a common grafter, and a common grafter no better than any other thief."

GOV. JOHNSON will within a few weeks appoint three members of the state highway commission. This commission was created by the last legislature, and provides that the commission shall handle all the money in the road and bridge fund. They will apportion it out among the various counties of the state, no one county to receive over 3 per cent of the fund or less than one half of one per cent. The commission must employ a clerk at a salary of $1,800 per year, who shall be a civil engineer. They can also employ a stenographer at $50 per month.

EX-CHIEF DEVERY of New York has coined a new phrase. He says: This feller Hearst got the zephyr vote yesterday. What's the zephyr vote? Why, I had 25,000 of them voters two years ago. A zephyr voter is a feller that comes up to you, gives you the glad hand, and tells you he's going to vote for you. Then he blows away into thin air on election day."

FORAKER of Ohio is a standpatter and an opponent of the president's railroad policy. He heard from his constitnents the other day. A Democratic governor was elected by 55,000 majority and both branches of the legislature are Democratic. Bossism and corporation dictation are getting a swat whenever the voter gets a chance.

STANDPATTISM was on trial in Massachusetts the other day. The Republican candidate for lieutenant governor made his campaign on the "no revision" platform and ran 33,000 votes behind his ticket, escaping defeat by less than 2,000. Will somebody carry the news to McCleary?

THERE must certainly be a decadence of party spirit when prominent Democrats urge the re-nomination of President Roosevelt by all the parties, and when strong and influential Republicans of Minnerota ask that their party indorse the candidacy of Governor Johnson for re-election.

Son Lost Mother.

"Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my mother," writes E. B. Reid, of Harmony, Me. "For the past five years, however, on the slightest sign of a Cough or Cold, I have taken Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved me from serious lung trouble." His mother's death was a sad loss for Hr. Reid, but he learned that lung trouble must not be neglected, and how to cure it. Quickest relief and cure for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed at All Druggists. Trial bottle free.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, LUCAS COUNTY } ss

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886, A. W. GLEASON, (Seal.) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists. 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of a certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by S. A. Swanson and Ida Swanson, his wife, mortgagors, to Joseph Glatzel, mortgagee, which mortgage was dated on the second (2d) day of April, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Three (1903), and recorded in Record Book Twenty-one (21) of Mortgage Records, on page One Hundred Forty-eight (148), in the office of the Register of Deeds of Red Lake County, Minnesota, on the Eighteenth (18th) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Three (1903), at half past nine o'clock a. m., and said Joseph Glatzel is now the owner and holder of said mortgage. That default has been made in the payment of Eighty-two and 50-100ths Dollars ($82.50) interest due and payable according to the terms and conditions of said mortgage on the second (2d) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Five (1905), and a further default has been made in the payment of the taxes duly levied and assessed upon said mortgaged premises for the years 1903 and 1904; and that by reason of said defaults, said mortgagee has elected and hereby elects and declares the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and is due the sum of Sixteen Hundred Thirty-one Dollars and Nine Cents ($1631.09) at the date of this notice, and no action at law or equity has been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the property described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which said property is situated in Red Lake County, Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit:

The North-West Quarter (NW¼) of Section Twenty-seven (27), in Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-four (44), containing One Hundred Sixty (160) acres of land, more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Which said sale will be made by the Sheriff of Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, on Saturday, the Ninth (9th) day of December, A. D. 1905, at two (2) o'clock p. m., at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay the amount then due on said mortgage and the costs of sale, and Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure.

Dated this 23d day of October, 1905.

JOSEPH GLATZEL,
Said Mortgagee.

THOS. F. CRAVEN,
Attorney for said Mortgagee,
[illegible], Minnesota.

THE soliciting agents of the great insurance companies do not attempt to excuse the misconduct of their chiefs, and no class of men in the country regrets so deeply the recent exposures, says the Alexandria Post-News. As an exchange remarks, it hurts the soliciting agent financially and it hurts him personally. No man connected with the insurance business is made to suffer so keenly the disgrace which has come upon the three great companies. He comes in direct contact with the people, with the policy holders and with those who need life insurance and necessarily receives the blunt of the attacks upon the company which he represents. Don't jump upon the agent. He is doing the best he can.

Many children inherit constitutions weak and feeble, others due to childhood troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children and make them strong 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert.

Auditor's Notice of Hearing on Ditch Petition.

State of Minnesota
County of Red Lake } ss

In the matter of the petition of A. T. Gorden and others, for a public ditch in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, designated and numbered as county ditch No. 24.

Notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said county, praying for the construction of a public ditch, designated and numbered by the county auditor of such county as county ditch No. 24 beginning at the southwest corner of section 6 in township 151, range 42, running thence north on the range line between section 6 in township 151 north, of range 42 west and section 1 in township 151 north, of range 43 west in Red Lake county, thence north on the range line between the southwest quarter of section 31 in township 152 north, of range 42 west and the southeast quarter of section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west to the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west, thence running west on the quarter section line through the center of sections 36, 35, 34 and 33 in township 152 north, of range 43 west, to the west line of section 33, thence in a southwesterly direction across the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 32 in said twp. 152 range 42 a distance of 400 feet and there terminating at a creek which empties into Red Lake river.

Also a branch ditch, commencing at the northeast corner of Section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west and running thence south on the range line between 31 in township 152, range 42 and section 36 in township 152, range 43 and terminating in the main ditch at the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of said section 36 in township 152 north, of range 43 west.

Also a branch ditch specified by the engineer in his report as being necessary for the proper drainage of lands affected by the main ditch and described as follows: Commencing at a point 1249½ feet east and 750½ feet south of the northeast corner of section 6 in township 151 north, of range 42 west, thence running in a northwesterly direction through the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of said section 6 to the township line, thence west along said township line between section 6 in township 151 north, of range 42 west and section 31 in township 152 north, of range 42 west to the southwest corner of said section 31 in township 152 north of range 42 west, terminating at and emptying into the main ditch at the last named point as appears by the report of the engineer hereinafter mentioned and that the names of owners of lands and names of municipal and other corporations that will be affected by the construction of said ditch, as appears in the report of the viewers hereafter mentioned are as follows, to-wit: Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad company, Andrew Johnson, John G. Anderson, C. C. Bergan, A. A. Cooper, Bernhard Thelander, Solomon Swenson, Peter Hogquist, Ole Wedul, Charles H. Foy, Otto Swenson, Sarah Hogquist, Henry J. Enderle, Hubert Haupt, G. A. Konikson, Anna Emanuelson, D. M. Clark, Fred Ulrich, Emil Just, Wilhelmina Just, R. E. Farley, William F. Seiter, E. A. Satterburg, Frank Satterberg, Charles A. Swanson, Anne Gordon, Annie Fangstrom, State of Minnesota, K. O. Gigstad, Ole Hanson, John Mabla, Lars A. Svenson, McCormick Harvesting Machine Co., Christ Martenson, Town of Wyandotte, Town of River Falls, Town of Gervais and Town of Emardville and that the engineer appointed by the board of county commissioners of said county to make a survey of the route of said ditch has completed his work and made due report thereon, and filed the same in the office of said county auditor, and that the viewers appointed by said board of county commissioners to view the same have completed their work and filed their report thereon in the office of said county auditor.

And that therefore, the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, will hold a special meeting on Friday, the 24th day of November, 1905, at the county auditor's office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county at two o'clock p. m. of said day, for hearing and consideration of said petition and of said surveyor's and viewers' report thereon; and that all persons interested in the construction of said ditch are invited to appear and be heard by and before said board of county commissioners at said time for or against the construction of said ditch.

Dated this 30th day of October, A. D. 1905.

JAMES E. FORD,
(Seal) County Auditor,
Red Lake Co., Minn.

Auditor's Notice of Hearing on Ditch Petition.

State of Minnesota
County of Red Lake } ss

In the matter of the petition of Aug. Konikson and others, for a public ditch in the county of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, designated and numbered as county ditch No. 23.

Notice is hereby given, that a petition has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said county, praying for the construction of a public ditch, designated and numbered by the county auditor of such county as county ditch No. 23 beginning at the southwest corner of section 12 in township 151, Range 43, (town of Gervais), in said county running thence through the following described lands to-wit: North on the section line between sections 11 and 12 in said town and range, thence west on the quarter section line through section 11 in said town and range to about the center thereof, thence running in a southwesterly direction through said section 11 to the southwest corner thereof, thence running in a southerly direction through the eastern part of section 15 in said town and range to the southeast corner thereof, thence running in a southerly direction through the northeast quarter of section 22 and the west half of section 23 all in twp. 151, range 43 aforesaid and terminating at the southeast corner of section 23 in said Twp. 151, range 43 and having its outlet a creek or coulee as appears by the report of the engineer hereinafter mentioned and that the names of the owners of the lands and the names of the municipal and other corporations that will be affected by the construction of said ditch, as appears in the report of the viewers hereafter mentioned are as follows, to-wit: Ingra Hammer, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Ry Co., C. A. Sweneen, Oscar Anderson, Sjur M. Harbolen, Bengt Anderson, J. B. Kempton, William Schwalen, James L. Taylor, Middlesex Banking Company, H. M. Martinson, L. O. Thorpe, Peter A. Konikson, Frank O'Meara, J. C. Brown, Abraham Johnson, the township of Gervais, Caroline Lunde, August E. Craft, Henry M. Martinson, John Loffelmarker, W. M. Erb, Andrew N. Ydstie and John Suchomel; and that the engineer appointed by the board of county commissioners of said county to make a survey of the route of said ditch has completed his work and made due report thereon, and filed the same in the office of said County auditor; and that the viewers appointed by said board of county commissioners to view the same have completed their work and filed their report thereon in the office of said county auditor.

And that, therefore, the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, will hold a special meeting on Friday, the 24th day of November 1905, at the county auditor's office in the city of Red Lake Falls in said county at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, for hearing and consideration of said petition and of said surveyor's and viewers' report thereon, and that all persons interested in the construction of said ditch are invited to appear and be heard by and before said board of county commissioners at said time for or against the construction of said ditch.

Dated this 30th day of October, A. D. 1905.

JAMES E. FORD,
(Seal) County Auditor,
Red Lake Co., Minn.

OLD PEOPLE

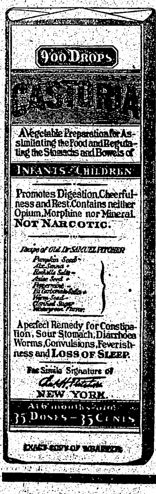
Their Pains and Ailments

Any taint of the blood quickly shows itself with old people, and troubles, which a younger, more vigorous constitution holds in check, take possession of those of advanced years. A mole, wart or pimple often begins to inflame and fester, terminating in a sore that refuses to heal. Wandering pains of a rheumatic character are almost constant, the joints get stiff and the muscles sore, while sleeplessness and nervousness make life a burden. The natural activity of the body is not so great in old age and all the organs get dull and sluggish, failing to carry out the waste matters and poisons accumulating in the system and they are taken up and absorbed by the blood, rendering it weak and unable to properly nourish the system. There is no reason why old age should not be as healthy as youth if the blood is kept pure and strong. S. S. S. is purely vegetable and is the safest and best blood purifier and tonic for old people, because it is gentle, but at the same time thorough in its action, purifying the blood of all poisons and foreign matter, strengthening it and toning up the entire system by its fine tonic effect. Almost from the first dose the appetite increases, the general health begins to improve and the pains and ailments pass away.

I had a severe attack of La Grippe, which left me almost a physical wreck. To add to my wretched condition, Rheumatism developed. In a short time after beginning S. S. S. I was relieved of the pains and have gained in flesh and strength and my general health is better than for years. I heartily recommend S. S. S. for all blood diseases.
Union, S. C. E. F. GREGORY.

SSS

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES — 35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stanp for full particulars to-day

National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS. MINN.

Name.......... Town.......... State.......... R.F.D.No.......... Age..........

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

SPECIAL PRICES

On

HEATING STOVES FOR 30 DAYS.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS MINNESOTA

Today's Local Markets.

Wheat No. 1 Hard		72
" " 1 Northern		71-1
" " 2 "		69
" " 3 "		66
" " 4 "		63
" " Rejected		61
Flax No. 1		86
" No. 2		84
" no grade		78
Barley from		22 to 30
Oats		25
Hay		$3.50
Wood, poplar		$3.00 to $3.50
Butter 18c.	Eggs 20c.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

The Courier $1. one year,

Go to the Merchants State Bank for real estate loans,

Rev. Christman of Grafton, spent Sunday in the city.

L. C. Simons was a business visitor at St. Hilair Wednesday.

Rev. Fr. Ansgar returned from a trip to Crookston Friday.

S. M. Sivertson was at St. Hiliare on business last Saturday.

Mrs. Kinseth went to Thief River Falls Tuesday for a short visit.

Miss Etta Zaiser was was a passenger on Saturday last for St. Hilaire.

Anthony Quesnell, a former resident, is making a few days visit in the city.

Ed. L. Healy made a hurried business trip to Grand Forks last Saturday.

Mrs. Con Short, Mrs. Walker and Mr. Lynch drove in from Lillo Sunday.

A. M. Anderson was at Thief River Falls last Saturday between trains.

Ed. Vandrin of Gentilly was an over night visitorat Philip Demerais Monday.

Miss Bergen of Crookston is the stenographer at the Bank of Red Lake Falls.

Dr. and Mrs. I. Lemieux were over Sunday visitors at the Stuhr home at Euclid.

Arthur C. Bandur, of the Crookston Journal is foreman at the Courier office this week.

Lars Klove and party left Tuesvia Great Northern for Greenbush on a hunting trip.

Julius Pleth the land man of Plummer was transacting business at the county seat Tuesday.

James Haule, a former resident of Terrebonne is now living in the Sieff house on Champagne Ave.

Mr. Iver Amundson of Rice Lake, Wis., is looking over land in this vicinity with a veiw of purchasing.

Nauman Bros. report the purchase and arrival at the Glen Oak Farm of a Registered Oxford down ram.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Champeau of Red Lake Falls visited with Terrebonne and Badger relatives Sunday.

Try an "I Lead" cigar, only 5c, guaranteed to give satisfaction; if you want something better smoke a "B. B."

Count Surveyor Wood is here on business matters pertaining to the new ditches.

K. M. Hansen and family are moving into the Frank LaBissonier house on Champagne Ave.

Robt. Eitel of Marshall, Minn., spent a few days at this city and vicinity looking over his land holdings.

Mrs. Hoernig after an extended visit at the Schreiter home returned to her home at Oskosk, Wis., Wednesday.

Mrs. Kretzschmar returned to Thief River Falls Saturday after an extended visit at the W. A. Schreiter home.

Mr. Lloyd, now of Fargo, formerly on the Courier staff was a business visitor here the latter part of last week.

Henry Viegel is now occnpying the house known as the Wm Zaiser home. He says he really has moved this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kaufer moved into the Deloge house last Monday where they will make their winter quarters.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Inquire at the Big Store.

Will Cyr departed Wednesday evening for Willow City, N. D., where he will remain for the winter months.

There is but one unclaimed letter at the Red Lake Falls Postoffice for the week ending Nov. 11 namely, Bert Reves.

F. J. Parker of Marshall is spending a few days looking over his land holdings and seeing to the threshing of his crop.

Miss Clara Marchand spent Saturday with her mother in Red Lake Falls. She returned here Sunday after-noon.

Miss Catherine Pirath came down last Friday for an over night visit with her parents returning to St. Hilaire Saturday.

Rufus Poirier a former Red Lake Falls boy, now of Brooks where he has charge of the lumber yard was a Sunday visitor.

Miss Florence Gervais will entertain at Mrs. W. P. O'Briens on Thursday afternoon, the 23rd of Nov. All are cordially invited.

F. J. Parker and a party of landseekers arrived this morning and are being shown over the country by Bourdon and Simons.

John R. Gotheir just north of town was a pleasant caller at our office this week. He reports fairly good crop returns this year.

Great Northern carpenters are building a new pump house. A gasoline engine will be installed in lieu of the old steam engine.

Aug. Morin, the contractor, was in from Brooks Sunday. He has the contract and is now erecting the new school house at Brooks.

For Sale, or will Trade for cattle, one team of three year old colts. Call on undersigned, three miles east of city. Geo. Walker. 4-6

There will be no church services at the Presbyterian Church Sunday but the Sunday school and Young Peoples meeting will be held as usual.

The auction sale held at the James Suttor farm west of Wylie last week was largely attended and almost everything offered was sold at a fair price.

Street Commissioner Deforge has about completed the gravelling of the important street crossings in town. This is a commendable piece of work.

J. L. Cohoon, State Agent of the Phoenix of Hartford was in the city Saturday adjusting the loss on the millinery stock of Miss Katherine Ford.

Mrs. Wm Findeisen entertained Mrs. Hoernig, Mrs. W. A. Schreiter, Mrs. W. P. O'Brien and Miss Marie O'Brien at a 6 o'clock dinner Tuesday.

Miss Marie O'Brien left Wednesday evening for her home at Belvediere, Ill., after having spent a year or more at the home of her brother Wm. P. O'Brien.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

Found a good pair of buckskin mits at the elevator in charge of James Hance. Owner can have same by proving property and paying for this notice.

Lost, between the Chas Bourdon residence and the school house a pin with an opal setting prized as an heirloom. Call at the Courier office for suitable reward.

Ole J. Romsos left Wednesday for his new home at Sarles, N. D., at which point Romsos Bros., formerly of Wylie, are engaged in the general Merchandise business.

The many friends of Mrs. Jos. Normondin will be pleased to leann that she is gradually gaining in strength and recovering nicely from herrecent dangerous illness.

The card party under the auspices of the ladies of St. Mary's church at the home of Mrs. W. A. Schreiter is postponed to Tuesday evening the 21st. All are cordially invited.

The out of town attorneys attendcourt are C. H. Schellback, E. M. Slanton, Perl W. Maybe, H. W. Lee, S. Cooke all of Thief River Falls. C. M. Johnson of Detroit and H. L. Gaylord of Fertile.

E. E. Sugden who has been foreman at the Courier plant for the past few weeks departed for St. Paul Saturday where he has secured a position with one of the large printing concerns of that city.

Miss Anna Sutor, of this city, who has been engaged as one of the instructors at the Queen City Business College at Crookston for the past few months was a visitor at home between trains Saturday.

Messrs Simeon Vandrin and Joe Lecuiller and wives of Gentilly and Mr. Laframbois of N. Yakima Wash. passed through here Saturday on their way to the L. C. Cadieux home at Terrebonne. They were passers by again Monday afternoon.

The cabosse on the local Great Northern freight certainly looked the worse for wear on Friday of last week. While at Thief River Falls in some manner the cabosse caught fire, presumably from an exploding lamp, and the cabosse was burned to the wheels.

E. E. Fletcher, F. F. Fletcher and Charley Seegar were the first hunting party from here this season. They report deer as not very plentiful and hunting very poor on account of the fact of there being no snow. They got one deer and considered themselves very fortunate.

Thos. Cromp is enjoying a visit from his aunt, St. John of God, the Mother Provinicial of the Congregation of Jesus and Mary, of Montreal, Quebec. She will visit here but a few days and will then resume her journey to Portland, Oregon where she will be stationed for some time.

Men's Unreasonableness.

is often as great as woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth, Ind., was not unreasonable when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble, "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by all Druggists, 50c.

Make Your Grocer Give You Guaranteed

Cream of Tartar Baking Powder

Alum Baking Powders interfere with digestion and are unhealthful.

Avoid the alum.

John Kirsch one of the firm of Kirsch Bros publisher of the Crookston Journal spent Tuesday in the city giving us the benefit of his years of experience in the printing business. Needless to add we were very glad to him and he can rest assured of a hearty welcome whenever he comes this way again.

(Continued from first page.)

players have lived up to these requirements with a result that has been clearly shown. Crookston certainly had favorable conditions to work under and the chief one is the large number of boys they had to pick their team from. A team that has enough candidates so that rivalry is created for a position on the team and then have enough players left over to form a second team, certainly should show better results. Here, the team was picked from a High School that contained 18 boys, creating no rivalry for positions and not enough players for a resemblance of a second team.

But spirit is what counted here and what would have counted at Crookston if they had only possessed it. The team that shows it, shows up well in all other requirements for a "Championship Team."

A Disastrous Calamity.

It is a disastrous calamity, when you lose your health, because indigestion and constipation have sapped it away. Prompt relief can be had in Dr. King's New Life Pills. They build up your digestive organs, and cure headache, dizziness, colic, constipation, etc. Guaranteed at All Druggists, 25c.

Important Change of Time.

The Great Northern Railway announces that on and after November 19th new passenger service will be inaugurated between Crookston and Greenbush, daily except Sunday, as follows: Leave north bound Red Lake Falls at 10;25 a m leave south bound Red Lake Falls at 5;35 p m.

How About John Lind?

Wadena Pioneer-Journal: Within a week two former governors of Minnesota died. Gov. McGill died last week Thursday, and Monday night Gov. Austin died at Minneapolis. Both of these governors were elected from St. Peter. At present there are but five living former governors, Govs. Hubbard, Merriam, Nelson, Clough and Van Sant.

SEE HOW, WE HAVE GROWN

$25,000 Increase Since last Statement.

MERCHANTS STATE BANK

Bank Statement.

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF MERCHANTS STATE BANK, at Red Lake Falls, Minn., at close of business on Nov. 9, 1905.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts			$82,942.28
Overdrafts			713.04
Banking house, furniture and fixtures			5,149.74
Other real estate			757.75
Due from banks		$35,196.69
Checks and cash items		3,507.53
Currency	$3,100.00
Gold	1,005.00
Silver	800.00
Fractional	46.16
Total Cash assets		43,655.38	43,655.38
Total			$133,218.19

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock		$15,000.00
Surplus fund		3,000.00
Undivided profits, net		2,817.09
Dividends unpaid	$ 750.00
Deposits subject to check	48,331.54
Demand certificates	1,192.52
Cashier's checks	567.53
Total immediate liabilities	50,841.59
Time certificates	61,559.51
Total deposits	112,401.10	112,401.10
Total		$133,218.19

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss.

I, J. A. Duffy, cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

J. A. DUFFY, Cashier.

Attest:

CHAS. N. BOURDON } Directors.
THEO. LaBISSONAIRE }

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of Nov. A. D. 1905.

P. P. POULIOT, Notary Public.

DIRECTORS.

A. P. Toupin — L. A. Kanler
Chas. N. Bourdon — Joseph Perrault
Samuel Gibeau — Theo. LaBissoniere
J. A. Duffy.

YOUR BUSINESS RESPECTFULLY SOLICITED.

...CUT PRICES IN...

GROCERIES

AT THE BIG STORE

We have the goods—you have the money—We want your money, and you surely need the goods.

Yeast Cakes	10c and 5c
Macaroni	8c
Saleratus	8c
Chocolate, best	30c
Gloss Starch	5c
Corn Starch	5c
Good Rice, 22 lbs for	$1
Bese Cocoanut 1 lb	18c
25 lbs Oatmeal for	$1
Good clean Raisins 16 lbs for	$1
Crackers by box	6½c
Dried Pears	lb 8c
Smoking Tobacco	lb 15c
Tapioca 25 lbs for	$1
Pearl Barley, 25 lbs for	$1
Heinz, 5 lb preserves.	85c
1 Gal. Rock Candy Syrup	42c
Olives, per qt.	30c
Dill Pickles, per gal,	25c

DRY GOODS DEPT.

Silk remnants ½ price.
Silk Belts ½ price.

HANDKERCHIEF SALE

10c 'Kerchief for	5c
35-40 and 50c Golf gloves and mitts at	25c

IT ALWAYS PAYS TO TRADE AT

.THE BIG STORE.

THEO. LaBISSONIERE. Prop.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidey Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr, Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo,, writes: "I suffered with eularged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91 years old." Sold at A. L. Reicherts

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS
WITH Dr. King's New Discovery
FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.
Quickest Cure for all and LUNG TROUB-
ONEY BACK.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Will cure any case of Kidney or Bladder disease that is not beyond the reach of medic

GIVEN UP TO DIE.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Ind., writes: "For over four years I with a kidney and bladder affection, and was unable to work. Three physic to help me and I was given up to die. Kidney Cure was recommended and first bottle gave me great relief and after the second bottle I was entirely cured."

Two Sizes 50 Cents and $1.00

ASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Churches.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Very Rev. E. Fayolle, Rector.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Rev. Father Ansgar, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN—Services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. every Sunday. Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Rev. H. W. Knox, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

I. O. O. F.—Clearwater Lodge No. 133, meets every Saturday evening at I. O. O. F. hall. Visitors are always welcome.—F. A. Mizen, N. G. William Schwalen, V. G., F. A. Grady, R. S., James E. Ford, F. S.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—Red Lake Falls Lodge No. 180, meets every Monday evening K. of P. hall.—W. A. McIntyre, C. C.; S. L. Lewis, K. of R. and S.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS—Meets every other Friday evening at C. O. F. hall: L. A. Kanler, Chief Ranger; J. R. Fortier, Recording Secretary.

MODERN WOODMEN—Meets every other Wednesday at M. W. A. hall.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Red Lake Falls Bank, Red Lake Falls.

St. Benedict's Academy......
ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.
A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

TIME CARD OF TRAINS.
RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 a m
SOUTH-BOUND
No. 156—Departs	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan. Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.
F. A. MIZEN, Agent.

WELL DIGGING ...
I will dig wells by the day, foot or job and guarantee satisfaction on every job. Repairing a specility. I now devote my entire attention to this work. Leave orders at Courier office.
A. O. LETVIG, Wylie, Minnesota.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms
HENRY KAUFER, Prop
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Ayer's Pills
The dose is one, just one pill at bedtime. Sugar-coated, mild, certain. They cure constipation.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Use BUCKINGHAM'S DYE
FIFTY CTS. OF DRUGGISTS OR R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

You Are Welcome At The
MERCHANTS STATE BANK
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
Even if you have to use most of your money from week to week and month to month, pay it through this bank.
Capital and Surplus $30,000.00
We will loan you money on personal security. We will make farm loans at LOWEST RATES. We will take your money on deposit and pay you 5 per cent per annum. In our savings department we pay 5 per cent on deposits of $1.00 and up. Interest computed May 1 and November each year.
A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier.
P. P. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

A Good Stove Cheap

is what you can truthfully say about a WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER.

All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL, and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft that you have heard so much about. A Wilson, if taken good care of, will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary-sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burners

Would be pleased to show you our line.

FRANK E. HUNT
Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

CARING FOR THE PREACHER.

One Sister Eats Him, Another Sleeps Him, and a Third Washes Him.

It was at a big meeting that all this was said, more of a citizens' meeting than a church gathering, and Mr. Dukes asked:

"Now, what can you do for the preacher? I don't intend to put the burden of my living upon any one family, but upon all of you, turn and turn about. I will not, however, go where the latch string is not hanging out of the door. What can you do for the preacher?"

One old lady who had a dim recollection of a small church in the pine woods of Georgia, when she was a girl, said:

"I kin eat him, but I can't sleep him."

"That's good; now who next?" asked the missionary.

"Well, if Sister Jenkins is gwine to eat him, I'll agree to sleep him, but I can't wash him."

"That's good; who next?"

Then another sister spoke up and said:

"Well, I'll wash him, but I ain't much on biled shirts."—Florida Times-Union.

A Real Wonder.

"So your ancestors were Revolutionary heroes, Mr. McBluff?" said Mrs. Blugore.

"Oh, sure," replied the Westerner, "particularly my great-grandfather. Washington commended him."

"For gallantry in action?"

"Yes. He practically won the battle of Chicago."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Get at the Cause.

Sacramento, Ky., Nov. 13th (Special).—A typical illustration of the way Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Rheumatism is well told by Catherine Devine, who is very well known here. She says:

"For over four years I was greatly troubled with Rheumatism. It used to take me worst in my legs and feet. At times I would be so bad I could not put my feet to the ground. As I am over seventy-three years of age I began to think I was too old to get cured and should have to bear my Rheumatism the best way I could. But I heard about Dodd's Kidney Pills and thought I would give them a trial. So I got a box and began taking them. Well, I must say Dodd's Kidney Pills did me a wonderful lot of good. They eased the pain from the first, and today I am in better health than I have been for many years."

The Gospel of the Links.

The bishop of Manchester declares that of the people will not come to the church the church must go to the people, and follow them to their week-end resorts. It is, we hear, proposed to make a start by supplying golf links with missionaries, who will sing a short hymn after each drive. In the event of a foozle, the hymn will be sung with extraordinary vigor, in order to drown any lay remarks that may be made.—Punch.

Spoiled All

W. Carl Ely of Buffalo, the president of the American Street Railway association, was talking during the convention in Philadelphia about motormen's and conductors' adventures.

"A conductor came to me with a smiling face the other day," he said. He wanted to tell me what had happened on an incoming car.

"It seems that a middle-aged woman and her little son, a lad of six or seven years, got on the car, and as soon as they were seated the woman took a half dollar out of her pocket and handed it to the youngster to pay the fare with.

"The boy held the coin in his small fat hand, and examined it closely and solemnly.

"The conductor appeared for the fares and the youngster gave him the half dollar with owlish solemnity.

"The money was pocketed, and 40 cents in change was put in the small extended hand.

"As soon as he got this change the boy laughed, wriggled in his seat and shouted gleefully:

"'Oh, ma,' he's taken the bad half dollar.'"

FROM TEXAS.

Some Coffee Facts From the Lone Star State.

From a beautiful farm down in Texas, where gushing springs unite to form babbling brooks that wind their sparkling way through flowery meads, comes a note of gratitude for delivery from the coffee habit.

"When my baby boy came to me five years ago I began to drink Postum Food Coffee, having a feeling that it would be better for him and me than the old kind of drug-laden coffee. I was not disappointed in it, for it enabled me, a small, delicate woman, to nurse a bouncing, healthy baby 14 months.

"I have since continued the use of Postum for I have grown fond of it, and have discovered to my joy that it has entirely relieved me of a bilious habit which used to prostrate me two or three times a year, causing much discomfort to my family and suffering to myself.

"My brother-in-law was cured of chronic constipation by leaving off the old kind of coffee and using Postum. He has become even more fond of it than he was of the old coffee.

"In fact the entire family, from the latest arrival (a 2-year-old who always calls for his 'potie' first thing in the morning), up to the head of the house, think there is no drink so good or so wholesome as Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

The Scourge of Damascus

A Story of the East...

By SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

Copyrighted 1891 by Robert Bonner's Sons.

CHAPTER III.

Love in Danger.

A bright, beautiful morning, with a gentle breeze sweeping down the fragrance of flower and shrub from the mountain slope. Ulin had eaten her breakfast, and, with Albia by her side, sat upon an open window, gazing out upon the park of fountains. As she thus sat, the slave woman Calypso entered the apartment and announced that the robber wished to see the Lady Ulin.

"What robber?" asked the princess.

"The same one that came yesterday."

Ulin did not stop to think whether the visit would be pleasant or otherwise. The man had signified his purpose, and as he was master in the palace, she had no idea of opposing him. Calypso withdrew, and presently afterwards the robber entered. He came in with the same noble step and bearing; the same pleasant, genial face; and with the same look and salute of reverence and respect.

"I trust that the Lady Ulin has passed a quiet night," he said, in deep sincerity.

"I have rested well, sir," she replied.

"Good. I am glad of that. I feared you might have bad dreams."

"Not many, sir."

"Ah—and did you have any such?"

"Not—not many."

"You dreamt that Julian was a demon, eh?"

"No, no, sir—my dreams were not of him."

"I hope, sweet lady, that you dreamed not darkly of me."

"No, sir. It was of—"

The maiden hesitated, and seemed troubled; but her visitor came to her assistance.

"Never mind, lady. I meant not to inquire into the secret twinings of your mind. I only hoped that I had not been unfortunate enough to excite the apprehension of your slumbering fancies."

He smiled as he spoke, at the same time moving a step nearer, and then adding:

"I am glad you have not suffered from our coming; for I have the more courage to ask you if you will see Julian."

"You said you would accompany him, sir."

"Yes."

"Then I may as well see him at one time as another. You may inform him that the lady Ulin rests her safety and honor in his manhood."

"He has been so informed, fair lady."

"Then, let him come."

"Gentle lady, pardon me if I have led you upon a fanciful way of thought. I am Julian. I am he whom men call the Scourge of Damascus. And now I crave your indulgence; but still I shall bow most humbly to your commands. At your word I leave this apartment; yet, I should like to speak a little further. I should like to explain more fully why I am here."

Was Ulin frightened? Not at all. She was startled when she first knew that the man before her was the dreadful Scourge, of whom she had heard so much; but it was an emotion of astonishment. At first she could hardly believe that she had heard the truth.

"You—Julian?" she murmured, gazing into his face.

"Aye, lady." And then he added, with a smile, "I suppose you expected to find me black and ugly, like the foul genii whom Solomon imprisoned in the sea. Am I right?"

"I did not think you were Julian," the maiden said, after some hesitation. As she spoke she seemed to gain new confidence and composure; and presently she added, "I had heard so much of your terrible deeds, that I expected to find a—"

"A monster," suggested Julian, helping her out.

"Not exactly that," returned Ulin, with a smile, "though I am free to confess that I should not have been so much surprised as I have been, if I had seen a worse looking man."

"Thank you," cried the robber laughing. "I shall take that as a compliment, and lay it up among the most precious of my recollections. I understand you; so, upon this point, I need only assure you that I am Julian, and that I must own the somewhat dubious title which has been bestowed upon me. And now, lady, may I sit here for a few moments, and speak with you further?"

The very thing Ulin had been upon the point of suggesting. She did not like to see him standing before her; nor was she anxious that he should leave her. She had a strong curiosity to hear him speak further. There was something in the appearance of the youthful adventurer that deeply interested her. She bade him be seated, and then, without intending to be heard, she murmured:

"So young!"

"Aye, lady," he said, catching the whispered words. "I am young—younger, perhaps, than I look. Only three-and-twenty years have cast their shadows upon me. At that age the youth of the city, just breaking from the bonds of parental restraint, is as a child; but with me it has been different. A parent I never knew. A kind, generous woman, who was my nurse, took the place of a mother during my earliest childhood; and a white-haired old man, who lived apart from the world, gave me my first lessons of life, and led me up till I could protect myself. A father's fostering care I never knew. A mother's love I never realized. The cruel blow which shattered the cup of my joys, killed my poor mother ere my tongue could lisp her name. As I grew to manhood I knew that I was an orphan, and that my misfortune was the work of the King of Damascus. O! how the iron settled into my soul. I had grown strong and resolute, as though heaven would enable me to work retribution upon the tyrant. Do you ask me if I enjoy the life I have led. I answer—I have made enjoyments for myself. I have felt a peculiar satisfaction in knowing that the king feared me. When I have heard my name spoken by the rich and powerful with fear and trembling, I have liked it; and when I have known that Horam dreaded my approach, I have felt that my labors were not without their result. But these have not been my joys. In Damascus the name of Julian is a terror; but there are other places where that name is spoken with love and gratitude. Upon the plains of Abilene, and in the mountain passes of Lebanon, where the busy craftsmen prepare timber for Jerusalem—there Julian is hailed as a friend and benefactor. The grim satisfaction of torturing the cruel King of Damascus is tempered and softened by the calmer atmosphere of these friendly regions."

Why did Ulin sit so still and listen with such rapt attention to the words of the speaker? She bent her head as though soft music were stealing o'er her senses; and she gazed upon the man before her as though a grand, inspiring picture had been unfolded to her vision. His words carried truth in their very sound, and all her sympathies had been aroused. She was a woman whose nature had not been warped by art; and the avenues to her soul were guarded only by the pure instincts of virtue and humanity. Not always the safest guard; but still the happiest when surrounding influences are not evil.

"And now, lady," pursued Julian, "I must tell you why I am here; and in doing this I speak only those words necessary to the truth. On my way from the plains I met a messenger, who informed me that a fair maiden had been shut up in the Palace of the Valley. I could not believe that a beautiful young virgin had willingly given herself to the desires of Horam. I thought she had been shut up thus against her own pleasure. With this belief I resolved to release her. The result you know. I have heard your story from the lips of the black slave who attends upon you, and she informs me that you are affianced to the king by your own consent, and without any desires on your part to the contrary. Is it so?"

"The slave told you truly, sir," replied Ulin, bowing her head, and speaking in a very low tone.

"And you came here to this place of your own free will?"

"Yes, sir. My period of mourning was not passed, and the king brought me hither that I might be more retired."

"And but for the death of your mother you would have been the king's wife ere this?"

Ulin replied in the affirmative; but her voice trembled, and she seemed to shudder at the thought thus presented.

"Lady," said Julian, showing some emotion, which he evidently did not mean to show, "for my seeming wrong I most humbly beg your pardon. I had thought to wrest from the grasp of the king one who was an unwilling captive; but since I find myself mistaken I will do all I can to make amends. A

"And," said the robber, rising to his feet, "it is better that I should leave you at once."

He stopped, and swept his hand across his brow, and when he resumed, his speech was very low, and his voice tremulous:

"This has been a most strange adventure; and as I now look upon it, it seems as though some mischievous sprite had planned it. As I live I thought when I came hither but such as I have told you of. I have met you, lady, and for the first time in my life I have felt my heart drawn warmly towards my native city. Henceforth there will be something in Damascus towards which my thoughts will turn with other sentiments than those of bitterness. Lady Ulin, we may never meet again. In this moment of our strange companionship, may I not take you by the hand?"

She could not have refused had she wished; but that she had no wish so to do was evident from the free and friendly manner in which she arose to meet him. She gave him her hand, and suffered him to raise it to his lips.

"Dear lady, should we never meet again, I trust that you will bear one kindly thought of Julian. If you are forced to think of the wrongs he has done, let a memory of the wrongs he has suffered be some extenuation. Bless you, lady! All good spirits guard and protect you, and peace be thine forevermore! Farewell!"

He turned and was gone. Ulin felt a warm spot upon her hand—a drop of moisture—a tear! She gazed upon it, and knew that it came not from her eye. It fell there with the kiss. A strange tribute from the Scourge of Damascus!

"Albia, I think I shall never see that man again; but I shall remember him with emotions far removed from fear or terror."

"You will remember him as little as possible, my mistress," said the slave girl, taking a seat close by Ulin's side, and resting her hand upon her arm.

"What mean you, Albia? Why should my memory be narrowed or shortened?"

"Because you are to have a husband who will demand your every thought and feeling. Horam is deeply versed in all the secrets of the female heart, and his eyes will not sleep while you have a thought which he does not understand."

"Indeed, Albia," cried the princess, with a look of amazement, "you misunderstand me."

"If such be the case," replied the girl, very quietly, "you will forgive me for what I have said; and of Julian we will think no more."

Ah—was it so? Had Ulin been misunderstood? Had the keen-eyed Albia been mistaken? Would there be no more thought of Julian?

The day passed away, and towards evening Aswad returned from the mountains. He said he had not fled from fear of the robbers; but that, when he saw that defeat was inevitable, he had sought safety from capture so that he might communicate with Damascus. Perhaps he old the truth. At all events, he resumed his command, and once more posted his guards about the valley; and then came to assure the princess that she was safe.

It was in the evening, just as the last gleams of day were fading out, and before the lamps had been lighted—at that season when the thoughts are most apt to wander and strange fancies visit the mind.

* * *

It was not to be that Ulin should spend the alloted time at the Palace of the Valley. The king had heard of the attack of Julian, and he came with a large army to bear the princess away from a place which was no longer safe. He was somewhat surprised when he found that the Scourge of Damascus had been within the palace, and had withdrawn again; and when he had heard the story from Calypso, he ordered one half the palace guadsmen to be executed within the valley.

The maiden had heard from Calypso of the bloody deed which had been done by the king's order, and when she knew that he was coming, she declared her intention of refusing to see him. But Albia persuaded her to a different course.

"As you value your future welfare," plead the bondmaiden, "so must you behave before the king. If you would live in peace, let him have no occasion to mistrust your real feelings. He is coming. Beware!"

The warning was most seasonable; and Ulin, by obeying it so conducted herself that Horam thought she only suffered from the dreadful fright occasioned by the appearance of the terrible Julian. He spoke to her words of cheer and assurance, and announced his purpose of carrying her back to Damascus.

"We will rest tonight, sweet love," he said, "and on the morrow you shall find a safer shelter."

Ulin gazed upon the wrinkled face and upon the quaking limbs, and upon the sparse gray hairs; and she could not repress a shudder. She looked upon the thin, hard hands of the monarch, and they seemed covered with blood. She watched him as he departed with her father; and when he had gone she sank down, and leaned her head upon Albia's bosom.

"O," she murmured, "I fear that I have undertaken more than I can accomplish. I cannot be that man's wife! I never knew him until now. He will kill me!"

"Peace!" whispered the bondmaiden. But she whispered in vain.

(To be Continued.)

ECCENTRIC WILLS.

Benjamin Franklin Left a Small Sum Which Is Now Available.

When Benjamin Franklin died, in 1790, he left a small sum of money, which was not to be used until the twentieth century. His gift is at last available, and the sum now amounts to $375,000, having been invested at compound interest, says the Pittsburg Press. The trustees of the Franklin fund have decided to use the money for the erection of a Franklin institute in Franklin square, Boston. Curious provisions made by will are more common than one would suppose. Within the last few months, there have been several examples of eccentric disposals of property. To one young woman has been left $25,000 by her brother under the express condition that she neither marries nor becomes a nun. If the conditions are not fulfilled, the money is to be distributed among other relatives. To his three daughters an Italian who recently died left $500 a year each if they remained single and $2,500 each a year if they married. A late member of the English parliament left by will to his two daughters $720,000, with the provision that the money is only to be payable if they attain the age of 35 years, without marrying either a citizen of the United States or a Hebrew.

A new claimant for the fortune left by the composer Verdi has appeared. He is a farmer named Verdi living near Athens, Greece. He says that the Verdi family came originally from the east, one branch establishing itself at Athens, and the other going on to Italy, and that he is the closest surviving relative of the deceased composer.

FARM

MISCELLANY

Clean Surroundings for Milk.

We used to have a great deal of trouble with the quality of the butter made at our house, and sometimes the milk itself became sour early, and at other times had a peculiar taste after it had stood for only eight or ten hours. After visiting one of the great dairy schools of the country I became convinced that the trouble with our butter and milk was that things were not clean enough where we kept our milk. I went home and examined the cellar. It was summer and all the old vegetables had been taken out, but decayed leaves and roots were left here and there. I tried hard to find if they were sending off bad flavors and found that I could detect some smell that was not desirable in butter. Moreover I noticed that here and there flies were active and that they visited the milk and cream as well as the decayed and half-dried roots and leaves. I am now sure that the insects help carry the germs of different kinds of things to the milk and complete what the bad air begins.

We had always kept the cellar windows closed in summertime to keep the cellar as cool as possible. We used to think that it was useless to have a cellar and yet let it get up in temperature. But in keeping the windows closed we kept all the bad odors in, to the detriment of the milk and cream—consequently of the butter. I determined to have a cleaning up and I did.

For three days I kept out of the cellar all milk and cream. I had a boy dig out all the remnants of potatoes and other things that had decayed or could decay. I had him even take up some of the boards that were lying on the cellar bottom and holding moisture. The cellar was most thoroughly cleaned from bottom to top. The top was swept carefully but energetically. The windows were opened and the cellar aired. I had the windows hinged so they could be opened with ease, and then had them fixed so they could be left open a little way for ventilation if desired.

Lastly I had the cellar whitewashed, both as to the woodwork and the brick. The bottom is of earth. It should be of cement. But we have not yet got around to putting a cement floor in the cellar. It costs money. The whitewashing helps kill all moulds and then helps us see whether the cellar is getting dirty or not.

When the milk and cream were put back the flies had all been killed off and hanging shelves erected for the milk. After that time we had no trouble with the milk or butter. The windows have been frequently opened in the evening and again shut after they had been opened for an hour or so. We have screens also to keep out the flies. This cleaning up did not cost much money, but it was worth a good deal in the improved quality of the butter made.—James Addison, Bureau Co., Ill., in Farmers' Review.

Saving Seed Corn.

As soon as the corn is fully matured we can start with the gathering of the seed corn. We find the best time to do this is when we husk our corn for the crib. A bushel basket is carried in the rear end of the wagon, and when a good ear is found it is thrown in. To properly select seed corn takes a man of good judgment, as the ears must not only be fully matured and dry, but must also be of the same type as the parent corn. If this last point is not adhered to the best pedigreed seed corn will run out in a very few years. If you have men husking for you let them throw the best ears in the seed box and go over it yourself before admitting it to the seed lot. It is an easy matter in an average year to pick out a lot of well-matured corn for seed, but it pays well to select the ears carefully. Select ears which resemble as much as possible the parent corn, matured fully to the tips, with small cobs and deep, compact kernels. It is not a great task to keep on improving from year to year, as a bushel of corn will cover from six to eight acres of ground. A very good way to store the corn is to leave on the husks, tie them together and hang under the roof. But when a large amount is stored this is impracticable. We have heard of storing in a cellar successfully, but have never tried it. We store ours in the smokehouse, arranging a series of shelves of 1x4s, and putting one row of ears on each shelf. When once perfectly dry, seed corn will stand freezing without injury. Never store seed corn in closed sacks, as it is sure to spoil in a short time.—H. Pfaender, Brown Co., Minn., in Farmers' Review.

Calcium and Magnesium.

Calcium and magnesium are both soil elements which enter into the composition of plants. They are, however, so generally distributed in the soil that they are little considered by the students of plant nutrition. One German expressed a theory that there must be a certain ratio maintained between the calcium and magnesium in the soil or plants would not grow. Some German scientists have recently completed some experiments to determine the truth of this expressed opinion, and it was found that there was no needed relation between the presence of calcium and magnesium. Hence what is known as the "Loew hypothesis" is discredited.

A GIANT LAID LOW.

Crippled and Made Ill by Awful Kidney Disorders.

John Fernsays, fruit raiser, Webster, N. Y., says: "I used to lift railroad ties easily but wrenched my back and began to suffer with backache and kidney trouble. I neglected it until one day a twinge felled me like a log and made me crawl on hands and knees. I was so crippled for a time that I couldn't walk without sticks, had headaches and dizzy spells and the kidney secretions were muddy and full of brick-dust sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills made the pain disappear and corrected the urinary trouble. I have felt better ever since."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Matchmaking In or Out of Season.

"How should we get married if there were no London season?" asked the debutante. "Some of you would get married if you were bricked up in an ogre's castle and had to be rescued," said the American millionaire. "And ten seasons wouldn't marry the rest."

The "Widow's Mite" of Water.

A novel contribution to a harvest festival at St. John's Blackpool was a bottle of water labeled "Thank God for the rain." The vicar said it was sent by a poor woman who could not afford to contribute fruit or vegetables.—London Chronicle.

Starleigh's Support.

"Who is supporting Starleigh this season?"

"His wife."

"His wife! Why, I never knew she was on the stage."

"She isn't; but she takes in washing."—Baltimore American.

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson patent lawyers, 911-912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn. Gustavus Duncan, Deadwood, S. D., miner's lamp; Peder Lund, Beyrout, N. D., lifting lever; Robert Menke, Sanborn, N. D., furnace; Charles Swanson, Minneapolis, Minn., axe rack and locker; Helmer Thune, Neby, Minn., nail driving machine; Gordon Willett, Sioux Falls, S. D., bed spring tightener; Edward Wilson, Steele, Mont., brake shoe holder.

No Exaggeration.

"See here!" snapped the landlord, who had responded to the tenant's hurry call for a plumber. "I thought you said the water in your cellar was two feet deep. It's only a few inches."

"Well, that's as deep as my two feet," retorted the tenant, "and that's too much."—Philadelphia Ledger.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

No Strong Ones There.

"Well," said D'Auber, whose masterpiece had been rejected, "I never realized the truth of the old proverb until I saw this exhibit."

"What proverb?" inquired the friend.

"'The weakest must go to the Wall.'"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Here is Relief for Women.

Mother Gray, a nurse in New York, discovered a pleasant herb remedy for women's ills, called AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain monthly regulator. Cures female weaknesses, Backache, Kidney and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Agreed.

Minister—Well, Pat, Bridget is dead; but after all, she's better off.

Pat (a little deaf)—Eh—eh—what's that, sor—bether off—sure I am thot, thanky.—Houston Post.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

At the Show.

Horse Fancier (with enthusiasm)—Isn't Vandersluke's Lodemia a beauty?

His Fair Daughter—Where? Where? What has she got on? Whose box is she in?—Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

The Unexpected.

"Things don't always turn out as we expect."

"That's a fact. I expected that automobile to turn out to the right, and it turned out to the left, and here I am in the hospital."—Houston Post.

FITS [illegible]

Location Still Unknown.

Noah Fentz—I beg pardon, but where have I seen you before?

Adam Sawfox—You have the advantage of me. I don't remember ever having seen you anywhere before.

Begin your work betimes. It's bad to be sowing your seed when you should be [illegible]

NOT A TRACE LEFT.

Rheumatism Thoroughly Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

There is one remedy that will cure rheumatism in any of its forms and so thoroughly eradicate the disease from the system that the cure is permanent. This remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and the proof of the statement is found in the experience of Mr. T. S. Wagar, of No. 72 Academy street, Watertown, N.Y. He says:

"The pain was in my joints and my sufferings for over two years was beyond description. There was an intense pain in my shoulders that prevented me from sleeping and I would get up and walk the floor at night. When I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the improvement was gradual, but by the time I had taken four boxes I was entirely cured and I have not had the slightest touch of rheumatism since that time."

Mr. Wagar's wife is also enthusiastic in her endorsement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "I have tried the pills myself for stomach trouble and have experienced great relief from their use. My daughter, Mrs. Atwood, of Gill street, Watertown, has used them for female weakness and was much benefited by them. I regard Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People as an extremely valuable family medicine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured the worst cases of bloodlessness, indigestion, influenza, headaches, backaches, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, nervousness, spinal weakness, and the special ailments of girls and women whose blood supply becomes weak, scanty or irregular. The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drugs and cannot injure the most delicate system. At all druggists or from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

Shaved.

"Confound it, sir," cried a hysterical summer boarder, addressing the proprietor of the Palace ice cream parlor in Pruntytown; see here, what I have found in my ice cream—it looks like a bunch of whiskers!"

"So it dooz, for a fact; but I don't understand how it can possibly be whiskers," was the reply, "fer we made that 'ere ice cream with shaved ice."

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.
The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Selfish Men.

He—It seems to me that women demand a great deal in this generation.

She—Well, what of it? We have to have things, and that's the only way most of us can get them.—Detroit Free Press.

Too Much to Expect.

"Poetry," said the editor, "is a drug on the market."

"Oh, indeed!" exclaimed the poet, hopefully. "Am I to infer that you pay drug store prices for it?"—Catholic Standard.

Ask Your Dealer for Allen's Foot-Ease
A powder. It rests the feet. Cures Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating Feet and Ingrowing Nails. At all Druggists and Shoe stores, 25 cents. Accept no substitute. Sample mailed FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

The woman who likes to have a little joke at the expense of some one else finds the most fault when it comes her way.

STIFF AND SORE

from head to foot? Can't work today, but tomorrow you can, as the Old-Monk-Cure will soften and heal the muscles while you sleep.

St. Jacobs Oil

It Conquers Pain

Price, 25c. and 50c.

$16 AN ACRE

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

in Western Canada is the amount many farmers will realize from their wheat crop this year.

25 Bushels to the Acre Will be the Average Yield of Wheat.

The land that this was grown on cost many of the farmers absolutely nothing, while those who wished to add to the 160 acres the Government grants, can buy land adjoining at from $6 to $10 an acre.

Climate splendid, school convenient, railways close at hand, taxes low.

Send for pamphlet "20th Century Canada" and full particulars regarding rates, etc., to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to the following authorized Canadian Government Agent—Charles Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, North Dakota. (Mention this paper.)

DAIRY NOTES

Where Creameries Should Be Built.

The creamery business has been greatly injured in the past by the erection of co-operative creameries in localities unsuited to the support of such institutions. Two things of importance must be considered when such a project is to be entered upon. The first of these is the number of cows within a radius of a few miles of the creamery. The other is the facilities for getting the butter to market. Creameries without number have been established and have proved failures because enough milk could not be obtained to make it possible to manufacture butter at a profit. It is estimated that at least 300 cows must contribute their milk throughout the year if the creamery is to be run at a fair profit. Too often the agents of the creamery building companies have gone into communities and induced the farmers to put up expensive creameries merely that they might make a profit out of the equipments sold and on the building itself. These agents have gone before the farmers with the assurance that, if the creamery were erected, the cows would quickly appear in the community. They have said that under such conditions the farmers could not afford not to keep cows. The farmers have believed them, and have raised three and four thousand dollars among themselves to pay the cost of the creamery plant. The business of such creameries, however, has not grown as the farmers have been led to expect. Starting in with the milk of 100 cows, or thereabouts, the creamery has been run at a loss from the first day it opened its doors. The inevitable result has been that only a low price could be paid for the milk used, and no dividends were declared. This fact in itself has been a discourager for the purchase of new cows. Nothing succeeds like success, and the farmers around such creameries, fearing the ultimate collapse of the enterprise, have declined to make investments on their own account. There could be no surer road to failure than this. Even under the best of conditions the number of milch cows in a community cannot be rapidly increased. More cows mean more milkers, and many of our farmers cannot put on an additional hired man just for the purpose of milking three or four extra cows. It will therefore be seen that the creamery that is established in a community inadequately supplied with cows is almost sure to be a failure. The matter of transportation of products, while of secondary importance, is yet one to be considered. The creamery many miles from the railroad can hardly expect to ship its goods under proper conditions, which include refrigerator service.

Cheap Feeds Not Cheap.

We have frequently called attention to the fact that feeds that are cheap in the markets are not always cheap in reality. The amount of trash that a food contains has a very large bearing on its value. It is impossible to estimate the value of foods by the prices per ton. One of our experiment station directors, in speaking of cottonseed meal, tells of a certain brand that was guaranteed to carry 25 per cent protein, and to sell at $4 less per ton than the regular meals. It was found on investigation to be a mixture of meal and hulls, and actually contained less than two-thirds the amount of protein advertised. This food was really very costly. It will be seen that the value of food in the eastern United States must be judged according to the amount of protein it contains. If one food carries 25 per cent protein and sells at $25 a ton, another carrying two-thirds that amount of protein should sell at not more than $16 per ton. According to the figures reported, this food would sell at about $21 a ton, and the buyers were paying $5 a ton more than it was worth when standard grades were worth $25 a ton. Farmers thus often cheat themselves in trying to get a bargain. In estimating the value of food the first thing is to find out its protein content.—Farmers' Review.

Heat and Typhoid Germs in Milk.

It is an important matter to know the amount of heat that will destroy typhoid germs in milk. According to all investigations these germs perish at a very low temperature. It used to be supposed that 185 degrees Fahrenheit was necessary for the destruction of the typhoid germs. Experiments made at the Madison station showed that 140 degrees of heat would destroy the germs. Now some of the foreign experimenters express the opinion that heat at 60 degrees Centigrade for ten minutes will kill typhoid bacillus. This is equal to 142 degrees Fahrenheit. This result is very close to that obtained at the Wisconsin station.

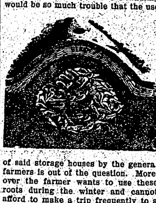
Making Butter or Shipping Milk.

A reader of the Farmers' Review recently found it difficult to haul his milk to the railroad station for shipping to the city, and proceeded to make butter out of the cream. At the end of the month he found that he was making a little more money than he had been making the other way, and was saved the daily trip of two and a half miles to the railroad. This saving in labor more than equalled the labor of making butter and selling it. He expresses the belief that many farmers that are hauling milk to the railroads and shipping it to the city are losing money by so doing.—Farmers' Review.

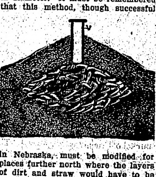
AGRICULTURE

Pits for Storage of Roots.

At this time of the year the farmer is considering how he may best store his roots and tubers for the winter. It is desirable to so store potatoes, beets, turnips, carrots and the like that they will remain in a temperature just above the freezing point. In the cellar it is frequently so warm that the different roots lose much moisture and in some cases begin to grow. A regular cold storage house in which the temperature is kept at about the freezing point is the desirable thing, but to most of our farmers this is an impossibility. Most of our farms are situated at a considerable distance from such houses, and the hauling would be so much trouble that the use of said storage houses by the general farmers is out of the question. Moreover the farmer wants to use these roots during the winter and cannot afford to make a trip frequently to a cold storage house.



The men in charge of the sugar beet factories have found pits to be the most economical method of storing beets. In our first cut is shown the style of pit used in Nebraska. The cut shows the transverse section of a long row of beets stored in a long pit. This section represents, as to the beets, about four feet in width and height. The layer of dirt over them is six inches thick. Above the first layer of beets is a layer of straw, and above that is a layer of two inches of dirt. This last layer is put on only on the approach of cold weather. At V there is a ventilating hole about one foot in diameter. It must be remembered that this method, though successful in Nebraska, must be modified for places further north where the layers of dirt and straw would have to be thicker.



Our second illustration shows the pits used for the storage of sugar beets in Wisconsin. A greater degree of cold and otherwise adverse conditions must be provided against. The beets are placed in a deep and wide furrow, which may be as long as needed. The pile here shown is six feet wide and three feet high. Above the beets are piled eighteen inches of earth. At V is shown a piece of ventilating tile. These tile are placed in the row every six feet. This tile is left open while the beets are sweating, but can be closed after that process is completed.

Temperature of Soils.

One great field of experimentation is as yet almost untouched, and this is the field of soil temperatures. In some of the experiment stations of the world an apparatus is in use for determining soil temperatures and it proves very valuable in giving data from which the experimenters can determine the effect of cold and heat on plant production. Any farmer can make such an apparatus by using a thermometer and attaching to it any instrument that will permit it to be inserted to any desirable depth. The farmer who studies his soil will find it to his advantage to know the different temperatures of the different fields of his farm. He will be surprised to find out how greatly these temperatures vary. The temperature controls to a very great extent the germination of seed in the soil. If the seed is put into a cold soil it will, in many cases, rot before sprouting. This is especially true of the corn seed. Many a farmer has planted valuable seed corn in soil that was yet too cold to allow of germination and has afterwards had to replant the field at great loss to himself.

Generally cold soils are damp soils or wet soils. But this is not always the case, as sometimes the cold soils are simply heavy clay soils. The farmer who has the wet soil is deceived by the drying out of the surface. The water present keeps down the temperature immediately under the surface, and when the seed is put in the result is that it is lost. The matter of soil temperature is one that has, up to this time, been considered generally the work of the scientists; but the time is coming when every progressive farmer will make this study for himself.

In the northern part of Illinois many of the farmers are turning to seedling peaches as being the only kind that will stand the winter conditions.

HE WAS A BOY, ALL RIGHT.

Made a Vast Difference in Him When a Bonfire Was Mentioned.

Hall Caine was praising the American autumn. "I visited in October," he said, "the country house of a New York man. It was in New England, on a mountain side, and the splendid colors of the foliage—the scarlets and golds and innumerable flamelike tints—gave to the still forests an indescribable magnificence.

"And the leaves fell in a rain of color through the transparent air. In the garden, one afternoon, I heard a gardener say to his little son:

"'I wish you would rake up these dead leaves in a pile.'

"'Oh, I don't feel like it,' whined the boy. 'My back's sore and I've got a cramp in my wrist and there's growing pains in my leg.'

"'After you get 'em raked up,' went on the gardener, calmly, 'you can make a nice big bonfire out of them and jump over it.'

"The boy began to jump and leap.

"'Hurrah!' he shouted. 'Where's the rake?'"

Authority for It.

"He's a lazy sort of man to be running for governor. He delivered a speech the other night, and, do you know, instead of memorizing it he simply read it."

"Well?"

"Well, that's positively unheard of."

"Why so? You know the old saying, 'He who runs may read.'"—Philadelphia Press.

School of Society Chatter.

As there are now so few Englishmen who have the gift of talking agreeably in "society," of interesting a table full of guests and of entertaining a room full of people, it has occurred to some well educated, impecunious men, to set up as "professional conversationalists." The fee is a sovereign for an afternoon or evening.—London Graphic.

The Sensation.

Jay Green—I had a ride in my cousin's automobile while I was up t' the city.

Aaron Allred—Ye did? How'd it seem?

Jay Green—Wa'al, it felt a good deal like fallin' into a mighty deep well, only ye dropped straight ahead instead o' down'ards.—Puck.

Have Proved Their Worth.

The campaign undertaken by interested publications to undermine the faith of the people in proprietary medicines has drawn forth the following from a high medical authority: "It must never be forgotten that the interest of the manufacturer is to put out a remedy which is not only meritorious but safe. With a small army of enemies constantly on the alert, ready to seize upon and magnify every unfavorable circumstance, how few are the cases of accident or injury from the use of proprietary medicines! Complaints in regard to the use of such remedies are exceedingly rare and utterly insignificant, in comparison with the amount sold and the millions of people who avail themselves of these remedies."

He Had Tried and Tried.

Kindly Parson—Cheer up, my man—cheer up! If at first you don't succeed try, try again, you know.

Prisoner (savagely)—Well, I guess you don't know what brought me here.

Kindly Parson—No; but the motto applies just the same—try, try again.

Prisoner—Well, that's what I done an' here I be for bigamy.—Judge.

Getting Direct Action.

Beryl (at the phone)—The idea of sending a kiss by telephone! Do you suppose I want to be kissed on my ear?

Jasper (at the other end of the wire)—Well, can't you put the receiver to your lips for a moment? * * * There!—Chicago Tribune.

ITCHING SCALP HUMOR.

Lady Suffered Tortures Until Cured by Cuticura—Scratched Day and Night.

"My scalp was covered with little pimples and I suffered tortures from the itching. I was scratching all day and night, and I could get no rest. I washed my head with hot water and Cuticura Soap and then applied the Cuticura Ointment as a dressing. One box of the ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap cured me. Now my head is entirely clear and my hair is growing splendidly. I have used Cuticura Soap ever since, and shall never be without it. (Signed) Ada C. Smith, 309 Grand St., Jersey City, N. J."

How She Liked Him.

"Well, Maggie, you have now been married a year. How do you like your husband?"

"Sober, mum."—Fort Worth Record.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Mothers Should Watch the Development of Their Daughters—Interesting Experiences of Misses Borman and Mills.

MATILDA BORMAN
MYRTLE MILLS

Every mother possesses information which is of vital interest to her young daughter.

Too often this is never imparted or is withheld until serious harm has resulted to the growing girl through her ignorance of nature's mysterious and wonderful laws and penalties.

Girls' over-sensitiveness and modesty often puzzle their mothers and baffle physicians, as they so often withhold their confidence from their mothers and conceal the symptoms which ought to be told to their physician at this critical period.

When a girl's thoughts become sluggish, with headache, dizziness or a disposition to sleep, pains in back or lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude; when she is a mystery to herself and friends, her mother should come to her aid, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will at this time prepare the system for the coming change, and start the menstrual period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Hundreds of letters from young girls and from mothers, expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them, have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., at Lynn, Mass.

Miss Mills has written the two following letters to Mrs. Pinkham, which will be read with interest:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First Letter.)

"I am but fifteen years of age, am depressed, have dizzy spells, chills, headache and backache, and as I have heard that you can give helpful advice to girls in my condition, I am writing you."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second Letter.)

"It is with the feeling of utmost gratitude that I write to you to tell you what your valuable medicine has done for me. When I wrote you in regard to my condition I had consulted several doctors, but they failed to understand my case and I did not receive any benefit from their treatment. I followed your advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now healthy and well, and all the distressing symptoms which I had at that time have disappeared."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Miss Matilda Borman writes Mrs. Pinkham as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my monthlies were irregular and painful, and I always had such dreadful headaches.

"But since taking the Compound my headaches have entirely left me, my monthlies are regular, and I am getting strong and well. I am telling all my girl friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Matilda Borman, Farmington, Iowa.

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice, ask her to address Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her every detail of her symptoms, and to keep nothing back. She will receive advice absolutely free, from a source that has no rival in the experience of woman's ills, and it will, if followed, put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of cures of female ills of any medicine that the world has ever known. Why don't you try it?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Makes Sick Women Well

Beauty Threatened by the Auto.

Unless the inventors come to woman's rescue, it looks as if, in the near future—for, of course, motor vehicles will become the chief means of locomotion—we shall become a rough-skinned, blear-eyed, lashless, wrinkled and snorting race, since among other things motoring is said to cause people to breathe heavily with their mouths open. What is to save us from the "automobile expression?" There is enough alarming material here to furnish forth quite a goodly silly season correspondence on the "Decline of English beauty."—World.

Bigger Game.

"I hear Miss Footlights has turned down a crown prince."

"Yes, a life insurance magnate proposed just in the nick of time.—Detroit Free Press.

THERE IS NO SLICKER LIKE TOWER'S FISH BRAND

Forty years ago and after many years of use on the eastern coast, Tower's Waterproof Oiled Coats were introduced in the West and were called Slickers by the pioneers and cowboys. This graphic name has come into such general use that it is frequently though wrongfully applied to many substitutes. You want the genuine. Look for the Sign of the Fish, and the name Tower on the buttons.

MADE IN BLACK AND YELLOW AND SOLD BY REPRESENTATIVE TRADE THE WORLD OVER.
A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON, MASS. U.S.A.
TOWER CANADIAN CO. Limited, TORONTO, CAN.

THE BEST COUGH CURE

Many a lonesome and expensive trip to Florida, California or the Adirondacks has been saved by the use of the best cough cure. If this great remedy will not cure the cough, no medicine will, and then all hope rests in a change of climate—but try Kemp's Balsam first.

Kemp's Balsam

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN
W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.

W.L.DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W.L.DOUGLAS SHOES
ESTABLISHED JULY 6, 1876.

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC

FOR WOMEN

troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

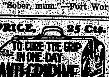
TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES

For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.
Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.
The R. Paxton Company Boston, Mass.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

When Answering Advertisements Kindly Mention This Paper.

PRICE, 25 Cts.



TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY
ANTI-GRIPINE

ANTI-GRIPINE

IS GUARANTEED TO CURE
GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

I won't sell Anti-Gripine to a dealer who won't Guarantee It. Call for your MONEY BACK IF IT DON'T CURE.
F. W. Diemer, M. D., Manufacturer, Springfield, Mo.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. [illegible] Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO. [illegible]

ESTABLISHED 1879.

MINNEAPOLIS. Woodward & Co., Grain Commission. DULUTH.

ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS.

ST. HILAIRE.

Miss Henrietta Hennemuth of Red Lake Falls visited with Miss Katherine Pirath Monday.

Miss Mary Anderson, who is teaching at Black River visited relatives Saturday and Sunday.

Jens. Nelson, Chas. Fellman and J. J. Soll returned from their hunting trip Monday.

R. J. McKercher, returned from a visit with his parents in Iowa, Thursday.

The Ladies Aid of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. E. L. Eichoff next Thursday afternoon.

L. T. Bergh was in from his claim Monday.

Mrs. J. K. Hannay is ill.

John Rolland returned from spending several days on his claim Monday.

Miss Katherine Pirath visited her parents at Red Lake Falls, over Friday night.

Mrs. A. O. Davison, enjoyed a visit from her mother Mrs. Tibbetts of Red Lake Falls last week.

Alton Jackson was able to go out for a while Monday.

Julius Pleth, of Plummer was a business caller here Monday.

Hon. L. C. Simons of Red Lake Falls was a business visitor here last Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. Gilman were very pleasantly surprised last Thursday evening at their home by about sixty of their church members and friends. The gathering was in the nature of a pound donation and the evening was spent in games and lively conversation.

McMURRAY'S
VANILLA
WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

Suffering

Will Not Help Your Disease, but Will Weaken Your Nerves.

Folks who think it is better to bear pain than soothe it—are wrong.

Old-fashioned doctors used to say it was better, because they had nothing with which to ease pain but dangerous, heart-paralyzing drugs.

But now, that a safe remedy has been found, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, it is wrong to suffer, for nothing can be gained but weakened nerves.

A safe rule to remember is: When in pain, take an Anti-Pain Pill.

This will soothe your quivering nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain by restoring the natural secretions, in which they differ from opium and similar narcotic drugs, which relieve pain by checking the action of the glands.

They are sure and harmless, and are the latest medical treatment for the cure of Headache, Neuralgia, Backache, Rheumatism, Dizziness, Toothache, Stomachache, Menstrual (Monthly) Pains. Also nerve irritations like Sea-Sickness, Car-Sickness, Sleeplessness, Indigestion, etc.

Pleasant to take, quick in results.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for sick, nervous headache, and have received the best results. I heartily recommend their curative properties, for they are successful."—REV. RAY A. WATROS, D. D., Iowa City, Ia.

Sold by druggists, at 25c. Money back if first box does not help. Never sold in bulk.

FREE Write to us for Free Trial Package of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, the New Scientific Remedy for Pain. Also Symptom Blank. Our Specialist will diagnose your case, tell you what is wrong, and how to right it, Free. DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., LABORATORIES, ELKHART, IND.

Oliver W. Stewart, who delivered the temperance lecture here Nov. 5 writes that the cash and pledges amounted to $141.35 from St. Hilaire.

Miss Myrtle Sullivan of Grand Forks was in town with her father Pat Sullivan, river foreman for the Grand Forks lumber company Thursday.

The rag ball social and concert given by the band boys at Imperial hall last Wednesday evening was very well attended and the music was well rendered. They cleared about twenty dollars. The boys are fortunate in retaining the services of Prof. Onstad as their leader.

Miss Blanche and Chet. Gebott left Monday evening for a visit at their old home in Michigan Mrs. Gebott went to Crookston returning Tuesday morning.

BADGER.

Miss Alice Quesnell left monday for Crookston where she expects to spend the coming winter.

Alma Quesnell spent a few days of last week L. C. Cadieux's,

The grand ball at the Woodmen hall at Terrebonne last Saturday was taken in by most all of the young folks here they report a good time.

Fedime Gregoire and wife of Gentilly were visitors at Ovila Robillard's Sunday.

A. Laurent and wife spent Sunday with Terrebonne friends.

Alice Quesnelle entertained a few friends Sunday evening.

The Luxenberger brothers had the misfortune of breaking some important piece on their threshing rig last Saturday and were compelled to retire from their duty until repairs were made.

A deal has been completed for the lease of the Coleman house at Thief River Falls by Messrs. W. B. Krouse and Otto Christianson of this city.

The hotel is a new building in the center of the city, on its principle street, is built of concrete blocks, modern in every particular and at present contains twenty rooms but an addition which is being built will give more rooms.

The young men are both well known in this city and are experienced in their line, Mr. Krause being for years a clerk at the Crookston and Mr. Christianson is at present Chef at the Palace and one of the best in his line in the upper country. Mr. Krouse will go up tomorrow to take charge and Mr. Christianson will remain with the Palace until relieved. The boys no doubt will bake a success of it and have the best wishes of their friends.

DOROTHY.

The people of this section are all busy threshing this week there being four machines within a radius of three miles.

Dorothy sent a good delegation to James Sutter's auction last Thursday.

Jacob Boutain is threshing this week, and though the year was poor and he was unable to cut all of his grain he will have several days threshing to do.

It is announced that Mr. Edward O'Neal and Miss Clara Cassavaunt are to be married in the near future. Both are well known parties of this section and their many friends all join in wishing them a long and happy union.

Homer Huot of Red Lake Falls visited his home at Dorothy last Sunday.

Arthur Tebeau who has been sick for the past three weeks is still very low. He is now at the home of his uncle Regis Huot. He expects his folks from Michigan at his bedside in a few days.

Turtle River, Nov. 12—The season for killing deer and moose opened bright and clear Friday morning and found the hunting fields filled with red coated men and longrange rifles The enthusiasm is not pronounced as yet for the reason the weather is not of the sort that brings good sport. There is no snow in the woods and everything is dry and noisy. The same conditions prevailed a year ago and continued wel lto the end of the open season, with the result that few deer were killed.

Many hunters came from long distances and were obliged to return empty-handed. The local sportsmen is not in a hurry to reach the woods; he has everything in readiness for the start, but will wait for the tracking snow that gives zest to the chase. The favorite hunting grounds as in years gone are west and north of the town of Hibbing.

On account of Thanksgiving Day the Northern Pacific will sell tickets to all points on its line in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota at one and one third fare for the round trip Tickets on sale Nov. 29 and 30 with final return Dec. 4th F. A. Mizen, Agent.

The Northern Pacific announces its annual rates from here to all points in Ontario and Qubec, of $40 round trip. Tickets on sale Dec. 4th. Enquire of F. A. Mizen, Agent.

AFTER TEN YEARS

of Suffering, Wife of Prominent Attorney is Relieved in most Peculiar Manner.

Friends of Mrs. Herbert E. Day wife of the prominent attorney of that name, living at 3701 Pleasant Ave., Minneapolis are marveling at the wonderful change in her appearance.

Mrs. Day has suffered for about ten years with an affection of the stomach that did not seem to yield to treatment and which grew worse and worse until she looked very unlike her former self.

When Mr. L. T. Cooper the philanthropist recently visited Minneapolis and the whole city was talking about his new medical wonder Mrs. Day heard of the marvelous cures that were being affected with Coopers' New Discovery.

She determined to try it and is now rejoicing at the wonderful benefit she has received. In a recent letter to Mr. Cooper she said: "My old trouble is fast disappearing. After ten years of wakeful nights and poor appetite I appreciate the good refreshing rest that I have enjoyed since I began taking the New Discovery Medicine and to have once more a good appetite with a perfect digestion is indeed a blessing. My general health is much improved."

Cooper's New Discovery cures Stomach trouble, Kidney Trouble, Catarrh, Deafness, Blood diseases and paralysis and sells for one dollar per bottle. Cooper's Quick Relief the assistant remedy costs fifty cents. W. A. Shreiter, Mr. Cooper's Special Agent for Red Lake Falls has the medicines on sale.

The Busy Store . . .

Your Holiday Embroidery and Fancy Work May concern you very much at present. Concerning materials, we have just received a most complete color assort- of the famous CORTICELLI SILKS sold onlyby us, and stamped linens including Coilies Bureau Scarfs Table centers, Lunch Cloths, etc.

HEMSTITCHED DESIGNS 10c to $2.00
Beautiful assortment of Pillow Tops from 25c to 50c
Handkerchief centers at 15-20-25c. Plain linens from 35-to 85c. a yard

We suit the hard to suit in LADIES FALL SUITS, excellent showing of greens, browns and blue--a yard from 60c to $2.00

Ladies MOCHA GLOVES, silk lined, all shades to match suits $1.50 pr
Gloves repaired free for the asking.

LANPHER FURS and
LANDESMAN CLOAKS

have more than done their share to popularize this store. Success is merited, and after an ideal has been reached in cloak making as in all arts it is shown that a real ideal is always rewarded by success—The LANDESMAN CLOAK is an ideal because it leads. New Styles from $5.00 to $50.00

Queen Quality Shoes--$3.00 McCall Patterns 15c

. . GARCEAU & ZAISER . .

To the Rural School Teachers of Minnesora.

The program for the third annual meeting of the Rural School Section of the M. E. A. is being prepared for you. Are you preparing for the program?

The program consists of three parts. The central thought for the first day is the teacher. Does that mean you?

The central thought for the second day is the school-room. Does that mean your school-room?

The central thought for the third day is the pupil. Does that mean your pupil?

Do you wish to improve your education? If so, hear Prof. Maria L. Sanford of the State University on Self-Education the first day.

Have you love for the beautiful? Do you wish to improve the appearance of your school-room? If so, hear Mr. Haringto Beard's lecture and the discussion of school-room decoration the second day.

Do you wish to be of greater help to your pupils? Do you think that reading and language are two of the most important subjects? If so, hear the discussions of those subjects the third day.

Do you wish suggestions for seat-work? If so, inspect the exhibit of that work especially prepared for you.

Do you wish your pupils to make better preparation for the recitation? Do you wish them to have a broader knowledge of the subjects studied? Do you wish to be better acquainted with the best text book? If so, examine the model reference table.

Do you wish to see a library suitable for first and second grade pupils? If so, see the one we have selected for you.

Do you wish to meet Prof. Sanford and Supt. Olsen, and the most progressive rural-school teachers in the state? If so, spend the social hour with us the first day.

Is your answer "Yes" to these questions? If so, be with us the first, second and third days of the forty-third annual session of the M. E. A.

A reply in person is respectfully requested for Dec. 27, 28 and 29, 1905. If an absence is unavoidable, a written excuse will be accepted if accompanied by a fee of Two Dollars for active membership, or One Dollar for associate membership which will entitle you to a printed copy of the proceedings.

Sincerely yours,
Louise E. Snyder,
President of Rural School Section.

The [illegible] "I Lead"

[illegible]

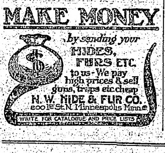
Favored by Both Parties.

Republicans and Democrats alike praise Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs colds and all throat and lung diseases, as no other remedy can compare with it. It is safe and sure, F. T. Slater, merchant, 171 Main St., Gloucester, Mass., writes., "Foley's Honey and Tar cured me of a very bad cough which I had for three months though other remedies failed to benefit me. I can highly recommend it for coughs and colds." Sold a A. L. Reicherts.

Thanksgiving Excursions.

The Great Northern Railway will sell round trip tickets at the rate of one fare and one-third, on account of Thanksgiving Day, to all points on the system, east of Montana. Tickets will be on sale November 29th and 30th with final return limit December 4th, 1805. Ask your local agent for further information.

If you are troubled with indigestion, constipation, sour stomach, or any other pain, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will make you well. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets At A. L. Reichert's.



MAKE MONEY
by sending your
HIDES,
FURS ETC.
to us - We pay
high prices & sell
guns, traps etc cheap
N. W. HIDE & FUR CO.
200 1st St. N. Minneapolis Minn.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND PRICE LISTS

Ayer's

Doctors first prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral over 60 years ago. They use it today more than ever. They rely upon it for colds, coughs, bronchitis, consumption. They will tell you how it heals inflamed lungs.

Cherry Pectoral

"I had a very bad cough for three years. Then I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. My sore lungs were soon healed and my cough dropped away."
MRS. PEARL HYDE, Guthrie Centre, Ia.

25c., 50c., $1.00. All druggists. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for
Old Coughs

One Ayer's Pill at bedtime insures a natural action next morning.

Rates For Foot Ball Game.

On account of the Foot Ball game between North Dakota Agricultural College and the University of North Dakota on November 18th at Fargo, the Great Northern Railway will make a rate of one and one third fare for the round trip. Date of sale November 17th and for trains arriving in Fargo before noon of the 18th, final return limit November 20th. Ask your local agent for full particulars.

FARM MACHINERY

I have just received a carload of farm machinery and it will be to the interest of every farmer in Red Lake County to see me and see some snaps I have to offer before buying. My goods are all anti-trust. Here are a few of the reliable goods I have for sale:

Robinson Buggies, Disc Harrows, Beggs-Goodson Wagons, The Celebrated Acme Harrow and Pulverizer, Van Brunt Single Disc Drills, Goodhue Wind Mills.

Get My Prices---I Can Save You Money

S. A. SWANSON

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat THAT'S FIT TO EAT

Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

DEFECTIVE PAGE

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 7. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1905. WHOLE NO. 371.

TEACHERS PROTECTIVE ASS'N

Hold Interesting Meeting at Thief River Falls Nov. 3 and 4

The members of the Teacher's Protective Association held their first meeting this year at Thief River Falls, on Nov. 3 and 4. The meeting was well attended and proved a success although no definite program had been arranged. Miss Helen Dow, teacher of language and Miss Harriet Rumball, teacher of reading, both of the State Normal at Moorhead, were present and much of the success may be attributed to their efforts.

Upon order of Superintendent J. H. Hay, the schools of Thief River Falls were closed and all the city teachers attended. Mr. Hay takes great interest in this work, and much may be expected of him.

The afternoon of Friday was devoted to language under the leadership of Miss Dow, who introduced the subject with a well-chosen discourse, explaining a list of suggestive exercises in preparation of oral and written language work. A copy of this list was given to each teacher. A large number of teachers brought language work prepared by their pupils. These were taken up by Miss Dow and commented on. It is but stating a mere fact to say that great benefit was derived.

Friday evening, at the Evenson hall, a large audience was entertained by Miss Rumball. The following numbers in reading were given: Purple Eyes, The Petison Twins, and Scenes From Othello, presenting four characters. Miss Rumball is a reader of great ability and held the audience from start to finish. Excellent music was furnished by Mrs. Wright, and the Misses Addler, Brady and Remstad.

The forenoon of Saturday was given up to the subject of writing. Subject was introduced by Mr. Hay's and later taken up by the teachers. Later in the forenoon Mr. Hay gave the teachers a fatherly talk on various subjects pertaining to their profession, which was well appreciated by the teachers. It was full of advice and voiced a sentiment felt by teachers but seldom expressed.

The subject of Ventilation was briefly taken up by Supt. McAnulty, illustrating what he had to say with a small sample of a jacket to be used around the stove, and intake and outlet pipes.

Short business session of about 2 hours was held in the afternoon. Business of usual character was transacted. The teachers showed their feeling and sympathy by the following resolutions:

Whereas, The Almighty has seen fit to remove from our midst our esteemed friend and member, Doro Marchand, be it hereby resolved

That, We, the members of the T. P. A., have by her untimely death lost a noble co-worker and faithful member.

That we tender to her bereaved relatives the heartfelt sympathy and condolence of the T. P. A.

And be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the Red Lake Courier and Red Lake Falls Gazette.

COMMITTEE.

Besides the faculty of Thief River Fall's schools and Supt. H. I. Mc Anulty, the following teachers were present: Annesy Crompe, Eugenia Perrault, Florence Columbus, Emma Lonson, Grace Meeham, Clara Richards, Mary McGinn, Katie McAnulty, Marius Rolland, Carl Schusser, Rose Helm, Lerraine Longtin, W. J. Harlow, Walter Johnson, Annie Fullman, Gusta Satre, Caroline Nettland, Louis Roy, Otto Olson, Anna Conelly, Clara Berg, Theo. Roy, Edith Quist, Clara Cyr, M. Clare Allison. Frank Shanahan and Charles Moller.

The next meeting will be held in Red Lake Falls on the last Friday in January. The committee have a program well under way which will be published in a week or two.

MAY ABOLISH OFFICES

A Possibility That Land Offices Will be Wiped Out.

The semi-official announcement that Secretary Hitchcock will recommend in his annual report the abolition of all positions now held by land office receivers will wipe out four of the best paying federal offices in Minnesota, six in North Dakota and seven in South Dakota.

In Minnesota these offices are at Cass Lake, Crookston, Duluth and St. Cloud. There are 110 land offices in the country and if Secretary Hitchcock's recommendation is adopted by congress it will result in a saving of $250,000 a year. In the present state of government finances, and with congress making every effort to reduce expenses, the suggestion will be received with more faver in that body than it would if there was a good surplus in the treasury. Action by congress also depends upon whether the president adopts the secretary's suggestion and recommends the abolition of those offices in his anual message. If he does not, probably no attention will be paid to it, as congress almost invariably acts in such matters only on suggestions of the President.

A Victory for Wylie.

At the hearing on the injunction proceedings instituted at the instance of the Wylie people to restrain the Great Northern Railway company from tearing up and abonding its rack between Iveo and St. Hilaire, the company brought in an answer denying that it intended to tear up and abandon said line. And as there was nothing to restrain the temporary restraining order was dissolved. The Company was represented by Col. R. A. Wilkinson, and the people of Wylie by asst atty general R. A. Stone and county attorney Germo. This is a clean back down of the Company's attitude as represented before the Railroad and warehouse committee.

ORIENTAL LIMITED A GEM

New Trains of the Great Northern Started Sunday in Trans-Continental Service.

When the Oriental Limited, which is the name for the Great Northern Flyer, pulled out of St. Paul union depot at 10:30 o'clock Sunday for the Pacific coast, the finest train in trans-continental service was started on its first trip for the West. the Great Northern Railway has expended vast sums of money in its passenger department, and by the installation of eight trains, which are necessary to maintain the Oriental Limited service, the company will place at the disposal of the traveling public a service between St. Paul and the coast that cannot be surpassed anywhere in the world.

The first installment of the new equipment was put in service Oct. 2 between St. Paul, and Winnipeg and set a new standard in the Northwest. That such a handsome train should be placed for the accommodation of travelers between Manitoba and Minnesota was regarded as a step of vast importance, and the installation of a semilar service for such a distance as from St. Paul to the Pacific coast is an indication that the West is as worthy of fine equipment as the East. in view of the fact that trade with the Orient is assuming vast proportions and that the Great Northern steamships Minnesota and Dakota ply between Seattle and Japan and China. Oriental Limited is an apt name and significant in meaning.

The Oriental Limited consists of eight cars, all of which are models of their kind. All the valuable features are embodied in the new equipment, but there are several new adjunts which bring the cars to the highest point of excellence. Painted in a dark olive, the train presents an attractive appearance. Above the windows is cathedral glass, which adds considerably to the distinctiveness of the enterior.

One of the distinct features of the equipment of the Oriental Limited will be the new compartment observation cars. These will be the first cars of their kind to be used in regular trans-continental service. When Robert Lebauds, a cousin of the "Emperor of Sabara," traveled on the Great Northern to take the steamship to the Orient recently, he chose one of the new cars to make his journey across the continent. Artestic taste has been exercised in finishing the four staterooms in the car. The rooms are finished in mahogany. coco, vermillion and tonquin, with funishings in olive, rose, green and maroon plush. The card room is finished in English oak, with green leather seat coverings. There is a handsome drawing room finished in mahogany, with golden brown furnishings.

The observation end of the car is in keeping with the splendor of the rest, and has excellent appointments. A new feature of a praiseworthy character is that the door is on one side, allowing room for a large plate window. This arrangement provides an excellent view from the car.

The other cars are commodious and comfortable. A new feature is a sixteen-section sleeping car, costing $18,000. The sleeper is eighty-two and one-half feet long, the same length as the compartment cars. The first-class coaches are eighty-one feet long and fitted up in fine style, and have seating capacity for eighty-four people.

The dining cars have several unique features, porticularly in the lighting arrangements. The lamps are incased in cathedral glass, those above being in square frames and those attached to the sides resemble ancient lanterns. The general effect is artestic and the car is flooded with a soft, mellow light.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

DURUM IS ALL RIGHT

The Macaroni Wheat is Sought by Southern Europe, Prodces Well Here.

"Durum," or macaroni wheat, is getting into the game alright, and farmers who feared it would not sell may rest easy. A good deal has already been sold, and advices from Duluth tell of the sale of another cargo to go to a Mediterrian port. It is figured by a prominent exporter that sales of new crop durum wheat for export to date aggregate six million bushels. As the Northwest is esteemed to have raised about twelve million bushels this season, halt the crop is already disposed of.

The remarkable thing about it is that durum wheat is selling in Europe at practically the same price as No. 1 northern spring wheat shipped from Manitoba, and only a shade higher than No. 2 Kansas wheat. This disposes of the last great argument against the production of durum wheat—the contention that there would be no market for it.

About three years ago says the Minneapolis Journal, the agricultural department began to push the durum wheat proposition in the northwest. The large millers, the leading milling trade journals, and one noted crop expert, fought the proposition. The Journal believed it a good thing, on the proposition that if the wheat would grow in the so-called semi-arid sections, the productivity of the northwest would be increased, the production of new wealth be larger every year and land values would be rendered more staple. The macaroni wheat controversy of two years ago was the feature of the grain trade. Some believed in it, others condemned it. Meanwhile the farmers have taken more to it, although the spread of the acreage has not been so rapid as was predicted by Secretary Wilson and Mr. Carlton of the department of agriculture. For two years prices were so low, relatively, that the larger yields, compared with ordinary spring wheat, did not compensate farmers for the work, but this year durum prices have ranged well up, and with big yields, farmers who put it in last season have made good money. In all probability the acreage next season will be much larger than ever before.

SECOND CONCERT

Season, 1905-6

RED LAKE FALLS CONCERT BAND

FRANK E. MILLER, DIRECTOR.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE,
Tuesday Evening, Nov. 28, '05.

PROGRAMME

PART 1

1 March - - - - - "THE PLUMED KNIGHT"
St. Clair

2 Overture - - - - - - - "THE STAR"
O'Hare

3 Recitation - - - - - - - "GOING BLIND"
Miss Carrie Altstadt

4 Duet for two Cornets - - - - - - MAMDELSSOHN
Messrs. C. Brunette and R. Healy

5 American Fantasia - - - - - TOBANI
Gems of Stephen Foster

PART 2

6 Quartette for Piano, two Violins & Cello - - "I PURITAIN"
Bellini
Messrs. Miller, Tracy, Berthon and Healy

7 Recitation - - - - - - "THE WINDOW'S LIGHT"
Miss Olara Rue

8 Waltz - - - - - - - - "DOROTHY VERNON"
Fose

9 Selection - - - - - - "THE PRINCE OF PILSEN"
Luders

10 Rag Time March - - - - - - "THAT GAL OF MINE"
Shook

BERTHON and ARMSTRONG
MENS' AND BOYS LEADING CLOTHING OUTFITTERS

WE ARE MAKING FRIENDS

right along by our good fitting clothes—our fair prices, and honorable business methods.

.....OUR NEXT PROPOSITION.....
IS A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

Let's sell you your business suit. Our stock represents every late style, every new fabric and all are this season's newest creations—

$8.00 ALL EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD VALUES $28.00

ALL SIZES--Suits for tall men--stout men--short men--slim men--
WE CAN FIT YOU.

JIM AND PAUL
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored
Copyright 1905 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET
Opposite Grand View Hotel
Groshong & Blake, Props
Fresh and Salt Meats.
Strictly First-Class In Every Respect
Telephone Your Order to Number 19.
RED LAKE FALLS MINN

DESPITE the prevalence of robbery a few continue to keep money about their homes. In doing this they are not only risking the loss of their money but also their lives.

How much safer and better it would be if these people were to bring their money to the bank. Are you running such risks?

We make farm loans at lowest rate of interest,
We sell steamship tickets to all parts of the world.
Our vault is protected by the ELECTRIC BURGLAR ALARM System.

First State Bank, Red Lake Falls.

THE COURIER

JOHN E. KING, Pub.

Red Lake Falls, Minn

Speaking of goats, could the imported variety be described as a butter in?

Well, if the worst happens the czar can go into vaudeville and get $600 a week.

Some female colleges have adopted the football game, but they don't play in company.

It is said that a prima donna's voice calmed a storm at sea. Probably the storm gave up in despair.

College girls at Cleveland were discovered playing poker. This may have been the class in applied society.

A Chicago professor advises young men to make friends. This is certainly better than to make enemies.

Admiral Train might have avoided all trouble if he had claimed that he mistook that Chinese lady for a deer

---

For several reasons the disappearance of Pobiedonostseff's name from the public prints will be a welcome relief.

It is estimated that $20,000,000 is spent annually for silk hosiery by women who fear that they may figure in a wreck.

When "heart words" can be bought for a cent a column, who will be so unfeeling as to refuse to indulge in a few throbs?

There are reports of revolution in Astrakhan, and the curly coats will be high in price this winter, as they are every winter.

At Baltimore a city official protested against having his salary raised. He evidently believes it is worth good money to be advertised.

An Eastern man has had five bullets cut out of him and is still able to take nourishment. If he lives long enough he will be a human sieve.

Sir Thomas Lipton is going after that cup again. He realizes that advertising is a waste of money unless you stick to it persistently.

The comment is made that King Alfonso is taking a long time to pick out a wife, but all married folks will agree that that is the wisest way.

So Lady Hartopp is to marry Earl Cowley, who was the corespondent in her divorce suit. Having had the game, she insists on the candle.

There is really an uncomfortable condition in the relations between Germany and Great Britain. Each nation is trying to govern its tongue.

An "entertaining conversationalist," child, is a person who says a lot of things that agree with what you think, but which you cannot remember.

Sir Henry Irving changed the name to which he was born to one more to his liking, but he would have made any name illustrious.—Boston Transcript.

The wise farmer will cut plenty of cord wood this winter. Then he will have plenty of dry cord wood to sell next winter if there is a coal strike in the spring.

Perhaps the man who declares that most voices sound snappy and disagreeable over the telephone has been asking his acquaintances to make him a small loan of $10.

Since they made Raisuli a provincial governor in Morocco he has been cutting up fatter than ever. Well, that's the way some American governors do when they are legalized.

The president of San Domingo has ordered printed 5,000 copies of Wagner's "Simple Life" for distribution among the people. It may encourage the natives to wear a shirt.

Julian Hawthorne is authority for the statement: "Very little that is really worth remembering is said or thought after midnight." And Mr. Hawthorne is a married man, at that.

Reports from Sofia say that "a lady bandit" is operating in the Caucasus. She is foolish for operating where money is so scarce when she might come over here and have a booth at a charity fair.

A little boy gave as his reason why there are no men angels, "You don't see any of them in pictures wearing pants." That ends the discussion—paint an angel with pants—and be arrested for lunacy.

President Loubet politely went to the bull fight in Madrid, but came away after the first bull had been killed. If it had been a baseball game, now, he would have staid right through till the end of the eleventh inning.

Down in Massachusetts a woman has been taking up a collection among her friends for the purpose of raising money enough to secure a divorce. If the man in the case doesn't feel cheap we may be safe in concluding that the lady deserves freedom.

News of the Week

From the Capital.

Orders have been given the navy department for the return of the battleship Oregon from the Philippines to the United States at an early date.

Minister Rockhill cabled from Pekin that Baron Komura had arrived at that place to take up with the Chinese government the details of the peace treaty relative to Manchuria.

President Roosevelt has reiterated that he was in favor of joint statehood for the territories of Oklahoma and Indian territory. He made this statement to a delegation from the two territories.

Senor Casasus, the new Mexican ambassador, paid his first call upon Secretary Root at the state department to discuss the preliminaries of his formal presentation to President Roosevelt, the date for which has not yet been set.

The report of the board of lady managers of the St. Louis exposition, of which Mrs. Daniel Manning is chairman, has been issued from the government printing office, Mrs. Manning utilizing for the purpose unexpended balances from the money borrowed by the exposition from congress.

Foreign.

The official figures show that 257,710 votes were cast in favor of Prince Carl of Denmark as king of Norway, and 68,852 against him.

A bomb outrage was perpetrated in the Pera quarter of Constantinople. The authorities will not permit particulars to be sent at present.

According to the Paris correspondent of a news agency, Mr. Soueng, the Chinese minister, says the Chinese emperor contemplates a round of visits to European courts in 1906.

It is reported among those who know Sir Thomas Lipton well that he is a benedict, having secretly married a Scotch girl in humble circumstances years before he dreamed of reaching his present condition of prosperity.

"There are two great regrets of my life. One that I have not yet lifted the America's cup and the other that I have not been married, secretly or otherwise," is Sir Thomas Lipton's reply to the statement published in the United States that he years ago was secretly wedded to a Scotch girl.

Crimes and Criminals.

Mrs. Helen Davis, 20 years old and the mother of an infant child, drank a wine glass of carbolic acid at Red Lodge, Mont., and died, despite the efforts of several doctors.

A race war between the pupils of the Palmer school at Springfield, Ill., and the colored pupils of St. Mary's, which bid fair to result fatally, was quelled by the police, and Clarence Cousins, colored, was arrested, having in his possession a loaded revolver.

While engaged in the celebration of mass at St. Rose's Catholic church at Bradenville, Pa., Father Shea, the aged pastor, was attacked by John Ravonski and stabbed in the chest. The heavy vestments, which caused the blade to glance aside, doubtless saved his life.

Six men have been taken into custody by the police at Toledo in connection with the murder of Miss Evan Meyer, who was shot and almost instantly killed by an ambushed assassin while the girl was walking with her lover near the city limits. All of the men arrested were held on the charge of suspicion. A rejected suitor is among those under arrest.

After a chase of two blocks and a prolonged struggle during which he used his fists to such good effect that his victim cried "enough," Rev. Fr. John R. Watson, assistant pastor of St. Matthew's church of St. Louis, captured a man whom he claims robbed the church's poor box of $21. The man arrested gave his name as Castmirelwich and his home as Chicago. He admitted the theft.

A mob of 200 men broke into the jail at Henderson, Tex., and, overpowering the officers, took therefrom John Reece, Robert Askew and one other negro, whom they hanged in the public square. The negroes were arrested with two others a few days ago for the murder of a farmer about ten miles from Henderson. The other two negroes were not molested, members of the mob claiming that they were only accomplices and not principals.

Harry A. Leonard, the young Wall street clerk who stole $359,000 worth of securities from the City National bank of New York recently, was sentenced to thirteen months' imprisonment in Elmira reformatory. He pleaded guilty, and Judge McMahon, in giving sentence, said he believed the boy's story that he took the securities as an object lesson to Wall street of the ease with which such thefts might be made. All the stolen securities were recovered.

Having made his will and provided for the distribution of his art treasures among his friends Gustav Fuchs, a well-known sculptor, committed suicide in New York. Fuchs, who was 69 years old, was formerly a wealthy cigar manufacturer in Chicago and is said to have ruined himself by his devotion to art.

Fred M. Hunter of Chicago, colored, was convicted at Milwaukee of the murder of Paul Langen on Sept. 2, and will be given a life sentence in state's prison. He was charged with shooting Langren, who awoke while the negro was burglarizing his home.

Casualty.

James T. Thonburn, president of the William H. Elliott company of Detroit, accidentally shot and killed his wife at their home on Second avenue.

Fire at Athens, Ga., destroyed a large cotton warehouse belonging to Deadwiler & Co. The loss will aggregate $80,000, covered by insurance.

Josephine Oom was instantly killed and her sister fatally wounded by holdup men a quarter of a mile outside of the city limits of Grand Rapids, Mich.

One hundred and ten summer cottages with their contents were destroyed by fire which swept Acton Park, fourteen miles southeast of Indianapolis. Loss, $50,000.

Harry C. Campion, 65 years old head of the wholesale drug firm of Campion & Co. of Philadelphia, and a member of the Union League club, died as the result of being run over by a trolley car.

A Texas & Pacific passenger train carrying sixteen loads of excursion-carrying sixteen coaches of excursionists was wrecked near Aledo, Tex. The fireman was killed and several passengers were injured.

Stephen Cristinelle, a single man was killed in the Saginaw mine at Norway, Mich. He was loading in a skip two milling machines. A brake in the engine room slipped, letting the skip and man fall 250 feet.

Henry Pippo, a farm hand employed four miles south of Houghton, Mich., went to sleep in a barn while intoxicated and was stepped on by a horse, sustaining a fractured skull and other serious injuries. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where it is not thought he will recover.

Fire at Albany, N. Y., destroyed the stock in one of the temporary stores opened by the John G. Myers company after the collapse of their building last August, when thirteen persons were killed and thirty injured. The Myers people say their loss will probably exceed $250,000. The stock is believed to have been fully insured.

Three children of August Pell, aged two, four and five years, respectively, were burned to death at their parents' home near Metz, Mich. The children were in the barn and it is believed they were playing with matches. The barn and all buildings on the farm except the house were destroyed.

Three deaths were caused at Paterson, N. J., by the falling of a large picture on the wall, which broke a gas pipe ,while the Schroeder family was asleep. Chris Schroeder, his mother and her grandchild, Ira La Forge, were all asphyxiated. Neighbors who entered the house found the fallen picture beneath a gas fixture which had been snapped off short. They arrived in time to save the lives of two small La Forge children.

General.

Frank G. Higgins ,former lieutenant governor of Montana, died at St. Vincent hospital in Portland, Or., of a complication of diseases.

John Biggs, night clerk of a telegraph company's branch at Norfolk, Va., has been dismissed because he refused to accept an unpaid message from President Roosevelt to his wife at Washington.

Harrison Weldy, a young man of Franklin, Mo., died from an abscess in the back of his head, and according to physicians in attendance his heart continued to beat for several hours after he had ceased to live.

The most severe shortage of bituminous coal experienced in Chicago in many years exists at the present time, according to prominent dealers. Inability of the railroads to furnish cars for the transportation of the coal is given as the chief cause of the shortage.

More than 600 miners are idle in the Hocking coal district near Oskaloosa, Iowa, and not a bushel of coal is being mined where the output was nearly 2,000 tons per day. Trouble arose over operators' charges for hauling miners to and from mines over the Iowa Central railway. The miners objected to the charges.

T. Buckeye Taylor, aged 71, a former editor of the Cumberland Evening Times and foreman of the Congressional Globe, and later of the National Republican, Washington, during the days of Lincoln, is dead at Cumberland, Md. He established a paper at Fairfield, Iowa, which was destroyed by a mob when the Civil war broke out.

After having been stood on his head for thirty hours to stimulate heart action, Frank Perry died at Toledo from a large dose of nitrobenzol, taken by mistake for whisky. In their first efforts to assist him, his family discovered that when he was held head down the heart action was strong. So they kept the poisoned man in that position and kept on administering antidotes until he died.

A letter written by Abraham Lincoln in 1841 relating to political affairs in Illinois, one of a number of autographs collected by Mrs. George M. Moulton of Chicago, and sold at auction in New York, brought $100. An autograph poem signed by James Russell Lowell brought $23. A one-page letter signed, but not written, by George Washington, Feb. 20, 1790, sold for $28.

John Dixon, formerly private secretary to Senator William A. Clark of Montana, was found dead in his room at a Kansas City hotel. Dixon had been ill for some time.

STRIKE IS NOT GREAT SUCCESS

LACKS THE SPONTANEITY AND COMBINATION OF THE LAST STRIKE.

COLD SHOULDER IN PROVINCES

WORKMEN NOT INCLINED TO TAKE UP CUDGELS FOR POLAND.

DISORDERS IN THE INTERIOR

DISTRIBUTION OF CROWN LANDS MAY TEND TO PACIFY THE PEASANTS.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18. — Though the industrial tie-up in St. Petersburg yesterday was even more complete than it was Wednesday, and though no break has been manifested in the ranks of the workmen, and strikes have broken out at Moscow and Reval, the most important feature of yesterday's developments was the failure of the walk-out to spread generally outside the capital. The movement apparently lacks the spontaneity and combination of the last strike which broke out at Moscow, and dispatches received from the industrial centers of Russia up to this hour show little inclination on the part of the workmen to take up cudgels in behalf of Poland.

Big Strike at Moscow.

The factory strike at Moscow, which has assumed considerable proportions, probably 45,000 men being out, has no direct connection with the St. Petersburg walk-out, and dispatches from the old capital say that the railway men received the request of the St. Petersburg strike committee coldly. The whole great network of railroads centering at Moscow, except the St. Petersburg line, is still in operation. At Reval the employes of the railway shops struck but the reason for the strike is not stated.

In St. Petersburg yesterday passed with complete order. Patrols were visible in all the industrial centers and Cossacks were trotting up and down the Nevski Prospect among the swiftly dashing carriages and sleighs, but the workmen, in of the strike committee, kept generally indoors and did not attempt demonstrations, so that there was no occasion for interference.

Obedience to the Orders

In the outlying sections they went from drug store to drug store, ordering them to close and threatening them with destruction of their stocks if they refused. Other stores were not interfered with.

The action of the strikers with regard to the druggists is in striking contrast with the course pursued in Finland, where, when every other business participated in the general strike, the druggists were directed to remain open in order that the sick might not suffer. The course is condemned by a large part of the population.

At a meeting of the strike committee last night the question of the termination of the strike was not brought up, but the Associated Press noticed an expectation on the part of many of the delegates that the strike would end Saturday night.

Disorders Spreading.

There is a betterment of the agrarian conditions. Dispatches from Kusk, Poltava, Riazan, Samara and other provinces continue to report the spread of disorders, which in Poltava are taking an anti-Jewish turn. However, the imperial manifesto regarding the distribution of the crown domains, which by strenuous work was finished last night, will be issued to-day, and the emperor and Count Witte hope it will tend to pacify the peasants and have an important tactical effect on the coming struggle with the socialists and other anti-government forces in the elections for the douma.

False Czar in the Field.

A false emperor has suddenly made his appearance near Penza, and already his followers number 50,000. This is the startling report received yesterday afternoon in a dispatch from Simbihsk.

It required a year to suppress the famous rebellion led by Pugaticheff, who impersonate the dethroned and murdered Peter III. in the time of Catherine II. That uprising was started in the same region on the banks of the Volga.

$300,000 Fire.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 18. — The Riverside Bridge works at Martin's Ferry, Ohio, were completely destroyed by fire early this morning. Loss, $300,000; no insurance.

Acquitted of Murder.

Grayling, Mich., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Naomi Aldrich of Frederick, Mich., was yesterday acquitted of the charge of murdering her two young sons for their insurance. The deaths of the children were attributed to poisoning.

Diocese Names Williams.

Detroit, Nov. 18.—Very Rev. Charles D. Williams, dean of Trinity cathedral, Cleveland, was elected bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan on the second ballot of the diocesan convention yesterday afternoon.

GOV. ODELL AND DEPEW TESTIFY

Both Emphatically Deny the Charges Made Against Them by Hyde.

New York, Nov. 18. — Former Gov. Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., and United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew, as witnesses before the Armstrong legislative insurance investigation committee yesterday, denied parts of the testimony of James Hazen Hyde in which their names were used. Mr. Odell, in the course of his testimony, called Mr. Hyde's statements "base calumny," and when he was asked whether he directly or indirectly had made threats to have the charter of the Mercantile Trust company revoked, his face flushed and, striking the arm of the witness chair with his fist, he exclaimed: "There is no truth in that statement, so help me God."

No Political Pressure Used.

Mr. Odell was the first witness of the day. He said no political pressure was brought to bear in the settlement of his suit against the Mercantile Trust company, and that it was settled the same as suits brought by others. He said he had been advised by counsel that his claim was a just one and that any court would have awarded him more than he received in the settlement.

Mr. Odell denied that he ever made a statement to E. H. Harriman or any one else that retaliatory measures would be taken against the Mercantile Trust company. He wrote a letter on behalf of Mr. Hyde's candidacy for the post of ambassador to France. This was at the request of William H. McIntyre, one of the vice presidents of the Equitable Life Assurance society. Mr. Odell said he never solicited political contributions.

Senator Depew Testifies.

Senator Depew was examined with regard to his syndicate participation and his duties as counsel to the Equitable society. Regarding the ambassadorship to Paris, Senator Depew said Mr. Hyde came to him and solicited his influence to secure the appointment. Senator Depew brought the matter to the attention of the president, although he told Mr. Hyde that he was too young, and the president said it was utterly impossible to make such an appointment.

The senator advocated, in the interests of the public, the limiting of risks under insurance policies and favored a public audit of the accounts of companies at stated periods by a chartered accountant. This he thought would obviate many suits that are now frequently brought for an accounting on the part of a policyholder.

Tells of Millions in Loans.

John Gilchrist, in charge of the security department of the Equitable Life Assurance society, told of millions of dollars in loans made at the end of the year in the names of clerks of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to comply with the law that the surplus should be invested or to keep down the cash balances. No collateral was held by the Equitable on these loans and the check which was given for these loans was deposited in the bank and a certificate of deposit received. The check, however, was never cleared and on the first of the year the check would be taken out and the certificate surrendered. These loans were made at the instance of T. D. Jordan, former controller of the Equitable.

McCurdy's Salary Cut in Half.

At a special meeting of the board of trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance company yesterday, at which the recently appointed investigating committee submitted its report, President McCurdy caused a stir by stating that at his own request his salary had been cut in half, from $150,000 to $75,000 a year. This action was taken at a meeting of the finance committee, and, Mr. McCurdy said, was the first step in reducing the expenses of the company.

Salaries of the other executive officers of the company also have been reduced, the saving amounting in all to between $145,000 and $150,000 per annum.

DEFAULTS ON DAMAGES.

Venezuela President Neglects to Pay Award for Injuries to Frenchmen.

Paris, Nov. 18.—The foreign office is advised that President Castro yesterday refused to pay the second installment of the Plumley arbitration award. The arbitration covered damages sustained by French citizens in Venezuela during revolutionary periods prior to 1903. Judge Frank Plumley of Northfield, Vt., was president of the arbitration commission, which met at Northfield last year. The judgment was in favor of France, which was awarded about $650,000, and President Castro paid the first installment of the award three months ago. The second payment due yesterday, was not paid. Apparently the Venezuelan president's failure to pay the installment was on the ground that diplomatic relations between France and Venezuela are interrupted. The officials here decline to admit that this justified President Castro in not paying the installment. The incident is considered to be a further provocation.

TOO MUCH LETTER WRITING.

Washington, Nov. 18. — President Roosevelt, in his instructions to the commission of which Mr. Keep, assistant secretary of the treasury, is chairman, and which was created by the president to ascertain what changes may be necessary to place the conduct of the executive business of this government on the most economical and effective basis, called attention, among other things, to useless letter writing, urging that it should be eliminated from the government business.

WANTED SUSPECT OUT OF THE WAY

MAN INDICTED IN NEW YORK FOR ILLEGAL VOTING DISAPPEARS.

CASH BAIL PUT UP; HE SKIPS

ATTORNEY GENERAL CALLS IT MOST FLAGRANT DEFIANCE OF LAW.

BIG SENSATION IN COURT

EVERY EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO RUN DOWN MAN WHO WORKED PLOT.

New York, Nov. 18—A sensation was created in Justice Davy's branch of the supreme court yesterday afternoon when John Krup, indicted for illegal voting in the recent municipal election, failed to appear for pleading, and his attorney expressed ignorance as to his whereabouts.

Earlier in the day Krup's release had been secured under increased bail, a $5,000 cash bond being filed.

State's Attorney General Mayer, who was in court, was indignant at the turn of affairs. Last night the attorney general made public this statement:

Defiance of Law.

"Every effort will be made to ascertain who put up the $5,000 bail and who employed counsel to defend Krup. The failure of Krup to appear in court was a flagrant a defiance of law as I have ever heard of. The disappearance of Krup is the best confirmation of the statement made by me in court urging that his bail be increased. I believe there were reasons apart from reasons of his own why Krup did not appear."

Justice Davy declared the $5,000 bail forfeited.

Krup's case was reached at 2 o'clock, but at the request of counsel was postponed for an hour. At 3 o'clock there was still

No Sign of the Defendant.

His lawyers, Abraham Levy and Former Deputy Attorney General C. B. Dillon, said they had left him but a short time before and he had assured them he would be in court.

Attorney General Mayer, moving for a forfeiture of bail, declared he was not surprised at the turn of affairs.

"If this defendant has left town," declared the attorney general, "I know with whom he was last seen and will know how to proceed. I thought somebody must have been greatly interested in Krup to put up $5,000 bail for him just to secure his liberty for a few hours."

Pen for Men "Higher Up."

Harry F. Cochrane and Robert E. Stewart, lawyers having charge of the prosecution of ballot box frauds in Brooklyn, have investigated the Third and Eighth assembly districts and communicated with inspectors alleged to be implicated. It is said these men will have to give evidence which will convict men higher up or go to the pen. The Hearst lawyers are also preparing to secure the indictment of the missing witness against Edward Milan, accused of attempted bribery on election day. It is said they are in Southern cities. They will be indicted and extradited unless they return of their own volition.

FIGHT UPON NEW PRINTER.

Public Printer Stillings Will Meet Opposition From Union Men.

Washington, Nov. 18. — The "open shop" question at the government printing office is again coming forward, in some sort of an effort to make a fight on Charles A. Stillings, the new public printer, who has not yet taken control of the office. It is claimed by some that he is a non-union man and will stand for the open shop policy. The bookbinders' union in the government printing office, which precipitated the open shop question when W. A. Miller of Minnesota was suspended by Public Printer Palmer, has held meeting for the purpose of taking up the cudgels against Stillings and preventing his confirmation.

THREE BUILDINGS BURN.

Bertha, Minn., Fire Brigade Saves the Postoffice.

Bertha, Minn., Nov. 18. — The H. Kallusky building, occupied by Henry F. Piepho as a saloon, the Mansfield residence and a vacant hall were burned yesterday morning. The heroic work of the Bertha volunteer fire company saved the postoffice building. The entire loss is about $10,000; partly covered by insurance. The State bank suffered a slight loss.

Long Range Counterfeiting.

Berlin, Nov. 18.—A dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung from Cologne announces the arrest at Schlebusch, Prussia, of a band of counterfeiters who made a specialty of counterfeiting American paper money.

More Troops to Santiago.

Havana, Nov. 18. — An additional company of troops has been ordered to Santiago owing to the prevalence of minor disorders there and to rumors that more serious trouble is impending.

In Minnesota

State News of the Week Briefly Told

Mrs. Julia Steensland was adjudged insane at Ada and committed to the Fergus Falls hospital.

: : : :

Walter Pierren was bound over for appearance to the next term of the district court at Bemidji on a charge of assault in the second degree on Louis Hagen, Oct. 24.

: : : :

The postoffice at Little Sauk was robbed and about $200 taken. There is no clue to the burglars. The safe was opened with a drill and the inner doors pried open.

: : : :

Bernard, the 12-year-old son of John Townley of Granite Falls, accidentally shot and killed himself while out hunting. A charge of shot tore a great hole in his side and he died instantly.

: : : :

The new orphans' home at Eagle Lake, near Willmar, is now completed and is ready for occupancy. The orphans, numbering twenty-two, were brought from Lamberton during the past week.

: : : :

Mr. and Mrs. August Westman, pioneer residents of Cannon Falls, celebrated their golden wedding recently. The couple were married at Wireda, Sweden, half a century ago, came to America in 1865 and settled in Goodhue county the same year.

: : : :

An east-bound freight train struck and instantly killed Ole Tangwald, a farmer living eight miles northwest of Mora, near the Great Northern depot. The body was ground to pieces. No stop was made by the train crew and the body was left to be discovered by two section men an hour later.

: : : :

While sleeping in their father's cabin on his homestead three miles in the woods from Embarras station, on the Duluth & Iron Range road, , two children of John Harju were burned to death. The father was absent in the woods and returned to find the cabin in flames and too late to rescue the little ones.

: : : :

The new Cottonwood county court house, costing $100,000, was dedicated recently at Windom, a crowd of 2,500 or more people being present. The Omaha ran a special train from Westbrook, bringing about 250 people from along the Currie line, and hundreds came by train from different parts of the county.

: : : :

John Weise, a young farmer of Perham, disappeared two weeks ago after quarreling with his wife and no trace of him has since been found. Some believe he has committed suicide, while others insist that he has been murdered. Relatives dragged a lake near his home in hopes of finding the body, but without success.

: : : :

A hunting accident occurred near Pine Island near Red Wing which might have terminated fatally. Frank and Lewie Stiller went into the woods after rabbits and were walking along some three or four rods apart, but hidden from each other by the thick brush. A rabbit jumped up and Frank hastily raised his gun and fired, the full charge taking effect in his brother's arm and side, at a range of about fifteen yards. About half an ounce of shot was extracted.

: : : :

A deed transferring a large acreage of timber in Lake county and marking the close of a deal made several months ago has been filed in the office of the register of deeds at Two Harbors. The sale was from E. B. Putnam of St. Paul, W. H. Cook and Harry Turrish of Duluth to Nolan Bros. & Laird, the consideration being $187,870. A cash payment was made of $22,870, and the remainder is to be paid in three yearly instalmets.

: : : :

The sale of lands forfeited to the state for non-payment of taxes prior to 1900, and including in the sale the taxes due for subsequent years, was made by the county auditor at Stillwater. The sale of lands delinquent for taxes in the year 1900 and subsequently was heldSaturday. Some property was bought by former owners and some bid in by the state. Speculators invested in some of the lands, especially at St. Paul Park and in the town of Grant.

: : : :

Winona men who have fed about 50,000 sheep each winter are finding much difficulty in finding a supply of feeders this winter. Sheep have been purchased in Montana and Wyoming in the past and brought to Winona in the fall, fattened during the winter and sold at a big profit in the spring. This year the majority of Western sheep raisers have decided to do their own feeding through the winter and secure the extra profit in the spring. The result is that the local men see a very poor season ahead of them.

: : : :

An important question of law has arisen in the district court at Worthington over the payment of benefits derived by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway for drainage in the establishment of a county ditch. It is claimed that there is no precedent. The railway company appealed from the assessment of $800 by reason of benefits on the ground that it is relieved from all special assessments by paying the 3 per cent gross earnings tax. The question will be submitted on brief and the result will be watched with interest.

Mrs. Michael Mitchell of East St. Cloud was committed to the Fergus Falls asylum.

: : : :

The Hastings Commercial club is arranging for a series of dances this winter, the first to be given Thanksgiving eve.

: : : :

An extra freight train was wrecked at Wykoff by a broken flange. Seven cars were ditched and several rods of track were torn up.

: : : :

James H. Price, who stabbed Edward C. Joyce, a bartender in a saloon at Two Harbors, was sentenced by Judge Ensign to the St. Cloud reformatory. He entered a plea of guilty.

: : : :

The residence of J. R. Watkins, one of Winona's wealthiest men, was entered and furs and silverware valued at about $1,000 were stolen. A reward of $400 is offered for the apprehension of the thieves.

: : : :

Frank Almeman of Goodhue has sued Kate Bucholz, John Petersdorf, Emil Bucholz and Fred Yerka in the district court for $1,875, charging that they cut down a number of shade trees on his farm.

: : : :

William M. Mills, a territorial pioneer and a pioneer of the Minnesota valley and the first white settler to locate and take possession of a claim in Lac qui Parle county, died at his home in his eighty-first year.

: : : :

The Milwaukee company has refused to prosecute Fred Taylor, who broke into the Meckling depot recently. The father of the young man has signified a desire to pay all costs. The family resides at Centerville, Iowa.

: : : :

The ten-year-old daughter of Frank Hassa, a farmer who lives near Hewitt, met death when her dress caught on fire while she was carrying some live coals to place in a stove. Death was due to the inhalation of smoke, which strangled her.

: : : :

The monthly report of the fourth assistant postmaster general shows that 1,294 rural free delivery routes were in operation in Minnesota on Nov .1, with 170 positions for service awaiting action. Routes to the number of 285 were in operation in South Dakota and 146 in North Dakota.

: : : :

Mrs. Harriet E. Nelson of Red Wing who sued John A. Davis for $3,000, as damages because he wrote a poem which she charged was meant for her, was awarded a verdict of $1. While the jury did not believe Mrs. Nelson has suffered on account of the verse, it was of the opinion that the man who wrote them should certainly pay the cost of the trial. A stay of proceedings of sixty days was granted. The case may not end there.

: : : :

Loggers on the Chippewa reservation are troubled by the scarcity of men. There will be a larger cut there this winter under the provision of the Morris law than ever before, the amount being now estimated by the superintendent of operations for the government at about 715,000,000 feet. This is 55,000,000 more than last year. There are thirty camps near Cass Lake, two on the Pigeon river northeast of Duluth, four on the Fond du Lac reserve near Cloquet, where the timber was all supposed to have been stolen years ago, four on Deer creek near the proposed extension of the Duluth, Virginia & Rainy Lake road, and two on the Bois Fortes near Net lake.

: : : :

Gov. Johnson has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation. It follows conventional lines except for its reference to "quickening of the public conscience" making for better government. The text of the proclamation is as follows:

The president of the United States having by proclamation designated Thursday, Nov. 30, 1905, as a national day of thanksgiving,

Now, therefore, pursuane to an established custom, I, John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota, do request that said day be observed throughout the state as Thanksgiving day.

The past year has been one of great prosperity. The nation is at peace with the world. Throughout the entire country there is an awakening of the people and a quickening of the public conscience which is making for better citizenship and better government. In our own state we have abundant cause for rejoicing and general thanksgiving. Never have our fields and mines been so bountiful in their products, and in all that tends to material wealth our people have been enriched in greater degree than ever before. Labor in all departments of human endeavor has been generously rewarded and its efforts have been crowned with deserved success. For all these bounties I would earnestly recommend that on Thanksgiving day our people abstain from their usual avocations and, meeting in their regular places of worship, join in general thanksgiving to the Divine Author of all our blessings and invoke the continuance of his favor.

: : : :

For the second time within a week death has taken a former governor of Minnesota. Horace Austin, governor from 1870 to 1874, jurist, soldier, writer and for thirty years continuously holder of high public offices, died at St. Barnabas hospital, Minneapolis, following a minor surgical operation. He was in his seventy-fourth year.

Anton Kott, a mechanic, was arrested at Sauk Center and sentenced to thirty days in jail for the abuse of his five children. The three youngest children were taken to the orphans' home in Little Falls.

In and About the State

ASK STATE FOR MORE MONEY.

Dairymen Would Have Better Educational Means.

The Minnesota State Butter and Cheesemakers' association held a two-days' session at Mankato last week. The election of officers resulted in James Sorenson of Lyndale being chosen president; George E. Lyndahl of Long Siding, vice president; E. L. Allen of Ashby, secretary, and A. W. Parkin of Stanton, treasurer. The last two were re-elections. President H. J. Credicott of St. Paul declined a renomination, saying that he had held the office for two years and that it should be passed around.

The convention passed resolutions urging the legislature to materially increase the appropriation at the disposal of the state dairy and food department, which is handicapped by lack of funds; asking it to provide for an experimental creamery in connection with the state dairy school, where experiments can be carried on during the entire years, and also asking it to provide for a new building for the dairy school and for salaries for instructors. The resolutions commend Dairy and Food Commissioner E. K. Slater of St. Paul for his aggressive policy for pure food and for the enforcement of law, and pledge the association to stand behind him to aid him in his work.

Another set of resolutions urge the legislature to pass laws prohibiting the using of unfit material, and making the use of the churn and oil tests for cream illegal.

H. P. Olson, Hames Sorenson and H. T. Sondegaard, the latter of Litchfield, were appointed a committee to work with the legislature for a new building for the state dairy school. The present building was pronounced entirely unfit, poorly constructed and fifteen years behind the times. A rising vote of thanks was extended to the dairy and food commissioners. The retiring officers were also honored.

Forestry at Profit.

Prof. S. B. Green and Prof. Cheney of the state agricultural college and Gen. C. C. Andrews, state fire warden, recently made a trip to the state forest reserve in Cass county. There are about 1,000 acres in the reserve, which is located sixteen miles northwest of Brainerd. Gen. Andrews stated that the timber was cut about twenty-five years ago, and that there is considerable reproduction of jack pine. There is a pulp factory and water power at Brainerd which they visited. The mill pays $4 per cord for spruce, of which it uses about thirteen cords a day.

"Assuming that the land is third class, which is about right," sair Gen. Andrews, "the yield in thirty years, according to the Saxony yield tables, would be twenty-three cords per acre, and in forty years the stumpage would be thirty-five cords per acre. At present prices the 1,000 acres would bring in $46,000 in thirty years, or $70,000 in forty years if planted to spruce. This is at the rate of $2 a cord on the stump, which leaves $2 a cord for hauling and cutting. We have now in the nursery 800,000 spruce seedlings a year and a half old, some of them six inches high, which would be enough to plant the entire reserve if we had the money to do it with, but there is none appropriated. The reserve is a half-mile from Gull lake, which empties throught the Gull river into the Crow Wing river."

More Men of Money.

St. Paul has more capitalists than Minneapolis, according to figures given out by the state census bureau. Under this heading St. Paul has 1,225 and Minneapolis 787. In other occupations Minneapolis, with a larger population, is ahead of St. Paul. The census bureau is completing its work with the compilation of figures on occupation.

St. Paul has 33,797 common laborers, exceeding any other class. Clerks and salesmen come next, there being 19,748. Skilled laborers come next with 18,943. Of railway employes there are 2,322; merchants, storekeepers and machine dealers, 3,306; farmers, 498; lumbermen and woodsmen, 292; manufacturers, 359; liquor dealers and bartenders, 869; professional men, 2,143; teachers, 1,117; capitalists and retired, 1,225; unclassified, 2,630.

Minneapolis has 51,012 common laborers. Skilled laborers, of whom there are 30,284, come second, and clerks and salesmen come third, there being 23,987 of this class. Other classes are: Farmers, 653; lumbermen and woodsmen, 462; manufacturers, 709; merchants, storekeepers and machine dealers, 6,126; railway employes, 2,882; liquor dealers and bartenders, 1,059; professional men, 3,707; teachers, 1,920; capitalists and retired, 787; unclassified, 6,123.

Bill for Indian War.

The next congress will be asked to appropriate $8,000 to reimburse the State of Minnesota for sending its national guard to the Indian troubles at Leech Lake in October, 1898, and to Koochiching in July, 1900.

During the troubles at Leech lake the state sent up Batteries A and B of the national guard, and during the Koochiching troubles a company of infantry was sent at the expense of the state. The total expenses amounted to about $8,000 for transportation, subsistence and pay.

STATE'S LANDS BRING $550,000.

State Auditor Reports About 68,000 Acres Sold.

The state auditor and Land Commissioner C. H. Warner held the last of the state land sales at Princeton for this fall. They were well satisfied with the results of the sales. About 68,000 acres of land have been sold during the three weeks, and $550,000 realized for the state.

"For the first two weeks," said the state auditor, "the weather was unfavorable to the success of the sales. It was cold and snowing, which made it inconvenient for purchasers. The weather last week was fine and the sales were good.

"We sold 6,100 acres in Becker county at an average price of over $7; in Wadena we sold 4,800 acres at an average of $8; in Todd 6,600 acres at about $9; In Pine county 2,600, and in Kanabec county 1,700 at about $6, and in Mille Lacs 2,800 acres at an average of more than $7. During the three weeks we sold about 68,000 acres, at an average price not far from $8. This will bring the state about $550,000, of which more than $80,000 had to be paid in cash, which we think very satisfactory indeed.

"The sales were well attended. At Detroit, Wadena and Long Prairie the court rooms, where the sales were held, were not large enough to accommodate the crowds. There were a great many buyers who wanted only forey or eighty acres. There were people from other states at nearly all our sales. They were active bidders, and their presence and bidding had without question an advantageous effect on the prices.

"There were also many from the southern part of the state. One man walked forty miles to attend the sale at Roseau. He bid on eighty acres and got it.

"We noticed great activity in land matters in the northern part of the state. Many tracts are being developed, cleared of timber and brush, and many buildings are being put up. In fact, the northern part of the state is going to show a wonderful advance during the next few years. Cheese factories and dairies are being established. Good roads are being built. Substantial school houses are to be seen everywhere. The villages all have the appearance of thrift and prosperity, which is merely a reflection of the farm communities surrounding them.

"There is a large settlement of Finns in the southeast corner of Becker county and the northern part of Wadena, and many of the Finns came to the sales and bought land. They have developed the land wonderfully in a short time and will do wonders for the country in the next few years. They buy only forty acres at a time. They are hard workers, and soon pay for this, and then buy another forty acres. With their thrift and industry, added to the education our school system offers them, they will do great things. It is doubtful if any class of people could start under as adverse circumstances as they did and improve the country as rapidly."

STATE LOOKS FOR MORE LOANS.

Additions to School Fund More Than Expected.

The state has now paid all the loans it has promised to make to school districts, municipalities, counties and townships. In some of the cases the borrowers do not want the money right away, but the state has the money ready with which to pay them when they want it.

When the state investment board met Oct. 14 it approved loans for $55,000, although at that time there was already several approved loans waiting. This brought the amount of the promised loans up to $205,000 above the amount then available. The investment board approved the loans upon an estimate that there would be about $300,000 turned into the permanent school fund from the sales of land and timber. The actual returns have gone above expectations, and now there is money awaiting the requests for loans.

The 25 per cent which must be paid in cash at the state timber sale brought in enough more to make $174,000 from this source. The state mineral sales brought in about $77,000, the 15 per cent cash payment on the state land sales held during the last three weeks brought in about $80,000. Some collections on former sales also have swelled the fund.

Since the first of this month $106,000 has been paid out on loans approved by the board. This leaves $53,000 more to be paid, and there is money in the fund to pay the loans as soon as the counties or towns send in their bonds. Many of them do not need the money at once, and to save paying interest do not draw the money until they need it. The whole amount paid out since Aug. 1 is $410,000. Since the last meeting of the board applications for $84,000 of loans have come in, but it is probable that there will be money enough to pay them as soon as it is wanted. The unpaid portion of the state land and timber sales held during the last few weeks amounts to nearly $800,000, and there are also considerable amounts unpaid on former sales.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MANGLED UNDER A CAR.

John McNamara Is Killed Almost Instantly.

St. Paul, Nov. 18.—"I must hurry up and get a car," said John McNamara as he left his boarding house at 1921 University avenue at 7 o'clock last evening. A few minutes later his mangled body was taken from under the trucks of an interurban car near the west end of the Minnesota Transfer bridge. He left the house and ran behind a car going west in order to catch the St. Paul car which was approaching. He had evidently miscalculated the distance of the east-bound car, and as the other car passed him he was in front of the St. Paul car. Motorman Pierson had little time to do anything. Before he could reverst the current McNamara was knocked down, dragged under the fender and mangled by the trucks.

UP TO ROOSEVELT.

President May Be Forced to Act in White Earth Sale Controversy.

Duluth, Nov. 18.—It is learned here that the Indians of the White Earth reservation, who has strenuously objected to the sale of their timber at this time, have decided to take the matter into the federal court and seek to have the government enjoined from the formal awarding of the timber sold Wednesday to any of the bidders. A number of chiefs were in session yesterday, and the determination was the outcome of their deliberations. This action would indirectly make President Roosevelt defendant. If the injunction is granted it will be the president's duty to act. Commissioner Hitchcock is let out of the situation gracefully. The president, in the event an injunction is granted, will direct the secretary as to what action he shall take.

TRY TO PROLONG LIFE.

Brother of Col. Henderson Is Using Heroic Measures.

Dubuque, Iowa, Nov. 18.—With his aged brother as a nurse, heroic measures are being taken to prolong the life of ex-Speaker Henderson. A. C. Henderson, who is a trained nurse of long years' experience, is wrapping his brother in scorching blankets in order to draw the blood from the head and produce a better circulation. Ordinary medical treatment has been abandoned, and under the new treatment, which the speaker's brother has often tried before with success, 'no opiates are needed. George Henderson, a brother of the ex-speaker residing at San Diego, Cal., is also reported to be dying, but the news is being kept from the two brothers in Dubuque.

LABORERS ARE SCARCE.

Farmers Offer $30 a Month and Board but Remain Short-Handed.

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 17.—The scarcity of laborers presents a problem which is about as troublesome as any other one in this section at the present time. The railroad company is offering $2 a day for men and is securing them only by bringing them in from different Northwestern cities. Farmers are offering $30 a month and board for men to assist them in threshing and corn gathering and are not securing half they want. A large number of laboring men who are really willing to work can secure paying jobs in this part of the state at any time.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN ROAD.

Heart Disease Kills Mother of Minneapolis Woman.

Eau Claire, Wis., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Ole S. Lund of this city was found dead yesterday afternoon near Fosbroke, Dunn county, two miles from Caryville. She was lying in the road. Early in the afternoon she had started from Shaker's farm, where she was visiting, to walk to a neighboring farm. Heart disease was the cause of her death. She leaves a husband and two daughters, one at Stanley and one at Minneapolis.

ROBBERS BLOW SAFE.

Take Money and Diamonds From N. P. Depot at Carrington.

Carrington, N. D., Nov. 18.—Robbers entered the Northern Pacific depot here at an early hour this morning, blew open the safe, completely destroying it and secured about $400 in money and a package containing two diamonds valued at $700. No clue to the robbers can be found.

White Beaver May Recover.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 18.—The family of the famous scout, Col. D. Frank Powell (White Beaver), were notified yesterday from Cody, Wyo., where Powell's death has been expected hourly, that his condition is improving and that his recovery is now expected.

Accidentally Killed.

Muscatine, Iowa, Nov. 18. — May Meuntz, aged eight, was shot accidentally by her older sister. She died later. The older sister did not know the gun was loaded and went to put it on a table. The hammer caught.

Farmer Shoots Himself.

Finky, N. D., Nov. 18. — Frank A. Haymaker committed suicide by shooting himself in the right temple with a 32-caliber revolver. He was despondent. He leaves a widow and a large family.

IN PERIL FROM PRAIRIE FIRE.

South Dakota City Is Fighting Scourge of Flames.

Aberdeen, S. D., Nov. 17.—Aberdeen has been fighting a prairie fire of alarming proportions. For a time, with a high wind raging, it looked as if the North side was in imminent danger. The blaze started Tuesday night at Forbes, N. D., and swept in roaring waves over a tract of land ten miles wide and forty miles long. The towns of Frederick and Westport barely succeeded in deflecting the spread of the flames around those places, and so far no buildings are known to have been burned, but the loss in hay, unthreshed grain and grass will be very heavy.

TO SERVE LIFE TERM.

Bigerstaff Is Convicted of Murder in the Second Degree.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 17.—The jury that was trying Chester Bigerstaff for murder in the first degree has found him guilty of murder in the second degree. The jury went out late yesterday afternoon and reached its verdict in forty minutes. The condemned man appears unmoved by the prospect of spending the balance of his life in the penitentiary, and is evidently glad to escape the noose. Bigerstaff's case was disposed of in quick time. He shot and killed William Kinifeck at Biwabik on Oct. 29, and his case was disposed of yesterday. Bigerstaff is twenty-nine years old.

CONVICTS TIMBER THIEF.

Jury at Fergus Falls Finds Soren Sorenson Guilty.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Nov. 17. — In district court here yesterday the grand jury returned indictments against A. A. Peltier of Parker's Prairie, charging him with forgery, and against Joseph White, John Quinn and Frank Witten, charged with robbing and assaulting Peter Schwann in this city. The United States court spent the day in trying the case against Soren Sorenson, charged with stealing timber, and a verdict of guilty was returned late last night.

FIRE SWEPT IOWA TOWN.

Urbana Is Nearly Wiped Off the Face of the Earth.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Nov. 17.—The little town of Urbana was swept almost out of existence by fire yesterday afternoon. The fire originated in the postoffice building, and that building, together with the Urbana Savings bank building, Lord & Kelly's implement house, two or three other business houses and a number of dwellings were burned. Neighboring fire departments responded to the call and the fire was checked late in the afternoon.

ARE WED IN HURRY.

Clerk Called From Bed at Midnight to Issue License.

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 17. — Clerk of Courts Tarbell was called out of bed at midnight to issue a marriage license for Alfred B. Wilson and Nellie Orr. The couple met yesterday, and attended a play at the opera house in the evening, at which they decided to be married. They engaged a minister and secured a license after the show.

BIG FIRE AT GRANTSBURG.

Business Center Narrowly Escapes Being Wiped Out—Loss, $67,000.

Grantsburg, Wis., Nov. 17.—The destruction of Grantsburg's business center was prevented yesterday by the prompt arrival of fire companies from Rush City and North Branch by special train. As it was, half a block of the business structures was wiped out with a loss of $67,000, six buildings being destroyed.

Mother Contests Son's Will.

Marshalltown, Iowa, Nov. 17.—The will of the late C. J. Hoyt, once a wealthy merchant of this city, will be contested by his mother. She claims in the petition that her son was not competent to make a will; that he was mentally unsound when his last will was executed. By the terms of the will the mother was given $3,000, and the balance went to his wife.

Hunter Loses Eyesight.

Washburn, Wis., Nov. 18. — Amos Twining of Gay's Mills, Wis., while on his way here to go hunting, lost the sight off his gun. While trying to mend it by cutting a nickle in two a piece flew and hit him in the left eye, destroying the sight.

Work Stopped on Building.

Deadwood, S. D., Nov. 17.—An order has come from Washington to stop work on the government building in this city. The building is completed to the bottom of the third story.

Postoffice Robbed.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 17.—The postoffice at Riga was robbed, and Postmaster Terson notified the United States officials here that all the money he had on hand was taken, as well as the government funds and stamps.

Postoffice Is Robbed.

Shell Lake, Wis., Nov. 17. — The postoffice at Mills, Washburn county, was burglarized last night. The safe was blown open and about $50 in stamps, $2 in silver and two watches were stolen.

CALUMET Baking Powder

The only high grade Baking Powder sold at a moderate price. Complies with the pure food laws of all states.

Trust Baking Powders sell for 45 or 50 cents per pound and may be identified by this exorbitant price. They are a menace to public health, as food prepared from them contains large quantities of Rochelle salts, a dangerous cathartic drug.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

THE Cryisthmian canal commission having decided what kind of a canal to build there remains now the mere relative triviality of building it.

THE Hallock editors are calling each other hard names. This does not benefit Hallock nor either of the participants in the mud-slinging contest.

MORE than ever it is coming to be believed that this is to be "a government for the people and by the people." The bosses are no longer in control.

THE president's message will be out in a few days, and then congress will find out just how far it is expected to go on the railroad and tariff questions.

23

JUDGE HENRY R. START of the Vermont supreme bench, died Tuesday of last week. He was a brother of Chief Justice Start of the Minnesota supreme court.

THE Albert Lea Standard asks us to "be cheerful and pay our life insurance premium promptly, for the philanthropic officers may need it to buy Christmas presents."

WILEY TINDOLPH, the Thief River land man, has been appointed a delegate to the national conference on immigration, which meets at New York city December 6, 7 and 8.

AT the same time Governor Folk will admit that even assured reforms sometimes get a setback so that there will be plenty of work left for another generation of daring patriots.

THE retiring viceroy of India who resigned in defense of a principle has set an example which it is not likely that any of our politicians or plutocrats will follow no matter how dearly "they love the Lord."

THE per capita circulation is stated to be $31, and the editor of the Browns Valley Tribune is demanding the payment of a few more subscriptions to bring his pile up to the average.

BOSS PLATT tells us that Boss Odell is a grafter and must therefore be bounced and discredited. The worst thing about Odell in Platt's estimation is probably the fact that he has been found out.

SENATOR DEPEW'S memory on the witness stand is so bad that the New York people would be justified in demanding his resignation because of his failing powers. There are also other good reasons why he should not be United States senator.

PARTYISM is not exactly enshrined supreme as a result of the elections this year, but a wholesome spirit of independence is abroad that should be instructive to parties and teach them to look beyond the possession of names and organizations.

THE Lamberton Star voices the consensus of country press opinion in saying that "many Republicans are mentioned for governor at present, but later on there will be but a few who care to get into the arena against Governor John A. Johnson.

EMPEROR WIEHELM is in favor of total obstinence—by proxy, having ordered his chauffeur to take the pledge.

THE convenience of having an insurance company's president in the senate must now be quite obvious. No one knows how soon it will be handy to have an express company's president and a few railroad presidents there.

NEXT year will be a mighty poor time to argue that a candidate should be elected for no better reason than the fact that he is a Republican or a Democrat. The voters are looking for the best man, and they don't care what party he belongs to, or whether he has a party.

THE Result of the elections in different parts of the United States last week cannot help but be gratifying to the people who are opposed to the corrupt political rings that have for years been in power. It is a warning to Minnesota, says the Thief River News, and the party leaders should take notice.

BRO. LANGUM of the Preston Times takes the Courier to task for intimating that Senator Lord is too honest and independent to suit the senatorial clique, and that for this reason his gubernatorial boom is frowned upon. As Sam is in charge of the aforesaid boom he probably has reasons for believing otherwise.

THE St. Peter Herald observes that the day has passed when voters can be rounded up at the polls and made to cast their ballots blindly for the party nominee. Despite the arguments of the organs the people intend to do their own thinking and are in no haste to play into the hands of the bosses.

ATTORNEY GENERAL YOUNG has ruled that fines collected by the municipal courts for the violation of the state game laws must be paid into the county treasury and not into the city treasury. The matter came up through a conflict between the charter of the city of Mankato, which provides that all fines must be paid into the city treasury.

OLE H. MYREN, four years state senator from this legislative district, died last Friday in California, where he moved a couple of years ago in the hope of regaining his health. Mr. Myren was a comparatively wealthy man, and for many years was one of the prominent men in business and political life in the Red River Valley.

JOE TRIGG of Rockford, Iowa, says: The fact that only 91 out of 900 delegates to the recent Chicago rate convention presented tickets for validation for the home journey would not seem to indicate that the railroad interests of the country were in very great jeopardy, in case this is to be considered a hostile aggregation.

THE American people are slow to wrath but terribly in earnest when they are aroused. This year their rebuke has been administered to graft and machine politics, but it is gathering force against a day of reckoning with the betrayal of their interests through subserviency to corporate rule. Will congress heed the lesson when it deals with rate legislation this winter?

If you are troubled with indigestion, constipation, sour stomach, or any other pain, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will make you well. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets At A. L. Reichert's.

DRAINAGE is not really a political question, it is a business question, observes the Sauk Centre Herald. There are ten million acres of swamp lands in the northern part of the state, which, as they stand today, are not worth a cent to the state or anyone else. By an expenditure of ten millions of dollars they could be made worth seventy-five millions of dollars. The question is not one of politics; it is just a straight matter of arithmetic.

The Proper Salution.

Sauk Center Herald: Congressman McCleary and his friends are for Senator Sommerville for governor, Buchman and his supporters are red-hot for Brower, while Senator Stephens thinks Steenerson is the only man who can win. Why don't these gentlemen get into the field themselves and redem the state?

THERE seems to be an idea abroad that the officials of the Northwestern National insurance company of Minneapolis who were recently indicted are still managing the affairs of that concern. This is not the case, as all of the old officers and directors were forced to resign by Governor Johnson last spring, and an entirely new set of officials have been in charge since then. The company is paying its losses promptly and doing a safe and conservative business.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON and Insurance Commissioner O'Brien have in mind a plan to re-organize the big New York insurance companies along the lines used in the reorganization of the Minneapolis companp, and President Roosevelt has promised his help. There is no question of the solvency of these companies, and all that is necessary is to weed out the graft, exorbitant salaries and dishonest business methods, and get back the illegal payments to campaign committees to the policy-holders. Governor Johnson is not a visionary, and there is ground for hope that he will be successful in getting the companies in the hands of honest and competent officials.

There is no desire to question Congressman Steenerson's sincerity in the cause of tariff reform, but, like too many politicians, he has been a victim of expediency. Instead of leading his peaple—instead of trying to give his people what he knew they ought to have whether they wanted it or not, he has dilly-dallied until the ground-swell of the people's voice has made the demand so plain that the blind can see and the deaf bear. If he has not sinned away his day of grace, his temerity has caused him to relax his efforts at a time when sturdy champions were needed. The lamp still burns, though, and the Ninth district congressman has a chance to redeem himself.

The elections last week had little of partisanship, or rather Democracy and Republicanism in them, but more decency and a square deal for everybody, says the Windom Reporter. Philadelphia gave the citizens movement a big majority and turned down the machines of both parties. The New York machine was pretty well smashed, and all along the line machinery in politics got a staggering blow. Politicians got a "bunch" that next year there will be something doing everywhere among the people and that party lines will be lost sight of. The independent voter is asserting himself and it looks as though nothing could prevent him from running things in the near future for a time at least.

Lamp Still Burns.

Hon. Halvor Steenerson announces his candidacy for re-election to congress on a platform of tariff-revision, reciprocity and railroad rate control. This is a good platform for a representative of the great Ninth district—the agricultural mecca of Minnesota, and we do not think there is a serious question of Halvor's renomination and re-election as the champion of these burning issues.

Now that Halvor has learned the temper and taken the soundings of his constituents he ought not be contented in making campaign promises, but rather attempt to fulfill them by introducing and championing tariff measures that would give substantial relief to his people. The Ninth district wants reciprocity with Canada, the repeal of the lumber tariff, and a reduction of the tariff schedules all the way down the line. In 1902, when first a candidate for congress, Halvor took advanced ground on these issues and pledged support of any tariff law promising a measure of relief. Unfortunately, by the time he was snugly installed in office these pledges if not forgotten were laid on the shelf and left there. The demand for tariff reform, while none the less insistent, was overshadowed temporarily by the hue and cry of the standpatters, and Halvor was not so sure that the time for action had come. Consequently, in 1904 little was heard from Halvor's lips on the subject so dear to his heart two years before.

The Northern Pacific announces its annual rates from here to all points in Ontario and Qubec, of $40 round trip. Tickets on sale Dec. 4th. Enquire of F. A. Mizen, Agent.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, LUCAS COUNTY } ss

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886,

A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal.) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists. 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Many children inherit constitutions weak and feeble, others due to childhood troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children and make them strong 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert.

Ayer's

Take cold easily? Throat tender? Lungs weak? Any relatives have consumption? Then a cough means a great deal to you. Follow your doctor's advice and take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It heals, strengthens, prevents.

Cherry Pectoral

"For 40 years I have depended on Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds. I know it greatly strengthens weak lungs."
MRS. P. A. ROBINSON, Saline, Mich.

25c., 50c., $1.00. All druggists.

J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for Weak Lungs

Ayer's Pills increase the activity of the liver, and thus aid recovery.

A Sanson Pawned the Guillotine.

The Sansons have a place in French history, not only because they continued so long to hold their odious office, but because two of their number, a father and son, held office during the evil days of the reign of terror, when they were kept so busily engaged with their guillotine. The last of the Sanson dynasty was dismissed from his post in the reign of Louis Philippe, in 1847, under remarkable circumstances. Although he had inherited a comfortable fortune from his father, the executioner of the revolution, he got into pecuniary difficulties and was guilty of pawning his guillotine, surely the most lugubrious pledge ever taken by mortal pawnbroker. An order came from the procurator general for the execution of a criminal, and the necessary apparatus was not forthcoming. The prison authorities had perforce to get it out of pawn, and the execution took place. But the last of the Sansons was informed that his services would no longer be required. What became of him afterward does not appear to be known.

Quite the Contrary.

Tess—I certainly was surprised to hear that Maud was married. Jess—Yes, it was rather unexpected. Tess—Her family's quite incensed, I hear. They say her husband is a man of absolutely no family. Jess—That's all wrong. He was a widower with four children.—Philadelphia Press.

Son Lost Mother.

"Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my mother," writes E. B. Reid, of Harmony, Me. "For the past five years, however, on the slightest sign of a Cough or Cold, I have taken Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved me from serious lung trouble." His mother's death was a sad loss for Hr. Reid, but he learned that lung trouble must not be neglected, and how to cure it. Quickest relief and cure for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed at All Druggists. Trial bottle free.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of a certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by S. A. Swanson and Ida Swanson, his wife, mortgagors, to Joseph Glatzel, mortgagee, which mortgage was dated on the second (2d) day of April, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Three (1903), and recorded in Record Book Twenty-one (21) of Mortgage Records, on page One Hundred Forty-eight (148), in the office of the Register of Deeds of Red Lake County, Minnesota, on the Eighteenth (18th) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Three (1903); at half past nine o'clock a. m., and said Joseph Glatzel is now the owner and holder of said mortgage. That default has been made in the payment of Eighty-two and 50-100ths Dollars ($82.50) interest due and payable according to the terms and conditions of said mortgage on the second (2d) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Five (1905), and a further default has been made in the payment of the taxes duly levied and assessed upon said mortgaged premises for the years 1903 and 1904; and that by reason of said defaults, said mortgagee has elected and hereby elects and declares the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and is due the sum of Sixteen Hundred Thirty-one Dollars and Nine Cents ($1631.09) at the date of this notice, and no action at law or equity has been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the property described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which said property is situated in Red Lake County, Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit:

The North-West Quarter (NW¼) of Section Twenty-seven (27), in Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-four (44), containing One Hundred Sixty (160) acres of land, more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Which said sale will be made by the Sheriff of Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, on Saturday, the Ninth (9th) day of December, A. D. 1905; at two (2) o'clock p. m., at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay the amount then due on said mortgage and the costs of sale, and Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure.

Dated this 23d day of October, 1905.

JOSEPH GLATZEL,
Said Mortgagee.

THOS. F. CRAVEN,
Attorney for said Mortgagee,
Chaska, Minnesota.

o26d7

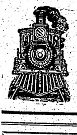
Pain may go by the name of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, pleurisy. No matter what names the pains are called, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will drive them away. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert's.

A HOPELESS FIGHT

It is as impossible to conquer the king of diseases—Contagious Blood Poison—with Mercury and Potash as it would be to conquer the king of the forest in a hand-to-hand encounter, as thousands who have had their health ruined and lives blighted through the use of these minerals will testify. They took the treatment faithfully, only to find when it was left off, the disease returned with more power, combined with the awful effects of these minerals, such as mercurial rheumatism, necrosis of the bones, salivation, inflammation of the stomach and bowels, etc. When the virus of Contagious Blood Poison enters the blood it quickly contaminates every drop of that vital fluid, and every muscle, nerve, tissue and bone becomes affected, and soon the foul symptoms of sore mouth and throat, copper-colored blotches, falling hair and eyebrows, swollen glands, sores, etc., make their appearance. Mercury and Potash can only cover up these evidences for awhile; they cannot cure the disease. S. S. S. has for many years been recognized as a specific for Contagious Blood Poison—a perfect antidote for the deadly virus that is so far-reaching in its effects on the system. S. S. S. does not hide or mask the disease, but so thoroughly and completely cures it that no signs are ever seen again. S. S. S. while eradicating the poison of the disease will drive out any effects of harmful mineral treatment. A reward of $1,000.00 is offered for proof that S. S. S. contains a mineral ingredient of any kind. Treatise with instructions for home treatment and any advice wished, without charge.

SSS

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.



Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stamp for full particulars to-day

National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Name.......
Town.......
State.......
R.F.D.No.......
Age.......

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

Burlington Route

TO FLORIDA

via the Burlington's
SCENIC LINE
at special
REDUCED RATES

In effect every day now, tickets good returning any time before June 1, 1906.

Send your name and address for full information concerning Scenic Line Service.

F. M. RUGG, Northwestern Passenger Agent,
Germania Life Building St. PAUL.

SPECIAL PRICES

On

HEATING STOVES FOR 30 DAYS.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
TIME TABLE
THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West		Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar. 7:45 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
9:15 A. M.	Crookston	6:45 P. M.
10:00 A. M.	Dugdale	6:00 P. M.
10:35 A. M.	Red Lake Falls	5:25 P. M.
11:05 A. M.	St. Hilaire	4:55 P. M.
11:35 A. M.	Thief River	4:30 P. M.
12:01 P. M.	Steiner	4:05 P. M.
12:15 P. M.	Sandridge	3:52 P. M.
12:40 P. M.	Middle River	3:21 P. M.
1:05 P. M.	Strathcona	2:57 P. M.
1:35 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv. 2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Today's Local Markets.

Wheat No. 1 Hard	71
" " 1 Northern	70-½
" " 2 "	67
" " 3 "	64
" " 4 "	61
" " Rejected	58
Flax No. 1	85
" No. 2	84
" no grade	78
Barley from	28
Oats	25
Hay	$3.50
Wood, poplar	$3.00 to $3.50
Butter 18c.	Eggs 20c.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

The Courier $1. one year,

County Attorney Germo was at St. Hilaire Monday on legal business.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for real estate loans,

District Court will be in session again next Monday.

James Sutor of Polk Center was a visitor here Tuesday.

Fred Burgdorf returned from a visit to Crookston Tuesday.

Miss Marie O'Brien came up from Crookston Tuesday.

Judge Tarrant returned Saturday from a business trip to St. Paul.

J. B. Armstrong made a business trip to Grand Forks Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ee. Enright were Sunday visitors at Lockhart, Minn.

Dr. J. C. Wilkinson was a professional caller at Crookston Sunday.

Go to Spillane's store for Groceries, Candies, Nuts, Fruitr, Cigars, etc.

The sociable held at Mrs. Schreiter's Tuesday evening for the bene-

Misses Anna and Ida Jackson were St. Hiliare visitors on Friday.

Andrew Ydstie returned Tuesday from a business mission down the line.

The 5c "I Lead" and 10c "B. B" cigars are the best to be had for the money.

Lou Adams arrived Tuesday for a short visit at the Wm. Zaiser home.

Rev. Fr. Ansgar was a passenger Monday bound for Georgetown, Minn.

E. G. Froblic enjoyed a few days visit from a brother of Marshall, Minn.

J. T. Jones of Thief River Falls was an over Sunday visitor at the county seat.

Frank Brouillet and family Sundayed with his brother Ed. Brouillet at Dugdale.

M. O. Sortehahl left Monday for Fosston to be gone a couple of days on business.

John B. Cyr came down from Thief River Falls for a few days visit Monday.

The M. B. A's. gave a dance at their hall after their meeting last Monday evening.

Don't buy your Christmas presents until you have seen the display at the Bazaar.

Mrs. Henry Stuhr of Argyle arrived Saturday for a visit at the Dr. Lemieux home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliot left Saturday for a couple weeks' visit with relatives at Virginia, Minn.

John Loffelmaker of Fairfax, Minn is in the city looking over his splendid Red Lake County farm.

Mr. and Mrs Con. Short of Lillo were business callers at the county seat Wednesday.

W. T. Spillaine is about to remove his stock of merchandise into the building now occupied by Ed. Bray.

The M. W. A. dance at Woodman hall last Friday night was well attended and all present report an enjoyable time.

The Ladie's Aid of the Lutherian church will meet at Mrs. Rue Saturday afternoon Nov. 25th. All are invited.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Inquire at the Big Store.

Mr. James Jackson and sister Ida returned home the latter part of last week from their eight months stay in Arvilla N. D.

P. Martin returned to his home at Crookston Saturday after several days visit with his daughter. Mrs. Theo. LaBissoniere.

Mrs. Milton Converse and children returned Monday from a two weeks visit at the I. D. Converse home at Cass Lake.

The following letters remain unclaimed in the Postoffice at Red Lake Falls this week,— Mrs. Fred Solie (2), Charle Carlson, L. W. Davis.

Chas. McKenzie was taken down to Stillwater the latter part of last week to begin the three year's sentence imposed by Judge Watts.

A. L. Reichert, the druggist, will move the latter part of the week into the Blake building directly south of the one he now occupies.

What makes a nicer Christmas present than a picture? Dosn't cost you very much and is surely appreciated. See W. A. Reichel.

A dozen pictures costs but little and makes twelve acceptable presents for Christmas. Give W. A. Reichel your order for a dozen now.

On Thanksgiving day Nov. 30th. The postoffice will be open from 10:30 a. m. until 12 a. m. the mail will be dispatched at the usual time.

fit of St. Mary's church was a grand success financially and socially. Mr Schreiter carried off the head prize K. M. Hanson received the booby prize.

Ladies thick Embroidery fascinat- when able to choose from an artestic line of line of linens and silks excellent assortment—also Corticelli silks etc. Garceau & Zaiser.

The dance given by the football boys at the K. P. hall Saturday evening was not very well ettended although those present report a good time.

Ab. Fletcher. one of our Red Lake Falls boys, is laid up at the Fargo Hospital by an attack of typhoid fever. He is improving at this writing.

Harold Erb came in Monday from the Wm. Erb claim on the reservation. He reports deer quite plentiful but says they are hard to get as there is no snow.

A special session of the county commissioners will be held Eriday next for the consideration of ditch matters and other general county business.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf.

Rev. Conrad Nauman formerly of this city, now stationed at Spokane, Wash., arrived Wednesday for a Thanksgiving visit with his family at the old home.

Sheriff Linnihan and Oliver Belair conducted "Kid" Lemuer to the state penitentiary at Stillwater where he will be taken care of for the ensuing six months.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Sivertson, Mrs. E. F. Marshall, Miss Etta Zaiser and Helmuth Zaiser formed a merry theatre party bound for Crookston to attend "The Tenderfoot" Saturday evening.

Thos. Germo went down to Crookston Tuesday evening to appear before Judge Watts in the matter of the injunction proceedings brought against the Great Northern restraining them from discontining the Wylie branch.

A. G. Groshong, accompanied by Roy Blake, went to Crookston Saturday evening. Mr. Groshong has had trouble with his arm for several months and he is at the Crookston hospital undergoing an operation. He is getting along nicely.

The ladies of the Presbyteian church are busy preparing a large number of fancy articles for their Bazaar which will be held during the first part of December, Articles will be for sale in the following booths—Handkerchiefs, Aprons, Dolls, Fancy work Candy.

S. L. Lewis came down town Wednesday morning stepping high and wearing one of those smiles that don't come off and all on account of the arrival of a ten pound boy at his home early in the morning. The mother is well and the boy bids fair to become a permanent boarder at least for the next 21 years.

Mr. O. C. Olson of Bimford N. D., is visiting at the home of his cousin Mrs K. C. Jackson whom he has not seen for 25 years, and on Saturday they took in the sights at St. Hiliare and on Sunday at McIntosh. Mr. Olson is well pleased with Red Lake Falls and may return to go into some business.

Man's Unreasonableness.

is often as great as woman's, But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth. Ind., was not unreasonable when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble, "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties," Guaranteed by all Druggists; 50c.

The merchants of Detroit have discovered that there is too strong a ventilation in their woodpiles Detroit is quite a wood market and the buyers are complaining of short measurement and too much space filled with air. Henceforth they will demand a square deal in the wood business. Cord wood must be full four feet in length, without any crooked sticks piled so as to create a vacuum. An agreement has been entered into between the merchants and the wood sellers whereby the latter must comply with certain requirements if they expect to dispose of their wood in Detroit. Cord wood sawed at both ends must be full four feet long, and that cut at both ends must be four feet from point to kerf.

...CUT PRICES IN...
GROCERIES
AT THE BIG STORE

LOOK

Some money maker (for you) thes week—

Sugar 18 lbs for	$1
Macaroni lb	6c
Evap Pears	lb 8c
12½c Tomatoes	10c
15 c Cranberries for	12½c
Cheese	10c

NEW GOODS MONDAY

Fancy Irish Bloakeans	5c
" London Layers	15c
"N. Y. Apples
Russetts, Greenings etc.

DRY GOODS DEPT.

Waisting Sale
12½ Waistings	8c
15 "	10½
60 "	39
50c Golf gloves	25
50, 60, 75 Tom O Shanters	49c

IT ALWAYS PAYS TO TRADE AT
THE BIG STORE.
THEO. LaBISSONIERE. Prop.

Thanksgiving Excursions.

The Great Northern Railway will sell round trip tickets at the rate of one fare and one-third, on account of Thanksgiving Day, to all points on the system, east of Montana. Tickets will be on sale November 29th and 30th with final return limit December 4th, 1805. Ask your local agent for further information.

Important Change of Time,

The Great Northern Railway announces that on and after November 19th new passenger service will be inaugurated between Crookston and Greenbush, daily except Sunday, as follows: Leave north bound Red Lake Falls at 10;35 a m leave south bound Red Lake Falls at 5;25 p m.

A Card.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough and heals the lungs. Prevents pneumonia and will cure incipient consumption. Contains no opiates and is safest for children. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and insist upon having it. Stops the the cough and heals the lungs. Sold at A L. Reicherts.

The Discriminating Traveler

enroute to California, avails himself of the tourist car service via The North-Western Line, which affords economical as well as comfortable accommodations for this finest of vacation trips. These tourist cars leave Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. For California literature and information as to rates, etc., write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A St. Paul, Minn.

Warnings are being sent out to hunters of big game by Samuel Fullerton, of the game and fish commission, cautioning the hunters against killing caribou and elk. The open season for big game does not include caribou, elk or fawns of other species and the penalty for violations of the game law is severe. No one hunter is allowed to kill more than one moose and two deer in one year. The game wardens have been directed to exercise greater vigilance than ever before.

High Wages in America.

A unique testimonial to the high wages paid in this country is the fact that artificial diamonds are all made in Europe as the cost of labor here makes their manufacture practically impossible. Think of it,—diamonds, the most costly luxury known to modern civilization can't be made in America because labor is so well paid. No wonder we all enjoy the good things in life. Hardly a man or woman in Minneapolis who can't afford golden grain beer in his or her home regularly and of all necessary luxuries this is the most desired by those who know good living. It is more than a delicacy for it's the best tonic ever produced. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex. Thompson, Crookston.

Be Sure to Use Only
Cream of Tartar Baking Powder

Food made with alum baking powder carries alum to the stomach unchanged. Scientists have positively demonstrated this and that such food is partly indigestible and unhealthful.

A Comparison.

Between the modern overland trip to California and that of fifty years ago, reflects credit upon the great railroad builders. One of the greatest improvements is the establishment of through tourist car service uia the North Western Line, providing the maximum comfort at the minimum expense. These cars leave Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday for California. For rates and other information write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A., St. Paul.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidey Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91 years old." Sold at A. L. Reicherts

McMURRAY'S VANILLA
WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS
WITH Dr. King's New Discovery
FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.
S Quickest Cure for all
T nd LUNG TROUB-
EY BACK.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR
Prevents Serious Results From a Cold.
Remember the name Foley's Honey and Tar. Insist upon having the genuine.
Three sizes 25c, 50c, $1.00
Prepared only by
Foley & Company, Chicago.

Churches.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Very Rev. E. Fayolle, Rector.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8. and 10 a. m.—Rev. Father Ansgar, Pastor.

PRESBYTERIAN—Services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., every Sunday. Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Rev. H. W. KNOX, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

I. O. O. F.—Clearwater Lodge No. 133, meets every Saturday evening at I. O. O. F. hall. Visitors are always welcome.—F. A. Mizen, N. G. William Schwalen. V. G., F. A. Grady, R. S., James E. Ford, F.S.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—Red Lake Falls Lodge No. 160. meets every Monday evening K. of P. hall.—W. A. McIntyre. C. C.; S. L. Lewis, K. of R. and S.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS—Meets every other Friday evening at C. O. F. hall. L. A. Kaufer, Chief Ranger; J. R. Fortier, Recording Secretary.

MODERN WOODMEN—Meets every other Wednesday at M. W. A. hall.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Red Lake Falls Bank, Red Lake Falls.

St. Benedict's Academy.......
ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.
A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

NORTHERN PACIFIC
TIME CARD —OF— TRAINS.
RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at....................	7:45 a m
SOUTH-BOUND
No. 156—Departs....................	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.
Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.
F. A. MIZEN Agent.

WELL DIGGING ...
I will dig wells by the day, foot or job and guarantee satisfaction on every job. Repairing a specility. I now devote my entire attention to this work. Leave orders at Courier office.
A. O. LETVIG, Wylie, Minnesota.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms
HENRY KAUFER, Prop
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

A Good Stove Cheap

is what you can truthfully say about a WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER..

All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL, and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft that you have heard so much about. A Wilson, if taken good care of, will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary-sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights

from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burners

Would be pleased to show you our line.

FRANK E. HUNT
Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

Ayer's Pills The dose is one, just one pill at bedtime. Sugar-coated, mild, certain. They cure constipation. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Use BUCKINGHAM'S DYE
FIFTY CTS. OF DRUGGISTS OR R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

You Are Welcome At The
MERCHANTS STATE BANK
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Even if you have to use most of your money from week to week and month to month, pay it through this bank.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.00

We will loan you money on personal security. We will make farm loans at LOWEST RATES. We will take your money on deposit and pay you 5 per cent per annum. In our savings department we pay 5 per cent on deposits of $1.00 and up. Interest computed May 1 and November each year.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

HOSPITALS CROWDED

MAJORITY OF PATIENTS WOMEN

Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Saves Many From this Sad and Costly Experience.

Miss Luella Adams

It is a sad but true fact that every year brings an increase in the number of operations performed upon women in our hospitals. More than three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow white beds are women and girls who are awaiting or recovering from operations made necessary by neglect.

Every one of these patients had plenty of warning in that bearing down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, leucorrhœa, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the womb or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb, and if not heeded the trouble will make headway until the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation, and a lifetime of impaired usefulness at best, while in many cases the results are fatal.

The following letter should bring hope to suffering women. Miss Luella Adams, of the Colonnade Hotel, Seattle, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About two years ago I was a great sufferer from a severe female trouble, pains and headaches. The doctor prescribed for me and finally told me that I had a tumor on the womb and must undergo an operation if I wanted to get well. I felt that this was my death warrant, but I spent hundreds of dollars for medical help, but the tumor kept growing. Fortunately I corresponded with an aunt in the New England States, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was said to cure tumors. I did so and immediately began to improve in health, and I was entirely cured, the tumor disappearing entirely, without an operation. I wish every suffering woman would try this great preparation."

Just as surely as Miss Adams was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability and nervous prostration.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who are ill to write her for free advice. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Not Dangerous.

"An' how's yer woife, Pat?"

"Sure, she do be awful sick."

"Is ut dangerous she is?"

"No, she's too weak t' be dangerous anny more."

A Mistake.

Fair Visitor—Here, my poor man, are some roses for you. What can I do to make you comfortable?

Prisoner—Guess you're making a mistake, lady.

Fair Visitor—Mistake—how?

Prisoner—I'm only here for porch climbin'. Yer'll find the guy that killed his wife in th' nex' cell.

The Meanest Man.

A well-to-do Chicago real estate owner came into a hardware store in that city and asked the proprietor for a pound of nails. The small package was made up and the price, a nickel, handed to the merchant, when the customer asked if the purchase could be sent to his house, which was in a distant part of the city. The merchant assented, and calling a boy, handed him the parcel with a dime and said: "Here, Johnny, take this parcel out to Mr. Blank's house." "What!" said the customer, "are you going to give the boy a dime to take the parcel out?" "Why, certainly," said the merchant; "I wouldn't think of asking him to go so far for nothing." "Well," said the meanest man in Chicago, "If you would just as soon give me my nickel I will take it out myself and you'll save five cents."

PASSING OF PORRIDGE

Makes Way for the Better Food of a Better Day.

"Porridge is no longer used for breakfast in my home," writes a loyal Britain from Huntsville, Ont. This was an admission of no small significance to one "brought up" on the time-honored stand-by.

"One month ago," she continues, "I bought a package of Grape-Nuts food for my husband, who had been an invalid for over a year. He had passed through a severe attack of pneumonia and la grippe combined, and was left in a very bad condition when they passed away.

"I tried everything for his benefit but nothing seemed to do him any good. Month followed month and he still remained as weak as ever. I was almost discouraged about him when I got the Grape-Nuts, but the result has compensated me for my anxiety.

"In the one month that he has eaten Grape-Nuts he has gained 10 pounds in weight, his strength is rapidly returning to him and he feels like a new man. Now we all eat Grape-Nuts food, and are the better for it. Our little 5 year old boy, who used to suffer from pains in the stomach after eating the old-fashioned porridge, has no more trouble since he began to use Grape-Nuts, and I have no more doctor's bills to pay for him.

"We use Grape-Nuts with only sweet cream, and find it the most tasty dish in our bill of fare.

"Last Monday I ate 4 teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast, nothing else can set to work and got my morning's work done by 9 o'clock, and felt less tired, much stronger, than if I had made my breakfast on meat, potatoes, etc., as I used to. I wouldn't be without Grope-Nuts in the house for any money." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

The Scourge of Damascus

A Story of the East...

By SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

Copyrighted 1891 by Robert Bonner's Sons.

CHAPTER IV.

The Israelite.

When the king left his affianced bride he was sorely perplexed; and the longer he reflected upon what had transpired, the deeper grew his rage and chagrin. He walked alone in the garden until the sun had set, and then he went in and called for his minister to attend him.

"Aboul Cassem, what think you of this outrage which the Scourge of Damascus has now committed?"

"I think it is high-handed and startling," replied the minister.

"Has your daughter explained more to you than I have yet heard?"

"She has told me all she knows, sire. The robber came, according to his own account, for the purpose of wresting her from the King of Damascus; but she refused to go with him; and so urgent was she in her protestations, that Julian finally went away and left her. I think, however, that his retreat was hastened by the fear that your majesty might be upon him with a dangerous force."

"I have no doubt that such is the case, Aboul. But the end of this is not yet. This daring demon has run at large long enough. He has already stricken fearful blows upon our commerce, and now he takes a new course of attack upon our defenceless daughters. It has come to be so that a caravan is not safe to start from Damascus; nor are our merchants safe in returning from other lands. It must not be so. By the heavens above me, it shall not be so! I must find some way for this man's capture. I have sent out my armies against him, and he has either avoided them, or met and overcome them. Life of my soul just think of it. He met a thousand of my armed men, and swept them back over the plains of Abilene as though they had been so many women. What shall I do, Aboul?"

"There is but one way, sire, that I can conceive of. It seems to be useless to send out force against him; for he is a quick-witted rascal; and, if he cannot successfully cope with them, he can keep out of their way. He has spies throughout the whole land."

"Aye—I know he has!" cried the king, with a fresh burst of rage. "He has friends among those who live very near to our capital. I wish I could get hold of them."

"Get hold of the chieftain first."

"Ah—but how?"

"It must be done by strategem, sire. If you cannot find some one man who is able to entrap the Scourge, I see not how you are ever to overcome him. A single man with wit, will and endurance may accomplish much. A little mouse, working in secret, may uproot a great tree.'

"By my life, Aboul, you have spoken the truth. The work must be done secretly. Have I such a man about me?"

"How is it with Judah, the Israelite?" suggested the minister.

The king started and clapped his hands together when he heard the name.

"By the shades of Tartarus, good Aboul, you have hit the very man. Judah is with us now. I left him in the hall as I came in from the garden. I will send for him."

A slave, who stood just without the door, was sent after the man who had been spoken of, and ere long he made his appearance before his royal master. He was a middle-aged man, with black hair and keen black eyes; with features sharp in outline, and moulded into a cast of peculiar cunning; and with body and limbs light and muscular. He was below the ordinary size of man; and what he may have lacked in physical strength was more than made up by the quickness and precision of movement. He had been a dweller in Damascus since childhood, his mother having come from Judea, in poverty and disgrace, and given him away to an officer of the king's household.

"Judah," spoke the monarch, "I want you to engage in a dangerous enterprise; but, if you are successful, the honor will be greater than the danger. Are you willing to try it?"

"Anything, sire, that can yield me honor and emolument," replied the Israelite, with a low bow. "Give me the freedom of a citizen, and gird the sword of a lieutenant about my loins, and I will undertake anything. I would not even hesitate to go out against the Scourge of Damascus."

"Ha! It is the very thing, Judah. It is this accursed robber chieftain that I wish to secure. If you will slay him, and bring me his head, I will make you a free citizen of Damascus; and if you will bring him to me alive, and deliver him into my hands, I will not only bestow the citizenship upon you, and gird the sword of a lieutenant about your loins, but I will give you a house and a wife."

The black eyes of the Israelite snapped and sparkled like polished gems of jet. He strode across the room, and then walked slowly back.

"Sire," he finally said, "give me until tomorrow morning to think of this. In twelve hours from this you shall have my answer. If I embark upon this enterprise, I must have some hope for success. I will converse with those of the slaves who have seen the robber and his men, and their observations may help me."

"But, Judah, you are not to breathe a word of this. My slaves must not mistrust your object."

"I underseand you, sire; and I will be guarded. Shall it be as I have said?"

"Yes, only bear in mind that the thing must be accomplished if accomplishment is possible."

"I understand you, sire; and be assured that my wits shall be stretched to their utmost."

"Aboul Cassem," said the king, after Judah had gone, "what do you think?"

"I think the fellow will study up some grand plot between now and morning. At all events, sire, I do not believe you can find a better man for your purpose."

At an early hour the king retired, and all night long his sleep was troubled with very unpleasant dreams. He dreamed two or three times that the Scourge of Damascus had robbed him of his beautiful bride, and once he dreamed that his throne had passed from him. In the morning he was more anxious for the apprehension of the robber than before, and impatiently did he await the coming of the Israelite.

At the appointed hour Judah made his appearance and announced that he would undertake the task of delivering up the terrible Scourge.

"If I succeed," he said, "you will hear from me as soon as success crowns my efforts. If I fail, you will perhaps never hear from me again."

"And when will you set forth?" asked the king, almost beside himself with hopeful anticipation.

"At once, sire. This very day, if I can get ready."

"Do you want help?"

"I would select two of your most trusty guards."

"Take as many as you want."

"Two will be enough, sire."

"Will you take them from those who have been on duty here?"

"No, sire. That would not be safe. The robbers might recognize them. I will have two who came with us from Damascus yesterday."

"As you will, Judah. Select the men you want, and they shall accompany you."

The Israelite promised that he would have all his arrangements made before the king was ready to depart, and with this assurance he went away.

By the middle of the forenoon the king was ready to set forth on his return to Damascus. Ulin and Albia were placed within a comfortable box upon the back of a stout camel, and around them were posted a hundred armed men. The remainder of the retinue was arranged under the direction of Aboul Cassem, the king's prime minister, and only the order was needed to set the whole in motion. At this point the king withdrew to the palace, where he found Judah ready to set forth on his dangerous mission, and with him were two guards, Osmir and Selim, two resolute, intelligent fellows, who seemed to love the excitement of the work upon which they were about to enter. The king was pleased with the choice Judah had made.

"I might not have hit upon them," he said; "but I know they will serve you. And now, what more can I do?"

"Nothing," replied Judah. "I have all that I can use, and am ready for the work. If I succeed, you will hear from me in good time; and if you never hear from me, you may at least be assured that I failed from no lack of will to serve you."

With a few words of encouragement the king left his servant to pursue his own course, and proceeded to join his army, which was soon in motion; and before the close of another day he arrived at Damascus, where Ulin was once more suffered to find shelter beneath the roof of her father. Touching her marriage, it was understood that the ceremony should be performed as soon as the period of mourning had passed, which would be in two weeks; and until then she was to remain in close retirement. Horam asked that she might not be suffered to go out, for he feared to have her see too much of the outer world before he had secured her hand.

We must now return to the Palace of the Valley, where we left those who were to go in search of the robber chieftain. As soon as the king had gone, Judah repeated the instructions he had already given to the guards. They were not to accompany him; but they were to come after him, in a manner agreed upon, and were to conduct themselves towards him in all respects as though they had never before seen him.

Towards the latter part of the afternoon Judah stripped himself bare to the skin, and caused one of the men to beat him with a leathern thong until long livid ridges were raised upon his shoulders and back. After this he resumed his clothing, and as soon as the shades of evening began to fall, he mounted a fleet horse, and rode away to the northward towards the plains of Abilene. He knew that Julian had taken that course, and he hoped to overtake him before many hours. Until midnight he sped on quite rapidly; but after that he moved more cautiously, peering and listening, upon the right hand and upon the left, as he advanced. So he rode until day had dawned, without seeing or hearing anything worthy of note. But he was coming upon something very soon. Just as the sky began to glow with the rich, red glare of the rising sun, he came to a point where a narrow pass between two steep hills opened into a pleasant vale, and just here his horse was stopped by a stout man who advanced, spear in hand, from some trees by the wayside.

"Hold!" said the sentinel. "Who are you?"

"A wayfarer, as you may see," replied Judah.

"Whither are you traveling?"

"To the north."

"Or what are you in pursuit?"

"Just at this present moment I am in most urgent pursuit of something to eat."

"Have you money in your purse?"

"Enough for present use."

"Are you afraid of losing it?"

"How?"

"By robbers."

"Bless you, no. I am rather anxious to see some of these robbers."

"You may see them sooner than you would like."

"That cannot be, sir; for I would like to see them at once."

"Ah—what would you with them?"

"Never mind. If I am so fortunate as to find them, they shall know."

"Perhaps I can find them for you."

"I believe you can; and, my good sir, if you will conduct me into the presence of Julian, I shall thank you."

"Upon my life, you give me credit for wonderful power."

"I give you the credit of belonging to Julian's band; and as I am very anxious to see him, I ask you once more, to lead me to him."

The man hesitated a moment, and finally said, with a smile breaking over his sunburnt features:

"You are free-spoken, and seem to be honest; and I think I will lead you to the man you seek. But my bold friend, you have need of some fair purpose."

"Lead me to Julian; and I will be answerable for the rest."

"Very well; you shall not ask again. Dismount, and follow me."

(To be continued.)

TOO MUCH FAULTY ENGLISH.

People Have Grown Careless in Their Rhetoric—Familiar Errors.

The books of rhetoric used to tell us that the great qualities of style were perspicuity, energy and elegance, or clearness, force and grace; and that as a means toward these and for other reasons it was important to be concise to avoid needless words, writes Frederick M. Bird in the Literary Era. Whether they no longer teach thus, or their pupils disregard their instructions, you can scarcely read a page or a column anywhere without meeting words that add nothing to others with which they are immediately connected. Thus: Thought to himself. How else should he think? If he thought aloud you would have to say so. Either he "said to himself"—which is another way of putting it—or he simply "thought." Nodded his head. If he had nodded his legs or his elbows the case would be more notable. He might properly "shake his head," for he could shake other things; but in the present state of language one can nod no other part of himself or of creation than his head. Together with. If John went to town with his wife they went together; if they went together he was necessarily with her. Month of May, summer season, etc. Everybody knows that May is a month and summer a season. Rose up. If people were in the habit of rising down, or if it were possible to do so this would not be tautological. It will not do to say that these specimens abound in the best writers and are therefore justifiable. They are not the best writers when they write in this way, through pure carelessness, for they know better. Homer sometimes nods, but his nodding did not produce the "Iliad." We want to follow the best writers in their excellencies not in their errors.

Women Physicians in Russia.

Russia has long prided herself on having the first women physicians. The Chautauquan refers to the career of Nadezhda Susloff, one of the earliest and best women doctors, as particularly interesting. Born a serf, and freed, with her parents at the emancipation in 1861, she and her brothers and sisters received the best possible education at home and abroad, for her parents were both extremely intelligent and her father acquired wealth after gaining his freedom. Everywhere in Russia and in the continental schools Nadezhda was brilliantly successful. For thirty years there has been no manner of doubt as to the sympathy of the public and of the medical world with the idea of thorough medical instruction for women. Men started the movement. In 1870 one professor and two other men undertook to establish courses for instructing women. In ten years there were 959 women students the majority coming from the "privileged classes"—that is to say, not peasants. The majority were members of the Russian church, but there were several Jewesses, Roman Catholics and Lutherans. In 1877 twenty-four students were sent to the seat of war, during the Russo-Turkish campaign, and did so well that they received imperial permission to call themselves after due examination, "women physicians," and to wear a badge."

A Chicago photographer has invented and patented an automatic "nickel in the slot" photographing machine, which will make a complete picture in 20 seconds. The machine is called the "photographist," and is said to be as simple as it is remarkable.

FLED BEFORE WOMAN'S PISTOL

How Mrs. Reader Put Stop to Impudence of Peruvian.

In her story of "Ella Rawls Reader, Financier," contributed in Everybody's, Juliet Wilbor Tompkins tells the following incident of a struggle of Mrs. Reader's in Peru:

"After eight months of useless struggle she went to out Callao, which is about half an hour by rail from Lima, with her Peruvian lawyer, Scotch interpreter, and American engineer, and forced the manager to open the warehouses and let her make an inspection of the machinery. The manager had met her with his lawyers, and the hour for argument before she gained her point had been something of a strain. During the whole process a Peruvian on the Haggin side had been standing close to Mrs. Reader, his little, narrowed eyes staring with that deliberate insolence only Latins can accomplish. The company went out into the wareroom where the machinery lay and the difficult business of a hurried inspection went forward, but still the bullying stare never ceased. After about two hours of it, the fine edge of that hidden temper of her suddenly sprang up. She whirled on him with a blaze of words that needed no interpreter, and all at once his stare was being returned by a fierce little pistol held in a strong white hand and quite ready for business.

"The gentleman of Peru neither apologized nor retracted; he incontinently fled. And he was not the only one. Like shadows the men flitted out of the dusky warehouse, leaving the dangerous woman a clear field. When she looked about there was no one in sight but two Irish porters, and in their eyes were sympathetic twinkles, meeting which, Mrs. Reader could only sink down helpless with laughter and put up her pistol."

The Dentist and the Alligator.

Roy Farrell Greene, the president of the American Society of Curio Collectors, told at a dinner of dentists an appropriate story.

"A dentist," he said, "was once traveling in the East, and in the Ganges his boat overturned and he was obliged to strike out for the shore.

"As the dentist swam sturdily through the muddy water an enormous alligator suddenly rose up before him. The alligator opened its enormous jaws, and the next instant would have been the dentist's last, only—just in time—the man happened to notice the great reptile's sharp, white teeth, and an idea struck him.

"He drew a probe from his pocket, and, pressing it into the alligator's gums, he said:

"'Does this hurt you?'

"The alligator screamed with pain and the dentist, amid its great agony, made good his escape."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Too Late to Sort Cats.

Jim Crocker lived in an old tumble-down house in a little town in Massachusetts. The cellar windows being broken out, an opportunity was afford to stray cats to run in and out, and sometimes there would be quite a congregation.

We lost our pet cat one evening, and thinking she might have joined the happy throng, we sent our man over to ask "Uncle Jim" if he would take a look and see if she was among the number. He was generally pretty good-natured, but this time he was out of sorts, for he said:

"Your cat may be there, or she may not be, but I ain't a-going to light up no lamp and go down in that cellar this time of night sorting out cats for nobody, so there."

To Point a Moral.

Almost everything he had
That should make a person glad
Just to be alive; good friends,
Health, position, all that lends
Happiness to most of us—
I should have been happy thus!
Life he loved for its own sake.
And he hoped to live to make
Others see his point of view,
And be optimistic, too.
Then one day, a little worry,
Caused his mind a minute's flurry;
He dismissed it—it returned
Every hour. And then he learned
That it would not down unsolved.
As his daily task revolved
This small problem interfered,
With his work, and it appeared
Each day larger than before.
So it grew and more and more,
Colored all his speech and thought;
Other ideas shrunk to naught.
Day and night this worry fed
On his soul, unquieted,
Till its everlasting pain
Broke his heart and wrecked his brain.

When he killed himself, at last,
All who knew him were aghast
Save the one who'd caused his worry,
(And forgot it in a hurry;)
That one said: "Did you know, my dear,
I always did think he was—queer!"
—Cleveland Leader.

His Father Was Athlete.

Dr. Dudley of Abington, Mass., tells this story of his man David and his housekeeper, who had great confidence in all that David said and did: One day David was in the barn, doing something which caused a visitor to say: "You're quite an athlete, aren't you?"

"Well, yes," replied David; whereupon the housekeeper, who stood near, said: "Why, I thought you told me you was Scotch."

"Well," said David, "my mother was Scotch, but my father was athlete."

A Wooden Wedding.

Several friends called on a New York clergyman one evening and were kept waiting for him for some time.

"I'm sorry to have kept you waiting," the minister remarked as he entered his library, "but I have just had to perform a wooden wedding in the church."

"What!" said one of his visitors. "I never heard of such a thing. What kind of a ceremony was it?"

"Oh," answered the clergyman, with a twinkle in his eye, "it was the marriage of a couple of Poles."

Calumet Baking Powder

A perfectly healthful powder made by improved chemical methods and of accurately proportioned materials

Trust Baking Powders sell for 45 or 50 cents per pound and may be identified by this exorbitant price. They are a menace to public health, as food prepared from them contains large quantities of Rochelle salts, a dangerous cathartic drug.

Too Businesslike.

"I really believe in being businesslike," said Jack Rattleby to Tom Easy at the club. "Now, I have an engagement with a young lady this evening to take her to the theater. At 11, when we return to the house, I shall propose to her. At 11:20 I am going to meet half a dozen fellows up here at the club who will congratulate me. At 12 I shall go to bed and dream of her. At 9 in the morning I shall meet her father going down to town and ask his blessing. At 10 I shall go and see her mother and tell her all about it. At 11 I shall be at the jeweler's, selecting the engagement ring. So you see how systematic I am."

"Well, I should say you were," rejoined Tom Easy, bewildered by the string he had just listened to. "I wish you luck, old man. Good-bye."

The next day Tom Easy met Jack walking slowly along and stopped him.

"Well, old chap, did you manage to keep all those appointments and engagements you were telling me about?"

"No," replied Rattleby, sadly. "I kept the 11 o'clock one. The others were not necessary."

Convincing Evidence.

Winthrop, Cal., Nov. 20th (Special)—A plain and straightforward story is always the most convincing. And that is what has impressed us most in reading the testimonials in regard to Dodd's Kidney Pills. The experience told by Davis Lewis of this place bears the ring and stamp of truth upon it. He says:—

"I was troubled for six months with dull, heavy pains in the small of my back, sometimes it passed into my stomach, at other times up between my shoulders. When it was in my stomach I was doubled up, and hardly knew what to do for the pain. I was advised to take all kinds of remedies, and did so, but without getting any relief. Then some one told me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I got a box and began taking them. The first few doses gave me relief, by the time I had finished them all the pain was gone and I have been well ever since."

High Airs.

Miss Romanz—You don't appear to care much for music. Don't you even like the popular airs?"

Miss Hunter—No. The only popular air with me is the millionaire.

BABY CAME NEAR DYING

From an Awful Skin Humor—Scratched Till Blood Ran—Wasted to a Skeleton—Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

"When three months old my boy broke out with an itching, watery rash all over his body, and he would scratch till the blood ran. We tried nearly everything, but he grew worse, wasting to a skeleton, and we feared he would die. He slept only when in our arms. The first application of Cuticura soothed him so that he slept in his cradle for the first time in many weeks. One set of Cuticura made a complete and permanent cure. (Signed) Mrs. M. C. Maitland, Jasper, Ontario."

After that little Garden of Eden episode it is doubtful if Adam ever told Eve she was the apple of his eye.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

If you are wise to-day you cannot afford to risk being otherwise to-morrow.

WASTED TO A SHADOW.

But Found a Cure After Fifteen Years of Suffering.

A. H. Stotts, messenger at the State Capitol, Columbus, O., says:

"For fifteen years I had kidney troubles, and though I doctored faithfully, could not find a cure. I had heavy backaches, dizzy headaches and terrible urinary disorders. One day I collapsed, fell insensible on the sidewalk, and then wasted away in bed for ten weeks. After being given up, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. In a couple of months I regained my old health, and now weigh 188 pounds. Twelve boxes did it, and I have been well two years."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Parliamentary Mud Flinging.

The Australian labor members are distinguishing themselves as parliamentary phrasemakers. Mr. Prendergast, the member for North Melbourne and the leader of the Labor party in the parliament of Victoria, has characterized a colleague, who interjected a remark while he was speaking, as an "alcoholized epileptic freak," which is a distinct contribution to the literature of legislative scurrility. After some demur, he withdrew and apologized.—Pall Mal lGazette.

READ AND YOU WILL LEARN

That the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice endorse and recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung diseases (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula on the bottle wrapper is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous or harmful agents and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful ingredient in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

A booklet of extracts from eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Section Missing.

A colored undertaker was requested to embalm the body of a colored man. The wife of the deceased asked what the cost would be. He named his usual charge, to which she quickly replied: "I think that's too much." "But it is the regular fee," protested the undertaker. "That may be," assented the widow, "but this ain't a regular corpse. My husband had a wooden leg."

Advertising Rates.

Col. Highflyer—What are your rates per column?

Editor of "Swell Society"—For insertion or suppression?

DISTRESS AFTER MEALS

Sure Sign That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Are Needed to Tone Up the Digestive Organs.

Loss of appetite, distress after eating, shortness of breath, a feeling of utter weakness—these are symptoms that are familiar to most sufferers from stomach trouble. Too often the ordinary doctor's treatment serves but to weaken the diseased organs.

The new tonic method of treating disorders of this kind does not aim to do the work of the stomach, does not demand that the food be pre-digested, but builds up the weakened organs, so that they can do the work that nature intended.

Mrs. L.O. Law, of No. 324 North street Horton, Kansas, says: "In 1897, while we were living on a farm in this neighborhood, I became generally debilitated as the result of overwork. I had serious indigestion, lost my appetite, suffered from a sense of suffocation and from obstruction of the circulation, so that artificial means had to be used to restore it. After suffering for months without finding any relief, I tried a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills of which I had read in a newspaper. The first few boxes made me lots better, and after using the third box I felt entirely well.

"I am now in excellent health and am able not only to take care of my house but also to assist my husband in a store which he has lately taken. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me and I can recommend them. They are so simple, so easily taken and so prompt in their action."

Remember Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do not act on the bowels. They make new blood and restore shattered nerves. In this way they carry health and vigor to every organ and fiber of the body. They are sold by all druggists or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

LIVE STOCK

The Law of Compensation in Stock Breeding.

What is known as the law of compensation has been long discussed in its relation to human life. It applies equally well, however, to animal life. This law is described as being that tendency of all things to equalize themselves. This is expressed in the idea that there can be no gain without loss, and no loss without gain; that what we call improvement is merely a change of the balance of the qualities of an animal. We cannot gain any good thing without sacrificing some good thing; we cannot produce a beef animal whose muscles will be tender and full of juice without producing an animal that will lack in hardiness, lack in the power of caring for himself in the fields, and largely lack the power to resist disease. What we call improvement is changing an animal so that he will be more useful to man and not changing him so that he will be more useful to himself. Judged from the standpoint of the animal, the well-developed beef steer is inferior to his ancestors. He cannot walk so rapidly, and could not get so much food from a scant pasture as could the undeveloped steer. If attacked by the wolves, he could not run fast enough to escape them. He could jump neither a ditch nor a fence. If brought to bay, his horns would not compare as defensive weapons to the long horns of the steer that existed fifty years ago. We see, therefore, that the term "improvement" is relative. It relates only to the animal viewed from the standpoint of man. Also, what would be improvement in the eyes of one man in one country would be decline in quality in another country. Thus the Eskimo wants a reindeer that, first, is a good traveler, and, second, is a good milk producer. The reindeer cannot be developed along the line of the Durham steer without destroying his usefulness, viewed from the standpoint of the Eskimo. We find the same law running through all animal life. The Merino sheep was developed for wool and became practically useless for mutton. When the demand came for mutton the old Merino type had to be abandoned. The wrinkled hide of the Merino was an improvement in the eye of the wool-grower, but from the viewpoint of the mutton producer the sheep had so far departed from a useful type that the breeder either abandoned it altogether or sought to improve it by breeding out the wrinkles.—Theodore Wilbergon, Cedar Co., Mo.

Varying Prices.

One of the greatest obstacles to the successful production of stock is the eternal variability of the prices of things connected with stock raising. The prices of cattle and all other classes of live stock vary from day to day. The prices of feeds also vary. Moreover the prices of all human foods that enter into competition with meats vary. If the farmer could have fixed prices for all things the business of stock raising could be reduced to an almost exact science. This has been the dream of the men that have successively tried to form great farm organizations for the control of all farm products. The farmer must, however, continue to raise stock under conditions that make success a matter of skill and great intelligence.

The Fall Calf.

The beef calf that is born in the fall must be kept growing. This will require more care on the part of the farmer than it would require if the calf were born in the spring and had the use of the luxuriant pastures of early summer. The fall calf must be kept warm as well as be well-fed. As soon as the milk of the dam begins to be insufficient other milk should be given, preferably fresh separator skimmilk. Clover hay should be fed at an early age and some corn given daily as soon as the calf will eat it, especially if the owner is able to give other food rich in protein. Calves digest corn better than mature cattle.

Mixed Grasses for Pasture.

I am certain that by the use of mixed grasses in the pastures we can double the yield of our pastures in a few years. I had a pasture that was filled with the wild grasses that have been growing on this continent for ages. I decided to plow around the stumps and put in mixed grasses, and did so. I put in a few acres at a time. In some places the sod was so thin that all I had to do was to run over it with the harrow and sow the seed. The result has been most gratifying. The mixed grasses make a thicker sod than any one single grass will and thus stands the trampling of cattle and other farm stock better. Also the grasses mature at different times and thus when one kind is in decadence some other kind is approaching maturity. The thickness of the grass protects the roots and keeps the ground from drying out. I find that I can pasture a large number of farm animals on a pasture of this kind and not have the sod get thin. The animals do better and require less extra feeding. My red clover, however, only remained in the pasture for three years, and after that time gradually disappeared. I am told by others that have had red clover in the mixture that this is the result. For all of that I would advise to sow red clover in the mixture.—Adolphus Perry, Blackhawk county, Iowa, in Farmers' Review.

AGRICULTURE

The Study of Soils.

There is no study that will prove more profitable to the farmer than the study of soils. Everywhere agriculturists are coming to realize the importance of this study and are giving to it the attention that it deserves. In nearly every state in the Union the state government has taken up the matter as has also the National Government. When the soil survey work of the United States Goverment was begun on its present large scale there were many who believed that this expenditure of money was in part unnecessary. They could not see how the mere knowing about the soils should improve its condition. They could not see why drawing maps of states and representing thereon the various kinds of soils could prove of any financial value to the agriculturists of such states. It was only after a year's work and after the soil survey of some states had been partly completed that the real results began to be seen. The first states in which the work has been partly completed is Illinois. Investigations of the different soil surveys has brought to light the condition of the soils in whole counties, and has shown what is needed in these soils to make them valuable. This could not be foreseen by the critics of the soil surveys.

The knowing of the condition of the soils has resulted in the finding out of a way to greatly increase their value. The soil survey in Illinois has demonstrated the fact that there are millions of acres of land only partly productive because of the large amount of acid in the soil. Having learned this fact it was an easy matter for the scientists to find a remedy. They know that it merely requires an application of lime to make these soils double in value. The increased value of Illinois soils alone, due to this discovery, and the application of a remedy, will be greater than the entire expense of all soil surveys and soil studies in the United States.

Weston Sinclair.

Buffalo Co., Wis.

Film Moisture.

Film moisture is the moisture in the soil that just surrounds each particle of sand or soil with a thin coat of water. The film around one particle touches the films of adjacent particles. The attraction of the particle draws the film tight around it and each new particle above that one does the same. When a film of water touches a soil particle above it that dry particle draws the water with great force to cover itself. The film of water is drawn from the soil particle below, but in turn pulls up the next particle film below it, or, rather, the soil particle does that by its attraction. So the water films work up toward the surface of the ground. We call that capillary attraction. When the films covering the particles reach the surface of the soil they become exposed to the air and the moisture on the top of the film is evaporated or turned into gas. The films below push up to supply the need caused by the vacancy in a part of the water film collection. When these films are disturbed by the cultivator the upward movement of the film moisture is stopped till the soil particles have settled back in place and new films have worked around the soil particles once more brought into touch with the film water below. This is why we cultivate ground to prevent the loss of soil water.

Sulphuric Acid and Plants.

Some recent experiments in Europe have opened up an entirely new field in relation to the effect of sulphuric acid on the soil. It has been almost universally conceded and believed that sulphuric acid in the soil reduces many of the soil elements to compounds that could not be used by the plants. The recent experiments referred to consisted in the application of sulphuric acid in the form of sodium sulphate, and plants were treated with varying quantities of these ingredients. The experiment was carried on for two years, during which time the sulphuric acid actually increased the yield of the plants, according to the belief of the experimenters. One of the great arguments against acidulated fertilizers is that after a few years this sulphuric acid affects the soil very disadvantageously. If it can be shown that sulphuric acid is of value to the soil it will entirely change the opinion of agriculturists on the matter of the use of the acidulated fertilizers.—James Titcomb.

Forests on Cheap Lands.

In many countries of Europe, even in England, the cheap lands are being planted in forests. By actual experience, however, the Forest Planting Commission has learned that it pays better to plant these forests where there is a deep subsoil rather than where the soil is shallow. In the case of the shallow soil, more profit can be made out of the land by using it for grazing purposes than by using it for forest plantations. The deeper soil gives a larger feeding area for the roots and makes possible a larger annual growth of trees. One English writer who has just been awarded a medal for a paper on this subject says that these locations are generally to be found on elevations a thousand feet or more above the sea. If the wood is to be used for timber or firewood the plantations should be within 10 or 20 miles of a good market.

Irving's Absent-mindedness.

Like many other men of genius, Sir Henry Irving had sudden periods of absent-mindedness, which means, says Mr. Marshall P. Wilder, the popular American entertainer and lecturer, in his book, "The Sunny Side of the Street," that his mind is for the time being not only not absent, but, on the contrary, is entirely present, and working at the rate of an hour a minute.

One day while we were driving together he turned to me and said:

"Marshall, I have a story you can add to your repertoire—a very quaint one."

Then he went into deep thought, and we had gone fully a block before he spoke again. Then he said:

"And you know—"

Then we went another block, then farther; but suddenly he asked:

"Now wasn't that droll?"

"It certainly was,' 'continues Mr. Wilder, no matter what it was. But Sir Henry Still owes me the story, for he had told it only to himself.

Hock Declined.

President Eliot of Harvard when a young man ordered a bottle of hock in a Boston restaurant, saying as he did so: "Here, waiter, bring me a bottle of hock—hic, haec, hoc!" The waiter, who had been to college, smiled, but never stirred. "What are you standing there for?" exclaimed the professor; "didn't I order some hock?" "Yes, sir," said the waiter, "you ordered it, but you afterward declined it."

In His Place.

"How is it that you are always in debt? You should be ashamed of yourself."

"Come, now, don't be too hard on a fellow. You would perhaps be in debt too, if you were in my place."

"What place?"

"Able to get credit."

Some people will swipe anything they can lay their hands on, and yet they won't take a joke.

He Canceled the Date.

The famous orator starts for his home, revolving in his mind the groundwork of the oration he is to prepare. The title shall be "The Land of the Free," and his talk shall be one in which special stress is laid upon the great blessing of liberty, which one and all enjoy. As he hastens down the street he is stopped by a policeman, who makes him go back and pick up a crumpled envelope he has thrown upon the sidewalk; farther along another policeman orders him to move on, when he is merely standing in front of a show window trying to decide upon a white vest; near his home he is ordered to go around the block by a third policeman who is guarding the fire lines—a barn in an alley is burning; at his gate he is met by the tax assessor, and when he enters the houses he is given a notice from the health department to cease throwing rubbish in the alley.

Instead of writing his address he writes a letter canceling the engagement.—Cleveland Leader.

Hardships of Farming.

Little Dick has been thinking for some time that he would like to be a farmer when he grows up. The other evening he toddled to his father's side on the veranda and asked:

"What do I have to do in the evening when I bes a farmer?"

"Why," said his father, "you have to sit on the porch of your farmhouse, like this, with your feet up on the rail."

Dick watched his father put his feet up and tried to do the same with his very short and fat little legs. The rail was so high that he had to sit nearly on the back of his head in order to get his feet up, and before many moments he slipped down and landed on the veranda floor with a bump.

He got up and rubbed himself. Then he said:

"Maybe I don't want to be a farmer after all. I might change my mind and be something else."

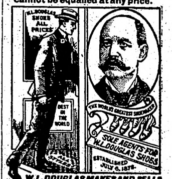
A man isn't old enough to marry until he is old enough to know better.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Budding genius is a good bit like thin ice. It doesn't always bear.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

Where there is no heart in the work there is always plenty of hardship.



W.L.DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W.L.DOUGLAS SHOES
ESTABLISHED JULY 6, 1876.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN
W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W.L.Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

TWENTY-FIVE BUSHELS OF WHEAT TO THE ACRE

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Means a productive capacity in dollars of over $16 per acre.

This on land which has cost the farmer nothing but the price of tilling it, tells its own story.

The Canadian Government gives absolutely free to every settler 160 acres of such land.

Lands adjoining can be purchased at from $6 to $10 per acre from railroad and other corporations.

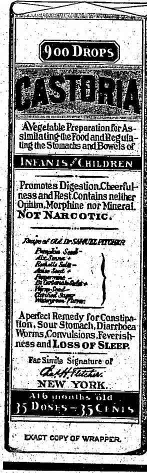
Already 175,000 farmers from the United States have made their homes in Canada.

For pamphlet "Twentieth Century Canada" and all information apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to following authorized Canadian Government Agent—Charles Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, North Dakota.
(Mention this paper.)

PAXTINE TOILET ANTISEPTIC
FOR WOMEN
troubled with ills peculiar to their sex, used as a douche is marvelously successful. Thoroughly cleanses, kills disease germs, stops discharges, heals inflammation and local soreness.

Paxtine is in powder form to be dissolved in pure water, and is far more cleansing, healing, germicidal and economical than liquid antiseptics for all

TOILET AND WOMEN'S SPECIAL USES
For sale at druggists, 50 cents a box.
Trial Box and Book of Instructions Free.
THE R. PAXTON COMPANY BOSTON, MASS.



900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS/CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK

At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

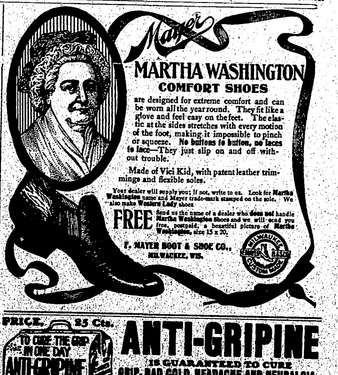
AGAINST THE STORM THERE IS NO PROTECTION IN THE WORLD LIKE TOWER'S SLICKERS FOR SALE BY ALL THE BEST DEALERS
TOWER'S FISH BRAND
A. J. TOWER CO. ESTABLISHED 1836
BOSTON NEW YORK CHICAGO
TOWER CANADIAN CO. Limited, TORONTO, CAN.

CURES CONSTIPATION
It is just about impossible to be sick when the bowels are right and not possible to be well when they are wrong. Through its action on the bowels,

Lane's Family Medicine

cleans the body inside and leaves no lodging place for disease. If for once you wish to know how it feels to be thoroughly well, give this famous laxative tea a trial.

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.



Mayer

MARTHA WASHINGTON COMFORT SHOES
are designed for extreme comfort and can be worn all the year round. They fit like a glove and feel easy on the feet. The elastic at the sides stretches with every motion of the foot, making it impossible to pinch or squeeze. No buttons to button, no laces to lace—They just slip on and off without trouble.

Made of Vici Kid, with patent leather trimmings and flexible soles.

Your dealer will supply you; if not, write to us. Look for Martha Washington name and Mayer trade-mark stamped on the sole. We also make Western Lady shoes.

FREE Send us the name of a dealer who does not handle Martha Washington Shoes and we will send you free, postpaid, a beautiful picture of Martha Washington, size 15 x 20.

F. MAYER BOOT & SHOE CO., MILWAUKEE, WIS.

TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY
ANTI-GRIPINE

PRICE, 25 Cts.

ANTI-GRIPINE
IS GUARANTEED TO CURE GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.
I won't sell Anti-Gripine to a dealer who won't Guarantee it. Call for your MONEY BACK IF IT DON'T CURE.
F. W. Diemer, M.D. Manufacturer, Springfield, Mo.

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MINNEAPOLIS. Woodward & Co., Grain Commission. DULUTH.
ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS.

CORRESPONDENCE

DOROTHY.

Last Monday occured the marriage of Miss Eva Cassavaunt and Edward O'Neil. The wedding was celebrated at the home of the young couple among a host of friends.

Arthur Tebeau, a young man of twenty three here on a visit from Michigan, is very sick at the home of his uncle Regis Huot. His end is hourly expected. And all that mortals can do to make that peaceful is being done.

Rev. Father Pillion of Gently was called to the bed side of Arthur Tebeau last Friday to administer the last sacrements of the church.

There is still over a weeks threshing left in this locality and the farmers are wishing the fine weather will keep on.

In some unaccountable way a door in one of the grain bens of the Dorothy elevator came open last Sunday night ond Monday morning about six hundred bushels of wheat had ran out into the sand pit.

The Dorothy school was this week furnished with the necessary apparatus as provided by the state law to become a semi-graded school and get state aid.

Found a good pair of buckskin mits at the elevator in charge of James Hance. Owner can have same by proving property and paying for this notice.

BROOKS.

A. and Oscar Morin and Frank St. Marain drove to Red Lake Falls to visit friends and relatives.

H. L. Premo came back from St. Paul Monday morning having been down with two car loads of cattle.

Rock Fortier is back from Red Lake Falls. Mr. Fortier was one of the grand jurors.

R. Poirer, Walter Quesnell and Zatique Bray drove to Red Lake Falls Friday to attend the M. W. A. dance and report having a good time.

F. Kennedy and Geo. Blasdell left Thursday for St. Paul with 2 car loads of cattle and a large consignment of turkeys.

Wm Findiesen was here Saturday on business.

Joe Helm jr was here Friday collecting.

Joe Fortier was a business caller Saturday.

R. Porier agent of the H. C. Selden Lumber Co. drove to Red Lake Falls Saturday.

On account of Thanksgiving Day the Northern Pacific will sell tickets to all points on its line in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota at one and one third fare for the round trip Tickets on sale Nov. 29 and 30 with final return Dec. 4th F. A. Mizen, Agent.

ST. HILAIRE.

Miss Mabel Hannay, Alice Hall, Katie Patterson, Mrs Jens Nelson and Mrs O. F. Post went to Crookston Saturday evening to attend "Tenderfoot.

Mrs. W. A. Arthur will entertain the Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church Thursday Nov. 23. All are invited.

Mrs. J. K. Hannay, who has been ill the past two weeks is improving although she is unable yet to be up.

There will be an auction and social for the benefit of the Swedish Luthern church at the home of Anton Peterson in Wyandotte. Saturday evening Nov. 25. to which every one is invited.

Henry Enderle, of Plummer spent Sunday in town.

Miss Selina Hoff visited friends at Thief River Falls last Wednesday.

The ladies of the Norwegian Synod church made $41 at their "lutefisk" supper last Thursday evening. This proves that the reputation of the ladies as cooks is well established.

The passenger train changed time Monday. It arrives from Crookston about 11 o'clock a. m. and from Thief River Falls about 4.55 p. m.

The Farmers institute will be held in the village hall in St. Hilaire at 10 a. m. next Friday Nov. 24th. There will be no charges and every farmer in this vicinity is invited to be present.

Hon. L. C. Simons was up from Red Lake Falls last Wednesday to attend the annual meeting of the Merchants State Bank. All the old directors were re-elected for the ensuing year.

The saw mill is still running and from all appearances will break all records for late running. Last year it closed Nov. 21th the latest in the mill's history and this year will do still better.

The farmers have started hauling stone and sand for the foundation of the new ice house and extention of the creamery.

Go To Sunny California

where you can spend the winter out of doors regaining your health and strength among pleasant surroundings. The Northwestern line offers very low rates and comfortable tourist car service to California. For information as to rates, etc., write to T. W. Teasdale, G P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

Lost, between tho Chas Bourdon residence and the school house a pin with an opal setting prized as an heirloom. Call at the Courier office for suitable reward.

MAKES DEAF HEAR.

Wonderful Newly Discovered Medicines That Miraculously Cure Deafness.

A marvelous Medicine that is effecting the most startling cures in this and other parts of the country is reported to have cured Mr. John Linstrem of Duluth, Minn., of Deafness.

In a signed statement Mr. Linstrem tells of the seemingly miraculous result of the use of the New Medicine in his case. He says in part: "I heard of the great cures that were being effected with the Cooper Remedies and decided to try them. I had been deaf for several years. An awful ringing noise in my head caused me much discomfort."

"After the first application of the wonderful Cooper Medicines my hearing improved and I now hear better than I have for years."

Coopers Quick Relief is the assistant remedy to Cooper's New Discovery and is a never failing cure for Catarrhal Deafness. Used together with New Discovery will cure Catarrah, Deafness Rheumatism, Stomach and Kidney Trouble, Blood Diseases and paralysis.

These marvelous medicines expell disease germs from the system; make pure rich blood and give strength and nourishment to every organ of the body.

Cooper's New Discovery costs one dollar per bottle. Cooper's Quick Relief the assistant remedy is fifty cents. Both are sold in Red Lakd Falls by W. A. Schreiter.

THE BUSY STORE

If you want a garment of proven worth, not a flatiron coat in which the defects are hidden by ironing, but soon come out–Landsman cloaks always hang graceful because they're made right in the 1st place. ∧ ∧ ∧

Come in and try one on, compare and see the "proven worth" still there, any style from———$5 to $50.00

The class of furs that appeal to the dressy women are Lanphers not only because they're stylish, but are positively the highest grade for the money--Special value $4.50 Seal boa-@ $3

Your trade for the 1st order is not all our grocery department will hold, but will also make you a satisfied customer to good groceries for the future. ∧ ∧ ∧ ∧ ∧ ∧ ∧ ∧

Highest market prices paid for butter and eggs.

. ˙ . GARCEAU & ZAISER . ˙ .

'PHONE 16

Favored by Both Parties.

Republicans and Democrats alike praise Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs colds and all throat and lung diseases, as no other remedy can compare with it. It is safe and sure, F. T. Slater, merchant, 171 Main St., Gloucester, Mass., writes., "Foley's Honey and Tar cured me of a very bad cough which I had for three months though other remedies failed to benefit me. I can highly recommend it for coughs and colds." Sold a A. L. Reicherts.

Rural School Libraries.

J. W. Olson State Superintendent of schools, in reply to a letter received from Supt. H. T. McAnulty, has the following to say.

In answer to your favor. I beg to advise that rural schools need to invest only $5. per annum for library books. That is, the district must purchase $10. worth of library books, but $5. of this expense will be met by the state library aid, if the orders are sent in on time, so to meet the library requirement the district will have to spend only $5. a year.

Under the rules of the department, the district must add a few books each year, regardless of its library equipment.

Try an "I Lead" cigar, only 5c, guaranteed to give satisfaction; if you want something better smoke a "B. B."

Metropolitan College

HUTCHINSON, MINN.

Our new $50,000 College Building, located on a beautiful ten acre campus on Brooklyn Heights, overlooking the city.

OPENS NOVEMBER 6, 1905

Courses: Bookkeeping, Office Practice, and Higher Accounting; Shorthand and Typewriting; Telegraphy; Preparatory Department in English from the lowest grades and up, qualifying the student for entrance to high schools, or colleges; also courses in Civil Service and Music.

Individual and Class Instruction. Students enter at anytime. No entrance examination. Tuition, $50 for 10 months.

Board at the Dormitory, $2 per week. Elegantly furnished, steam heated and electric lighted rooms at $3 per month. Lavatories, toilets, and bathrooms on every floor of the Dormitory.

An ideal college, located in a model college city, two hours from Minneapolis; a college for men and women of all ages, nonsectarian; exemplary government; recommended by the mayors of Minneapolis and Hutchinson, and by every church, business house, and bank wherever known.

This college is under the management of the Metropolitan Commercial College, 329 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, and the student may change from one college to the other without the loss of a single lesson. Nowhere else in the United States can you find better equipped Commercial, Shorthand, or Telegraph departments. Our teachers are the best money can secure. The Employment Department connected with our Minneapolis College enables us to place all graduates in positions. Allow us to arrange a course for you, and we will guarantee you a good position as soon as competent.

For full particulars address G. M. Langum, President Metropolitan College, Hutchinson, Minn., or 329 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

A Disastrous Calamity.

It is a disastrous calamity, when you lose your health, because indigestion and constipation have sapped it away. Prompt relief can be had in Dr. King's New Life Pills. They build up your digestive organs, and cure headache, dizziness, colic, constipation, etc. Guaranteed at All Druggists, 25c.

ASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas H. Fletcher.

$40 TO EASTERN CANADA AND BACK

December 4 to 31. Excursion tickets to all points in Ontario. Low rates to points in Quebec east of and including Montreal. Five daily trains, St. Paul to Chicago, via the

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway

Direct connections at St. Paul Union Depot with all trains from the Northwest. Route of the Daylight Express, The Fast Mail and the Pioneer Limited. Request your nearest railroad agent to ticket you via The Milwaukee Road between St. Paul and Chicago.

For complete information write to

W. B. DIXON, N. W. P. A., 365 ROBERT STREET ST. PAUL.

"SAVED MY LIFE"

—That's what a prominent druggist said of Scott's Emulsion a short time ago. As a rule we don't use or refer to testimonials in addressing the public, but the above remark and similar expressions are made so often in connection with Scott's Emulsion that they are worthy of occasional note. From infancy to old age Scott's Emulsion offers a reliable means of remedying improper and weak development, restoring lost flesh and vitality, and repairing waste. The action of Scott's Emulsion is no more of a secret than the composition of the Emulsion itself. What it does it does through nourishment—the kind of nourishment that cannot be obtained in ordinary food. No system is too weak or delicate to retain Scott's Emulsion and gather good from it.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

SCOTT & BOWNE Chemists 409 Pearl St., N. Y. 50c. and $1; all druggists

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat

THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..

Always Uniform Absolutely Pure

MAKE MONEY by sending your HIDES, FURS ETC. to us. We pay high prices & sell [illegible]

N. W. HIDE & FUR CO. [illegible]

Counterfeiting The Genuine.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates [illegible]

HistoricalSociety
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 8. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1905. WHOLE NO. 372.

DISTRICT COURT GRIND

Convened Monday for the Adjourned Session of October Term.

Judge Watts convened court last Monday. There seemed to be a conspiracy to keep the genial Judge from transacting any business the first day, at least nothing came to trial.

On Tuesday one of the Daoust cases was taken up and disposed of Casper Weiner, indicted on the charge of violation of the game laws, was discharged from custody and the case dismissed against him Tuesday evening, account of the fact of the absence of the complaining witness. Tuesday evening was spent in picking the jury in the case of State of Minn. vs, Frank Cernousek. The defendant is charged with manslaughter in the shooting of a man named Danielson while resisting arrest, at Thief River Falls some months ago. Wednesday was taken up in the examination of witnesses and it is not likely the witnesses will all be examined before Thursday noon, when the case will go to the jury.

The Cernousek case will be followed by the case of State of Minn., vs Wm. Farley, charged with indecent assault. This in town will be followed by the case of Louis Seiff vs, Felix Fouonet, et, al which has been tried once before this term but the jury failed to agree. Court will probably adjourn Saturday.

A Winter Vacation

spent in California offers unlimited healthful pleasures. Boating, surf-bathing, golfing, and other out door sports will do wonders for the tired mind and body. The Northwestern Line offers very low rates to California and also provides very comfortable tourist car service from Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. For rates and other information, wrfte to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

WILL NOT LOSE LAND

Settlers to Be Allowed to Make Deferred Payments.

Quite a furore was created the past summer when homesterders who had bid in farms at the sale of Red Lake reservation homesteads at Thief River Falls a year ago last June neglected to pay the second installments within the time prescribed by law and their proffered payments a day or two after the time limit had expired were rejected by the officials of the Crookston land office. Under the law the lands were forfeited when the payments were delinquent, ann would have to be re-offered at public sale. The law, however also provided in addition to the forfeiture clause that the secretary of the interior has power to regulate the sale and everything pertaining thereto.

The proffered installments were refused because they were offered too late and the money was returned to the homesteaders under the forfeiture clause. At this turn of affairs Congressman Steenerson took the matter up with the department at Washington and succeeded in convincing the powers that be that the secretary did have the right to grant relief to the delinquent settlers and allow them to make their payments, though the time as provided by law had expired.

As a result of this decision, instructions were received at the Crookston land office last week authorizing them to receive the deferred payments, and delinquents will therefore be allowed to make their payments, receive their receipts and retain their land as though no delinquency had occured.

Congressman Steenerson admitted that under a strict construction of the act opening the land to secure relief for the delinquent settlers it would be necessary to pass an amendment to the act at the coming session of congress. However his efforts to secure relief from the department have proven successful and no amendment will now be necessary.

TO NOTARIES PUBLIC

New Law Regarding Notaries Effective Jan. 1, 1906.

Following is a copy of the law regarding notaries public passed at the last session of of the legislature which goes into effect Jan. 1. 1906:

Every notary public, taking an acknowledgement of an instrument, taking a deposition, administering an oath, or making a notarial protest, shall immediately following his signature to the jurat or certificate of acknowledgment; indorse the date of his commission, such indorsement may be legibly written, stamped or printed on the instrument, but must be disconnected from the seal, and shall be substantially in the following form:

My commission expires———.

Bazaar and New England Supper at Presbyterian Church Next Week.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will held a Bazaar and serve a New England supper at the church parlors next Thursday evening Dec, 7th. There will also be a fine display of useful and fancy articles on sale at nominal prices, sale to begin at 6:30, Supper will be served from six o'clock throughout the evening for 25c.

The menu is as follows:

Baked Beans. Brown Bread.
Roast Pork. White Bread.
Roast Veal. Mashed Potatoes.
Apple Sauce. Cranberry Sauce.
Cold Slaw. Pickles. Jelly.
Doughnuts. Pumpkin.
Coffee.

Thanksgiving Excursions.

The Great Northern Railway will sell round trip tickets at the rate of one fare and one-third, on account of Thanksgiving Day, to all points on the system, east of Montana. Tickets will be on sale November 29th and 30th with final return limit December 4th, 1805. Ask your local agent for further information.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY DADS

Regular Meeting Held at the City Hall, November 23rd.

Meeting called to order by Fred Borchers President. Roll called: Alderman all present.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved. On motion duly carried the following bills were allowed:

John Deforge,	street work,	$19.80
Julius Keuhl,	do	16.95
Wilfred Bisson,	do	16.20
R. L. Falls Electric Light Co., Street Lights for Oct. 1905,		111.16
Joseph Lambert,	drayage	2.50
Tom Lambert,	labor	1.25
A. P. Toupin,	express	.60

The ordinance granting to the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway Company, its successors and assigns, the right to lay down, construct, maintain and operate a pipe line on 1st street in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, passed its third reading and was declared adopted.

On motion duly carried the council proceeded to canvass the returns of the city election held November 7th, 1905.

For Mayor.

J. A. Duffy received 186 votes and was declared elected.

For Alderman at Large.

Henry Hennemuth rec'd 158 votes.
Wm. P. O'Brien received 169 votes.
Henry Hennemuth and Wm. P. O'Brien were each declared elected.

For Alderman of 1st ward.

James Brady received 39 votes and was declared elected.

For Alderman of 2nd ward.

Fred Borchers received 35 votes and was declared elected.

For Alderman of 3rd ward.

Simon Paul received 59 votes.
Joseph Belair " 56 votes.
Simon Paul was declared elected.

For Treasurer.

O. Emard received 168 votes and was declared elected.

For Justices of the Peace.

S. A. Swanson received 138 votes.
S. L. Lewis received 88 votes.
Adam Zeh received 143 votes.
S. A. Swanson and Adam Zeh were each declared elected.

On motion meeting adjourned.

Fred Borchers President.

Approved this 29th day of November, A. D. 1905.

Attest: J. A. Duffy
A. P. Toupin, Clerk. Mayor.

HOMESTEADER SUICIDE'S

Peter Martinison Discouraged and Disheartensd Shoots Himself,

On Friday p. m. about 3 o'clock Ole Halmen living in Clover Leaf Twp. about ten miles east of Thief River Falls observed a woman wandering around on the prairie near his home. He went over that way and found her to be his neighbor's wife, Mrs. Peter Martinson. She was laboring under great excitement and tried to tell Mr. Holmen there was something wrong at the house. He went over to the house and found Martinson dead. He returned home, drove to Thief River Falls and notified the authorities. County Attorney Germo and Corner Joseph Belair together with Dr. Geo. Tupper drove to the scene of the tragedy on Saturday morning. A coroner's jury was empaneled and an inquest held with the following verdict,—"That said Peter Martinson came to his death by reason of a gunshot wound, which gunshot wound, he the said Peter Martinson inflicted upon himself at his home in said Clover Leaf Twp., Red Lake County, Minn., on the 24th of Nov. 1905, by means of a weapon commonly known as a double barreled shot gun."

About a year ago Mrs. Martinson had applied for a divorce on the ground of cruel and unhuman treatment. A reconciliation was effected, the papers withdrawn and the case dropped. This together with the fact that he was disheartened over the outlook probably led to the tragedy. Mrs. Martinson when called as a witness before the coroner's jury appeared bewildered and could give no clear account of the tragedy.

From all the circumstances it would appear that deceased had tried to kill his wife and a neice six years of age before killing himself. Deceased was sober, industrous and a hard worker but continuious brooding over the lonely life they were living and the discouraging season just passed undoubtedly led to the tragedy. Money and other valuables were found on his person and there was nothing to indicate foul play. Deceased was about 30 years of age. They leave no children.

Splendid Advice.

As winter approaches we always fine a number of farmers disposing of their property and leaving Minnesota for some land of "sunshine and flowers." There many of them find that the sunshine and flowers but poorly compensate them for the sacrifice they have made. The agricultural conditions are altogether different, their crops are scanty because they do not understand the soil—they are not "to the manor born." Climate influences impair their health and their neighbors prove vastly different to the good sympathetic souls they were wont to asociate with at the old home. They soon become surfeited with the sunshine—they long for a snowstorm now and then. They tire of flowers and sigh for the cabbage and the potato plant. They finally become disgusted, and sell out for a pittance, return to Minnesota and rent a farm or work for some one else. If you have a farm in Minnesota hold on to it—don't dispose of it to purchase "climate" in a country you know nothing about. Princeton Union.

REMOVAL
...SALE...

We expect withfn a few days to move out of our present quarters, into the W. A. Reichel Building, next to postoffice and in order to cut down our stock before moving we will sell

...EVERYTHING AT A BIG DISCOUNT...

We quote you a few sample Bargains

12 1-2c Outings	10c
8c Outings	6c
7c Prints	5c

And a like reduction on all dry goods....... | Liberal discount on groceries. . . . . . .

25 per cent. discount on underwear.

-WE MEAN BUSINESS-

EXPECT TO MOVE NEXT WEEK.
NO REDUCTION AFTER REMOVAL

The latest and best goods at much lower prices than you ever got the same quality for before. Goods will be sold cheap but for spot cash only. Come in while the assortment is complete.

J. R. & R. FORTIER

FIRST STATE BANK
OF
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

$100,000 TO LOAN.

This bank is prepared to loan $100,000 00, on acceptable real estate and other securities. Call and see us when ic need. We will make you a farm loan at lowest rates possible.

Interest paid on time deposits. Our vault is protected by the latest improved Burglar Alarm system, which insures absolute safety for your surplus funds. Safely deposit boxes for rent.

FIRST STATE BANK, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored
Copyright 1905 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

BERTHON and ARMSTRONG
MENS' AND BOYS LEADING CLOTHING OUTFITTERS

WE ARE MAKING FRIENDS

right along by our good fitting clothes—our fair prices, and honorable business methods.

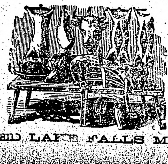
OUR NEXT PROPOSITION
IS A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

Let's sell you your business suit. Our stock represents every late style, every new fabric and all are this season's newest creations—

$8.00 | ALL EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD VALUES | $28.00

ALL SIZES--Suits for tall men--stout men--short men--slim men-
WE CAN FIT YOU.

JIM AND PAUL
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.



THE FALLS MEAT MARKET
Opposite Grand View Hotel
Grosbong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats

Strictly First-Class In Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

For Health and Economy

use

Calumet

Baking Powder

"Best By Test."

Used in Millions of Homes.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

JOHN E. KING, Publisher.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

It is strange that eight scientific electors among the Hall of Fame people should refuse to vote for a woman. It must be narrowness indeed that will deny a woman the just honors of a fame she has justly earned.

The Brown's Valley Tribune makes this observation: "Call a politician popular and he will agree with you, but tell the truth of him and he will get hopping mad. This is probably why some politicians have no regard for the truth.

30

Congress is going to be again asked to print the long report of the lady managers of the Chicago world's fair. Some awful squabbles that these managers got into, and which got into print at the time, had better be kept out of print.

It seems to be settled that Congressman McCleary will not get the appropriations chairmanship, but that the coveted place will go to McCleary's arch enemy, Congressman Tawney. But as long as Mac has the open sesome to the pursestrings of the protetive tariff league he ought to be satisfied.

Try an "I Lead" cigar, only 5c, guaranteed to give satisfaction; if you want something better smoke a "B. B."

The peculiar request of Mr. Thomas Catt, the New York millionaire who gave his body to science, has already borne fruit by proving that a person can live for many months without a pancreas to do the digesting. Imitators of Mr. Catt are needed.

DOESN'T HELP THE FARMER.

The tariff on hides would be a very good thing for the farmer, if the farmer sold the hides as well as raising the cattle that wear them and carry them to market, says the Duluth News-Tribune. In theory this particular tariff is a source of revenue to the cattle raisers and a great help to the cattle trade, but in practice the chief benefit from it is derived by the beef trust.

As the beef trust does not lose anything but the squeal in slaughtering a hog certainly it would not waste the hide or give it back to the farmer, in slaughtering a steer.

But if the farmer could make independent sale of the hides of his cattle he would be confronted by the leather trust and the men who control the beef trust boss the leather trust, so there you are.

If the beef and leather business were not so closely "trusted," the case would be more tolerable.—The present hide duty act was passed ostensibly to help the downtrodden farmer, but it was enacted at the instance of the liberal and phi'anthropic packers and the farmer gets no benefit, neither does the manufacturer. The manufacturer pays more for his leather and the farmer pays more for his shoes, but the packers get all the benefit.

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF
THE FIRST STATE BANK
OF RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA,

Statement of the condition of First State Bank, at Red Lake Falls' Minn., at close of business on Nov. 9th, 1905. Date of call of Supt. Nov. 9, 1905. Date of report by bank Nov. 9, 1905.

Resources

Loans and Discounts			$ 130,357.16
Overdrafts			$ 1,737.42
Other Bonds, Stocks and Securities			$ 6,824.61
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures			$ 6,000.00
Due from Banks		$ 59,897.06
Checks and Cash Items		$ 2,949.02
Cash on Hand, Items below		$ 8,055.60
Currency	$ 2,989.00
Gold	$ 3,865.00
Silver	$ 1,135.30
Other	$ 66.30
Total Cash Assets		$ 70,901.68	$ 70,901.68
Drafts in Transit			$ 4,262.27
Total			$ 220,083.14

Liabilities

Capital Stock		$ 25,000.00
Surplus Fund		5,000.00
Undivided Profits, Net		772.77
Deposits Subject to Check	$ 53,349.16
Demand Certificates	2,126.86
Cashier's Checks	1,864.32
Due to Banks	4,739.36
Total Immediate Liabilities	62,079.70
Time Certificatee	127,230.67
Total Deposits	189,310.37	$ 189,310.37
Total		$ 220,083.14

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
County of Red Lake. }

I, Theo. Garceau, Cashier of the above named Bank do solemnly swear that the above Statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. Theo. Garceau, Cashier

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 9th day of November, 1905.

(Seal)
G. F. Hennings,
Notary Public.
Red Lake Co. Minn.

Attest:
A. P. Toupin,
Frank E. Hunt.
(Two) Directors.

Give Thanks.

Thursday, the 30th inst., is the day especially set apart by executive proclamation for public thanksgiving. And surely there is much to be thankful for. The prosperity which blesses our county, state and nation is alone well worthy of celebrating by a great, national feast day. Besides this we can all find many reasons for personal thanksgiving if we will but look for them. The day is not meant for an annual settlement of accounts. It is rather in the nature of an overflow meeting. We should daily give thanks to God for the blessings He has bestowed and on next Thursday gather at the feast with our hearts full of joy and summarize and review the good gifts which have been ours during the past year. The Courier hopes that on Thursday every reader will be full of turkey and overflowing with thanks.

LIMITS CHILD LABOR

The state labor commission has been working hard for some time to secure the rigid enforcement of the child labor law throughout the state and its efforts have met with some success. The county school superintendents have been interested in the matter and have greatly aided the commission in looking up children who were not attending school but were working.

"Through the efforts of the county school superintendents," said Labor Commissioner W. H. Williams yesterday, "more children have been restored to our schools than would have been possible in any other way. We have been working hard to secure the enforcement of this law and have been very successful because we have the hearty sympathy of the people of Minnesota. In every case, with the exception of one, where we have prosecuted parties employing children under the age prescribed by law and without the consent of the school board, we have secured a conviction. This one case was in St. Paul."

The success of the labor commission along this line is shown by the number of children who have returned to school since the commission has taken up the matter in earnest. Manufactures and business men refuse to employ a child under sixteen years of age unless he has a certificate from the school board permitting him to leave school, as a heavy fine is attached to such cases. Deputies of the labor commission visit places of employment throughout the state frequently and all cases of employment of child labor are sure to be detected.

JUDGE QUINN DUCKED.

Surprising Answer Given by One who Sought Naturalization.

Judge Quinn, who has been holding court the past two weeks, bears a reputation of being the most austere and dignified judge upon the bench in the state of Minnesota, but a little incident that happened in this court Wednesday of last week was for a moment sufficient to penetrate his judicial armor to the extent that he actually broke into a jolly laugh in open court at a very solem and impressive moment in the judicial proceedings.

A foreigner had made application for his second naturalization papers and the Judge was examining him as to his qualifications, the candidate being a man who had reached the age of forty-five or fifty before coming to this country. He was a native Hollander and his knowledge of the English language was decidedly limited. The candidate acquitted himself in proper manner before the Judge's searching inquiries until the last question was reached, which the Judge pronounced to him in a slow and deliberate manner, "Have you ever affiliated with any organization entering or teaching a disbelief in, or opposition to organized governments?

"Yes," was the instantaneous reply of the candidate. The Judge repeated the question and the candidate gave the same answer. The Judge was in doubt and expressed his surprise at this answer by saying to the candidate, "What-what do you mean?"

The candidate replied with all earnestness and solemnity. "I belong to the Republican party."

It is enough to say that the Judge immediately granted him citizenship for he realizes that a man who is good enough to belong to the Republican party is truly qualified to be a good citizen of this country.—Worthington Advance.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by S. A. Swanson and Ida Swanson, his wife, mortgagors, to Joseph Glatzel, mortgagee, which mortgage was dated on the second (2d) day of April, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Three (1903), and recorded in Record Book Twenty-one (21) of Mortgage Records, on page One Hundred Forty-eight (148), in the office of the Register of Deeds of Red Lake County, Minnesota, on the Eighteenth (18th) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Three (1903), at half past nine o'clock a. m., and said Joseph Glatzel is now the owner and holder of said mortgage. That default has been made in the payment of Eighty-two and 50-100ths Dollars ($82.50) interest due and payable according to the terms and conditions of said mortgage on the second (2d) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Five (1905), and a further default has been made in the payment of the taxes duly levied and assessed upon said mortgaged premises for the years 1903 and 1901; and that by reason of said defaults, said mortgagee has elected and hereby elects and declares the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and is due the sum of Sixteen Hundred Thirty-one Dollars and Nine Cents ($1631.09) at the date of this notice, and no action at law or equity has been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof:

Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the property described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which said property is situated in Red Lake County, Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit:

The North-West Quarter (NW¼) of Section Twenty-seven (27), in Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-four (44), containing One Hundred Sixty (160) acres of land, more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Which said sale will be made by the Sheriff of Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, on Saturday, the Ninth (9th) day of December, A. D. 1905, at two (2) o'clock p. m., at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay the amount then due on said mortgage and the costs of sale, and Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure.

Dated this 23d day of October, 1905.

JOSEPH GLATZEL,
Said Mortgagee.

THOS. F. CRAVEN,
Attorney for said Mortgagee,
Chaska, Minnesota.
o26d7

Order to Examine Accounts.

STATE OF MINNESOTA } ss
County of Red Lake }
IN PROBATE COURT
Special Term, November 27, 1905.

In the matter of the estate of John C. Malmquist, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ernest J. Akerlund, administrator of the estate of John C. Malmquist, deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is ordered that said account be examined, and petition, heard by this Court, on Saturday, the 23rd day of December, A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office, in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, the 27th day of November, A. D. 1905.

By the Court.
(Seal) N. W. TARRANT,
Judge of Probate.
N-30-D-14

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF } ss
TOLEDO, LUCAS COUNTY }

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886, A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal.) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

On account of Thanksgiving Day the Northern Pacific will sell tickets to all points on its line in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota at one and one third fare for the round trip Tickets on sale Nov. 29 and 30 with final return Dec. 4th F. A. Mizen, Agent.

The Northern Pacific announces its annual rates from here to all points in Ontario and Qubec, of $40 round trip. Tickets on sale Dec. 4th. Enquire of F. A. Mizen, Agent.

Many children inherit constitutions weak and feeble, others due to childhood troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children and make them strong 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert.

Ayer's

Feed your hair; nourish it; give it something to live on. Then it will stop falling, and will grow long and heavy. Ayer's Hair Vigor is the only hair food you can buy. For 60 years it has been doing just what we claim it will do. It will not disappoint you.

Hair Vigor

"My hair used to be very short. But after using Ayer's Hair Vigor a short time it began to grow, and now it is fourteen inches long. This seems a splendid result to me after being almost without any hair."
Mrs. J. H. Fiper, Colorado Springs, Colo.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for

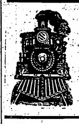
Short Hair

RHEUMATISM AN INSIDIOUS DISEASE THAT BREAKS DOWN THE STRONGEST

Rheumatism does not come on in a day; the causes that produce it work silently in the system for years. This insidious disease becomes intrenched in the blood, and some exposure to cold or damp weather, or slight indiscretion brings on an attack. Poor digestion, stomach troubles, weak Kidneys, torpid Liver, and a general sluggish condition of the system are responsible for Rheumatism. Food souring in the stomach poisons the blood, the failure of the Kidneys and Liver to act properly leaves waste matter and impurities in the system, which, coming in contact with the natural acids of the body, form uric acid. This is absorbed by the blood, and as it penetrates to the muscles, nerves and bones produces the terrible pains and aches and other disagreeable symptoms of Rheumatism. Life is made a torture by its excruciating pains, nerves are shattered, the health undermined, and if the disease is not checked it breaks down the strongest constitution. It will not do to depend on plasters, liniments, etc.; such treatment is helpful in easing the pain and reducing the inflammation, but does not reach the blood where the real trouble is located. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by purifying and invigorating the thin, acrid blood, driving out all impurities and poisons and sending a stream of strong, rich blood to wash out all irritating particles that are causing the pain and inflammation. S. S. S. stimulates the sluggish organs to better action, tones up the stomach and digestion, restores nervous energy and builds up the entire health. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, whether acute or chronic, and the cure is thorough and lasting. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice desired without charge.

S.S.S.
PURELY VEGETABLE.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.



Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stamp for full particulars to-day

National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Name.................. Town.................. State.................. R.F.D.No.................. Age..................

City Meat Market

GEO, L. SAUER, Proprietor.

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

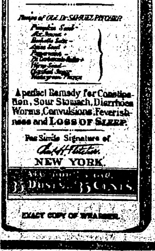
RED LAKE FALLS - - - - - MINNESOTA

SPECIALPRICES

On

HEATING STOVES FOR 30 DAYS.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA



900 DROPS
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral.
NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
NEW YORK.
35 DOSES 35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TIME TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West		Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar. 7:45 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
9:15 A. M.	Crookston	6:45 P. M.
10:00 A. M.	Dugdale	6:00 P. M.
10:35 A. M.	Red Lake Falls	5:25 P. M.
11:05 A. M.	St. Hilaire	4:55 P. M.
11:35 A. M.	Thief River	4:30 P. M.
12:01 P. M.	Steiner	4:05 P. M.
12:15 P. M.	Sandridge	3:52 P. M.
12:40 P. M.	Middle River	3:21 P. M.
1:05 P. M.	Strathcona	2:57 P. M.
1:35 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv. 2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Today's Local Markets.

Wheat No. 1 Hard	72½
" " 1 Northern	71½
" " 2 "	68½
" " 3 "	65½
" " 4 "	61½
" " Rejected	56½
Flax No. 1	86
" No. 2	82
" no grade	76
Barley from	22-31
Oats	25
Hay	$4.50
Wood, poplar	$3.00 to $3.50
Butter 18c.	Eggs 20c.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Don't fail to take in the Band Concert next Wednesday evening.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for real estate loans.

Ralph Healy is laid up this week with an attack of tonsilitis.

Go to Spillane's store for Groceries, Candies, Nuts, Fruitr, Cigars, etc.

J. T. Patterson of St. Hilaire was a business caller at the county seat Friday.

Ch. Christensen of Plummer was a business caller at the county seat on Monday.

The 5c "I Lead" and 10c "B. B" cigars are the best to be had for the money.

Telesphore Robillard spent Friday evening at Crookston the guest of friends.

Don't buy your Christmas presents until you have seen the display at the Bazaar.

The Great Northern passenger from the south Wednesdry was four hours late.

Unclaimed letters this week at the postoffice as follows; Andrew Leroux and Guy Erickson.

James Sutor was a passenger on Wednesday's belated train bound for Crookston.

Jim and Paul's, Ad. on the first page is a serious talk on clothing to business men.

Architect Strassburger of Crookston was a caller in this city the early part of the week.

Fortier's Removal Sale Ad on the first page is no humbug. They mean what they say.

The First State Bank is anxious to serve you, attention is called to their Ad. on the first page.

City Attorney L. E. Gassman of Crookston was in the city the early part of the week on legal business.

The Catholic Order of Forresters will have election of officers at their next regular meeting Dec. 8th. 1905.

The "Big Store's" Ad. on the local page contains a list of bargains that should open your purse strings.

Mr. Chapman and F. J. Parker both of Marshall, Minn., arrived Tuesday morning on a land seeking tour.

Rev. Aastad of Thief River Falls held services in the Norwegian Lutheran church in this city last Sunday.

Perl W. Mabey of Theif River Falls was here Monday evening, appearing as counsel for defendant, Casper Weiner.

The "Busy Store" wishes you all a Merry Thanksgiving feast and you will also find a few money savers on their Ad. on the last page.

What makes a nicer Christmas present than a picture? Dosn't cost you very much and is surely appreciated. See W. A. Reichel.

The concert to be given by the band boys next Wednesday bids fair to be a hummer. GET THE HABIT of attending the concerts.

A dozen pictures costs but little and makes twelve acceptable presents for Christmas. Give W. A. Reichel your order for a dozen now.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract. Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

Ole Simonson left Monday evening for points in and about Marshall, Minn. to be absent about ten days on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Henry Gerlach from northwest of town was a pleasant caller at this office Wednesday. Hereafter he gets his mail here instead of at Wylie.

Just wait a moment,— Examine the $220,000.00 statement of the First State Bank. You will find it on the page just across from the local page.

J. E. Savard has a long term boarder in the person of a son who arrived Tuesday morning. Regulation weight and mother and child doing well.

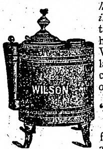
Atty. E. M. Stanton of Thief River Falls came down Monday to attend court. Mr. Stanton is counsel for Frank Cernousek indicted for manslaughter.

James Sutor shipped a car of his household goods to some point in Washington this week. He expects to leave for the west about the 20th of next month.

There will be a dance given in honor of the Football Boys at K. P. hall on Friday evening of this week. Tickets to dance and supper $1.00. Dancing will commence promptly at 8:30.

A Good Stove Cheap

is what you can truthfully say about a
WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER.



All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft that you have heard so much about. A Wilson, if taken good care of, will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary-sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights

from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burners

Would be pleased to show you our line.

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

Mr. and Mrs. Gib. Gross from east of town weree out bound passengers Monday evening for an extended visit with friends near Argyle in Marshall Co.

Mrs. Wm. Knight and one of the twins Sundayed at the home of Dan Linnihan. Evidently Will cannot spare but one of the little ones even for so short a time.

Simon Sutter, one of our up-to-date farmers just north of town left Monday for Greenbush, Warroad and International Falls on a sightseeing trip to be gone a few weeks.

This part of the country is in the grasp of a genuine Iowa blizzard. For the first storm of the season, the one that called on us Monday afternoon certainly was full grown.

Pain may go by the name of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, pleurisy. No matter what names the pains are called, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will drive them away. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert s.

W. T. Spillane is getting nicely located in his own building, next to Sauer's Market and assures you a continuance of the same courteous treatment whenever you need anything in his line.

There was a large and enthusiastic crowd of progressive farmers and business men in attendance at the Farmers Institute last Thursday. Those present say meeting was satisfactory in every way.

Geo. Orr, one of the foremost farmers of Gervais Twp. left Monday evening for a ten days visit with his daughters, Mrs. Barney, Miss Addie Orr and his brother Sumner Orr, at Marshall, Minn.

E. E. and F. F. Fletcher one day last week killed a nice big deer near the Geo. Orr farm in Gervais Twp only a few miles east of town. If there are any deer in the country they can find them.

John Drier spent a day a few miles east of town very profilably the early part of the week as he was fortunate enough to shoot two deer which certainly ought to afford excitement enough for one day.

Wm. Krueger and S. A. Swanson left on a hunting trip the latter part of last week but failed to bring any venison home with them. Bill says he opened up a fusilade on one deer but could not scare it te death.

P. B. Gaass and J. L. Wilkinson left Monday for Greenbush from which point they will head east and endeavor to bring home at least two moose and a few deer. Here's hoping they will not be disapointed.

E. G. Buse, A. L. Reichert and Harry Healy returned Tuesday evening from their deer guest. The boys say the weather conspired to rob them of a possible chance to score, at any rate they failed to bring any deer back with them.

As announced last week, A. L. Reichert, the druggist, has moved from the old stand and will be pleased to have you call on him whenever you are in need of anything in the line of drugs, stationery, cigars, etc, at the new stand in the Blake building directly across from the Grand View Hotel.

Ned Taylor, now employed, as a brakesman in the St. Paul yards for the Northern Pacific, arrived yesterday for a few days visit. Ned used to be chief pill-maker and dope mixer at Reichert's pharmacy and has hosts of friends who are always glad to see him. He says he is here strictly on business.

Elmer E. Sugden, who was Courier foreman during the early part of the month, and left to help out the job offices in the cities at a large weekly salary, is now working again in of the newspapers in the southern part of the state. Evidently all is not gold that glitters and the bottom must have fallen out of the flattering offer made to him.

The 40 hours Adoration will be held at St. Mary's Church Dec. 10 11 & 12. Several visiting priests will be present to add to the solemnity of the celebration. Two sermons will be delivered daily on subjects of vital interest to every one. The 40 hours Adoration is one of the most cherished devotions in the Catholic church, because in it we give public expression of our faith in the Real Presence of Jesus Christ in the most holy sacrament of the altar. Besides this devotion has been enriched by many blessings and Indulgencies, A more detailed announcement will follow next week.

Fr. Ansgar.

If you are troubled with indigestion, constipation, sour stomach, or any other pain, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will make you well. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets At A. L. Reichert's.

...CUT PRICES IN...

GROCERIES

AT THE BIG STORE

LOOK

Prices that will untie your purse. Hundreds have taken advantage of our low prices last week—were you one of them? If not, you are passing up opportunities to save money. We mention below a few only, of our money savers.

DRY GOODS DEPT.

12½c—15c waistings	8c
15c—18c waistings	10½c

they are going fast.

Silk remnants for fancy work ½ price.

Tam O'Shanter Caps 49c
all wool—full shape—all colors.

Henty's famous books for boys—free with boys suits.

New line of sofa pillows, see the finest ever shown in the city.

FANCY DISHES.

Just opened a fine line of Japanese hand painted China 25c to 50c all bargains.

GROCERY DEPT.

After Dinner Mints	10c, 25c
Fancy Almonds	20c
2lb can White House Coffee	69c
Flaked rice	15c
Ginger snaps, some broken	5c
Cronarty Bloaters, each	5c

IT ALWAYS PAYS TO TRADE AT

.THE BIG STORE.

THEO. LaBISSONIERE, Prop.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Inquire at the Big Store.

The Band Concert which was to have been given Tuesday evening was postponed on account of the bad weather. It will be given some evening in the near future of which notice will be given later. Everyone should attend this concert, as it will be fully up to the standard and you should be there just to show Prof. Miller how much interest you take in our band boys.

Messrs. Smedsang, Hanson, Prior, Eckstein and Bergen of Wylie, represented Wylie at the hearing of the injunction suit against the Great Northern at Crookston last week. They expected to have to fight the matter through the courts and were agreeably surprised as well as satisfied with the arrangement made with the company to continue the present railway service at Wylie.

There will be services at the Presbyterian church Sunday at the usual hour. The morning's subject is "Rest under burden," and the evening's subjuct is "The world attidude to the gospel."
Rev. Knox will leave Monday for two weeks evangelistic work at Rollis. Rev. Laury will occupy the pulpit here during Rev. Knox's absence.

$40 FOR THE ROUND TRIP.

To Eastern Canada and Return.

A rate of $40.00 for the round trip has been made by the Great Northern Railway to Montreal and points west thereof in Ontario. These tickets will be on sale from December 4th to 31st inclusive and will be good for three months. Liberal stopover privileges will be allowed going and returning, giving you an opportunity of visiting many points enroute, making your holiday outing a pleasurable one. See your local agent for full information.

Volcano Discovered.

A volcano throwing off molten lava has been discovered in Nevada by McClure, Wheeler and Somers, cattlemen at Lovelock. The volcano is in Rye Patch, Humbolt county. Although that section has been traversed for years, the crater has just been found. The men were in search of cattle when they came on the stream of lava, and, tracing it to its source, found the volcano. When tired, a glass of golden grain belt beer will be found very refreshing and nourishing. To serve it regularly with meals means health and strength. Get a case. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

HAS NO SUBSTITUTE

A Cream of Tartar Powder, free from alum or phosphatic acid

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate gland. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidey Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rock Port, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years although I am now 91 years old." Sold at A. L. Reichert.s

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursdav, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

A Card.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough and heals the lungs. Prevents pneumonia and will cure incipient consumption. Contains no opiates and is safest for children. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and insist upon baving it. Stops the the cough and heals the lungs. Sold at A L. Reicherts.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS and COLDS — Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.

S T Quickest Cure for all and LUNG TROUB-
NEY BACK.

MAKE MONEY

by sending your HIDES, FURS ETC. to us - We pay high prices & sell guns, traps etc cheap

N. W. HIDE & FUR CO.
200 1st St. N. Minneapolis Minn.

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND PRICE LISTS

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

Prevents Serious Results From a Cold.

Remember the name

Foley's Honey and Tar. Insist upon having the genuine.

Three sizes 25c, 50c, $1.00

Prepared only by
Foley & Company, Chicago.

Churches.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Very Rev. E. Fayolle, Rector.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8. and 10 a. m.—Rev. Father Ansgar, Pastor

PRESBYTERIAN—Services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. every Sunday. Sabbath school a 10 a. m. Rev. H. W. KNOX, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

I. O. O. F.—Clearwater Lodge No. 133, meets every Saturday evening at I. O. O. F. hall. Visitors are always welcome.—F. A. Mizen, N. G. William Schwalen, V. G., F. A. Grady, R. S., James E. Ford, F. S.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—Red Lake Falls Lodge No. 160, meets every Monday evening K. of P. hall.—W. A. McIntyre, C. C.; S. L. Lewis, K. of R. and S.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS—Meets every other Friday evening at C. O. F. hall. L. A. Kaufer, Chief Ranger; J. R. Fortier, Recording Secretary.

MODERN WOODMEN—Meets every other Wednesday at M. W. A. hall.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,

Physician and Surgeon

GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.

Office over First State Bank.

J. C. WILKINSON,

Physician and Surgeon

Red Lake Falls, Minn

OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,

DENTIST

At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.

OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER

DENTIST

At Lambert third Monday of each month.

Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,

Attorney at Law

Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.

Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY

Attorneys

Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance

Office over Red Lake Falls
Bank, Red Lake Falls.

St. Benedict's Academy.......

ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.

A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

TIME CARD OF TRAINS.

RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND

No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at........ 7:45 a m

SOUTH-BOUND

No. 156—Departs........ 6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.

Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.

A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

F. A. MIZEN. Agent.

McMURRAY'S VANILLA

WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Ayer's Pills Vegetable, liver pills. That is what they are. They cure constipation, biliousness, sick-headache. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Want your moustache or beard a beautiful brown or rich black? Use BUCKINGHAM'S DYE

FIFTY CTS. OF DRUGGISTS OR R. P. HALL & CO., NASHUA, N. H.

You Are Welcome At The

MERCHANTS STATE BANK

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Even if you have to use most of your money from week to week and month to month, pay it through this bank.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.00

We will loan you money on personal security. We will make farm loans at LOWEST RATES. We will take your money on deposit and pay you 5 per cent per annum. In our savings department we pay 5 per cent on deposits of $1.00 and up. Interest computed May, and November each year.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier.
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

CORRESPONDENCE

ST. HILAIRE.

Miss Bertha Just, who has been visiting her sister Mrs. J. E. Beebe for several months left for her home at Mankato Friday evening.

Misses Eva and Nora Johnson were visitors to Thief River Falls last Wednesday.

Mr. Albert Tellman, and Miss Valborg Peterson, were married Thursday November 23rd at the home of the groom's father J. P. Tellman. The young couple were attended by Charles Carlson and Edward Thompson, Miss Annie Tellman and Asta Peterson. Both have hosts of friends here who extend congratulations and best wishes. They will make their future home in St. Hilaire where the groom is in business.

Miss Grace Higgins, of Thief River Falls visited Miss Mabel Aimer over Sunday.

Miss Etta Zaiser came up Friday to meet her music pupils.

Mrs. Oliver Larson Who has been visitiug Mrs. Daniel Patterson and other old time friends returned to her home at Green Lake, Minn the last of the week.

Lewis Adams has taken charge of the Barbor shop and has moved his family from Grand Forks. Mrs. A. C. Adams of Bellingham. Wash, accompanied him and will remain here some time.

Robt Gebott was called to his old home in Indiana, Monday by the serious illness of his brother.

A. O. Davison and family will go to Red Lake Falls Wednesday evening to spend Thanksgiving at the home of Mrs. Tibbetts, Mrs. Davison's mother.

Miss Katherine Pirath visited her parents at Red Lake Falls over Friday night.

The farmer's institute which was held in the village hall, Friday Nov. 24 was a decided success. In spite of bad weather and rough roads the hall was crowed an the farmers recieved much useful information.

The saw mill closed down Friday afternoon, Nov. 24. after a very successful season.

Misses Mitilda and Clara Lund were Thief River Falls visitors Wedneseay.

Daniel Patterson attended a meeting of the county commissioners at Red Lake Falls Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Wilson visited relatives at Grand Forks from Thursday until Monday.

AFTER TEN YEARS

Railroad Switchman tells Remarkable story of his experience. Relief at Last.

Nearly a quarter of a century of ill health and suffering had left its mark on Mr. Steven Clifford, a prominent railroad switchman, living at 2709 Central Ave., Minneapolis. Yet, according to his signed statement, so quickly has his trouble been removed that his cure seems little short of miraculous.

"I have been a sufferor from Catarrh for twenty-two years and although I tried many remedies' nothing seemed to afford any relief When L. T. Cooper, the philanthropist, was in Minneapolis with his New Discovery Medicines I heard of many marvelous cures that were being effected and the proof of their efficiency was so strong that I decided to try them."

"I have taken Cooper's New Diecovery and Quick Relief for about one week and the result has been wonderful. It has made a new man of me in this short time and I feel better and stronger and happier than I have felt for years."

Cooper's New Discovery drives every trace of disease poison from the system: it purifies, enriches the blood: it strengthens every organ in body and will cure Catarrh, Deafness, Rheumatism, Stomach and Kidney Trouble, Blood Diseases and Paralysis.

Cooper's New Discovery costs one dollar per bottle: the Quick Relief which should be used in connection is fifty cents.

W. A. Schreiter, Mr. Cooper's Speciai Agent for Red Lake Falls has the remedies for sale.

Just Read This

When you send your money to the cities you

1. Deal with strangers.
2. Pay for goods in advance.
3. Buy from printed nescriptions.
4. Pay freight and express charges.
5. Always pay full prices.
6. Help some cities millionaires.
7. Must always pay cash.
8. Wait for goods and fret.

But when you spend your money at home you

1. Deal with people you know.
2. Get goods delivered free.
3. Return goods if not satisfied.
4. Build up home enterprise.
5. Buy with the goods before you.
6. Don't pay until you get the goods.
7. Are given credit when necessary.
8. Often get special bargains.
9. Enchance your own property.

The Wadena Tribune publishes the above which was clipped from a circular issued by a local firm in Wisconsin. Many other just as good reasons could be given for giving your home dealer your patronage.

Man's Unreasonableness.

is often as great as woman's, But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth. Ind., was not unreasonable when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble, "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties," Guaranteed by all Druggists; 50c.

Son Lost Mother.

"Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my mother," writes E. B. Reid, of Harmony, Me. "For the past five years, however. on the slightest sign of a Cough or Cold, I have taken Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved me from serious lung trouble." His mother's death was a sad loss for Hr. Reid, but he learned that lung trouble must not be neglected, and how to cure it. Quickest relief and cure for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed at All Druggists. Trial bottle free.

Counterfeiting The Genuine.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction, It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Sold at A.L. Reichert's

We are in receipt of a copy of the Fifth Decennial Census of Minnesota. In 1895 our city only had 1002 people and in 1905, 1797 people, an increase for the ten years of 795, which indicates that we along with the rest of Northern Minnesota are growing.

THE BUSY STORE

Thanksgiving day over we hope every patriotic American has been able to partake of the proverbial turkey.

Thanksgiving also marks for us the beginning of our busiest season, the holidays, expecting a busier season than usual.

You will find our store filled up with the desirable holiday goods.

FANCY DRY GOODS.

An excellent line of art needle work. Linens from .... 10c to $2.00

Needleworks–hair receivers, calenders, match scratchers, not embroidered, from...... 10c to 25c

...Beautiful line of high quality linens...

GOOD FURS—LANPHERS

This cold weather is fur weather, we notice it by the way people take advantege of those $4.50 seal boas, just a few left at............ $3.00

Fox furs from .... $16.00 to $25.00

HIGH GRADE GROCERIES ONLY

We overbought of Red-Bird sliced peaches, worth 25c, one week, can...... .... 18c

Housewifes know a good coffee, they try our No. 99 and ask for the same. Its only, per lb.. 25c

RUBBERS AT LAST YEAR PRICES

Not because they're from last year, but we bought them right. Mens' Arctic overshoes at $1.00

1st quality lumbermen's rubbers at.......... $1.25

....Fancy rubbers for men, women and children....

GARCEAU & ZAISER

'PHONE 16

Favored by Both Parties.

Republicans and Democrats alike praise Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs colds and all throat and lung diseases, as no other remedy can compare with it. It is safe and sure, F. T. Slater, merchant, 171 Main St., Gloucester, Mass., writes., "Foley's Honey and Tar cured me of a very bad cough which I had for three months though other remedies failed to benefit me. I can highly recommend it for coughs and colds." Sold a A. L. Reicherts.

Avoid the Wintry Blasts

by going to California. Your health is your real wealth. The sunshine and out of door life in California will do wonders toward building up the tired mind and body. Through tourist cars leave Minneapolis and St. Paul via the North-Western Line every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. For further information address T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A. St. Paul, Minn.

A Disastrous Calamity.

It is a disastrous calamity, when you lose your health, because indigestion and constipation have sapped it away. Prompt relief can be had in Dr. King's New Life Pills. They build up your digestive organs, and cure headache, dizziness, oclic, constipation, etc. Guaranteed at All Druggists, 25c.

The Courier $1. one year.

"SAVED MY LIFE"

—That's what a prominent druggist said of Scott's Emulsion a short time ago. As a rule we don't use or refer to testimonials in addressing the public, but the above remark and similar expressions are made so often in connection with Scott's Emulsion that they are worthy of occasional note. From infancy to old age Scott's Emulsion offers a reliable means of remedying improper and weak development, restoring lost flesh and vitality, and repairing waste. The action of Scott's Emulsion is no more of a secret than the composition of the Emulsion itself. What it does it does through nourishment—the kind of nourishment that cannot be obtained in ordinary food. No system is too weak or delicate to retain Scott's Emulsion and gather good from it.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

SCOTT & BOWNE
Chemists
409 Pearl St., N. Y.

PREPARE FOR SLEIGHING

I am showing the most complete line of bob sleighs, cutters and home made jumpers in the country at prices that suit the times.

SLEIGHS MADE TO ORDER

My line of farm machinery for the spring trade will comprise the usual well known lines.

S. A. SWANSON
THE MACHINE MAN

RED LAKE FALLS MINNESOTA

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat

THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..

Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

Burlington Route

TO FLORIDA

via the Burlington's
SCEN C LINE
at special
REDUCED RATES

In effect every day now, tickets good returning any time before June 1, 1906.
Send your name and address for full information concerning Scenic Line Service.

F. M. RUGG, Northwestern Passenger Agent,
Germania Life Building St. PAUL.

$40 TO EASTERN CANADA AND BACK

December 4 to 31. Excursion tickets to all points in Ontario. Low rates to points in Quebec east of and including Montreal. Five daily trains, St. Paul to Chicago, via the

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway

Direct connections at St. Paul Union Depot with all trains from the Northwest. Route of the Daylight Express, The Fast Mail and the Pioneer Limited. Request your nearest railroad agent to ticket you via The Milwaukee Road between St. Paul and Chicago.

For complete information write to

W. B. DIXON, N. W. P. A., 365 ROBERT STREET ST. PAUL.

Try Courier Job Work

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Historical Society

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 9. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1905. WHOLE NO. 373.

LESSONS IN FARMING

The Agriculturial Department of the University Have Arranged for an Eight Week's Course.

Investigations and experiments by scientific men are uniting to produce great changes in the practice of agriculture, and the management of live stock. In order to keep up with the times the farmer must bring himself into close relations with recent investigations, discoveries and methods relating to his business.

To meet the needs of men of mature years who are busy on the farm the greater portion of the year, the Department of Agriculture of the University of Minnesota has established what is known as the "Short Course for Farmers," which has been in operation for five years. For the coming year some important changes are to be made in this course which will, it is hoped, make it still more useful and popular. This course will open Jan. 9th. During the first six weeks a course of lectures on subjects of vital interest to Minnesota farmers will be given.

Following the lecture course, two weeks will be devoted to judging grains, dairy stock and live stock, including horses, cattle, sheep and swine.

For the entire course of 8 weeks a registration fee of $10 will be charged. For those who take only two weeks of judging or any part thereof the registration fee will be $3.00.

Farmers wishing to register for this course or desiring further information should write to Jas. M. Drew, St. Anthony Park, Minn.

Firemen Meet.

At the regular monthly meeting of of the fire company held Saturday evening Mr. Geo. Hennings was appointed treasurer of the Firemen's Relief Ass'n., vice Ralph Wyer, resigned. Mr. Wyer is now a resident of Toronto, Canada. Mr. Harry Healy was also appointed trustee in place of Sam Allard.

BORGEN LEAVES BRANDON.

Editor Carl Borgan has resigned as postmaster at Brandon, and there is a lively contest on to fill his shoes. The contestants are Dr. Meckstroth, Wigo Werner and Thorston Hanson; all good fellows, with ability to look after Uncle Sam's postoffice matters in their town. We understand, Mr. Borgan has also disposed of his newspaper, the Brandon Echo, and it is now under the management of Mr. Carl Wold, one of the wide awake merchants of Brandon. Mr. Borgan will go to Red Lake Falls, to take charge of State Librarian King's paper. Carl is a good fellow, and we wish him the best of luck in his new location.—Alexandria Citizen.

A Pleasant Function.

Messrs. and Mesdames S. M. Sivertson, Germo and Mrs. E. F. Marshall attended the dedicatory ceremonies of the new Masonic temple at Thief River Falls Monday evening last.

Those attending from here report it one of the most enjoyable and notably social functions they have attended for a long time and the hospitality of the Thief River Falls people simply superb.

Thos. Dagle Found Dead

Thos. Dagle of Emardville Twp was found dead in the snow drift a week ago Wednesday, about fifteen rods from his home. He rode nearly home from Plummer with a neighbor and started to walk the balance of the way. Heart disease was undoubtedly the cause of his death. Deceased was 66 years, of age and leaves eight children, three of whom were living with and dependent upon him, Funeral services were held Tuesday.

A Fearful Fate

It is a fearful fate to have to endure the terrible torture of Piles. "I can truthfully say," writes Harry Colson, of Masonville, Ia., "that for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, Bucklen's Arnica Salve, is the best cure made." Also best for cuts, burns and injuries. 25c at all druggists.

SPLENDID BAND CONCERT

Second Indoor Concert of the Season of '05—'06 was Well Attended and Fully up to the Standard.

The Red Lake Falls Concert Band under the direction of Prof. Frank E. Miller gave their second indoor concert to a fairly large audience at the Metropolitan Opera House last evening.

Each selection was well rendered and was enthusiastically applauded. The band boys responded to the continued applause after the second selection by rendering a new march, just received, in splendid style and just as though they had played it for years. The selection rendered by Messrs Miller, Berthon, Tracy and Healy won merited and long continued applause.

The two recitations given by Miss Carrie Altstadt and Miss Clara Rue were well rendered and were applauded to the echo.

Just before the last selection Prof. Chamberlain in a few well chosen words thanked the audience on behalf of the band for their support and attendance. Hereafter the concerts will commence promptly at 8:30. GET THE HABIT of attending and be sure and be in your seat before 8:30.

California -The Land of Enchantment.

An ideal place to spend a winter vacation. Your health will be greatly benefitted by the boating, surf bathing, golfing, tennis and other out of door pleasures that may be enjoyed in California, even in midwinter. The North-Western Line offers very low rates to California, and the tri-weekly tourist car service from Minneapolis and St. Paul on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, is of the best. For information as to rates, etc., Write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A., St. Paul Minn.

The COURIER, $1.00 per year.

St. Mary's Church Dec. 10-11-12

Four visiting priests will enhance the solemnity of the 40 hours adoration at St. Mary's Church Dec. 10-11-12. Fr. Isidore of St. Johns University, Fr. Charles of Moorhead, Fr. Adolph of Thief River Falls and Fr. Edward of West Union. Hours of service at 10 every morning high mass and sermon and at 7:30 every evening sermon and benediction with the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed at 8 a. m.

Next Sunday after high mass the Blessed Sacrament will be carried in procession through the church. Tuesday morning at 10 a solemn high mass with deacon and subdeacon will be celebrated and on Tuesday evening at 7:30 will occur the solemn closing of the celebration.

A plenary indulgence can be gained by every one receiving the Sacraments during these days and a partial indulgence of seven years and seven quarantines as often as the church is visited and prayers are offered for the welfare of Gods church. Every one is cordially invited to attend.

—Fr. Ansgar.

HE IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Frank Cernousek is Acquitted of Charge of Murder by Jury.

The trial at Red Lake Falls of Frank Cernousek, charged with having willfully taken the life of John Danielson, as resulted in a verdict of not guilty Thursday afternoon. No damaging evidence was produced by the state, a mere statement of the killing of Danielson, which has appeared in the local paper several times, being about all the state had to work on.

A Winter Vacation

spent in California offers unlimited healthful pleasures. Boating, surf-bathing, golfing, and other out door sports will do wonders for the tired mind and body. The Northwestern Line offers very low rates to California and also provides very comfortable tourist car service from Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. For rates and other information, write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

Notice to Stockholders

To the stockholders of the Poplar River Cheese Factory Association:

You are hereby notified that a meeting of the stockholders of the above named association will be held at Brooks, Minn., Tuesday, Dec. 12th., at 1 p. m.

The following specific business will be brought before this meeting and you are urgently requested to be present.

Proposed amendments to provide as follows, to-wit:

A change in the name of the association.

An increase in the amount of capital stock.

An increase in the amount of indebtedness that may be contracted by the association.

The adoption of such resolutions or resolution making provisions for a loan to meet the present indebtedness of the association.

Adoption of by-laws.

Election of officers for the ensuing year.

By order,
—Joseph Pigeon, Pres.
—O. C. Moore, Secy.

The Companion as a Chtisrmas Gift.

Can you think of a gift more certain to be acceptable than a year's subscription to THE YOUTH'S COMPANION! Is there any one, young or old, who, having once had the paper in his hands and looked through it, did not wish to possess it for his very own? It is a gift which far from losing its freshness as Christmas recedes into the past, grows more delightful, more necessary to one's enjoyment week by week.

The boy likes it, for it reflects in its pages every boyish taste and every fine boyish inspiration. The father likes it, not only for its fiction but for its fund of information of the practical sort. The girl likes it for the stories, anecdotes, sketches and editorial articles printed in each number especially for her. The mother likes it for the stories of domestic life and family affection, for its children's page and for its medical article.

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price, the publishers send to the new subscriber all the remaining issues of THE COMPANION for 1905 and the "Minutemen" Calendar for 1906, lithographed in gold and twelve colors.

Full illustrated Announcement of the new volume for 1906 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass.

Sir Knights Elect.

The Knights of Pythias at their meeting last Monday evening elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: J. B. Armstrong, C. C., F. F. Fletcher, V. C., H. W. Anderson, Prelate., J. E. Argne M. W., Thos. Germo, M. E., E. G. Buse, M. A., P. Gaass, K. R. & S., & M. F., Arthur Zaiser I. G., S. E. Hunt, O. G. Trustees: S. E. Hunt, E. G. Buse and S. M. Sivertson.

Try an "I Lead" cigar, only 5c, guaranteed to give satisfaction; if you want something better smoke a "B. B."

BERTHON and ARMSTRONG
MENS' AND BOYS LEADING CLOTHING OUTFITTERS

THE "BEST EVER" SUIT

.·.A PROPER PRIDE.·.

should be encouraged especially in
—BOYS—
Its presence is a constant monitor against carelessness. Nothing encourages pride more than PROPER APPAREL

Boys Suits and Overcoats

Boys Caps and Furnishings

The distinct novelties in Boys' apparel are found only at
JIM AND PAUL
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

REMOVAL
...SALE...

....EVERYTHING AT A BIG DISCOUNT...

IN ORDER TO REDUCE OUR STOCK

Friday and Saturday Only

The latest and best goods at much lower prices than you ever got the same quality for before. Goods will be sold cheap but for spot cash only. Come in while the assortment is complete.

-WE MEAN BUSINESS-

WE WILL BE IN THE W. A. REIDEL BUILDING
NEXT DOOR TO POST OFFICE
ON MONDAY NEXT

We trust that our courteous treatment in the past will merit your patronage in the future. We make this move solely in your interest, our rent is less and our profit is correspondingly less.

J. R. & R. FORTIER

FIRST STATE BANK
OF
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

$100,000 TO LOAN.

This bank is prepared to loan $100,000.00 on acceptable real estate and other securities. Call and see us when in need. We will make you a farm loan at lowest rates possible.

Interest paid on time deposits. Our vault is protected by the latest improved Burglar Alarm system, which insures absolute safety for your surplus funds. Safety deposit boxes for rent.

FIRST STATE BANK, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET
Opposite Grand View Hotel
Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.

Strictly First-Class in Every Respect

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

THE COURIER
JOHN E. KING, Pub.
Red Lake Falls, Minn

The roller-skating fad is coming in again. Will it also bring back the bustle?

Japan is enjoying the fact that "peace hath her victories" much more than Russia is.

Up to date, the Audubon society hasn't taken any steps for the protection of the turkey.

King Edward's birthday cake, with the sixty-four blazing candles on it, must have been a sight.

Automobile riding, according to the doctors, is good for digestion. When taken, to be well shaken?

Chicago is said to contain 18,000 deserted wives. Somebody will have to start another cooking-school.

Norway may recall that the first king to reign over the children of Israel also was chosen by the people.

With call money at 20 on the New York stock exchange, dear old Uncle Russell Sage must be doing tolerably well.

Even though Henry Labouchere approves the corset, no one will accuse him of wearing one. He is anything but staid.

China is talking of having a constitution. It must have concluded that the ways of the foreign devils are not so bad, after all.

Pobiedonostseff is done for in Russia. He goes down with the bureaucrats. The newspaper compositors will be glad he is gone.

That Minnesota boy who has had 4,000 bits of rock taken out of his body must have had as much fun as if he had played football.

The British Medical Journal says men's necks are longer than they used to be. Before the introduction of the peek-a-boo shirtwaist?

It is to be hoped that the New York society ladies took their fancywork along when they were invited out to meet Prince Henry of Battenberg.

New York's new national theater, directed by Herr Conried, will be a great institution. Perhaps some time some other dreams also may come true.

The Pawtucket girl who twisted her neck out of joint in a nightmare probably dreamed that she was examining the latest fashions during a street promenade.

The latest "holy war" is about to be waged on Armenian Christians by Turks and Tartars. The Moslem means to get even for the crusades, if it takes all summer.

Lieut. Burbank, who has been trying to graft a scandal on the army, should not be confounded with the California wizard of the same name who does commendable kinds of grafting.

It is asserted, on the other hand, that big hats for women are not going out of fashion. The report that they were, doubtless, was started by some designing masculine person.

Port Arthur fell, and England should not be too cock-sure about the Rock of Gibraltar. Nothing in this world is invulnerable. Last week a Missouri mule was blown up by dynamite.

Reports from Santa Domingo say another revolution is brewing there. This is the first we have heard from Santo Domingo for several months. Somebody must have administered an anesthetic.

Our friends the Koreans will now please prepare to remove their tall hats. There will be a Jap of one kind or another passing along the picturesque highways almost every minute of the day.

Navy officers in Washington uphold the custom of permitting midshipmen in the Naval Academy to settle disputes with fist fights. They evidently believe that a fighter gets practice every time he fights.

Admiral Nebogatoff has returned to Russia and explains that he surrendered to the Japs in order to keep his sailors from getting hurt. It would be no more than right for the sailors to adopt a vote of thanks.

The story that the statue of William Penn on top of Philadelphia city hall's tall tower was seen doing a song-and-dance act after the football game, in which Pennsylvania defeated Harvard, is undoubtedly a pure invention.

The New York bank clerk who forged a check and got $359,000 on it "just for a joke" has been sentenced to the Elmira reformatory. He is probably beginning by this time to have a faint suspicion that the joke was on him.

A man who leads germans has been elected mayor of Providence, R. I., a professional violinist has succeeded himself as mayor of San Francisco, and a novelist was chosen mayor of Toledo. Art and politics may yet go hand in hand.

RESUME OF THE NEWS

Fresh——Reliable——Brief

Washington.

There will be no flowers in either house on the opening day of congress. A standing resolution of the senate was adopted at the last session of congress barring flowers from the senate chamber.

When the famous battleship Oregon, now on the way to American waters from the Asiatic station, reaches the United States she will be put out of commission and given a thorough overhauling.

Edwin V. Morgan, just relieved from his post as American minister at Seoul, Korea, by reason of the establishment of a Japanese protectorate there, has been appointed American minister to Havana, to succeed Herbert G. Squires, whose cabled resignation has been received and accepted.

It has unofficially leaked out that at a recent cabinet meeting Ethan Allen Hitchcock, secretary of the interior, expressed a desire to retire at the end of the present fiscal year. The cabinetmakers are already busy and have almost agreed upon the selection of Vespacian Warner, now commissioner of pensions, to succeed Mr. Hitchcock.

Without formality the final chapter in the bloody war between Russia and Japan was enacted in the diplomatic room of the state department Saturday afternoon, when at five minutes past 4 o'clock Baron Rosen, Russian ambassador, and Mr. Takahira, Japanese minister, on behalf of their respective sovereigns, exchanged ratifications of the treaty of Portsmouth, which was signed Sept. 5 last.

Foreign.

King Haakon, before the Norwegian parliament, took the oath to support the constitution.

The Canadian Northern has completed a line down into Edmonton, thus becoming a competitor of the Canadian Pacific to points west from Winnipeg to Edmonton.

War Minister Weyler has left Madrid for Barcelona to investigate and repress the Catalonian disorders. These have assumed serious proportions between the military and separatist elements.

The Sultan, through Tewfik Pasha, the foreign minister, has announced to Baron von Calice, the ambassador of Austro-Hungary, that Turkey accedes to the demands of the powers regarding the financial control of Macedonia.

The steamer Ikuta, bound for the Liaotung peninsula, collided with the steamer Fukura, near Mutsure, not far from Shimonoseki. The Ikuta, which was struck amidships, sank immediately. Most of those on board were saved. Eleven are missing.

Among several names mentioned for the resident generalship at Seoul is that of Premier Katsura. Should he be appointed, the premiership would then go either to Marquis Ito, now president of the privy council, or to the Marquis Saionji, the president of the constitutional party.

A slight shock of earthquake was recorded in all the observatories of Italy last week. It was felt especially throughout the eastern, central and southern parts of the country, but caused little damage except to the cathedral of Ariano in Apulia, in the extreme southeastern section, which suffered considerably. No lives were lost.

Criminal.

Edmund J. Bailey, a miner, who shot and killed Jay Lauder, secretary of the Lawder-Peterson Coal company, was hurriedly taken from the county jail at Mexico, Mo., to avoid a mob which was organizing down town.

Senator Burton of Kansas, who was convicted last week of accepting a bribe to appear before the postoffice department for the Rialto Security and Trust company, was sentenced to six months in the county jail and to pay a fine of $2,500. His motion for a new trial was overruled.

The American Exchange bank at Brown's, near Mount Carmel, Ill., was robbed. The burglars secured about $1,000, but overlooked $2,500 which was concealed under the carpet of the floor of the safe. A part of the safe was blown through the building and across the street. The building was badly wrecked.

At the coroner's inquest at Louisville, called to inquire into the death of Preston Shelby, who was shot and killed Nov. 3, it developed that William McGee asked Shelby for a cent which he claimed was due him, and that Shelby denied the obligation. McGee shot him. The jury returned a verdict fixing the responsibility on McGee, who is in jail.

Gov. Cummins granted a pardon to Amos Seymour, who was under life sentence in the Anamosa (Iowa) penitentiary for the murder of his father-in-law, and who has been confined in the upper Iowa prison for fourteen years.

John H. Kopf, one of the commissioners of Cook county, Ill., was stabbed during a political quarrel and sustained injuries which probably will cause his death. During a ward club meeting Kopf became involved in a dispute with George Roberts, and Roberts plunged a knife into Kopf's abdomen.

Casualty.

Three business blocks at Renwick, Iowa, were destroyed by fire. The loss will probably amount to $15,000.

One man was burned to death and six persons were injured in a fire that destroyed the interior of the South End hotel at East St. Louis.

Nearly a score of persons were slightly injured when a crowded passenger train on the Long Island railroad crashed into a section of a freight train.

Two unknown men who were stealing a ride on top of a passenger coach were knocked off at the Carr street bridge at Cincinnati and instantly killed.

A north-bound freight train was wrecked at Swango Hill, Ill. An unknown man was instantly killed, two seriously injured, and ten cars demolished.

John V. Everhart and Fred Baskerville were killed by an interurban car at Canton, Ohio. When the two men tried to cross the car tracks they were run down.

Alexander Mercy, 45, and Charles Tooler, Jr., 21, miners at Standard Mine No. 2, at Saginaw, Mich., were killed by being buried beneath a mass of falling slate.

Robert Brown, aged 16, injured in a football game at Sedalia, Mo., between local elevens, died. Brown was paralyzed from the neck down and rendered unconscious.

In a fire at the dining camp of the Kabeka Falls Power company at Fort William, Man., Horace Burrance, a cook, was burned to death. Many other men in the camp had narrow escapes.

In a collision between a freight and passenger train near Wayland, Mass., a child was killed, the passenger engineer received injuries from which he died, and several persons were seriously hurt.

A dispatch from Newfoundland states that the schooner Columbine, bound from Charlottetown for Newfoundland ports, foundered with four hands in Fortune bay during the recent gale.

The steamer Aorangi, from Australia, brought news of the drowning of the grandson of the marquis of Ailsa and two seamen of the bark Jordan Hill of Sydney. They deserted the bark in a raft.

Fire at Decatur, Ill., destroyed the wheat and corn plants of the Decatur Milling company, including the elevator. The Decatur Chair company was also damaged by the flames. Total loss, $65,000.

Fire in the Grand opera house at New York destroyed the scenery and costumes used in the presentation of "The Prodigal Son." The house was flooded with water, but was saved from fire damage. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Fire at San Francisco destroyed Ellis & Gauladine's cigar box manufacturing establishment, the Union Iron works, Reliance Engine company and the Jardine Machine works. Heavy loss was also sustained by the V. Kingmell brass foundry and the Betts Spring company. The losses amount to $100,000.

Fire at Marshalltown, Iowa, destroyed the residence of B. A. Church and Dr. C. C. Cottle, one of the finest in the city. Defective wiring is supposed to have started the fire. The families were asleep and one child had a narrow escape, its bed being on fire when the room was reached. The loss is about $12,000, partly insured.

General.

At a meeting of the Columbia university committee on students' organizations it was decided to abolish football as one of the recognized sports of the university's students.

A statement out of court by which Thomas W. Lawson and the firm of Lawson, Weidenfeld & Co. turned over $350,000 to Receiver George Wharton Pepper of the Bay State Gas company of Delaware has been confirmed by Judge Lowell of the United States circuit court at Boston.

Vice President Fairbanks has indicated to Representative Hinshaw of Nebraska that probably he would accept an invitation extended to him by E. Benjamin Andrews, chancellor of the University of Nebraska, to participate in the commencement exercises of the university next June.

T. E. Jefferson, a wealthy Chicagoan, who, with his wife, is occupying a cottage at Pasadena, Cal., must pay $7,500 to the widow of Christian Shearer, who was run down and killed by Jefferson's automobile a year ago. At the time of the accident Mrs. Jefferson was driving the machine, it is said at a high rate of speed.

The board of directors of the Mutual Life Insurance company has accepted the resignation of Richard A. McCurdy as president of the company. He will be temporarily succeeded by Frederick Cromwell, treasurer of the company.

The steamship Dakota arrived recently at Seattle from Japan and China, making a better run to this port than her sister ship, the Minnesota. This was the Dakota's initial voyage. The Great Northern Steamship company has announced a new second-class round trip rate of $250 to Hongkong.

GRAND DUKE IS IN CONSPIRACY

ARRESTED SOLDIERS SEEN DAILY ESCORTED BY COMRADES WITH DRAWN SWORDS.

SWARMING WITH COSSACKS

ARE ONLY TROOPS AGAINST WHOM THERE IS NO SUSPICION.

250 GUARDS WERE ARRESTED

REPORT THAT EMPEROR IS LOSING CONFIDENCE IN PREMIER.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 3.—All kinds of rumors are current, including the assertion that one of the grand dukes is involved in a conspiracy against the emperor, but none of them can be verified. It only seems certain that no confidence can be placed even on the guard regiments. Arrested soldiers are seen every day escorted by their comrades with drawn swords.

St. Petersburg is swarming with Cossacks, the only troops against whom there is no suspicion of disaffection. It is understood that the whole Cossack forces of the empire, some 450,000, will be mobilized.

The guards arrested at Tsarskoe Selo Thursday night and Friday morning, numbered 250, including 30 officers.

Late yesterday afternoon the outlook for a temporary improvement in the situation which would give the government an opportunity to catch its breath was brighter. The danger of an immediate general strike was considered to be practically averted as the result of three-cornered negotiations between Premier Witte, the employers and the workmen, by which it was decided that both the government and private establishments which are now closed shall be reopened.

Emperor Presides.

The emperor presided yesterday at a meeting of the council of ministers. Much comment has been caused by the emperor's summons to Count Pahlen, a member of the council of the empire and one of the oldest and most trusted servants of the house of Romanoff, who participated in the session, presumably to voice his majesty's views. Though the step undoubtedly was taken with the full approval of Count Witte, it gave rise to a report that the emperor was losing confidence in the premier, which was eagerly spread by the latter's enemies in the court party.

After the close of the session of the council of ministers on official communication was issued explaining that martial law in Poland having produced the desired effect on the extremists, it had been revoked at the request of Gen. Skallon, governor general of Poland, who was now holding out the hope that the Poles would participate in the elections for the douma.

START RATE WAR.

The Milwaukee Puts in Effect a Tariff Which May Cause Trouble.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—The Record-Herald says:

What promises to develop into one of the greatest grain rate wars in years, was begun to-day when the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad put into effect a through tariff on corn between the Missouri river and Liverpool of 28 1-2 cents from Kansas City and 30 cents from Omaha. As nearly as can be ascertained this action was atken because of the discovery that the grain men who ship via the gulf, were engaged in a campaign to corral an enormous movement of grain through the gulf ports at less than agreed rates. It is now the intention of the St. Paul road to do the same thing by way of the Atlantic ports. The Eastern roads have agreed to accept their usual divisions on the St. Paul's rate and the 3,000,000 bushels of corn which the road has secured will move through Baltimore.

STRIKE IN OIL FIELDS.

Three Hundred and Fifty Men Refuse to Accept Reduction.

Houston, Tex., Dec. 3.—The strike of oil field workmen against a reduction in wages of 50 cents a day went into effect yesterday at Humboldt, Batson, Saratoga, Sour Lake and Spindle Top, the Guffey and Sun companies and Pass and Eastham being affected. About 350 men are out. Drillers were not out, but went out on the score that they needed experienced help.

John Mitchell Ill.

Spring Valley, Ill., Dec. 2.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, arrived here yesterday, suffering from nervous prostration. No serious results are apprehended.

Japan to Get $25,000,000.

Tokio, Dec. 3.—The balance in favor of Japan for prisoners' expenses is estimated at $25,000,000. It is believed that this sum will be devoted to the development of the interest of Manchuria.

BOARD QUITS IN DISGUST.

Board of Health Resented Charges by the Governor.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 3.—The Louisiana state board of health, Dr. Edmund Souchon, president, resigned in a body last night, and the resignations of the entire body were forwarded to Baton Rouge. This action was precipitated by a persistent intimation of Gov. Blanchard that he wanted an investigation as to how yellow fever got into Louisiana, and who was responsible, and by his last action of calling upon the grand jury of Orleans parish to investigate. Although the resignation of certain members of the board has been rumored, it is said that the grand jury is what incensed the members.

HUNTING FOR NEGRO.

Mississippi Citizens Searching for Slayer of Planter.

Kosciusko, Miss., Dec. 3.—Posses of armed citizens are searching the woods in this vicinity in an effort to capture Rufus Ousley, a negro, who shot and killed Lucius Love, a prominent planter of Sprocks, this county, yesterday, while the latter and several others were endeavoring to place him under arrest. Ousley was charged with having written an insulting letter to a white woman. Bob Kennedy, colored, was found dead four miles from the scenes of the killing yesterday. Negroes living in the house with Kennedy say he was killed by a crowd who came to search the building. Kennedy was running away from the house when shot.

COURT-MARTIAL COMPLETED.

Verdict Will Be Announced Later From Washington.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 3.—The court-martial in the case of Midshipman Miner Meriwether, Jr., who was tried on the charge of manslaughter for causing the death of Midshipman James R. Branch, Jr., in a fist fight, completed its work late yesterday afternoon and adjourned. No information was given out as to the findings of the court. The proceedings and record in the case will be forwarded to the navy department for review and the verdict will be announced from there.

HIGH PRICE FOR SILVER.

Bullion Selling at Highest Figure Since 1896.

San Francisco, Dec. 3.—Silver is jumping up in price. It is now 65¾ cents per ounce. This is the highest price since 1896. Two months ago the market quotation was 50 cents. Demand is greater than supply, say brokers, in accounting for the higher price. But they also say that, in addition to a legitimate business demand, there is also a speculative demand which must be taken into consideration.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

St. Paul, Dec. 3. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 82 1-4@83c; No. 2 Northern, 79 7-8@80 1-2c; No. 3, 76@79c. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 47 1-2@48c. Oats—No. 3 white, 28 1-4@28 3-4c.

Duluth, Dec. 2. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 82 7-8c; No. 2 Northern, 80 3-8c; flax, 98c; rye, 62c.

Minneapolis, Dec. 2. — Wheat—No. 1 hard, 80 3-8c; No. 1 Northern, 83 5-8c; No. 2 Northern, 81 5-8c; durum, 70@71 1-2c. Oats—No. 2 white, 28 3-8c.

Milwaukee, Dec. 2. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 86@87c; No. 2 Northern, 83@86c. Rye—No. 1, 69@69 1-2c. Barley—No. 2 54 1-2@55c. Oats—Standard, 31c.

Chicago, Dec. 2. — Wheat — No. 2 red, 87@88 1-2c; No. 2 hard, 84@86c; No. 1 Northern, 87@90c; No. 2 Northern, 85@88c. Corn—No. 3, 43c. Oats—No. 2, 30 1-2c.

Sioux City, Iowa, Dec. 2.—Cattle — Beeves, $4.10@5.60; cows, bulls and mixed, $2@3.50; stockers and feeders, $2.75@3.60; calves and yearlings, $2.50@3.40. Hogs—Bulk, $4.85.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Beeves, $3.50@$6.75; stockers and feeders, $2.30@4.15; cows and heifers, $1.25 @ 4.75. Hogs — Mixed and butchers, $4.75@$5.05; bulk, $4.80@4.95. Sheep, $4@5.65; lambs, $4.75@7.50.

South St. Paul, Dec. 2. — Cattle — Good to choice steers, $4.50 @ 5.50; good to choice cows and heifers, $3.25 @ 4.25; good to choice milch cows, $30@40. Hogs — Range price, $4.55 @4.65; bulk, $4.55@4.60. Sheep—Good to choice lambs, $6.25 @ 6.75; fair to good, $4.50@6.25; yearling wethers, $5@5.50; good to choice ewes, $4.50@4.75.

Make Good Money.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The monthly coinage statement issued by the director of the mint shows that the total coinage executed at the mints of the United States during November, 1905, was $3,447,210, as follows: Gold, $3,447,210, as follows: Gold, $2,348,300; silver, $826,000; minor coins, $272,910. There were also executed 700,000 pieces for Costa Rica and 24,000 peso pieces for the Philippine islands.

Fatal Fall From House.

Iowa City, Iowa, Dec. 3.—Edward Murray, a house mover, fell twenty feet from the top of a house. He died an hour later. Three other persons fell, but escaped injury. The accident was caused by the breaking of a guy rope.

Razing Frontier Forts.

Fredrikshald, Norway, Dec. 2.—The demolition of the frontier fortifications in accordance with the treaty recently signed between Sweden and Norway is actively proceeding.

THE UMBRIA HAS CLOSE CALL

THIRTY-SIX HOURS OF ENDURANCE THAT DEFIED DESPAIR.

STRIPPED OF HER PILOT HOUSE

COOLNESS SUBLIME IN THE FACE OF DEATH SAVED THE SHIP.

THOUGHT THE OWEN HAS SUNK

ALCONA, REPORTED LOST, HAS FINALLY ARRIVED AT GREEN BAY.

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 3.—Heriosm worthy of America's greatest sailors, daring that mocked at wind and wave, coolness sublime in the face of death and endurance that beggars conception, alone saved the steamer Umbria and her gallant crew from destruction in the storm which sent so many noble vessels to the bottom.

Stripped of her pilot house by a billow that smashed her wheel and carried away the compasses while her men were struggling blinded in the seas, the Umbria, which was headed direct into the teeth of the gale, rolled for a moment helpless in the trough of the sea.

In six minutes, which seemed like hours to the helpless crew below, the couplings were made and the wheelmen sprang to their posts on the after deck, exposed to the full fury of the elements and by desperate labor and consummate skill brought the trembling and battered leviathan from the trough of the sea and once more turned her nose to the gale.

Thirty-six hours of endurance that defied despair in the face of momentary death tells the tale of the struggle with the waves which brought the boat safe to harbor, battered and broken, her officers and crew cruelly bruised and cut by flying missiles, but triumphant over death in a thousand forms and proud in the joy of having saved the noble steamer from a place among the wrecks of Lake Superior.

All Probably Lost.

The steamer Ira H. Owen has unquestionably gone to the bottom according to the best advices received here to-night and her crew in all probability is lost.

The steamer William Siemens this evening reported picking up wreckage, including life preservers of the Owen, twelve miles east of Michigan island. Capt. Kellar of the steamer Nye, which reached Two Harbors yesterday, reports having seen a boat in distress in that vicinity flying signals of distress and to the best of his belief it was the Owen.

Like Huge Iceberg.

The steamer Jesse Spalding, 856 tons, in command of Capt. Joseph Travis, has reached Ashland, after battling with the heavy gale which swept over Lake Superior from start to finish. The boat was loaded with coal for Ashland and when it arrived it looked like a huge iceberg ploughing through the waters of the bay. The ice was all the way from a foot to four feet thick on the boat, and the only way the occupants of the pilot house could get in and out was through a small window in the rear, the doors and front windows being completely frozen over with a heavy coat of ice.

Alcona Arrives at Green Bay.

Green Bay, Dec. 3.—After being reported lost and later in distress, the steamer Alcona and barges Commodore and Samuel J. Tilden arrived here yesterday, having had an exceedingly rough trip of sixteen days from Erie, nine days of which were spent on Green bay. Near Mackinaw City the Alcona had four holes stove in her bow by ice and at one time had sixteen inches of water in the hold. The Tilden sprung a leak and it was necessary to keep the pumps manned for nearly twenty-four hours to keep it from sinking. The boats sought shelter several times on the trip from Erie, but each time they were driven out by adverse winds.

Seventeen Men Rescued.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 3.—The steamer Harlem of the Western Transit line arrived here yesterday with seventeen men of the crew of the steamer Charles Parnell, which was burned opposite Squaw island, Lake Michigan, Thanksgiving day. The men suffered frightfully from the cold during the hours they spent in small boats waiting for a rescuing vessel to sight them.

Debt is Reduced.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Nov. 30, 1905, the debt less cash in the treasury amounted to $999,752,831, which is a decrease as compared with last month of $12,893,394.

Grahame Begins Work.

San Juan, Dec. 3.—Lawrence H. Grahame of New York, who on Nov. 3 was appointed commissioner of the interior for Porto Rico, assumed office yesterday.

VAST UNUSED EMPIRE OPEN TO STATE

Secretary H. G. Hays Tells What the Drainage League Aims to Do--Work Now in Progress.

Minnesota is one of the richest states in the Union in the way of opportunities for development according to H. G. Hays of Bemidji, secretary of the State Drainage league. Mr. Hays says millions of acres in the northern portion of the state can be reclaimed for practical use in agricultural work by the expenditure of a comparatively small sum, and he outlines to some extent the work of the drainage league in its efforts to secure the advantages of this land for the people of Minnesota. Mr. Hays said:

"While Minnesota has no arid lands needing irrigation, this state has rendered substantial aid to the men who have brought irrigation to the public attention, and has contributed hundreds of thousands of dollars in the past few years to the irrigation propaganda. The business men of Minnesota are deeply interested in any movement tending to improve conditions, hence the reclamation of several million acres of desert lands in the West and South was read to mean an increase of territory tributary which would become ours for trade and commerce.

"New territory means greater chances for legitimate business of all kinds, more wealth-creating power, demand for more manufactured articles, more railway earnings. This being true, Minnesota should now turn her attention to Minnesota and take up the home situation.

"This state embraces practically 85,000,000 acres of land and has a population of 1,900,000. Development south of the center line of the state has progressed more rapidly than north of that line, for we find four-fifths of the population in the south half of the state and only one-fifth in the north half. In the north half of the commonwealth, an area larger than the State of Ohio, we find a population of 300,000, and an assessable valuation equal to one-third of the entire state. We also find in Northern Minnesota rich deposits of iro nore and great forests of valuable timber. The iron and steel factories, the lumbermen and loggers, the ore and lumber carrying railways are reaping rich harvests in the north, and have for years past won from mine and forest the millions that have enriched themselves and the state's treasury.

"Great as the possibilities were and are in ore and lumber, recent years have demonstrated that there yet remains in the north a still greater resource, a resource that has never failed to be productive, a resource upon which are dependent all other industries—agriculture.

"Northern Minnesota lands have been demonstrated to be as fertile, as productive, as Profitable to Cultivate

as the land of any other section, and for the last year or two farmers have been pouring into that section, following the trail of the lumber cruiser and the prospector, establishing homes on the sites of deserted camps. The north has given her wealth of pine and ore to enrich the few—the north retains her fertile soil to enrich the many, and to provide homes for the man with the plow and enduring prosperity for the cities and villages which his labor makes possible. The lumberman and the miner are being succeeded by the farmer and homebuilder, and development in the north is attracting the attention of thousands.

"The subject of drainage is a new one to the great mass of people of Minnesota, although it has been before them in various ways for a number of years. There are a number of laws on the statute books, yet none of them has been entirely satisfactory, and it remained for A. L. Cole of Walker to frame a bill which passed the last session of the legislature and comes nearer to fitting the needs of the state than anything yet attempted. An organization was decided upon, and at Bemidji on June 10 last, following the first drainage convention ever held in the North, the Minnesota Drainage league was organized, with A. G. Bernard of Cass Lake president, and myself secretary. Steps were taken to perfect this organization, and at Crookston, on Aug. 1, was held the first annual meeting of the league.

"The former officers were re-elected, and since that convention these officers have labored hard to get the subject of drainage to the attention of the state. We have enlisted the press in behalf of the movement and have succeeded in making drainage one of the most important topics of the day, and have raised for solution a problem the solving of which the happiness of hundreds of thousands of people and the prosperity of an empire.

Means Millions of Money,

"In Northern Minnesota there are approximately 11,000,000 acres of swamp lands which, if drained, would make the very best farming land, as the soil is of the rismest kind. These lands would afford homes of 160 acres each to nearly 700,000 settlers. A topographical survey is now being made of these swamp lands. The state's engineers, John Abercrombie and George A. Ralph, are now in the field with corps of surveyors, and say that practically all of this submerged land may be reclaimed, and that the cost of draining will be from 75 cents to $1.25 per acre.

"Nearly 5,000,000 acres of these lands belong to the state, and one of the objects of the league is to educate the people of Minnesota to the benefits to be derived from drainage so that the next legislature will make an appropriation large enough for the drainage of these lands. The state could not make a better investment, nor one that would be more profitable to the people.

"Years ago J. J. Hill realized the importance of drainage and gave $25,000 toward draining some of the northwestern counties, which have since then invariably produced the best crops.

"Besides the state swamp lands, the government, as trustee of the Indians, holds nearly 2,000,000 acres of lands in the Red Lake and other reservations, subject to homestead entry, and 4,000,000 acres of land outside reservations, not yet on the market. On account of their swampy condition these lands are not taken. It is the intention of the congressional delegation to Washington to endeavor to obtain a reimbursable appropriation for the purpose of draining these reservations and other government lands, thus making them fit for agricultural settlement. The cost of this drainage to be plus $1.25 per acre the homesteader has to pay for these lands. As there is a large sum of money to the credit of the Chippewa Indians which they cannot have for fifty years, it is a good business proposition to use a part of this fund, thus enabling them to get $1.25 per acre promised them under treaty stipulations.

"At a meeting of the executive committee of the State Drainage league and the congressional delegatio nheld in St. Paul Oct. 13, the delegation asked that a committee be sent to Washington to assist in obtaining this appropriation, as well as to furnish data and statistics showing that the land would be fit for agricultural purposes after being drained. It is just as legal to for the purpose of drainage as it is for irrigation. During the past few years, by dint of lobbying, the Western states have succeeded in obtaining from the general government $34,000,000. For this vast sum less than 2,000,000 acres of land have been irrigated.

Appropriate Federal Funds

"It is the intention of the State Drainage league to have a bureau at Washington during the coming session of congress to watch the interests of Minnesota and to assist the congressional delegation in obtaining the necessary appropriation for draining the Indian reservations. These reservations, owing to their location, are the keystone of the situation, as they must be drained in order to make the drainage of the rest of the north possible. When they are reclaimed it will be possible to drain the state's swamp lands.

"It has been a difficult matter to continue the work of education on account of lack of funds. So far all the expenses connected with it are being met by the officers of the league. In view of the importance of this drainage movement to the wholesale, jobbing, manufacturing, railroad and other interests of the state, the league officers consider it no more than proper and right to ask those interests to assist in promoting the movement and in sustaining the educational campaign which will result in a benefit to all.

"The reclamation of 11,000,000 acres of land, every acre of which is within 300 miles of the Twin Cities, means a new empire for the manufacturers, jobbers and transportation companies of St. Paul and Minneapolis. The development of the north means millions of assessable property added to the tax lists and more millions added to the rolls means a lower tax rate.

"At first glance the project coming from the north might be supposed to be a selfish one, but investigation of the subject will place the work on a higher plane. The state's lands, when sold, if sold at the average price received for lands sold this month by the state auditor, to the school and university funds. The disbursement of this fund, being on the basis of school population, would give Southern Minnesota $10 and Northern Minnesota $2, as there are five times as many pupils of school age in the south as in the north.

Will Add $77,000,000

"The officers of the league are: A. G. Bernard, Cass Lake, president; H. G. Hays, Bemidji, secretary; H. V. Eva, Duluth, treasurer. The executive committee is: J. A. McGonnicle, vice president of the Duluth, Misabe & Northern railway; A. C. Johnson of St. Peter, Frank Haskell of St. Paul, J. F. Calhoun of Minneapolis, Ezra Gates of Garden City, R. J. Wells of Breckenridge, Thomas Olson of Willmar, W. A. Nolan of Austin and Asher Murray.

"The league's membership is rapidly increasing, and before the next annual meeting, which is to be held at Wadena on the first Tuesday in June, 1906, it is expected the rolls will contain the names of several thousand of Minnesota's most progressive citizens and business men."

LESSONS FOR REAL FARMERS.

Short Course at Farm School Opens January 9.

The short course for farmers at the Minnesota school of agriculture at St. Anthony Park will be held this season from Jan. 9 to March 2. New features have been added to make it thoroughly up to date and thoroughly practical.

Men of mature years who are too busy on the farm the greater part of the year find in it an opportunity to keep up with the times, to bring themselves in close touch with recent discoveries and new methods relative to their business. "How to farm scientifically" is the most important question which the course will try to answer. How to make the most out of Minnesota land.

From Jan. 9 to Feb. 17, 1906, is devoted to the general lecture course on agriculture and kindred subjects. The latter part of the period, from Feb. 19 to March 3, is occupied by the judging course.

The selection of farms, planning of farms, the development of fields and their drainage, the construction and maintenance of roads and the building of fences are among the subjects treated in the agriculture lectures.

Much attention is given to the general management of the farm, and to the growing, cultivating, harvesting and preserving of forage and grain crops. Instruction is given in the rotation of grain cultivated and grass crops, and in the use of live stock in farm management. The making and use of barn manures, also the use of green manures and of the summer fallow are given attention.

The selction, care, use and repair of farm machinery will be taught. By the use of stereopticon views samples of soils, seeds, crops and weeds and specimens of machinery, the matters under discussion, will be thoroughly elucidated.

Lectures are given on the chemistry of soils and foods. The conservation of the fertility of the soil, the part which humus takes in soil farming are topics which are taken under agricultural chemistry.

Animal husbandry offers a fine opportunity for interesting work. The laws of breeding and the feeding and management of horses, beef cattle, sheep and swine are reviewed.

Farm botany, farm horticulture, poultry raising, farm machanics and handling grains and machinery all receive attention in lecture courses. Something about veterinary science is taught. A novelty and relaxation will be found in the weekly meetings of a parliamentary drill debating club.

The last two weeks are devoted exclusively to the judging course. Horse judging, sheep judging, swine judging and cattle judging will each be taken up for separate consideration. A carcass demonstration on Saturday, March 3, will be one of the features of this work.

Feb. 22 and 23 will be devoted especially to the study of the dairy industry, with particular reference to the needs of Minnesota farmers. Corn and grain judging will occupy three days, Feb. 19, 20 and 21. Feb. 4 to March 3 will be the period spent in animal husbandry.

A New Doctor.

Dr. Lubig had passed on, and many of his patients were employing Dr. Pond. A little girl who had a good many brothers and sisters proudly announced to a neighbor: "We have a new bayy at our house." "A new baby!" said the neighbor. "Where did you get it?" "Well, we used to take from Dr. Lubig; now we take from Dr. Pond."

Self-Denial.

Father—Why don't you work, my son? If you only knew how much happiness work gives you would begin at once.

Son—Father, I'm striving to lead a life of self-denial, in which happiness plays no part. Do not tempt me.

It Meant Ruin.

A certain close-fisted old gentleman pulled up his horse and trap at the door of a shop the other day, and beckoned to a seedy looking individual who was singing in the gutter.

"Hold my horse a minute, will you?" he remarked.

The singer stopped in the middle of a verse and took up a position at the horse's head.

When the old gentleman came out of the shop he hurriedly handed over the magnificent sum of one cent, and lost no time in scrambling into the trap. The recipient gazed at the coin for a moment, then jumped on the step.

"Take it back, sir!" he remarked, tragically. "It means ruin to you."

"What do you mean, sir?" thundered the old gentleman.

"Ah," was the solemn reply. "Once I was just like you. I had heaps of money an' threw it about like water; an' look at me now! Ain't it a subjeck lesson? Keep your wealth; I scorns to rob yer!"

Density.

Governess (looking over geography paper)—What's this? "The people of Lancashire are very stupid!" Where in the world did you get that idea from?

Pupil—Out of the book. It says that Lancashire is remarkable for its dense population.

"The paper tells of a town where a child is born every five minutes." "They ought to give him a rest and give him a chance to grow up."

In Minnesota

State News of the Week Briefly Told

The receipts of the Hastings postoffice for the fiscal year show $8,748, an increase of $1,404 over the preceding year.

Ake Anderson, a farmer, committed suicide by hanging himself in a barn near Litchfield. A daughter found his body suspended from a beam.

O. P. Miller, for four years postmaster and one year village recorder of Welcome, leaves in a few days to accept a responsible position at Eagle Lake.

Frank Jackson, thirty-five years old, was instantly killed while driving from Red Wing to his home. The wagon struck a stone, throwing Jackson out.

James Humphrey, a stranger in Redwood Falls, who pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny on a presentment filed by the county attorney, was sentenced to three years and six months in Stillwater.

Leon J. Rafidal, charged with manslaughter in the first degree, as a result of the coroner's finding in the T. D. Merrill inquest at Brainerd, waived examination and was held to await the action of the grand jury in December.

Joseph Kersonitch, timber foreman at the Adams mine, at Two Harbors, was killed through falling a distance of 110 feet into a shaft. He was returning to the surface in company with other workmen, when he lost his balance and fell.

Robert Brown, a fireman in the employ of the Omaha railway, was instantly killed in the company's yards, in St. Paul. His neck was broken and his right arm severed. He was riding on the platform of a switch engine and fell off in front.

Notice has been given that United States Indian Agent Simon Michelet will resume the reallotment of land to such of the White Earth Indians who are entitled to and who have not yet received land under the Steenerson reallotment measure, Monday, Dec. 18.

The Barnett & Record Co. of Minneapolis is the successful bidder for the construction of the new No. 4 ore dock for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern at Duluth. The dock and approaches will cost about $1,000,000, and will be one of the largest in the world.

In the United States court at Fergus Falls, Maria Boutin secured a verdict for $5,000 damages against the Crookston Lumber company on account of the death of her husband, Frank Boutin, who was cut in two by a saw in the company's mill. The case occupied four days.

"Not guilty" was the verdict returned by the jury at St. Paul in the case of Harry Laramie and Dick Taylor, indicted as James R. Egan, charged with the murder of Special Officer Peter Raverty in the office of the W. W. Johnson Lumber company at about 3 o'clock on the morning of May 3 last.

State Treasurer Block, who has been out with a hunting party in Itasca county since the opening of the season, has sent in a fine black bear, killed by himself up in the big woods about fifty miles north of here. He also has a monster male moose hung up in the woods that will be brought in later.

H. J. Ward, colored, who pleaded guilty to theft at the John D. Rutherford farm residence, near Stillwater, was committed to the state prison for four years and eleven months. Fred Golnyer, the Fort Snelling deserter, who pleaded guilty of stealing from the Wilson house, was taken to the St. Cloud reformatory.

August J. Timmerack, a farmer of Kent, Wilkin county, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the federal court in Fergus Falls, placing his assets at $428, of which $214 is exempt, and his liabilities at $5,371. Lyle R. Brownell, an engineer of Moorhead, also filed, placing his assets at $150, all exempt, and his liabilities at $873.87.

At a hearing before Judge Watts at Crookston, at which the Great Northern was ordered to appear and show cause why the line from St. Hilaire to Wylie, over which there has been some controversy, should not be maintained and the present service continued, Col. Wilkinson for the road agreed to continue the present service from St. Hilaire to Dorothy via Wylie, and the case was dismissed.

Sudden death was the fate of Pedro Pigniatellai because he failed to notice that the cage at No. 3 shaft at Eveleth was not at his level as he pushed a car of iron ore to the opening. He was tramming on the first level while the cage was at the bottom. The sudden lurch of the heavy car as it went over the precipice drew the man with it, and he stuck the bottom of the mine 200 feet below and was instantly killed.

The Freeborn County Poultry association is arranging for a big show to be held at Albert Lea Jan. 19-23. Among the prizes for special exhibits will be two incubators, a silver cup, subscriptions to poultry journals, etc. Charles McClave, the poultry fancier of New London, Ohio, will be the judge.

The fair given by the members of St. Henry's parish for the benefit of the new $40,000 Catholic church at Perham was the most successful in the history of the parish. The net cash receipts amounted to $2,300.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MUST MOVE VILLAGE.

Sparta, Minn., Probably Will Be Shifted to Make Room for Mine Shafts.

Two Harbors, Minn., Dec. 2.—What is strongly indicated by the character of the work now being done at a mine which lies under the present site of the village of Sparta, on the Mesaba range, it now is practically certain a large body of ore is there and that the business part of the town at least will have to be moved before many months. The new three-compartment incline shaft is down about thirty feet, and is progressing rapidly. A new engine house with cement floor and solid brick walls is to be erected and a timber shaft sunk. It is said that the cost of these improvements will reach fully $100,000. It is highly probable that Sparta will have to move out of the way as soon as winter is over.

BLEW OFF SHELL OF SAFE.

Unsuccessful Attempt at Robbery at Hartford, S. D.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Dec. 2.—The United States authorities in this city were yesterday advised of a desperate attempt which was made early in the morning to rob the postoffice safe at Hartford, situated a short distance west of Sioux Falls. The robbers gained access to the building and succeeded in blowing the outside shell of the safe off, but before they could prepare another quantity of explosive and get into the safe they must have been frightened, as they abandoned further efforts and fled. Two men are supposed to have been implicated.

CHICAGO DEFEATS MICHIGAN.

Earns Undisputed Honor of Western Football Championship.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Chicago, 2; Michigan, 0. The undisputed honor of the Western football championship was earned by Chicago yesterday by the close score of two points earned on a safety touch-down in the second half by splendid work of Capt. Catlin of Chicago, but also by the poor judgment of Clark of Michigan in trying to run back a punt of Eckersall's which barely reached the Michigan goal line. He was thrown across the line by Catlin after he had thrown off two Chicago tacklers, and two points were recorded for Chicago, the only scoring done in the game.

DAKOTA MAKES RECORD RUN.

Great Northern Company Starts Special Rate to Hongkong.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 2.—The steamship Dakota arrived from Japan and China, making a better run to this port than her sister ship, the Minnesota. This was the Dakota's initial voyage. The Great Northern Steamship company, operating the two steamships, announces a new second-class round-trip rate of $250 to Hongkong. Heretofore the only round-trip rates have been first-class, the Hongkong rate being $337.50.

PROBABLY 400 DEER KILLED.

Season in Hills Has Been Unusually Good for Hunting.

Deadwood, S. D., Dec. 2.—The hunting season in the state is about to close. Over 400 permits have been granted for hunters here in the Hills for the hunting of deer. It is estimated that the number of deer killed this year will average one to each hunter. Many nimrods have succeeded in killing the limit of two for each man. This season has been unusually fine for hunting of this kind, owing to the light fall of snow.

Militia Company Organized.

Worthington, Minn., Dec. 2.—Fifty-six young men were mustered into the service of the state militia Wednesday evening at Masonic hall. Col. Van Duzee and his aide from St. Paul looked after the recruits. A. Schaffer of Rushmore was elected captain; S. S. Smith of Worthington, first lieutenant; C. B. Ward, Worthington, second lieutenant.

Farmer Killed.

Cokato, Minn., Dec. 2.—Charles Rosen, a farmer living a few miles north of this place, met with a fatal accident. While hauling a load near his home the horses became frightened and he fell under the wagon, which passed over him. He was dragged against a tree and badly injured, and died in a few hours.

Farm Property Burned.

Aberdeen, S. D., Dec. 2.—The granary of James Julson, a prominent farmer living seven miles south of Groton, was destroyed by an incendiary fire believed to have been started by a discharged farm hand. Loss, $3,000.

Fever Cleaned Out.

Panama, Dec. 2.—The sanitary department has extended its work to Chepo, forty miles away, where recently a few cases of fever occurred among the foreigners employed in building the government road. The town has been thoroughly fumigated.

Store Burns at Mora.

Mora, Minn., Dec. 2.—The furniture store and stock of Israel Anderson of this city was burned shortly after midnight. Nothing was saved. Loss, $1,000; insurance, $1,100.

LOSES TEAM; NEARLY DIES.

Sleepy Man Meets Misfortune When He Trusts Horses to Keep Road.

Yankton, S. D., Dec. 3.—A man named Olson, who conducts a livery stable at Volin, started home from this city at night, and as his team knew the road well, he settled down for a nap, letting the horses find their way without guidance. Near Mission Hill he awoke with a start to find both animals had gone through a Milwaukee trestle bridge and were hopelessly fast. Olson got out one horse, but the other he could not liberate, so he started off to get help. In the meantime a fast freight came along and tossed the imprisoned animal to its death. The troubles of Olson were not over, however, as he was found next morning by a farmer almost frozen to death and it is feared his legs will have to be amputated. After some search the second horse was found drowned in a slough it had attempted to cross.

GAVE WRONG AGES.

Eloping Couple From Wisconsin Are Married at Sioux Falls.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Dec. 3.—The granting of a marriage license by the clerk of courts in this city, and a marriage ceremony performed by County Judge Bailey, form an interesting chapter in an elopement which for nearly a week has caused excitement in a Wisconsin town, and which may result in serious trouble. The principals in the elopement and marriage are George Barton, son of a prominent business man of Portage, Wis., and Miss Gertie Corning, whose parents live at Lewiston, Wis. A recent dispatch from Portage, Wis., stated that the authorities of that place were making every effort to find the elopers, whose ages are given as sixteen years. In applying for the marriage license in this city Barton gave his age as twenty-one and the girl's age as eighteen.

FAMILIES TO COLONIZE.

Hundred Illinois People to Settle Near Miller, S. D.

Miller, S. D., Dec. 3.—While the bulk of the land sales here during the last season have been to non-resident speculators, and to ranchmen who bought adjoining quarters to enlarge their farms, one land man states that about fifteen families from Illinois, aggregating 100 people, have arranged to come in the spring to settle on land some miles northeast of this town. An equal number from Nebraska will settle twenty miles north of here.

STATE WEIGHMASTER DROWNS.

J. E. Johnson Reported to Have Lost His Life.

Madelia, Minn., Dec. 3.—J. E. Johnson, state weighmaster for elevators, is reported drowned. His home is in Duluth. His mother wired his brother this afternoon to come at once, as he was drowned during the storm there of last Tuesday evening. His brother lives in Madelia.

FREIGHT COLLISION.

Trains Wrecked at Solon and Passenger Dashes Into Wreckage.

Iowa City, Iowa, Dec. 1.—Two freight trains collided near Solon, Johnson county, yesterday. A fireman was slightly injured. No others were hurt. A passenger train later dashed into the wreckage, but nobody was hurt.

Daniel W. McLaughlin Dies.

Anoka, Minn., Dec. 3.—Daniel W. McLaughlin dropped dead at his home yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. He was apparently in good health and had been about the city during the day. Mr. McLaughlin was seventy-four years old, and is survived by his widow and one son, who lives at Fernwood, La. The deceased had lived in Anoka since 1855, and was engaged in the lumber business.

Girl Lost in Blizzard.

New Richmond, Wis., Dec. 3.—Miss Delia Barrett of St. Paul and Mrs. John Padden of Erin Prairie had a terrifying experience a few miles east of this city. During a furious snowstorm they lost their way and spent the night under the protection of a strawstack in an open field, to which their horses had led the way.

Bank and Postal Announcements.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The Coal and Iron National bank of New York has been approved as a reserve agent for the National Bank of Commerce, in Minneapolis. Olaf E. Howy was appointed postmaster at Downer, Clay county, Minn., vice John O. Selm, resigned.

Will Be Colder.

St. Paul, Dec. 3.—Weather Observer F. T. Williams is authority for the statement that the sudden rise in temperature will be followed by a drop, and that the mercury will probably drop to 10 degrees above zero to-day.

Iowa Pioneer Dies.

Iowa Falls, Iowa, Dec. 2.—John A. Martin, a pioneer of Iowa Falls and a resident of the county for the last forty years, died at his home in this city after a brief illness. Mr. Martin was in his eighty-ninth year and was born in Bradford, N. H.

Recommended by Prominent Physicians and Chemists

CALUMET
Baking Powder

Perfect in Quality
Economical in Use
Moderate in Price

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

CARL M. BORGEN, EDITOR

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

An Announcement.

It was not without some doubt and fear the writer assumed charge of the COURIER but the glad hand which has been extended us since our arrival has settled that and a more hospitable and congenial, wide-awake and energetic class of citizens it has seldom been our pleasure to meet. Red Lake Falls is a city of vast possibilities and it is and can be made better by a determined and a united shoulder pushing at the wheel. Under the new management the policies and politics of the paper of the past will be adhered to believing them to be right and equitable. We realize fully, with such pace-makers as Bros. Hazlett of the Gazette, Ives, of St. Hilaire, Sam Clark and John Eastman, of Thief River Falls, and Charlie Latta, of the Plummer Pioneer, that there will be no use of a slow trot in the newspaper field, but with perseverance we hope the COURIER will not be outclassed and outdistanced. A good newspaper for a good city is an essential institution, and we hose to make the COURIER a necessity.

The COURIER is splendidly equipp-with presses and printing material and any class of work will receive prompt attention.

The latch string of this office is always hanging on the outside and it would afford us no greater pleasure than to have our friends and customers call and get acquainted—if not we'll call on you.

Carl M. Borgen.

CZAR NICHOLAS ought to be willing to join the "peace at any price" party without a second invitation.

IT worries us policyholders as to who is getting that fat president's salary in the Mutual during the interim.

The Thief River Press frantically exclaims "We Want Water." Bless you Sam, when you get it will it be put to proper use?

The Big Forks Compass describes an atheist as one who thinks a three-cent pamphlet is a better authority than a twenty-volume dictionary.

A STRANGER in Chicago had his pocket picked while at prayer in church. In Chicago, evidently, it is necessary to watch as well as pray.

REED SMOOT'S chances to remain in congress are better. At least his right to a seat cannot consistently be challenged by Congressman Buckman of Minnesota.

WHILE the bride rode in a tourist sleeper, the bridegroom was found all doubled up inside a trunk in the baggage car, the dispatches last week told. Perhaps she was merely breaking him in.

BEFORE the spasm of civic virtue subsides the people should be reminded that it is just as essential to elect honest legislators as it is to choose an honest governor. And if [illegible] policy is pursued there will be [illegible]y changes in the per[illegible] houses.

IF, as a St. Paul judge declares, the horse thief bounty is a relic of pioneer days and ought to be dispensed with, the Browns Valley Tribune suggests that we ought to put the bounty on timber thieves.

HERE'S a good suggestion from the Duluth News-Tribune: "All of those who still cling to the resolutions made the first of the year will please stand and be counted before it is time to draft next year's pledges."

SPEAKER CANNON has decreed that the floral offerings that cover the desks of members at the opening session will not be permitted in the future. The speaker might go one better and throw out the lobbyists.

THE people of northern Minnesota do not seem to be satisfied with J. F. Jacobsen's drainage record, and many leading Republicans are asserting that he would not receive much consideration either at the convention or at the polls.

THE Preston Times should be ad vised that even so good a Republican as C. C. Eastman of the Wadena Pioneer-Journal has the temerity to criticize Ray Jones. And Bro. Eastman seems to have no fear of being charged with lese majeste.

IT is hard to suppress a smile while Odell tells us that Platt is a political corruptionist. It is another case of pot and kettle. However no confidence is violated in saying that both Mr. Platt's and Mr. Odell's opinions of each other are quite generally concurred in by the general public.

THE president has congress "on his hands" again, and for the next six months we shall hope to learn a great deal about rate legislation, tariff reform and Panama canal. The best that can be hoped for is a railroad rate bill that goes about half as far as the people demand, and no tariff legislation at all.

ITASCA county is expected to send a really clean and able man to the legislature next winter in the person of A. M. Greeley, poet laureate of the great north woods. He would be a distinct credit to his district and to the state at large. When the people get in the habit of selecting their best men for legislative jobs there will be less complaint of poor laws and jobbery.

IF railroad rate regulation is defeated by congress at the present session the burden of the blame cannot be charged to the Democrats. At the Democratic caucus Saturday it was agreed that the president's railroad program would be supported by the united minority. In fact the opposition to the president on all questions comes more largely from Republican than Democratic sources.

A CLEAN CAMPAIGN.

The Candidate Would Indulge in No Mud-slinging.

"Gentlemen," said the political candidate, "I am not goin' to run any man down behind his back. I ain't got anything to say against the gentleman that's runnin against me on the other ticket. He may be a good man. You know appearaeces are often deceivin, and it might be that if you elected him you wouldn't have any cause to be sorry. People, I am sorry to say, are often willin to turn public business over to fools and rascals that they wouldn't trust with their private business for a minute. As I said before, I ain't goin' to try to get myself elected by tellin' you what a bad man the other is. That ain't my style of dealin' with my fellow-citizens. If I can't have your your suffrages on account of my own merits, I ain't goin' to try to get them by standin' here and tellin' you about my opponent's grandfather once bein' almost arrested for stealin' a horse. But I would consider that I had been remiss in my duties as a citizen if I failed to call your attention to the unsavory record of this man, although far be it from me to engage in mud-slingin. If I cannot win on my own merits, I do not wish to be elected simply because my opponent is notoriously unworthy of your confidence and unfitted by nature to perform the duties of the office to which I am as sure that I will be elected as I am that the sun will rise above this beautiful and progressive city on the morrow.

"My fellow-citizens, I am through and I thank you for your patience. I will say no more concerning my opponent's unfitness morally and otherwise for the office to which I feel that I am at this moment as good as elected. I realize that it's nothing to may credit how bad his record my be and therefore I do not propose to dwell on that subject. It is a matter for him to explain—not me—if he can. I make no charges and I ask no quarter from any man, but it would be a blow to the fair fame of our community if such a man was by any accident or carelessness on the part of the voters to slip into office and stand before the world as an example of the kind of people that you, my friends, are not only willing to trust with public affairs, but thrust high honor onto. There is plenty of other things I could say about this man if I was so disposed, but with malice toward none and charity for all I draw the veil of oblivion across the dark story of his past. I will not say that the man is entirely devoid of good traits. Give the devil his due has always been my motto. He has never been convicted of felony—that I know of—but who can tell what he might of done if it had not been for fear of the majesty of the law? Ther are other things which I might say, but will not, as I have an abiding faith in the good sense of the American people. Gentlemen, I thank you."

Clear thinking, decisive action, vim and vigor of body and mind, the sparkle of life, comes to all who use Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. —A. L. Reichart.

Order for Hearing Application for Appointment of Administrator.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss
County of Red Lake }

In Probate Court, Special Term, December 7th, 1905.

In the Matter of the Estate of Desire Grenier Deceased;

On Receiving and Filing The petition of Mary Grenier of the County of Red Lake representing, among other things, that Desire Grenier late of the County of Red Lake in the State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of October A. D. 1905, at the County of Red Lake died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this County at the time of his death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this County, and that the said petitioner is the widow of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to her Mary Grenier granted;

It is Ordered, That said petition be heard before said Court, on Saturday the 30th day of December A. D. 1905 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office, in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County.

Ordered Further, That notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, in said County.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., the 7th day of December, A. D. 1905.

By the Court,
(seal.) N. W. Tarrant,
Judge of Probate.

Order to Examine Accounts.

State of Minnesota, } ss
County of Red Lake. }

In Probate Court, Regular term December 4th, 1905.

In the matter of the estate of Peter John Anderson, Deceased.

On Reading and Filing the Petition of S. J. Swanson, Administrator of the estate of Peter John Anderson deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is Ordered, That said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Saturday the 30th day of December A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County.

And it is Further Ordered, That notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said County.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, the 4th day of December A. D. 1905.

By the Court,
N. W. TARRANT,
[seal] Judge of Probate.

Sale of Ditching Jobs.

Notice is Hereby Given, That on the fourth day of January, 1906, at two o'clock p. m., at the office of the county auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake County, Minn., I will sell the jobs of digging and constructing the Ditch No. 24 of Red Lake Co. established by the board of Co. Comrs of Red Lake Co. State of Minnesota by their order bearing date November 24, 1905, viz: For the work as one job, and also for one or more sections of 100 feet each, and also for one or more of the construction jobs, each of said sections to be known and numbered by stakes as shown by the report of the Engineer in said matter, commencing at the one including the outlet, and from thence, successively, up stream to the one including the source; also two branches of said ditch numbered 1 and 2 respectively, to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, and that bids are invited for said work; said work to be completed within the time required, and in the manner specified, in said Engineer's report. And no bid will be entertained which exceeds more than thirty (30) per cent. over and above the estimate cost of the construction, in any case, as stated in the said order; and the successful bidder will be required to give a satisfactory bond, to be approved by the auditor of said County, with two freehold sureties, for the faithful performance and fullfillment of his contract, and to pay all damages that may accrue by reason of his failure to complete the job within the time required in the contract. The said order and estimates and profile are on file, and may be seen at my office.

The approximate amount of work to be done in the construction of such ditch is as follows:

The excavation and removal of 47,620 cubic yards of earth, the same to be deposited along the sides of the main ditch and branches either in spoil banks or so as to form a grade suitable for public traffic as prescribed by the Engineer in charge.

The estimated total cost of the work is $4,762.00.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the auditor of said county, for not less than ten per cent. of the amount of each bid.

The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

Dated December 6, 1905.

JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor, Red Lake County.
((Auditor's Seal) State of Minnesota.

Sale of Ditching Jobs.

Notice is hereby given, that on the fourth day of January, 1906, at one o'clock p. m., at the office of the County Auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, Minnesota, I will sell the jobs of digging and constructing the Ditch No. 23 of Red Lake county, established by the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake county, state of Minnesota, by their order bearing date the 24th day of November, 1905, viz: For the work as one job, and also for one or more sections of 100 feet each, and also for one or more of the construction jobs, each of said sections to be known and numbered by stakes as shown by the report of the Engineer in said matter, commencing at the one including the outlet, and from thence, successively, up stream to the one including the source to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, and that bids are invited for said work; said work to be completed within the time required, and in the manner specified, in said Engineer's report. And no bid will be entertained which exceeds more than thirty (30) per cent. over and above the estimate cost of the construction, in any case, as stated in the said order: and the successful bidder will be required to give a satisfactory bond, to be approved by the Auditor of said county, with two freehold sureties, for the faithful performance and fulfillment of his contract, and to pay all damages that may accure by reason of his failure to complete the job within the time required in the contract. The said order estimates and profile are on file and may be seen at my office.

The approximate amount of work to be done in the construction of such ditch is as follows:

The excavation and removal of 36,713 cubic yards of earth, the same to be deposited along the banks of the ditch in such manner as is prescribed by the engineer in charge.

The estimated total cost of the work is $3671.30.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Auditor of said County, for not less than ten per cent. of the amount of each bid.

The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

Dated December 6, 1905.

JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor, Red Lake County,
(Auditor's Seal.) State of Minnesota.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of a certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by S. A. Swanson and Ida Swanson, his wife, mortgagors, to Joseph Glatzel, mortgagee, which mortgage was dated on the second (2d) day of April, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Three (1903), and recorded in Record Book Twenty-one (21) of Mortgage Records, on page One Hundred Forty-eight (148), in the office of the Register of Deeds of Red Lake County, Minnesota, on the Eighteenth (18th) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Three (1903), at half past nine o'clock a. m., and said Joseph Glatzel is now the owner and holder of said mortgage. That default has been made in the payment of Eighty-two and 50-100ths Dollars ($82.50) interest due and payable according to the terms and conditions of said mortgage on the second (2d) day of April, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Five (1905), and a further default has been made in the payment of the taxes duly levied and assessed upon said mortgaged premises for the years 1903 and 1904; and that by reason of said defaults, said mortgagee has elected and hereby elects and declares the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable; and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and is due the sum of Sixteen Hundred Thirty-one Dollars and Nine Cents ($1631.09) at the date of this notice, and no action at law or equity has been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the property described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which said property is situated in Red Lake County, Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit:

The North-West Quarter (NW¼) of Section Twenty-seven (27), in Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-four (44), containing One Hundred Sixty (160) acres of land, more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Which said sale will be made by the Sheriff of Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, on Saturday, the Ninth (9th) day of December, A. D. 1905; at two (2) o'clock p. m., at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay the amount then due on said mortgage and the costs of sale, and Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) attorney's fees, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure.

Dated this 23d day of October, 1905.

JOSEPH GLATZEL,
Said Mortgagee.

THOS. F. CRAVEN,
Attorney for said Mortgagee,
Chaska, Minnesota. 026d7

Order to Examine Accounts.

STATE OF MINNESOTA } ss
County of Red Lake }

IN PROBATE COURT

Special Term, November 27, 1905.

In the matter of the estate of John C. Malmquist, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ernest J. Akerlund, administrator of the estate of John C. Malmquist, deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is ordered that said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Saturday, the 23rd day of December, A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office, in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, the 27th day of November, A. D. 1905.

By the Court.
(Seal) N. W. TARRANT,
N-30-D-14 Judge of Probate.

In Mad Chase

Millions rush in mad chase after health from one extreme of faddism to another, when, if they would only eat good food and keep their bowels regular with Dr. King's New Life Pills, their troubles would all pass away. Prompt relief and quick cure for liver and stomach trouble 25c at all druggists, guaranteed.

International Live Stock Exhibition

On account of the International Live Stock Exhibition to be held at Chicago, the Great Northern Railway will sell tickets at the rate of one first class fare plus $2.00. Tickets will be good on all trains arriving in St. Paul December 16th to 20th inclusive and will be good leaving Chicago not later than December 24th. See your local agent for full particulars.

Button's Business College, Crookston, Minn., offers a complete course for $35.00 to all who enter the week following New Years. This is our special holiday offer and will not appear again. 9-11

Try COURIER Print.

...A PEEK IN ADVANCE...

at the best things for Christmas
It will give you new ideas........

..CHARMING GIFTS..

and plenty of them ready and waiting your inspection ....

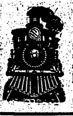
Watches, Clocks, Silverware, Cut Glass

JEWELRY

Rings, Brooches, Stick pins, Cuff Buttons, Chains, Lockets, Bracelets, Hat Pins

HENRY W. ANDERSON, JEWELER



Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stamp for full particulars to-day.

National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Name. Town. State. R.F.D.No. Age.

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

SPECIAL PRICES

On

HEATING STOVES FOR 30 DAYS.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA

GOODYEAR RUBBER CO.
GOLD SEAL
1872
TRADE MARK

GOLD SEAL
OVERSHOES
WARMEST WEAR LONGEST.
IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT HAVE THEM WRITE
GOODYEAR RUBBER CO. ST PAUL, MINN.

THE DEAF HEAR

Remarkable Results Obtained From Use Of Strange, Newly Discovered Medicine.

There can no longer remain any doubt that this new remedy known as Cooper's New Discovery is truly a marvel in medicine.

So wonderfully and miraculously does this strange medicine effect disease that it seems beyond our comprehension. Yet, what we see with our own eyes and hear with our own ears we are forced to believe. Catarrh, Deafness, Stomach and Kidney Troubles, Blood Diseases and Paralysis quickly disappear, as has been repeatedly proved, where the new medicine is used.

In some mysterious manner it transforms poor, poisoned or diseased blood into rich, pure vital fluid and sends it rushing through the body to nourish and strengthen every part. Its action is immediate and it is the rapidity and completeness and permanency of its effect that is so puzzling medical men.

Miss. M. A. Dodge, a stenographer of 1009 3rd Ave., S. Minneapolis, who had to give up her position on account of deafness tells a remarkable story of her experience with the new remedy.

"I was so deaf that it was impossible for me to retain my position and had almost given up hopes of finding any relief. After one weeks treatment with Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief I am wonderfully improved, am confident my hearing will soon be entirely restored and am indeed grateful for the benefit I have received."

Cooper's New Discovery, and Cooper's Quick Relief, the assistant remedy which is used in connection costs one dollar per bottle and fifty cents per bottle respectively and can only be obtained from

W. A. Schreiter.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TIME TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West		Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar. 7:45 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
9:15 A. M.	Crookston	6:45 P. M.
10:00 A. M.	Dugdale	6:00 P. M.
10:35 A. M.	Red Lake Falls	5:25 P. M.
11:05 A. M.	St. Hilaire	4:55 P. M.
11:35 A. M.	Thief River	4:30 P. M.
12:01 P. M.	Steiner	4:05 P. M.
12:15 P. M.	Sandridge	3:52 P. M.
12:40 P. M.	Middle River	3:21 P. M.
1:05 P. M.	Strathcona	2:57 P. M.
1:35 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv. 2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Today's Local Markets.

Wheat No. 1 Hard	74¼
" " 1 Northern	74
" " 2 "	71½
" " 3 "	68½
" " 4 "	65½
" " Rejected	62½
Flax No. 1	89
" No. 2	87
" no grade	81
Barley from	22-31
Oats	25
Hay	$4.50
Bran	$15.00
Shorts	$16.00
Mascot Flour	$2.55
Wood, poplar	$3.00 to $3.50
Butter 18c.	Eggs 22c.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Go to the Merchants State Bank for real estate loans.

Ed. Bray was a Crookston visitor Monday.

M. A. Converse was a business at St. Hilaire on Monday.

Rev. Fr. Ansgar was at Thief River Falls Monday.

Go to Spillane's store for Groceries, Candies, Nuts, Fruitr, Cigars, etc.

The 5c "I Lead" and 10c "B. B" cigars are the best to be had for the money.

Don't buy your Christmas presents until you have seen the display at the Bazaar.

Ed. Bray was a passenger Thursday morning for Thief River Falls on a business mission.

Mr. Bert Bioius, representing the New York Life was in the city Wednesday.

Money saver—65c soft and 10-4 gray blankets, this week 55c.

Garceau & Zaiser.

Miss Etta Zaiser went to St. Hilaire Thursday to be gone a couple of days.

Christ Mathson of Rocksbury Twp was an over Sunday visitor at the county seat.

J. E. Buuskirk of Plummer was here for an over Sunday visit with his family.

Ole Teigen of Crookston was a business visitor here the first part of the week.

John Frieland of Emardville Twp was a business caller at the county seat Wednesday.

One week more—25c Red Bird Peaches at 18c a can.

Garceau & Zaiser.

Mrs. Adams, mother of Louis Adams, returned to St. Hilaire Thursday. She was accompanied by her grandson.

For Rent—Office rooms recently occupied by Atty. McIntyre in the LaBissoniere block. Inquire at the Big Store.

Ladies wishing small empty card board boxes free for sending holiday preseuts, will please call at Garceau & Zaiser.

Miss Ina Linnihan will entertain for the benifit of St. Marys' church on Thursday p. m. Dec. 14th. All are cordially invited.

County Surveyor Wood of Thief River Falls was here the greater part of last week on business connected with the new ditches.

Unclaimed letters at the postoffice for the week ending Dec. 2nd, 1905 as follows, Mrs. Josephine Patnode Elsewood Lee P. James and Wm. Bellanger.

James Shields of Thief River Falls charged with larceny in the second degree plead guilty and Sheriff Linninan escorted him to Stillwater the latter part of last week to begin his sentence.

S. J. Swanson, formerly of Wylie, now of Warren, Minn., was here Monday on probate business before Judge Tarrant. S. J. has many friends here and he can always rest assured of a cordial welcome.

The editor is greatly indebted to Mr. S. L. Lewis for valuable assistance rendered in getting out this week's COURIER and without whose help the task would have been an extremely difficult one.

A host of friends of Bro. Hazlett, of the Gazette, will be pleased to learn that his young daughter, who has been critically ill with typhoid fever, has passed the crisis and the indications are favorable for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. and Mrs. T. H. Elliot returned Wednesday from their two weeks visit at Virginia, Minn. Their many friends will be sorry to learn that they expect to leave here the early part of next week. Mr. Elliot having resigned his position as deputy game warden for this district.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. H. Lemieux of Little Falls spent Thanksgiving at the home of Dr. L. Lemieux. Joe is one of the home boys and his many friends will be pleased to know that he has an excellent position with one of the leading stores at Little Falls, having charge of one of the departments.

When you have coal put in your cellar insists upon the men wetting the coal down with water and you will have no trouble with the clouds of black, penetrating dust that would otherwise arise and settle not only on everything in your cellar but in the rooms above. A newly furnished house in this city was about ruined recently through the neglect of this precaution and the carlessness of the workmen in leaving the door to the cellar open.

Cloakings and Sacque cloth, value 18c and 25c, this week 15c.

Garceau & Zaiser.

Louis Adams came down Monday evening for an overnight visit at the Wm Zaiser home on his way to Grand Forks.

J. L. Wilkinson and P. B. Gaass were euccessful in their guest for deer last week bringing home two fine specimens.

M. O. Sortedahl left Monday evening for points in Otter Tail county on business connected with the Red Lake Falls Bank.

Mrs. John McIntyre returned to her home at Fargo, after an extended visit at the home of her sister. Mrs. A. L. Reichert.

What makes a nicer Christmas present than a picture? Dosn't cost you very much and is surely appreciated. See W. A. Reichel.

Ned Taylor returned to his duties at St. Paul Monday after a few days pleasant visit with friends. Ned says it seems rather like old times to again be with us.

The dance at K. P. hall last Friday evening in honor of our football boys was well attended, about 30 couple being present. They all report a good time.

Mrs. E. E. Fletcher returned from Fargo Monday. She reports Abner as getting along nicely from his attack of typhoid fever which is cheering news to his many friends. He will be home in a week or ten days time.

Mr. Olof Tande, one of the substantial and progressive farmers of Garnes, and who for years has been clerk of his township, was in the city the first of the week. The Courier acknowledges a pleasant call from Mr. Tande.

Mr. Alvin Berg, traveling anditor for the Thief River Falls Lumber Co., was in the city Saturday, looking after the affairs of the corporation. He found Mr. Doran's affairs in the best shape and the manner in which it is conducted highly complimentory to him.

Beautifying methods that injure the skin and health are dangerous. Be beautiful without discomfort by taking Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Sunshiny faces follow its use. 35 cents —A. L. Reichert.

A. G. Groshong returned from Crookston the latter part of last week much improved by his ten days stay at the hospital at that place. His many friends hope that his recovery is permanent and that his right arm will continue to cut meat for at least two score years more.

Jimmie Crapps, a notorious character at Thief River Falls, who was sojourning at Sheriff Linnihan's boareing house under a charge of stealing a pocket book containing over $20 left his bed and board very suddenly Sunday night without asking "by your leave" and took a tie pass to his old haunts at the Upper Falls. The authorities there nabbed him and Deputy Jack Keivel brought him down Monday. He will very likely do considerable time at Stillwater as he will now be indicted under two charges. At the time of the jail delivery the sheriff was taka prisoner to Stillwater.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in the country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucuous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

—F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Furious Fighting.

"For seven years," writes Geo. W. Hoffman of Harper, Wash., "I had a bitter battle, with chronic stomach and liver trouble, but at last I won, and cured my diseases, by the use of Electric Bitters. I unhesitatingly recommend them to all, and don't intend in the future to be without them in the house. They are certainly a wonderful medicine, to have cured such a bad case as mine." Sold under guarantee to do the same for you, by all druggists, at 50c a bottle. Try them today.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

Rev. H. W. Knox left Monday for Rollis at which place he will hold revival services for the next two weeks.

C. F. Witte of Waseca arrived Thursday for a few days stay. Mr. Witte has quite extensive land holdings in this county.

Ye editor missed his grip at Thief River Falls last Monday but thanks to County Atty. Germo the grip reached us Wednesday morning.

A dozen pictures costs but little and makes twelve acceptable presents for Christmas. Give W. A. Reichel your order for a dozen now.

Mr. D. K. Laurie the Sabbath School Missionary, will preach at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and evening, Dec. 9th in the absence of the pastor.

Co. Attorney Germo was called to Thief River Falls Wednesday on criminal business. The party charged with stealing a load of grain was bound over to the Grand Jury.

Dolphus Beausoliel set a fire too close to his barn the other day and it set him back $5.00 and costs. Others will do well to remember that we have an ordinance against setting fires too close to buildings.

A big, bouncing baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sally on Monday. Both mother and son are doing splendidly. Joe's friends have hopes of his recovery when his chest expansion is somewhat reduced.

John L. Watson of Melford, Sask., dropped in on us Tuesday. John was in the land business here two years ago with Ed. L. Healy. He is engaged in the same business at Melford, had cause to run down as far as Crookston and could'nt resist taking a run up to visit old friends.

Churches.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Very Rev. E. Fayolle, Rector.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8. and 10 a. m.—Rev. Father Ansgar, Pastor

PRESBYTERIAN—Services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., every Sunday. Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Rev. H. W. KNOX, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

I. O. O. F.—Clearwater Lodge No. 133, meets every Saturday evening at I. O. O. F. hall. Visitors are always welcome.—F. A. Mizen, N. G. William Schwalen, V. G., F. A. Grady, R. S., James E. Ford, F. S.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—Red Lake Falls Lodge No. 169, meets every Monday evening K. of P. hall.—W. A. McIntyre, C. C.; S. L. Lewis, K. of R. and S.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS—Meets every other Friday evening at C. O. F. hall. L. A. Kaufer, Chief Ranger; J. R. Fortier, Recording Secretary.

MODERN WOODMEN—Meets every other Wednesday at M. W. A. hall.

NORTHERN PACIFIC TIME CARD —OF— TRAINS. RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND
No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 a m
SOUTH-BOUND.
No. 156—Departs	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.
Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.
A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.
F. A. MIZEN. Agent.

Make Your Grocer Give You Guaranteed Cream of Tartar Baking Powder

Alum Baking Powders interfere with digestion and are unhealthful.

Avoid the alum.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

Prevents Serious Results From a Cold.

Remember the name Foley's Honey and Tar. Insist upon having the genuine.

Three sizes 25c, 50c, $1.00

Prepared only by Foley & Company, Chicago.

A Good Stove Cheap

is what you can truthfully say about a WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER.

All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft that you have heard so much about. A Wilson, if taken good care of, will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary-sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights

from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burners

Would be pleased to show you our line.

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

DOES YOUR BOY NEED A SUIT

To make a sure clean up before we take inventory in January, we will close out the balance of our stock of Children's Clothing at

20 p. c. Discount

all high grade, fresh patterns, Xtra good clothes, the best in America. Don't lose the opportunity, you never had such a chance to save money before.

Just in- A swell line of skirts in black and blue, chiffon panama 60c to $8 The finest ever.

Watch us for Xmas Goods

We will show you the finest line ever shown in the city. We'll say more later on—Don't rack your brains thinking about what you will have to buy, we will solve that for you with our counters,

Some way or other, they all say it pays to trade —at—

The Big Store

THEO. LaBISSONIERE, Prop.

You Are Welcome At The

MERCHANTS STATE BANK

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Even if you have to use most of your money from week to week and month to month, pay it through this bank.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.00

We will loan you money on personal security. We will make farm loans at LOWEST RATES. We will take your money on deposit and pay you 5 per cent per annum. In our savings department we pay 5 per cent on deposits of $1.00 and up. Interest computed May and November each year.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
P. F. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN Hair Renewer

Always restores color to gray hair, all the dark, rich color it used to have. The hair stops falling, grows long and heavy, and all dandruff disappears. An elegant dressing. If your druggist cannot supply you, send $1.00 to R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N. H.

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Red Lake Falls Bank, Red Lake Falls.

St. Benedict's Academy......
ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.
A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms
HENRY KAUFER, Prop.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

McMURRAY'S VANILLA

WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.

[illegible] Quickest Cure for all [illegible] and LUNG TROUBLES [illegible]ONEY BACK.

MAKE MONEY

by sending your HIDES, FURS ETC. to us - We pay high prices & sell guns, traps etc. cheap

N. W. HIDE & FUR CO.
200 1st St. N. Minneapolis Minn.

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND PRICE LISTS

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

The Scourge of Damascus

A Story of the East...

By SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

Copyrighted 1891 by Robert Bonner's Sons.

CHAPTER IV.—(Continued.)

Judah got down from the back of his horse, and having thrown the rein over the branch of a tree, he started after the volunteer guide. Half a mile distant, at the edge of a thick piece of wood, the Israelite was informed that he must submit to be hoodwinked. He made no objections, and the robber proceeded to bind a sash over his eyes, after which he was led some distance further, by a winding, tortuous way; and when the bandage was removed, he found himself in a low vale, beneath a roof of thick foliage, and in the presence of a hundred armed men. One man—a handsome, noble-looking youth—arose and approached him, to whom his guide reported what had transpired.

"Do you seek Julian?" asked the stately youth, looking upon the Israelite with a searching glance.

"Yes, sir," replied Judah, as frankly and calmly as though he had been answering one of his own brethren.

"I am Julian," said the chieftain, quietly.

"Then, sir," returned the newcomer, with a low bow, "to you I present my petition."

"First,—who are you?"

"My name is Judah, and I have been a servant in the train of the king of Damascus."

"Ah,—is it so?" The chieftain may have looked a little more sharply into the man's face, but he betrayed no surprise. "You spoke of a petition. What is it?"

Judah removed his mantle, and then stripped off his tunic, thus baring his back to the gaze of those who stood around.

"Do you see that back?" he cried, quivering, and grinding his teeth. "Do you see where the cruel lash has eaten into my flesh? Horam, king of Damascus, put that stain upon me. Do you wish me to say more?"

"I think you would be revenged upon the king?" said Julian.

"I would be placed in the very front of that force which is to strike at Horam, or at anything belonging to him. I am not of Damascus born, and my love is not there. I would join my fortunes with those of Julian."

After a very short conference with some of his companions, the chieftain informed Judah that he might remain where he was; and that, if he proved himself worthy, he would be received into full fellowship.

The Israelite expressed himself as thankful for the favor thus conferred and was soon allowed to mingle with the members of the band. For two days he ate with them, and joined them in their sports; and during that time he knew that watchful eyes were upon him. But he was equal to the task, and on the third day he was counted as one of them.

On the fourth day one of the sentinels brought a black man into the camp, who gave his name as Osmer, and who said that he had escaped from a tyrannical master in Aleppo. And he furthermore said that he had a companion who was hiding somewhere in the forest. Before noon said companion made his appearance, announcing his name as Selim; and when the two had been questioned, their stories were so harmonious, and so frank, that they were suffered to remain; and finally they were allowed to perform the duties of body-servant to the chieftain.

Judah could have asked for nothing better thus far; and he was resolved that his further plans should be carefully and surely laid.

Ah! Julian little dreamed of the danger that was creeping upon him!

CHAPTER V.

Caged.

The circumstances which might have led another to hasten his operations, led the Israelite to greater care and reflection. He had not supposed that Julian would take the two black men to service so near his own person, and when he found that such arrangement had been made, his first inclination was to hesitate least a suspicion of the slaves' honesty had led the chieftain to place them thus near him. However, after the lapse of a few days, Judah was satisfied that no suspicion was entertained against himself or his companions, and he began to turn his attention to the work he had in hand.

On the morning of the fourth day Julian announced his intention of moving, and gave orders that his men should be in readiness. A spy had arrived during the night with intelligence that a large caravan was on its way from Tyre to Damascus, and the chieftain had determined to intercept it. Some wealthy merchants from Rome were in the approaching train, and it was probable that they bore wealth for Horam.

Just as the sun was rising, while Judah was in the wood after his horse, he was accosted by Osmir, who had been out on an errand for the chieftain.

"Ah, my master," said the black, gazing carefully around to see that he was not observed; "I am glad that I have met you. I have been wondering whether you meant to carry out the plan which brought us here."

"Why have you wondered at such a thing?" asked Judah.

"Because," replied Osmir, "I have made up my mind that if the choice of masters were left to me I should choose to serve Julian rather than the king of Damascus. I like him much the best. He is not such a terrible man as he has been represented. He is a kind, generous man, and I blame him not for his hatred of Horam."

"Well, sir," said the Israelite, speaking quickly and sternly, "do you think of turning your face from the work we have to do?"

"No, no, my master. I am not so determined. I shall follow you. Your commands must be my law. If you say proceed I am with you."

"And how is it with Selim?"

"You have nothing to fear, my master, from him. The two men whom you selected to accompany you will not betray you. Selim thinks of this robber chieftain as I do; but he is bound to his duty, and will perform it."

Judah knew the characters and dispositions of the two and he felt no uneasiness.

"My good Osmir," he said, with a smile, "concerning this Scourge of Damascus I feel much as you feel. I have long known that he was a noble, true-hearted man. But he is an enemy of our king, and we have promised to capture him. Just think, for a moment, what must be the result if we take him, and convey him in safety to Damascus. Think what people will say of Osmir and Selim. Now the merchants of Damascus are in fear and trembling on account of this terrible Scourge, and the king sits uneasily upon his throne; but if we arrest the dreaded chieftain, and deliver him up, the merchants will rejoice, and the king will be grateful. And upon whom shall their thanks and their honors fall?"

This speech pleased Osmir, and fired him up to new zeal in the work he had undertaken. Judah moved out from the cover to observe if any one was approaching, and when he was satisfied that he was still safe, he returned and gave Osmir such instructions as he deemed necessary. He was careful that all should be understood, and that each projected movement should be so arranged that there could be no possible clashing. He knew the wit and temper of his associates, and he had no fear that they would disappoint him by any blunder or mistake.

"And now," said the Israelite, after his directions had been given, "if we are at all favored by fortune we shall most surely succeed. Thus far fortune has been upon our side. Your position near the person of Julian is most favorable. Impart our arrangements carefully to Selim, and await my further signal."

Osmir promised obedience, and the two men separated, Judah going in search of his horse, while Osmir proceeded directly to the camp, where, having delivered a message to the chieftain, he sought Selim, and in a little while the two were in secret consultation.

Toward the middle of the forenoon the robber train was in motion, and when it came night they camped in an open wood, between two hills, near to the road which led from Caesarea Philippi to Damascus; and here they were to remain until the expected caravan made its appearance.

Sometimes Julian took his tent with him when leading his band upon long expeditions, but on the present occasion he had left it behind, choosing that the place of his encampment should be as little noticeable as possible. After he had seen his sentinels all posted, and given such directions as he thought necessary, he sought a place of rest beneath a large tree, where he soon sank into a dreamy slumber. It must have been near midnight when he was aroused by some one moving near him, and on starting up he was addressed by Osmir:

"My master, I have a strange message for you."

The chieftain arose to a sitting posture.

"Is this Osmir?"

"Yes."

"From whom bring you a message?"

"From one, my master, whom I had little expected to see here. As I walked forth a short time since, a sentinel informed me that some one outside of the camp wished to speak with me. I went to the spot designated, and there found a young bond-maiden of Damascus. Her name was Albia."

"Albia!" cried Julian, starting to his feet. "Why, such was the name of the maiden who attended upon the princess Ulin."

"Aye, my lord, she is the same."

"What? Do you mean that the bond-maiden of Ulin is at our camp?"

"She is."

"What is her business?"

"She wishes to speak with Julian."

"But her business—of what does she wish to speak?"

"She did not tell me, my lord. She would only say that she was the bond-maiden of Ulin, and she desired to see you. I knew her not; but she seemed so gentle, and so timid, and used your name so eloquently, that I could not doubt her. I think her story is true. I think she is what she represents herself to be."

"Did she not tell you from whom she came?"

"No, unless her announcement that she was the bondmaiden of the princess Ulin may be taken in answer to the query."

"By the lyre of Apollo, she must have come from her mistress," exclaimed the chieftain, warmly. "The princess may be in trouble. She may need stout arms to help her. Lead me to this bondmaiden at once."

"She begged, my lord, that she might not be exposed."

"Lead on. I will see her."

The great road wound around the foot of the hill, and ere long the guard had reached a point so utterly shut off from the camp that his loudest cry could not have been heard by the robber sentinels.

"Is the girl here?" asked Julian, as his sable guide stopped and turned.

"She must be very near here, my lord. I left her upon this very spot."

The chieftain heard a slight rustling behind him; but, not being startled into quick action, before he could turn he received a blow upon the side of the head that felled him to the earth. He was for the moment stunned, and before his reason was clear enough to direct his movements, he was set upon by three stout men, who bound his arms and legs so quickly that his power of resistance was gone before he fairly knew what opposed him.

"Sir Robber," spoke the Israelite bending over the prostrate chieftain, "you are my prisoner, and henceforth you are in my keeping until I deliver you up to my master. You cannot escape me, so do not trouble yourself with the attempt."

"You are Judah," said the chieftain.

"I am."

"And these others are professed to be of Aleppo?"

"Yes."

"And you three serve the king of Damascus?"

"You have guessed the truth."

"By the gods," muttered Julian, as though communing with himself, "I should have guessed this before. I have been blind. I have acted like a child. But I am not yet quite lost. I am still within the—'

The Israelite had been watching him narrowly, and when he saw that the chieftain had a disposition to call for help, he sprang upon him and stopped his mouth.

"Do not blame yourself, Sir Robber. Judah of Damascus has done more difficult work than this; and you may take to yourself the assurance that when he set out upon his mission the deed was sure of its accomplishment. Ah, here comes Selim with the horses. You shall have an easy ride and a quick one; and when you are in the presence of the king you can plead your case as eloquently as you please. I have not time to listen; nor have I the power to judge."

The Scourge of Damascus, in the full vigor of robust manhood, and possessed of a strength and daring beyond any of his stalwart followers, was a prisoner in the hands of three slaves—a prisoner within sound of his own camp—and so surely a prisoner that he had no way of escape. His steel-wrought muscles were powerless beneath the cruel bonds, and his mouth was stopped from the utterance of alarm. He was lifted from the ground and placed upon the back of a powerful horse, and in a few moments more he was being borne swiftly away from his friends and companions—away towards the city where dwelt his deadliest enemies.

(To be continued.)

WHITE GIRL AS INDIAN.

She Has Had a Strange Life Among the Blackfeet.

The curious story of a white girl's life among the Blackfeet Indians for 16 years just come out through a suit brought by Alice Burke against Thomas Husson, a cattle rancher of Eastern Oregon to recover a ranch which once belonged to her father, and is now valued at 22,000 dollars, says the "Chicago Herald." Burke and old Husson started to cross the plains from Kansas to Oregon. Burke was detained and sent his girl, then two years old, with Mrs. Husson. Husson sold the child to a Blackfoot Indian Chief for 12 ponies, and when Burke arrived in Oregon told him that Alice had died. Six years ago Burke died, and the Hussons have been in possession of his ranch. Alice meanwhile grew up among the tribe, and when white people noticed her fine hair, the Indians said she was a half-breed whose parents were dead. She gained the love of the son of a chief named Fleetwing, who was sent to Carlisle. When he was there Alice took lessons of the Indian agent's wife and kept pace with him in his studies. When the agent was removed she went with him to Boise City, but his wife died, and she had to take a place as a servant, and was a kitchen drudge for many months. Then Fleetwing sent her money, and she returned to the reservation. The revelation of her white blood came when she was an applicant for a place in a big tribal ceremony. Then young Husson appeared and told her the story, but offered her only $100 for her father's property. She refused and investigated, and is now suing for the recovery of the land. When she gets it she is to marry John Fleetwing.

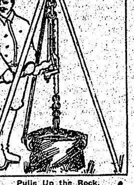
Topophone Prevents Collisions.

An instrument named the "topophone," has just been invented for the prevention of collisions at sea. The topophone registers even slight sounds far outside the range of the human ear, and by enabling foghorns to be heard at immense distances, will greatly minimize existing risks in thick weather.

SHOWING THE WORLD'S PROGRESS

Stump or Rock Extractor.

Stumps and rocks very often prove nasty and troublesome obstacles in the path of improvements, and much time and labor are generally expended before they are finally removed. It is not always desirable to resort to blasting, with its subsequent dangers, and an apparatus like the one shown here would in nine cases out of ten be sufficient for the purpose. The inventor, a New Hampshire man, claims that it is capable of exerting a maximum lifting power at a minimum expenditure of labor. In this apparatus a supporting frame is employed, triangular in shape, to the apex of which is suspended the lifting mechanism. This consists of a supporting bar, one end of which is provided with an opening for the reception of a link, which is attached to the top of the frame, the opposite end being recessed and having a vertical slot in which is mounted a rackbar. The rackbar is adjusted to raise or lower the load by means of a lever. At the inner end of the lever is a terminal pin which engages with the teeth on the rackbar. As a means for locking the rackbar preparatory to taking a new grip, a latch is provided. Secured to the lower end of the bar is a ring or link, to which is fastened in any manner one end of a chain or rope for attachment to the stump, rock or other article to be extracted. After the chain has been attached to the stump the lever is operated, which forces the rackbar up a notch, after which a fresh hold is secured and the operation repeated. By making the frame strong and the lever long an immense amount of power can be concentrated; in fact, plenty to extract ordinary stumps or rocks.



Pulls Up the Rock.

Artificial Pumice Stone.

While emery is used for polishing tools, polishing sand for stones and glass, ferric oxide for fine glassware, and lime and felt for metals, pumice stone is more frequently employed for polishing softer objects. Natural pumice stone presents but little firmness, and the search has therefore been made to replace the natural product with an artificial one. A German firm has produced an artificial stone by means of sandstone and clay, designed to be used for a variety of purposes. No. 1, hard or soft, with coarse grain, is designed for leather and waterproof garments, and for the industries of felt and wool; No. 2, hard and soft, of average grain, is designed for work in stucco and sculptors' use, and for rubbing down wood before painting; No. 3, soft, with fine grain, is used for polishing wood and tin articles; No. 4, of average hardness, with fine grain, is used for giving to wood a surface previous to polishing with oil; No. 5, hard, with fine grain, is employed for metal work and stones, especially lithographic stones. These artificial products are utilized in the same manner as the volcanic products. For giving a smooth surface to wood, the operation is dry, but for finishing the product is diluted with oil.—Montreal Herald.

Soo Fleet Impressive Spectacle.

"The most impressive commercial panorama that the earth can show" is the ore laden fleet of steamers that passes through the great Saulte Ste. Marie canal, fifty millions of tons of iron passing in review, 30,000,000 being iron ore to be worked up by countless hands to do service to mankind. One of these great steamers has loaded 10,245 gross tons of iron ore at Allouez bay in eighty-nine minutes. Nine thousand tons of this load were put on in thirty-four minutes, while the steamer was at dock only 180 minutes, including shifting. The Lake Superior country has been termed the world's richest mineral territory. As said the Hon. Peter White, whose history runs parallel with America's iron age, "the iron trade of the United States is a mighty solemn fact."

Investigate Deep Wells That Blow.

Blowing wells, otherwise known as breathing wells, are being investigated by the United States geological survey. They have already examined many wells that emit currents of air, with more or less force, sometimes accompanied by a whistling sound audible for a long distance. The best known example of this type of well are found throughout Nebraska. The force of the air current in one of the Louisiana wells is sufficient to keep a man's hat suspended above it. The cause of such phenomena is mainly due to changes in atmospheric pressure or to changes in temperature.

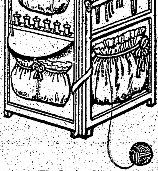
The author's wife may trust him though he is "such a story-teller."

SEWING SCREEN AN ORNAMENT.

Pretty and Useful Article That Is Easy to Make.

A pretty and very useful article is the sewing screen. This may range in height from three to four feet, and in width from two to two and a half feet. The screen consists of two upright pieces of narrow wood connected by three short pieces of the same width —one at the top, one at the bottom, and one in the middle of each panel. Over the back of each panel is stretched a plain piece of denim or a flowered piece of cretonne. Suppose the screen to be painted white and the back pieces blue in color. Get cretonne flowered in blue poppies, or some such dainty design, and make a large pocket for the top and bottom of one side of the screen by cutting a strip a foot or more longer than the width of the screen and gathering it to a tape an inch below the top. Gather the bottom edge and sew it to the foundation of the screen, tacking the sides to the wood with little brass tacks. Long, almost headless, brass nails are driven in a row into the wooden bar across one panel of the screen, and a few small hooks are screwed into the top of the opposite side. Spools of various sizes are slid over the nails, and the hooks are used to hang up emeries, scissors and little things of that sort during the process of sewing. Smaller bags attached to the screen are for buttons, tapes and the host of small things one requires while sewing, while a small pin cushion hangs on a hook at the top of one corner and a needlebook is conveniently attached to the other. The big pocket on the screen is for the work itself and patterns.

If a carpenter makes the screen it might be curved at the top, and the little shelf attached to one side might also be curved. This little shelf is covered with plain blue, having the edges of the cloth tacked down with little brass tacks. Two little hinges fasten it to the wooden cross bar, and a strap on one side, with a loop at the end, is hung upon a hook to support it when the shelf is in use. Such a screen may have bows of ribbon on the pockets and be made as lovely as it is useful. Its two sides are fastened with hinges, and fold up when not in use; while, if hinges are not accessible, straps of cretonne are tacked at the top and bottom of the woodwork, in contrary directions on the outer and inner side, and serve the purposes of hinges admirably.—New York Journal.



The Sewing Screen.

A Bottomless Pit.

A bottomless pit has been found in the mountains of Hualilai, back of Kailua, Honolulu. It is about four feet in diameter. The pit is peculiar from the fact that it sucks in the air with remarkable force. Pieces of paper placed over the mouth do not float gently down, but are suddenly drawn in and disappear with startling rapidity. The air rushing into the pit can be distinctly felt by people standing on the edge. There has been no attempt made thus far to reach the bottom of the pit or to determine its character. Strange sounds are heard in Honaunau. Every night the inhabitants of that section distinctly hear a note similar to the blowing of a deep steamship whistle. Nobody has been able to discover any cause for it, and considerable anxiety is felt by the superstitious. The noise is heard for about five seconds, and then subsides for a space of about ten minutes and then resumes for another five seconds.—Montreal Herald.

Where the Lady Was Going.

An official of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad tells the following:

"The ticket agents in the Boston office of our railroad are greatly troubled by patrons who, when wishing to purchase tickets, lay down a coin and neither tell where they are going nor how many tickets they want. This necessitates one or more questions on the part of the patient agent.

"One day a little elderly lady approached the window of the office, placed a large family umbrella on the slab, and, after fumbling nervously in her pocketbook, pulled out a quarter and laid it down, without a word to the ticket seller.

"'Where are you going, madam?' asked the ticket agent.

"'Oh, I'm going to the doctor's,' was the tremulous reply."

Chance for Inventors.

Nature knows how to economize. Inventors still have room for increasing the economy of lighting. Sir James Dewar lately pointed out that of the energy of the candle, oil and coal gas only 2 per cent. is transformed into light, of the incandescent lamp 3 per cent., arc lamp, 10 per cent., and magnesium lamp, 15 per cent. But 99 per cent. of the energy of the Cuban firefly appears as light, only 1 per cent. being wasted.

IN CONSTANT AGONY.

A West Virginian's Awful Distress Through Kidney Troubles.

W. L. Jackson, merchant, of Parkersburg, W. Va., says: "Driving about in bad weather brought kidney troubles on me, and I suffered 20 years with sharp, cramping pains in the back and urinary disorders. I often had to get up a dozen times at night to urinate. Retention set in, and I was obliged to use the catheter. I took to my bed, and the doctors failing to help, began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The urine soon came freely again, and the pain gradually disappeared. I have been cured eight years, and though over 70, am as active as a boy."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Noah—Some of these fellows refuse to come into the ark.

Mrs. Noah—What's their objection?

Noah—They are afraid it's a scheme to get them out of the way until after election.—New York Press.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Medieval Politics.

Finley Acker, one of the leaders of reform in Philadelphia, said the other day:

"From time immemorial there has been room for reformation in town councils. From time immemorial the city fathers of every country have been, more or less justly, attacked.

"In a medieval German tale it says that the parish council of a small village met one evening to discuss certain improvements in the water supply.

"During this debate the town's one watchman entered the room quietly, placed in a corner his lantern and spear, and sat down to listen to the argument.

"Suddenly a councilman turned on him fiercely.

"'Fritz,' he cried, 'what are you doing here? Who is to watch that nothing is stolen in the village?'

"Fritz, with an easy smile, answered:

"'Who is there to steal? We are all here?'"

They Do, Too.

"Jacob Riis, the sociologist," said a lawyer of New York, "has a soft heart. Everything interests him. His sympathy flows out in every direction. The poor have in him indeed a true friend.

"Mr. Riis sat in my anteroom one morning, waiting to consult me. Near him a young girl clicked busily on a typewriter. She was pretty and neat, with clear eyes and soft hair, but perhaps she was a little pale.

"As Mr. Riis regarded her, so young and fresh, working hard in a stuffy office while her more fortunate sisters were riding or motoring in the park, he felt sorry for her, and he said gently:

"'Do you never get tired, you young stenographers, of eternally pounding away on those keys?'

"'Ah, yes, we do, indeed,' said the young girl.

"'Then what do you do?' Mr. Riis asked.

"'Then, as a rule,' she answered, smiling, 'we marry our employers.'"

THE "COFFEE HEART."

It Is as Dangerous as the Tobacco or Whisky Heart.

"Coffee heart" is common to many coffee users and is liable to send the owner to his or her long home if the drug is persisted in. You can run 30 or 40 yards and find out if your heart is troubled. A lady who was once a victim of the "coffee heart" writes from Oregon:

"I have been a habitual user of coffee all my life and have suffered very much in recent years from ailments which I became satisfied were directly due to the poison in the beverage, such as torpid liver and indigestion, which in turn made my complexion blotchy and muddy.

"Then my heart became affected. It would beat most rapidly just after I drank my coffee, and go below normal as the coffee effect wore off. Sometimes my pulse would go as high as 137 beats to the minute. My family were greatly alarmed at my condition and at last mother persuaded me to begin the use of Postum Food Coffee.

"I gave up the old coffee entirely and absolutely, and made Postum my sole table beverage. This was six months ago, and all my ills, the indigestion, inactive liver, and rickety heart action, have passed away, and my complexion has become clear and natural. The improvement set in very soon after I made the change, just as soon as the coffee poison had time to work out of my system.

"My husband has also been greatly benefited by the use of Postum, and we find that a simple breakfast with Postum is as satisfying and more strengthening than the old heavier meal we used to have with the other kind of coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville,"

JOYS OF MATERNITY

A WOMAN'S BEST HOPES REALIZED

Mrs. Potts Tells How Women Should Prepare for Motherhood

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to childless and lonely old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to a displacement of the womb or lack of strength in the generative organs.

Mrs. Anna Potts

Frequent backache and distressing pains, accompanied by offensive discharges and generally by irregular and scanty menstruation indicate a displacement or nerve degeneration of the womb and surrounding organs.

The question that troubles women is how can a woman who has some female trouble bear healthy children?

Mrs. Anna Potts, of 510 Park Avenue, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

My Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"During the early part of my married life I was delicate in health; both my husband and I were very anxious for a child to bless our home, but I had two miscarriages, and could not carry a child to maturity. A neighbor, who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it. I did so and soon felt that I was growing stronger, my headaches and backaches left me, I had no more bearing-down pains, and felt like a new woman. Within a year I became the mother of a strong, healthy child, the joy of our home. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a splendid remedy, and I wish every woman who wants to become a mother would try it."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free to expectant or would-be mothers.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I am very much afraid that your interest in sports is having a very demoralizing influence on your grammar."

He looked at her apprehensively.

"When the home team won the game you said that they fielded well."

"Did I?"

"Yes. And, of course, what you meant, Charley, dear, was that they felt well, wasn't it?"

He looked about in utter helplessness and murmured:

"Of course."

MILK CRUST ON BABY.

Lost All His Hair—Scratched Till Blood Ran — Grateful Mother Tells of His Cure by Cuticura for 75c.

"When our baby boy was three months old he had the milk crust very badly on his head, so that all the hair came out, and it itched so bad he would scratch until the blood ran. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I applied the Cuticura and put a thin cap on his head, and before I had used half of the box it was entirely cured. His hair commenced to grow out nicely again, and he has had no return of the trouble. (Signed) Mrs. H. P. Holmes, Ashland, Or."

Beneath His Notice.

"No," said Pompus, "I shall not notice his comment at all."

"But," protested his friend, "he called you a 'blithering idiot.'"

"Exactly, and there's no such word as 'blithering' in the English language."

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.
The Kind You Have Always Bought.

She—So you really imagine that smoking benefits you?

He—I know it does. My mother-in-law leaves the room the minute I light my pipe.

Prosperity has ruined many a man, but if a fellow is going to be ruined at all that is the pleasantest way.

MIXED FARMING

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

WHEAT RAISING RANCHING

three great pursuits have again shown wonderful results on the

FREE HOMESTEAD LANDS OF WESTERN CANADA.

Magnificent climate—farmers plowing in their shirt sleeves in the middle of November.

"All are bound to be more than pleased with the final results of the past season's harvest."—Extract.

Coal, wood, water, hay in abundance—schools, churches, markets convenient.

This is the era of $1.00 wheat.

Apply for information to Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to authorized Canadian Government Agent—Charles Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

(Mention this paper.)

LIVE STOCK

Success in Stock Breeding.

A young farmer who has fallen heir to a handsome sum of money asks us to advise him whether it would be profitable for him to engage in the breeding of pedigreed cattle and wants to know how certain men have achieved such eminent success in the business while others have failed. These are serious considerations and are well worthy of thought and study before embarking in the stock breeding business as a life's work. The men who have made a marked success of the business would doubtless have done equally well in almost any other mercantile branch. Those who have failed would probably have failed as speedily and as badly in most other vocations. It is not so much the business as the man that decides success or failure. Before entering into the business of breeding cattle or any other kind of farm stock the man should know that he loves animals, is content and satisfied to live upon a farm and possessed of an intimate knowledge of animals and farming.

Like every other business that of stock raising requires study and some natural bent or adaptability. Most of the requisite knowledge as to breeding, feeding and management can be acquired from study at an agricultural college, from attendance at fairs and from reading of books as well as observation of the book of nature, but when all of these requisite things have been acquired there still remains a something that cannot be bought, borrowed, stolen or learned. We refer to hard-headed business sense and acumen, which some men inherit and others do not possess. To the degree to which this faculty is present in a man depends the degree of success he will attain in business, other requisites being present. Lack of any one requisite, and especially honesty or integrity, will of course offset business acumen, but possession of honesty and integrity with all of the other requisites will not make up for the lack of business ability such as we have mentioned.

Nevertheless there is a better chance of making a fair amount of money and a fairly good success in the business of stock breeding than in almost any other line of work that has to be done in the city instead of upon the farm. The average breeder who sticks to the business through fair days and foul generally wins out fairly well and at least makes a comfortable living, for his farm insures that, with energy and perseverance devoted to the work. Speculation in stock breeding as in other lines of business is risky, and to this cause we may most often attribute disaster in both city and farm business. Speculation however usually is back of success in the accumulation of large fortunes, and this is partially true of fortunes made in live stock. To speculate is required the particular and peculiar business acumen referred to, and lacking it comes failure. Without it the stock breeder or business man may be able to make a comfortable living, but the other fellow will make the big hits and the large fortune.

Given a fair degree of business ability, the necessary capital, proper training and a suitable farm and love for the work our young friend will however be perfectly safe in embarking in the stock breeding business, and, if he sticks to it and is fortunate in procuring efficient help, we see no reason why he should not be able to make it pay a safe and legitimate interest upon the amount of capital invested. To succeed it will be necessary to build up a reputation for good animals and business integrity. To obtain a reputation it will be necessary to exhibit stock at the county and state fairs and also to advertise in the best agricultural and live stock papers. Success at the fairs brings notoriety and such success wisely advertised brings trade which lasts and augments if handled honestly and promptly. We would advise our correspondent to engage in the business of pedigreed cattle breeding if he is strongly inclined that way for love of the business rather than mere speculation. We would advise him to keep out of it if he has no special liking for animals and country life, or if he merely thinks of engaging in it as a speculation.—A. S. Alexander in Farmers' Review.

Fattening Texas Steers.

As showing what may be done in the stall feeding Texas and their close congenesis, Cherokee cattle, from Indian Territory south, the following will be interesting. In 1868-1869 the writer of this fed 450 head in central Illinois in stables specially prepared therefor, having water conducted in pipes to them, with tramways for carrying grain and hay. They were dragged into the stables with lariats tied to stanchions, and remained there until fat, at the end of five months. The stables were kept partially darkened, no strangers were allowed admittance, and every means used to ensure their quiet. They came out ripe, and sold in New York at the very highest price of prime beef; out of the 450 put in, only about thirty classed lower than fat. The experiment, however, was not repeated, since the larger price required to be paid for good grade Shorthorns yielded a better profit for the feed consumed. The typical Texan and Mexican steer is being less and less met with every year, and now the acclimatization of pure bred bulls in Texas is being more and more shown in the improved form and fattening qualities of the semi-wild Texan stock. The most improved plan of acclimating bulls taken from the North and West is to select healthy calves in the autumn after all danger of Texas fever is past. Ship them to the point where they are to be kept. Arrived at their destination they may be fed meal, bran, and crushed oats, with plenty of corn leaves or good hay, and with access to pure running water to drink. If possible a run should be allowed on a field of green barley or oats sown for the purpose. They must also be kept in dry lots and carefully housed from northers and other storms.

Prompt attention must be paid to any symptoms of fever. If this is shown, charcoal and ginger may be administered in the proportion of a tablespoon of charcoal and a teaspoonful of ginger. If they are gotten safely along through January they will generally be safe until the spring rains. During this time and until July they must not be exposed to the storms or sun and must be carefully watched for ticks and other vermin. These must be immediately destroyed by an application of crude petroleum and lard in the proportion of one part of the former to two parts of the latter. Thus if they are carried safely until two years old with proper care they may thereafter be kept for breeding purposes.

Jonathan Periam.

Insalivation.

While the food is being ground, it is modified by the saliva poured upon it from glands situated about the mouth cavity. By means of ingenious experiments, Colin determined the amount of saliva secreted by the horse, and found that when feeding on hay there was poured out from eleven to thirteen pounds of saliva per hour. Oats require a little more than their own weight, green fodder half, and dry fodder four times its weight of saliva during mastication. If the food of the horse for one day amounts to eleven pounds of hay and eleven pounds of other dry fodder, this will require four times its weight of saliva, or 88 pounds, to which must be added 4.4 pounds secreted during rest, making 92.4 pounds in all. Smith states that the ox secretes 112 pounds of saliva daily. In the horse the parotid glands, located at the base of the upper jaw and emptying near the second molar teeth, yield seven-tenths of all the saliva secreted.

Animals chew their food on one side of the mouth only at a time. It has been found that the parotid gland of the horse yields saliva only on the side where the food is being masticated, the other gland resting until grinding starts upon its side.

Saliva contains ptylin, a soluble ferment which converts the starch of the food into sugar. It acts only upon the starchy matters of the food and not upon the cellulose or other constituents. Since the food remains in the mouth a comparatively short time, but little starch can be changed to sugar before the mass is swallowed. The action of the saliva on starch continues in the stomach.—Prof. W. A. Henry in "Feeds and Feeding."

The Age of the Profitable Feeding Steer.

It requires about one-half as much grain to produce a hundred pounds of gain on calves as on two-year-olds. The work of the Missouri Agricultural College has definitely demonstrated that the most profitable age to fatten cattle is while they are still young. The older the animal the more food is required to produce a given gain. Other stations have also investigated this question and have arrived at the same result. The Central Experiment Station Farm at Ottawa, Canada, found by comparing one thousand pounds live weight in the case of calves, yearlings, two and three-year-olds, that the profit for each one thousand pounds was: Calves, $31.00; yearlings, $37.00; two-year-olds, $19.10; three-year-olds, $12.80. When all of the cattle of all ages were purchased at 4c a pound and sold fat at 5c a pound, the profit on $1,000 invested in feeding cattle was: Calves, $557.50; yearlings, $284.00; two-year-olds, $198.75; three-year-olds, $177.50. Nine-tenths of all the cattle fed in the Middle West are two-year-olds at the beginning of the feeding period. When these cattle are in thin condition at the beginning of the experiment they are often fed with profit; but starting with calves in the same condition it is unquestionably true that the calves return more profit for each thousand dollars invested than the older cattle.—F. B. Mumford.

Range Cattle Improving in Quality.

During the last twenty years there has been a remarkable change in the quality of cattle on the western ranges. There was a time when a range steer meant a scrub steer, as he had no breeding. He was from the great herd of nondescripts that covered the country from the Canadian line to Mexico. The movement to improve gained headway but slowly but it grew in force as it advanced. The rangers purchased bulls of pure breeds and turned them into their range herds. The bulls of the nondescript type were "steered" and sent to market. The result was what the most prescient cattlemen knew it would be. The quality of range beef improved so that it sells well in competition with beef produced on the farms where the animals are kept under the best possible conditions.

The standard breeds are still the most popular with the farmer.

Mother's Cooking.

Jawback—My mother's cooking—

Mrs. Jawback—Well, she deserves it. But I didn't think you'd acknowledge it so shortly after her death.

Best He Could Afford.

"Aren't you ashamed to go around begging with a breath like that?"

"It's the best I can afford. Beggars can't use champagne for a breath perfume.—Judge.

Dry and Wet Dangers.

"There's just two things that break up most happy homes," observed the Pohick philosopher.

"What's them?" inquired the Squedunk ignoramus.

"Woman's love for dry goods an' man's love for wet goods, b'gosh!"—Belair (Md.) Times.

Flipperty-Flap.

At the end of one of the meetings of the international sanitary congress in Washington, a young layman asked Surgeon General Wyman a question about the construction of the throat.

"If the throat were constructed like that," said Gen. Wyman, smiling, "there would be more truth in the flipperty-flap story than there really is."

"The flipperty-flap story?" said the young man, dazed.

"Yes. Did you never hear it? Listen, then:

"A quack medicine vendor stood in a carriage selling a cough cure. To explain the construction of the throat he said:

"'Ladies and gents, in your throat is two little flags, one closing when swallowing food and opening to receive drink, and the other closing when swallowing liquids and opening to receive food only. Now, if—'

'But here a humorous old farmer interrupted, blurting out:

"'Gosh, mister, what a flipperty-flapperty there must be when yer eatin' bread and milk.'"

Facts and Proof.

Hulett, Wyo., Dec. 4th (Special)—An ounce of fact is worth a ton of theory and it is evidence founded on facts that backs up every box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The evidence of people who know what they do. Mrs May Taber, highly esteemed resident of Hulett, says:

"I know Dodd's Kidney Pills are a valuable medicine because I have used them. I took seven boxes and they cured me of a severe attack of Kidney Trouble. They relieved me from the first dose, and when I had finished the last box I had no pain and my Kidneys are now acting properly."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are now recognized all over the world as the greatest Kidney Remedy science has ever produced. They cure Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gout, Lumbago, Diabetes, Urinary and Bladder Troubles, Bright's Disease, and all disorders arising from any form of Kidney Disease.

The Way It Grows Out West.

One of our readers whose veracity is above question tells the following: The terrible news comes from the western part of the Cherokee nation that a boy climbed a cornstalk to see how the corn was getting along, and now the corn is growing up faster than the boy can climb down. The boy is clear out of sight. Three men have undertaken to cut to tsalk down with axes, but it grows so fast that they can't hack twice in the same place. The boy is living on nothing but raw corn, and already has thrown down four bushels of cobs.

GOOD BLOOD FOR BAD

Rheumatism and Other Blood Diseases are Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"In the lead mines I was at work on my knees with my elbows pressed against rock walls, in dampness and extremes of cold," said Mr. J. G. Menkel, of 2975 Jackson avenue, Dubuque, Iowa, in describing his experience to a reporter, "and it is not surprising that I contracted rheumatism. For three years I had attacks affecting the joints of my ankles, knees and elbows. My ankles and knees became so swollen I could scarcely walk on uneven ground and a little pressure from a stone under my feet would cause me so much pain that I would nearly sink down. I was often obliged to lie in bed for several days at a time. My friends who were similarly troubled were getting no relief from doctors and I did not feel encouraged to throw money away for nothing. By chance I read the story of Robert Yates, of the Klauer Manufacturing Co., of Dubuque, who had a very bad case of rheumatism. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the remedy he had used. In three or four weeks after beginning to use the pills, I was much better and in three months I was well. The swelling of the joints and the tenderness disappeared, I could work steadily and for eight years I have had no return of the trouble. My whole family believe in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Both my sons use them. We consider them a household remedy that we are sure about."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for Mr. Menkel they are doing for hundreds of others. Every dose sends galloping through the veins, pure, strong, rich, red blood that strikes straight at the cause of all ill health. The new blood restores regularity, and braces all the organs for their special tasks. Get the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggists' or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y.

Man changes all his opinions save the good one that he has of himself.

Are You Tired, Nervous and Sleepless?

Nervousness and sleeplessness are usually due to the fact that the nerves are not fed on properly nourishing blood; they are starved nerves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure, rich blood, and thereby the nerves are properly nourished and all the organs of the body are run as smoothly as machinery which runs in oil. In this way you feel clean, strong and strenuous—you are toned up and invigorated, and you are good for a whole lot of physical or mental work. Best of all, the strength and increase in vitality and health are lasting.

The trouble with most tonics and medicines which have a large, booming sale for a short time, is that they are largely composed of alcohol holding the drugs in solution. This alcohol shrinks up the red blood corpuscles, and in the long run greatly injures the system. One may feel exhilarated and better for the time being, yet in the end weakened and with vitality decreased. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol. Every bottle of it bears upon its wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in a full list of all its several ingredients. For the druggist to offer you something he claims is "just as good" is to insult your intelligence.

Every ingredient entering into the world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery" has the unanimous approval and endorsement of the leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice. No other medicine sold through druggists for like purposes has any such endorsement.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only produces all the good effects to be obtained from the use of Golden Seal root, in all stomach, liver and bowel troubles, as in dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, ulceration of stomach and bowels and kindred ailments, but the Golden Seal root used in its compounding is greatly enhanced in its curative action by other ingredients such as Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure triple-refined glycerine.

"The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is sent free in paper covers on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. For 31 stamps the cloth-bound volume will be sent. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, biliousness and headache.

FROM CANNON TO ORCHIDS.

Miss Bertha Krupp Imports the Rarest Growths.

It appears that Miss Bertha Krupp, the Essen heiresss, who is rich beyond the dreams of avarice, is not content to sit back and spend her dollars, leaving ambition and its attendant hard luck to sisters less fortunate in this world's goods. To the contrary, she is seeking and attaining fame in floriculture. Believing ornamental gardening to be a suitable calling for women, she is starting a school in Essen where girls are to be trained for the pursuit. Miss Krupp leads a retired life, spending most of her time in the beautiful Florentine garden which her father had laid out for her. She is especially enthusiastic over orchids, whose charms appeal to her esthetic eyes, and she has imported some of the rarest growths from England and South America.

Such Is Life.

And so they are married.

The day after the parson collected his fee the newly-elected freight payer said:

"Darling, you certainly have lovely teeth."

"I'm so glad you like them, dear," rejoined her bridelets. "They were a Christmas present from grandma three years ago."

To Prevent Chapped Hands.

Many women who do their own work are much annoyed in winter with chapped hands. This may be avoided by using Ivory Soap for dish washing and toilet purposes. Dry the hands thoroughly each time after they have been in water, and rub with a little oatmeal-water or some good lotion.

ELEANOR R. PARKER.

The Editor.

Office Boy—There are two men out there, sir, who want to see you; one of them is a poet and the other a deaf man.

Editor—Well, go out and tell the poet that the deaf man is the editor.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Happy is he who never knows when he gets the worst of it.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

And yet we are not one whit better than our neighbor whom we are so ready to criticise.

NOT YOUR HEART

If you think you have heart disease you are only one of a countless number that are deceived by indigestion into believing the heart is affected.

Lane's Family Medicine

the tonic-laxative, will get your stomach back into good condition, and then the chances are ten to one that you will have no more symptoms of heart disease.

Sold by all dealers at 25c. and 50c.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN
W. L. Douglas $4.00 Gilt Edge Line cannot be equalled at any price.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES ALL PRICES
BEST IN THE WORLD
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAKER
SOLE AGENTS FOR W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES
ESTABLISHED JULY 6, 1876.

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER.

$10,000 REWARD to anyone who can disprove this statement.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, you would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

W. L. Douglas Strong Made Shoes for Men, $2.50, $2.00. Boys' School & Dress Shoes, $2.50, $2, $1.75, $1.50

CAUTION.—Insist upon having W. L. Douglas shoes. Take no substitute. None genuine without his name and price stamped on bottom.

WANTED. A shoe dealer in every town where W. L. Douglas Shoes are not sold. Full line of samples sent free for inspection upon request.

Fast Color Eyelets used; they will not wear brassy.

Write for Illustrated Catalog of Fall Styles.
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

THE BEST CHRISTMAS GIFT

Useful, Reliable, Attractive, Lasting, Up to Date and Authoritative. No other gift will so often be a reminder of the giver. 2380 pages, 5000 illustrations. Recently enlarged with 25,000 new words, a new Gazetteer, and new Biographical Dictionary, edited by W. T. Harris, Ph.D., LL.D., U. S. Commissioner of Education. Grand Prize, World's Fair, St. Louis. Get the Best.

Webster's Collegiate Dictionary. Largest of our abridgments. Regular and Thin Paper editions. 1116 pages and 1400 illustrations.

Write for "Dictionary Wrinkles"—Free.
G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Springfield, Mass.

GET ME THE MARVELOUS THE UNEQUALLED
25 cents. Box 68, OMAHA, NEB.

N D N U —NO. 49— 1905

HONORBILT
Mayer

Mayer HONORBILT Shoes for Men.

These elegant, stylish and up-to-date shoes are made of the finest leather. They are built over "foot form" lasts that insure a perfect fit and are guaranteed to wear better than most shoes sold at higher prices. Every piece of material used is honest. The workmanship is perfect; style correct.

They are built on honor.

Let your next pair of shoes be "Honorbilt." Your shoe dealer will supply you. If he refuses write to us. See that the name "Honorbilt" and Mayer trade-mark appear on the sole. It is a guarantee of quality.

We make the "Western Lady" and the "Martha Washington Comfort Shoes."

F. MAYER BOOT & SHOE CO.,
MILWAUKEE, WIS

PRICE, 25 Cts.

TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY
ANTI-GRIPINE

ANTI-GRIPINE
IS GUARANTEED TO CURE
GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.
I won't sell Anti-Gripine to a dealer who won't Guarantee it. Call for your MONEY BACK IF IT DON'T CURE.
F. W. Diemer, M. D., Manufacturer, Springfield, Mo.

ESTABLISHED 1879.
MINNEAPOLIS. Woodward & Co., Grain Commission, DULUTH.
ORDERS FOR FUTURES DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS.

PROCEEDINGS

of

County Commissioners of

Red Lake County.

Red Lake Falls, Minn,
Nov. 24, 1905.

Pursuant to the call of the County Auditor, dated October 28, 1905, the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, Minnesota, met at the the Court House in the city of Red Lake Falls in special session at nine o'clock a. m., for a hearing on the petition of Aug. Konikson and others for a County Drainage Ditch, numbered by the County Auditor as County Ditch No. 23.

Present, Commissioners Sutor, Demann, Johnson and Shaw.

Commissioner Falardeau absent.

James K. Wood, engineet, and Daniel Patterson and G. K. Haavi, two of the Viewers on Ditch No. 23 were present.

The petition of Aug. Konikson and others for said County Ditch No. 23, was placed before the Board and arguments of all persons interested for or against the construction of the same were heard by the Board. After hearing all arguments on motion made by Commissioner Shaw and carried by unanimous vote, the reports of the Engineer and Viewers in said matter were approved and the following order establishing County Ditch No. 23 was made:

ORDER ESTABLISHING DITCH

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake, } ss

In the matter of the Petition of Aug. Konikson and others, for a Public Ditch in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota.

The above entitled matter came on duly to be heard by and before the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, at a Special Meeting of said Board duly called for the purpose of hearing and considering the petition for said ditch in the above entitled matter, on the twenty-fourth day of November, A. D., 1905, at nine o'clock, a. m. of said day; and it appearing by proper evidence that due notice had been given of the pendency of said petition and of said time of hearing thereon and that James K. Wood, the Civil Engineer appointed by this Board to survy the route of said ditch, has completed his work and duly filed his report thereon in the office of the County Auditor of said County, and that the Viewers appointed by said Board to view and report upon said work have duly completed their labors and made and filed their report in due form of law in the office of said County Auditor, the said Board of County Commissioners did, at the time above specified; proceed to hear said petition and said Viewers' report thereon; and said Board having duly considered said petition and heard all the parties interested for or against the construction of said ditch and all other matters pertaining thereto, find as follows, to-wit:

FIRST: That the said Civil Engineer has completed his work and made and filed his report thereon in all respects according to law.

SECOND: That the said Viewers appointed herein have duly completed their labors and have made and filed their report thereon according to law.

THIRD: That the estimated benefits to be derived from the construction of said work are greater than its total cost, including damages awarded.

FOURTH: That the damages and benefits arising from the construction of said ditch have been duly awarded and assessed, and that said reports of said Engineer and said Viewers are complete and correct.

FIFTH: That notice of this hearing of said petition and of said Viewers' report and said Engineer's report has been duly given, published and posted and mailed as by law required; and that proofs of said service of said notice have been duly made and filed in the office of the County Auditor of said County.

NOW, THEREFORE, as conclusions from the foregoing findings, we, the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, at said Special Session of said Board held at the time above specified, being satisfied that the proposed ditch will be of public utility and conducive to public health and public benefit and convenience, and that the same is necessary for the reasons stated in the petition therefor, do hereby locate and establish the said ditch according to the report and the specifications of said Civil Engineer made and filed herein; and do hereby establish and confirm the report of the Viewers made and filed herein.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That the damages awarded to the persons and corporations named in the Viewers' report herein, in excess of benefits, be paid out of the County Treasury of said County on warrants to be drawn and attested by the Auditor of said County and signed by the Chairman of this Board of County Commissioners; and that said warrant be issued at the expiration of the time for appeal from this order in favor of such persons and corporations as shall not then have appealed, and shall be dated and become due and payable immediately after the letting of the contracts for the construction of the ditch herein referred to; and that in case of appeal from this order, or in case of any postponement or delay in determining the amount of damages due to any persons or corporations, the warrant in favor of such persons or corporations shall not be issued until the final determination thereof.

Given under our hands, this twenty-fourth day of November, A. D. 1905.

By the Board
(Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Chm. Board of Co. Com'rs., Red Lake Co., Minn.
Attest: JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor and Ex-officio Clerk of Board.

On motion duly carried the Board adjourned.
(Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Chairman, Board of County Commissioners.
Attest: JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor.

Pursuant to the call of the County Auditor, Oct. 28 1905, the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, Minnesota, met at the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minn., on Nov. 24, 1905 at two o'clock, p. m., for a hearing on the petition of A. T. Gorden and others for a County Drainage Ditch, designated as County Ditch No. 24.

Present Commissioners Sutor, Demann, Johnson and Shaw.

Commissioner Falardeau, absent.

James K. Wood, the Civil Engineer and Daniel Patterson and G. K. Haavi, two of the Viewers appointed on Ditch No. 24 were present.

The petition of A. T. Gorden and others for County Ditch No. 24 was placed before the Board and the arguments of all persons interested in the matter were heard.

After hearing all arguments for and against granting the prayer of the petitioneers, on motion made by Commissioner Shaw and carried unanimously, the reports of the Engineer and Viewers in said matter were approved, and the following order establishing County Ditch No 24 was made:

ORDER ESTABLISHING DITCH

State of Minnesota }
County of Red Lake. } ss

In the matter of the Petition of A. T. Gorden and Others, for a Public Ditch in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota.

The above entitled matter came on duly to be heard by and before the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, at a special Meeting of said Board duly called for the purpose of hearing and considering the petition for said ditch in the above entitled matter, on the twenty-fourth day of November, A. D., 1905, at two o'clock, p. m., of said day; and it appearing by proper evidence that due notice had been given of the pendency of said petition and of said time of hearing thereon and that James K. Wood, the Civil Engineer appointed by this Board to survey the route of said ditch, has completed his work and duly filed his report thereon in the office of the County Auditor of said County, and that the Viewers appointed by said Board to view and report upon said work have duly completed their labors and made and filed their report in due form of law in the office of said County Auditor, the said Board of County Commissioners did, at the time above specified; proceed to hear said petition and said Viewers' report thereon; and said Board having duly considered said petition and heard all the parties interested for or against the construction of said ditch and all other matters pertaining thereto, find as follows, to-wit:

FIRST: That the said Civil Engineer has completed his work and made and filed his report thereon in all respects according to law.

SECOND: That the said Viewers appointed herein have duly completed their labors and have made and filed their report thereon according to law.

THIRD: That the estimated benefits to be derived from the construction of said work are greater than its total cost, including damages awarded.

FOURTH: That the damages and benefits arising from the construction of said ditch have been duly awarded and assessed, and that said reports of said Engineer and said Viewers are complete and correct.

FIFTH: That notice of this hearing of said petition and of said Viewers' report and said Engineer's report has been duly given, published and posted and mailed as by law required, and that proofs of said service of said notice have been duly made and filed in the office of the County Auditor of said county.

NOW, THEREFORE, as conclusions from the foregoing findings we, the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, at said Special Session of said Board held at the time above specified, being satisfied that the proposed ditch will be of public utility and conducive to public health and public benefit and convenience, and that the same is necessary for the reasons stated in the petition therefore, do hereby locate and establish the said ditch according to the report and the specifications of said Civil Engineer made and filed herein, and do hereby establish and confirm the report of the Viewers made and filed herein.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That the damages awarded to the persons and corporations named in the Viewers' report herein, in excess of benefits, be paid out of the County Treasury of said County on warrants to be drawn and attested by the Auditor of said County and signed by the Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners; and that said warrants be issued at the expiration of the time for appeal from this order in favor of such persons and corporations as shall not then have appealed, and shall be dated and become due and payable immediately after the letting of the contracts for the construction of the ditch herein referred to; and that in case of appeal from this orcer, or in case of any postponement or delay in determing the amount of damages due to any persons or corporations, the warrant in favor of such persons or corporations shall not be issued until the final determination thereof.

Give under our hands, this twenty-fourth day of November, A. D., 1905.

By the Board.
Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Chm. Board Co. Com'rs. of Red Lake Co., Minn.
Attest: JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor and Ex-officio Clerk of Board.

On motion duly carried the Board adjourned to Nov. 25, 1905.
(Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Chairman, Board of County Commissioners
Attest: JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor.

Red Lake Falls, Minn.
Nov. 25, 1905.

The Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, Minnesota, met in special session at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, at nine o'clock a. m.

Present, Commissioners Sutor, Demann, Johnson and Shaw.

Commissioner Falardeau absent.

The following resolution offered by Commissioner Shaw was adopted by unanimous vote:

Be it resolved that the following described lands, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest and lots 4, 5 and 9 of Section 10 and and the northwest quarter of section 15 in township 153 north of range 42 west, in Red Lake county, Minnesota, the same not being within the limits of any organized school district, be and are hereby attached to common school district No. 31 in said County.

A hearing was granted on the petition of A. M. Edstrom and others for a new school district and the same was set for January 4, 1906, at two o'clock P. M.

A hearing on the petition of G. C. Gulrud and others for a new school district and the date for such hearing was set for January 3, 1906 at two o'clock P. M.

A hearing was granted on the petition of P. O. Sorlum and others for a new school district and the date of same fixed for January 3, 1906, at three o'clock P. M.

The application from the village of St. Hilaire for an appropriation from the county road and bridge fund, was on motion laid over till the next meeting.

On motion duly carried, auctioneer's licenses were granted to Thomas Moreau and Harold M. Hicks.

On motion duly carried the application of the Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls for correction of assessment for the year 1905, was granted subject to the approval of the State Auditor.

On motion carried unanimously, the application of August Sandberg for correction of assessment and abatement of taxes for the year 1904 on the N½ of NW¼ and a strip 10x40 rods of the SE¼ of the NW¼ of Section 33 in Twp 154, Range 44, was granted subject to the approval of the State Auditor.

The application of August Sandberg for correction of assessment and abatement of taxes for the year 1904 on the S 1-2 of the SW¼ of Section 28 in Twp. 154, Range 44, was on motion rejected.

The following resolution offered by Commissioner Shaw was unanimously adopted:

State of Minnesota. }
County of Red Lake. } ss

Whereas, it appears from a report from the State Auditor to the Auditor of said County, that at the time of the organization of the Township of Park in said County, at the July 1905 meeting of this Board, there was in this State another Township of that name.

Therefore, Be it Resolved, that we, the Board of County Commissioners of said county hereby proceed to change and alter the name of said township of Park in said county. (the same being Township 154, north or range 40 West.) to the name of Goodridge and that the said township is hereby designated and named Goodridge.

On motion carried unanimously, the county auditor was instructed to advertise for bids for printing and publishing the commissioner's proceedings, delinquent tax list and all legal notices to be published by the county during the year 1906.

On motion duly carried the county auditor was instructed to advertise for bids for the delivery of 50 cords of green poplar wood at the court house in Red Lake Falls.

A petition signed by John Frolland and others for an appropriation from the county road and bridge fund to build a bridge across the Clearwater river in the town of Emardville, was laid over on account of lack of funds.

On motion duly carried the following bills were allowed:

Frank Jeffers, recording town treas bond	$ 85
L. C. Simons, 1. vault door	62 00
Thief River Falls Lbr Co, lumber for repairs on court house and lath for stakes on county ditches	2 15
The Robertson Lbr Co, plank for sidewalk	25
H. T. McAnulty, traveling expenses for Co Supt of schools	30 00
James Brady, building vault in Co Auditor's office and repairing chimneys and roof of court house and furnishing all material for same	488 00
A. L. Roy, hauling 6 loads wood to county Jail	2 50
Theodore Halvorson, Balance due on contract for construction of county ditch No 21	540 47
Otto Zaiser, viewer on county ditch No 23 2 days and expenses	8 00
Otto Zaiser, viewer on county ditch No 24 3 days and expenses	12 00
D. Patterson, viewer on county ditch No 23 3 days and expenses	12 00
D. Patterson, viewer on county ditch No 24 3 days and expenses	12 00
Gilbert Haavi, viewer on county ditch No 23 4½ days and expenses	18 05
Gilbert Haavi, viewer on county ditch No 24 4½ days and expenses	17 05
J. K. Wood, engineer and expenses, county ditch No 23	68 00
J. K. Wood, engineer and expenses, county ditch No 24	89 55
J. K. Wood, engineer and expenses, county ditches No 23 and 24	8 50
J. K. Wood, engineer and cross sectioning county ditch no 22	5 00
Andrew Ydstie, board of engineer and assistants, surveying county ditch No 23	19 00
C. C. Bergan, board of engineer, surveying county ditch No 24	9 00
Frank Satterberg, board of engineer and assistants, surveying county ditch No 24	5 60
W. H. Krueger, board of viewer and engineer on county ditches No 23 and 24	2 75
Emil Just, board and team hire for surveyor and assistants on county ditch No 24	2 50
Leo Morin, chairman on county ditch No 23	9 75
W. E. Wood, rodman " " " 23	17 00
E. Scheldrup, axman on " " " 22	1 50
W. E. Wood, rodman on " " " 24	19 00
L. J. Wood, axman on " " " 24	14 50
Daniel Patterson, team hire for viewers on county ditch No 24, 1 day	3 50
Zaiser Bros., team hire for viewers on county ditch No 23, 1 day	4 00
Zaiser Bros., team hire for viewers on county ditch No 24 2, days	8 00
Zaiser Bros., livery for engineer on county ditch No 23	6 00
Zaiser Bros., livery for engineer on county ditch No 22	7 00
Adam Zeh, services as clerk of the board of viewers on county ditches No 23 and 24	6 00
D. Linnihan, posting notices of hearing on county ditch No 23	4 50
D. Linnihan, posting notices of hearing on county ditch No 24	12 00
D. Linnihan, serving notices on viewers on county ditch No 23	9 40
D. Linnihan, serving notices on viewers on county ditch No 24	9 40
James E. Ford, county auditor's fees on county ditch No 23	26 76
James E. Ford, county auditor's fees on county ditch No 24	38 60
D. Linnihan, sheriff, boarding prisoners, Sept. and Oct., 1905	45 03
D. Linnihan, sheriff, drawing grand jury	3 20
D. Linnihan, sheriff's fees, State of Minn., vs Samuel J. Johnson	30 16
D. Linnihan, sheriff fees State of Minn., vs Samuel J. Johnson	30 10
D. Linnihan, sheriff, summoning grand and petit Jurors	118 85
D. Linnihan, sheriff's fees Oct. 1905, term dist. court	34 00
D. Linnihan, sheriff's fees, serving personal property tax citations	30 60
Geo. Jarman, deputy sheriff's fees, State vs A. Beausoleil	16 60
Geo. Jarman, deputy sheriff's fees, State vs Ed. DeGrass, Ed. Gordon and Casper Weiner	38 63
Geo. Jarman, deputy sheriff's fees, State vs Wm. Beck and C. A. McKenzie	40 93
Geo. Jarman, deputy sheriff's fees, State vs Louis [illegible] and Geo. Hoover	21 85
James Brady, making repairs on Court house	4 00
John Rison, deputy sheriff's fees summoning witnesses to appear before grand jury	8 40
M. E. Phillips serving citation state vs Marguerite Ward	2 35
J. A. Donahue, sereing citation, State vs A. G. Bjorneby	1 20
Free Press Ptg Co, treas tax receipts and balance on probate order book	70 08
Northwestern School Supply Co, 2 reams examination paper	4 30
McGill-Warner Co, 4 copies 1905 session laws	5 00
Miller-Davis Ptg Co blanks for county offices	15 13
Pioneer Press Co, blanks, blank books and supplies	39 65
Geo. D. Barnard & Co, steel filing case, blanks and supplies	93 75
John E. King, stationery and office supplies	48 95
Red Lake Courier, 500 envelopes	2 25
Red Lake Courier, publishing notices of hearing on county ditches No 23 and 24	8 50
John E. King, publishing notice of sale of ditching jobs	1 75
John E. King, publishing commissioner's proceedings	11 24
John E. King, publishing notice of sale absolute property	2 50
Red Lake Falls Gazette, publishidg summer school notice	6 50
Polk County, Minn., expenses incurred in the matter of the insanity of Paul Skomedal, a resident of Red Lake County	50 05
Joseph Perrault, clerk of court, drawing grand jury	3 00
Joseph Perrault, clerk of court, miscellanous court fees	68 85
W. A. Riechel, photographs of prisoner in county jail	3 00
James E. Ford, services on county board of audit	24 00
Joseph Perrault, services on county board of audit	21 00
Frank Schirrich, services as fire warden Town of Polk Centre, 1904	2 00
Samuel Sabourin, services as fire warden Town of Terrebonne, 1904	4 75
Red Lake Falls Electric Light Co., lighting court house and jail and lamps furnished	25 25
S. L. Lewis, justice fees, state vs John Doe and Richard Roe	5 40
S. L. Lewis, services drawing grand jurors	3 20
Frank Jeffers, postage and express in office of register of deeds	9 28
H. T. McAnulty, postage in office of supt. of schools	4 48
James E. Ford, postage and express in office of county auditor	4 79
K. M. Hansen, postage in county treasurer's office	25 63
Frank Jeffers, gov't envelopes and postage stamps for reg. deeds	12 90
James Sutor, services on committee on repairs of court house and jail	16 00
Wm. C. L. Demann, services on committee on repairs of court house	23 90
James Sutor, attendeng commissioner's meetings and inspecting county ditches	28 00
Wm. C. L. Demann, attending commissioner's meeting and inspecting county ditches	7 40
O. J. Johnson, attending commissioner's meeting and inspecting county ditches	10 00
Daniel Shaw, attending commissioner's meeting and inspecting county ditches	25 00
James Sutor, attending special meeting of county board	3 00
Wm. C. L. Demann, attending special meeting of county board	3 00
O. J. Johnson, attending special meeting of county board	3 00
Daniel Shaw, attending special meeting of county poard	3 00
O. J. Johnson, services on county board of auditors, 8 days	24 00

The following bills were on motion laid over:

Red Lake Falls Elec. Light Co., lighting court house and jail and lamps furnished for same	$15 40
Alex. Johnston, services as ass't. engineer inspecting county ditch No. 21	[illegible]
W. A. Schreiter, 4 yds profile paper	1 25

On motion duly carried the following bills were rejected:

McGill-Warner Co., balance due on Commissioner's records	6 00
Miller-Davis Printing Co., balance due on blanks for Co. auditor	4 85

On motion duly carried the Board adjourned sine die.
(Seal) O. J. JOHNSON,
Chairman Board of County Commissioners
Attest: JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor and ex-officio clerk of the board.

CORRESPONDENCE

ST. HILAIRE.

The Ladies Aid of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. O. F. Post, Thursday Dec. 7th. All are invited.

Hans Anderson has purchased the barber outfit of the late James McAndress, and has LeRoy West of McIntosh running it. Mr. West is an experienced barber and will undoubtedly make a success of his new venture.

County Supt McAnulty was in town Tuesday.

Misses Emma Hoff, Edith Dahl and Lydia Anderson, arrived home from Moorhead Normal Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving at their homes in this village.

Miss Dolly Pettengill and Miss Otilla Westlund spent Thanksgiving at Plummer the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Juluis Pleth.

Miss Etta Zaiser will give a musicale at Imperial Hall on Friday evening Dec. 15th Miss Zaiser has a fine class in music and the public will be delighted to hear the progress they are mading.

Fred Case, the night engideer at the mill the past season, left Tues-evening for his claim in Western Canada Mrs. Case has been there for several months past.

Mrs. J. K. Hannay is able to be out again after several weeks confinement to her home on account of sickness.

MARRIED: On Thursday Nov. 30. Martin E. Hoff and Miss Clara Lund were quietly married at the home of Rev. I. T. Aastad at Thief River Falls. The parsonage was decorated with roses and carnation, and the young couple were attended by Miss Selina Hoff, sister of the groom and Leo. Achenbach. A wedding supper was served at the home of the groom. The young couple have both grown up in St. Hilaire and their many friends extend congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy life together. They will reside on North Broadway.

Mrs. N. A. Nelson left Wednesday evening for Duluth and Wisconsin to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Evans entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Murch of Bemidji Thanksgiving.

Geo. L. Austin expects to read a paper at the Red River Valley Dairymens' convention, at Crookston next Friday.

The young folks enjoyed a merry sleigh ride Monday evening, taking advantage of the fine sleighing and lovely moonlight.

The Ladies of the M. E. church will serve an oyster supper at the Markham hotel, Saturday evening Dec. 9. to which all are most cordially invited.

BROOKS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Pennington are the proud parents of a brand new baby girl, born Saturday mother and baby doing fine.

David Hicox arrived from North Dakota, having finished his contract with the Soo Line mr. Hicox was hauling bridge material.

Halyor Wettleson and wife drove in from Garnes Saturday. Mr. Wettleson hurt his hand in a threshing machine Dr. Carman dressed the wound with success.

Walt. Quesnell, Miss Celia Champagne and Miss Flordia Tougas attended church at Lambert Sunday.

Louis Champagne drove to Red Lake Falls Saturday on business.

A. Morin F. St. Martin and M. Girard drove to Red Lake Falls Sunday.

Wm. Pallard who has been visiting at Wm. Vague left for his home Friday at Roosevelt Minn.

Mr. Z. Bray has now a piano in his saloon which makes it the most popular place in town.

Nels Peterson, of Mentor, and Louis Iverson, of Erskine, have just finished plastering the school house.

Joseph Marsonette and son passed through here Friday from Red Lake Falls on their way home to Lambert.

Val Detling came up on the stage Saturday on his way to Bemidji.

TO LATE FOR LAST WEEK.

Miss Leontine Beaudris drove to Terrebonne Sunday to visit friends and relatives.

Sam Boucher drove to Terrebonne Sunday. There is something that attracts Sam's attention in Terrebonne.

The dance at Martineau's place was well attended by the young people of Brooks.

The raffle at Eugune Davis was well attended. Walter Quesnell held the Lucky number 22

Joe Girard attended Mass at Terrebonne Sunday.

Frank Kupping and Joe Desotell were here on Russiness Saturday.

C. D. Hall and H. Crompton of Espetvet boarded the flyer to Plummer to attend the M. W. A. meeting at that place.

Eugene Gaudette of Red Lake Falls was here Wednesday visiting friends and relatives.

Ramal Parras was here Thursday visiting friends and relatives.

Ed. Trombly of Red Lake Falls was here on business Friday and Saturday.

Banker Hansen of Red Lake Falls visited W. B. Cheshire and W. S. Pennington Sunday.

Theo. Zaiser was a business caller here Saturday returning home Sunday.

Christmas Holiday Excursion Rates via the Nickel Plate Road between Chicago and Buffalo. Dates of sale December 23, 24, 25, 30, and 31, 1905, and January 1, 1905, at a fare and a third for the round-trip, with return limit of January 3, 1906. Through train service to New York City, Boston and other Eastern points. No excess fare. Individual Club Meals served in Nickel Plate dining cars. Three through trains daily from La Salle and Van Buren St. Station, the only depot in Chicago on the Elevated Loop.

The Out of Door Winter of California will improve your health, build up your system and benefit your mental and physical condition generally. The North-Western Line will sell you through tickets at very low rates. Comfortable tourist cars leave the Twin Cities each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. For information as to [illegible]

PREPARE FOR SLEIGHING

I am showing the most complete line of bob sleighs, cutters and home made jumpers in the country at prices that suit the times.

SLEIGHS MADE TO ORDER

My line of farm machinery for the spring trade will comprise the usual well known lines.

S. A. SWANSON
THE MACHINE MAN
RED LAKE FALLS MINNESOTA

MASCOT
"A Pure Flour."
Sweet, Pure and Wholesome
It's All the Wheat THAT'S FIT TO EAT
Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

TO FLORIDA
via the Burlington's
SCENIC LINE
at special
REDUCED RATES
In effect every day now, tickets good returning any time before June 1, 1906.
Send your name and address for full information concerning Scenic Line Service.
F. M. RUGG, Northwestern Passenger Agent,
Germania Life Building St. PAUL.

World's most Powerful Horses.

Argentina Boasts the strongest, wildest and most powerful horses in the world. They are of a dun color with a dark band on the back and stripe on the legs and shoulders. While it is hard to manage these animals, their powers of endurance are wonderful. Like the man who takes care of himself and uses golden grain belt beer regularly as a tonic, their capacity for work is nearly double that of the ordinary individual. This beer, by its purity and healthfulness, is revolutionizing the customs of thousands of families where too much water was used to their detriment of health. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

REFUNDED OVERCHARGE.

An amicable settlement has been reached between the present board of county commissioners of Polk county and the printers who for seven years prior to 1902, published the proceedings of the county commissioners in brevier instead of nonpareil and charged for their work accordingly. According to the terms of the settlement C. T. Lanman, editor of the McIntosh Times, refunded to Polk county $310, W. E. McKenzie, of the Crookston Times, $300, and Editor George, of the Fertile Journal, $125.

The 2nd Annual Exhibition of the Red River Valley Poultry Ass'n is to be held in the Commercial Hotel Annex at Crookston, Dec. 7-8-9, 1905. This office is in receipt of the Premium List and entry blanks and anyone interested can have the opportunity of examining same at the office upon request.

A HOTEL ON WHEELS.

New Dining Cars of the Great Northern Railway a Feature of the "Oriental Limited."

It is, perhaps, best to say that in every respect—china, cuisine and attendants, the dining car service of the "Oriental Limited" is in keeping with the luxuriousness of the remainer of this regal train, and has won, as the dining car service has always helped to win the title, "The Comfortable Way," for the Great Northern Railway. The new dining car service of the "Oriental Limited" equals in beauty design and interior furnishings anything which is operated on any transcontinental line. Every luxury which a first-class hotel or club affords in the way of service is really on the dining car of the "Oriental Limited." The new dining cars were built with a special purpose in view of affording the most comfortable surroundings, as well as giving the traveler a unique and luxurious place in which to enjoy his meals. A gentleman who recently made the journey to the Coast from St. Paul on the "Oriental Limited," in speaking of the dining car service, said:

"I have traveled on almost every important railroad in the United States, but I have yet to find one which surpasses the "Oriental Limited" in the comfort and convenience afforded the traveler. Your dining car service is excellent, the equal of any in the country, and the superior of many. I was particularly struck with the beauty of the interior furnishings of these dining cars, they are really a novelty of car architecture."

The Courier $1 one year.

MISSING ISSUE

Date: Dec 14, 1905

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 9. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1905. WHOLE NO. 375.

WHOLE FAMILY DEAD.

One of the Most Horrible Catastrophies Recorded in Northwest Minnesota Happened in this City Early Saturday Morning

FATHER, MOTHER AND THREE CHILDREN PERISH IN FLAMES

Peter Martell, a Blacksmith, His Wife, and Three Children, Eddie, Aged 13 Annie, Aged 11 and Dan, Aged 9 are the Victims

The Victims

Peter Martell, father
Jane Martell, mother
Eddie Martell, son
Annie Martell, daughter
Dan Martell, son

A calamity. the worst in the history of the Northwest, occurred in this city shortly after 3 o'clock Saturday morning. A whole community stands dumbfounded and can hardly realize and believe that such a catastrophe can be a reality.

As body after body was brought from the smouldering ruins, charred, disemboweled remains of human beings, the sight was two much for many and with groans of anguish they turned away from the awful scene.

Tenderly lying the remain s on the ground as each body was discovered and brought forth from the ruins they were wrapped in blankets and from the scene of disaster were brought to the Woodmen's hall—the remains of a happy family—with not one left to utter a word as to the cause or origin of the tragedy. . The only one of the family, the father, who could have saved his own life, his lips sealed forever, laid there a mute testimony of manhood—a hero in the eyes of all—sacrificing his own life like a man in the hopes of saving the lives of those he loved and cherished. Of such material was Peter Martell built. Honor be to his memory.

It was shortly after 3 o'clock Saturday morning when the fire alarm was sounded by the night police and within a few minutes people were streaming to the scene of the fire which was visible from nearly all parts of the city. The fire department was promptly on the grounds but before a stream could be played on the building flames were bursting out of every window, and part of the building, a small story and a half structure, was beginning to fall in.

When people began to arrive upon the scene it was supposed Mr. Martell and his family were out and had taken refuge with neighbors and a bucket brigade was formed to save the adjoining residence of Mrs. Mikkelson which stood only a few feet away and which caught fire several times from the terrific heat.

Inquiries were made for Martell and no one seeing him about the fire the possibility of some one being within the building began to dawn upon those present and with each passing minute the suspense increased and the terrible suspicion that the family was entrapped in fiery furnace gained ground. Mrs. Mikkelson, the neighbor then stated that she was awakened by a noise resembling the cracking of glass and looking out saw her neighbor's house afire and at the same time saw someone running through the yard towards the barn and instantly returning with a ladder which he mounted and began breaking the rear window and frantically calling for "Jane." That was the last seen of Martell.

The origin of the fire will always remain a mystery, but it is surmised it was caused by an overheated or exploding stove, there being an air tight and cook stove down stairs and none upstairs. Martell, as was sometime his custom, slept downstairs, which consists of two rooms, the air tight standing near the stairway, and the family sleeping in the upper story. Whatever the origin of the fire, he was awakened and presumably finding the stairway blocked by fire rushed out of the rear door to get a ladder to arouse the sleeping family, and from the position of the bodies it is evident he got his wife and two sons to near the window and when going after the girl the floor collapsed precipitating all to the floor below and from which escape was an utter impossibility. The fact that three bodies were found near the wall of the rear end lends confirmation to the theory that the family was suffocated before the collapse of the upper floor, the stairway being a natural outlet for the smoke with the fire starting downstairs.

The funeral took place from St. Joseph's church Monday forenoon, the neighbors of the local Woodman camp acting as pallbearers from their hall to the church. Father Fayolle conducted the beautiful and solemn rites over the dead and many were the silent tears that were shed as the eye beheld the row of five caskets--mute reminders that we know not when our Maker shall call us to His bosom.

From the church to a large improvised sleigh the five caskets were borne, the remains of the father and mother by neighbors of the Woodman camp and of the children by their schoolmates.

The interment took place at Gentilly where his folks reside and the whole family was buried in one common grave. Members of the lodge here accompanied the remains out and were met on the way by members of the Crookston and Gentilly lodges.

MARCUS JOHNSON IN TOWN

The Hon. Marcus Johnson, of St. Paul, president of the Red Lake Falls Milling Co., is in the city this week looking over his large interests here and also to contest the granting of a temporary injunction asked for by the city restraining the Milling company from tearing down the old saw mill. Thief River Press.

NABBED ANOTHER OF BOX CAR LOOTERS

Clever Work Done by Deputy Sheriff Jarman Lands Another Candidate for Stillwater.

Deputy Sheriff Jarman, of Thief River Falls, brought to this city Saturday evening. James Ward one of the gang of organized box car looters who have been raiding Soo cars of the Upper Falls for some time past and which are finally being ferreted out one by one. Ward is No. 2 of the gang who are now guests of Sheriff Linnihan's hostelry here and other guests are expected to arrive shortly.

Ward was located at Winnipeg and arrested there last week. He was formerly employed as a hack driver at Thief River.

The sheriff and his deputies are now looking for Eck Hathaway, who conducted a pop factory at Thief River and who is supposed to be implicated and who left the town between two days after the exposures came, but it will only be a question of a short time before he will be located. The balance of the gang are under surveilance and can be laid hands on when wanted.

HEARING TO BE HELD DEC. 26th

City Attorney Boughton was at Crookston last week and secured a temporary injunction from Judge Watts restraining Marcus Johnson from tearing down the saw mill building. The hearing will be held before the judge on Dec. 26 when the city will request that the injunction be continued until the case can be tried in the district court which convenes here in March and at which time the title of ownership will be determined. Attorney Grady has been retained by the defense while the city's interests will be looked after by Mr. Boughton.

MINNESOTA SWAMP LANDS AT STAKE

Much Depends on Attorney General Young's Presentation of Case in Washington

Washington, Dec. 18.—Attorney General Young of Minnesota worked all of yesterday and late into the night, and is busy again today, preparing a brief in the case to be presented tomorrow to Secretaries Hitchcock and Wilson and Attorney General Moody, defending the validity and regularity of the Minnesota swamp land grant. The action of Secretary Wilson in attacking the validity of this grant, after forty years of uninterrupted operations under it, is sensational, and should his contentions be supported, the state will suffer very greatly.

It is up to Attorney General Young to present the state's case in a way that will attract attention, and in the work he is now doing he is having the help of Senator Clapp, who put in a good many hours with him yesterday in the latter's committe room at the capitol, going over musty law books Clapp's help at this time is important and of great value, for he became familiar with the swamp-land question while attorney general years ago, and is able to cut a good many corners and find the shortest paths in the preparation of the brief.

TO THE PUBLIC.

For the support that the people of Red Lake Falls have given us during the past season, to Sam Hunt for the efficient management of our team, and to the young ladies for the banquet they gave us, we wish to extend our thanks and appreciation.

"Members of the High School Foot Ball Team."

BERTHON & ARMSTRONG
MENS' AND BOYS LEADING CLOTHING OUTFITTERS

Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored
Copyright 1905 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

JUST A REMINDER

Now that it's Holiday time again, REMEMBER we've a great treat in store for you, whenever you can find it convenient for you to call. We can put a smile that won't come off on the face of any man or boy that comes in.

Things for Men and Boys

Suits and Overcoats
Neckwear
Smoking Jackets
Fancy Vests
Suit Cases
Hats and Caps

Sweaters
Fur Collars

Traveling Bags
Fancy Hose
Umbrellas
Underwear
Gloves and Mittens
Shoes

Spitz-Schoenberg Correct Clothes

RED LAKE FALLS JIM AND PAUL MINNESOTA

THE COURIER

JOHN E. KING, Pub.

Red Lake Falls, Minn

There are enough shadows in the world without wearing one on your face.

Of course everybody knows why King Peter of Servia has reason to be thankful.

Chance rules all things. If the eagle were an edible fowl it would not be the national bird.

Funny, isn't it, how often a Wall street lamb has to be sheared before it can be called a sheep.

A man of the name of Adam has been elected mayor of Buffalo. Let him beware of plum trees.

Goeste Tamm is the new minister of agriculture in Sweden, and the whole Tamm family is rejoicing.

There's nothing half so swift in life as the awakening from Love's young dream.—New Orleans Picayune.

Among the first to find out that the price of silver had risen were the enterprising gentlemen who sell silverware.

Doesn't it give you a new idea of the size of London to know that the London postoffice has about 29,000 employes?

And now all through the winter the man with the big game bug may light his pipe and lie upon or about his bearskin rug.

Andrew Carnegie is credited with having given away $130,000,000, and there is no mortgage as yet on the castle of Skibo.

Mme. Bernhardt says she never heard of Clyde Fitch. Clyde would like to know if the lady ever heard of Shakespeare.

That Pennsylvania judge who wouldn't have a woman thief's stocking searched evidently was not posted on fashions in purses.

In accounting for the wave of prosperity do not overlook the great work of the American hen with her annual output of 20,000,000,000 eggs.

The Atchison Globe says a woman can avoid wrinkles by having supreme faith in her husband. It retards the coming of hubby's wrinkles, also.

Once more old John L. arises to state that he will never take another drink. John knows that a man is never defeated until he surrenders.

Every time Prince Louis thinks of that New York dentist who charged him $1,000 for filling four of his teeth he must feel inclined to grit them.

King George of Greece, it is said, buys his wife a new frock every day. Every husband would be willing to do that, if the nation would agree to pay for it.

Persons wishing to be born with silver spoons in their mouths had better hurry up. Owing to the rise in silver, spoons are going to be more expensive.

The Russo-Japanese war is reported to have damaged China to the extent of $20,000,000, and poor old China isn't to have any share of the gate receipts either.

Sometimes one is almost tempted to wonder whether the world is really getting better or whether he is merely with the passage of years, getting accustomed to it.—Puck.

About 240,000,000 pairs of shoes are made annually in this country, and even that number is less than is needed to accomplish the amount of kicking that has to be done.

The sultan's harem costs him $15,000,000 a year, and it is understood that his wives' dressmakers' bills are not very large, either. The ladies must spend most of it on Turkish rugs.

Samuel Smith, M. P., has startled England by pronouncing the doom of the decollete gown. But others have railed against the decrees of fashion without realizing dividends on their rails.

If a church is "shy" on girls, it may be justified in giving female parts to chorus boys; but if there are any pretty girls in the congregation, they ought to "get busy" when they are thus ignored.

Somebody wants to know how the custom of raising the hat to the ladies originated. Glad to oblige. The ladies invented it, so they would have less trouble getting a strangle hold on their husband's hair.

A Denver bride packed her husband in her trunk when she started on her honeymoon. Many wives will envy her. When a woman goes traveling she wants her husband occasionally, but he is better out of the way, most of the time.

A farm "for the unemployed" is to be maintained in New Jersey by a church. Alas, we fear that Frayed Freddie and Sleepy Snigsbee will require a force of constables to get them there, and get any work out of them after they arrive.

The News of the Week

From the Capital.

Charman Overstreet has made it clear to the house comittee on postoffices, in an address, that he recognized 1-cent postage as a probability of the near future.

Midshihpman Miner Meriwether, Jr., who was tried by court-martial for causing the death of Midshipman Branch, has been sentenced to confinement to the limits of the naval academy for one year, and to be publicly reprimanded by the secretary of the navy.

Senator Nelson has reintroduced his bills which came over from the last congress providing for a grant from the government to Minnesota of a tract of eighty acres to be incorporated in the Itasca Park. Also his bill providing lights on the navigable waters of the Warroad.

The new battleship Louisiana was sent over the measured course near Owl's Head and easily exceeded the government requirments of 18 knots an hour. The maximum speed developed was 18.924 knots, and her builders express confidence that the ship can attain a speed of 19 knots.

Crimes.

Elsie Parker, a colored woman 24 years old, was stabbed to death in the corridor of the West side police court in New York. William Williams, aged 19, was arrested, charged with the murder.

The theft of a $25,000 painting by Greco, entitled "Christ at the Cross," from an art gallery in Madrid, became known in New York last week. Customs inspectors have been requested to watch for it.

E. I. Mendenhall, a real estate dealer, was found dead in his office at Mount Vernon, Ohio. Usually he carried large sums of money, and the fact that his pocketbook cannot be found causes suspicion of foul play.

Pickpockets stole $6,000 worth of diamonds from Mrs. William H. Crane of Staten Island. The stones were set in six rings which she was carrying in a small handbag during a trip to Manhattan. Mrs. Crane is the wife of a contractor.

Vernon Briscoe, 25 years old, was arrested in Chicago by postoffice inspectors on a charge of having forged postal money orders. Briscoe was formerly employed at a substation in Philadelphia, but has been living in Chicago for a month.

Matthew Daldes, convicted of beating his wife to death, was sentenced to prison for life at Orange City, Iowa. Baldes' crime was committed on Oct. 15 on his farm near Hawarden, Iowa. Sentence was pronounced by Judge Hutchinson.

There has been a series of robberies of business houses at Gladstone, Mich., recently. The safe of the Rosenblum department store was blown open and about $100 in change stolen. The safe of P. C. Lindglad was broken open some three weeks ago, evidently by the same persons. There is no clue.

Antoinnette Tolla, the Italian woman who shot the man who tried to win her from her husband last March, was sentenced to be hanged on Jan. 12 next. Mrs. Tolla, who has two children, was at her home at Kingsland, N. J., when Joseph Sonta came there, making love to her, and she shot him five times with a revolver.

Three packages containing jewelry, watch cases and works to the value of $2,500 disappeared from an express wagon at Houston, Tex. The packages were left under the seat while the driver stepped across the street. When he returned they were gone. They were consigned to a jewelry house in Houston and were about to be delivered.

Mrs. Morris Naftal, 77 years of age and the wife of a wealthy resident of Asbury Park, N. J., was attacked by burglars while alone in her apartments. Diamond earrings were torn from her ears, rings taken from her fingers, and finally she was left bound and gagged. She died from suffocation before her plight was discovered.

P. S. Norben was arrested at a Fort Dodge (Iowa) hotel by Chief Tullar on the suspicion that he had been connected with a series of burglaries which recently have occurred in that city. A grip conttining more than fifty different varieties of burglar tools was found in his room at the hotel. Norben dressed in the height of fashion and posed as a man of social distinction.

From Other Shores.

The sultan has yielded. He has accepted the scheme for the financial control of Macedonia, as embodied in the last collective note of the powers.

The Shanghai correspondent of the London Morning Post asserts that the Japanese will evacuate the Liaotung peninsula on the same date that Russia would have had to evacuate it.

Chancellor von Buelow, approving the fresh naval proposal and in the reichstag has quoted President Roosevelt at length on the guarantee of peace afforded by a strong navy. Chancellor von Buelow, discussing the question of Morrocco, said that he took full responsibility for Emperor William's visit to that country.

It is expected that toward the end of the month King Alfonso will go to the Riveria, where he will meet Princess Ena of Battenberg. The betrothal of the king and the princess, although not officially announced, is considered assured.

The British colonial office has received a cablegram stating that Prince Arthur of Connaught, who is in Japan, will visit Canada on his return trip to England.

At a meeting of the Canadian cabinet an order in council was passed allowing the law to take its course in the case of Joseph Bennett, an Indian convicted of murder. Bennett will be executed at Brantford on Dec. 15.

It is reported that Senor Juan B. Guana, president of Paraguay, has been deposed by congress, and that the minister to the United States has been appointed. Telegraphic communication with Ascension is interrupted, but quiet is said to prevail there.

Capt. Wright, local manager of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company, and the American minister, Mr. Russell, had a conference at Caracas with President Castro on the subject of the asphalt company's claims. Both sides are willing to reach an amicable settlement, and there is a strong probability that this will be the result of the conference.

Casualty List.

In a wreck on the Southern Railway near Curls, Ala., three persons were seriously injured, four slightly hurt and several others bruised.

T. Grover Mason, 18 years old, who was injured about the head during a football game three weeks ago, is dead at his home at Russiaville, Ind. His injuries at the time of the accident were thought to be trivial.

Miss Cora Weinland was fatally and Mrs. Thomas Wallace and infant daughter were seriously burned at Bluffton, Ind., by the explosion of a pan of crude oil which set fire to and almost destroyed the house.

A six-story factory building in New York and the stocks of several firms in the building were damaged by fire to the extent of $190,000. In the building when the fire started were more than 250 persons, all of whom escaped without injury.

Herbert Shannon of Merwin, Mo., and John Turner of Chanute, oil drillers, were blown to pieces by the explosion of a boiler on the Burkhart lease, seven miles east of Chanute. The bodies of the two men were literally strewn over the ground.

John Larson, a tailor of Marshalltown, Iowa, was found dead on the Northwestern tracks a mile and a half east of town. It is supposed he was struck by a train some time during the night, although it is not known what he was doing where the accident occurred. He leaves a wife and child.

Ninety thousand dollars in gold belonging to a shipper whose name the railway and express companies will not disclose, was in one of the cars of the overland limited which was wrecked and burned last week at Ah Say, and it cannot be found. Three hundred sacks of Australian mail were also destroyed.

A local freight train collided with cut-off freight cars between Batesville, Ind., and Morris. Brakeman Charles Bevans was instantly killed; Conductor James King was so badly injured that he died within half an hour after being taken from the wreckage. Engineer Fred S. Keen was seriously injured, but it is believed that he will recover.

Crimes.

Joseph W. Fairbanks, one of the founders of the Republican party, died at Farmington, Me., aged 84 years.

Young Erne of Philadelphia was awarded the decision over Charley Neary in an eight-round bout before the Milwaukee Boxing club.

A cablegram received at Harvard college observatory from Prof. Kreutz of Kiel observatory states that a bright comet was discovered by Prof. Giacobini at Nice.

The Democrats were victorious in Boston, electing former Congressman John F. Fitzgerald mayor over three other candidates. Fitzgerald's plurality was 8,380.

Edward Atkinson, the well-known social and political economist of Boston, died suddenly, after an attack of acute indigestion, affecting the heart. He was 78 years of age.

Capt. Carter B. Harrison, brother of the late President Benjamin Harrison, died at his home near Murfreesboro, Tenn., aged 65 years. He leaves a widow, one daughter and one son.

Mme. Nordica, the prima donna, has just bought a country place near Baldwin, L. I. Mme. Nordica bought the live stock on the place, the owner having among other things some chickens.

The G. F. Sanborn Land company of Ashland, Wis., has disposed of 25,000 acres of its hardwood lands in Gogebic county. The Goodyear Lumber company was the purchaser. Consideration, $300,000.

Ore shipments from the St. Paul dock at Escanaba, Mich., have been suspended for the season. The total amount of ore forwarded by that company this season was 1,250,000 tons, an increase of 450,000 tons over 1904. The Northwestern docks will continue in operation for a week or ten days.

George Becher, a young Bavarian living on a farm south of Hammond, Ind., has been notified by the American consul at Munich that he is one of four heirs to an estate in Bavaria said to amount to $14,000,000. The estate was left by the brother of his grandmother.

ABANDONED TO REBEL BANDS

COUNTRY DISTRICTS OF RUSSIA AT MERCY OF LAWLESS ELEMENT.

BLOOD FLOWS IN CAUCASUS

TARTARS AND ARMENIANS MURDERING EACH OTHER AS OF YORE.

St. Petersburg, via Eydtkuhnen, East Prussia, Dec. 17.—It seems to be beyond question that bloody collisions have occurred between troops and the united peasantry and workmen in the streets of Riga, during which machine guns were used. The situation is most serious in the country, which is practically abandoned to the revolutionary bands owing to the concentration of the troops of the cities and towns. Against some of the estates where the landlords, aided by a few faithful adherents, are attempting to protect their property, the revolutionists are conducting regular Military Operations.

They reduced the garrison of the estate of Baron von Loewis to submission after a majority of the defendants had been killed, and plundered and burned the buildings and carried off the baron. The survivors were made prisoners.

Foreign Minister Lamsdorf, at the first interview which he had with the American ambassador, Mr. Meyer, since the latter's return to St. Petersburg, while not optimistic, expressed the opinion that the political situation and outlook had considerably improved.

The law and order elements are now the principal hope of averting the cataclysm which the revolutionary parties are organizing.

Mutiny in Manchuria.

The outbreak of the mutinous spirit in the Manchurian army is partly attributable to the failure to pay and properly feed the troops. The latter problem is especially difficult owing to the impossibility of forwarding adequate provisions from Russia on account of the practical paralysis of the railroad to Siberia, compelling the purchase of supplies from the Chinese for which adequate funds are not available. The authorities have now hurriedly forwarded $12,000,000 to the army in Manchuria.

The reports from the provinces indicate that the country generally remains close to the boiling point. The Tartars and Armenians are as of yore. At Elizabethpol especially there has been a savage exhibition of race hatred. From Kharkoff, an agent of the New York Life Insurance company who fled, brings the story of the establishment of a republic there. He says the military forces have gone over to the revolutionists and that the latter have full possession of the city.

Murdering Each Other

The Associated Press has received a private and reliable report from Moscow saying that the authorities there are extremely nervous as the city is denuded of troops, the soldiers having been sent to the neighboring provinces, especially southeast. Less than 10,000 troops remain in Moscow, and this force is considered to be utterly inadequate should a crisis occur.

Election Law for Russia.

The emperor's name-day, Dec. 19, will be signalized by an important peasant manifesto and the publication of the election law.

Under the leadership of the law and order party an attempt is making to organize a counter peasants' party in opposition to the Moscow peasants' congress.

Czar Sticks to Promises.

London, Dec. 17. — The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:

The emperor yesterday received a deputation representing numerous leagues of a patriotic complexion, including Prince Scherbatoff and other noblemen, all of whom are notoriously desirous for a return to the ancient autocratic regime, and are dissatisfied with the cabinet of Count Witte. Though they made no secret of their aspirations the emperor did not give them the slightest hope that there would be any deviation from the promises made in the manifesto of Oct. 30.

440 Officers Dismissed.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times reports that 440 officers have been dismissed by the general staff as untrustworthy.

Tunnel Caves on a Train.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 17.—It is reported that tunnel No. 27 on the Queen & Crescent railroad caved in on a passenger train last night. Thus far no details are obtainable.

Man Dies in Michigan Fire.

Calumet, Mich., Dec. 17.—The offices and buildings at the stamp mill of the Champion Copper company at Freda were burned early yesterday morning. Clerk Nelson, who was sleeping in the building, perished in the flames.

$15,000 in Jewels Stolen.

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 17.—Diamonds and other jewels valued at $15,000 were stolen from the rooms of Mrs. James Morgan, a wealthy widow, at a hotel here last evening. There is no clue.

BLUEBEARD LOSES APPEAL

THE SUPREME COURT DECIDES AGAINST HOCH, THE MULTI-MURDERER.

Chicago, Dec. 17. — The supreme court of the state yesterday affirmed the verdict of the lower court which condemned Johann Hoch to death for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Marie Welcker-Hoch, and the date of his execution has been set for Feb. 23.

A messenger was sent to Hoch with the news, and found him in the visitors' cage, talking with the last of his many wives, Mrs. Fischer-Hoch, the sister of the woman for whose murder he was sentenced to death.

When he received the news Hoch became greatly excited, and pressing his face against the wire netting he shouted:

"You are a liar, a liar. It is not true. I do not believe it!"

He quickly became more composed and asked for a verification of the report.

When the messenger came back a second time Hoch took it very quietly. He did not betray the slightest emotion, and said in his ordinary tone:

"I have nothing to say; nothing at all. If it must come, then it must. I have nothing more to say."

CONGRESS WILL ACT.

Hazing and Fighting at Annapolis to Be Investigated.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Hazing, fighting and other brutalities practiced at the Annapolis academy will immediately become the subject of a congressional investigation. It is said that the inquiry will be careful and thorough. A resolution offered by Mr. Carmack was yesterday afternoon adopted by the senate instructing the naval affairs committee, of which Senator Hale is chairman, to investigate "brutalities" at Annapolis. When presenting the resolution Mr. Carmack was asked by Mr. Hale if the investigation was to be conducted by the committee on naval affairs, to which Mr. Carmack replied in the affirmative. Mr. Hale said: "That is proper." There was no discussion on the resolution.

CARDINAL FOR AMERICA.

Significant Utterance of Pope on Recent Consistory at Vatican.

New York, Dec. 17. — A cable dispatch from London says: "A dispatch from Rome to the Standard says that, after the ceremony at the recent public consistory, the pope, turning to Dr. Henry Joseph Richter, bishop of Grand Rapids, Mich., said; 'America will have her turn.'"

HARPER LOSING STRENGTH.

President of Chicago University Has Not Left Bed for Two Days.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—The condition of President Harper of Chicago university was said by his physicians yesterday to be unchanged. He has not left his bed for two days, but he rested comfortably during the night. It is said that he is gradually growing weaker.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

St. Paul, Dec. 18. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 84 1-2@85 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 81@83c; No. 3, 79 1-2@81c. Corn —No. 3 yellow, 44 1-2@45c. Oats—No. 3 white, 29 1-4@30 3-4c.

Duluth, Dec. 18. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 84 3-4c; No. 2 Northern, 82 3-4c; flax, $1.04 7-8; rye, 62c.

Minneapolis, Dec. 18. — Wheat—No. 1 hard, 85 3-8c; No. 1 Northern, 84 7-8c; No. 2 Northern, 82 7-8c; durum, 71@74c. Oats—No. 3 white, 29 1-2c.

Milwaukee, Dec. 18. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 88@89c; No. 2 Northern, 85@85 1-2c. Rye—No. 1, 70c. Barley —No. 2, 53 1-2@54c. Oats—Standard, 39c.

Chicago, Dec. 18. — Wheat — No. 2 red, 89@91c; No. 2 hard, 86@87 1-2c; No. 1 Northern, 88@90c; No. 2 Northern, 86@89c. Corn—No. 2, 46c. Oats —No. 2, 31 1-4c.

Sioux City, Iowa, Dec. 18.—Cattle—Beeves, $3.40@5.00; cows, bulls and mixed, $2@3.50; stockers and feeders, $2.75@3.60; calves and yearlings, $2.50@3.40. Hogs—Bulk, $4.70@4.75.

Chicago, Dec. 18. — Beeves, $3.60 @ 6.80; stockers and feeders, $2.30 @ 4.15; cows and heifers, $3.25 @ 4.75. Hogs — Mixed and butchers, $4.75@ 5; bulk, $4.85 @ 4.85. Sheep, $4 @ 5.65; lambs, $4.75@7.85.

South St. Paul, Dec. 18. — Cattle — Good to choice steers, $4.50 @ 5.50; good to choice cows and heifers, $3.25 @ 4.25; good to choice milch cows, $30@40. Hogs — Range price, $4.55 @ 4.75; bulk, $4.65. Sheep — Good to choice lambs, $6.25 @ 6.75; fair to good, $4.50@6.25; yearling wethers, $5@5.50; good to choice ewes, $4.50@ 4.75.

Kittson Land Is Ready.

Washington, Dec. 17.—On the recommendation of Representative Steenerson orders will soon be issued opening to settlement the township in the northwest corner of Kittson county, Minn., abutting on the Canadian line.

Roy Pleads Guilty.

Marshalltown, Iowa, Dec. 17.—Roy Hill, indicted for the murder of Daniel Leary of Tama a few weeks ago, yesterday pleaded guilty when arraigned in district court.

FIGHT WIND AND WAVE FOR HOURS

STEAMER GOES ASHORE AFTER DESPERATE BATTLE WITH ELEMENTS.

MANY VESSELS IN DISTRESS

WORST STORM OF THE YEAR RAGES ALONG THE VIRGINIA COAST.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 17. — After a struggle of forty-eight hours with winds and waves during which the crew had no time for eating or sleeping, the Belgian steamer Antigoon, Capt. Calimetta, went ashore at Little Island, about twelve miles south of this place, early yesterday. No lives were lost, but this is due solely to the efforts on the part of the crews of the life saving stations at Little Island and False Cape. The Antigoon is now hard aground about 200 yards off the shore, and in the life saving station at Little Island nineteen members of her crew were cared for yesterday. It is probable the vessel will be a total loss.

Signals of Distress.

The Antigoon was first sighted off Virginia Beach Thursday when she was being slowly driven south by the storm. She appeared to be holding her own until about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, when she sent up signals of histress. The beach patrol answered and the crew from Little Island and False Cape life saving stations went to the scene. Lines were shot to the ship and at 10 o'clock yesterday morning the first man was sent ashore in the breeches buoy. By 1 o'clock, when the velocity of the wind had increased to forty-two miles, only three men had come ashore. From then on, however, the men were taken off more rapidly, nineteen trips being made before every one was saved. The increasing gale makes the chances of saving the steamer slight.

Worst Storm of the Year.

The worst storm of the year rages here. Streets in the lower part of the city are flooded and the harbor is crowded with weather-bound vessels. Reports from Cape Henry over the government coast wire, say that an unknown sailing ship or bark is dangerously near the cape, anchored, but rolling heavily in a fifty-mile gale.

From the south a steamer of the Norfolk & Southern railway, engaged in carrying passengers and freight from Elizabeth City, N. J., to Pamlico sound points, is reported ashore on Roanoke island. The government tug Morawek, with supplies for the dry dock Dewey, was unable to proceed to Solomon's island in Chesapeake bay last night and the gunboat Hornet was forced to abandon her search for a capsized schooner near Hatteras.

LAWSON PUZZLES THE STREET.

Financier Says His Entire Fortune Is Behind Bear Campaign.

Boston, Dec. 17.—State street yesterday confessed its amazement at a public announcement of Thomas W. Lawson that every dollar of his private fortune is behind the bear campaign against Amalgamated. The total amount of his own and his friends' money involved being $15,000,000. One-third of this vast sum Lawson put into the pool within the last few days, and he admitted losses up to Thursday night of $3,400,000. What the street cannot understand is why Lawson should advertise his impending bankruptcy if there is any danger of his financial collapse, and those who think they know his methods are extremely skeptical. Careful reading of Mr. Lawson's announcement regarding his Amalgamated pool shows some important things. A rise of about 20 points has cost the pool $3,400,000, according to Lawson. He says he still has $11,000,000 left. It will require a rise of nearly 70 points to wipe out this sum. When Amalgamated sells at 170 State street and Lawson's close friends will believe he is broke, and not much before that time.

33 DAYS FOR ROCKEFELLER.

One John D. Goes to Jail as a Drunk for Lack of $15.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—"John D. Rockefeller," sixty-five years old, was fined $15 in Justice Mayer's court yesterday. He was unable to pay and will serve thirty-three days in the Bridewell. Rockefeller was arrested Wednesday afternoon. He then informed the police of his identity, but every one seemed indifferent. In court Rockefeller said he had fainted while at work and was given stimulants which made him intoxicated.

To Lay Off Over Holiday.

Washington, Dec. 17. — Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee yesterday presented to the house a joint resolution providing for the holiday recess. It proposes adjournment of both houses from Dec. 21 to Jan. 4.

Death in His Wealth.

Louisiana, Mo., Dec. 17.—Clay Neville, a farmer living seven miles from Curryville, committed suicide yesterday from worry over having more money than he could invest.

IN MINNESOTA.

State News of the Week Briefly Told.

Daniel Lyons, a farmer living near Walcott, was killed by a Rock Island freight train.

: : : :

The Sherburne county commission have allowed Sheriff Ward $500 for hanging C. D. Crawford.

: : : :

The home of William Roseleck, a farmer living west of Plainview, was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $3,000, partly covered by insurance.

: : : :

The December term of the district court for Freeborn county opened at Albert Lea. There are 106 civil, besides several criminal cases to be heard.

: : : :

Work on St. Henry's new Catholic church at Perham has been suspended on account of the weather. The roof is completed and the building will be finished in the spring.

: : : :

Postal receipts at St. Paul in November aggregated $67,742, as compared with $58,272 in the corresponding month of 1904. This is an increase of $9,469, or 16.25 per cent.

: : : :

Gus Lindgreen, formerly register of deeds of Nobles county, but of late years cashier of the Adrian State bank, was buried at Adrian. He was an old settler and popular.

: : : :

Martin Lofgren, a section laborer, was instantly killed in the Great Northern yards at Evansville. He was walking on the track and was run down by an extra freight.

: : : :

Edward Townsend was brought to Fergus Falls from Star Lake to answer to the charge of shooting partridges out of season. He gave bonds in the sum of $100 and the case was continued.

: : : :

Dog poisoners have been busy at Renville, and as a result several valuable dogs are dead, while others have been sick but recovered. Suspicion rests on two persons, and the dog owners intend to prosecute.

: : : :

George Qualley, a farmer living two miles north of Hills, was caught on the crossing near his home by the northbound Great Northern passenger. The buggy was smashed and the occupant had both legs cut off below the knee, besides internal injuries.

: : : :

The business men of Staples have organized a commercial club, which will look after the business interests and endeavor to have manufacturers of different lines come here. A large membership is assured and a starch factory is already promised for the spring.

: : : :

J. M. Peterson, an old resident of St. Peter narrowly escaped instant death in a dynamite explosion. Unaware that it contained a quantity of the explosive, he heated a length of pipe at his forge and the resulting explosion shattered his right hand, cut him about the head and probably destroyed his eyesight. The concussion was so great that it nearly wrecked the building.

: : : :

Lars Flatness, who made such a complete and mysterious disappearance from Albert Lea last summer, has returned to his former home at Northwood, Iowa, and report says that he is in his usual health. At the time of his disappearance he was in the employ of the Albert Lea Mercantile company, and as he left no indication of his intended departure it was supposed he had been foully dealt with or had committed suicide, and yet no trace of him was ever found.

: : : :

C. C. Robertson, en route from British Columbia to visit a sick sister at Detroit, Mich., displayed symptoms of insanity upon his arrival on passenger train No. 56 at Hastings. He broke the windows of the sleeping car, jumped through one of them and ran like a wild deer up Second street for nearly half a mile before being overhauled by Policemen W. E. Temple and J. E. Kenney. He was uninjured, and had in his possession a ticket to Chicago and $82 in money.

Daniel Lyons, a farmer living near Walcott, was killed by a Rock Island freight train. He had been in town all the evening and started to walk home. It is thought he must have been walking near the track and that the freight train, which goes through here at 12:10, caught him. He was evidently dragged about a quarter of a mile to a point where the body was found by the crew of a passenger train which went over that line. The body was fearfully mangled, barely enough being left to admit of identification. It is thought the crew of the freight train did not see him or know of the accident.

: : : :

At a meeting of the ministers of Winona it was unanimously resolved that in view of the fact that many persons have recently come to the city, soliciting money for various causes, sometimes claiming indorsement to which they are not entitled, notice be given that unless such claim of indorsement be in writing, no notice will be taken of such appeals. This action was taken because it is believed fraudulent appeals have been made. The ministers feel themselves hampered in the work regularly indorsed by the churches and the city generally.

MINNESOTA HAS ACRES OF PEAT

BUT ITS FUEL QUALITIES HAVE NOT YET BEEN TESTED.

Minnesota has millions of tons of peat, but it is unexplored, difficult to mine, and it is uncertain whether all of it will make good fuel. That is the summary of a report which Prof. C. W. Hall of the state university has made to the governor. Last spring a number of queries regarding peat in the state were received by the governor from prospective investors and others. Gov. Johnson referred the queries to Prof. Hall for information. Prof. Hall went into an extensive investigation by means of questions to the county surveyors and reports of geologists, and recently sent to the governor a detailed report of his findings. In his summary Prof. Hall says:

"While the amount of peat in the state amounts to many million tons, the scattered condition of the deposits makes the difficulty of mining considerably greater than in localities where thick beds and large swamps or beds occur.

"Minnesota is peat young. Owing to the lateness of the glacial epoch in retreating from the state, the accumulations of peat began only a few years ago. The shortness of the growing season in this latitude also makes a slowness of peat formation.

"All the peat lies in bogs in shallow lake areas where the obliteration of the lake is proceeding or has been accomplished in recent years.

"There has been very little experimentation to show the fuel value of the peat. Some shows too large a percentage of ash, but this may not be the case in all portions.

"The growing interest in the peat supply of the state suggests the importance of further exploratioon to determine the quality and quantity of peat in the state."

Prof. Hall divides the state into five sections, the northwestern, northeastern, central, southeastern and southwestern. In the northwestern, especially in the Red river valley, conditions were never favorable for the formation of peat. The glacial lake Agassiz was drained only 5,000 years ago, which is too short a time for the formation of peat. Some deposits are found two or three feet thick, but are not old enough to make the best fuel. The deposits are usually covered with several feet of soil.

In the northeastern portion deposits are found a foot or less below the surface, and areas are found from two to four feet thick. In the central district peat is found in Anoka, Hennepin and Ramsey counties. Nicollet county, which is within the great bend of the Minnesota river, has many sloughs with decaying vegetable matter, and the surveyor reports that it burns freely and with great heat.

In the southeastern section, Dakota and Faribault, Freeborn, Goodhue and Mower counties report that they burned peat before the railroads came. Faribault county has 1,200 acres tthree feet thick. Le Sueur reports deposits in every township two to seven feet thick, with an aggregate of 3,000 acres. In the southwestern section much of the peat tested is found to contain 25 to 48 per cent of ash, which is too high for good results. Cottonwood county reports deposits several feet thick and near the surface, and Jackson county reports veins of lignite coal one to three feet thick.

STUDENTS OF BOTH SEXES.

Policy of Albert Lea College Still a Matter of Speculation.

With the securing of the funds necessary to pay the debts of Albert Lea college there is speculation as to what policy shall be pursued when the endowment proposed is secured and the institution is again opened for the reception of students. There is a strong demand that the college, when next it is opened, be to students of both sexes, as that seems the popular plan for education at this time.

It will be remembered that the Presbyterian church of the state established Albert Lea college for the education of girls, and Macalester, St. Paul, for boys, but the latter long ago was made co-ed and there seems no reason why the institution here should not enter the field as a competitor and would be but the natural result of the action of the managers of Macalester.

The date of the reopening of the college has not been determined, but arrangements are progressing with that end in view.

STATE FAIR'S FINANCES.

Secretary Reports Receipts of $192,894.79, and Cash Balance of $75,277.65.

Secretary E. W. Randall of the state agricultural society has made his annual report to Gov. Johnson. It shows the receipts of the 1905 fair to have been $192,894.79, in addition to a balance of $48,680.10 carried over from the previous year. The disbursements were $166,297.24, and the balance on hand is $75,277.65.

The ticket receipts from the late fair were $134,923, privileges netted $22,612.21 and races $16,326.30.

The largest item of disbursements was $33,779.45. Premiums were paid amounting to $24,077.17, attractions cost $21,117.74, advertising, printing, stationery and billposting came to $13,466.22, officers' salaries $7,300, labor and material $6,667.86, and races and suspensions $16,615.31.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MIDDY HAZED AT ANNAPOLIS

LEFT UNCONSCIOUS BY TORMENTORS—DISMISSAL FOR GUILTY ONES.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 15.—Notwithstanding the testimony of witnesses before the Meriwether court-martial to the effect that hazing is no longer practiced at the naval academy, a case occurred there Tuesday night.

The victim was Midshipman Jerdon Pettus Kimbrough of Germantown, Tenn. Last week he was called before a board of officers now in session at the academy inquiring into hazing, fighting and similar practices, and compelled to answer certain questions. It is said that he had also told some relatives that he had been hazed, and that the relatives laid the matter before the authorities.

It is said the hazing was on account of these two things. Midshipman Kimbrough was compelled to stand on his head, then on his feet, and then on his head again, repeating this process for ten minutes continuously. At the end of that time he fainted and was left in that condition by the hazers. Later he was found by his roommate, still unconscious. Yesterday morning he was carried to the hospital, but is now doing well.

Admiral James H. Sands, superintendent of the naval academy, had the matter investigated by a board of officers yesterday morning. Their report showed that Midshipman Trenmor Coffin, Jr., of Carson City, Nev., a member of the third class, took part in the hazing, and that Midshipman Warren A. Van der Ver of Mount Holly, N. J., of the second class, was on duty and did not report the occurrence.

Admiral Sands immediately suspended the midshipmen and forwarded his recommendation in the matter to the secretary of the navy. He would not state what this recommendation was in advance of its receipt by Secretary Bonaparte, but it is understood to be for the dismissal of the midshipmen implicated.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

Senate Turns Down Proposition to Investigate Corporations.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 14.—The senate refused to concur in the La Follette joint resolution passed by the assembly to institute an investigation of life insurance and railroad corporations, political committees and organizations.

The assembly defeated the two ballot reform bills that developed from the recommendations of the governor that the straight ticket circle on the ballot should be abolished. The Warner bill, a measure much like the Massachusetts law, was killed by a vote of 3 8to 35.

The Roycroft bill, much like the Minnesota law, was killed, 27 to 58.

The eight hour amendment to the capitol building bill requiring that the building contract shall contain an eight-hour clause was adopted.

STEALS GOVERNOR'S SHOES.

Some Ambitious Traveler Disappears With Gov. Johnson's Footgear.

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 15—The shoes of Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota were stolen some time during Tuesday night from under his berth on a sleeping car as his train was approaching this city. The mercury in the thermometer was hovering near the zero mark when the governor sat up in the morning, but he was forced to remain in his stocking feet for several hours before the porter had an opportunity to purchase substitute footwear.

AUG. 13 IS G. A. R. DATE.

Time for Encampment at Minneapolis Is Fixed.

Minneapolis, Dec. 15.—The week of Aug. 13 has been officially named as the time for the next annual convention of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is to be held in Minneapolis. This action was taken yesterday by the national council of administration of the G. A. R. at the close of a long conference with the Minneapolis local committee and the passenger officials of the different railroad companies.

ARTIST MADE ODD ERROR.

Paints Ox Team and Driver With Positions Reversed.

Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. 15. — Art critics here have discovered a queer error in a $10,000 view in the Iowa capitol building painted by Artist Blasfield of New York. It is a mural scene containing oxen, the driver of which is on the wrong side. The oxen look natural enough, but theartist has evidently never seen an ox team in action.

SEEKS LAND FOR THE STATE.

Senator Nelson's Bill Relating to the Itasca Park Is Up Again.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Senator Nelson has reintroduced his bills which came over from the last congress providing for a grant from the government to Minnesota of a tract of eighty acres to be incorporated in the Itasca Park. Also his bill providing lights on the navigable waters of the Warroad.

Guilty of Murder.

Aberdeen, S. D., Dec. 15.—The Barker jury was out four hours and returned a verdict of guilty in the first degree for murder and fixed the penalty to life imprisonment. The defense filed a motion for a new trial.

DEATH CURES DRINK HABIT

"IT'S BETTER THAN BOOZE," SAYS SUICIDE OF DRAUGHT OF ACID.

Superior, Wis., Dec. 16. — William O'Laughlin, thirty-eight years old and of good family connections, committed suicide in a local lodging house by drinking carbolic acid. O'Laughlin said yesterday morning to his landlady that he was going to find something that would make him stop drinking. About 10 o'clock when the woman entered the guests' room she found him standing beside the bed with a small bottle in his hand. "I drank it all, and it's better than booze for me," said O'Laughlin. Then he fell back on the bed, dying.

BIG MINING DEAL.

U. S. Steel Corporation Buys Half-Interest in Hill's Ore Lands.

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 16.—One of the biggest mining deals in the history of the Mesaba range was consummated yesterday when the transfer of a half-interest in what are known as the J. J. Hill unleased ore lands on the Western Mesaba range was formally made to the United States Steel Corporation, the papers being filed at Grand Rapids, Minn., the county seat of Itasca county, yesterday. The principal part of the unleased iron ore lands on this range comprises a vast acreage on the west end of the Mesaba in towns 56-23, 56-24 and 55-25, known as the Walker lands. These lands have been variously estimated to contain from 100,000,000 to 300,000,000 tons of ore, running about one-half Bessemer.

TRIED FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

Jack Purcell Charged With Killing a Man by Throwing Cuspidore.

Aberdeen, S. D., Dec. 16.—Jack Purcell is being tried here for manslaughter. He is accused of having killed W. D. Marvin in a saloon row on the 22d of last June. Purcell, it is alleged, threw a cuspidore at Edward Block, the bartender in the saloon, but it struck Marvin. Marvin was put to bed but got up shortly afterward, and it was not supposed that he was seriously hurt. He was found dead the next morning.

SICK WOMAN KILLS SELF.

Sends Husband From Room, and When Alone Takes Acid.

Yankton, S. D., Dec. 16.—Mrs. R. R. Stewart of Gayville, who took carbolic acid Monday night, is dead. Her body will be shipped to Harris, Iowa, for interment. Mrs. Stewart, who had been ill for some time, in a fit of despondency secured a bottle of carbolic acid which was in the house, secreted it in her bed, and sending her husband out of the room to get ready for supper, she drank the poison before he returned. She fought against antidotes and soon passed beyond medical aid.

ST. PAUL HONORS HILL.

Citizens Tender Banquit to Railroad Magnate.

St. Paul, Dec. 16.—J. J. Hill was the guest last night at a complimentary banquet tendered by the citizens of St. Paul in appreciation of his great work for St. Paul and the Northwest. More than 300 sat down to the banquet tables, which were decorated to resemble railroad tracks. The general decorations of the banquet hall were the most elaborate ever seen in the city. J. G. Pyle, J. J. McKibbin and Pierce Butler were the speakers.

FIRST TRIP ACROSS RIVER.

New Railroad Bridge at Pierre Is Put Into Service.

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 16. — The first train other than those in the construction work was taken across the Missouri river here yesterday, when officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road took about thirty invited guests across in a passenger coach. The party consisted of representatives of the city papers, city officials, and leading business men of Pierre.

Dies From Injuries.

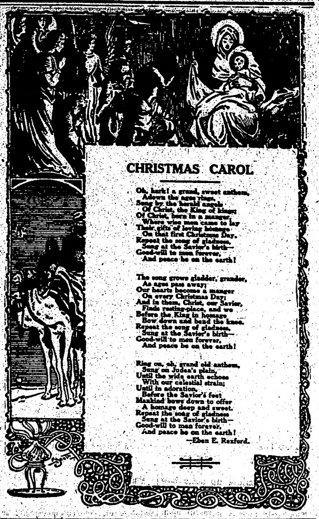
Grand Forks, N. D., Dec. 16. — Asa Wright, the young man who was terribly injured in the St. Anthony & Dakota elevator at Petersburg two weeks ago by being caught in the belt operating the machinery, and who had his right leg amputated above the knee the day following the accident, died yesterday.

Family of Suicides.

Gayville, S. D., Dec. 16.—Mrs. R. R. Stuart, wife of the leading lumber dealer of this place is dead from poison, self-administered. The act is attributed to illness. Mrs. Stuart's mother and brother took their own lives.

Injured by Cave-In.

Medora, N. D., Dec 16.—Daniel Connell, formerly of Detroit, Minn., was severely injured by a cave-in while mining at the Denniston ranch. One leg was broken twice and he received internal injuries.



CHRISTMAS CAROL

Oh, hark! a grand, sweet anthem,
  Adown the ages rings,
Sung by the herald angels
  Of Christ, the King of kings;
Of Christ, born in a manger,
  Where wise men came to lay
Their gifts of loving homage
  On that first Christmas Day.
Repeat the song of gladness,
  Sung at the Savior's birth—
Good-will to men forever,
  And peace be on the earth!

The song grows gladder, grander,
  As ages pass away;
Our hearts become a manger
  On every Christmas Day;
And in them, Christ, our Savior,
  Finds resting-place, and we
Before the King in homage
  Bow down and bend the knee.
Repeat the song of gladness,
  Sung at the Savior's birth—
Good-will to men forever,
  And peace be on the earth!

Ring on, oh, grand old anthem,
  Sung on Judea's plain,
Until the wide earth echoes
  With our celestial strain;
Until in adoration,
  Before the Savior's feet
Mankind bows down to offer
  A homage deep and sweet.
Repeat the song of gladness
  Sung at the Savior's birth—
Good-will to men forever,
  And peace be on the earth!

—Eben E. Rexford.

Suggested by the Season

Of all beautiful legends, of all beautiful verse, of all stories told in all the life of the whole world, there is no tale so wondrously beautiful as the story of the Christ-child. Every man and every women must recall those long-ago, faraway days when first the story was told to them, the story of the little babe in the manger, of the star of Bethlehem, with its rain of fire, the shepherds, the wise men and the doings of the angels. And with this memory come back other memories, mental visions of those whom we loved and who have passed away; of all the sweet joys of childhood, when the world was a playground instead of a workshop; of fond dreams and childish disappointments. Christmas day is a time when we must pause on the journey and rest by the wayside, sparing the golden hours for reverie and tasting the sweets of generosity and tender charity.

By all manner of judgment and beliefs we must concede that, so far as doing good is concerned, all days should be Christmas. To bestow neckties on Dec. 25, and cross words all the other 364 days of the year is to be like the common sinner who cheats his neighbor during the week and prays most energetically on the Sabbath.

Let us not confine our gifts to material things, but open up our hearts and give freely of their great stores. There's many a woman who, receiving a costly gift from husband or father, would only too gladly exchange it for some sweet expression of his fondness and affection. Many a mother from whom her children have grown away would prefer a caress, one endearing word, a kiss of love, to all the trinkets and baubles and gifts in the shops.

It isn't the gift, it's the love and thoughtfulness that prompt it. The woman who gives because she feels it a duty is practicing deceit, and belittling herself. If one wishes not to bestow a holiday remembrance let one at least have the courage of one's feelings and sentiments and be true and honest about it. No human soul wants a present that is given grudgingly.

According to our way of thinking it is a beautiful thing that once a year, one may have the privilege of doing something nice for those to whom one is devoted.

The pleasure is so great that, on Dec. 26 one should decide to put a little of the Christmas spirit into daily existence.

Perhaps you don't know it, but it is true nevertheless that the more you give the more you will have. There is certainly some great, wonderful power that takes away from those who are grasping and selfish, and who helps along all those whose hearts swing true.

There is such a keen pleasure in doing for others that it inspires one to work, to greater endeavor and to better purposes and higher ambitions. What is there in other earthly things half so satisfying?

The woman who buys pretty clothes has the satisfaction of looking at her reflection in a mirror, but this satisfaction is as shadowy, as flitting, as unreal as the vision she beholds. The woman who fills her house with beautiful furnishings rejoices for a certain time, and then the beautiful things lose in interest. The woman whose bank account grows with the years knows that she is safe from poverty, but you can't get any more heart warmth out of a bank book than if it were an icicle.

But how about the woman whose mind is running over with thoughtfulness for others, who is decent and kind to her cook, who is considerate of the aged, eager to help the needy and always the fine, splendid helper and friend to all who know her?

Let me tell you something. It is in her heart that you will find genuine contentment. No matter what horrible anxieties she has suffered, what dreadful troubles she has dragged wearily through, what pain and cares have been hers, she is the one who knows the calm, sweet comfort that comes when she looks out into a gray sky and realizes that she has done good to some one, that she has brought a smile to quivering lips, a light to discouraged eyes, life to a heart without hope.

She doesn't have to wait until Christmas. Every day is that—and more—to her.

There is a woman I know, and she had nothing at all—father, mother, brother or sister or even a home. But she had something else that lots of people have not, and that is courage—and she was only a little slip of a girl, too. But she worked very hard for quite a number of long years, and now she has many things which she has always wanted—little luxuries that every woman loves—pretty things in her home and pretty things to wear.

The other day in a shopping crowd she met another woman who, like herself, had carved a little niche in the world of hard work, and this other woman said:

"Aren't you proud of yourself for having accomplished something? I am."

The first woman was silent for a moment. Then she said:

"No, I am not proud of myself, I can't be—yet. I've done so very little compared with what I want to do, and learned so little when I wished to learn so much. But I am tremendously happy that when I want to buy some little comfort for somebody or send a box of flowers to somebody or give some little child a happiness it is in my power to do so. My years of work have been worth this mighty sweet reward.

Won't you try to let a little more of the holy spirit of the hour sink into your soul, and won't you remember that your stay and mine and your neighbor's and everybody's is dreadfully limited here in this pleasant vale of smiles and laughter? There's no telling where any of us will be this time next year, so live this Christmas as happily and as generously as you can.

There's something else, too. If you are going to help a little child hang up a tiny stocking, and if you are now answering all sorts of questions about Santa Claus and chimneys and reindeers and if, on Christmas Eve, you go to a little bedside and kiss the sweetest little lips in all the world, fall upon your knees and thank God, for you are blessed!

A Merry Christmas to you all.

"Yule" Is Scandinavian.

The word "Yule" has in reality nothing to do with Christmas. It is an old Scandinavian word, signifying the winter solstice, which was always kept as a feast by the heathen Goths.

Old Irish Superstition.

It is an old Irish superstition that gold should not be paid away on Christmas day, nor silver lent.

CALUMET
Baking Powder

complies with the pure food laws of all states. Food prepared with it is free from Rochelle salts, lime, alum and ammonia.

Trust Baking Powders sell for 45 or 50 cents per pound and may be identified by this exorbitant price. They are a menace to public health, as food prepared from them contains large quantities of Rochelle salts, a dangerous cathartic drug.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

CARL M. BORGEN, EDITOR

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

Since Alice is soon to be married, it is time to conjure up some new theme for gossip.

The world loves a peaceful man, but it always gives the right of way to the strenuous kicker.

The St. Cloud Journal-Press suggests that Uncle Sam should present a number of trust robbers with a grand jury indictment as a Christmas reminder of "peace on earth, good will to men."

If the state fair is really a state institution why should not the money be deposited in the state treasury and bills paid by warrants issued by the state auditor, as is done by other departments of the state government?

Few people supposed that such a bright little book as "When Knighthood was in Flower" would so soon be selling at 33 cents. Such slumps will deter veteran soldiers from writing books on "When Hardtack was in Flour."

So many of our exchanges have been dressed in their "glad rags" prior to Christmas in the line of special editions that it makes the fellows who didn't follow suit green with envy. Minnesota has better, bigger and brighter weekly newspapers than any other state in the country. If you don't believe it come in and look the COURIER's exchange list over.

The sage of Sauk Centre wants an early Republican convention, to which "not an office seeker, an office-holder or a representative of corporations should be permitted to go." If by some freak of fate such a suggestion should be carried out we can prepare for the millenium. Corporation tools and office seekers do not relinquish control of a party organization while that party is in the ascendancy.

Frank Eddy is not a candidate for governor—not just now, for he says:" No man at the present time can afford to be a candidate for governor. Under existing conditions a man who "puts up an organization" or establishes a "bureau" to secure the nomination, ought to be beaten in the convention for if such a one is not beaten there he will be beaten at the polls." This "listens like" an awful slap at the Block propaganda.

The Goodhue County News, of Red Wing, one of the brightest and most brilliant of small dailies in the state has discontinued publication, but will continue as a weekly with Geo. H. Allen as editor. The retiring editor, John S. Pardee, will seek other fields. It is not stretching a point or handing out a taffy stick when the COURIER makes the statement that Pardee was one of the cleverest editorial writers in the state.

It is an undisputed fact that high tariff fosters the trusts, says the Glencoe Enterprise. The present tariff schedules in many instances benefits the few to the detriment of the common people. If the present congress fails to revise the tariff, the representatives of the people who favor only the trusts in opposing tariff revision, should be turned down when their term of office expires. The only way to gain freedom from tariff robbery is to defeat the party advocating it. The best remedy for the greed of the trusts is to create competition.

Plans are rapidly maturing, which if carried to a successful conclusion, will kill the state prison's twine plant. The International Harvester trust, it is reported, has purchased the Minne harvester plant, which has been idle the past year and it is the purpose of the trust to convert it into a flax twine factory purchasing the raw material exclusively from Minnesota farmers and only selling the finished product to farmers of this state at a price lower than the cost of prison-made twine. But will the farmers go back on an institution that has saved them hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Talk about the impartiality of the government, consider the way the people of the smaller towns are treated in the matter of mail delivery, says the Belle Plaine Herald. The city man and farmer have their mail brought direct to their doors; nor have they to pay box rent or any expense whatever. The man in the small town has to walk to the post office, a mile away perhaps, and then pay two dollars a year for the privilege of affording the postmaster an opportunity to put his mail in a separate box. The government needs the money to meet the expenses of city and rural free delivery.

When it comes to handling "that little yellow hammer" the Crookston Journal uses it unmercifully on his esteemed contemporary, the Times. The latter's write-up of the recent Red River Valley Poultry Show held in that city was far from pleasing to Bro. Kirsch and he raps the Times man over the knuckles in this fashion:

"The only reason that we can attribute the forthcoming of the article is the fact that perhaps "His Nobs" is not as competent of judging the kind of "hens" that were entered in the show."

"His Nobs" should ask for a diagram to the pun.

TIME CHANGES ALL THINGS.

Preston Times: Henry Rolette, a janitor at the state capitol was discharged recently for drunkenness. His father once stole a bill providing for the removal of the capital from St. Paul to St. Peter. The son is sent forth in disgrace for being drunk, the father was canonized by the Saintly city and his theft is pointed to with pride, his life size picture even adorning the walls of St. Paul's high toned resort for the rich—the Minnesota Club. Things are not always looked at from the same viewpoint.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angeles the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

Many children inherit constitutions weak and feeble, others due to childhood troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children and make them strong. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert.

St. Paul Letter

Special to Courier

Another receptive candidate for the Republican nomination for governor has been announced in the person of A. H. Lindeke, the big wholesale merchant of St. Paul. Mr. Lindeke is somewhat new at the political game, and he goes at it in much the same manner he would offer a bill of dry goods to a country merchant. His leading issue seems to be the cementing of closer bonds between the city and country merchant, all of which would redound greatly to the glory and profit of Mr. Lindeke and his wholesale house. He sees no burning issues in the impending campaign save the amalgamation of the Republican factions and the getting together of the city and country in some common cause for the advancement of Lindeke. Everywhere the candidacy of Lindeke is taken as a huge joke, and outside of Ramsey county it will not arouse much enthusiasm. Here at the capitol city Block's friends see a scheme to divide the German vote, which heretofore has been conceded to the state treasurer.

As a matter of fact all of the prospective Republican candidates shy at a public announcement of their intentions. The Lord and Lindeke booms have been treated with such small consideration that the others are afraid to test public opinion on the subject of their ambitions at this stage of the game. Of couse Julius Block will be out in due time. He already has an organization in half of the counties of the state, and is reputed to have several confidential agents at work in different sections manufacturing public opinion in his behalf. It occurs to the writer, though, that some of his literary efforts in the last campaign will rise up and haunt him. In the darkest days of the Dunn campaign Mr. Block was induced to write letters to his old friends in Nicollet county in favor of Dunn, urging the fact that Nicollet county was not entitled to the governorship, any way, as she already had had three governors, and at that time had the state treasurer, deputy treasurer, attorney general, and other federal and state officials too numerous to mention. Now, that Nicollet county has since had another governor, how is Mr. Block going to get around the argument at the state convention that Nicollet county has already been pretty well cared for at the hands of the Republican party?

* * *

Some people think that the state capitol is the mecca for political news, but just at present very little is happening in that line. No new avowals of candidacies for minor positions on the state ticket have been heard. There is a fair-sized field of aspirants for Treasurer Block's shoes, but it is given out that Mr. Block himself is strongly in favor of the nomination of his chief clerk, P. C. Koener, of Litchfield. Mr. Koener's father was Block's predecessor; and the family has a lot of strong political connections. Besides the place has been generally conceded to the Germans during the last twenty years. Julius Schmahl, who has been chief clerk of the house for the last six years, and is the editor of the Redwood Gazette, is also a candidate. For secretary of state E. A. Nelson of Hallock, librarian under the Van Sant administration, is mentioned more frequently than anyone else. Attorney General Young and Auditor Iverson will be candidates for renomination and there is little likelihood of opposition to either.

* * *

Governor Johnson is away on a vacation to California, but he will be back the fore part of next week to take up matters of public concern. It is generally supposed that the public examiner will submit his report on the investigation of the capitol commission before the first of the year, but whether it contains any suggestion of mismanagement of affairs is not known. The contents of the document are carefully guarded, and the first news will come from the governor. Mr. Kerst the examiner, is not much of an advertiser. He goes about his work quietly and unostentatiously, but the result of his work counts, for the county offices, banks and other public concerns under his supervision were never in better condition.

SALT FOR MILCH COWS.

I keep salt where the cows can get it at will, and find that they give more milk and seem to be in better condition than when salted at irregular intervals, says a writer in the Farm and Home Sentinel. In wet weather, however they are liable to eat too much and purge themselves. At such times it is best to withhold it until normal conditions are restored. Where stock have salt as often as they desire, it tends to keep them more quiet, for when they have an appetite which cannot be satisfied they inevitably become restless. I think the plan of having salt stands is equally good for sheep, but must be practiced with care. Sheep are ravenous eaters of salt and will overate if allowed. By giving a little each day they will soon adapt themselves to the plan. Then they may have free access to salt and not abuse the privilege. It is common for farmers to neglect salting their horses. While horses crave salts less than cattle or sheep, it is nevertheless quite essential to their health. It need not be given them so often; once in ten days or even two weeks is usually sufficient.

POLK COUNTY MYSTERY

Aleck Lameas, a farmer living four miles northeast of East Grand Forks was found dead near his barn Sunday. The case is a peculiar one as there are no indications of foul play. The coroner has summoned a jury and the cause of his death will be probed to the bottom. He was a married man and his family relations evidently harmonious.

Presbyterian Christmas Services.

Rev. Knox will preach at the Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock next Sabbath. The Sunday school classes will have their Christmas tree the same evening at 7:30 o'clock.

McMURRAY'S
VANILLA
WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

MAKE MONEY
by sending your
HIDES,
FURS ETC.
to us - We pay
high prices & sell
guns, traps etc. cheap
N. W. HIDE & FUR CO.
200 1st St. N. Minneapolis Minn.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND PRICE LISTS

All Run Down

THIS is a common expression we hear on every side. Unless there is some organic trouble, the condition can doubtless be remedied. Your doctor is the best adviser. Do not dose yourself with all kinds of advertised remedies—get his opinion. More than likely you need a concentrated fat food to enrich your blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion
of Cod Liver Oil

is just such a food in its best form. It will build up the weakened and wasted body when all other foods fail to nourish. If you are run down or emaciated, give it a trial: it cannot hurt you. It is essentially the best possible nourishment for delicate children and pale, anaemic girls. We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

SCOTT & BOWNE
Chemists
409 Pearl Street, New York
50c. and $1. All Druggists

...A PEEK IN ADVANCE...

at the best things for Christmas
It will give you new ideas......

..CHARMING GIFTS..

and plenty of them ready and
waiting your inspection........

Watches, Clocks, Silverware, Cut Glass

JEWELRY

Rings, Brooches, Stick pins, Cuff Buttons, Chains, Lockets, Bracelets, Hat Pins

HENRY W. ANDERSON, JEWELER

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

SPECIAL PRICES

On

HEATING STOVES FOR 30 DAYS.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA

Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stamp for full particulars to-day

National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS. MINN.

Name........ Town........ State........ R.F.D.No........ Age........

THE DEAF HEAR

Remarkable Results Obtained From Use Of Strange, Newly Discovered Medicine.

There can no longer remain any doubt that this new remedy known as Cooper's New Discovery is truly a marvel in medicine.

So wonderfully and miraculously does this strange medicine effect disease that it seems beyond our comprehension. Yet, what we see with our own eyes and hear with our own ears we are forced to believe. Catarrh, Deafness, Stomach and Kidney Troubles, Blood Diseases and Paralysis quickly disappear, as has been repeatedly proved, where the new medicine is used.

In some mysterious manner it transforms poor, poisoned or diseased blood into rich, pure vital fluid and sends it rushing through the body to nourish and strengthen every part. Its action is immediate and it is the rapidity and completeness and permanency of its effect that is so puzzling medical men.

Miss. M. A. Dodge, a stenographer of 1009 3rd Ave., S. Minneapolis, who had to give up her position on account of deafness tells a remarkable story of her experience with the new remedy.

"I was so deaf that it was impossible for me to retain my position and had almost given up hopes of finding any relief. After one weeks treatment with Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief I am wonderfully improved, am confident my hearing will soon be entirely restored and am indeed grateful for the benefit I have received."

Cooper's New Discovery, and Cooper's Quick Relief, the assistant remedy which is used in connection costs one dollar per bottle and fifty cents per bottle respectively and can only be obtained from

W. A. Schreiter

You Are Welcome At The
MERCHANTS STATE BANK

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Even if you have to use most of your money from week to week and month to month, pay it through this bank.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.00

We will loan you money on personal security. We will make farm loans at LOWEST RATES. We will take your money on deposit and pay you 5 per cent per annum. In our savings department we pay [illegible] per cent on deposits of $1.00 and up. Interest computed May and November each year.

A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LA BISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. J. A. DUFFY, Cashier
P. P. POULIOT, Asst. Cashier

CALUMET
Baking Powder

complies with the pure food laws of all states. Food prepared with it is free from Rochelle salts, lime, alum and ammonia.

Trust Baking Powders sell for 45 or 50 cents per pound and may be identified by this exorbitant price. They are a menace to public health, as food prepared from them contains large quantities of Rochelle salts, a dangerous cathartic drug.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

CARL M. BORGEN, EDITOR

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY.
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

Since Alice is soon to be married, it is time to conjure up some new theme for gossip.

The world loves a peaceful man, but it always gives the right of way to the strenuous kicker.

The St. Cloud Journal-Press suggests that Uncle Sam should present a number of trust robbers with a grand jury indictment as a Christmas reminder of "peace on earth, good will to men."

If the state fair is really a state institution why should not the money be deposited in the state treasury and bills paid by warrants issued by the state auditor, as is done by other departments of the state government?

Few people supposed that such a bright little book as "When Knighthood was in Flower" would so soon be selling at 33 cents. Such slumps will deter veteran soldiers from writing books on "When Hardtack was in Flour."

So many of our exchanges have been dressed in their "glad rags" prior to Christmas in the line of special editions that it makes the fellows who didn't follow suit green with envy. Minnesota has better, bigger and brighter weekly newspapers than any other state in the country. If you don't believe it come in and look the COURIER's exchange list over.

The sage of Sauk Centre wants an early Republican convention, to which "not an office seeker, an officeholder or a representative of corporations should be permitted to go." If by some freak of fate such a suggestion should be carried out we can prepare for the millenium. Corporation tools and office seekers do not relinquish control of a party organization while that party is in the ascendancy.

Frank Eddy is not a candidate for governor—not just now, for he says:" No man at the present time can afford to be a candidate for governor. Under existing conditions a man who "puts up an organization" or establishes a "bureau" to secure the nomination, ought to be beaten in the convention for if such a one is not beaten there he will be beaten at the polls." This "listens like" an awful slap at the Block propaganda.

The Goodhue Jounty News, of Red Wing, one of the brightest and most brilliant of small dailies in the state has discontinued publication, but will continue as a weekly with Geo. H. Allen as editor. The retiring editor, John S. Pardee, will seek other fields. It is not stretching a point or handing out a taffy stick when the COURIER makes the statement that Pardee was one of the cleverest editorial writers in the state.

It is an undisputed fact that high tariff fosters the trusts, says the Glencoe Enterprise. The present tariff schedules in many instances benefits the few to the detriment of the common people. If the present congress fails to revise the tariff, the representatives of the people who favor only the trusts in opposing tarriff revision, should be turned down when their term of office expires. The only way to gain freedom from tariff robbery is to defeat the party advocating it. The best remedy for the greed of the trusts is to create competition.

Plans are rapidly maturing, which if carried to a successful conclusion, will kill the state prison's twine plant. The International Harvester trust, it is reported, has purchased the Minne harvester plant, which has been idle the past year and it is the purpose of the trust to convert it into a flax twine factory purchasing the raw material exclusively from Minnesota farmers and only selling the finished product to farmers of this state at a price lower than the cost of prison-made twine. But will the farmers go back on an institution that has saved them hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Talk about the impartiality of the government, consider the way the people of the smaller towns are treated in the matter of mail delivery, says the Belle Plaine Herald. The city man and farmer have their mail brought direct to their doors; nor have they to pay box rent or any expense whatever. The man in the small town has to walk to the post office, a mile away perhaps, and then pay two dollars a year for the privilege of affording the postmaster an opportunity to put his mail in a separate box. The government needs the money to meet the expenses of city and rural free delivery.

When it comes to handling "that little yellow hammer" the Crookston Journal uses it unmercifully on his esteemed contemporary, the Times. The latter's write-up of the recent Red River Valley Poultry Show held in that city was far from pleasing to Bro. Kirsch and he raps the Times man over the knuckles in this fashion:

"The only reason that we can attribute the forthcoming of the article is the fact that perhaps "His Nobs" is not as competent of judging the kind of "hens" that were entered in the show."

"His Nobs" should ask for a diagram to the pun.

TIME CHANGES ALL THINGS.

Preston Times: Henry Rolette, a janitor at the state capitol was discharged recently for drunkenness. His father once stole a bill providing for the removal of the capital from St. Paul to St. Peter. The son is sent forth in disgrace for being drunk, the father was canonized by the Saintly city and his theft is pointed to with pride, his life size picture even adorning the walls of St. Paul's high toned resort for the rich—the Minnesota Club. Things are not always looked at from the same viewpoint.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angeles the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

Many children inherit a constitution weak and feeble, others due to childish troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children [illegible] make them strong. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. [illegible]

St. Paul Letter

Special to Courier

Another receptive candidate for the Republican nomination for governor has been announced in the person of A. H. Lindeke, the big wholesale merchant of St. Paul. Mr. Lindeke is somewhat new at the political game, and he goes at it in much the same manner he would offer a bill of dry goods to a country merchant. His leading issue seems to be the cementing of closer bonds between the city and country merchant, all of which would redound greatly to the glory and profit of Mr. Lindeke and his wholesale house. He sees no burning issues in the impending campaign save the amalgamation of the Republican factions and the getting together of the city and country in some common cause for the advancement of Lindeke. Everywhere the candidacy of Lindeke is taken as a huge joke, and outside of Ramsey county it will not arouse much enthusiasm. Here at the capitol city Block's friends see a scheme to divide the German vote, which, heretofore has been conceded to the state treasurer.

As a matter of fact all of the prospective Republican candidates shy at a public announcement of their intentions. The Lord and Lindeke booms have been treated with such small consideration that the others are afraid to test public opinion on the subject of their ambitions at this stage of the game. Of couse Julius Block will be out in due time. He already has an organization in half of the counties of the state, and is reputed to have several confidential agents at work in different sections manufacturing public opinion in his behalf. It occurs to the writer, though, that some of his literary efforts in the last campaign will rise up and haunt him. In the darkest days of the Dunn campaign Mr. Block was induced to write letters to his old friends in Nicollet county in favor of Dunn, urging the fact that Nicollet county was not entitled to the governorship, anyway, as she already had had three governors, and at that time had the state treasurer, deputy treasurer, attorney general, and other federal and state officials too numerous to mention. Now, that Nicollet county has since had another governor, how is Mr. Block going to get around the argument at the state convention that Nicollet county has already been pretty well cared for at the hands of the Republican party?

* * *

Some people think that the state capitol is the mecca for political news, but just at present very little is happening in that line. No new avowals of candidacies for minor positions on the state ticket have been heard. There is a fair sized field of aspirants for Treasurer Block's shoes, but it is given out that Mr. Block himself is strongly in favor of the nomination of his chief clerk, P. G. Koener, of Litchfield. Mr. Koener's father was Block's predecessor, and the family has a lot of strong political connections. Besides the place has been generally conceded to the Germans during the last twenty years. Julius Schmahl, who has been chief clerk of the house for the last six years, and is the editor of the Redwood Gazette, is also a candidate. For secretary of state E. A. Nelson of Hallock, librarian under the Van Sant administration, is mentioned more frequently than anyone else. Attorney General Young and Auditor Iverson will be candidates for renomination and there is little likelihood of opposition to either.

* * *

Governor Johnson is away on a vacation to California, but he will be back the fore part of next week to take up matters of public concern. It is generally supposed that the public examiner will submit his report on the investigation of the capitol commission before the first of the year, but whether it contains any suggestion of mismanagement of affairs is not known. The contents of the document [illegible]

SALT FOR MILCH COWS.

I keep salt where the cows can get it at will and find that they give more milk and seem to be in better condition than when salted at irregular intervals, says a writer in the Farm and Home Sentinel. In wet weather, however they are liable to eat too much and purge themselves. At such times it is best to withhold it until normal conditions are restored. Where stock have salt as often as they desire, it tends to keep them more quiet, for when they have an appetite which cannot be satisfied they inevitably become restless. I think the plan of having salt stands is equally good for sheep, but must be practiced with care. Sheep are ravenous eaters of salt and will overeat if allowed. By giving a little each day they will soon adapt themselves to the plan. Then they may have free access to salt and not abuse the privilege. It is common for farmers to neglect salting their horses. While horses crave salts less than cattle or sheep, it is nevertheless quite essential to their health. It need not be given them so often; once in ten days or even two weeks is usually sufficient.

POLK COUNTY MYSTERY.

Aleck Lamens, a farmer living four miles northeast of East Grand Forks, was found dead near his barn Sunday. The case is a peculiar one as there are no indications of foul play. The coroner has summoned a jury and the cause of his death will be probed to the bottom. He was a married man and his family relations evidently harmonious.

Presbyterian Christmas Services.

Rev. Knox will preach at the Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock next Sabbath. The Sunday school classes will have their Christmas tree the same evening at 7:30 o'clock.

McMURRAY'S
VANILLA
WORTH A DOLLAR A DROP

MAKE MONEY
by sending your
HIDES,
FURS ETC.
to us - We pay
high prices & sell
guns, traps etc. cheap
N. W. HIDE & FUR CO.
200 1st St. N. Minneapolis Minn.
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND PRICE LISTS

All Run Down

THIS is a common expression we hear on every side. Unless there is some organic trouble, the condition can doubtless be remedied. Your doctor is the best adviser. Do not dose yourself with all kinds of advertised remedies—get his opinion. More than likely you need a concentrated fat food to enrich your blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion
of Cod Liver Oil

is just such a food in its best form. It will build up the weakened and wasted body when all other foods fail to nourish. If you are run down or emaciated give it a trial; it cannot hurt you. It is essentially the best possible nourishment for delicate children and pale, anæmic girls. We will send you a sample free.

[illegible]
SCOTT & BOWNE [illegible]

...A PEEK IN ADVANCE...

at the best things for Christmas
It will give you new ideas.

CHARMING GIFTS

and plenty of them ready and
waiting your inspection

Watches, Clocks, Silverware, Cut Glass

JEWELRY

Rings, Brooches, Stick pins, Cuff Buttons, Chains, Lockets, Bracelets, Hat Pins

HENRY W. ANDERSON, JEWELER

City Meat Market

GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor

Cash Paid for Hides and Furs

MEATS
POULTRY
FISH
GAME

Special Attention Given to Sausage Making

RED LAKE FALLS - - MINNESOTA

SPECIAL PRICES

On

HEATING STOVES FOR 30 DAYS.

For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, — MINNESOTA

Earn from $80 to $125 per month

WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary, High Wages, Promotion, Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stamp for full particulars to-day
National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Name.........
Town.........
State.........
R.F.D. No.........
Ag.........

THE DEAF HEAR

Remarkable Results Obtained From Use Of Strange, Newly Discovered Medicine.

There can no longer remain any doubt that this new remedy known as Cooper's New Discovery is truly a marvel in medicine.

So wonderfully and miraculously does this strange medicine effect disease that it seems beyond our comprehension. Yet, what we see with our own eyes and hear with our own ears we are forced to believe. Catarrh, Deafness, Stomach and Kidney Troubles, Blood Diseases and Paralysis quickly disappear, as has been repeatedly proved, where the new medicine is used.

In some mysterious manner it transforms poor, poisoned or diseased blood into rich, pure vital fluid and sends it rushing through the body to nourish and strengthen every part. Its action is immediate and it is the rapidity and completeness and permanency of its effect that is so puzzling medical men.

Miss. M. A. Dodge, a stenographer of 1009 3rd Ave., S. Minneapolis, who had to give up her position on account of deafness tells a remarkable story of her experience with the new remedy.

"I was so deaf that it was impossible for me to retain my position and had almost given up hopes of finding any relief. After one weeks treatment with Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief, I am wonderfully improved, am confident my hearing will soon be entirely restored and am indeed grateful for the benefit I have received."

Cooper's New Discovery, and Cooper's Quick Relief, the assistant remedy which is used in connection costs one dollar per bottle and fifty cents per bottle respectively and can only be obtained from

W. A. Schreiter.

You Are Welcome At The
MERCHANTS STATE BANK
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Even if you have to use most of your money from week to week and month to month pay it through this bank.

Capital and Surplus $30,000.00

[illegible]

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

Be Sure to Use Only

Cream of Tartar Baking Powder

Food made with alum baking powder carries alum to the stomach unchanged. Scientists have positively demonstrated this and that such food is partly indigestible and unhealthful.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS and COLDS. Price 50c & $1.00. Free Trial.

...t Quickest Cure for all ... and LUNG TROUB... ...NEY BACK.

TIME CARD

—OF—

TRAINS.

RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND

No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at........ 7:45 a m

SOUTH-BOUND

No. 156—Departs........ 6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.

Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.

A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

F. A. MIZEN, Agent.

GOLD SEAL OVERSHOES

GOODYEAR RUBBER CO. GOLD SEAL 1872 TRADE MARK

WARMEST WEAR LONGEST.

IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT HAVE THEM WRITE

GOODYEAR RUBBER CO. St. PAUL, MINN.

Burlington Route

TO FLORIDA

via the Burlington's

SCEN C LINE

at special

REDUCED RATES

In effect every day now, tickets good returning any time before June 1, 1906.

Send your name and address for full information concerning Scenic Line Service.

F. M. RUGG, Northwestern Passenger Agent,

Germania Life Building St. PAUL.

Metropolitan College

HUTCHINSON, MINN.

Our new $50,000 College Building, located on a beautiful ten acre campus on Brooklyn Heights, overlooking the city.

OPENS NOVEMBER 6, 1905

Courses: Bookkeeping, Office Practice, and Higher Accounting; Shorthand and Typewriting; Telegraphy; Preparatory Department in English from the lowest grades and up, qualifying the student for entrance to high schools, or colleges; also courses in Civil Service and Music.

Individual and Class Instruction. Students enter at anytime. No entrance examination. Tuition, $50 for 10 months.

Board at the Dormitory, $2 per week. Elegantly furnished, steam heated and electric lighted rooms at $3 per month. Lavatories, toilets, and bathrooms on every floor of the Dormitory.

An ideal college, located in a model college city, two hours from Minneapolis; a college for men and women of all ages, nonsectarian; exemplary government; recommended by the mayors of Minneapolis and Hutchinson, and by every church, business house, and bank wherever known.

This college is under the management of the Metropolitan Commercial College, 829 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, and the student may change from one college to the other without the loss of a single lesson. Nowhere else in the United States can you find better equipped Commercial, Shorthand, or Telegraph departments. Our teachers are the best money can secure. The Employment Department connected with our Minneapolis College enables us to place all graduates in positions. Allow us to arrange a course for you, and we will guarantee you a good position as soon as competent.

For full particulars address G. M. Langum, President Metropolitan College, Hutchinson, Minn., or 329 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY

Winnipeg Limited

THE FAST MAIL TRAIN

Between

ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS, WINNIPEG

And the

CANADIAN NORTHWEST

COMPARTMENT OBSERVATION CARS

For full information, rates etc., call on J. L. TRACY, Agent, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

S. S. "DAKOTA" sails from Seattle for the Orient Dec. 16, 1905

S. S. "MINNESOTA" sails from Seattle for " Feb. 1, 1906

Business Cards.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.,

Physician and Surgeon

GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.

Office over First State Bank.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER

DENTIST

At Lambert third Monday of each month.

Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store:

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,

Attorney at Law

Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.

Red Lake Falls, - Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY

Attorneys

Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance

Office over Red Lake Falls Bank, Red Lake Falls.

St. Benedict's Academy.......

ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.

A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms

HENRY KAUFER, Prop.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Churches.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Very Rev. E. Fayolle, Rector.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC—Mass every Sunday at 8 and 10 a. m.—Rev. Father Ansgar, Pastor

PRESBYTERIAN—Services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., every Sunday. Sabbath school at 10 a. m. Rev. H. W. Knox, Pastor.

Secret Societies.

I. O. O. F.—Clearwater Lodge No. 133, meets every Saturday evening at I. O. O. F. hall. Visitors are always welcome.—F. A. Mizen, N. G. William Schwalen, V. G., F. A. Grady, R. S., James E. Ford, F. S.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—Red Lake Falls Lodge No. 169, meets every Monday evening at K. of P. hall.—W. A. McIntyre, C. C.; S. L. Lewis, K. of R. and S.

CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS—Meets every other Friday evening at C. O. F. hall. L. A. Kaufer, Chief Ranger; J. R. Fortier, Recording Secretary.

MODERN WOODMEN—Meets every other Wednesday at M. W. A. hall.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in the country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

—F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Of Interest to Mothers

Thousands of little ones die every year of croup. Most of them could have been saved by a few does of Foley's Honey and Tar, and every family with children should keep it in the house. It contains no opiates and is safe and sure. Mrs. George H. Picket, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "My baby had a dangerous attack of croup and we thought she would choke to death, but one dose of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved her at once after other remedies had failed. We are never a minute without it in the house." Sold at W. A. Schreiter.

Torture of a Preacher

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore pastor of the Baptist church of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you, He says: "I suffered agonies because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried many remedies, without relief, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which entirely, cured my cough, and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of Throat and Lungs. At all druggists, price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

Prevents Serious Results From a Cold.

Remember the name Foley's Honey and Tar. Insist upon having the genuine.

Three sizes 25c, 50c, $1.00

Prepared only by Foley & Company, Chicago.

Clear thinking, decisive action, vim and vigor of body and mind, the sparkle of life, comes to all who use Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. —A. L. Reichert.

Notice for Bids on County Printing

Notice is hereby given, that sealed proposals will be received by the board of Co. Comrs. of Red Lake county, Minnesota, at the office of the county auditor in Red Lake Falls, Minn., until six o'clock p. m., on January 2, 1906, for printing and publishing the proceedings of the board of county commissioners, the list of real estate taxes delinquent for the year 1904 and such notices as are required by law to be printed and published in a legal newspaper in said county of Red Lake.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract and to give a bond in such sum and with such sureties as may be determined by the board.

The right to reject any or all bids is hereby reserved.

By order of the board of county commissioners.

By JAMES E. FORD,

(Seal) County Auditor.

Order for Hearing Application for Appointment of Administrator.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss
County of Red Lake }

In Probate Court, Special Term, December 7th, 1905.

In the Matter of the Estate of Desire Grenier Deceased:

On Receiving and Filing The petition of Mary Grenier of the County of Red Lake representing, among other things, that Desire Grenier late of the County of Red Lake in the State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of October A. D. 1905, at the County of Red Lake died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this County at the time of his death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this County, and that the said petitioner is the widow of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to her Mary Grenier granted;

It is Ordered, That said petition be heard before said Court, on Saturday the 30th day of December A. D. 1905 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office, in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County.

Ordered Further, That notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, in said County.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., the 7th day of December, A. D. 1905.

By the Court,

(seal.) N. W. Tarrant,

Judge of Probate.

Order to Examine Accounts.

State of Minnesota, } ss
County of Red Lake. }

In Probate Court, Regular term December 4th, 1905.

In the matter of the estate of Peter John Anderson, Deceased.

On Reading and Filing the Petition of S. J. Swanson, Administrator of the estate of Peter John Anderson deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is Ordered, That said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Saturday the 30th day of December A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County.

And it is Further Ordered, That notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said County.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, the 4th day of December A. D. 1905.

By the Court,

N. W. TARRANT,

[seal] Judge of Probate.

Order to Examine Accounts.

STATE OF MINNESOTA } ss
County of Red Lake }

IN PROBATE COURT

Special Term, November 27, 1905.

In the matter of the estate of John C. Malmquist, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ernest J. Akerlund, administrator of the estate of John C. Malmquist, deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is ordered that said account be examined, and petition, heard by this Court, on Saturday, the 23rd day of December, A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office, in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, the 27th day of November, A. D. 1905.

By the Court,

(Seal) N. W. TARRANT,

N-30-D-14 Judge of Probate.

Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is simply liquid electricity. It goes to every part of your body, bringing new blood, strength and new vigor. It makes you well and keeps you well. 35 cents. —A. L. Reichert.

$40 FOR THE ROUND TRIP.

To Eastern Canada and Return.

A rate of $40.00 for the round trip has been made by the Great Northern Railway to Montreal and points west thereof in Ontario. These tickets will be on sale from December 4th to 31st inclusive and will be good for three months. Liberal stopover privileges will be allowed going and returning, giving you an opportunity of visiting many points enroute, making your holiday outing a pleasurable one. See your local agent for full information.

The Companion as a Chtisrmas Gift.

Can you think of a gift more certain to be acceptable than a year's subscription to THE YOUTH'S COMPANION! Is there any one, young or old, who, having once had the paper in his hands and looked through it, did not wish to possess it for his very own? It is a gift which far from losing its freshness as Christmas recedes into the past, grows more delightful, more necessary to one's enjoyment week by week.

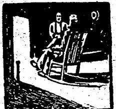
The boy likes it, for it reflects in its pages every boyish taste and every fine boyish inspiration. The father likes it, not only for its fiction but for its fund of information of the practical sort. The girl likes it for the stories, anecdotes, sketches and editorial articles printed in each number especially for her. The mother likes it for its stories of domestic life and family affection, for its children's page and for its medical article.

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price, the publishers send to the new subscriber all the remaining issues of THE COMPANION for 1905 and the "Minutemen" Calendar for 1906, lithographed in gold and twelve colors.

Full illustrated Announcement of the new volume for 1906 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass.

WAITIN' FOR CHRISTMAS



I'm waiting fer th' holidays: somehow it seems ter me
They's lots more joy in Christmas now 'an what they used ter be:
Th' sunshine seems lots brighter, th' skies a deeper blue
Than any o' th' Christmuses 'at us old fellers knew
When we wuz harum scarum kids, an' laid awake all night,
An' went tiptoein' down th' hall afore it skerce was light,
An' ketched poor dad a-ramblin' round an' lookin' almost froze,
A-paddlin' bar-foot across the floor an' wigglin' of his toes.

Now standin' stork-like with one foot raised off th' cold, cold floor,
An' lookin' fer the whiskers 'at he wore th' year before,
So's he could play at Santa Claus an' fool us fellers. My!
How us kids sneaked back a-sniggerin' till we was like ter die!
An' crawled back inter bed ag'in, a-waitin' fer th' yells,
The "Whoa! now! you ol' reindeers!" an' janglin' o' the' bells
'At told us all was ready: an' nuts, an' cake an' things
Riz up afore our vision, till we went down stairs on wings!

An' dad, he looked so happy, an' mother smilin' so—
My! but they was a happy pair! Them days we didn't know
What Christmas day could mean ter them, but now I guess we do,
Since we've got youngsters o' our own, ol' feller, me an' you:
An' so th' world's lots brighter now; they's somethin' in th' shine
O' eyes a-lookin' in your face, an' eyes 'at look in mine,
An' in our hearts th' kind o' love 'at makes a feller glad!
Till we're as happy now, I guess, as mother was, an' dad.

Houston Post.

The Out of Door Winter

of California will improve your health, build up your system and benefit your mental and physical condition generally. The North-Western Line will sell you through tickets at very low rates. Comfortable tourist cars leave the Twin Cities each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. For information as to rates, train service, etc, write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A. St. Paul, Minn.

Tragedy in Indiana.

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 11.—Joseph Jobst, 44 years old, a driver of a brewery wagon, shot his wife Friday and then committed suicide. The woman will live. She had applied for a divorce from Jobst.

Editor Munn Dies.

New York, March 13.—Henry Newcomb Munn, editor of the Scientific American, is dead at his home in this city. He was a member of the firm which publishes that paper.

A Record Price.

New York, March 13.—A seat on the New York stock exchange has been sold for $82,500. This is the high record price. The name of the purchaser is not disclosed.

Robbers Secure $2,700.

Renfrow, Okla., March 13.—Robbers blew open the safe of the Renfrow bank and escaped with $2,700 in cash. An armed posse is in pursuit.

Three Are Killed.

Eveleth, Minn, April 25.—In a handcar accident Sunday night on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern between Zim and Norway Ridge three men were killed and one injured.

Two of the dead are Gus Tieman, a section foreman at Norway Ridge, and Charles Erickson, whose dead body was brought here from Virginia last night.

The four were coming from Zim when they were struck by No. 12. Erickson and an unknown man who is now in the hospital here, were taken off the pilot of the engine. The bodies of the other two were not found until morning. Both of them were in the ditch.

MINERS MEET DEATH.

Twelve Killed by Explosion Near Dubois, Pa.—Ten Dashed to Pieces at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Dubois, Pa., April 29.—An explosion, the exact nature of which is as yet unexplained, occurred in the Eleanora shaft near this city, Thursday night. Twelve were killed and one had both legs and both arms broken. He will probably die. An examination of the bodies as they were laid on the floor of the little building near the shaft indicated that death had come instantly. Those that had the black dust washed from their bodies showed evidences of having been burned, scarlet spots showing all over their bodies. Their clothing tears as though it were made of paper.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 27.—Ten miners were instantly crushed to death Wednesday at the Conyngham mine of the Delaware & Hudson company, located in the northern part of this city. The men were being lowered into the mine, and when 350 feet from the surface the rope broke and the cage fell to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of 400 feet.

A rescuing party was at once organized, and they found the bodies of the men in the sump at the bottom of the shaft beneath a mass of debris. They were terribly mangled. Most of the victims lived in the vicinity of the mine, and when the rescuers brought the crushed forms to the surface a large crowd was in waiting. The grief of the relatives of the dead was heart-rending.

Wilburton, Okla., May 1.—Thirteen miners were entombed and probably killed by an explosion at 1:20 Sunday morning in the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Coal company's mine No. 19, four miles west of here. There is little prospect of their bodies being recovered for several days. It is the universal opinion of experienced miners that all the men are dead. Foreman Steiner was killed at the bottom of the shaft. He had returned to the surface a few minutes before the explosion to look after Bud Cole, a negro belonging to the preceding shift, whose leg had been cut off by a trip. He had, according to the engineer, barely reached the bottom of the shaft when the explosion occurred. The heels of his shoes were torn off and thrown to the top of the shaft.

CORRESPONDENCE

ST. HILAIRE.

George Anderson, of Bemidji, was in town visiting E. R. Evans Monday.

G. B. Grace, book keeper for the Crookston Lumber Company here, left for a week's visit with his parents at Davenport, Iowa, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Austin were Thief River Falls visitors last Thursday.

M. J. Court, the creamery package man, was in town Wednesday.

A. R. Jones returned from North Dakota last Tuesday to spend the holidays with his family.

Miss Clara Hoff was at Thief River Falls last Tuesday.

The schools will close Friday for a two week's vacation.

Joel G. Winkjer was in town Monday and on account of an attack of illness was unable to attend the band concert.

Bruce Harris and Oscar Miller, of Bemidji, are taking the annual inventory of the lumber yards here.

The planer shut down Saturday until the first of the year. A new boiler is being put in and general repairing done.

Miss Celia Lalonde, of Crookston, is visiting Mrs. O. F. Post this week.

Mrs. H. C. Adams, Lewis Adams and son left on Tuesday for their new home at Bellingham, Washington.

A. F. Lang has returned from North Dakota, to spend the holidays with his family here.

The band boys gave one of their delightful concerts Monday evening and it was enjoyed by all present. The people of St. Hilaire show lack of appreciation of a good thing when they fail to give the boys their heartiest support.

Miss Josephine Gigstad is visiting her sister Mrs. A. M. Edstrom at Hazel this week.

A Fearful Fate

It is a fearful fate to have to endure the terrible torture of Piles. "I can truthfully say," writes Harry Colson, of Masonville, Ia., "that for blind, bleeding itching and protruding Piles, Bucklen's Arnica Salve, is the best cure made. Also best for cuts, burns and injuries. 25c. at all druggists.

BROOKS.

Joe La Chance left for Red Lake Falls Saturday having completed his work here with A. Morin.

R. Poirer made a flying trip to Plummer to meet H. C. Selden president of the H. C. Selden Lumber Co.

Con Short passed through here on his way home to Lillo Monday.

Walt Quesnell, Sam Boucher, Peter Boucher and Louis Champagne drove to Terrebonne Sunday.

O. C. Moore and wife left Saturday for Minneapolis to visit friends and relatives.

Subscribe for the Red Lake Courier and get the Brooks locals.

Morice Dargon of Wylie passed through here on his way to McIntosh Wednesday.

Fred Zaiser drove up from the Falls with a bunch of traveling men.

Joe Morisette was in from Plummer with a couple of traveling men.

Ed Hebert and Paul Laroue drove down to the county seat on business.

Aug. Morin has just received the bill for school dist 126 which he donated. The bill weighs 450 pounds and is a nice gift which the citizens of Brooks appreciate very much with thanks.

Why You Should go to California

It is not an expensive trip, taking into consideration the benefit to your health which cannot be estimated in dollars. Comfortable tourist cars leave Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday via the North-Western Line. For information as to rates, train services, etc. write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

Pirating Foley's Honey and Tar

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Sold at W. A. Schreiter.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the city council held at the city hall, December 7th, 1905.

Meeting called to order by president Borchers.

Roll called: Aldermen all present except Brady.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

On motion duly carried the following bills were allowed:

John Schmitz, street work	$ 7 50
Julius Keibl, do	11 25
Adelor Bisson, do	10 50
John Deforge, do	19 80
John Grady, Clerk of election 3rd ward	2 60
A. L. Reichert, Judge of election 3rd ward	6 60
V. M. Higinbotham, Clerk of election 3rd ward	2 60
V. H. Detling, Clerk of election 1st ward	2 60
John Drier, labor	23 00
Zaiser Bros., livery	3 25
Fred Borchers, Secy. Services by fire department	69 00
Thief River Falls Lumber Co., Lumber, etc	14 61
Robertson Lumber Company, Lumber, etc	68 71

The following bills were laid on the table:

J. C. Wilkinson, services in quarantine cases	77 50
O'Brien Bros., hardware acct	41 16
F. E. Hunt, do	62 41

Aldermen Borchers and Hennemuth were appointed a committee to examine the records and vouchers of the city officers and report at the next regular meeting.

On motion meeting adjourned.

Fred Borchers, President.

Approved this 18th day of December, A. D. 1905. J. A. Duffy, Mayor.

Attest:
A. P. Toupin, City Clerk.

Furious Fighting

"For seven years," writes Geo. W. Hoffman of Harper, Wash., "I had a bitter battle, with chronic stomach and liver trouble, but at last I won, and cured my diseases, by the use of Electric Bitters. I unhesitatingly recommend them to all, and don't intend in the future to be without them in the house. They are certainly a wonderful medicine, to have cured such a bad case as mine." Sold under guarantee to do the same for you, by all druggists, at 50c a bottle. Try them today.

New Burglar Trap.

A Paris burglar was caught in the act of leaving a house with his spoil owing to a musical album, which formed part of the stolen goods, starting to play the "Marseillaise" and thus rousing the inmates.

A River of Wine.

Casks holding 500,000 pints of wine exploded in a wine vault at [illegible], Switzerland, the wine flowing in torrents down the street.

Scotch and Irish.

As illustrating a difference in characteristics it is officially noted that twice as many people in Scotland as in Ireland choose to go to prison for minor offenses rather than pay a fine. In Ireland they pay the fine.

The Creamery For Ice Cream.

The creamery industry in Maryland is in some respects quite different from that found in the west, inasmuch as most of those in this state do not confine themselves to the making of butter, but make butter only as a means of utilizing surplus and sell most of their products as cream or ice cream. The selling of the products of creameries for cream and ice cream rather than the making of it into butter has enabled the farmer to realize better prices than would be obtained otherwise. Some creameries of the state that have made all of their products into butter have been run quite successfully, while many have been a disappointment to the farmers and could not hold their patronage because of the low prices paid for milk.—[illegible]

Feeding [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Doctors Could Not Help Her

"I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. Raymond Conner of Shelton Wash., "and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and the very first dose gave me relief and I am now cured, I cannot say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure." It makes the diseased kidneys sound so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood. Unless they do this, good health is impossible. Sold at W. A. Schreiter.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY
TIME TABLE
THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West		Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar. 7:45 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar. 7:10 A. M.
9:15 A. M.	Crookston	6:45 P. M.
10:00 A. M.	Dugdale	6:00 P. M.
10:35 A. M.	Red Lake Falls	5:25 P. M.
11:05 A. M.	St. Hilaire	4:55 P. M.
11:35 A. M.	Thief River	4:30 P. M.
12:01 P. M.	Steiner	4:05 P. M.
12:15 P. M.	Sandridge	3:52 P. M.
12:40 P. M.	Middle River	3:21 P. M.
1:05 P. M.	Strathcona	2:57 P. M.
1:35 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv. 2:26 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from
J. L. TRACY, Agent,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Notice for Bids for Wood

Notice is hereby given, that sealed proposals will be received by the board of Co. Comsrs. of Red Lake Co. Minn, at the office of the county auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for furnishing to Red Lake county and delivering at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, fifty cords of green body Poplar wood, the same to be delivered not later than April 1.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract and to give a bond to the county in such sum as may be determined by the board of county commissioners.

The right to reject any or all bids is hereby reserved by the board.

By order of the board of county commissioners.
By JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor.
(Seal)

Notice for Bids

Sealed bids will be received for the construction of a steel bridge over the Red Lake River near Huot postoffice and also for the constructing of a combination iron and frame bridge, using the old material of a bridge now at Crookston, which will be delivered at the site of the bridge to be built.

Bids will be received up until Saturday, Dec. 30th., 1905. Five per cent of the cost of the bridge must be deposited by certified check to be retained by the committee on the acceptance of a bid for the construction of said bridge until a bond is furnished for the completion of said bridge. Certified checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned. Committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., Dec. 8th, 1905.
Committee—N. M. WATSON
—J. A. DUFFY
—FRANCIS GRENIER

Notice of Hearing on Petition for Formation of New District

Whereas, A petition has been filed with the board of county commissioners of the county of Red Lake, signed and acknowledged by a majority of the freeholders who reside in the proposed new district herein described, and who are entitled to vote at school meetings in their respective districts, and duly verified by the affidavit of one of the residents of said proposed new district, praying for the organization of a new school district out of the territory hereinafter described, to-wit: Lots 3 and 4, the south half of the northwest quarter and the south-east quarter of section 3, lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 and the south half of the northeast quarter, the northwest quarter, the southeast quarter and the southwest quarter of section 4, lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 and the south half of the northeast quarter, the northwest quarter, the southeast quarter and the southwest quarter of section 5; lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 and the south half of the northeast quarter and the southeast quarter of section 6; lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 and the east half of the northwest quarter, the southwest quarter, the northeast quarter and the southeast quarter of section 7; all of sections 8 and 9, the west half of section 10, the west half of section 15, all of sections 16 and 17 and lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 and the east half of the northwest quarter, the southwest quarter, the northeast quarter and the southeast quarter of section 18 in township 152 north, of range 42 west, and the said board of county commissioners have appointed a time and place for a hearing upon said petition as by law required;

Now therefore,

NOTICE

Is hereby given, that a hearing upon said petition will be had at a meeting of the said board, commencing upon the third day of January, A. D. 1906, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the office of the county auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county, at which time and place the said board of county commissioners will hear arguments of all persons interested, for or against the proposed organization of said new school district.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., this twenty-fifth day of November, A. D., 1905.

By order of the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, Minn.
By JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor and Ex-officio Clerk of Board.
(Seal)

Notice of Hearing on Petition for Formation of New District

Whereas, A petition has been filed with the board of county commissioners of the county of Red Lake, signed and acknowledged by a majority of the freeholders who reside in the proposed new district herein described, and who are entitled to vote at school meetings in their respective districts, and duly verified by the affidavit of one of one of the residents of said proposed new district, praying for the organization of a new school district out of the territory hereinafter described, to-wit: The south half of section 31 in township 153 north, of range 43 west; the north half, the southwest quarter and the north half of the southeast quarter of section 1; the north half, the north half of the south-east quarter and the south-north half of the southwest quarter and the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of Section 12; all of section 11, all of section 2 and the northeast quarter of section 3 in township 152 north, of range 43 west; all of section 36, the south half of section 35 and the east half of the south-east quarter 34 in township 153 north, of range 43 west, and the said board of county commissioners have appointed a time and place for a hearing upon said petition as by law required;

Now therefore,

NOTICE

Is hereby given, that a hearing upon said petition will be had at a meeting of the said board, commencing on the fourth day of January, A. D. 1906, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the office of the county auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county, at which time and place the said board of county commissioners will hear arguments of all persons interested, for or against the proposed organization of said new school district.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., this twenty-fifth day of November, A. D., 1905.

By order of the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, Minn.
By JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor and Ex-officio Clerk of Board.
(Seal)

Notice of Hearing on Petition for Formation of New District

Whereas, A petition has been filed with the board of county commissioners of the county of Red Lake, signed and acknowledged by a majority of the freeholders who reside in the proposed new district herein described, and who are entitled to vote at school meetings in their respective districts, and duly verified by the affidavit of one of the residents of said proposed new district, praying for the organization of a new school district out of the territory hereinafter described to-wit: The west half of section 3, all of sections 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9, the west half of section 10 and all of sections 16, 17 and 18 in township [illegible] north, of range 40 west; and the said board of county commissioners have appointed a time and place for a hearing upon said petition as by law required;

Now therefore,

NOTICE

Is hereby given, that a hearing upon said petition will be had at a meeting of the said board, commencing upon the third day of January, A. D. 1906, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the office of the county auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county, at which time and place the said board of county commissioners will hear arguments of all persons interested, for or against the proposed organization of said new school district.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., this twenty-fifth day of November, A. D., 1905.

By order of the board of county commissioners of Red Lake county, Minn.
By JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor and Ex-officio Clerk of Board.
(Seal)

Sale of Ditching Jobs.

Notice is Hereby Given, That on the fourth day of January, 1906, at two o'clock p. m., at the office of the county auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake County, Minn., I will sell the jobs of digging and constructing the Ditch No. 24 of Red Lake Co. established by the board of Co. Comrs of Red Lake Co. State of Minnesota by their order bearing date November 24, 1905, viz: For the work as one job, and also for one or more sections of 100 feet each, and also for one or more of the construction jobs, each of said sections to be known and numbered by stakes as shown by the report of the Engineer in said matter, commencing at the one including the outlet, and from thence, successively, up stream to the one including the source; also two branches of said ditch numbered 1 and 2 respectively, to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, and that bids are invited for said work; said work to be completed within the time required, and in the manner specified, in said Engineer's report. And no bid will be entertained which exceeds more than thirty (30) per cent. over and above the estimate cost of the construction, in any case, as stated in the said order; and the successful bidder will be required to give a satisfactory bond, to be approved by the auditor of said County, with two freehold sureties, for the faithful performance and fulfillment of his contract, and to pay all damages that may accrue by reason of his failure to complete the job within the time required in the contract. The said order and estimates and profile are on file, and may be seen at my office.

The approximate amount of work to be done in the construction of such ditch is as follows:

The excavation and removal of 47,680 cubic yards of earth, the same to be deposited along the sides of the main ditch and branches either in spoil banks or so as to form a grade suitable for public traffic as prescribed by the Engineer in charge.

The estimated total cost of the work is $4,762.00.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the auditor of said county, for not less than ten per cent. of the amount of each bid.

The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

Dated December 6, 1905.
JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor, Red Lake County, State of Minnesota.
(Auditor's Seal)

Sale of Ditching Jobs.

Notice is hereby given, that on the fourth day of January, 1906, at one o'clock p. m., at the office of the County Auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, Minnesota, I will sell the jobs of digging and constructing the Ditch No. 23 of Red Lake county, established by the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake county, state of Minnesota, by their order bearing date the 24th day of November, 1905, viz: For the work as one job, and also for one or more sections of 100 feet each, and also for one or more of the construction jobs, each of said sections to be known and numbered by stakes as shown by the report of the Engineer in said matter, commencing at the one including the outlet, and from thence, successively, up stream to the one including the source to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, and that bids are invited for said work; said work to be completed within the time required, and in the manner specified, in said Engineer's report. And no bid will be entertained which exceeds more than thirty (30) per cent. over and above the estimate cost of the construction, in any case, as stated in the said order: and the successful bidder will be required to give a satisfactory bond, to be approved by the Auditor of said county, with two freehold sureties, for the faithful performance and fulfillment of his contract, and to pay all damages that may accrue by reason of his failure to complete the job within the time required in the contract. The said order estimates and profile are on file and may be seen at my office.

The approximate amount of work to be done in the construction of such ditch is as follows:

The excavation and removal of 36,718 cubic yards of earth, the same to be deposited along the banks of the ditch in such manner as is prescribed by the engineer in charge.

The estimated total cost of the work is $3671.50.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Auditor of said County, for not less than ten per cent. of the amount of each bid.

The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

Dated December 6, 1905.
JAMES E. FORD,
County Auditor, Red Lake County, State of Minnesota.
(Auditor's Seal.)

No Case of Pneumonia on Record

We do not know of a single instance where a cough or cold resulted in pneumonia or consumption when Foley's Honey and Tar had been taken. It cures coughs and colds perfectly, so do not take chances with some unknown preparation which may contain opiates, which cause constipation, a condition that retards recovery from a cold. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Sold at W. A. Schreiter.

Go to Spillane's store for Groceries, Candies, Nuts, Fruits, Cigars, etc.

FIRST STATE BANK
OF
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

$100,000 TO LOAN.

This bank is prepared to loan $100,000.00, on acceptable real estate and other securities. Call and see us when in need. We will make you a farm loan at lowest rates possible.

Interest paid on time deposits. Our vault is protected by the latest improved Burglar Alarm system, which insures absolute safety for your surplus funds. Safety deposit boxes for rent.

FIRST STATE BANK, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Ever Bought any Mining Stock?

THEN BUY

BULLFROG EXTENSION!

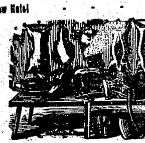
Mines at Bullfrog, Nevada

They Struck Ore Assaying 82 per cent Pure Gold

Stock is bound to increase tremendously in value.

Full facts, engineers' reports and prospectuses free; write for them to-day; it's the chance of a lifetime.

R. B. HIGBEE, Agent
410-411 Germania Life Building, ST. PAUL, MINN.



THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel

Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.

Strictly First-Class in Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

$40 TO EASTERN CANADA AND BACK

December 4 to 31. Excursion tickets to all points in Ontario. Low rates to points in Quebec east of and including Montreal. Five daily trains, St. Paul to Chicago, via the

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway

Direct connections at St. Paul Union Depot with all trains from the Northwest. Route of the Daylight Express, The Fast Mail and the Pioneer Limited. Request your nearest railroad agent to ticket you via The Milwaukee Road between St. Paul and Chicago.

For complete information write to

W. B. DIXON, N. W. P. A., 365 ROBERT STREET ST. PAUL.

Vice-Pres. Frank E. Hunt
Cashier Theo. Garceau
Asst. Cashier C. L. Batters

First State Bank

Red Lake Falls, - - Minnesota

Pay to the Order of Our Patrons, Customers and Friends

A Merry Christmas and 365 Happy Days

Theo. Garceau, Cashier

Today's Local Markets.

Wheat No. 1 Hard	71½
" " 1 Northern	71
" " 2 "	68½
" " 3 "	65½
" " 4 "	62½
" " Rejected	59½
Flax No. 1	92
" No. 2	90
" no grade	84
Barley from	22-31
Oats	25
Hay	$4.50
Bran	$15.00
Shorts	$16.00
Mascot Flour	[illegible].55
Wood, poplar	$3.00 to $3.50
Butter 20c.	Eggs 25c.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Banker Duffy spent Sunday at Plummer.

Mr. J. W. Lynch and son Dan were in from Garness Monday.

Go to Spillane's for your Christmas candies. A select line is carried.

Mr. R. Fortier came in from Gentilly Tuesday and spent the day with his son, J. R.

Mrs. M. Labage and daughter, of Fargo, were guests of Sister Baptist of the parochial school this week.

Mr. Julius Pleth, the energetic and hustling Plummer real estate man was in the city on business Tuesday.

Fay Walker, of North Dakota and Peter, of Marshall. are here on a visit with their brothers and families over Christmas.

Road Master Regan and wife were at Crookston last week to see Mr. Regans nephew Dan who is very low with typhoid fever.

What makes a nicer Christmas present than a picture? Dosn't cost you very much and is surely appreciated. See W. A. Reichel.

Assistant Station Agent Hall, of the G. N., returned Saturday from Noyes, where he has been as relief agent the past month. It is needless to add Agent Tracy is pleased to have his assistant with him once more as the work keeps one man wondering where the end is.

The Big Store is paying 25c per dozen for eggs.

Father Ansgaar was a visitor at Thief River Falls Wednesday.

Ralph Green and Thos. Vietch, of Garness, were city visitors here yesterday.

Mrs. J. L. Tracy was summoned to her home at Lake City last week by the serious illness of her mother.

Try an "I Lead" cigar, only 5c, guaranteed to give satisfaction; if you want something better smoke a "B. B."

The remarkable mild winter weather of the past week has been duly appreciated by the fellow who buys the wood.

We are in receipt of a very choice line of fresh cookies. They are the best on the market.

—J, R. & R. Fortier.

Mr. Frank Brouillet, LaBissoniere's right hand man in the grocery department has been absent from the store this week owing to sickness.

Mr. Michael Kees, treasurer of school district No. 167 and one of the progressive men of his community made the COURIER a pleasant call on Friday last.

Mein Herr Otto Claas with the Falls Meat Market has been compelled to take a lay-off for a time owing to ill health and will spend some time with his brother-in-law at Plummer.

The foreman of the Crookston Lumber Co's, camp at Shotley, John Thomson, died at a Bemidji hospital last week. Mr. Thomson was well known to many Northern Minnesota lumbermen.

Mr. Abner Fletcher who is in the train service at Larimore, N. D., arrived in the city this week for a visit with his brother, Dentist Fletcher. Mr. Fletcher was recently discharged from a Fargo hospital where he was suffering with typhoid fever.

Attorney Boughton was at Crookston, Monday getting the final judgment in the case of Halvor Johnson vs. Gunhild Johnson for possession and title of a farm near St. Hilaire. The valuation of the farm is about $4,000 and the case was tried during the October 1904 term of court.

A Good Stove Cheap

is what you can truthfully say about a WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER.

All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft that you have heard so much about. A Wilson, if taken good care of, will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary-sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burners

Would be pleased to show you our line.

FRANK E. HUNT

Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

Wm. Stone, of Crookston, transacted business here Monday.

County Attorney Germo is in the cities this week on legal business.

Mr. E. L. Healy was in St. Paul this week attending to business matters.

Red Lake Fall's only "Jim" Armstrong (the name is a misnomer) was in Crookston Friday.

Mr. G. Miller of Hamilton, N. D., was the guest of Dr. Argue last week leaving for his home Saturday.

Deputy Game Warden Jones, of Thief River, was in this city and neighborhood Wednesday looking the field over.

Spillane has an elegant selection of pipes which would make fine gifts for Christmas. Also a variety of brands in tobaccos and cigars.

A dozen pictures costs but little and makes twelve acceptable presents for Christmas. Give W. A. Reichel your order for a dozen now.

The interior of Auditor Ford's office presents a neater appearance since the kalsomining of the vault and painting of the large work desk.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls, Minn. tf

Postoffice Inspector Frye was in the city a few days this week. Mr. Frye is interested in the milling company and his visit here was connected with that institution.

The end-of-the-year work in the county auditor's office has been so heavy that Auditor Ford has found it necessary to secure additional help and Adam Zeh is occupying a desk and assisting in clearing up the work.

Sheriff Linnihan this week took Ward, one of the Thief River box car robbers, to Crookston, the county jail now being filled to overflow. From Crookston the sheriff went to Cass Lake and Black Duck looking after the interests of an estate of which he is administrator.

Mr. Martin Tew, was a passenger on Saturday's north bound train and met his old classmate, County Attorney Germo. Mr. Tew was an officer in the 13th Minnesota and served in the Philipines. He is a platform orator of note and it is probable he will deliver a lecture in this city in the near future.

Rev. Knox returned last Saturday from Rollis where he has been holding a series of meetings for the two weeks previously. The reverend gentleman was more than pleased with the meetings and the genuine christian spirit shown and says a large number of communicants were added to the church.

The Minnesota Educational Association's forty-third annual convention will be held at St. Paul on December 27 to 29th inclusive Superintendent McAnulty of this county has been assigned a subject "The School a Mutual Ground." The association's meeting promises to be very fruitful in results and the state at large is always the gainer by these yearly conventions.

The business men of St. Hilaire and farmers adjoining met in that village Saturday for the purpose of organizing and building a co-operative flour mill and elevator. Much interest was manifested and the probabilities are that before the snow flies next year the project will be a reality. It is proposed to erect a 75 barrel mill and an elevator adequate to handle all grain for its use. Canvassers from 12 towns of the central part of the county were appointed to solicit subscriptions and a ways and means committee was also appointed which will meet at St. Hilaire on Feb. 6th when something tangible will be brought to a head.

School closes Friday for the usual two week's holidays vacation.

Attorney Bougton was at St. Hilaire on business matters Wednesday.

C. F. Greenwood, who represents a general office supply house was here Monday.

Wm. Erb who has a homestead on the reservation, is spending a few days visiting old friends.

When you want a smoke call for a La Columbia. It has the quality and satisfies. Sold by dealers.

A son born to Mr. and Mrs. John Kehoe, of Middle River, died shortly after its birth in this city Wednesday.

"Samuel Smiles," that's the cigar that makes you smile. Call for it, your dealear keeps it, and you are sure of a good smoke.

At Fortier's store you will find the very best selection of canned goods for your Christmas dinner as well as for everyday use. Everything fresh.

The town of Terrebonne voted by a substantial majority on Tuesday to float a refunding bond of $1700. The bonds were negotiated through the Merchants' State Bank.

Mr. R. D. Converse, of Cass Lake visited his brother in the city this week. Mr Converse formerly followed the profession of the art preservators of art but is now writing hooks and crooks.

At the regular meeting of the M. B. A. lodge on Monday the members decided to give a basket social and a dance at their hall on Monday evening, January 15th. This function will be one of the best of the new year and the members will be glad to welcome all.

Several of our local followers and admirers of the manly art sat up last night and followed the trend of the Fitzimmons and O'Brien fight as it was ticked over the wires by rounds. Fitz threw up the sponge at the conclusion of the 13th round, having received a vicious punch in the stomach. The old gladiator is down and out and avers this is his last scrap.

Attorney Richardson, and also postmaster of Thief River Falls, was in the city on legal business Friday. His office was recently moved into new quarters and entire new fixtures installed. There are few offices in cities the size of Thief River in this state that can "hold a candle light to it."

The business men of Plummer have come to the assistance of the creamery at that place. Certain much needed improvements should have been made but owing to the financial condition of the creamery association it was decided by that body to defer them until later—hence the assistance from the business men. It will prove a good investment.

MRS. FRED SCHMIDT DEAD.

Mrs. Fred Schmidt living near the city limits, and a well known and respected lady died at her home Saturday evening at 9:45 o'clock after a lingering illness of several months' duration. She recently returned from St. Vincent's hospital at Crookston where she underwent treatment for three months, but medical aid and nursing proved of no avail.

She was a loving wife, a devoted mother and a kind and considerate neighbor and friend which makes her death keenly felt by a large circle of friends and acquaintances, whose heartfelt sympathy goes out to the bereaved family in this, their hour of sorrow.

She leaves, besides her husband, five children, a sister, Mrs. Adam Schmitz, and a brother, Mr. M. Kees, to mourn her loss.

A WICKED CITY.

It has become a debatable question with Thief River people if it it is not advisable and a necessity to "stake" their buildings down to prevent them from being carted away. Some time during Sunday night, in the full glare of electric lights a party of daring fellows, drove up to the rear of Swenson's general store in that city and loaded a sleigh with goods and complacently drove away. Their selection of goods was very choice and sufficient to stock up an ordinary country store.

HOLIDAY RATES

The Great Northern Ry. announces holiday rates to all points east of Montana. For particulars call on agent, or phone 32.

You Must Hurry

if you wish to get some of the goods from our holiday stock. The best things are being picked every day. We will put aside anything you will select and hold it until you call for it or deliver it to your order. This week we have received in Doilies, Handkerchiefs, Center pieces, Turn over Collars, etc. See the most beautiful line of goods ever exhibited in the city.

Beautiful Hand Work

Why not give your husband or son a

SUIT OR OVERCOAT

for a Christmas Preset?

You can pick something nobby out of our line and save enough to buy many other things. TRY US.

Our 5-10-15 and 25c Counters

still have lots of good things to sell. This makes buying easy for you. Every article a money saver.

We wish you all a Merry Christmas

Yours to please

The Big Store

Theo. LaBissoneire, Prop.

COMMISSIONER SUTOR RESIGNS

County Commissioner Sutor of the first district filed his resignation with Auditor Ford on Friday last and the election of his successor will be made by the chairmen of the board of supervisors of his district which comprises the towns of Numedal, Bray, Polk Centre, Louisville and Black River. Auditor Ford has suggested the date of meeting for the 28th inst., to elect his successor. There are naturally several candidates in the field among the prominent ones so far mentioned being Ed. Enright, of Black River, C. P. Swanson, of Bray, and Chas. Lindquist, of Polk Centre. Unquestionably other aspirants will spring up and there may be quite a fight on for Sutor's shoes.

TILL DEATH DOETH THEM PART

Judge of Probate Tarrant joined in the holy bonds of wedlock Oscar Anderson and Christine Olson, of Garness at his office in the court house on Tuesday. The young couple has the Courier's heartiest congratulations and wish them unbounded happiness and prosperity.

The Courier $1. one year.

ACCUSED OF GRAIN STEALING

Benson Terreau and his son, Frank, were arrested at their farm in Gentilly the first of the week by Deputy Sheriff Zeh upon a warrant charging them with stealing 75 bushels of grain from the John La Crosse farm on the night of Dec. 13 last. They were brought before Justice Lewis on Tuesday but were released on bonds until Friday when the trial will be held.

MARRIED 1,000 COUPLES.

Rev. Wm. R. Wiggington, of Limeus, Mo., is said to have married over 1,000 couples in his time. The most interesting feature of this remarkable career is that he has often married three generations of the same family. Today he is as strong and well as most men of half his age, but then most all of us could be the same by using golden grain belt beer regularly at home. It's the quiet, healthful life with good food and such a tonic as golden grain belt beer that keeps men strong and hearty. No home is complete without it. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Try COURIER Print.

Season '05-'06

DECEMBER CONCERT

Red Lake Falls Concert Band

Frank E. Miller, Director
Assisted by the High School Chorus

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE

December 29, 1905

PROGRAMME

PART I

1. March - - - - "DIXIELAND"
Haines
2. Overture - - - "AMERICAN TRIUMPH"
Miller
3. Baritone Solo - "[illegible]BUCKLENIAN POLKA"
Hartman
Mr. J. Armststrong
4. Grand Fantasie - - - "MARITANA"
Wallace
5. Violin Solo Czardas - - "BRAHAM"
F. E. Miller

PART II

6. Quartette for Strings "FELICE"
Langey
Messrs. Miller, Tracy, Berthon and L. Healy
7. Duet for two cornets - "KINDRED SOULS"
Eilenberg
Messrs. Brunelle and Healy
8. Song of the Vikings - E. FANNING
High School Chorus,
Mr. Henry Tonning, Director
9. Spanish Serenade - - "LA PALOMA"
Yradier
10. March "CHICAGO TRIBUNE"
Chambers
[illegible]

The Scourge of Damascus

A Story of the East...

By SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

Copyrighted 1901 by Robert Bonner's Sons.

CHAPTER IX—(Continued).

"I remember," pursued Ulin. "It all comes to me now. I bathed his bruised head, and bound up his wounds, while you brought the cordial which my mother provided."

"So it was, my lady. I have seen the slave since—have seen him several times—he has brought messages to your father—and I know that his gratitude is strong. If Osmir has any power to open the prison door, and I can find him, there may be some hope."

"But can you find him?" asked the princess. She spoke eagerly, and no longer sought to conceal the real cause of her anxiety.

"I can try," returned the attendant; "and even here we have a fortunate help. Shubal, who has been so long your servant, is a near friend to Osmir. I will take Shubal with me, and we may find the man we seek. Shall I not leave at once?"

"Yes, Albia. Go at once. Be careful, for all may depend on the secrecy of your movements. I have entered upon this matter, and I will now give all my energies to its consummation. Go—and bring me answer as quickly as you can."

The bondmaiden left the apartment, and when Ulin was once more alone, she started to her feet, and moved to the window. The flush was back upon her cheek, and the sparkle was in her eye. Her pure blood was circulating with new power, as, for the time, she forgot the king in the memory of the youthful chieftain.

In less than an hour Albia returned, and the beam upon her face told very plainly that she had not been entirely disappointed.

"My good mistress," she said, "Shubal has served us well. I found him without difficulty, and he at once went alone in search of Osmir. He found him at the royal palace, and has brought him hither."

"Brought Osmir?"

"Yes."

"And what does he say?"

"I have not spoken to him of Julian. I thought you had better do that. You may have more influence."

"Very well—bring him up at once. I will shrink from nothing now."

In a little while the tall, dark form glided within the chamber of the princess. He bowed low as he entered, and when he saw the lady Ulin, he sank down upon his knee.

"Noble lady," he said, "Albia informed me that I can be of service to you. Once you served me, and my life has been yours ever since. Command me."

At first Ulin had been startled by the appearance of the powerful black within her chamber; but when she remembered the service she had done him, and when she saw how gently the beams of gratitude fell upon her from his brown eyes, she regained her confidence.

"I will not command you, Osmir; I can only ask you to assist me. You may be able to serve me, and you may not be able. But I will not detain you with useless words. You do not yet know what I seek?"

"I do not, lady."

"You helped to bring the robber chieftain to Damascus."

"Ha—who told you that?" He was not startled with fear; but he rather seemed to wonder how the princess had gained the information.

"Do you know a man named Hobaddan?"

"Yes, lady. He is second in command of the robber band."

"He has been here, Osmir, and he has induced me to use my influence towards gaining freedom for his chieftain. I may not explain to you, but nevertheless I am willing to confess that I do much desire to free this Julian from the power of the king. Can you help me?"

He bowed his head, and pretty soon arose to his feet.

"Lady," he said, "I did help in the capture of the young chieftain; but when I came to know him I would rather have served him had it been in my power. I found him a generous, honorable man and I learned to love him; but I was bound by an oath to the will of Judah, and I could not disobey. I wish I could save him now."

"Can you do it, Osmir? I do not wish that the king should kill him. We thought you might have access to his dungeon—that you might, at some time, be set to guard him."

"So it is, lady; but I am not to be on the guard again until daylight."

"And to-morrow may be the last!" uttered the princess, painfully. "If you cannot help us our hope has an end."

Osmir moved back and leaned against the wall, with his head upon his hand.

"Lady," he said, after much thought, "I have one source of hope. My companion, Selim—he who was with me in the work of capture—stands watch over the chieftain's dungeon at midnight. Selim may help me. If he will, Julian may be saved. I will hasten away at once, and exert this only influence I possess."

"And when can I know the result?" asked Ulin.

"Within two hours past midnight," said Osmir. "That is," he added, "if I have any result to bring. If I do not succeed, I may not return at all."

"At two hours past midnight," pursued Ulin, "Hobaddan is to be in my garden. You can meet him there."

"Yes," returned the guard, after a moment's reflection, "if I succeed, I shall not fear to meet the lieutenant. If I am not in the garden at the time appointed, or very near that time, you may know that I have done all that lay in my power. Have you more to say?"

"No, good Osmir. Go to the work, and do the best you can."

He spoke a simple word of promise, and then turned from the apartment, Albia conducting him down, and guiding him out by a small door in the garden wall.

"Albia," he said, as he stood beneath the low arch—and his tone showed that he did not speak lightly—"your mistress does not dream of the danger I must undergo in this work; but I will be true to my promise, I will do all I can. If Selim will not join me, there is the end; but if he falls in with me, then we both put our lives at stake, and the prize may be won. I hope we shall succeed."

The bondmaiden watched the retreating form until it was lost in the darkness, and then she closed the gate, and turned her steps back towards the house.

CHAPTER X.

In the Dungeon.

The robber chieftain had been placed in one of the most gloomy dungeons beneath the royal palace, his legs and arms loaded with chains, and his feet shackled to a bolt in the floor. How long he had been there he could not tell. Night and day were the same in the living tomb. Food and drink had been brought to him thrice, and a masked mute had been in to remove the tray. He had but one hope of escape, and even that was so feeble that it would not bear the entertainment. He thought if his followers should discover where he was, they might possibly dare to attempt his release; but when he came to weigh all the circumstances, he dared not think they would do it. In short, Julian had made up his mind that death was very near to him.

And what had he to live for? What, but revenge upon the King of Damasmus? He had no parents—no relatives—nothing on earth of his own blood which he could claim. There might be living in the city some human being of his kin; but he did not know of such. He loved his brave fellows; but they could do without him. They were bold, stout men, and could look for themselves. What else was there? There were some poor families in the mountains—some friends upon the plain—and a few dependent ones near the river; but Hobaddan would care for them. What else was there?

The youthful chieftain bowed his head, and pressed his heavily laden hands upon his heart. There was one more—one whom he had hoped to see again in the coming time—one who had left an impression in his soul which had warmed and quickened his whole being. But why think of her? What could the beautiful daughter of Aboul Cassem be to him? In a few short days she would be the wife of his bitterest enemy.

Thus mused the prisoner, standing erect, with his manacled hands folded upon his bosom, when he was aroused from his reflections by the sound of creaking bolts, and in a few moments more the door of his dungeon was opened, and the rays of a lamp penetrated the place. Two men entered, closing the door after them; but the eyes of the chieftain were not yet used enough to the light to distinguish either their forms or features. Presently, however, as they addressed each other, he recognized the two blacks who had so fatally deceived him, and his first impulse was to raise his heavy chains and smite them down; but they were not near enough to be thus reached.

"Osmir—Selim," he said, "are you here?"

"Yes, my master," replied Osmir.

"Have you come to kill me?"

"No."

"To bear me to the king?"

"What, then? You have the watch over me?"

"Yes."

"And the king fears not to trust you?"

"You see he does trust us."

"Aye—as I trusted you. O, you are two ungrateful villains. When you came to me in the forest, I believed your tale of woe, and took pity upon you; and I meant to be kind to you, and make your lot a pleasant one. I looked into your faces, and I thought you were honest. I did not trust you from your speech, but from your honest looks. However, it is past. And now what seek ye?"

"Good master," said Osmir, speaking earnestly, "before I tell you why we are now here, let me say to you that we are not without hearts, and that we have some store of honesty. When we went to your camp, we went in the service of another master, whom we were bound to serve. We had sworn that we would capture you if we could. But, sir, after we had seen you, and known you, we would have recanted had the thing been possible. We asked Judah to free us from the task, but he refused."

"Why do you tell me this story now?"

"That you may know the reason of our action."

"You action speaks for itself. Look at these chains, and mark the fate to which I am doomed."

"I meant not the action of the past, good master; I alluded to action that was to come."

"Action to come?"

"Yes. Selim and I are here to speak of your release from this dungeon. Hold—let our words be few, for the time is short. We have promised that we would lead you forth from Horam's power if the thing were possible."

"Promised whom?" asked Julian.

The black hesitated. He knew not that he should use the name of the princess, so he finally answered:

"Hobaddan is in the city, and our promise has been sent to him. But—there is something more. If we lead you from this place, we do so in the face of great danger. We have planned for that, and have freely staked our lives in the work. But, if we succeed, and you are free, we can never more return to Damascus. If we go with you from this dungeon, we must go with you from the city, and remain with you."

Julian believed that the black was speaking truly and honestly.

"Certainly," he said, "if you lead me in safety from the bonds that now encompass me, I will give you such return as you may desire. You may remain with me, if you like, or I will give you safe conduct into the land of the Syrians."

"Your word is enough, my master, and henceforth Selim and I are your servants. We change our allegiance, and the proof of our fidelity shall be manifest in this first act of our service. We have dangers to meet, sir."

"Talk not of dangers," cried the chieftain. "Throw off these chains; give me a sword; and lead me to the upper world; and I ask no more. Once again I trust you, and if you prove true, my gratitude shall be your while I live?"

Without further words Osmir proceeded to the work he had come to perform. Selim held the lantern, while he loosed the irons from Julian's limbs; and very soon the chieftain stepped forth with his limbs free.

"There is no time to waste," said Osmir, as he cast the chains upon the floor. "We have good swords at hand, and for the rest we must trust to our wit and strength. There is danger enough between this dungeon and the open air; but I am ready to meet it."

"By the gods," cried Julian, as he grasped the sword which Osmir had placed in his hand. "I can laugh at danger now. Lead on, and let this present hour be the last of Horam's power!"

(To be continued.)

HARPOONING BLUE WHALES.

The Harpoon Gun is a Cruel Instrument of Destruction.

To pursue the blue whale successfully is, according to an interesting article in Pearson's Magazine, a complicated undertaking. For instance, one of the requirements is a boat that can steam twelve knots an hour, and which is furnished with a formidable weapon known as the harpoon-gun. The harpoon-gun is a ponderous piece of apparatus laced on a raised platform on the prow of the whaler, and consists of a short, stout cannon, mounted on a broad pedestal, on which it can rotate horizontally. The gun has also a vertical motion, and can be turned quickly in whatever direction the prow of the ship dominates. On the top of the gun are "sights" for aiming, just as in a rifle. Behind is the stock, which is grasped in the hand when firing the gun, and beneath it the trigger. The breech is a box-like arrangement, situated just where the stock is fastened to the gun proper. The gun is loaded in the ordinary way from the muzzle, and the harpoon is tightly rammed into it. To discharge the gun, a small cartridge, with a wire attached, is first put into the breech. Pressure on the trigger causes a pull on the wire, which ignites the cartridge and discharges the gun simultaneously. The harpoon is about six feet in length and very massive. It consists essentially of three parts, the anterior conical portion, the movable barbs, and the shaft. The anterior conical piece is an explosive shell filled with gunpowder, and screws on to the rest of the harpoon. The explosive shell is fired with a time-fuse after the harpoon is imbedded in the whale. Taken all in all, the harpoon-gun is about the most exquisitely cruel instrument of destruction devised by the ingenuity of man! But it is only when one sees and knows the prodigious brute it is meant to destroy that one realizes that it is nevertheless none too effective. The gun is never discharged at a greater distance than fifty feet, and seldom indeed at more than thirty from the whale. To be able to get so near requires not only very fine seamanship but a very intimate knowledge of the habits of the animal.—Philadelphia Times.

Hugest Sea Creature.

Of all the uncanny creatures in the animal kingdom the one whose acquaintance is hardest to make is the blue whale, the largest of all the whales, and, indeed, one of the most colossal animals, living or extinct, known to science. You will look in vain for him in zoological collections, in menageries, or even in museums. A brute 90 feet in length and weighing just as many tons does not lend itself to preservation or stuffing, and the few skeletons of him which do exist give one no idea of what he is like. The blue whale is hunted by the Norwegians chiefly for the sake of his oil, and is of considerable value, a full-grown specimen being worth from $1,250 to $1,500.

A Christmas Carol.

Christian people, come and sing,
Hope and joy receiving!
Tell of Him who is our King,—
Still His Words are living!
Proud or humble, rich or poor,
Christmas opens wide your door.
From each heart its blessings pour,—
The joy of joys is giving!

Christian people, sing ye now!
Earnest voices raising,
Sing good will to earth below,
Which, like heav'n, is praising!
Proud or humble, rich or poor,
Christmas opens wide your door.
From each heart its blessings pour,—
The joy of joys is giving!

CHRISTMAS MEMORIES

Time was, with most of us, when Christmas day encircling all our limited world like a magic ring, left nothing out for us to miss or seek; bound together all our home enjoyments, affections, and hopes; grouped everything and every one around the Christmas fire; and made the little picture shining in our bright young eyes, complete.

Time came, perhaps, all so soon! when our thoughts overleaped that narrow boundary; when there was some one (very dear, we thought then, very beautiful, and absolutely perfect) wanting to the fullness of our happiness; when we were wanting too (or we thought so, which did just as well), at the Christmas hearth by which that some one sat; and when we intertwined with every wreath and garland of our life that some one's name.

That was the time for the bright visionary Christmases which have long arisen from us to show faintly, after summer rain, in the palest edges of the rainbow! That was the time for the beatified enjoyment of the things that were to be, and never were, and yet the things that were so real in our resolute hope that it would be hard to say, now, what realities achieved since, have been stronger!

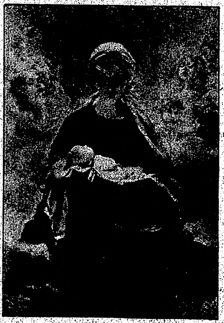
What! Did that Christmas never really come when we and the priceless pearl who was our young choice were received, after the happiest of totally impossible marriages, by the two united families previously at daggers-drawn on our account? When brothers and sisters-in-law who had always been rather cool to us before our relationship was effected, perfectly doted on us, and when fathers and mothers overwhelmed us with unlimited incomes. Was that Christmas dinner never really eaten, after which we arose, and generously and eloquently rendered honor to our late rival, present in the company, then and there exchanging friendship and forgiveness, and founding an attachment, not to be surpassed in Greek or Roman story, which subsisted until death? Has that same rival long ceased to care for that same priceless pearl, and married for money, and become usurious? Above all, do we really know, now, that we should probably have been miserable if we had won and worn the pearl, and that we are better without her?

That Christmas when we had recently achieved so much fame; when we had been carried in triumph somewhere, for doing something great and good; when we had won an honored and ennobled name, and arrived and were received at home in a shower of tears of joy; is it possible that that Christmas has not come yet?

And is our life here, at the best, so constituted that, pausing, as we advance at such a noticeable mile-stone in the track as this great birthday, we look back on the things that never were, as naturally and full as gravely as on the things that have been and are gone, or have been and still are? If it be so, and so it seems to be, must we come to the conclusion, that life is little better than a dream, and little worth the loves and strivings that we crowd into it?

No! Far be such miscalled philosophy from us, dear reader, on Christmas day! Nearer and closer to our hearts be the Christmas spirit, which is the spirit of active usefulness, perseverances, cheerful discharge of duty, kindness, and forbearance! It is in the last virtues especially, that we are, or should be, strengthened by the unaccomplished visions of our youth; for, who shall say that they are not our teachers to deal gently even with the impalpable nothings of the earth!

Therefore, as we grow older, let us be more thankful that the circle of our Christmas associations and of the lessons that they bring, expands! Let us welcome every one of them and summon them to take their places by the Christmas hearth.



Botticelli's Madonna

Welcome, old aspirations, glittering creatures of an ardent fancy, to your shelter underneath the holly! We know you, and have not outlived you yet. Welcome, old projects and old loves, however, fleeting, to your nooks among the steadier lights that burn around us. Welcome, all that was ever real to our hearts; and for the earnestness that made you real, thanks to Heaven! Do we build no Christmas castles in the clouds now? Let our thoughts, fluttering like butterflies among these flowers of children, bear witness! Before this boy, there stretches out a future, brighter than we ever looked on in our old romantic time, but bright with honor and with truth. Around this little head on which the sunny curls lie heaped, the graces sport, as prettily, as airily, as when there was no scythe within the reach of Time to shear away the curls of our first love. Upon another girl's face near it—placider but smiling bright—a quiet and contented little face, we see Home fairly written. Shining from the word, as rays shine from a star, we see how, when our graves are old, other hopes than ours are young, other hearts than ours are moved; how other ways are smoothed; how other happiness blooms, ripens, and decays—no, not decays, for other homes and other bands of children, not yet in being nor for ages yet to be, arise, and bloom and ripen to the end of all!

Welcome, everything! Welcome, alike what has been, and what never was, and what we hope may be, to your shelter underneath the holly, to your places round the Christmas fire, where what is sits open-hearted! In yonder shadow, do we see obtruding furtively upon the blaze, an enemy's face? By Christmas Day we forgive him! If the injury he has done us may admit of such companionship, let him come here and take his place. If otherwise, unhappily, let him go hence, assured that we will never injure nor accuse him.

On this day we shut out Nothing!

"Pause," says a low voice. "Nothing? Think!"

"On Christmas day, we will shut out from our fireside, Nothing."

"Not the shadow of a vast City where the withered leaves are lying deep?" the voice replies. "Not the shadow that darkens the whole globe? Not the shadow of the City of the Dead?"

Not even that. Of all days in the year, we will turn our faces towards that City upon Christmas day, and from its silent hosts bring those we loved, among us. City of the Dead, in the blessed name wherein we are gathered at this time, and in the Presence that is here among us according to the promise, we will receive, and not dismiss, thy people who are dear to us!

Yes. We can look upon these children angels that alight, so solemnly, so beautifully, among the living children by the fire, and can bear to think how they departed from us. Entertaining angels unawares, as the Patriarchs did, the playful children are unconscious of their guests; but we can see them—can see a radiant arm around one favorite neck, as if there were a tempting of that child away. Among the celestial figures is one, a poor misshapen boy on earth, of a glorious beauty now, of whom his dying mother said it grieved her much to leave him here, alone, for so many years as it was likely would elapse before he came to her—being such a little child. But he went quickly, and was laid upon her breast, and in her hands she leads him.

There was a gallant boy, who fell far away, upon a burning sand beneath a burning sun, and said, "Tell them at home, with my last love, how much I could have wished to kiss them once, but that I died contented and had done my duty!" Or there was another, over whom they read the words, "Therefore we commit his body to the deep!" and so consigned him to the lonely ocean and sailed on. Or there was another who lay down to his rest in the dark shadow of great forests, and, on earth, awoke no more. O shall they not, from sand and sea and forest, be brought home at such a time!—From the writings of Charles Dickens.

Christmas eve at midnight has always in all countries been looked upon as the "ghostliest" time of the year.

SAILING 90 MILES AN HOUR.

Wonderful Speed Made by Land Ships With Safety.

Sailing on land is a new diversion, experimented with at different times in the past, that has suddenly burst into prominence. No other summer amusement conveyance of man's invention can make anything like the speed of the land sailing vessel. It skims over the ground with the actual speed of the wind. Its only rival in amusement conveyances of winter or summer is the ice boat; but the land sailing vessel furnishes much greater enjoyment than the ice boat, for its path is not limited by the narrow confines of an ice pond, and moreover, it is a summer vehicle, made to sail in the season when rapid open-air traveling is really enjoyable. So fast will the land boat move if permitted to go at its full speed during a strong wind that its occupants would find it impossible to retain their seats. Hence its speed has to be checked and regulated by the manipulation of brakes and sails. From fifty to ninety miles an hour, however, has often been attained with safety when the precaution was taken of seeing that the passengers were well secured in their seats. —Technical World Magazine.

Words of Wisdom.

Westfield, Ill., Dec. 18th (Special)—All who are suffering with Bright's Disease should read carefully the following letter from the Rev. G. L. Good of this place. He says:—

"I feel it is my duty to tell you of the wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I am a Minister of the Gospel, and in my work I am frequently exposed to all weathers. Six years ago I was laid up sick. I doctored with a number of physicians and finally consulted a specialist, but without success. They all told me I had Bright's Disease. I was in a bad way and almost helpless when, thank God, I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They saved my life. I took sixteen boxes and now I am cured. The first day I took them I felt relief. When I began I weighed only one hundred and five pounds, now I weigh one hundred and sixty-five and I am the picture of health. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all my friends who have Kidney Trouble and I pray to God that other sufferers will read these words and be helped by them."

KISSED HIS WIFE TOO OFTEN.

Nearly a Thousand Salutes in a Day Made the Bride Leave Him.

A curious case of conjugal infelicity came befort the Paris assize court yesterday. At the beginning of the year a young woman was married to a man named Baudent, but a week later she returned to the home of her parents, stating that she had left her husband because he was too fond of her.

During the honeymoon, she said, he made love incessantly, and one day gave her 932 kisses. Unable to endure so much affection, she instituted divorce proceedings. At the last hearing Baudent fired a revolver at his wife, but the bullet happily missed her.

In answer to her recriminations he said: "I have loved you passionately for ten years. You have never loved me."

He was acquitted, and it is expected that his wife will withdraw the divorce proceedings.—Paris Correspondence.

AGONY OF SORE HANDS.

Cracked and Peeled—Water and Heat Caused Intense Pain—Could Do No Housework—Grateful to Cuticura.

'My hands cracked and peeled, and were so sore it was impossible for me to do my housework. If I put them in water I was in agony for hours; and if I tried to cook, the heat caused intense pain. I consulted two doctors, but their prescriptions were utterly useless. And now after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment my hands are entirely well, and I am very grateful. (Signed) Mrs. Minnie Drew, 13 Dana St., Roxbury, Mass."

Sport.

"Have good luck in your hunting trip?"

"No; poor. Guides awful scarce this season; only got one and winged another."

"Get any deer?"

"Oh, yes. Five or six."—Puck.

Practicing a Happy Smile.

It seems that one can train one's face as one does one's body. You can exercise daily for expression, but it would be terrible to be caught at practice. Fancy being watched while one practiced a "happy smile."—London World.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

The Shameless Man.

Lawson—So your wife has been absent all summer. I should think you would be anxious now about her return.

Dawson—I am. I'm afraid she's coming back next week.—Somerville Journal.

Willie's Idea of It.

Teacher—Willie, what is the plural of wife?

Willie—Mormon.—Dallas News.

Then She Got Kissed.

"Does kissing make your lips sore?"

"No, it makes my soul soar."—Fort Worth Record.

AGRICULTURE

Wealth in Corn Land.

Owners of good corn land are finding themselves well off on account of the great productiveness of such land and the high price at which corn sells and is likely to sell. A good farmer can grow fifty and more bushels of corn on an acre of land. A very good farmer can grow 70 or 80 bushels per acre. Some of whom make even better records than this when the season is favorable. The average crop of a state is no criterion by which to judge the performances of our most intelligent farmers. The average crop of the United States, taking one year with another, is in the neighborhood of 25 bushels, though it varies enormously, running down some years to about 16 bushels and at other times going up to about 28 bushels. The average yield of corn in the state of Illinois, which lies mostly in the corn belt, is all the way from 21 bushels up to 40 bushels, according to the year. It must be kept in mind that this average gives no hint as to what our reading, studying farmers are accomplishing. When a man raises an acre of corn and gets fifty bushels and is able to sell it for $25 he has made a big profit on his operations. That acre of corn has not cost more than $13, and the $13 has paid him his wages. The $12 is profit. If the acre is worth $100, his profit is about 12 per cent in addition to legal interest, for in the expense of $13 was included interest on his land, or rent if the farm is a rented one.

Now for the point of this article, which is that the temptation is very great, at this time of high prices for corn, to make the land produce big crops of corn and give it no food either by direct application of fertilizers or by a process of rotation. The farmer says: "What, put that land into clover for two years, while corn is bringing 50 cents a bushel!" Yet that is what must be done on many of our farms if the fertility is to be kept up. The larger the crop of corn being taken off, the greater the amount of phosphorus that is every year being drawn from the soil and exported. The loss of nitrogen and potassium is considerable, but the losses of these elements are not so great or serious as the loss of phosphorus.

The farmer that is getting a big profit off his corn land should carefully conserve that land by giving it a rest from corn growing during certain years and putting some of his profits into phosphorus and other elements if needed. The clover will get the nitrogen from the air. Potassium is cheap, even when the farmer has to buy it in a commercial form.

The heritage in good corn land should be saved for the coming generations. No man has a right to destroy this heritage. It is only his for use, not for destruction. It is the greatest patrimony that can be left to the children.

Clean Up the Farm.

This is a good time of the year to clear up any parts of the farm which may have grown up to brush or second-growth stuff. We have been working for a number of years on such a piece of land on the back end of our farm. This once had been all cut off clean and a piece of wheat grown there. But after that it had been permitted to grow up to small saplings, some of them five or six inches in diameter. Along in the fall we went at it, when other work did not press and cut a strip of this timber off. The largest saplings were trimmed up for wood, the brush piled neatly and burned later when thoroughly seasoned and the land left ready for pasture. We cut the brush off close to the earth, and have now the satisfaction of knowing that when chopped at this season of the year, little if any sprouts will come up to trouble us.

The white clover came in thickly where we cut the brush off, and today we have a number of acres of splendid pasture, where a little while before we had only a tangle of brush, briers and small trees, from which we realized little or nothing in the way of profit. Most farms have such places. They do not yield a single cent of value in their present condition, but might be made to bring in a handsome revenue if treated as I have suggested. We have learned that fall is the best time to cut such a piece of brush. If cut later in winter the sprouts will almost surely spring up to trouble you and compel you in the course of a few years to do the work all over again. I do not think the old rule of doing these things in the old of the moon in August amounts to anything. The moon has no part in that sort of business; but I do think that when the sap is up in the top and the branches are well matured, the brush is far more apt to die than when cut at any other season of the year.—E. L. Vinvent in Farmers' Review.

Millet Seeds for Fowls.

Millet is good as a food for fowls provided it is fed with other things. When made the exclusive diet of fowls of any age it is said to be very indigestible. This is especially true of young birds. Millet seed is good to scatter in the litter to make the birds work. It is not good to be thrown in so that the fowls will eat it in bulk. There is danger that this will be done by men that have incubators, as the seed is small and seems well adapted to the use of the chick only a few days old.

DAIRY NOTES

Working Butter.

By using water colder than the butter, it will prevent the particles adhering to each other while the salt is added and thoroughly mixed throughout the granular mass while in the churn. Let the butter remain in the churn, or place in boxes or tubs for three or four hours where the temperature is low. Salting this way requires less working to make an unmottled butter, and improves the texture and grain. A little extra salt should be used. Use only some especially prepared butter salt which has been kept clean and free from offensive odors. The amount of salt to be used will depend on the market. Care should be taken, while handling or working the butter, not to injure the grain by overworking or working while too warm or too cold, or allowing any spade, etc., to draw or slide over the butter. Salt should be distributed evenly and butter worked sufficiently to give it an even color.—J. W. Newman.

Cement in Dairy Barns.

There has been a great deal of discussion as to the use of cement in stables. We find a great many in favor of the use of cement, and also some men that hold very strong opinions against the use of cement. Some dairymen claim that the cement produces rheumatism in cows, on account of being cold. Some have covered their cement floors with boards to protect the cows from the cold. This of course largely nullifies the use of cement, as the boards largely tend to hold dirt and dampness. It seems to some that if boards are to be used over the cement there will be very little call for the use of cement in the standing places of the cows. The Farmers' Review desires the opinions of its readers on this matter and also their opinions relative to the use of cement for watering troughs.—Farmers' Review.

Useful Dairy Hints.

The most economical cow is the one that eats a large amount of food and changes a considerable portion of that feed into butter-fat.

Farm-made butter seldom needs coloring matter added. People that buy farm butter buy it on its merits rather than on its color.

Cows do not often show what they can do the first year of milk-giving. It takes several years to develop their full capacity.

It is impossible to keep a large number of dairy cows clean if they are kept in a stable too small for them.

The man that will study the dairy business will make money out of it if his circumstances are at all normal.

Peas make good cow feed when they are ground and the peameal mixed with coarse feed.

Have the temperature of the cream about 65 degrees when you begin churning in winter.

We can improve the dairy cow only so fast as we can improve the dairyman.

Good Qualities of Ben Davis Apples.

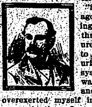
The Ben Davis apple requires a long season to reach its proper development; that kind of a season it finds in Kentucky, where it originated. It is not probable that the Ben Davis apple as grown in Wisconsin will ever be very popular, although it will be a long keeper. Another thing in favor of the Ben Davis has been the fact that the trees have been wonderfully productive of fruit. It is a wonder in the apple world because it produces a crop every year. Most varieties of apples produce a good crop every other year, but the Ben Davis produces a crop every year. That is why the great commercial growers have been planting out orchards when they had to sell the fruit very much under the price offered for some other varieties. One man said: "I can make money by selling the Ben Davis at $2 a barrel. The Ben Davis is my money maker, even at a low price these yield me a larger profit than any other variety I can grow." We have, added to this, the fact that the Ben Davis tree is not subject very largely to the attacks of fungous diseases. Another great thing in favor of the Ben Davis apple is one remarkable characteristic relative to bruises. When a Ben Davis apple is bruised it forms a hard, dry, sponge-like crust and this does not develop into rot. Most other apples when they are bruised begin immediately to rot at the bruised places. The bruised Ben Davis apple merely dries up at the point where it is bruised, and no rot sets in.

The way that the Ben Davis apple deteriorates in the latter part of the winter is by becoming hard and of a dry sponge-like texture near the core. We believe that the Ben Davis apple is destined to be more extensively grown even than at the present, and from the Ben Davis apple many new varieties are to be developed, which will come to be known as the Ben Davis group of apples. We have the beginning of this in two apples already quite prominent, the Black Ben Davis and the Gano. The Gano has been developed by selection from the Ben Davis wood of a certain quality. There is a dispute as to whether the Black Ben Davis was developed by selecting Ben Davis wood of a certain quality or by planting the seeds from the Ben Davis apple. But the two are so similar that no one can doubt that Black Ben Davis belongs at least to the Ben Davis family.—Farmers' Review.

SEVEN YEARS AGO.

A Rochester Chemist Found a Singularly Effective Medicine.

William A. Franklin, of the Franklin & Palmer Chemical Co., Rochester, N. Y., writes:



"Seven years ago I was suffering very much through the failure of the kidneys to eliminate the uric acid from my system. My back was very lame and ached if I overexerted myself in the least degree. At times I was weighed down with a feeling of languor and depression and suffered continually from annoying irregularities of the kidney secretions. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. I found prompt relief from the aching and lameness in my back, and by the time I had taken three boxes I was cured of all irregularities."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Jawback Wins.

Mr. Jawback—I'm going to get a life insurance policy.

Mrs. Jawback—You're foolish. It's all a graft.

Mr. Jawback—But what would you do if I'd die?

Mrs. Jawback—Marry again, of course.

Mr. Jawback—You couldn't if my life hadn't been insured for a good, big sum.—Cleveland Leader.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured
with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, price 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Few Friends Left.

Senator Foraker was talking about a politician whose very erratic conduct had estranged him from his party.

"This man," said the senator, "was showing a visitor over his new house in Washington the other day.

"He exhibited the large drawing room in white and gold, the spacious dining room in mahogany, the vast ebony hall with its onyx pillars, and then he led his visitor into the littlest bit of a room off the hall—a mere cubbyhole, containing nothing but a table and two chairs.

"'Not very large, eh?' he said. 'Small and cozy, isn't it? Here I entertain my political friends.'

"'Ah,' said the visitor, 'it will be large enough for that.'"

In the Presence of a Mystery.

Kitty had never seen a gas meter before.

"How does it go, papa?" she asked. "By compressed air?"

"I think not, dear," he said. "Probably expanded air."—Chicago Tribune.

And That's Easy.

"Know anything about golf?"

"I used to play shinny."

"Then all you'll have to learn is the language."—Fort Worth Record.

Is Disease a Crime?

Not very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer asserted, in substance, that all disease should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain of Nature's laws. But to say that all sickness should be regarded as criminal, must appeal to every reasonable individual as radically wrong.

It would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yes criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, over-worked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens, and suffers from weaknesses, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

Frequent bearing of children, with its exacting demands upon the system, coupled with the care, worry and labor of rearing a large family, is often the cause of weaknesses, derangements and debility which are aggravated by the many household cares, and the hard, and never-ending work which the mother is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce, the maker of that world-famed remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ills—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—says that one of the greatest obstacles to the cure of this class of maladies is the fact that the poor, over-worked housewife can not get the needed rest from her many household cares and labor to enable her to secure from the use of his "Prescription" its full benefits. It is a matter of frequent experience, he says, in his extensive practice in these cases, to meet with those in which his treatment fails by reason of the patient's inability to abstain from hard work long enough to be cured. With those suffering from prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion of the uterus or other displacement of the womanly organs, it is very necessary that, in addition to taking his "Favorite Prescription" they abstain from being very much, or for long periods, on their feet. All heavy lifting or straining of any kind should also be avoided. As much out-door air as possible, with moderate, light exercise is also very important. Let the patient observe these rules and the "Favorite Prescription" will do the rest.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

A Day to Remember.

Sweet Young Thing—Oh, this has been a wonderful day—my sixteenth birthday! I've had my first kiss from Arthur and my last box on the ears from mamma!—Tales.

Petty annoyances make good plumb lines to determine the depth of your religion.

TRY THIS ON YOUR WATCH.

Will Keep Better Time if Wound in the Morning.

"I have discovered that my watch keeps better time if I wind it in the morning instead of at night," remarked Assistant Manager Sweeney, as he toyed with a valuable hunting case yesterday. "The old superstitious belief that your luck will change if you change the time of winding your watch may have some basis in fact. I hereafter am going to wind my timepiece in the morning. This is because the hour of rising is for the ordinary man more regular than that of retiring, but even the most sober and orderly of men are apt to relax and be prone to carelessness at bedtime. In this condition the winding is apt to be done in a jerky, irregular sort of way, or too far or not far enough. Nine people out of ten wind their watches upon retiring, but if they would do it when they got up, at some regular point in the process of making their toilet, they would do it much better.—Milwaukee Free Press.

The Science of the Game.

The Freshman—Our star half-back, "Biff" Gouger, broke four toes and sprained an ankle in yesterday's game. Gee! But the captain roasted him to a turn!

The Bartender—What for?

The Freshman—Rotten judgment. "Biff" tried a kick for the stomach, but the guy ducked and blocked it neatly with his head.—Puck.

Know Its Size.

"Shoo!" yelled the proprietor of the fashionable apartment house. "You've got the wrong address. No babies allowed here."

The stork was not nonplussed.

"This infant," it replied with dignity, "is consigned to your janitor."—Houston Chronicle.

How They Originated.

"Adam," said Mother Eve, "I wish you would put a few cutworms on my favorite fig tree."

"What, and have all the nice leaves bored full of holes?"

"Certainly. I wish to make an openwork shirtwaist.—Houston Chronicle.

Important to Mothers.
Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over 30 Years.
The Kind You Have Always Bought.

No, Indeed.

"Peculiar thing about the grass widow."

"What is that?"

"There's nothing green about her."

Get the Axe.

Hector de Castro, the American consul to Rome, received last month from a friend in New York the following facetious intimation of a Roman visit:

"I will roam to Rome for the winter.

"Has Rome an aroma?

"You cannot read in Rome at night, so poor's the Roman candle light.

"As the Tiber is a swift stream, I suppose that to row on it one must be a good rowman.

"If I meet any Roman beggars I will do Vatican Forum."

PATENTS.

List of Patents Issued Last Week to Northwestern Inventors.

Reported by Lothrop & Johnson, patent lawyers, 911-912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn. Wilbur Day, Warren, Minn., tea kettle; Peter Foy, Minneapolis, Minn., current motor; Alfred Kinne, Minneapolis, Minn., stovepipe, George Loos, Grafton, N. D., box lid holder; Arthur Padmore, Lead, S. D., tool holder; William Schulz, Lidgerwood, N. D., lubricator attachment; George Sheppard, Fillmore, Minn., wheel.

A Chip of the Old Block.

Mrs. Wilson—Does your son George take after his father?

Mrs. Gilson—I guess so. He has begun already to take after the girls.—Somerville Journal.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

As They Whizzed By.

First Automobilist—What do you think of that landscape?

Second Automobilist—Which one?—Smart Set.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

There would be a lot more fun in the world if people wouldn't try so hard to have it.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.
Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

Money has power to crush happiness only when its roots get in the heart.

TUMORS CONQUERED

SERIOUS OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the Case of Mrs. Fannie D. Fox.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

The growth of a tumor is so sly that frequently its presence is not suspected until it is far advanced.

Mrs. Fannie D. Fox

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by profuse menstruation, accompanied by unusual pain, from the ovaries down the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation; secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., will give you her advice free of all charge if you will write her about yourself. Your letter will be seen by women only.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine. Eighteen months ago my monthlies stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly that I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician and was told that I had a tumor on the uterus and would have to undergo an operation.

"Soon after I read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After trying five bottles as directed the tumor is entirely gone. I have been examined by a physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my monthlies around once more, and I am entirely well."—Fannie D. Fox, 7 Chestnut Street, Bradford, Pa.

Or Padded.

"I wonder why they called this comic opera 'The Prodigal Son?'"

"Because of the fatted calves, I imagine."—Fort Worth Record.

Mrs. Crabshaw—In medium-priced flats they don't let you keep a dog.

Mrs. Crawford—Where I went they let you have dogs, but no children.

Mrs. Crabshaw—Oh, then it was a swell apartment.—Town Topics.

Extravagance at Funerals.

We cannot help feeling disgusted at the frivolous and senseless extravagance prevailing at the majority of burials, and it is a pity that people do not think for a moment of the folly of display at such a sad and inappropriate time. The trade combination is not slow in pandering to an ill-timed exhibition of witless pride.—Burial Reformer.

It takes more than wind in the chest to make wings grow on the back.

As a balm philosophy seems to be suited to wounds that have healed themselves.

Pleasure without moderation is always mixed with misery.

Fargo Tannery Receives
hides and furs for tanning to harness leather and robes. Robes lined. Hides bought. Leather and robes for sale. Write for price list and tags. Andrew Monson, Fargo, N. D.

TWENTY-FIVE BUSHELS OF WHEAT TO THE ACRE
FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE
Means a productive capacity in dollars of over $16 per acre.
This on land which has cost the farmer nothing but the price of tilling it, tells its own story.
The Canadian Government gives absolutely free to every settler 160 acres of such land.
Lands adjoining can be purchased at from $6 to $10 per acre from railroad and other corporations.
Already 175,000 farmers from the United States have made their homes in Canada.
For pamphlet "Twentieth Century Canada" and all information apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to following authorized Canadian Government Agent—Charles Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, North Dakota.
(Mention this paper.)

Virginia Farms
FREE CATALOGUE of Splendid Bargains.
R.B.CHAFFIN & CO., Inc., RICHMOND, VA.

When Answering Advertisements, Kindly Mention This Paper.

N D N U —NO. 51— 1905

TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY
ANTI-GRIPINE

PRICE, 25 Cts.
ANTI-GRIPINE
IS GUARANTEED TO CURE
GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.
I won't sell Anti-Gripine to a dealer who won't Guarantee It. Call for your MONEY BACK IF IT DON'T CURE.
F. W. Diemer, M. D., Manufacturer, Springfield, Mo.

ESTABLISHED 1879.
Minneapolis WOODWARD & CO., GRAIN COMMISSION Duluth
ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS

ANOTHER SWINDLER

Farm, Stock & Home: A smooth swindler is reported as having recently worked several farming communities in Illinois. Learning of a farm for sale. he bargains for it, and asks the farmer to loan the abstract of the place that he may have his lawyer look it over. He then called on a notary public in the nearest village and asks him to make out a power of attorney to send to some friend or rolative in the East and after securing this, which must of course bear the notary's seal, he makes or has made a duplicate of the seal. He next visits the county seat, and calling upon some lawyer or real estate dealer, asks him to compare the abstract with the records. This being found correct be causes a deed to be drawn up and states that as it has taken all his ready money to pay for the farm he wants to secure the loan of quite a sum of money with which to pay for needen improvements. While the real estate man is looking up the money—figuring his commission—the stranger goes away with the deed and the abstract, forges the signature of the farmer and his wife, affixes the notary's seal in acknowledgment, and returns to the real estate dealer. The man who has money to loan is called in, takes a note for the amount asked for, secured by a mortgage upon the farm, the money is paid over and the swindler skips. Remember the method employed and give no important or valuable papers to any stranger.

THE GOOD ROADS LAW.

Moorhead Weekly News: The state highway commission will come into existence Jan. 1. and the governor will appoint one commissioner from each of the nine congressional districts.

For the purpose of state aid in the construction and improvement of public highways, a tax levy of one twentieth of a mill will be made on all taxable property in the state This with the money from the internal improvement land fund, shall constitute the state road and bridge fund. The commission shall each March apportion the road and bridge fund among the counties, no county to get more than 3 or less than one-half of 1 per cent of the fund, the apportionment to be made according to the area of the county, the amount it has spent for road construction, the difficulty and expense of building roads and the extraordinary expense connected with the development of new territory. The commission shall adopt rules for the construction and improvement of roads suitable to the different localities, the available road material to be considered.

The counties may then designate certain roads and construct or improve them in accordance with these rules and under the supervision of the state engineer or his assistants. The county auditor shall certify to the commission the amount expended on these roads and the commission shall pay them out of the sum apportioned to the county, not more than one third of the cost of the construction of the road.

XMAS PRESENTS

In order to stimulate trade for the holiday we —are offering—

Liberal Discounts in Every Department

This is the Xmas shoppers opportunity. Articles that are not only ORNAMENTAL
—but—
USEFUL

THE LEADER STORE continues to lead in everything that pertains to up-to-date merchandising
Wishing our many customers a Merry Xmas

We are
Very respectfully

ANDERSON & WANDER

PREPARE FOR SLEIGHING

I am showing the most complete line of bob sleighs, cutters and home made jumpers in the country at prices that suit the times.

SLEIGHS MADE TO ORDER

My line of farm machinery for the spring trade will comprise the usual well known lines.

S. A. SWANSON
THE MACHINE MAN
RED LAKE FALLS MINNESOTA

HIS WORK AS TACKLE PRAISED

Ittner, a Red Lake Falls Boy, Considered the Best Tackle of Western Teams

O'Laughlin, one of the best judges of football and players in the west has this to say of Ittner, who played on the U. of M., team this year:

"Ittner came to Minnesota last year with a good record in up-state high school play behind him. He is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 212 pounds. He can hold his own with any man in the Minnesota team at sprinting down the field and is one of the cleanest players that ever donned the jerseys. He does not feel his strength and it is perhaps just as well that he does not, altho he is not the man to misuse it. His feat of going over for the first touchdown in the Wisconsin game and the calibre of the men he brushed aside in that supreme effort of a slow setting and starting formation stamps him at once as one of the greatest offensive tackles in the west.

"He is a deceptive player in that his great height and bulk give him the appearance of slowness, when the opposite is the truth. He is powerful and in the open work has shown that he can tackle with good effect. Ittner is just as good on defense as offense and working with Marshall and Vita shows a splendid record for Minnesota's left wing in 1905. He is a stronger man than either Curtis or Bertke and a summary of the ground gained by the trio this year would show, I believe that Ittner had carried the pigskin two yards to the others' one. He has not taken out five minutes of time this year and altho suffering a minor injury to one of his shoulders which gave him a painful jolt, he played great football. Ittner, to those who have seen him work, outclassess all other western tackles in rather easy style."

A DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

A most peculiar accident occurred Tuesday afternoon at the home of Nels Offerdahl, who lives in the vicinity of Middle River. It appears that Mr. Offerdahl had returned home with a load of hay and after unloading, had left his shot-gun in the sleigh. A boy about 11 years of age. picked up the gun to take it into the house. In some manner one barrel of the gun was discharged, the contents going through a window into the house where the remainder of the children, five in number, were congregated. Each of the five children received a portion of the charge. One girl had three grains of shot in the back of her head; another little girl had several shots in the scalp; one of the boys received a shot in the cheek, the grain passing entirely through the cheek into his mouth. Probably the most serious injury was received by the oldest girl who received a shot in the abdomen. Dr. Gambell was called to dress the wounds and reports all of the children as doing well, and no serious results will be sustained by any of them. It is a miracle that none of the children were killed out-right, or more seriously injured.

DEED OF INSANE SON.

John Laurenson who resided upon a homestead two miles north of Pelan was murdered by his son Theodore who was but recently brought home from the insane hospital at Fergus Falls. The deed was committed about five o'clock Monday afternoon at their home.

The son was spliting wood and the old man standing by talking to him when in a fit of insanity Theodore dealt the old man a fatal blow in the breast with the ax. The screams brought another son from the house, who at once seized his brother and sent the hired man to town for a doctor. The old man was dead when the doctor arrived, The Sheriff and Coroner of Kittson County were at once wired of the facts and arrived on the scene Tuesday. The son was taken to Hallock and it is expected that he will be re-committed to the hospital. It will be remembered that he shot one of his brothers two years ago while they were hauling hay and then was taken to Fergus Falls and placed in the Insane Hospital where he remained up to a short time ago when his father and brother went after him and everything seemed to be alright till the above happened. Greenbush Journal.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone, Reichert's Drug Store.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS

.................TO HOLIDAY SHOPPERS.................

Linen Towel Sale
Towels of excellent quality displayed on table and marked in plain figures discount
10 and 15 per cent

Suede and Glace Kid Gloves
A most desirable present is a pair of good gloves—your choice in stylish colors of La Force gloves worth $1.50 for $1.25

Children's Cloak Sale
At this time every year we close out our children's cloaks, we carry no garments to next year
Holiday discount 25 per cent.

Men's Holiday Gifts
He will expect a present but it must be useful—we have just received an excellent line of Holiday ties, rich and easy to tie, choice 25 and 50c. Suspenders in fancy boxes at 35, 50 and 75c

Handkerchief Sale
Linen embroidered of fine quality and rich designs worth 15 and 20c, special 10c
High grade handkerchiefs at most reasonable prices from 25c to $1.00

Shopping Bags
You can be shown the latest in greens, browns and blacks, also you get a agent's sample discount of 25 per cent

Furs
as warm as Christmas friendship—a most presentable gift is a nice fur and with the prices we make you they are within reach of all. Special $6.50 pure black Belgian fur boa at $4.75

Jackets and Skirts
We are still showing an excellent line of garments but will not carry any over. "The early bird," you know; one week,
25 per cent

THE BUSY STORE
GARCEAU & ZAISER

Sign of the best—
NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
—the best sign

Low Holiday Rates

Round trip Chrrstmas rates of one fare plus $2 except where fare and a third makes a less rate, with minimum of 50 cents, to any Northern Pacific point in Minnesota North Dakota and Wisconsin, selling Dec. 22—Jan. with limit of Jan. 2, 1906. On Dec, 22-23-24-25-30-31 and Jan. 1, tickets will be sold to points East of St. Paul at one and one-third fares for round trip, limited to Jan. 4. For complete information write any agent of the Northern Pacific Ry.

A. M, Cleland, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.
F. A. Mizen, Agent.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of very month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

ASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
e Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Ayer's

This falling of your hair! Stop it, or you will soon be bald. Give your hair some Ayer's Hair Vigor. The falling will stop, the hair will grow, and the scalp will be clean and healthy. Why be satisfied with poor hair when you can make it rich?

Hair Vigor

"My hair nearly all came out. I then tried Ayer's Hair Vigor and only one bottle stopped the falling. New hair came in real thick and just a little curly."—MRS. L. M. SMITH, Saratoga, N. Y.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for
Thick Hair

MASCOT
"A Pure Flour."
Sweet, Pure and Wholesome
It's All the Wheat THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..
Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

In Mad Chase

Millions rush in mad chase after health from one extreme of faddism to another, when, if they would only eat good food and keep their bowels reglular with Dr. King's New Life Pills, their troubles would all pass away. Prompt relief and quick cure for liver and stomach trouble 25c at all druggists, guaranteed.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN Hair Renewer
Is it true you want to look old? Then keep your gray hair. If not, then use Hall's Hair Renewer, and have all the dark, rich color of early life restored to your hair. [illegible] R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N. H.

Try Courier Job Work

Historical Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 10. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1905. WHOLE NO. 376.

WHAT DAIRYING MEANS TO IOWA

The Cow as a Money Maker Clearly Demonstrated by Iowa Statistics

That butter, the minor product of the farm, paid well in Iowa the past year, is proven by the fact that about $25,000,000 was realized from shipments out of the state. More than 92,000,000 pounds were packed and crated and carried out of the state by the railroads, and on the New York market is bought close to 25 cents a pounds.

The chief counties that shipped butter and the amount in pounds they marketed last year are as follows:

Polk, 5,827.811; Woodbury, 8,073,201; Jones, 2,827,316; Bremer, 2,795,237; Clayton, 3,149,763; Delaware, 2,474,109; Dubuque, 2,569,863; Fayette, 2,305,684.

This 92,000,000 pounds does not represent the entire manufactured product in Iowa the past year. The dairy commissioner has no means of gathering statistics of the vast quantity consumed by the people of Iowa, and which is not manufactured at creameries. Official estimates place the increase over last year at 25 per cent.

AGREED TO DISAGREE.

Unable to live together happily J. A. Swanson and wife have agreed to dissolve partnership, and on Tuesday last a separation agreement was entered into between them, by the terms of which Mrs. Swanson receives $750 and takes the two children to care for. The couple were married about three years ago and have since lived in this vicinity and at Thief River Falls. Mrs. Swanson's parents reside north of Erskine and Mrs. Swanson was formerly Miss Auna, daughter of Nicoli Olson.—Times.

Wm. Demann of Dundas arrived Friday to spend the holidays with his brother, Co. Commissioner Demann.

DANNIE REGAN BURIED

Saturday morning at ten o'clock from St. Mary's church Rev. Father Hufnagal officiating were held the last sad burial rites over the mortal remains of the late Dannie Regan. The friends of the direly stricken family were in attendance at the services in large numbers to express their sympathy and the funeral cortage to Oakdale was a long one. The services at the church was of the usual Catholic nature, deceased having been in life a devoted member of the church. High mass was said and the friends of the departed railroad man were permitted to view the remains.

Members of the Locomotive Brotherhood of Firemen were present and the floral display centered on a handsome piece sent by that body of railroad men.—Times.

BROOKS.

Moses Girard, Peter Boucher and Walt Quesnell attended the M. W. A. dance at Plummer. All report a good time.

R. Poirier went to Plummer Thursday night to assist the Plummer orchestra in rendering music for the M. W. A. dance.

Louis Champange resigned his position with Charles Wilbert and has gone west to seek for a fortune.

Leon Champange and Moses Girard came home from the woods to spend the holidays.

W. B. Cheshire, A. Morin, Oscar and Leon Morin and R. Poirier left for Red Lake Falls to spend the holidays with his friends and relatives.

Of Interest to Mothers

Thousands of little ones die every year of croup. Most of them could have been saved by a few does of Foley's Honey and Tar, and every family with children should keep it in the house. It contains no opiates and is safe and sure. Mrs. George H. Picket, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "My baby had a dangerous attack of croup and we thought she would choke to death, but one dose of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved her at once after other remedies had failed. We are never a minute without it in the house." Sold at W. A. Schreiter.

Rufus Poirier was in from Brooks to spend Christmas with his family.

P. A. EKSTROM TO SUCCEED SUTOR

P. A. Eckstrom Elected to the Office of County Commissioner From the First District.

Owing to the resignation of James Sutor as county commissioner, the chairmen of the board of supervisors of the towns comprising the 1st commissioner district of the county of Red Lake met at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Dec. 28th, 1905, in pursuance to the call of County Auditor Ford, to elect a successor for the balance of the unexpired term.

Those present were August Lindberg, C. P. Swanson Felix Anderson, Frank Scherrick and F. P. Grenier. The meeting was called to order and Felix Anderson was elected chairman and C. P. Swanson, secretary. Nominations were then declared in order and the following persons were duly nominated as candidates: C. A. Lindquist, P. A. Ekstrom and Ed Enright. On the first ballot P. A. Ekstrom received three votes and C. A. Lindquist two. P. A. Ekstrom having received a majority of the votes cast was declared duly elected as county commissioner to fill said vacancy.

HARRY HEALY HURT

Harry Healy met with an accident Monday which while quite serious might have been more so. He in company with others was skiing down some of the steep hills below the Healy dam and he essayed a particularly dangerous slide and jump. In some way his skis became unmanageable which resulted in a bad tumble and a subsequent collision with a stump which he says hurt some. He is confined to his room nursing his bruises and vowing vengeance [illegible]

ABOUT TO WED.

The following marriage licenses have been issued recently by Clerk Perrault: Bert Davis to Annie Warberg, of Lambert; John Johnson to Annie D. Johnson of Thief River Falls; August Sandberg of Ogelvie, Minn. to Ragnheld Rust of Norden; Oscar Anderson to Christine Olson, of Gervais; Wilhelm J. Waltinson of Polk Co. to Anna Marie Rasmussen of Red Lake Falls.

PATRONIZE HOME TRADE.

A noticeable fact now-a-days around the depot is the number of boxes and packages addressed to farmers and some local citizens, too, bearing the consignor stamp of some one of the big mail order houses for which good hard earned cash that ought to be spent at home has been paid because they don't extend credit, even to the best of you, neither do they pay taxes or buy eggs.

Pirating Foley's Honey and Tar

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Sold at W. A. Schreiter.

HOLIDAY RATES

The Great Northern Ry. announces holiday rates to all points east of Montana. For particulars call on agent, or phone 32.

Torture of a Preacher

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore pastor of the Baptist church of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried many remedies, without relief, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which entirely cured my cough, and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of Throat and Lungs. At all druggists, price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Notice is hereby given that the school building erected by J. K. Johnson in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., is now completed and all parties having accounts or claims against said J. K. Johnson, for brick, lumber, material, labor performed towards said building are hereby notified and requested to file their claim unto Theo. Garceau, president of the school board on or before Jan. 7, 1906, at 12 o'clock, M.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., Dec. 27th, 1905.

—A. P. Toupin,
Secy. of School Board,
Ind. School Dist. No. 15,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in the country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucuous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

—F. J. Cheney & Co., Props.,
Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursdav, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

Many children inherit constitutions weak and feeble, others due to childhood troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children and make them strong 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert.

IN A HIGHLY PROSPEROUS CONDITION

Matters of Importance Will be Brought Before Policy Holders of Gentilly Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

The annual meeting of the Gentilly Township Mutual Fire Insurance company has been called by President Remi Fortier to be held at the postoffice at that place on the 9th day of January. The meeting will be a notable one for the members of the company as business of importance will be taken up.

The Gentilly Fire Insurance company was organized five years ago last March and in the comparatively short time of its existence it has proved a decided success in every light possible. It is purely a mutual affair and the charter forbids that any one but farmers be allowed membership in the corporation. It has met all its obligations since it was organized and there were sufficient funds left over from last year's assessment to pay all the losses that ocdurred this summer so that this summer's assessment will be placed in a reserve fund. It is not the intention of the officials to allow this fund to grow to such proportions which would in any way place it on a basis of "high financing" companies but enough will be kept on hand to carry the concern thru a bad season that at any time may come upon them.

A very important amendment to the by-laws which will protect the association to some extent will be offered for the approval of the members of the company.

In every way the company has proved successful and has proved that fire insurance companies can be financed at home as well as in the large eastern cities.—Crookston Journal.

Go to Spillane's store for Groceries, Candies, Nuts, Fruitr, Cigars, etc.

The Companion as a Chtisrmas Gift,

Can you think of a gift more certain to be acceptable than a year's subscription to The Youth's Companion! Is there any one, young or old, who, having once had the paper in his hands and looked through it, did not wish to possess it for his very own? It is a gift which far from losing its freshness as Christmas recedes into the past, grows more delightful, more necessary to one's enjoyment week by week-

The boy likes it, for it reflects in its pages every boyish taste and every fine boyish inspiration. The father likes it, not only for its fiction but for its fund of information of the practical sort. The girl likes it for the stories, anecdotes, sketches and editorial articles printed in each number especially for her. The mother likes it for its stories of domesic life and family affection, for its children's page and for its medical article.

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price, the publishers send to the new subscriber all the remaining issues of The Companion for 1905 and the "Minutemen" Calendar for 1906, lithographed in gold and twelve colors.

Full illustrated Announcement of the new volume for 1906 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass.

The Out of Door Winter

of California will improve your health, build up your system and benefit your mental and physical condition generally. The North-Western Line will sell you through tickets at very low rates. Comfortable tourist cars leave the Twin Cities each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. For information as to rates, train service, etc, write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A. St. Paul, Minn.

Season '05-'06

DECEMBER CONCERT

Red Lake Falls Concert Band

Frank E. Miller, Director
Assisted by the High School Chorus

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE

December 29, 1905

PROGRAMME

PART I

1. March - - - - - - "DIXIELAND"
Haines
2. Overture - - - - "AMERICAN TRIUMPH"
Miller
3. Baritone Solo - - - "ARBUCKLENIAN POLKA"
Hartman
Mr. J. Armststrong
4. Intermezzo - - - - - Asher
"LA ROSE"
5. Grand Fantasie - - - - "MARITANA"
Wallace

PART II

6. Song of the Vikings - - - - E. FANNING
High School Chorus,
Mr. Henry Tonning, Director
7. Duet for two cornets - - - "KINDRED SOULS"
Eilenberg
Messrs. Brunelle and Healy
8. Quartette for Strings - - - "FELICE"
Langey
Messrs. Miller, Tracy, Berthon and L. Healy
9. Spanish Serenade - - - - "LA PALOMA"
Yradier
10, March - - - "CHICAGO TRIBUNE"
Chambers

8.30 sharp

Berthon and Armstrong

Men's and Boys' Leading Clothing Outfitters

Just a Reminder

Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored
Copyright 1905 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

Now that it's holiday time again, REMEMBER we've a great treat in store for you, whenever you can find it convenient to call. We can put a smile that won't come off on the face of any man or boy that comes in......

Things for Men and Boys

Suits and Overcoats
Neckwear
Smoking Jackets
Fancy Vests
Suit Cases

Stitt-Schoenberg Correct Clothes

Hats and Caps, Sweaters, Fur Collars, Traveling Bags, Fancy Hos
Umbrellas, Underwear, Gloves and Mittens, Shoes

Jim and Paul

Red Lake Falls, Minnesota

DEFECTIVE PAGE

HistoricalSociety MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VIII—NO. 10. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1905. WHOLE NO. 376.

WHAT DAIRYING MEANS TO IOWA

The Cow as a Money Maker Clearly Demonstrated by Iowa Statistics

That butter, the minor product of the farm, paid well in Iowa the past year, is proven by the fact that about $25,000,000 was realized from shipments out of the state. More than 92,000,000 pounds were packed and crated and carried out of the state by the railroads, and on the New York market is bought close to 25 cents a pounds.

The chief counties that shipped butter and the amount in pounds they marketed last year are as follows:

Polk, 5,827.811; Woodbury, 8,073,-201; Jones, 2,827.316; Bremer, 2,795,-237; Clayton, 3.149,763; Delaware, 2,474,109; Dubuque, 2,569,863; Fayette, 2,305,684.

This 92,000,000 pounds does not represent the entire manufactured product in Iowa the past year. The dairy commissioner has no means of gathering statistics of the vast quantity consumed by the people of Iowa, and which is not manufactured at creameries. Official estimates place the increase over last year at 25 per cent.

AGREED TO DISAGREE.

Unable to live together happily J. A. Swanson and wife have agreed to dissolve partnership, and on Tuesday last a separation agreement was entered into between them, by the terms of which Mrs. Swanson receives $750 and takes the two children to care for. The couple were married about three years ago and have since lived in this vicinity and at Thief River Falls. Mrs. Swanson's parents reside north of Erskine and Mrs. Swanson was formerly Miss Anna, daughter of Nicoli Olson.—Times.

Wm. Demann of Dundas arrived Friday to spend the holidays with his brother, Co. Commissioner Demann.

DANNIE REGAN BURIED

Saturday morning at ten o'clock from St. Mary's church Rev. Father Hufnagal officiating were held the last sad burial rites over the mortal remains of the late Dannie Regan. The friends of the direly stricken family were in attendance at the services in large numbers to express their sympathy and the funeral cortage to Oakdale was a long one. The services at the church was of the usual Catholic nature, deceased having been in life a devoted member of the church. High mass was said and the friends of the departed railroad man were permitted to view the remains.

Members of the Locomotive Brotherhood of Firemen were present and the floral display centered on a handsome piece sent by that body of railroad men.—Times.

BROOKS.

Moses Girard, Peter Boucher and Walt Quesnell attended the M. W. A. dance at Plummer. All report a good time.

R. Poirier went to Plummer Thursday night to assist the Plummer orchestra in rendering music for the M. W. A. dance.

Louis Champange resigned his position with Charles Wilbert and has gone west to seek for a fortune.

Leon Champange and Moses Girard came home from the woods to spend the holidays.

W. B. Cheshire. A. Morin, Oscar and Leon Morin and R. Poirier left for Red Lake Falls to spend the holidays with his friends and relatives.

Of Interest to Mothers

Thousands of little ones die every year of croup. Most of them could have been saved by a few does of Foley's Honey and Tar, and every family with children should keep it in the house. It contains no opiates and is safe and sure. Mrs. George H. Picket, San Erancisco, Cal., writes: "My baby had a dangerous attack of croup and we thought she would choke to death, but one dose of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved her at once after other remedies had failed. We are never a minute without it in the house." Sold at W. A. Schreiter.

Rufus Poirier was in from Brooks to spend Christmas with his family.

P. A. EKSTROM TO SUCCEED SUTOR

P. A. Eckstrom Elected to the Office of County Commissioner From the First District.

Owing to the resignation of James Sutor as county commissioner, the chairmen of the board of supervisors of the towns comprising the 1st. commissioner district of the county of Red Lake met at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Dec. 28th, 1905, in pursuance to the call of County Auditor Ford, to elect a successor for the balance of the unexpired term.

Those present were August Lindberg, C. P. Swanson Felix Anderson, Frank Scherrick and F. P. Grenier. The meeting was called to order and Felix Anderson was elected chairman and C. P. Swanson, secretary. Nominations were then declared in order and the following persons were duly nominated as candidates: C. A. Lindquist, P. A. Ekstrom and Ed Enright. On the first ballot P. A. Ekstrom received three votes and C. A. Lindquist two. P. A. Ekstrom having received a majority of the votes cast was declared duly elected as county commissioner to fill said vacancy.

HARRY HEALY HURT

Harry Healy met with an accident Monday which while quite serious might have been more so. He in company with others was skiing down some of the steep hills below the Healy dam and he essayed a particularly dangerous slide and jump. In some way his skis became unmanageable which resulted in a bad tumble and a subsequent collision with a stump which he says hurt some. He is confined to his room nursing his bruises and vowing vengeance against that stump.

ABOUT TO WED.

The following marriage licenses have been issued recently by Clerk Perrault: Bert Davis to Annie Warberg, of Lambert; John Johnson to Annie D. Johnson of Thief River Falls; August Sandberg of Ogelvie, Minn. to Ragnheld Rust of Norden; Oscar Anderson to Christine Olson, of Gervais; Wilhelm J. Waltinson of Polk Co. to Anna Marie Rasmussen of Red Lake Falls.

PATRONIZE HOME TRADE.

A noticeable fact now-a-days around the depot is the number of boxes and packages addressed to farmers and some local citizens, too, bearing the consignor stamp of some one of the big mail order houses for which good hard earned cash that ought to be spent at home has been paid because they don't extend credit, even to the best of you, neither do they pay taxes or buy eggs.

Pirating Foley's Honey and Tar

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Sold at W. A. Schreiter.

HOLIDAY RATES

The Great Northern Ry. announces holiday rates to all points east of Montana. For particulars call on agent, or phone 32.

Torture of a Preacher

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore pastor of the Baptist church of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you, He says: "I suffered agonies because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried many remedies, without relief, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which entirely cured my cough, and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of Throat and Lungs. At all druggists, price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Notice is hereby given that the school building erected by J. K. Johnson in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., is now completed and all parties having accounts or claims against said J. K. Johnson, for brick, lumber, material, labor performed towards said building are hereby notified and requested to file their claim unto Theo. Garceau, president of the school board on or before Jan. 7, 1906, at 12 o'clock, M.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., Dec. 27th, 1905.

—A. P. Toupin,
Secy. of School Board,
Ind. School Dist. No. 15,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in the country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucuous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

—F. J. Cheney & Co., Props.,
Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Fast Tourist Car Service to California

Via Chicago Great Western Railway, Kansas City and the Santa Fe Railway. Car leaves Minneapolis and St. Paul every Thursday, arriving at Los Angelos the following Monday at 8:35 a. m. For further information apply to any Great Western agent, or J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn. d31

Many children inherit constitutions weak and feeble, others due to childhood troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children and make them strong 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. At A. L. Reichert.

IN A HIGHLY PROSPEROUS CONDITION

Matters of Importance Will be Brought Before Policy Holders of Gentilly Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

The annual meeting of the Gentilly Township Mutual Fire Insurance company has been called by President Remi Fortier to be held at the postoffice at that place on the 9th day of January. The meeting will be a notable one for the members of the company as business of importance will be taken up.

The Gentilly Fire Insurance company was organized five years ago last March and in the comparatively short time of its existence it has proved a decided success in every light possible. It is purely a mutual affair and the charter forbids that any one but farmers be allowed membership in the corporation. It has met all its obligations since it was organized and there were sufficient funds left over from last year's assessment to pay all the losses that occurred this summer so that this summer's assessment will be placed in a reserve fund. It is not the intention of the officials to allow this fund to grow to such proportions which would in any way place it on a basis of "high financing" companies but enough will be kept on hand to carry the concern thru a bad season that at any time may come upon them.

A very important amendment to the by-laws which will protect the association to some extent will be offered for the approval of the members of the company.

In every way the company has proved successful and has proved that fire insurance companies can be financed at home as well as in the large eastern cities.—Crookston Journal.

Go to Spillane's store for Groceries, Candies, Nuts, Fruitr, Cigars, etc.

The Companion as a Chtisrmas Gift,

Can you think of a gift more certain to be acceptable than a year's subscription to THE YOUTH'S COMPANION! Is there any one, young or old, who, having once had the paper in his hands and looked through it, did not wish to possess it for his very own? It is a gift which far from losing its freshness as Christmas recedes into the past, grows more delightful, more necessary to one's enjoyment week by week.

The boy likes it, for it reflects in its pages every boyish taste and every fine boyish inspiration. The father likes it, not only for its fiction but for its fund of information of the practical sort. The girl likes it for the stories, anecdotes, sketches and editorial articles printed in each number especially for her. The mother likes it for its stories of domestic life and family affection, for its children's page and for its medical article.

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price, the publishers send to the new subscriber all the remaining issues of THE COMPANION for 1905 and the "Minutemen" Calendar for 1906, lithographed in gold and twelve colors.

Full illustrated Announcement of the new volume for 1906 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
144 Berkeley St., Boston, Mass.

The Out of Door Winter

of California will improve your health, build up your system and benefit your mental and physical condition generally. The North-Western Line will sell you through tickets at very low rates. Comfortable tourist cars leave the Twin Cities each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. For information as to rates, train service, etc, write to T. W. Teasdale, G. P. A. St. Paul, Minn.

Season '05-'06

DECEMBER CONCERT

Red Lake Falls Concert Band
Frank E. Miller, Director
Assisted by the High School Chorus
METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE
December 29, 1905

PROGRAMME

PART I

1.	March	"DIXIELAND" Haines
2.	Overture	"AMERICAN TRIUMPH" Miller
3.	Baritone Solo	"ARBUCKLENIAN POLKA" Hartman Mr. J. Armststrong
4.	Intermezzo	Asher "LA ROSE"
5.	Grand Fantasie	"MARITANA" Wallace

PART II

6.	Song of the Vikings	E. FANNING High School Chorus, Mr. Henry Tonning, Director
7.	Duet for two cornets	"KINDRED SOULS" Eilenberg Messrs. Brunelle and Healy
8.	Quartette for Strings	"FELICE" Langey Messrs. Miller, Tracy, Berthon and L. Healy
9.	Spanish Serenade	"LA PALOMA" Yradier
10,	March	"CHICAGO TRIBUNE" Chambers

8.30 p. m.

Berthon and Armstrong
Men's and Boys' Leading Clothing Outfitters

Just a Reminder

Hart Schaffner & Marx Hand Tailored
Copyright 1905 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

Now that it's holiday time again, REMEMBER we've a great treat in store for you, whenever you can find it convenient to call. We can put a smile that won't come off on the face of any man or boy that comes in.......

Things for Men and Boys

Suits and Overcoats
Neckwear
Smoking Jackets
Fancy Vests
Suit Cases

Stitz-Schoenberg Correct Clothes

Hats and Caps, Sweaters, Fur Collars, Traveling Bags, Fancy Hos
Umbrellas, Underwear, Gloves and Mittens, Shoes

Jim and Paul
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE DEFECTIVE PAGE

The Scourge of Damascus

A Story of the East...

By SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

Copyrighted 1901 by Robert Bonner's Sons.

CHAPTER XI.

Horam Is Caged.

Carefully the three men emerged from the dungeon; and when Osmir had closed and bolted the door behind them, Selim went on ahead with the lantern. They were armed with good stout swords, and the blacks wore daggers in their sashes.

"In what direction must we pass out?" asked Julian, as they came to the end of the first valuted passage.

"We must pass up where a guard is always kept," answered Osmir; "and our only hope is that we may be able to fall upon the sentinels, and overcome them, without creating disturbance enough for a general alarm."

"Whatever can be accomplished by strength of arm, we will accomplish," said the robber; "and I think we can be shrewd enough not to strike until we see that the blow shall fall surely."

"You can depend upon us," added Osmir, stopping while Selim opened a door. "We have already placed our lives in jeopardy, and only a successful exit from the palace can now save us. But, as I told you before, there is danger in the way."

"You have counted the chances?"

"Yes."

"And are you ready to bide the result?"

"Yes."

"Then let us meet the worst. If you, to set me free, are ready for the risk, I should be much more so."

At this juncture Selim, who had opened a door, and gone on a few steps in advance, came hurriedly back, with a look of alarm in his face.

"I hear footsteps in the passage overhead," he said, in a whisper.

"Are you sure?"

"Yes. I heard them very plainly."

"What is the passage of which you speak?" asked Julian.

"It is one through which we must pass," replied Osmir, "and one in which we had expected to find no obstacle."

"It may be," suggested Selim, "that a new guard has been set there."

"That cannot be," asserted Osmir. "I came through there only a short time since, and the place was empty. Hark—I hear the steps from here—and I think they are coming this way. Hold, a moment. Remain where you are, and I will find what this means."

Thus speaking, Osmir glided away into the darkness, towards the point where the stairs led down from the upper passage. After an absence of a few minutes he returned, and his first exclamation told that he was excited.

"The king is coming!"

"The king!" repeated Julian, in a quick, deep whisper.

"Yes—and two of his guards are with him. Some one else came as far as the head of the stairs with them, but I think only the king and the guards are descending."

"He must be coming to see me," said Julian.

"It must be so," answered Osmir; "for there is nothing else here for him to see, save bare damp walls and toads."

"Hark! Here they come. I hear their voices, and can see where the rays of their lantern breaks in the gloom." It was Selim who said this, and as he spoke he drew back, and hid his own lantern beneath the skirt of his tunic.

Our adventurers, from where they stood, could see the foot of the steps at the far end of the passage; and presently they saw two men descend, the foremost one bearing a lantern, and wearing the robes of the king, while the other seemed to be an officer of the household.

"I see now," said Osmir, as he gained a view of the approaching men. "I was mistaken. The guards have been left behind, and this is Benoni, one of the captains of the guard, who comes with the king."

The robber chieftain was for a moment undecided as to the course he should pursue. Once his sword was half drawn from its scabbard; but Osmir, who heard the movement, seemed to have a better idea.

"My master," he whispered, touching Julian upon the arm, "let us draw back out of sight, and allow them to pass. They will certainly keep on to the dungeon we have left, and we will follow them thither."

"You are right," replied the chieftain. "They will be completely in our power when they have passed us."

Just back of where our trio stood was the door by which they had last passed, and upon one side was a deep niche in the wall, which had evidently been constructed for the reception of rubbish. Into this they quickly glided, Selim so effectually cloaking his lantern that not a ray of light escaped. In a little while the king came near to the hiding place, with his lantern held carefully before him, and his head bowed, as though he was fearful that he might make a misstep. He walked slowly, and his frame shook with a perceptible tremor. When he reached the door he stopped, and turned towards his companions.

"Benoni," he said, "I think you may remain here. This is the last passage, and I will go the rest of the way alone."

"I had better accompany you to the end, sire."

"No—I prefer to go alone."

"But," urged the captain, "the way is rough and dubious, and you may miss your step."

"Out upon thee for an ass!" cried the king, indignantly. "Do you think my step is growing feeble? I tell thee it was never stronger. I will go the rest of the way as I have said. I shall find Selim at the door of the dungeon, and he will render me such assistance as I may need there. I must see this prisoner alone. He possesses a secret which I must fathom before he loses his head."

"I beg thee, sire, be careful."

"Peace, good Benoni. Don't fret on my account. I know what I do. I'll find out the story of this robber's life, and then his head shall come off right quickly. Stay you here, and await my return."

Thus speaking, the king moved on, and when the sound of his uncertain, stumbling footfall could be no longer heard, Julian reached forth until his hand touched one of his companions.

"Who is this?" he asked, in a hushed whisper. It was Selim.

"There is no time to lose. The captain must be disposed of quickly. Uncover your lantern, and I will throttle him."

Selim did as directed, and as soon as the rays of light fell upon the captain, the latter started to gaze about him. But his free-will movements were quickly terminated by a blow from the first of the robber chieftain, which felled him to the floor, and before he could move or cry out, he was securely bound, and Osmir's sash passed over his mouth.

"Now," cried Julian, "for the king. He will be an easy subject to dispose of."

"And how will you dispose of him?" asked Osmir.

For an instant a dark thought struggled through Julian's mind. Here was an opportunity to put his worst enemy out of the way, and, at the same time, free the world from a ruler who had ceased to do justly. But the thought was not long entertained. The soul of the chieftain was above the doing of such a deed. Osmir noticed the hesitation, and tremblingly asked:

"Will you kill him?"

"No, no," was the quick reply. "That would be too cowardly. He is a poor foolish old man, whose continued life must be the greatest curse. We will put him where he put me, and let his slaves find him after we are gone. Come—I will lead to this event, and then you shall lead to the next."

Without further remark the robber moved on towards the dungeon where he had been confined, Selim going by his side with the lantern. Pretty soon they saw the king ahead of them, whereupon Selim was suffered to go on in advance. Horam had reached the door of the dungeon just as Selim came up.

"Ha, Selim, is this you?"

"Yes, sire."

"I did not see you when I came. Where have you been hiding?"

"I have not been hiding, sire; but have been doing my duty."

"And the prisoner?"

"He is safe."

"Open the door. I would speak with him. He is securely chained?"

"No mortal man can break the chains wherewith he was bound, sire."

"Then open—quick. His arms are bound?"

"Like iron, sire."

"And he cannot move from his place?"

"The chains all center upon the bolt in the floor."

"Then you may remain without. Selim. I wish to speak with the prisoner alone."

Selim had no particular understanding with his companions touching this movement; but he understood that Julian would act when he saw fit, so he proceeded to unbolt the door and throw it open.

"We can shut him in and leave him," whispered Osmir, when he saw the king about to pass into the dungeon.

"No, no," quickly returned Julian. "I have another thought. I may find use for those royal robes which he wears."

"By the gods!" cried Osmir, "the prize is worth ten thousand times more than I had thought. If you don those regal robes, Selim and I can lead you in safety from this place. By the blessed star, it is a lucky thought. Ha! He goes in. Shall I accompany you?"

"You may remain close at hand."

CHAPTER XII.

A Royal Disguise.

Until the present time Julian had thought of overcoming the king without a word—of felling him to the pavement and binding him, and leaving him in ignorance of who had done it; but a different fancy seized him as he saw the monarch enter the dungeon. The temptation to face his deadly enemy, and let him know to what he owed his disgrace, was too strong to be resisted. The thought that he could now place his foot upon the neck of the king of Damascus, and grant the poor life which he had the power to take, was not to be passed by. And then the robber chieftain had another reason for wishing to speak with the king, since the opportunity had thus unexpectedly offered itself. Horam had come on purpose to see him; to learn some secret. Our hero had a curiosity to know what this meant.

"Stay a moment where you are," he said, addressing the blacks; and thus speaking he passed into the dungeon just as the king had discovered that no prisoner was there.

"Ho! Selim!" shouted the monarch, turning his face to the door. "What is the matter here? Is not this the—"

He stopped, for the light of his lantern, falling upon the face of the man who had followed him in, revealed another face than that of Selim.

"Horam," spoke the chieftain, "you find the Scourge of Damascus not quite as powerless as you had expected."

"What ho! Selim! Selim!"

"Easy, old man. Selim will not come at your bidding. Let me inform you that I am master, for the present, of this lower region, and Selim is my slave."

"Mercy!" gasped the terrified king. "What ho! Benoni! Benoni!"

"Benoni is in my power," said Julian. "He is bound hand and foot, and cannot help you. And, thou base, false man—thou, too, art in my power. Down in this deep dungeon, where the light of day cannot come, and where the noise of the upper world cannot penetrate, here I have thee as thou did'st hope to have me. Horam, I am thy master!"

The king's knees smote together, and the lantern dropped from his hand.

"Mercy!" he cried. And then, as though remembering that he was king of Damascus, he clenched his hands, and tried to speak with the voice of authority.

"Vile miscreant," he said, "let me pass! If you dare to oppose me, you shall be torn limb from limb!"

"Easy, old man. I am your master now, and if you give me occasion, I may do you harm."

There was that in the look, tone and bearing of the stalwart chieftain which caused Horam to quail. The lantern had fallen in an upright position, and its light revealed quite plainly the features of the two men.

"You will not kill me?" whispered the king.

"No," replied Julian. "I should scorn the deed; and I should despise myself if I did it. I wish simply to do this. I must leave this palace tonight, and you must remain here in my place. Some of your slaves will find you in the morning. You must strip off that purple robe, and that golden chain; and I must have the jeweled crown from your head. Come—I have no time to waste."

"Ye gods of heaven!" ejaculated Horam. "how can this thing be! Who ever heard of such a thing! Who dares to disrobe the king?"

"I dare to do it!" replied the robber, sternly and quickly, at the same time taking a step forward. "Remove the garments instantly, or I shall tear them from you."

"No, no; you dare not rob your king."

"Peace, poor fool! Hesitate another minute, and I will smite you to the floor! Off with the robe!"

The trembling monarch cast one look into the face of the man before him, and then shrank back against the wall. He was as a mere child, and for the time, while unable to do evil, he seemed an object of pity.

"If I give you these things will you spare my life?"

"I told you once—yes. And once more I beg you to remember that my time is short. You will save yourself some trouble if you obey me."

This was spoken very slowly, each word dropping from the robber's lips with the weight of a death sentence; and the lowering of the brow, the swelling of the broad bosom, and the nervous working of the hands, told too plainly that the edict must be obeyed.

(To be continued.)

HOME MADE HONEY.

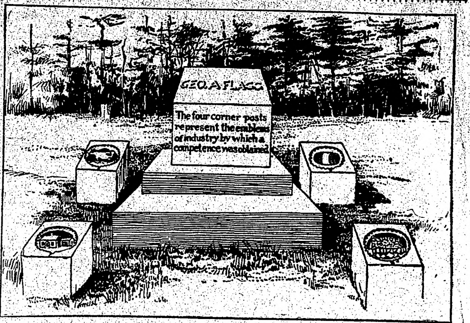
A Restaurant Man Captures a Stray Swarm of Bees.

Ralph Gushee, the lessee of the Park Department restaurant overlooking the Hudson at the upper end of Riverside drive, tells a remarkable story of how he obtained the honey which is one of the "specials" on his daily menu. "Two weeks ago," said Mr. Gushee to Corporation Counsel Whalen, who was the host of a party of politicians at Claremont, "I noticed a swarm of bees under the tree down there overhanging the drive just where the carriages stand at the dinner hour. I offered $10 to anybody who would remove them and nobody wanted to take the offer until one of the policemen detailed to guard Grant's tomb heard of it. He said he knew all about bees and I told him to go ahead. He went down in the basement and got an empty sugar barrel. Then he demanded a sheet and borrowed a pair of buckskin gloves from a gardener. He spread the sheet on the drive under the tree and set the barrel, from which he had removed a couple of staves, on its side. Then he climbed the tree and gently shooed the bees down to the sheet, whence he gathered them up into the barrel. This was covered with the same sort of mosquito netting with which he had enveloped his own head and taken back of the hotel. There must have been three or four quarts of bees, and they settled into their new home as naturally as though they had come to Riverside Park for that purpose. They began to hive at once, and for the last two weeks I've been getting four or five pounds of honey right along and the bees are still at home and at work."

Mr. Whalen remarked laughingly that as the bees were evidently taking sweetness from the blossoms in the park it would be in order for the city to increase Mr. Gushee's rent. It is supposed that the bees came across the Hudson River from New Jersey.

NEW IDEA IN TOMBSTONES

George A. Flagg, of Boylston, Mass., Plans to Show World How He Made His Money



The four corner posts represent the emblems of industry by which a competence was obtained.

"The emblems on the four corners of this lot represent the different kinds of business in which I have been engaged."

So reads the inscription on a marble tombstone in a cemetery at Boylston erected by George A. Flagg to himself. Mr. Flagg is not dead yet. Far from it; he is engaged in a prosperous business, cider-making and house-building; but he wanted to have his tombstone made to suit him, so he had it done now, in order to supervise the job. And it is certainly unique.

The heavy block of white marble bearing the above inscription stands in the middle of the lot, while at each of the four corners there is a smaller one of almost the same shape. But in the smaller ones the top is hollowed, and within this hollow on the first stone there is a marble representation of a pile of cordwood; in the second of a cow; in the third of a cider barrel, and in the fourth a house.

It would puzzle a stranger to fathom the meaning of this strange collection. Egyptian hieroglyphics seem, by comparison, like a child's primer. Yet the matter is simple enough; those articles represent in marble the four different ways in which Mr. Flagg has amassed a comfortable fortune. He is proud of having been successful, and believes that one of the most vital characteristics of a man is his method of making money. So, briefly, he will inform the world about himself when he dies.

In the meanwhile, he is alive, and is willing to tell all those who ask by word of mouth. His shrewdness is still with him, and he even looks upon the monument as a bit of good advertising. As he says, many a stranger has gazed at the monument, inquired about him out of curiosity, found he made good cider, and has ordered some.

He is still young—only about 40. He is rather short of stature, has black hair, black eyes, a black mustache and the ruddy cheeks of a boy.

"How did I happen to erect such a monument?" he repeated, in reply to a question put to him. "Well, I'll tell you. Ever since I was 'knee high to a grasshopper' I've been going through cemeteries looking at the tombstones. I used to like to read the inscriptions, and then wonder about the men. On most of them there wasn't much but, 'Here Lies Tom Grant,' or 'Here Lies Jim Smith.' Now, that doesn't tell a fellow much. What did I know of the man when I got through reading that? I could have hunted up some of their friends and found out, probably, but that isn't the point. Here was I, a stranger, just passing through, and naturally curious to know something about the fellows who had done their work and retired.

"The more I got to thinking about this, the more I made up my mind that when it came my turn I wouldn't leave anybody who happened to pass by my tombstone in the same quandary. If I put on just 'Here Lies George A. Flagg' they wouldn't know me from John Smith. So I said: 'I'll tell 'em something about George A. Flagg and how he made his money.'

"It took me a long while to think out how to do this best; to have it brief and to the point and forceful. Men don't have time to stop and read a whole biography, and it wouldn't be interesting, anyway. Finally I thought of the scheme of having little carvings made of how I'd earned my money. I reckoned that would tell 'em most about me.

"There are just four ways that I've done this—by dealing in cattle, in cider, in wood and in houses. So I had the things carved to stand for these four things, and that made just a neat block for each corner. Then I had the middle block with my name on it and the sentence which tells just what the meaning of the other is. There is another thing about that middle block that people don't know; it is just my height from top to bottom and from corner to corner.

"I had a good deal of trouble in getting that monument put up. Three or four contractors figured on it but they had to give it up because they couldn't get the right kind of marble. One of the things I insisted on was that the stone should be white without a single flaw. It was hard to find a block weighing ten tons, which is what that middle one weighs, without a flaw of some sort.

"Then they kicked at the motto. Mine was this: 'This shows how I made my money. Here I rest.' They didn't think that sounded right. I don't know—guess it wasn't fancy enough. I like to say what I mean straight, and say it quick. But I let 'em change it. The two things mean the same I guess.

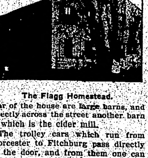
"Then a lot of people objected to having the monument there anyway. But I ain't ashamed of it, and I ain't ashamed of how I made my money. The more they talk the more advertising I get, anyway.

"Why, there have been people here from out West who have come and taken pictures of it, and then they have come down to see me, and then generally they have bought some cider.

"I make about 5,000 barrels of cider a year, and sell it all over the country. Somebody buys a barrel, and they tell their friends about it, and that is the way it goes.

"And I have sold thousands of cords of wood, too. That's why I have a wood pile on one of the small stones. Sometimes in the winter I have as many as fifty men chopping for me. Of course the wood isn't all cordwood; some of it goes in for lumber. With this lumber I have built houses, when I didn't want to sell it, and that's kept the cost of building down for me. For I tell you lumber is a great item when it comes to building a house, and I've got twenty-one houses to-day that I own and every one of them is full of good paying tenants."

Mr. Flagg's home, where he lives with a wife and seven children, is on the road between Worcester and the town of Boylston, about two and one half miles from the latter. Mr. Flagg built it himself. It stands on the site which has been used for houses for four generations of Flaggs. In the rear of the house are large barns, and directly across the street another barn in which is the cider mill.



The Flagg Homestead.

The trolley cars which run from Worcester to Fitchburg pass directly by the door, and from them one can look into the crib of the cider mill into which apples are dumped.

Just back of the house runs a ledge of rock, and in this ledge there is coal. One day, while playing about the woodshed, a boy, Levi Lincoln, found a big chunk of something that he thought was a stone. But it glistened and sparkled so that he recognized it wasn't any ordinary stone, and carried it to his father. Mr. Flagg, in turn, became interested, and showed it to some of the engineers and other men whom he always has working for him. One of the engineers, after picking at it for a few moments, said: "Why, that's coal."

Mr. Flagg went to Clark university and submitted the chunk to some of the mineralogy experts there, and they, after a thorough analysis, confirmed the statement of the engineer that it was coal.

The ledge in which this find was made runs directly behind the house, not twenty feet from the back door. In fact, a part of it is under the woodshed. From the house it extends some 300 feet, cropping out above the ground here and there, until it apparently ends in the barnyard.

No sooner had the experts of Clark university declared that the specimen Mr. Flagg had shown them was coal than some of them went out to see the ledge, and, after making observations and drilling here and there, they told him that he certainly had a coal mine on his land. But what kind of coal it is Mr. Flagg doesn't know, or rather has forgotten.

"I don't remember what they called it," said he, "but it is very soft, and it burns just like tinder. Many a time the children go out there and dig pieces out and burn it. So far I have only done a little toward developing it, because, although the experts have said it was coal, I really don't take much stock in the idea that I have a coal mine.

"However, when I heard what those men said I decided to spend $300 investigating. Of course, $300 don't go far in mining, but that $300 I put in came so near knocking to pieces my house, that cost about $8,000 for me to put up, that I have never spent any more on it. But I reckon I shall try it again."

And so it is possible Mr. Flagg may have to add a fifth stone. This will contain a lump of coal.—Boston Herald.

He Couldn't Say a Word.

David Higgins is responsible for this one. In a Chicago hotel he pushed the button long and hard—the water ring. Ten minutes ticked by and no water. Another long, hard push; another ten minutes gone and no water. Another push and another wait. Mr. Higgins was just about to run down to the office when there was a knock at the door.

"Come in!" shouted the irate David.

A tall bellboy answered the door.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he said. "I thought I heard the bell. I was so interested in reading a paper that I forgot everything else."

"Reading a paper?"

"Yes, sir. Here it is. I was reading about 'His Last Dollar,' by David Higgins."

"Stung!" exclaimed Higgins, and taking a card from his pocket he wrote an order for two seats on the back, and handed it to the boy with the remark: "You win, sonny. The original bellboy in Noah's Ark worked that on the Son of Ham, and all of your tribe have repeated it on the fraternity of Hams ever since."

Billiards Ruin Maoris.

"The Maori children are often kept up all night billiard marking, and are therefore utterly unfit to come to school or to work when they do come."

This remarkable statement is made by Mr. W. Bird, inspector of native schools in New Zealand, in his annual report, which throws light on the extraordinary gambling propensities of the natives.

Billard tables, Mr. Bird declares, are to be seen in the gum fields, in the native settlements, and even on the roadside.

In one place, Mr. Bird declares several natives, after losing all their possessions, gambled away their crops, and when winter came were unable to supply either food or clothing to their children.—London Daily Express.

Miserable Luck.

"I was awfully exasperated yesterday," said Mrs. Flippendyke.

"What happened?"

"Why, you see, I had been owing Mrs. Dullson a call for months and months. Well, along in the afternoon I saw her starting away, all dressed up, and I thought to myself, 'Here's my chance.' So I hurried across the street to leave my card, and—and—"

"Did you find when you got there that you didn't have any?"

"No, it wasn't that. Just after I had pushed the bell button she came home, and, of course, there was nothing for me to do but go in."

American High in Sultan's Service.

Capt. Buckman, formerly connected with the Cramp Shipbuilding Company in Philadelphia, took the cruiser Medjidia to Constantinople after she had been built by the company named. Then he entered the service of the sultan and is now naval [illegible] with the rank of admiral [illegible] actual command of Turkey's [illegible]

A Heavy Load to Carry.

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. The blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, red blood, and we see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not head work, nor over physical exertion that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous habit-forming drugs.

A little book of extracts, from prominent medical authorities extolling every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will be mailed free to any address on request by postal card or letter. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Many years of active practice convinced Dr. Pierce of the value of many native roots as medicinal agents and he went to great expense, both in time and in money, to perfect his own peculiar processes for rendering them both efficient and safe for tonic, alterative and rebuilding agents.

The enormous popularity of "Golden Medical Discovery" is due both to its scientific compounding and to the actual medicinal value of its ingredients. The publication of the names of the ingredients on the wrapper of every bottle sold, gives full assurance of its non-alcoholic character and removes all objection to the use of an unknown or secret remedy. It is not a patent medicine nor a secret one either. This fact puts it in a class all by itself, bearing as it does upon every bottle wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in the full list of its ingredients.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures, weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver and biliousness, ulceration of stomach and bowles and all catarrhal affections no matter what parts or organs may be affected with it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little liver pills, first put up 40 years ago. They regulate and invigorate, stomach, liver and bowels. Much imitated but never equaled. Sugar-coated and easy to take as candy. One to three a dose.

Like a Gentleman.

"This novel says the heroine's face fell."

"What did the hero do then?"

"Picked it up, I s'pose."—Houston Chronicle.

A Linguist.

Beulah—Is George learning any foreign language?

Myrtle—Why, dear, he knows all the college yells.—Town Topics.

UNSIGHTLY BALD SPOT.

Caused by Sores on Neck—Merciless Itching for Two Years Made Him Wild—Another Cure by Cuticura.

"For two years my neck was covered with sores, the humor spreading to my hair, which fell out, leaving an unsightly bald spot, and the soreness, inflammation and merciless itching made me wild. Friends advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after a few applications the torment subsided, to my great joy. The sores soon disappeared, and my hair grew again, as thick and healthy as ever. I shall always recommend Cuticura. (Signed) H. J. Spalding, 104 W. 104th St., New York City."

Superlative.

"Your papa isn't as nice as my papa is."

"Hes 'nicer'n that; he's as nice as you think your papa is."—Fort Worth Record.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Literary Encouragement.

First Humorist—Does your wife laugh at your jokes?

Second Humorist—No. She only smiles pityingly.—Somerville Journal.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.
The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Newly Awakened Curiosity.

First Director—I wish they'd investigate this company.

Second Director—Why?

First Director—I'd like to find out something about it.—Puck.

Ask Your Druggist for Allen's Foot-Ease.

"I tried ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE recently and have just bought another supply. It has cured my corns, and the hot, burning and itching sensation in my feet which was almost unbearable, and I would not be without it now."—Mrs. W. J. Walker, Camden, N. J." Sold by all Druggists, 25c.

Just So.

"What becomes of a joke when it gets too old for the almanac?"

"The theatrical program gets it then."

"And from there it's but a step to the musical comedy, eh?"

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

The usual reason why a man can't mind his own business is because he has no business or no mind.

That the ability to keep a friend is of much more value than that required to gain one.

A girl seldom marries her ideal, which is one reason why there is so much happiness in the world.

DAIRY NOTES

Hands Off the Butter.

In many of our farm homes people work the butter with their hands. This method is, however, objected to by all scientific dairymen. In our best creameries the butter is never touched by the human hand. The cream is churned, the buttermilk rinsed off in the churn. It is then ladled out and put on the mechanical butter worker, where the wooden rollers go over it and where the salt is worked into it by the wooden rollers. It is rolled into balls by the machine and by wooden ladles is packed into tubs or pushed into molds that cut it into pound packages. The hand never touches it. The objection to the hand touching the butter is that moisture is always working out of the human body, and there is always effete matter with it. People that eat such butter, if they ever think of it at all, must object to the results. Also such handling is more than likely to add to the butter some form of vegetable life that may develop in the body of the butter. It is perfectly easy on the farm to wash the butter and work it without touching it with the hands. The milk can be drawn out of the churn, water poured in, the churn be given two or three turns to rinse out the buttermilk, and that drawn off. The butter may either be salted in the churn or placed on a butter worker and there salted. The wooden butter worker will cost but a few dollars and will last indefinitely. With it the butter can be worked in two or three minutes. In fact, it is only necessary to run the corrugated roller over the butter two or three times. It can then be packed into jars or can be packed into wooden molds holding exactly a pound. Even for use in the farm house, the consumers will feel much better if they know that the human hands have never touched the butter they are eating.

Alfalfa as a Source of Protein.

The cheapest source of protein east of the Rocky Mountains is alfalfa hay. Nothing has been found quite so economical as this feed. Wheat bran is an excellent source of protein, but since the demand is becoming so great in the East the price has advanced to such an extent that it makes it less profitable.

In southern Kansas and northern Oklahoma cottonseed meal is a very cheap source of protein for dairy cows. However, we do not like to feed too much cottonseed meal, as it does not have as good an effect upon the system of the cow as linseed meal or bran. Where alfalfa is not grown and clover is grown, clover is a very cheap source of protein.

One of the rations that we find gives the best results for winter feeding is good bright alfalfa hay of the second or third cutting 18 pounds, corn 8 pounds and bran 2 pounds. This is a ration for a thousand-pound cow giving 20 pounds of milk per day. The cost of such a ration with alfalfa hay at $4 per ton would be 3.6c, corn at 35c per bushel would be 4.5c, and two pounds of bran would be 1.4c, making a total of 9.5c per day. This is a very economical ration and will give good results if the cow has good milking capacity.

Oscar Erf,
Professor of Dairy Husbandry, Kansas Agricultural College.

The Dairy Bull.

The selection of the dairy bull is a matter that may well engage the best thought of our dairymen. The practice of using a bull of any kind of a pedigree, so long as he is of pure breed must be discontinued. There are scrubs among the pure-bred animals as well as among those of no breeding. We must know something about the parents of the dairy bull and if possible something about his brothers and sisters, as to their performances relative to milk and butter-fat production. We can hardly expect to make much progress in the raising of dairy calves of high ability to produce rich milk till we use all the information we can obtain as to the characteristics of the animals with which we are dealing.

In the past the dairy bull has been allowed to stand in a neighborhood as long as he could get calves, without much regard as to the quality of those calves. When a bull has served for five or six years it is not difficult to tell whether he is producing calves of value for the dairy or not. In spite of all we can say, the milk-producing power of the breed is as much tied up in the bull as in the cow. We must have good milk producers, and to get these good milk producers we must have calves from parents that are exponents of the milk-producing ability.—Lemuel James, Bond Co., Ill., in Farmers' Review.

Milk of the Camel.

The butter-fat that is in the milk of the camel has not the characteristic yellow color seen in the butter of the dairy cow. The camel's milk is distinguished by its remarkable whiteness, and the butter made from it is absolutely uncolored. A French scientist analyzed a number of samples of camel's milk and found them to analyze on the average: Total solids, 12.40; fat, 5.38; lactose, 3.26; casein, 2.98; ash, 0.7.

Do not forget that pruning is best done while the trees are dormant. Look after the matter now and take advantage of the warm days in winter.

LIVE STOCK

Winter Drinking Vessels.

Warm water will keep from freezing for a long time, if it is afforded some degree of protection. One plan, as illustrated in the Farm Journal, is shown in Fig. I. The cover of a grocery box is hinged at one side, and a circular piece cut from the other side. Freezing will be greatly prevented if a "nest" of chaff and hay is formed inside the box (into which set the water dish), and the cover be shut down when the warm water is put into the dish.

FIG. I.

Fig. II shows a drinking vessel, the kind generally used. In Fig. III "A" is the box; "B" the empty powder can; "C," small lamp or lantern.

FIG. II

This plan is simply a wooden box, large enough to permit an empty powder can to set inside of same—under a hole cut in the top of the box. Over the hole the drinking vessel containing the water for the fowls is set.

In the bottom of the powder can punch several small holes for ventilation, and on cold days place a small lamp or lantern in the can. The heat from the lamp keeps the water only slightly warm. A small brass lantern, which can be purchased for about twenty cents at almost any hardware store, would be best for this use.

FIG. III.

Handling Vicious Bulls.

Although all bulls may not be vicious, they all should be watched continually and not allowed to get the least advantage of a man. I have always found it best to keep a bull tied up some of the time. Then while one is caring for him, leading him to water, etc., he is kept under control. He should not be abused but always be severe enough with him to make him understand that things must go your way. Although he may appear gentle he should by all means have a ring in his nose and a short, tough pole with a snap on the end should be used to lead him, as there is always a first time for all bulls to begin their angry attacks and his first time may be your last. If he is brought thoroughly under submission when he is being handled, he is not liable to become unruly when turned out. After a bull has become vicious and is dangerous, it is a good plan to suspend a light board or piece of sole leather from his horns over his face. It should be about fourteen inches wide and should come down nearly to his nostrils. This will not interfere with his feeding but as he cannot see in front of him, he will not attack any animal or person. I think a bull is much safer this way than when dehorned, as a dehorned animal can do considerable damage if he is vicious and without the horns you cannot partially blindfold as I recommend.—J. U. Fackler, Johnson Co., Iowa, in Farmers' Review.

The Coach Horse on the Farm.

The farmer has no use for the coach horse other than to produce him and to bring him to an age when he can be advantageously sold to the man in the city that will pay a large price for him. The horse suitable for a coacher is not the horse that is undersized and well suited to work on the public road. He must have size and strength and must inherit style. A horse that is born with an inheritance of clumsiness cannot be made into an animal that will suit the people in the city, all of whom want animals that will show style. The coach horse is not the same as the farm horse, which is mainly for expending muscular force on the tasks on the farm. Therefore the coach horse cannot be produced by using the common farm horse for foundation. A good mare must be bred to some stallion that is essentially a coacher. For some years before passing out of the hands of the farmer the coach horse will do good work on the farm, being especially valuable on the highway.

Improving Sheep.

Within twenty-five years, there has been a great change in the United States in the character of the sheep produced on our farms. There has been a general advance along the line of better quality. This has been done in the past, and will be done in the future by culling out the poor sheep. The man that will continually select for sale the poorest of his flock, will be continually improving it. He may at first have difficulty in selling these culls, but as time goes on the quality of the culls themselves will be so improved that they will sell readily on the market, no matter for what purpose they are purchased. The man that sells off the best of his sheep and keeps the poorest, thereby renders improvement impossible.

Greasing the Griddle.

Housekeepers may be glad to know that, instead of lard or bacon-rind, a turnip cut in half and the griddle thoroughly rubbed with the raw side, will answer the purpose of greasing, fry the cakes a nice rich brown, and there will be no sticking, and no odor or taste of the turnip, says the Woman's Home Companion. There is no smoke and mess, as when lard is used, nor is the nice flavor of the buckwheat destroyed, as by the use of grease.

Scald the churn so thoroughly that it will be always sweet and clean.

AUTOMOBILING BAD FOR FIGURE

Makes Women Sluggish and Apt to Take on Fat.

There used to be no greater automobile enthusiast than Baroness von Hengelmuller, wife of the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, but nobody ever sees her in a "chug-chug cart" these days. It is hinted the baroness believes there is nothing so injurious to the complexion, and even to the figure, as overindulgence in auto driving. She found that speeding in the open air gave a person an inordinate appetite, and then made one feel drowsy. In fact, it meant no exercise and far too much eating and sleeping. As a result the waist got out of the accepted lines and the eyes grew lusterless. On the whole, the baroness has decided that if one wishes to remain beautiful, walking or riding is a better form of locomotion. Her ideas are beginning to be accepted by women, who formerly spent a dozen hours a day in their machines.—New York Press.

For the Rural Reader.

A few years ago, while I was living in Lebanon, N. H., there was a certain Mr. Bagley there who was noted for trying to use big words, and also for getting his remarks somewhat twisted. On a certain occasion he had been at a farmers' meeting at Hanover and, while returning, one of his neighbors drove up behind him and the conversation turned on crops.

"His neighbor asked: "How is your hay crop this season?"

Bagley replied: "Well, my hay crop is rather short, but I shall get my cows through the winter all right, for I shall have two solos full of mucilage."—Boston Herald.

Facts About Marriage Rite.

The historical facts concerning marriage as an institution are probably only vaguely known to the majority of people, most of whom would doubtless be surprised to learn that the institution, as we know it to-day, is less than 500 years old. Histories of the marriage ceremony show that it was not solemnized in church as a religious rite until the time of Pope Innocent III., A. D. 1192, and was not considered a sacrament until 1442.—Harper's Weekly.

One on the Conductor.

An Irishman boarded a street car and handed the conductor a rather dilapidated looking coin in payment of his fare. The conductor looked at the coin critically and handed it back. "That's tin," he said.

"Sure, I thought it was a folve," answered the Irishman, complacently, as he put the piece back in his pocket and produced a nickel.—Lippincott's.

He Doesn't Curse Now.

Washington, Kans., Dec. 25 (Special)—Jesse E. Mitchell is a telephone lineman, and also a well known resident here. Everybody acquainted with Mr. Mitchell knows that he was a man who held very positive views about Patent Medicine. Hear what he says now:

"I used to curse all kinds of Patent Medicines, for they never did me any good, but Dodd's Kidney Pills have caused me to change my mind. For twelve years I suffered from Kidney Trouble. There was a hurting across my back that made it positive agony to stoop, and as I am in a stooping position nearly all day, you can imagine how I suffered. After a day's work that any man would think nothing of, I would be tired and worn out. In fact, I was always tired. I began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and after taking four boxes I feel like a new man, I am as fresh at night as when I begin work in the morning. I have no pain in my back now and I am stronger than ever."

And Then He Went.

Little Brother (to sister who is sitting with her fiance)—Do you know what I think?

Sister—No; what is it?

"I think if I were not in the room Mr. Jones would kiss you."

"You impudent boy. Leave the room instantly!"—Tales from the German.

Shy.

"I hear Bumps has given $1,000 to the conscience fund."

"Can't be true."

"Why?"

"Bumps never had $1,000 worth of conscience."—Detroit Free Press.

Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children. Successfully used by Mother Gray, nurse in the Children's Home in New York, cure Constipation, Feverishness, Bad Stomach, Teething Disorders, move and regulate the Bowels and Destroy Worms. Over 30,000 testimonials. At all Druggists, 25c. Sample FREE. Address A. S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N.Y.

Should Have Known Us.

"They say Prince Louis objects to newspaper notoriety," said the first New Yorker.

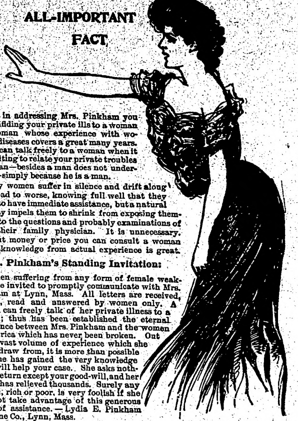
"I say," said the second, "then what in the world did he come over here for?"—Detroit Free Press.

DR. J. H. RINDLAUB, (Specialist)
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Fargo, N. D.

At the Club.

Watkyns—What a charming fellow Scribbler is! He is as good natured as the day is long.

Wylkyns—Well, perhaps he is, but you just ought to hear him howl and swear when he is at work. He is a night editor, you know.—Somerville Journal.



STOP! WOMEN,

AND CONSIDER THE
ALL-IMPORTANT
FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with woman's diseases covers a great many years.

You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man—besides a man does not understand—simply because he is a man.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Following we publish two letters from a woman who accepted this invitation. Note the result.

First letter.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I have suffered something terrible every month with my periods. The pains are excruciating and I can hardly stand them. My doctor says I have ovarian and womb trouble, and I must go through an operation if I want to get well. I do not want to submit to it if I can possibly help it. Please tell me what to do. I hope you can relieve me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 59th and E. Capitol Sts., Benning P.O., Washington, D.C.

Second letter.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"After following carefully your advice, and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very anxious to send you my testimonial, that others may know their value and what you have done for me.

"As you know, I wrote you that my doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I then wrote you, telling you my ailments. I followed your advice and am entirely well. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I owe my life to you and to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wish every suffering woman would read this testimonial and realize the value of writing to you and your remedy."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 59th and E. Capitol Streets, Benning P. O., Washington, D. C.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women whose testimony is so unquestionable, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

His Natural Error.

"Why are you reading that old patent office report?"

"Patent office report?"

"That's what."

"Dang it all. I hadn't looked at the title. Picked it up and got interested. I thought it was something by Henry James.—Houston Chronicle.

Of Course.

"There's a scandalous story about her in this morning's Daily Howler."

'But you can't believe anything you read in that paper."

"I can if I want to."—Philadelphia Press.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Poor Old Chaunce.

"I see that Chauncey M. Depew is going to call his new country place 'The Oaks.'"

"Inappropriate."

"What name would you suggest?"

"'The Chestnuts.'"—Houston Chronicle.

Impressed Him.

"Blank has just been showing me his new auto. Fine machine, isn't it?"

"Yes. What do you think is its strongest feature?"

"The odor."—Detroit Free Press.

Merely because a man talks like a book it is not to be assumed that he may be shut up as easily as one.

When charity was invented the returning of conscience money was made easy.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES. Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

Some women will find heaven a very dismal place if it has no shop windows.

Little Jack Horner Revised.

Little Jack Horner sat in a corner
Eating his Christmas pie;
For Jack wasn't able to get to the table
Along with the rest, that's why.
—Woman's Companion.

Self-Admiration.

Miss Olde—I never had so many beaux as you girls, but I certainly had one admirer for years.

Miss Tabasco—Indeed, and do you stand before the mirror every day?—Chicago News.

FITS permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for FREE $2.00 trial bottle and treatise. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Sayings of the Optimist.

A man always with his eyes on the ground bumps his head; a man with his nose always in the air stubs his toe.

When he can wear his left shoe on his right foot, your pessimist will be pleased.

Talk is not always cheap.—American Magazine.

A Physical Impossibility.

"Talking about a code of honor! Why, a fellow can't get a square deal in those academy fights."

"Why not?"

"Because they fight 'em in rounds."—Baltimore American.

Fargo Tannery Receives hides and furs for tanning to harness leather and robes. Robes lined. Hides bought. Leather and robes for sale. Write for price list and tags. Andrew Monson, Fargo, N. D.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

N. D. N. U. —NO. 52— 1905.

THE WHOLE LOT

If we don't heed prevention, we will need a cure. The Old-Monk-Cure

St. Jacobs Oil

is ready always for all forms of muscular aches or pains, from

LUMBAGO RHEUMATISM
STIFF NECK SPRAIN

IT CURES ALIKE THE WHOLE LOT.

PRICE 25 Cts.

TO CURE THE GRIP IN ONE DAY ANTI-GRIPINE

ANTI-GRIPINE

IS GUARANTEED TO CURE GRIP, BAD COLD, HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA.

[illegible] F. W. Diemer, M.D., [illegible] Springfield, Mo.

ESTABLISHED 1879.

Minneapolis WOODWARD & CO., GRAIN COMMISSION Duluth

ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY EXECUTED IN ALL MARKETS.

CALUMET
Baking Powder

complies with the pure food laws of all states. Food prepared with it is free from Rochelle salts, lime, alum and ammonia.

Trust Baking Powders sell for 45 or 50 cents per pound and may be identified by this exorbitant price. They are a menace to public health, as food prepared from them contains large quantities of Rochelle salts, a dangerous cathartic drug.

Red Lake Courier.

Printed Every Thursday Evening at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

CARL M. BORGEN, EDITOR

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

The Lindeke boom for governor did not shake the rafters, anyway.

With John Sharp Williams we can hope your Christmas was not so merry as to deprive you of a happy New Year.

The president's postmaster order seems to be as warmly commended by the "ins" as it is condemned by the "outs." Funny isn't it?

The Northfield News is offering a chromo to the first gentleman to define the position of the Minnesota senators on she railroad rate question.

John R. Walsh is another of those Democrats who believed in saving the country by contributing other people's money to the Republican campaign fund.

Northern Minnesota needs legislators pledged to support of liberal drainageappropriations. But, more than that, it needs legislators who are not pledged to the corporations.

President Roosevelt is willing to concede that the Panama canal is a big contract. He is also willing to divide with congress responsibility for its construction. The Panama incident is where the president's strenuosity and impetuosity failed to make good.

An exchange in speaking of a deceased citizen said: "We knew him as old ten per cent—the more he made the less he spent—the more he got the more he lent—he's dead—we don't know where he went—but if his soul to heaven was sent—he'll own the harps and charge 'em rent."

The Jefferson club of Minneapolis will give a banquet on the evening of January 8. Louis F. Post, editor of the Public, Chicago, will be the speaker of the evening. Governor Johnson, Insurance Commissioner O'Brien, Frank D. Larrabee and other notable Minnesota democrats are also on the program.

The drainage cause needs assistance and constant support. Proper ditching will reclain a vast empire in Northern Minnesota, but the work is too big and too expensive for the farmers alone to bear all of the cost. If the state and the national government will assist to the extent of bearing the expense of draining their own lands then we can hope for the "consumnation devoutly to be wished."

Congressman Steenerson is said to be "up in arms" against the order of President Roosevelt placing third-class postmasters under civil service. Whatever may be the desire of congressmen to reward their faithful followers with postoffice appointments, after all the interest of the general public is of larger importance, and the new order will be hailed with pleasure by the average citizen. If a postmaster is efficient, popular and upright there could be no reason for his removal other than political. And the public is more interested in good service than in the political notives which prompt appointments or govern the self-interest of congressman. As a matter of fact congressmen ought to be glad to be relieved of the burden of making petty appointments, and doubtless deep down in their hearts most of them are.

It seems that the Minnesota state prison twine plant is in danger of being strangled by the harvester octopus. The following from St. Paul will interest those of our farmers who have profited by the use of prison twine: "Plans of the International Harvester company to fight the state prison twine plant are approaching completion. It is given out that the trust interests have bought the plant of the Minnie Harvester company in St. Paul, which has been idle the past year, and will convert it into a factory for making flax twine. The plan is to make it a Minnesota property, buying the flax only from Minnesota farmers and selling the product only in this state, where the prison twine plant has been a serious thorn in the flesh. Prices will be made lower than the sisal and manilla twine sold by the prison and the trust will make a big effort to kill the business of the state plant and remove it from the field." Well, twine will be cheap for a few years while the killing is going on anyway, and the stronger the state plant is supported the longer the time will be. Farmers should act accordingly.

Wiley Tindolph, the Thief River land man, attended the National conference of immigration, which was held under the auspices of the National Civic federation in New York city, December 6, 7 and 8, in Madison Square Garden concert hall. Mr. Tindolph was appointed a delegate by Governor Johnson, and gives the COURIER an account of the meeting.

Seven Minnesota men attended as delegates, one of these, Archbishop Ireland, being an officer. The others are W. H. Williams, R. E. Burbridge and W. D. Washburn, Jr., Minneapolis; John E. Burchard and Thomas Cochrane, St. Paul; Wiley Tindolph, Thief River Falls.

Mr. Washburn was elected chairman of the Minnesota delegation and took a prominent part in the proceedings. He was also a member of the resolution committee. Mr. Cochrane of St. Paul was elected chairman of the Minnesota delegation. Wiley Tindolph was made a member of the committee on organization.

Immigration in its various phases was the only question considered. Among the capitalists present and taking part were Andrew Carnegie, Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard university; August Belmont, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company of New York, and many others.

Messrs. Carnegie and Eliot were among those who stood for unrestricted immigration. Strange as it may seem, Mr. Belmont was on the other side, and his address before the conference was regarded as one of the best heard. Unrestricted imnigiation was decidedly unpopular with the great majority of the delegates, and action taken indicates that the conference is the begining of a movement of great possibilities. Statistics were presented by the New York Tailor's union showing that out of 1,200,000 persons landed at Ellis island last year, 18,000 were tailors, for the reason that these 18,000 had not money enough to take them away from New York. The great number of workmen in this branch, many of whom are practically stranded when they arrive in this country, is responsible for the sweatshop conditions prevaling in New York, which is known to be about the worst place in the world for tailors.

Distribution of immigrants occupied some of the attention of the delegates. At present there is no systematic plan in effect to induce newcomers to go to places where there might be a demand for their services. The result is that certain sections, easily accessible from the seacoast, are glutted with all kinds of labor. Much disappointment was felt that John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, was unable to be present. His organization, composed largely of foreigners, has had more experience in solving questions in connection with the handling of foreigners than any other labor organization. The miners seem to be able to grapple with the immigration problem so far as it relates to them.

A feature of the conference was a visit to Ellis Island, where the delegates were entertained at luncheon. Several steamships reached the port at that time and afforded them an opportunity of witnessing the arrival, inspection and disposition of several thousand immigrants.

Among the recommendations the conference will take to congress will be that inspection be made in the country from which the immigrant comes, under the supervision of the United States consul and a commission appointed for that purpose. It is held that proof of the persons character and financial standing can be more easily obtained before starting upon a journey to a foreign country. This system, its advocates think, will go far toward aiding the government in keeping out criminals, papers and all objectionable subjects. The conference ask that the laws regulating Chinese and Japanese labor be rigidly enforced, particularly that point of the law which allows merchants and students admission into the United States so easily. It is claimed that under cover of this law many enter each year and remain.

Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews, was chairman of the committee on resolutions.

Doctors Could Not Help Her

"I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. Raymond Conner of Shelton Wash., "and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and the very first dose gave me relief and I am now cured. I cannot say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure." It makes the diseased kidneys sound so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood. Unless they do this, good health is impossible. Soldat W. A. Schreiter.

$40 FOR THE ROUND TRIP:

To Eastern Canada and Return.

A rate of $40.00 for the round trip has been made by the Great Northern Railway to Montreal and points west thereof in Ontario. These tickets will be on sale from December 4th to 31st inclusive and will be good for three months. Liberal stopover privileges will be allowed going and returning, giving you an opportunity of visiting many points enroute, making your holiday outing a pleasurable one. See your local agent for full information.

ASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Ayer's
This falling of your hair! Stop it, or you will soon be bald. Give your hair some Ayer's Hair Vigor. The falling will stop, the hair will grow; and the scalp will be clean and healthy. Why be satisfied with poor hair when you can make it rich?
Hair Vigor
"My hair nearly all came out. I then tried Ayer's Hair Vigor and only one bottle stopped the falling. New hair came in real thick and just a little curly."—MRS. L. M. SMITH, Saratoga, N. Y.
$1.00 a bottle. All druggists. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.
for Thick Hair

Business Cards.

N. H. WATSON, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL, CANADA.
Office over First State Bank.

DR. F. F. FLETCHER
DENTIST
At Lambert third Monday of each month.
Office over O'Brien's Hardware Store.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON,
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city. Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City Attorney.
Red Lake Falls, - Minnesota.

GERMO & FARLEY
Attorneys
Law, Loans, Collections, Insurance
Office over Red Lake Falls Bank, Red Lake Falls.

St. Benedict's Academy.......
ST. Joseph, Stearns Co., Minn.
A School for Girls with which is connected a boarding school for Little Boys. For catalogue apply to the DIRECTRESS.

DR. J. E. ARGUE,
DENTIST
At St. Hilaire on the 3rd and 4th of every month.
OFFICE IN STEINERT BLOCK.

Up-to-Date Barber Shop and Bath Rooms
HENRY KAUFER, Prop
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

J. C. WILKINSON,
Physician and Surgeon
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
OFFICE OVER REICHERT'S DRUG STORE
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS
WITH Dr. King's New Discovery
FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS
Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.
S[illegible] Quickest Cure for all [illegible] and LUNG TROUB- [illegible] NEY BACK.

SEED TIME
The experienced farmer has learned that some grains require far different soil than others; some crops need different handling than others. He knows that a great deal depends upon right planting at the right time, and that the soil must be kept enriched. No use of complaining in summer about a mistake made in the spring. Decide before the seed is planted.
The best time to remedy wasting conditions in the human body is before the evil is too deep rooted. At the first evidence of loss of flesh should be taken immediately. There is nothing that will repair wasted tissue more quickly or replace lost flesh more abundantly than Scott's Emulsion. It nourishes and builds up the body when ordinary foods absolutely fail.
Scott's Emulsion
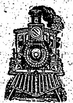
We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.
SCOTT & BOWNE
CHEMISTS
409 Pearl Street
NEW YORK
50c. and $1.
All druggists

...A PEEK IN ADVANCE...
at the best things for Christmas
It will give you new ideas.......
..CHARMING GIFTS..
and plenty of them ready and waiting your inspection ....
Watches, Clocks, Silverwore, Cut Glass
JEWELRY
Rings, Brooches, Stick pins, Cuff Buttons, Chains, Lockets, Bracelets, Hat Pins
HENRY W. ANDERSON, JEWELER

City Meat Market
GEO. L. SAUER, Proprietor
Cash Paid for Hides and Furs
MEATS POULTRY FISH GAME
Special Attention Given to Sausage Making
RED LAKE FALLS - - - - MINNESOTA

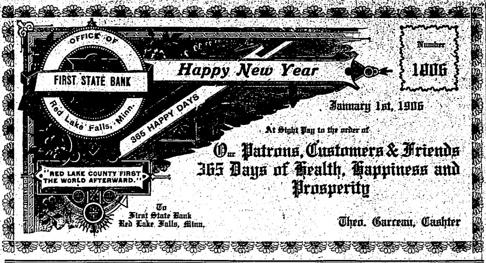
SPECIAL PRICES
On
HEATING STOVES FOR 30 DAYS.
For Sale by O'BRIEN BROTHERS
Popular Hardware Dealers
RED LAKE FALLS, - MINNESOTA



Earn from $80 to $125 per month
WE WANT YOUNG MEN for Firemen and Breakmen experience unnecessary. High Wages, Promotion. Positions secured as soon as competent. Cut out Coupon and send with stanp for full particulars to-day
National Railway Training School
210 Boston Block
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
Name............ Town............ State............ R.F.D.No............ Age............

THE DEAF HEAR
Remarkable Results Obtained From Use Of Strange, Newly Discovered Medicine.
There can no longer remain any doubt that this new remedy known as Cooper's New Discovery is truly a marvel in medicine.
So wonderfully and miraculously does this strange medicine effect disease that it seems beyond our comprehension. Yet, what we see with our own eyes and hear with our own ears we are forced to believe. Catarrh, Deafness, Stomach and Kidney Troubles, Blood Diseases and Paralysis quickly disappear, as has been repeatedly proved, where the new medicine is used.
In some mysterious manner it transforms poor, poisoned or diseased blood into rich, pure vital fluid and sends it rushing through the body to nourish and strengthen every part. Its action is immediate and it is the rapidity and completeness and permanency of its effect that is so puzzling medical men.
Miss. M. A. Dodge, a stenographer of 1009 3rd Ave., S. Minneapolis, who had to give up her position on account of deafness tells a remarkable story of her experience with the new remedy.
"I was so deaf that it was impossible for me to retain my position and had almost given up hopes of finding any relief. After one weeks treatment with Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief I am wonderfully improved, am confident my hearing will soone be entirely restored and am indeed grateful for the benefit I have received."
Cooper's New Discovery, and Cooper's Quick Relief, the assistant remedy which is used in connection costs one dollar per bottle and fifty cents per bottle respectively and can only be obtained from
W. A. Schreiter

You Are Welcome At The
MERCHANTS STATE BANK
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
Even if you have to use most of your money from week to week and month to month, pay it through this bank.
Capital and Surplus $30,000.00
We will loan you money on personal security. We will make farm loans at LOWEST RATES. We will take your money on deposit and pay you 5 per cent per annum. In our savings department we pay 5 per cent on deposits of $1.00 and up. Interest computed May and November each year.
A. P. TOUPIN, Pres. THEO. LABISSONAIRE, Vice Pres. [illegible]
[illegible], Asst. Cashier



OFFICE OF
FIRST STATE BANK
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
365 HAPPY DAYS
"RED LAKE COUNTY FIRST THE WORLD AFTERWARD."

Happy New Year

Number 1906

January 1st, 1906

At Sight Pay to the order of

Our Patrons, Customers & Friends
365 Days of Health, Happiness and Prosperity

To
First State Bank
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Theo. Garreau, Cashier

Today's Local Markets.

Wheat No. 1 Hard		71½
" " 1 Northern		71
" " 2 "		68½
" " 3 "		65½
" " 4 "		62½
" " Rejected		59½
Flax No. 1		92
" No. 2		90
" no grade		84
Barley from		22-31
Oats		25
Hay		$4.50
Bran		$15.00
Shorts		$16.00
Mascot Flour		$2.55
Wood, poplar		$3.00 to $3.50
Butter 20c.	Eggs 25c.

NOTES IN MINOR CHORD.

Band Concert Friday Evening.

J. C. Matthews was in from Dorothy Wednesday.

John Deutchman transacted business at Grand Forks Wednesday.

Mrs. Zaiser left for Minneapolis Saturday to visit relatives for a short period.

Dr. Tupper one of the good fellows and staunch democrats spent last night in the city.

Duluth man Stevenson of Thief River Falls spent last night in the city calling on his customers.

Asst Cashier, J. L. Hanson, of the First State Bank, visited over Sunday with friends at Crookston.

Chas. Martell of Gentilly is in the city to day looking after the affairs of his brother, the late Peter Martell.

Little Ed Bray threw the doors of his new and popular saloon on south main street open to the public early this week.

Miss Maggie Rose resigned her position in the Dugdale school and accepted a position in the office of Register of Deeds Jeffers.

Leland Healy our popular North Side Principal, is not enjoying his two weeks vacation owing to the fact that he is confined to the home with a mild attack of scarlet fever. He is getting along as nicely as can be expected.

The Big Store is paying 25c per dozen for eggs.

A. M. Robillard went to Grand Forks Wednesday.

Go to Spillane's for your Christmas candies. A select line is carried.

Omar Hall, departed Monday for Greenbush to relieve the station agent there for a short period.

Miss Rose Dubuque, of Crookston, arrived here Monday to spend Christmas with friends and relatives.

Miss Maude Findeisen, a pupil in the Winona Normal school arrived last week to spend the holidays with relatives.

Miss Marie Langois who is attending the Queen City Business College at Crookston arrived last week to visit with friends and relatives.

Ed. Jeffers came down from Northhome Saturday and proceeded on the evening train for Fergus Falls where he will spend the week visiting relatives.

Dr. V. Pleth was a professional visitor here Monday. He reports himself as being well pleased with the present condition of our popular townsman, Mr. A. G. Groshong.

John Kehoe came down from Middle River where he has charge of the G. N. section, Friday being called here by the serious illness of his wife who was visiting with Con Kehoe.

The merchants all report a splendid holiday trade. Not strange when one considers the large and varied assortment of goods they carry which insures buyers a careful and judicicus selection.

Frank Brouillet is up and attending to duties again at the Big Store. Frank says there was just one thing in the line of infant ailments, he forgot to have in his early youth and it finally found him, mumps.

Misses Eliza Trudo, Bertha Norby and Edna Foot teachers of the grammar, intermediate and primary departments, respectively; in the Lafayette school departed for their homes last week. The two former at Detroit and the latter at Crookston.

Band Concert Friday evening of this week.

Billie Scherner transacted busi at Greenbush Wednesday.

Chas. Moller the Terrebonne ped agogue is spending Christmas vacation in the city,

Shorty Brunelle, who is employed as harness maker at Crookston spent the holidays with friends here.

Try an "I Lead" cigar, only 5c, guaranteed to give satisfaction; if you want something better smoke a "B. B."

Norman Schreiter, attending the State University, came up Saturday and is spending the holidays with the folks at home.

Math Barzen of the Hanson & Barzen Milling Co of Thief River Falls was in town transacting business with Leo Steinert.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

The Royal Neighbors will hold their regular meeting at the Woodmen hall tomorrow (Friday) evening at 7 o'clock sharp instead of the usual hour owing to the band concert.

Miss Alvina Lizotte who has been employed as Deputy Register of Deeds for the past three years has resigned her position and will spend the remainder of the winter with her parents in Louisville.

Albert Power of Crookston a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Power came up Monday on the Great Northern and made the drive across in order to eat christmas turkey with the old folks at home at their farm near Wylie.

Genial Harry Ives of St. Hilaire went back on the old town and ate Christmas turkey at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Pirath. He was an out bound passenger that same evening for the Twin Cities on a business mission.

Big Bill Ittner, of the State "U," is home for the holiday vacation. He certainly made good on the gridiron the past season and the name of Ittner will be the slogan for the "U" football boys for years to come. He reports himself as well pleased with the studies at the university.

Carl M. Borgen, editor of the COURIER, spent Christmas with his family at Brandon. He will likely remain there long enough to pack his household goods and bring his family back with him. They will occupy the Hatton home. We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Borgen to our city and trust they will be with us for years to come.

The basket social in Dist. No. 88, five miles northeast of the city, Tuesday evening was a gratifying success. The net proceeds were $38.82 which will go towards the purchase of a library for the school. Miss Bridgetta Connaughty, teacher. Over seventy couple were present from this city and every one reports a most excellent time.

Trackless Trolleys Economical

The reports of the Berlin General Electric company on the operation of a trackless trolley system prove that this method is much cheaper than the usual one. Throughout the rural districts the trackless trolley can be operated to advantage and with the advantage that it can be built in almost no time. With tracks, or without, we can still be contented and happy if we have golden grain belt beer, the great health tonic and table beverage. If you have no case at home, there's no time like the present to order. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

The M. B. A. socialed at their hall last evening.

The Band Concert Friday evening will be fully up to the standard.

P. O. Floan, wife and two daughters spent Wednesday with friends at Wylie.

Arthur Holberg arrived Monday from Grand Forks to spend the holidays with his brothers.

C. W. Cress is confined to his home by an attack of pneumonia. His condition is serious.

Andrew Wello one of Rockbury's most prominent farmers drove down early this morning on business.

Mrs. Adam Schmidt returned to Grand Forks after attending the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Fred Schmidt.

Roll and Rainy Besse, of the University of North Dakota, spent from Tuesday until Friday with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kaufer spent christmas at the home of their daughter Mrs. Wm Murphy at Thief River Falls.

Mine Host Kreuger and wife were entertained at Christmas dinner at the home of the latters parents in Polk Center township.

C. Shaeffer of Duluth, travelling passenger agent for the Duluth South Shore was in the city Wednesday attending to business for his company.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church had a sleigh ride party Wednesday night to C. M. Nauman's where they were furnished with a bounteous supper.

Miss Etta Zaiser, of Red Lake Falls, passed through the city yesterday morning enroute home for the holidays. While here Miss Zaiser was the guest of Miss Hillman. —Crookston Times.

'T will be well for all notary publics to bear in mind that the new law compelling them to show on each acknowledgment taken the date of the expiration of their commission goes into effect Janury 1st.

Aug. Lindberg chairman of the town of Numedahl missed the train at Theif River Falls last night but by means of horse flesh he was enabled to get here in time for the organization of the election board.

Atty. E. M. Stanton of the upper Falls is in the city today on business before the probate court in connection with the estate of Peter Martinson the victim of the tragedy on the reservation a few weeks ago.

Miss Lulu Fletcher, of Red Lake Falls, one of the prominent young ladies of that place, who has taught school at Ely during the past year, passed through the city yesterday morning enroute home for the holidays.—Crookston Times.

You Must Hurry

if you wish to get some of the goods from our holiday stock. The best things are being picked every day. We will put aside anything you will select and hold it until you call for it or deliver it to your order. This week we have received in Doilies, Handkerchiefs. Center pieces, Turn over Collars, etc. See the most beautiful line of goods ever exhibited in the city.

Beautiful Hand Work

Why not give your husband or son a
SUIT OR OVERCOAT
for a Christmas Preset?
You can pick something nobby out of our line and save enough to buy many other things. TRY US.

Our 5-10-15 and 25c Counters
still have lots of good things to sell. This makes buying easy for you. Every article a money saver.

We wish you all a Merry Christmas
Yours to please

The Big Store
Theo. LaBissoneire, Prop.

Mrs. Eli Hanson spent the holidays with her parents at Fertile.

Carl E. Peterson the COURIER foreman, spent Christmas with a brother at Middle River.

Prop. Barholz of the hotel at Fertile passed through here Monday enroute to St. Hilaire.

When you want a smoke call for a La Columbia. It has the quality and satisfies. Sold by dealers.

Miss Grace Greene, who has been visiting with friends in the city for a few days departed for her nome at Equality.

C. A. Lindquist of Polk Center was down from that town today having a look at the Commissioner Election board.

"Samuel Smiles," that's the cigar that makes you smile. Call for it, your dealear keeps it, and you are sure of a good smoke.

Mrs. A. L. Reichert and children are spending the holidays with a sister, Mrs. John McIntyre at Fargo. They expect to return Saturday of this week.

Jos. Morin, son of Aug Morin, who has been employed at Culberson, Mont., for the past five years is in the city spending the holidays with his parents.

Chan Fuller bookkeeper for the Thief River Falls Lumber Co and well known here shook hands with friends here this morning while enroute home from Winnepeg.

Miss Marie Barret of Crookston spent Christmas here with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Finsand were Christmas visitors with friedds at Thief River Falls.

Banard Kokey arrived Saturday from Ulen and remained as a guest of Joe Salley until Tuesday.

Miss Lulu Fletcher, teacher in the Ely, Minn., schools is spending her holiday vacation with relatives.

Fred Richards, teacher of the Dorothy school, visited with relatives and friends a few days during the holiday vacation.

We are in receipt of a very choice line of fresh cookies. They are the best on the market.

—J, R. & R. Fortier.

Miss Sadie Power arrived here Saturday from Langdon, N. Dak., and departed the same day for Wylie to be at home during the holidays.

Manager Doran of the Thief River Falls lumber company's yard here is taking a well earned vacation and is visiting old friends and relatives in Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pheilen of Drayton, North Dakota, arrived on Mondays Great Northern to spend the holidays with the latters sister, Mrs. Theo. LaBissoniere.

Knute Bjorge of Thief River Falls came down Tuesday and will have charge of the Thief River Falls lumber company's yard here during the absence of manager Doran.

A Good Stove Cheap

is what you can truthfully say about a WILSON AIR-TIGHT HEATER..

All WILSON HEATERS are made of POLISHED STEEL and are lined all the way to the top with heavy sheet steel. They have cast iron lids, cast iron pipe collars and that outside pipe draft that you have heard so much about. A Wilson, if taken good care of, will last seven or eight years, and you can buy one large enough for any ordinary-sized room for $6.50.

"Salamander" Air Tights

from $2.25 up. We are exclusive agents for the

Beckwith Round Oak Stoves and the Radiant Home Base Burners

Would be pleased to show you our line.

FRANK E. HUNT
Established 1878 Gen'l Hardware

We wish our customers and friends

A Happy and Prosperous New Year

GARCEAU & ZAISER, Red Lake Falls

THE COURIER

CARL M. BORGEN, Editor.

Red Lake Falls, Minn

Among the "best books of the month" the pocket book always holds a leading place.

The average Russian begins to class manifestoes and ukases with gold-brick circulars.

Chicago clubwomen have 8 3-10 children apiece. On the average, of course; on the average.

To Mark Twain, whose own life is his greatest work: The longer it lasts the better it becomes.

Jan Kubelik, the violinist, wears a costly muff. The ladies will be kissing him if he doesn't watch out.

"Honest Poverty," says Uncle Andrew Carnegie, "should never be abolished." It seldom is, except by death.

Four workmen in the car shops at Pullman make from $40 to $60 a day, but the chances are they live only a few days.

Three Korean statesmen committed suicide, having discovered that they were statesmen out of jobs since Japan moved in.

A new novel is entitled "The Heart of Lady Anne." It will be followed in due time, presumably, by "The Lungs of Lady Lucile."

"Everything is possible if you have one person to believe in you," says Ian Maclaren. Especially if the one person is a publisher.

A stranger in Chicago had his pocket picked while at prayer in church. In Chicago, evidently, it is necessary to watch as well as pray.

Troubles strengthen our hearts as exercise strengthens our muscles. The easy life is a drifting one that takes us no place in particular.

China thinks the reasonableness of its views on certain questions will be clearer to the powers when it has an army of 800,000 men fully established

England is running a serious risk in defying the tobacco trust. The trust may take a notion to buy an island and set up an opposition to England.

The whisky trust has been sued by the sugar trust, and the only thing needed to make the legal cocktail complete is to have the lemon trust intervene.

A python in Cincinnati squeezed its keeper nearly to death. If the keeper concludes to resign, there are plenty of young ladies who will be glad of the job.

That assay officer out in Seattle who swindled the government by mixing black sand with the gold dust took mighty long chances. But he had plenty of sand.

A dancer in one of the musical comedies has had her feet heavily insured. What's the matter with her— But she probably has reasons for believing they are all right.

A denizen of a dry town went to a wet town for a little diversion, and taking on too much of it, he was arrested, and the magistrate as a punishment, sent him back home.

From France comes the dreadful warning that next season motor cars that travel two miles a minute will be seen in America. Let us begin right now to get out of the way.

The London Times says the liberal premier has no reserve of enthusiasm to draw upon. It forgets the office-seekers. Till the places are filled their enthusiasm will be unbounded.

A professor at the University of California has just declared to his class in ethics that animals are immortal, and certainly experience with some cats goes to show that he is right.

Another reason why everybody should be thankful is that the meat trust has no control over the air we breathe or the beams that radiate from the sun. They are just as cheap as ever.

Reports sent out from New York say the birth rate in the Fifth avenue district is steadily declining. Isn't it rather surprising that there is any birth rate at all in the district referred to?

Somebody signing himself "Constant Reader" wants us to say that a man with hay fever should be an "influenzial member of a community," but we decline to be dragged into any discussions.

The minister in Cleveland who has aroused a storm by his public declaration that beer is better for the man than dyspepsia-breeding apple dumplings says he doesn't drink beer himself. Neither does he eat apple dumplings.

A war department item says that the army signal officers will conduct some experiments with a device invented by a Massachusetts militiaman which converts the ploughshare into an implement of warfare. Alas, what a perversion of the scriptureal

ODELL ATTACKS THE PRESIDENT

HE AND GOV. HIGGINS ACCUSED OF TRYING TO WRECK PARTY IN STATE.

BIG FIGHT ON SPEAKERSHIP

PRESIDENT READY TO BECOME STATE LEADER TO OUST ODELL.

New York, Dec. 23.—Interest in the contest for the speakership of the New York State assembly was largely centered upon the interview given yesterday by ex-Gov. Odell, Republican state chairman, in which he accused President Roosevelt and Gov. Higgins of a deliberate attempt to wreck the Republican party of this state in order to further their personal ambitions.

Former Gov. Odell charged President Roosevelt and Gov. Higgins with a deliberate attempt to wreck the party. He declared that if disaster ensued they, not he, will be responsible.

Mr. Odell's accusations were a part of his comment on the situation growing out of the contest in the Republican party for the speakership of the assembly. Mr. Odell declared himself in favor of E. A. Merritt, Jr., several days ago. On Monday last Gov. Higgins came out in favor of J. W. Wadsworth, Jr.

Not Dictated by President.

Assemblyman Wadsworth said:

"I believe Gov. Higgins' statement that President Roosevelt did not dictate my candidacy, and I think Gov. Higgins is abundantly able to take care of himself."

Assemblyman Merritt gave out a statement criticising the manner in which J. W. Wadsworth, Jr., was put forth for the speakership.

Mr. Merritt says:

"Gov. Higgins is quoted as still of the opinion that the president will not interfere in the selection of a speaker of the assembly. At the same time he seeks to convey the impression that the election of his nominee, Mr. Wadsworth, will be especially pleasing to the president, seeking, I suppose, to get the benefit of the president's great personality for his candidate by indirect means.

Roosevelt Would Be Leader.

Washington, Dec. 23. — President Roosevelt read ex-Gov. Odell's defi yesterday afternoon and refused to comment on it. He sent out word that he had nothing to say. There is no doubt that the president is heartily with the movement to make James W. Wadsworth, Jr., speaker. He has had several conferences with New York Republican leaders and has told them all that the proper thing to do was to select some man like Wadsworth for the speakership.

The president is anxious to rid the party of Odell and of all the Odell influences. He is also ready to become the leader of the party in New York and is working to that end. He has secured pledges from many leading Republicans and will be behing Gov. Higgins in every movement he makes.

FOLK ORDERS NEW RAIDS.

"Lid Clubs" of St. Louis to Be Visited by the Police.

St. Louis, Dec. 23.—President Stewart of the board of police commissioners yesterday received a letter from Gov. Foolk instructing the police to raid "clubs" organized for the purpose of evading the Sunday liquor law and the avoidance of dram shop license payment. Gov. Folk instructs that the clubs be raided not only on Sunday but on week days in every case where it is apparent that liquor is being sold to the general public in violation of the charters issued to these organizations as social clubs. Chief of Police Kiley announced yesterday afternoon that all the so-called "clubs" will be raided next Sunday. There are 147 "lid clubs" in St. Louis.

BANK ROBBERS GIVE NOTICE.

Texas Cashier Asked to Stock Up for Christmas Raid.

Galveston, Tex., Dec. 23.—The Plano National bank, which was robbed of $19,000 last Christmas day, has received warning that the bandits are planning to descend on the institution again next Monday. Cashier Jasper has found the following letter in his mail:

"We are coming to your bank for our annual Christmas gift. Please have plenty on hand. The supply we got last Christmas has about been spent. —Eighteen Strong."

Mr. Jasper has concluded that the letter was written in earnest and all precautions will be taken.

INDIAN ORPHAN ASKS AID.

Seven-Year-Old Alaskan Calls at the White House.

Washington, Dec. 23. — President Roosevelt yesterday met Fay Koborivaka, a seven-year-old Indian girl from Alaska, whose entire family was wiped out by an epidemic of whooping cough in Alaska several months ago. The little Indian girl's ambition is to be a school teacher, and it is proposed to have her educated at the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa.

BURNS TO THE WATER'S EDGE

BARGE DESTROYED AT SEA—CREW SUPPOSED TO BE SAFE ON BOARD TUG.

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 23.—The barge Baker, bound from New York for Philadelphia in tow, was burned to the water's edge here yesterday. It is presumed the crew was taken off by the tug Sea King, which was towing the Baker. The Abscon lifesaving crew went out to the burning barge, but could do nothing to save the vessel. Nothing was seen of the Sea King nor the barge Reading, which the Sea King also had in tow. There was no one on board the Baker and there was no cargo. There were appearances, however, that the vessel had recently carried a cargo of coal. The Baker had probably been burning since Wednesday night and was not seen from here until yesterday morning, when she had floated to within five miles of this shore. The burned barge was owned by the Baker transportation company of New York. It has been learned that the revenue cutter Mohawk was yesterday sent from Tompkinsville, Staten Island, and the wrecking tug North America from the Delaware breakwater to the aid of the barge.

NEW ASPECT TO LAND FRAUD.

Lumber Company Asks Board to Refund Payments.

Salem, Or., Dec. 23.—A new phase in the school land swindles presented itself yesterday in the application for return of partial payments on counterfeit certificates, made in good faith to the state school land board by the Fenwood Lumber Company of Wausau, Wis., which holds fifteen bogus certificates for an aggregate of 4,219 acres. The Fenwood company loaned money on the certificates to one "D. R. Murphy," which is believed to be an alias of one of the persons convicted several months ago in the federal courts of defrauding the government of public lands and who is now a fugitive from justice. Payments were made in Murphy's name on these certificates as fast as they became due by the Fenwood company, and they now ask that these payments be refunded. The land board has deferred action in the matter until it is determined whether they have the legal authority to refund payments.

NELSON ACTS ON FORESTRY.

Minnesota Senator Has Two Bills on Ceding of Land.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Senator Nelson yesterday reported from the senate committee on public lands his bill ceding to the State of Minnesota certain vacant lands in Cass county for experimental forestry purposes. A bill was introduced by Senator Nelson yesterday proposing an amendment to the Nelson act of 1889 so as to permit the transfer to the state of Cooper island in Cass lake, to be used by the state as a forest reserve or public park.

SLAYER GETS TEN-YEAR TERM.

Third Jury Finds Montana Man Guilty.

Helena, Mont., Dec. 23.—Ten years in the state penitentiary is the punishment for James Slattery, tried here in the district court for killing Dan Mahoney, a bartender in a Butte saloon, July 31, 1904. The case came here on a change of venue, two Butte juries having been unable to agree, probably owing to certain conflicting features of the testimony. The jury spent nineteen hours in considering the case.

Boy Accidentally Killed.

Montrose, Minn., Dec. 23.—The ten-year-old son of Emanuel Erickson, who lives about three miles north of this village, was accidentally shot in the abdomen with a 22-caliber rifle in the hands of his twelve-year-old brother, inflicting a wound from the effects of which he died a few hours later. Another case of didn't know it was loaded.

Guilty of Soliciting a Bribe.

Milwaukee, Dec. 23.—Ex-Ald. Robert L. Rudolph was yesterday afternoon sentenced to one year in the Milwaukee house of correction, being found guilty of soliciting a bribe of $100 from ex-City Attorney Charles H. Hamilton in 1901 to secure the passage of an expense bill through the common council.

Double Cattle Trail Toll Rate.

Miller, S. D., Dec. 23.—The Indians at Cheyenne agency, in council, discussed the matter of renewing the Milwaukee cattle trail. They voted against leasing at the old price of 25 cents a head, but decided to lease at 50 cents a head.

Is Said to Have Raised Bills.

Helena, Mont., Dec. 23.—D. H. Teal has been held to the federal grand jury at Billings on a charge of raising one dollar bills to tens. His work is said to have been so clever that it deceived Billings bankers.

Flashlight Explodes.

Aberdeen, S. D., Dec. 23. — While taking pictures at the Eagles' installation a flashlight exploded, badly burning R. F. Thomas, a photographer. He may lose both his eyes. Two others were hurt.

MAKE ATTEMPT TO KILL REYES

PROMINENT MEN IN PLOT TO MURDER PRESIDENT OF COLOMBIA.

WOULD OVERTURN GOVERNMENT

FORMER CABINET MINISTER AND FIVE OPPOSITION LEADERS ARE IN IT.

Washington, Dec. 23. — The state department has received information by cable that an attempt was made in Bogota Wednesday to dispose of President Reyes, as an incident to a plot for overthrowing the government. In consequence there were many arrests of prominent men, who were to be tried by court-martial yesterday. Among them was a foreign minister of the cabinet and five leaders of the opposition. No details were given of the reason for the attempt upon Gen. Reyes' life.

Express Surprise.

The officials at the Colombian legation last night expressed surprise at the news from Bogota. It is the first intimation they have had that there is any feeling against President Reyes. Mr. Triana, the secretary of the legation, who is in charge of affairs in the absence of Minister Mendoza, who is in New York, haid last night:

"I am at a loss to understand the reasons for any plot against President Reyes. He is extremely popular and during his administration as president has made every effort to appease the members of all the political elements in the country.

No Success in Revolt.

"There is practically only one party in Colombia now, though of course there will always develop elements of opposition in all governments. The conostitutional convention held some time ago made provision whereby Gen. Reyes was to hold the office of president for a period of ten years, after which it was to be filled by the incumbent for a period of four years, as in the United States.

"Any revolutionary movement against Gen. Reyes has no prospect of success. Of this I am confident. The president is popular with the army, and although the soldiers are engaged in work on the public roads they are always within available distance so that they can be called on in an emergency.

"I had letters to-day from both President Reyes and the minister of foreign affairs, and there was nothing in them to indicate evidences of dissatisfaction with the government or the formation of any plot to overthrow it."

Envoy Is Reticent.

New York, Dec. 23.—Mr. Mendoza, Colombian minister to this country, who is in New York, said last night he had received a communication from his government which did not confirm the dispatch to Washington. The minister refused to make public his communication.

FIVE HURT IN TUNNEL

Scaffolding Collapses in Railway Tunnel Being Built Under East River.

New York, Dec. 23.—Deep under the East river yesterday a scaffolding fell in the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel, and five workmen were injured, three of them seriously. The men thought the river was coming in on top of them, when the scaffolding, near the roof of the tunnel, at a point about 100 feet out from the shore, suddenly collapsed without any apparent reason. A gang of men working near the scaffolding started on a run toward the tunnel's mouth, shouting warnings to the diggers, who were still further out under the river, at the end of the boring. When the men were assured that the tunnel had not caved in, they returned to find five of their comrades buried under the scaffolding, two of them injured internally and another with a fractured skull. The injured men were taken to the hospital.

ITO NOT MERE DIPLOMAT.

Resident General in Korea Has Extra Judicial Powers.

Tokio, Dec. 23.—The post of Japanese resident general in Korea will not be exclusively diplomatic, as is shown by the regulations governing the newly organized office, which after passing the privy council were published here yesterday. The resident general is empowered to mete out punishment, but his sentence must not exceed one year's imprisonment and $100 fine. Field Marshal Yamagata has been appointed president of the privy council.

DURING FIT OF INSANITY

Mrs. Reble Fatally Shoots Herself With a Revolver.

St. Paul, Dec. 23.—During a fit of temporary insanity Mrs. Edith L. Reble, thirty-three years old, shot herself with a revolver at 4 o'clock this morning at her home. For several years Mrs. Reble suffered from a mental trouble, which at times caused temporary fits of insanity. Between these spells she was sane and able to perform her household duties.

ALL BIDS ARE REJECTED

BIDDERS FOR PHILIPPINE CONCESSIONS WILL GET ANOTHER CHANCE.

Washington, Dec. 23.—All bids for concessionary contracts or grants for the construction of railways in the Philippine islands recently submitted to the bureau of insular affairs were yesterday rejected because of the departures from the terms of the circular calling for proposals. Secretary Taft, after a number of conferences with Gov. Wright and Mr. Forbes of the Philippine commission, and Col. Edwards, chief of the insular bureau, decided to readvertise for proposals and Jan. 20, at 10 a. m., has been fixed as the date for the opening of the new bids for three concessions. The terms will be modified in some particulars.

ARE DESERTING LAWSON.

Mutual Life Policyholders Withdraw Their Proxies.

New York, Dec. 23.—Some Mutual Life policyholders who have given proxies to Thomas W. Lawson of Boston have written to President-elect Peabody of that company saying that they do not wish to hamper him in his undertaking and asking the names of persons to whom they can send new proxies in favor of the new regime. Mr. Peabody has not yet taken hold of Mutual matters, but officials of the company have replied for him that an an opportunity will be given to every policyholder, prior to the annual meeting in June, to give proxies to persons who will cast them for "new deal" trustees.

DIAMONDS IMPORTED.

Precious Stones in Record-Breaking Amount Coming Into Country.

Washington, Dec. 23.—A statement issued yesterday by the department of commerce and labor says:

Over $36,000,000 worth of diamonds and other precious stones have been imported into the United States during the present calendar year, which is by far the largest importation in in the history of the country. The high water mark in earlier years was $28,500,000 in 1903, while 1904 showed but $27,750,000. In the ten months ending with October, the total is over $31,000,000, or more than in any full year prior to 1905.

FIND VERDICT OF GUILTY.

Jury Convicts Hugh Watt of Hiring Men to Murder His Wife.

London, Dec. 23.—The trial of Hugh Watt, the former member of parliament, charged with inciting hired agents to murder his divorced wife, Julia Watt, and Sir Reginald Beauchamp, ended yesterday with a verdict of guilty. Watt was sentenced to five years' penal servitude.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

St. Paul, Dec. 23. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 84 1-2@85 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 81@83c; No. 3, 79 1-2@81c. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 44 1-2@45c. Oats—No. 3 white, 29 1-4@30 3-4c.

Duluth, Dec. 23. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 84 3-4c; No. 2 Northern, 82 3-4c; flax, $1.04 7-8; rye, 62c.

Minneapolis, Dec. 23. — Wheat—No. 1 hard, 85 3-8c; No. 1 Northern 84 7-8c; No. 2 Northern, 82 7-8c; durum, 71@74c. Oats—No. 3 white, 29 1-2c.

Milwaukee, Dec. 23. — Wheat — No. 1 Northern, 88@89c; No. 2 Northern, 85@85 1-2c. Rye—No. 1, 70c. Barley—No. 2, 53 1-2@54c. Oats—Standard, 39c.

Chicago, Dec. 23. — Wheat — No. 2 red, 89@91c; No. 2 hard, 86@87 1-2c; No. 1 Northern, 88@90c; No. 2 Northern, 86@89c. Corn—No. 2, 46c. Oats—No. 2, 31 1-4c.

Sioux City, Iowa, Dec. 23.—Cattle—Beeves, $3.40@5.60; cows, bulls and mixed, $2@3.50; stockers and feeders, $2.75@3.60; calves and yearlings, $2.50@3.40. Hogs—Bulk, $4.70@4.75.

Chicago, Dec. 23. — Beeves, $3.60@6.80; stockers and feeders, $2.30 @ 4.15; cows and heifers, $3.25 @ 4.75. Hogs — Mixed and butchers, $4.75@5; bulk, $4.85 @ 4.95. Sheep, $4 @ 5.65; lambs, $4.75@7.85.

South St. Paul, Dec. 23. — Cattle — Good to choice steers, $4.50 @ 5.50; good to choice cows and heifers, $3.25 @ 4.25; good to choice milch cows, $30@40. Hogs — Range price, $4.55 @ 4.75; bulk, $4.65. Sheep — Good to choice lambs, $6.25 @ 6.75; fair to good, $4.50@6.25; yearling wethers, $5@5.50; good to choice ewes, $4.50@4.75.

Osler Convert Kills Himself.

Sherman, Tex., Dec. 23.—Dennis B. Taft, aged seventy years, a stranger, ended his life by casting himself under the wheels of an express train last evening. In a letter found addressed to the coroner he stated he was a convert of Prof. Osler.

Henry Harland Dead.

New York, Dec. 23.—The death of Henry Harland, the American author who wrote "The Cardinal's Snuffbox," was announced in a cablegram received from Italy, yesterday. Harland died at San Remo, Italy.

Fire in the Nice Casino.

Nice, France, Dec. 23.—A fire early yesterday partially destroyed the Casino shortly after the departure of a day night party. There were no casualties. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

Congress.

Resume of the Week's Proceedings.

Washington, Dec. 16. — The house devoted four and three-quarters hours yesterday to lively debate on the possibilities of controlling insurance companies. Two set speeches were the features. One by Mr. Sherley (Ky.) bore on the doctrine of state's rights, and the other by Mr. Cockran (N. Y.) related to the actions of the officers who managed the big life insurance companies of his state, Mr. Cockran promising that congress, through its taxing power, should confine all insurance companies to the state in which they are organized.

Mr. Williams, the minority leader concluded the debate, holding that control was possible, but not through the taxing power.

The Panama canal was again under consideration by the senate, and Mr. Tillman occupied the entire time given to that subject, except that he gave way to questions or interruptions by other senators. He did not indicate any intention of opposing the passage of the appropriation bill, but he criticised the methods of the canal commission in many of its transactions.

When the senate adjourned the bill was still pending, but there was an agreement to vote to-day.

Washington, Dec. 18. — The senate Saturday passed the Panama canal emergency appropriation bill, but the result was not attained until after the debate on the bill had been continued the greater part of the day to the exclusion of practically all other business.

The house indulged itself again to the extent of four hours of what was many times termed an academic discussion of federal control of insurance. It was the fourth day of the debate and the interest of members had apparently diminished. Democratic contention for states' rights predominated in the oratory. The Republicans who spoke confined themselves more to the committee reference which should be made of the subject of insurance in the president's message. On this many views were expressed.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Whether the senate is warranted in censuring a senator convicted in a court of misconduct and not assigning him to a place on standing committees, yet leaving his name on the senate rolls, was discussed for two hours yesterday by the senate and then dropped without a ruling on the question. Several senate leaders took up the subject. On account of the delicacy of the question the debate naturally was not as open as would be necessary for final determination of the matter.

Mr. Bailey raised the point by inquiring of Mr. Hale when the latter presented the new list of standing committees whether every senator had been provided with a place. Mr. Hale replied that every senator except Mr. Burton of Kansas had been given assignments, and he had been left off the committees at his own request until the charges against him had been disposed of by the courts. Mr. Mailey protested against any senator's name being kept on the roll unless he was given work to do, and argued that it is the duty of the senate to itself, to Kansas and to the country, to investigate the charges against Mr. Burton and determine whether he is entitled to a seat in the senate.

Insurance, hazing, the suffering Russian Jews and immigration were all topics of discussion in the house yesterday under the general leave of talk. The only business done was to send the canal appropriation bill to conference.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The senate yesterday accepted the report of the conference committee on the Panama canal emergency appropriation bill and thus, so far as it is concerned, finally disposed of that measure. The acceptance of the report was preceded by a brief discussion of the restoration of the bond provision to the appropriation bill and of the action of the house in resenting the senate's action in separating these two questions. Several minor bills were passed during the day.

The house continued general debate under the guise of referring the president's message to committees on questions of interest, national or otherwise. The subject of federal control of insurance was the main feature and nearly all speakers began their remarks with referance to it.

Hit by Engine; Gets $2,000.

Red Wing, Minn., Dec. 17.—In the case of Christian J. Floan against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road for damages, the jury yesterday returned a verdict for $2,000, the full amount asked. Floan was run over by a switch engine.

To Lay Off Over Holiday.

Washington, Dec. 17. — Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee yesterday presented to the house a joint resolution providing for the holiday recess. It proposes adjournment of both houses from Dec. 21 to Jan. 4.

Death in His Wealth.

Louisiana, Mo., Dec. 17.—Clay Neville, a farmer living seven miles from Curryville, committed suicide yesterday from worry over having [illegible] money than he could invest.

In Minnesota

State News of the Week Briefly Told

In district court at Albert Lea the grand jury returned an indictment against Harry Squier on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree.

: : : :

The appointment of Gen. Mark D. Flower to be postmaster at St. Paul was sent to the senate by President Roosevelt and the nomination was confirmed later in the day.

: : : :

One of the largest land deals made for some years was closed recently at Staples when the Dower farm of 640 acres was sold to S. Way of Mason City, Iowa. The sale price was $12.50 an acre.

: : : :

On the recommendation of Representative Steenerson orders will soon be issued opening to settlement the township in the northwest corner of Kittson county abutting on the Canadian line.

: : : :

Andrew Crampton, an old resident of St. Paul, died at the city hospital of injuries received by falling on the icy street. In falling he struck his head against the curb and sustained a fractured skull.

: : : :

In the case of Christian J. Floan against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road for damages, the jury at Red Wing returned a verdict for $2,000, the full amount asked. Floan was run over by a switch engine.

: : : :

Charles Kuehl, for some unaccountable reason, drove on the railroad track at Red Wing with a load of lumber for Wacouta, and was run over by a Milwaukee freight. He died shortly after. One horse was killed.

: : : :

W. W. McPherson, a well-known resident of Stillwater, died at the age of 59 years. He was a native of Maryland and a direct descendant of George Washington and President Madison. He leaves a widow and one son.

: : : :

A verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury by order of Judge Morris in the United States district court at St. Paul in the trial of John C. Hanley, indicted on a charge of using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud.

: : : :

John H. Hawley, while walking on the tracks in the yards at Sandstone, was run down by a switch engine and fatally hurt. A leg and an arm were cut off, but he retained consciousness. Mr. Hawley was a man 63 years old and quite deaf.

: : : :

Another new townsite is to be platted on the Mesaba range, near Prairie river. It will adjoin the property of Lind & Buckman, on which 200 feet of iron ore has been found. The development of this immense deposit of ore will make room for a thriving village.

: : : :

Bishop James McGolrick of Duluth has been invited and will assist at the dedication of Pittsburg's $1,000,000 Catholic cathedral early in February. The edifice is to be known as St. Paul's. Apostolic Delegate Falconio and Cardinal Gibbons will also assist at the dedication.

: : : :

The death of Christina Momb of Atlanta, Becker county, at the age of nearly eleven and weighing only twenty pounds, occurred recently. When six months old the child suffered from a peculiar sickness which stunted its growth and seemed to hinder all future development.

: : : :

Winona promises to get through the present year with very light fire loss. The figures up to the present time show that the loss is but $8,947, as compared with $41,805 last year. There have been but three fires this year in which the loss has been more than $1,000, and in each case it was largely covered by insurance.

: : : :

The state railroad and warehouse commission is negotiating with John F. Wallace, former chief engineer of the Panama canal, to make an estimate of the value of Minnesota railroad investments. This work is a duty placed upon the commission by the last legislature preliminary to a revision of railroad rates.

: : : :

The alleged faulty construction of a scaffolding at the new gas plant in Winona was the cause of the death of Louis Schultz, who had his neck dislocated by a fall of twenty feet there through the breaking of a plank upon which he was standing. Harry Renshaw, building superintendent for the Stacy Manufacturing company, is especially blamed by the verdict. The verdict states that poor material was allowed to enter into the construction of the saffolding, and because of this a plank broke without negligence or carelessness on the part of the deceased.

: : : :

Frank Webster, a farmer living in Mary township, near Ada, was found dead, lying near a strawstack on his farm. No marks were found on the body, which was lying in a natural position, and no cause of death has been ascertained.

: : : :

In an opinion by Justice Holmes the supreme court of the United States upheld the validity of the Minnesota state law holding railroad companies responsible for injuries done to employes through the carelessness of other employes.

FITZSIMMONS LOSES FIGHT

VENERABLE OLD MAN COLLAPSES AT END OF THIRTEENTH ROUND.

BADLY MAULED BY O'BRIEN

PHILADELPHIAN GIVES REMARKABLE EXHIBITION — FITZ'S LAST BATTLE.

San Francisco, Dec. 22. — Robert Fitzsimmons collapsed at the close of the thirteenth round of his fight with Jack O'Brien. He had fought hard, but nature could not longer stand the strain, and after the gong had sounded for the close of the thirteenth round he walked to his corner and sat in his chair. Then his head fell over on his breast, his whole body collapsed and the fighting wonder of the age was "all in." Referee Graney saw his conodition and awarded the fight to O'Brien. While punched in the face and badly cut up and several times in jeopardy, Fitzsimmons always

Managed to Come To and resume the fight. Just at the close of the thirteenth round he landed a left on O'Brien's stomach, but the Philadelphian came back with a similar blow and followed it with a left to the jaw. The gong rang for the close of the round and Fitzsimmons walked to his corner. As he sat down he said to Graney:

"Eddie, he hit me in the stomach and it is all over."

Then his head sank and Bob Fitzsimmons was defeated. Referee Graney said:

"Fitzsimmons showed his class. O'Brien is a wonderful boxer, and the old man stood up and Took His Punishment.

Occasionally he showed a flash of his old time form, but his strength could not last."

After the fight had been awarded to O'Brien Fitzsimmons slipped to the floor and lay prostrate in the ring. There was a call for a doctor, as it was seen he was in a state of collapse.

He revived, however, in a few minutes, and with the assistance of his seconds, was able to leave the ring.

O'Brien gave a remarkable exhibition of sparring and foot work. He ducked, dodged and side-stepped in a manner that was bewildering. Fitzsimmons could swing and and several times nearly went through the ropes from the force of his misspent blows.

Find Only Empty Air,

O'Brien would straighten up and dash in a wicked cutting left, which, while not possessing knock-down force, was sufficient to jar the old gladiator. Fitzsimmons had the sympathy of the enormous crowd, which jeered and hissed O'Brien when he ducked and ran away. But the Philadelphia man had laid out his plan of battle and could not be coerced into mixing things with the old fighter who was known to possess a dangerouos punch. Before Fitzsimmons left the ring he made a little speech in which he said he had done his best. He said he had fought his last fight.

MIDDIES MAY MAKE A FUSS.

Decision Against Power of Dismissal Points to Complications.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 22.—In view of the decision by Attorney General Moody that midshipmen cannot be dismissed from the academy by the secretary of the navy on the recommendation of the superintendent, there is discussion here as to whether several midshipmen dismissed during the past few years cannot by legal action compel their restoration to the service. The court-martial in the case of Midshipman Trenmor Soffin, Jr., and Warren A. Vanderver, for alleged connection with the hazing of Jerdone P. Kimbrough, will begin shortly after Christmas.

BLUFFS AT RESIGNING.

The Hungarian Premier Returns Portfolio to the Emperor.

Vienna, Dec. 22. — Premier Fejervary had an audience of Emperor Francis Joseph yesterday and tendered the resignation of the entire Hungarian cabinet. It is understood that Baron Fejervary desires to obtain an expression of confidence from the emperor, in which case his resignation probably will be withdrawn.

Hanged for Assault.

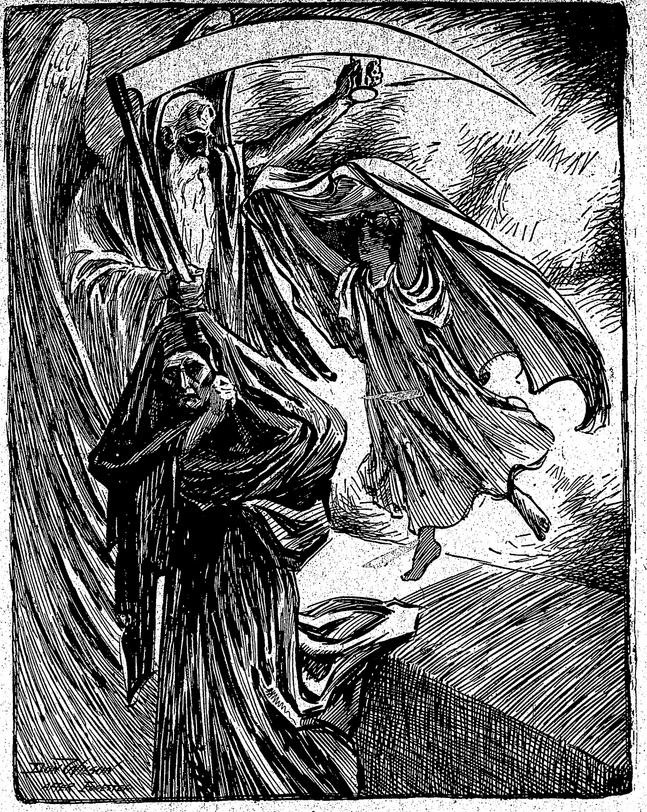
Wilmington, N. C., Dec. 22.—Will Carter, a negro, was hanged here yesterday for a criminal assault upon a six-year-old white girl at Wallace in November last.

Girl Killed in Runaway.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Dec. 22.—Miss Olive Ross, aged fifteen years, was instantly killed and Bert Brooks, Misses Tracy Ross and Agnes Millard were more or less seriously injured in a runaway last night.

Dies for Stepson.

Paynesville, Minn., Dec. 22. — Mrs. Michael Schultz, a bride of a month, died yesterday from burns suffered when she saved her three-year-old stepson from death by fire at the cost of her own life.



WELCOME THE COMING, SPEED THE PARTING GUEST; THE OLD YEAR AND THE NEW

ONE WORKING DAY FOR US ALL.

To-day the Only Period for Which We Are Accountable.

The coming year will have 365 days in its calendar, but really will have only one working day, and that is called "To-day." That is all you will be accountable for; none but a fool lives in to-morrow. Serve your Master by the day. Each four and twenty hours brings its own duties to be done, its own loads to be carried, and its own progress to be made heavenward. There never was a Christian yet strong enough to carry to-day's duties with to-morrow's worries piled on the top of them. Take short views, and never try to climb walls until you get to them, or to cross a bridge until you reach it. Begin every day with Jesus Christ, and then, keeping step with him, march on to duty over the roughest road that lies before you, and in the teeth of the hardest head wind you may encounter. "My times are in thy hands," and they could not be in better hands. Our times are in our all-wise and all-loving Father's hands, both for control and for concealment. He takes care of us, and yet we can not tell just what to-morrow or the next year will bring forth.

Facing the New Year.

A new year is upon us, with new duties, new conflicts, new trials, and new opportunities. Start on the journey with Jesus—to walk with him, to work for him, and to win souls to him. A happy year will it be to those who through every path of trial, or up every hill of difficulty, or over every sunny height, march on in closest fellowship with Jesus, and who will determine that, come what may, they have Christ every day.—Theodore L. Cuyler, D.D.

Children's Day in Russia.

In Russia New Year's is especially the children's day. Among the peasants the old-time frolics and games are renewed. It is a practice among the boys to arm themselves with a supply of shelled wheat and dried peas and to go from house to house in the small hours of the morning. They present themselves unbidden in a neighbor's house, where the doors are always unlocked, and pelt him with wheat or peas till he offers cakes or fruit as a truce.

The Closing Year

'Tis midnight's holy hour—and silence now
Is brooding, like a gentle spirit, o'er
The still and pulseless world. Hark! on the winds
The bell's deep tones are swelling; 'tis the knell
Of the departed year. No funeral train
Is sweeping past; yet, on the stream and wood,
With melancholy light, the moonbeams rest,
Like a pale spotless shroud; the air is stirred,
As by a mourner's sigh; and on yon cloud,
That floats so still and placidly through heaven,
The spirits of the seasons seem to stand,
Young Spring, bright Summer, Autumn's solemn form,
And Winter, with his aged locks, and breathe
In mournful cadences, that come abroad
Like the far windharp's wild and touching wail,
A melancholy dirge o'er the dead year,
Gone from the earth forever. 'Tis a time
For memory and for tears. Within the deep,
Still chambers of the heart, a specter dim,
Whose tones are like the wizard voice of Time
Heard from the tomb of ages, points its cold
And solemn finger to the beautiful
And holy visions that have pass'd away,
And left no shadow of their loveliness
On the dead waste of life. That specter lifts
The coffin lid of hope, and joy, and love,
And, bending mournfully above the pale
Sweet forms that slumber there, scatters dead flowers
O'er what has passed to nothingness. The year
Has gone, and, with it, many a glorious throng
Of happy dreams. Its mark is on each brow,
Its shadows in each heart. In its swift course
It waved its scepter o'er the beautiful,
And they are not. It laid its pallid hand
Upon the strong man, and the haughty form
Is fallen, and the flashing eye is dim.
It trod the hall of revelry, where throng'd
The bright and joyous, and the tearful wail
Of stricken ones is heard, where erst the song
And reckless shout resounded. It passed o'er
The battle plain, where sword and spear and shield
Flash'd in the light of midday—and the strength
Of serried hosts is shiver'd, and the grass,
Green from the soil of carnage, waves above
The crush'd and mouldering skeleton. It came
And faded like a wreath of mist at eve;
Yet, ere, it melted in the viewless air,
It heralded its millions to their home
In the dim land of dreams. Remorseless Time—
Fierce spirit of the glass and scythe—what power
Can stay him in his silent course, or melt
His iron heart to pity? On, still on
He presses, and forever. The proud bird,
The condor of the Andes, that can soar
Through heaven's unfathomable depths, or brave
The fury of the northern hurricane,
And bathe his plumage in the thunder's home,
Furls his broad wings at nightfall, and sinks down
To rest upon the mountain crag—But Time
Knows not the weight of sleep or weariness,
And night's deep darkness has no chain to bind
His rushing pinion. Revolutions sweep
O'er earth, like troubled visions o'er the breast
Of dreaming sorrow; cities rise and sink
Like bubbles on the water; fiery isles
Spring, blazing, from the ocean, and go back
To their mysterious caverns; mountains rear
To heaven their bald and blackened cliff, and bow
Their tall heads to the plain; new empires rise
Gathering the strength of hoary centuries
And rush down like the Alpine avalanche,
Startling the nations; and the very stars,
Yon bright and burning blazonry of God,
Glitter awhile in their eternal depths,
And, like the Pleiades, loveliest of their train,
Shoot from their glorious spheres, and pass away
To darkle in the trackless void—yet Time—
Time, the tomb builder, holds his fierce career,
Dark, stern, all pitiless, and pauses not
Amid the mighty wrecks that strew his path,
To sit and muse, like other conquerors,
Upon the fearful ruin he has wrought!

—George D. Prentice.

GREAT DAY FOR THE ROMANS.

Right Beginning of New Year Meant for Them Success.

No nation has ascribed so much importance to the beginning of things as the Roman. To that people there was a magical connection between a right beginning and success. To them New Year's day was the day of days. It was the anniversary of the founding of the city of Rome, which they considered the greatest event in the world's history. They called the first month of the year January in honor of Janus, the god of doors and beginnings. (The world still uses a heathen calendar.) At dawn of the new year the people, robed in white, sacrificed elaborate offerings to their gods, especially to Janus. Fraternal greetings, benevolent gifts and exchanges of costly presents marked the day. All evil-speaking, quarrels or excesses were for one day laid aside and the ideals for a nobler future were brought to mind by parables enacted in public places. The soldiers renewed their vows of loyalty to Caesar and put on new uniforms.

The Animals' Season Greetings.

The action and voices of domestic animals on New Year's day are said to be more significant than any other omens.

A dog's cheerful bark in the morning is a most auspicious sign, while his howl is very unfavorable.

To meet the cat on the morn of the New Year is considered by people in the Latin countries as a sign that they will change their residence, and it also betokens ill for the future.

Throughout southern Europe it is regarded as a most fortunate sign to see a pig, signifying plenty for the coming twelve months.

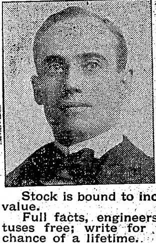
The sight of a snake is considered to be the worst conceivable omen, for it means death by violence.

To see a jackdaw, magpie, or crow is a sign that the beholder will be cheated on all sides during the following year.

Land of Many Tongues.

An American tourist who traveled through Hungary last summer in his automobile says that he found the signboards in German, Magyar, Italian, Slavonian and Turkish. Preference was given to none.

Ever Bought any Mining Stock?



THEN BUY

BULLFROG EXTENSION!

Mines at Bullfrog, Nevada

They Struck Ore Assaying 82 per cent Pure Gold

Stock is bound to increase tremendously in value.

Full facts, engineers' reports and prospectuses free; write for them to-day; it's the chance of a lifetime.

R. B. HIGBEE, Agent

410-411 Germania Life Building, ST. PAUL, MINN.

GOODYEAR RUBBER CO. GOLD SEAL 1872 TRADE MARK

GOLD SEAL OVERSHOES

WARMEST WEAR LONGEST.

IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT HAVE THEM WRITE

GOODYEAR RUBBER CO. ST. PAUL, MINN.

Try Courier Job Work

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY TIME TABLE

THE COMFORTABLE WAY.

Going West			Going East
8:15 P. M. Lv.	St. Paul	Ar.	7:45 A. M.
8:50 P. M. Lv.	Minneapolis	Ar.	7:10 A. M.
8:15 P. M. Lv.	Duluth	Ar.	7:10 A. M.
9:15 A. M.	Crookston		6:45 P. M.
10:00 A. M.	Dugdale		6:00 P. M.
10:35 A. M.	Red Lake Falls		5:25 P. M.
11:05 A. M.	St. Hilaire		4:55 P. M.
11:35 A. M.	Thief River		4:30 P. M.
12:01 P. M.	Steiner		4:05 P. M.
12:15 P. M.	Sandridge		3:52 P. M.
12:40 P. M.	Middle River		3:21 P. M.
1:05 P. M.	Strathcona		2:57 P. M.
1:35 P. M. Ar.	Greenbush	Lv.	2:25 P. M.

Sleeping car reservations, tickets and information from

J. L. TRACY, Agent,

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Be Sure to Use Only Cream of Tartar Baking Powder

Food made with alum baking powder carries alum to the stomach unchanged. Scientists have positively demonstrated this and that such food is partly indigestible and unhealthful.

Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is simply liquid electricity. It goes to every part of your body, bringing new blood, strength and new vigor. It makes you well and keeps you well. 35 cents. —A. L. Reichert.

$40 TO EASTERN CANADA AND BACK

December 4 to 31. Excursion tickets to all points in Ontario. Low rates to points in Quebec east of and including Montreal. Five daily trains, St. Paul to Chicago, via the

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway

Direct connections at St. Paul Union Depot with all trains from the Northwest. Route of the Daylight Express, The Fast Mail and the Pioneer Limited. Request your nearest railroad agent to ticket you via The Milwaukee Road between St. Paul and Chicago. For complete information write to

W. B. DIXON, N. W. P. A., 365 ROBERT STREET ST. PAUL.

Sign of the best—

NORTHERN PACIFIC YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

—the best sign

Low Holiday Rates

Round trip Christmas rates of one fare plus $2 except where fare and a third makes a less rate, with minimum of 50 cents, to any Northern Pacific point in Minnesota North Dakota and Wisconsin, selling Dec. 22—Jan. with limit of Jan. 2, 1906. On Dec. 22-23-24-25-30-31 and Jan. 1, tickets will be sold to points East of St. Paul at one and one-third fares for round trip, limited to Jan. 4. For complete information write any agent of the Northern Pacific Ry.

A. M. Cleland, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.
E. A. Mizen, Agent.

Order for Hearing Application for Appointment of Administrator.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss
County of Red Lake }

In Probate Court, Special Term, December 28th, 1905.

In the Matter of the Estate of Jane Martell Deceased:

On Receiving and Filing The petition of Francis LaBissoniere of the county of Red Lake representing, among other things, that Jane Martell late of the County of Red Lake in the State of Minnesota, on the 16th day of December A. D. 1905, at the County of Red Lake died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this County at the time of her death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this County, and that the said petitioner is an uncle of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to Francis LaBissoniere, granted;

It is Ordered, That said petition be heard before said Court, on Saturday the 20th day of January, A. D. 1906 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office, in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County.

Ordered Further, That notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, in said County.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., the 28th day of December, A. D. 1905.

By the Court,
(Seal) N. W. Tarrant,
Judge of Probate.

Notice of Application for Liquor License

STATE OF MINNESOTA }
County of Red Lake } ss.
City of Red Lake Falls }

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That application has been made in writing to the city council of said city of Red Lake Falls and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on Dec. 19th 1905, and terminating on Dec, 18th, 1906, by the following named person, and at the following place, as stated in said application, respectively, to-wit;

ED. BRAY

In that certain frame building, on lot 22 of block 7, in Champagne & Drew's addition to Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Said application will be heard and determined by said city council of the city of Red Lake Falls in the city hall in the city of Red Lake Falls in Red Lake county, and state of Minnesota, on Monday, the 8th day of January A. D., 1905, at 8 o'clock p. m., of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of city of Red Lake Falls, this 22nd day of December, A. D., 1905.

—A. P. TOUPIN,
Seal City Clerk.,

Order to Examine Accounts.

State of Minnesota, } ss
County of Red Lake. }

In Probate Court, Regular term December 4th, 1905.

In the matter of the estate of Peter John Anderson, Deceased.

On Reading and Filing the Petition of S. J. Swanson, Administrator of the estate of Peter John Anderson deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is Ordered, That said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Saturday the 30th day of December A. D. 1905, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office in the City of Red Lake Falls in said County.

And it is Further Ordered, That notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Red Lake Courier a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls in said County.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, the 4th day of December A. D. 1905.

By the Court,
N. W. TARRANT,
[seal] Judge of Probate.

Ordinance No. 28

An ordinance granting to the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Ry. Co., its successors and assigns the right to lay down, construct' maintain and operate a pipe line and the appurtenances connected therewith in First Street in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota:

The city council of the city of Red Lake Falls do ordain as follows:

SEC. 1.—There is hereby granted unto the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway Company, its successors and assigns, the right to lay down, construct, maintain and operate a pipe line underneath the surface of the ground, from its right of way in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota, in an easterly direction along the southerly side of First street in said city to the Clearwater River. Also to construct and maintain a pump house and intake well in said street alonn the lino of said pipe line.

Provided, that the work of constructing and maintaining said pipe line, sholl be done in such manner as not necessairly impede the travel or public use of said street, and that after said work shall be done, and said pipelines installed, said Railway company shall without delay, restore said street to as good condition as it was in before said work was commenced.

Provided also, that should said city of Red Lake Falls, or the coudty of Red Lake, or the state ever build or contemplate the building of a bridge across the Clearwater River on First street at the point occupied by said pipe line, well and pump house, then said Railway company, its successors or assigns, shall upon thirty days notice in writing remove said pipeline, well and pumphose, at their own expense, if the same shall interfere with the building of said briege or its approaches, or the use of the street leading to it, of which the city council of Red Lake Falls, shall be the sole and final judge.

SEC. 2—This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, approval and publication.

Adopted Nov. 23, 1905.
Approved, Nov. 29, 1905.

Attest: Fred Borchers,
A. F. Toupin, President.
City Clerk. J. A. Duffy, Mayor.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

TIME CARD —OF— TRAINS.

RED LAKE FALLS.

NORTH-BOUND No. 155—From St. Paul, departs from Red Lake Falls at	7:45 am
SOUTH-BOUND No. 156—Departs	6:05 pm

Through tickets to all points in the United States, Canada, Alaska, China and Japan.

Northern Pacific Express money orders for sale. Bankable anywhere.

A. M. CLELAND, G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.
E. A. MIZEN, Agent.

[illegible]

MASCOT

"A Pure Flour."

Sweet, Pure and Wholesome

It's All the Wheat THAT'S FIT TO .. EAT ..

Always Uniform
Absolutely Pure

PREPARE FOR SLEIGHING

I am showing the most complete line of bob sleighs, cutters and home made jumpers in the country at prices that suit the times.

SLEIGHS MADE TO ORDER

My line of farm machinery for the spring trade will comprise the usual well known lines.

S. A. SWANSON

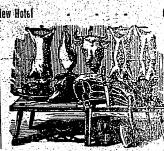
THE MACHINE MAN

RED LAKE FALLS MINNESOTA

THE FALLS MEAT MARKET

Opposite Grand View Hotel Groshong & Blake, Props

Fresh and Salt Meats.



Strictly First-Class In Every Respect

Telephone Your Order to Number 19.

RED LAKE FALLS MINN

Burlington Route

TO FLORIDA

via the Burlington's

SCENIC LINE

at special

REDUCED RATES

In effect every day now, tickets good returning any time before June 1, 1906.

Send your name and address for full information concerning Scenic Line Service.

F. M. RUGG, Northwestern Passenger Agent,
Germania Life Building St. PAUL.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY

Winnipeg Limited

THE FAST MAIL TRAIN

Between

ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS, WINNIPEG

And the

CANADIAN NORTHWEST

COMPARTMENT OBSERVATION CARS

For full information, rates, etc., call on J. L. TRACY, Agent, Red Lake Falls, Minn.

S. S. DAKOTA sails from Seattle for the Orient Dec. 16, 1905
S. S. MINNESOTA sails from Seattle for [illegible] Feb. 1, 1906

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

FINISH

RED LAKE FALLS

RED LAKE
COURIER

JAN 5 1905 THRU DEC 28 1905

Title: (Red Lakes Falls)
RED LAKE COURIER

7:13 - 8:10

Inclusive Dates: Jan 5 1905 — Dec 28 1905 *

Missing Issue: Dec 14

128 10 1981

130 10 1981

Originals held by: MHS x Other ___

Prepared by: JAD	Date: Oct 5, 1981	Format: 1A x 2B
Filmed by: Owens	Date: 10/16/81	Camera No. 4004
Reduction Ratio: 13½	Voltmeter .23/84	No. Expos. 426
Prelim. Inspection by:	Date:	Density:
Target Resolution: ____/mm	O.K. ___ Reject ___	Length:

The Minnesota Historical Society has reproduced the material in this microfilm without any purpose of direct or indirect commercial advantage in order to preserve & to secure it for private study, scholarship, and research.

The material reproduced may be protected by copyright law. Any person engaging in further reproduction of this material may be liable for infringement.